Notwithstanding the recent exposure when the Hydro clique were surprised in secret session in the City Hall, hatching up a scheme in connection with the power question, the same aldermen, or a number of them, had another hole-inthe corner meeting before the Council met on Monday night. Toronto, Ont., Nov. 10.—The report of the recent annual meeting of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress was read this morning at the Federation of Labor Convention by Jerome Jones. It said in part: "They believed and showed their belief that to labor government is not a national affair, but erment is not a national affair, but one that cannot recognize national boundaries. They reit, on the contrary, that to limit labor unionism to countries was a most selfish policy. The cry of Canada for Canadians is as odious to the labor men of Canada as is the open shop to the union men of the United Stntes. It was thought that this had started the ball rolling for the big fight that will take place over the seating of the electrical workers' delegates, but it was not so, as President Gompers suggested the adoption of further reports from other committies and bodies. From the fact that the convention adopted the supplemental report against the seating of two delegates because they had joined hands with the so-called rebel electrical workers, it looks very much as if the present administration had things pretty well in hand and that a complete rout for the electrical delegates is in plain view.

The Credentials Committee also reported against the seating of Otto H. Zimmer, representing the Labor Educational Association of Ontario. No rea-

President Gompers made a brief speech on the necessity of the conven-tion doing all in its power to adopt some means of protecting the lives of men engaged in industrial pursuits. On the suggestion of Delegate Leonard the matter was left to the Committee on Education to be dealt with. A commit-tee of three was appointed to draft a resolution of condolence to the relatives resolution of condolence to the relatives of Delegate Earle Russ, representing the Typographical Union of Niagara Falls, N. However, since then the young man's case has taken on a different aspect, for yesterday one of Griffin's aunts, who lives in the city, called on His Worship and pleaded that her nephew be allowed to remain, and at the same time offering to endeavor to assist him to become a good citizen. Magistrate Jelfs was perfectly willing, but he referred her to Chief Smith. She talked it over with the Magistrate and Griffin will likely be given a chance.

APPRENTICE LOST CASE.

Went Out With Strikers and Cannot Recover Wages.

An interesting case came up morning at the sitting of the First Division Court before Judge Snider, in con nection with the moulders' trouble. It took the form of a test case to deter mine whether apprentices were entitled to money which was held back by the company as a guarantee that they would complete their apprenticeship. The plaintiff was Archie Burrows, and the defendant Burrow, Stewart & Milne.

The plaintiff claimed he had made only a verbal agreement with the foreman, and at that time no reference had been made about the money being kept back. After he had been with the company for a couple of months he enquired the reason for the money being held back, and that was the first he knew of the custom. His term of apprenticeship back, and that was the first he knew of the custom. His term of apprenticeship had not expired when the strike started, and he went out with the strikers. The amount owing him at that time was $40.75, and when he applied for it, it was refused him.

His Honor decided in favor of the de-fendant, on the ground that the contract had been violated by the plaintiff.

Terrence Scott, 58 York street, of charcoal complexion, a Police Court celebrity, recrossed the bridge of sighs this morning enroute for that methodical institution in Toronto, known as the Central Prison, and he will not return to this city for nine ong months. Magistrate Jelfs fined Scott $200, or in default, nine months, for keeping a gambling house.

Mr. A. M. Lewis appeared for Mr. A. M. Lewis appeared for Scott and pleaded earnestly and eloquently for his client, contending that it was not the universal rule to send a man to prison for keeping a gambling house and the counsel for the defence said a fine had been imposed on Monday in a similar case and he asked his Worship to impose a reasonable fine. Magistrate Jelfs said he would impose the same fine on Scott as he did in Monday's case.

His Worship said Scott was a worthless citizen. "If I find $100 will you give me time to get the other $100.

He was then led over the bridge and his white wife waited outside in vain.

Assiduous courting of the cup that Assiduous courting of the cup that destroys all self respect is the cause of Frank Watson being one of the large fleet of human derelicts. His place of abode was given as the Bethel Mission. He is in the winter of life and he stood up when his name was called and pleaded guilty to being a vagrant and also to doing wilful damage to a show case in John Seymour's store. He admitted his guilt quite frankly—without evincing the slightest vestage of shame. He goes to jail for six months' hard labor.

John Seymour told a story of the wilful damage the aged one did. Yesterday Watson called at Seymour's butcher shop. He carried a thick stick. The sight of fresh trips haveing the sight of fresh trips have fresh trips and fresh trips have fresh trips the sight of fresh ful damage the aged one did. Yesterday Watson called at Seymour's butcher shop. He carried a thick stick. The sight of fresh tripe hanging there in a showcase seemed to arouse Frank's ire.

A round half dozen canines seemed to have an inkling of the aged one's purpose for they gathered around and wagged their tails and waited. Then it was that old Frank, with one swift blow, shattered that case where hung the tripe, and then it was that the tripe whizzed through the air and fell with a sudden drop on the sidewalk; and then it was that the carnines pounced on that tripe en masse and they howled and growled in very satisfaction.

And then it was that a limb of the law, P. C. Gillespie, came along, and down went Frank in the growler.

Mr. Selmour also told of how Watson has been a source of annoyance to him, and he (Mr. Seymour) wished the Magistrate to make the defendant keep away. He did so by imposing the aforesaid sentence.

With his hands together as if in sup-phication, James Doyle, a sailor, knelt on the cold, hard sidewalk, last night, di-rectly opposite his house, on James street north, and gazed heavenward. P. C. Hodgson, as he walked his beat in the stilly hours, rubbed his eyes at beholding such an unusual apparition. But still the man gazed heavenward, so the offi-cer called the growler. When arrasigned this morning Doyle said he was not drunk.

A Spanish Beauty

"And the shore is invariably a desert island," interposed Trevannance, laughing, "where the bread and butter grown the trees, and the trout and salmon swim up to your front door and beg you to catch 'em. And your beauty falls incontinently in love with you, the 'preserver of her life and virtue,' as the Ratcliffe heroines say, and marries, you ution to the same that the continent of hand. Yes, my Henrique, it's a thousand pities things won't turn out in every-duy life as they do in three-rolume literature. We might all be elder sons then, with thirty thousand a year when the reigning potentate goes to glory, and the 'loveliest of her sex hanging like a ripe cherry ready to drop into our open mouth. As it is—well, Clontarf's peerless daughter is for none of us, it seems, since his grace of Amethyst has been jilted, so we'll take heart of grace, and sing in her face:

"If she be not fair for me, What care I how fair she be?"
Ah! there's a fellow in the open now."
His fowling-piece rang out, and the labit rolled over, riddled through the head.

can't you?"
"Fifty, my dear sir, if you like, Rally, this grows interesting, not to say mysterious. In what possible manner can my going or staying affect you?"
He flung open the library door and followed the tall, stalwart general in. A noble room, vast, long, and lofty; the oak-paneled walls lined with books in rich binding; the draperies gold and purple; the polished oaken floor covered with Persian rugs; rare busts, and hearth, his hands behind him, feet apart, his square, resolute, handsome face full of importance, his keen brown eyes fixed on his son.

"Vivian, have you ever thought of marrying?"

Vivian had thrown himself back amid the violet velvet cushions of a lounge, the impersonation of ease, but at this startling question he looked up almost as if a bullet had whizzed past him.

"My dear father, Heaven forefend! What a horribts question—and so suddenly, too! Pray remember I was born with nerves, though you Peninsular heroes don't seem to know the meaning the word. Marry? God forbid!"

"And why, pray? You must come to it sooner or later; it's like death and the income tax and other inevitable evils, not exactly agreeable, perhaps, but something there is no shrinking. How old are you—thirty, eh?"

"Thirty-one and three months," murmured Vivian, "old enough to know better than to marry. Good Heaven! that any man in his sober senses should rush voluntarily from freedom into bondage, and bondage of the most galling sort! The heart is a free and fetterless thing, sings the poet, and I agree with him—while a man's single. I don't think I was ever intended by a beneficent Providence to fill the role of Mr. Caudle. When a poor devil without a rap rushes headlong to St. George's with the widow or the orphan, the fortunate possessor of fifty thousand in three per cents, we may pity, but we can not blame him. But for me, or any man in my position, able to pay his tailor and his boot-maker, owning a decent house, a decent horse, a good Manila, and a comfortable dinner, to perpetrate that sort of madness—well, the taint of idocy must have been in his blood from childhood up. No my dear general, I haven't thought of marrying, except as I've thought of marrying, except as I've thought of suicide—as a horrible subject in the abstract."

"Vivian," his father cried, impatient-ly, "I didn't expect the cant of the pre-

"Vivian," his father cried, impatiently, "I didn't expect the cant of the present day from your lips. The young man of the period is weary of all things earthly at twenty, and good for nothing under heaven but to lounge in club windows, part his hair in the middle, sneer at women, and rail at marriage. But you're thirty; you've seen the world, sown your wild oate, possess common sense, and I hoped for something better. You must marry—you know it—and now is your time, my lad, if ever," "Indeed! Do you see any symptoms of apoplexy, or heart disease, or-" "Stuff! Here is my meaning in a few words: I want you to marry Lady Evelyn Desmond."

They brought a train of visitors down with them from the first, but perhaps more followed in the light of that dazzling meteor, Lady Evelyn, than—keen sportsmen as they were—came to knock over the partridges. On the evening following their arrival there was a reception at Warbeck Hall—a very brilliant affair—to which scores of titled and untitled guests from far and near came. The fame of the wondrous Spanish beauty, and her magnificent fortune, preceded her, and every invitation issued was accepted, save one. Mr. Vivian Treannance was not present at my Lady Clydesmore's ball.

Yes, he certainly deserved to win her, if untiring devotion could do it. He lovered around her now, a great, yellow-whiskered moth in the dazzling candle flame, scorohing his mealy wings, poor fellow, while the brilliant flame burned on without mercy. He kept fluttering near, drinking in that dangerous loveliness, the cold indifference with which she turned from him and ducal coronet like oil added to fire.

VICTIM OF FIENDS.

Bloodhounds Lead the Pursuers to Home of a Negro Woman.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 9 .- Children playing in an alley this morning found the strip ped and mutilated body of Miss Annie ped and mutilated body of Miss Annie Pelley, a clerk in a local dry goods store. She had been choken to death and fiend ishly assaulted. Pieces of cloth strewt along the alley showed that she had struggled desperately for life for a distance of more than a city block.

Bloodhounds were secured, and after two or three failures, they picked up a trail which led to the home of a negrewoman. Different bloodhounds led pur suers to the same place on eight suscessive tests. Three negro men and on woman were arrested.

Miss Pelley, who was 24 years old came here from Anna. Ill. She lived with a married sister here.

A WANT AD IN THE TIMES IS A WANT AD IN THE HOME

WHERE BLAME RESTS-

The Herald is apparently, to use words, worked up "to a white heat adignation" at the Mayor and aldernen who have foiled the treasonable ef-orts of its power friends. The prospect at the Commission will realize that the ajority of the Council will remain true the city and will insist on the safe-arding clauses in the contract, and ant them rather than see the entire ons that are in the last degree sugges-ve. It said editorially last night: "The erald predicts that when that deputaon meets the Commission it will get a ays" caused. The delays have been irators for whom the Herald is fight If the Hydro aldermen had man stood out and declared for the city's rights and interests, the Commis would not have tried to force us wident form. Perhaps now that it ses that there is a majority in the Council—and that the ratepayers are verwhelmingly behind it—that is determined not to allow the city to be be rayed into any such contract, even if onable. If so, no thanks to the Her ald and its party of sacrifice of city sts. And even now the delay is it appears, due to Beck neglecting the on work to indulge his bent for the horses. We are not complaining of that; but surely it is impudent for the Herald to blame it on the aldermen who re faithfully serving the city. If the ommission wishes to play fair with us it can settle the master in fifteen min tes. We shall see.

CIVIC GOVERNMENT.

Boston is just now considering a re form in its system of city government It is acknowledged on all sides that the resent plan which introduces national colitics has proved a failure. One of the plans now under consideration, and known as "plan 2" embodies the recom mendations of the Finance Commission makes a departure, national parties dis appear, at least from official recogni tion, and with them, all the machinery in the way of convention, caucus and primary, which hitherto has stood be tween the voter and his final choice at the polls. Candidates are nominated on etition of 5,000 voters and elected on a ballot without party designations. One mall council is provided of nine mem bers elected at large, three each year for term of three years, and the term of the Mayor is extended to four years with a provision for recall. This plan embodies the modern tendencies in muni cipal government, not new elsewhere, appearing in Boston for the first time; the appeal to the voter as a citizen, and not as a partisan, the direct nomination and the small business-like council elected for the whole city. Commenting upon it, City Affairs, a Boston municipal publication, says:

We believe the best results will be ob dained by looking upon the city as a business proposition—to be run upon business principles and so far as possible along the lines upon which any business unsiness principles and so far as possible along the lines upon which any business of magnitude is run. No business can be run by a large debating society. The tendency is towards small workable boards, whether they are called commissions or by some other name. The best example of that tendency is found in our own community where the small school committee of five has been a great improvement on the old conglomeration of twenty-four.

City Affairs does not regard the "re-

City Affairs does not regard the "re call" as at all essential, it being useful only in great evergencies. The problem of improved municipal government is yearly becoming a more pressing one, and most intelligent communities have realized the importance of divorcing civic affairs from national politics, and making them a matter of pure business When we arrive at that goal, we shall have better municipal government.

RAILROAD BAITING.

An unfortunate result of Presiden Roosevelt's railway policy, due probably to his over-strenuous method of advocating it, and to the political exigencies baiting which followed its announce Almost any political crook or fakir for a time could carry his district if he would but go far enough in declaring his hostility to the railway enterprises of the country. It was the local war on the Cataract Company on a state or national scale; andi t did imense harm, as the local knife-wielders have done to this city's interests. A support; it is its own cure. If not otherwise, it ends by the destruction of its ource of sustenance. But in most cases delusion passes, as the people come to see the folly and injustice of their course; and thenceforward they set about correcting the evil done and cursing those who deluded them.

And already the United States people begin to see that no good end is to be red by unjust laws, passed in ignorance and anger, to wrong the railways They, too, have their Toronto Worlds and Hamilton Heralds-to their sorrow deceived. The day of arbitrary fixation of rates and restrictions of various kinds, without consideration of their re onableness and justice, is passing, and a better standard is to be sought. At Gregory, Texas, the other day President Taft delivered himself of some very sen-sible remarks on the subject. He said:

tion against railroads except such as is necessary to keep their within the law and to keep their rates reasonable. The truth is, we want to encourage cur siltroads. We will rush 30,000 of us in a county to vote bonds for a railroad if it only comes in. Then it comes in and after a time you won't find a friend of that railroad in that county, except perhaps the local council.

"Then you will proceed to legislate, and you will do injustice to that railroad, but after a while, after you have done injustice to the point where you don't get the proper accommodation, and where you drive them into a system of economy that does not build up your county, you finally begin to realize that the only good policy, as well as the only honest policy, is a square deal to the railroad so as to give them the rates they ought to have and not allow popular prejudice to deprive them of reasonable profit on the investment, including the risk that they made when they went into the business." into the busines

Those are wise and statesminlike words, much needed at the present time, and coming from the chief exemple of the United States should have great influence. In Canada we have undertaken the just control of our railways, and with excellent results. But we have a pestiferous few whose envy of success in any sphere is such that they constant. ly seek to injure and destroy the successful. They do not seek to do justice; their aim is not to do right. Their teaching is evil; they radiate envy and hatred. They try by untruth and halftruth at all times to create ill will and produce on the public mind the idea of wrong where no wrong exists. Could you, without trying hard, put your finger upon such a creature in this city?

I note by the papers that at the Harvard Club the statement was made that while they felt sorrow at the death of young Byrne in the West Point-Harvard game, yet they felt in no way to blame.

George Arliss, the eminent English actor, in "Septimus," will be seen at the Grand to-night. Mr. Fiske brings the entire Harrison Grey Fiske production which recently made such a memorable triumph in Toronto. In the quaint character of Septimus, which millions have grown to love in the novel, Mr. Fiske has found the part for George Arliss that will long be associared with his name. The play which is the work of Philip Littell, has the auther's full authorization and approval. It is said to preserve the quaint humor and sentiment of the original and to furnish Mr. Arliss with a role that perhaps has no counterpart on the stage. A splendid cast and a perfect stage setting mark one of the most important contributions Mr. Fiske has made to the stage.

THIS WEEK AT BENIETT'S.

This WEEK AT BENIETT'S.

The offering of Hassan Ben Ali's Arabs, who head the Bennett bill his week, is conceded to be the most thrilling gymnastic exhibition ever seen on a vaudeville stage here. Their work throughout is not only refreshingly original and sensational, but is performed with an ease and grace that commands attention. From the minute they dash out from the scenes until they polish off their performance with a thrilling. out from the scenes until they poissi off their performance with a thrilling, whirling finish, in which every member of the organization is seen in action, they work at tremendous speed. The pyramid formations are far superior to what are usually shown by such acts.

while the marvellous exhibition of tumbling, which follows, is the sort that keeps everyone in the audience sitting on the edge of his seat every minute. Cartwheels, somersaults, handsprings and sensational whiles are performed at amazing speed, the single handsprings of one of the troupe, who dashes around the stage like lightning, is really remarkable. The Arabs, however, are only one feature on an unusually pleasing bill. The rollicking farce, "A Corner in Hair," gives Howard Truesdale and his capable company an excellent opportunity to keep the audience in laughter for twenty minutes, while two of the best liked numbers on the bill are furnished by old favorites, Peter Donald and Meta Carson, and Wheeler Earl and Vera Curtis. Donald, and Carson made a big hit here last season, and are repeating it this week while Earl and Curtis will be remembered for their clever work at the Savoy two seasons ago in a Cohan sketch, "To Boston Business."

"THE WOLF."

One of the most novel innovations introduced by any dramatic production in years is the howling of the wolf, pack which occurs in the last act of "The Wolf," which Messrs. Sam S. and Lee Shubert will present next. Friday and Shubert will present next Friday and Saturday at the Grand. The usual stage effect used for animal noises was found to be out of keeping with the rest of the piece, so Messrs. Shubert determined to piece, so Messrs. Shubert determined to have the howling of real wolves when the action of the piece demanded it. Accordingly, a phonograph record was made at the Bronx Park Zoo, New York, and now the audiences are treated to a sorrowful and mournful howling of real wolves. The experiment in securing this record marks a new era in stage productions, and one that will find much imitation.

ELGAR CHOIR PLANS.

At last night's rehearsal of the Elgar Choir the final arrangements for the concerts on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 1 and 2, were made known. The programme for the first concert will be a miscellaneous one, and will be given in conjunction with the Buffalo Sym-phony Orchestra, and will be a duplicate in conjunction with the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra, and will be a duplicate of the one to be given by the two organizations in Buffalo on Feb. 16. At the second concert the choir will sing Verdi's "Requiem," and will be assisted by the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and a quartette of New York vocalists. It will readily be seen that the committee is sparing no effort to make this the banner year of the choir, and the dates of the concerts should be noted.

THE COLONIAL.

For the next two days the Colonial will show a series of pictures which, for variety, intensity and interest, have never been surpassed in the city before. The principal film deals with the trage love story of an Italian girl and her rivals, showing several exciting situations and a powerful conclusion. Several Biograph series deal with a Gibson girl at the seaside, a rehearsal of a vaude-ville act of dogs: a humorous film entitled "What's Your Hurry!"; a mystery called "The Dram Spectre"; and a funny subject. "Two Ladies and a Baggar." Miss La Viere has been supplied with a tuneful song called "Schoolmates," which is pictured by some artistic colored photos, while George Drennan, Baby Gamble and Leivi's orchestra will each do an excellent part in rounding off the show.

Mayor Lawrason of Dundas Inclined to Think It Is.

Conclusion of the Baptist Church Diamond Anniversary.

Dundas, Nov. 10 .- The closing meeting of the Baptist Church diamond jubilee was held on Monday evening, and a most enjoyable and inspiring one it proved to be. The attendance was a large and enthusiastic one and a hearty sociability, free from all restraint and formality pervaded the entire proceedings. Rev. Mr. Grant, the pastor, preings. Rev. Mr. Grant, the pastor, presided, in his usually happy and acceptable manner. The proceedings began with a social reunion in the present school-room, the site of the old church, where the lady workers of the church provided a bountiful spread. This part of the entertainment concluded, a number of addresses were given. Mr. Clutton, a son of the first pastor of the First Baptist congregation of the town, spoke of the church's past, giving many interesting and happy reminiscences of the esting and happy reminiscences of the church's early history. Those reminiscences were listened to with a happy delight and satisfaction by old and young of the gathering. Messrs. Kerr, Gilmour and Patterson spoke of the present in conrection with the church and its work con-ection with the church and its work and Miss Baskerville, home on a visit from the India mission field, spoke of the future. Her address was an admirable one. Rev. H. Edgar Allen, Rev. Dr. 1100per and Rev. Walter Quarrington, of Hamilton, also spoke. During the meetings contributions to the amount of $390 were asked for, but this amount was exceeded by probably $100.

TWO SAULS.

Their Dying Testimonies as Recorded in the Scriptures.

Robt. McMurdo spoke on "The Dying Testimonies of Two Great Men." Both these men were of the same name—Saul—and both were of the tribe of Benjamin, though hundreds of years separated them. Saul, the son of Kish, afterwards anointed King, was a man whose record in life and in death was a striking contrast to that of Saul of striking contrast to that of Saul of Tarshish, afterward known as the Apos-the Paul.

King Saul lived a life of sin and disobedience to God, and in his dying hour on the verge of suicide, with his sin staring him in the face, he was forced to cry out. "I am sore distressed, for the Philistines war against me, and God departed from me and answereth me more." How different was the testimony of Saul of Tarshish, converted and changed into Paul the preacher. changed into Paul the preacher, after being beaten and bruised and half dead he could say, "I am ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. THE KESWICK CONVENTION.

Larger Attendance at the Meetings Held Yesterday.

At vesterday's special Keswich services in Centenary Methodist Church the attendance was somewhat larger than that of the previous day, which showed that the interest was becoming deeper.

The speaker, Walter B. Sloan, selected as his theme John xiv. 15: "If ye love me, keep my commandments." He said that those who kept the commandments were assured of a reward for so doing. God never failed to reward those who were faithful to Him. The anostles who were faithful to Him. The apostles had been told something about the spirit of truth, and taught a number of lessons. So well did they take heed that they were true followers in Christ's footsteps, which thus enabled them to pursue their work for the Master with vitor. Christ was compresent and had vigor. Christ was omnipotent, and had power in heaven as well as on earth, The possibilities were ably illustrated in The possibilities were ably illustrated in Peter's walk on the water, for Peter of himself did not have that power. As soon as he became afraid and lost faith he began to sink.

In closing, he said the true attitude of the Christian should be such that when the opportunity afforded itself he should not be afraid to confess Christ with his line or if processing rights had been such that the should not be afraid to confess Christ with his line or if processing rights him.

KING'S FRIEND

Died While Out Shooting With His Majesty.

London, Nov. 9.-A great shock wa aused the royal party gathered at Sandringham for the King's birthday by the sudden death of Montague by the sudden death of Montague Guest, an old friend of King Edward, and one of the best known men in London. Mr. Guest was out with the King and the Prince of Wales shooting in the afternoon and fell dead while walking across a ploughed field. He had been suffering from an affection of the heart for some time. No inquest will be necessary. The King inmediately ordered the shooting to be stopped, and the theatrical performance arranged for the evening was countermanded.

Montague Guest was born in 1830, and had been a famous figure in the inner circles of London society for nearly half a century. Over six feetiall, with striking features accentuated by such oddities of costume as a very big hat with a curly brim and an old-fa-shioned, heavy rimmed tortoise-shell pince-nez, he might have stepped out of the pages of Thackeray.

Besides the members of the royal family, only a few intimate friends were present at Sandringham. Telegrams of congratulation were received by His Majesty from all parts of the world. THE LABOR CONVENTION

Report of Executive Committee Beals With Many Things.

Delegates to Discuss the Question of Votes For Women.

Appeal the Case Against Gompers and Others.

Toronto, Nov. 10 .- "I'm glad the reading of these long reports is over. We are aching to get to business, but reports are the foundation for our work," remarked one of cominent delegates, when the session the American Federation of Labor urned yesterday afternoon. His remark epitomized the feelings of the enmark epitomized the feelings of the en-tire convention, not excluding the gen-tlemen who had prepared and read the reports. From them, no doubt, a double measure of thanks went up. All of the reports showed great care, much inti-macy with detail work, and very con-siderable preparation. From the stand-point of dialectics and rhetoric they would do credit to institutions claiming macy with detail work, and very considerable preparation. From the standpoint of dialectics and rhetoric they would do credit to institutions claiming much more in the way of academic culture than does the "A. F. L." as the delegates shortly call it. But after the first hour, reports, be they never so well written or well read, become tedious to listen to. It is greatly to the credit of both President Gompers and First Vice-President Duncan that they managed to hold the convention as they did. Both read for over three hours. Each read clearly and well, the full, deliberate accents of the president and the musical Scotch burr of the vice-mesident making an agreeable contrast. There are still some reports to be presented this morning, but they will be short ones. At their conclusion the convention will hear the addresses of the fraternal delegates from Great Britain and Canada, and then proceed to the business proper. The convention is teeming with able debaters and some good debates are promised.

teeming with able debaters and some good debates are promised.

One of the best is sure to be that on woman suffrage, which Delegate Sam De Nedrey will introduce. Mr. De Nedrey is one of the ablest of the delegates. He is editor of the Trades Unionist, one of the largest labor union papers in the United States, and secretary of the Central Labor Union of Columbia. There are about a dozen lady delegates all of whom are expected to tary of the Central Labor Union of Col-umbia. There are about a dozen lady delegates, all of whom are expected to support the resolution. Like the men delegates, they have been selected for their debating and executive ability. Among them is Mrs. Raymond Robins, International President of the Women's Trade Union League of Chicago, and wife of a well-known sociologist.

Though they have not yet made public speeches, the two English delegates, J. R. Clynes and A. H. Hill, have made good impressions. Both men are members of the British Parliament, and much is expected of them. But, perhaps, no delegate commands more attention than does Vice-President John Mitchell. The minera' leader rarely makes II. The miners' leader rarely makes eches, but when he does he speaks speeches, but when he does he speaks well and gets an instant hearing. When he rose to make an announcement vesterday the convention came to order instantly. It was a sure tribute to the place he fills in the mind of the convention. Mr. Mitchell is no friend of the liquor traffic, and he and Treasurer John B. Lennon will speak at a temperance meeting in Massey Hall next Sunday.

He has worked on United States and Canadian roads in all capacities, from water-boy to construction superintendent. His union prints its constitution in English French, Italian, Spanish and Polish, and has a surplus in its treasury for protective purposes of over $1,000,000. Very many of these unions are quite wealthy. The Glass Bottle Blowers' Association, for instance, ably represented by Dennis A. Hayes, the Fourth Vice-President of the A. F. of L., though with but 9,000 members, has over $400,000 in its treasury. Amid all the excitement and bustle, there is one delegate who is undisturbed. In the report of the Executive Committee, read by First Vice-President James Duncan, a detailed account of the trouble with the Electrical Workers' Union was given. This traced the genesis of the breach from a disagreement over a strike settlement entered into by the Executive on behalf of the electrical workers. The disaffected unions having formed a separate federation and refusing to abide by the Executive's decision, heir charters were revoked by the American Federation of Labor. This decision had the effect of disfranchising four unions in Ohio, and local unions in Fort Indiana, Detroit, Duluth, St. Louis, Atlantic City, Alhany, Cornell, Jamestown, Cleveland, Newark, Toledo, Cornellsville, Dellas, Shelborne, Ogden and Everett.

Since then a few of the locals have admitted the Federation's authority and had the charters revived, but the majority of the unions are recalcitrant. The executive report reviewed the proceedings in the Bucks Stove Company, of St. Louis, case, which resulted

He also held that two men have a right to bet between themselves, on the grounds of personal liberty. It was this decision that made horse racing possible in New York last season.

Socialists or any other folk have a right to meet in halls, without interference, is another Gaynor belief.

"Personal liberty" is the hobby of Judge Gaynor.

How it will work out, while he is Mayor, is a question. It's worth while keeping your eyes on the cross old Mayor of New York. He has big, new ideas. He's scot free of Tammany, which put him in office because Tammany failed to elect the rest of the ticket.

He has a big chance to get his name down in history as the Mayor who first put into practise the belief that the Chief of Police and his men are not masters, but servants.

It's fine to know that such a cross, grim man is going to spend so much of his ire on policemen, particularly New

THE SUBJECT WAS DEAD.

Hypnotist Davenport Tries to Bring Back Life.

Pathetic Scene in Morgue of Somerset Hospital.

Death Was Due to Rupture of Blood Vessel.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 9 .- While Arthur Everton, self-styled professor and travelling hypnotist, sobbed in his cell three calm medical men witnessed a weird performance in the morgue of the Somerset Hospital late this afternoon. There Wm. N. Davenport, secretary to the Mayor of New York and a student of hypnotism, vainly tried to bring back signs of life in the rigid body of Robert Simpson, a former street car conductor signs of life in the rigid body of Robert Simpson, a former street car conductor of Newark, who apparently died last night after having been put into a hypnotic trance by Everton before a large audience at the Somerville Theatre.

Davenport failed, Simpson was declared officially dead, and an autopsy was held to-night.

Meanwhile, charged with manslaughter, unnerved and shaken Everton remains in prison, where he must await the action of the grand jury as a sequel to a stage trick familiar throughout the country and abroad.

It was at the piteous instance of verton while in jail after his ineffectal attempts to revive Simpson that Davenport, a friend of Everton, came into the case to-day. Notwithstanding the declaration of physicians that Simpson was dead, Everton pleaded that Davenport be allowed to revive him. Accordingly the autopsy, first arranged for 2 o'clock this afternoon, was postponed and the student of hypnotism was summoned. Simpson's body, covered with a black cloth, lay in the morgue at the moned. Simpson's body, covered with a black cloth, lay in the morgue at the hospital when Davenport arrived. He came in silently, and in the presence of three physicians immediately began his attempts to revive the unfortunate

Then, invoking the power of suggestion, he spoke in the dead man's ear: "Bob," he said. "Bob, your heart action—your heart action—your heart action—your heart action—your heart action is beginning. It is beginning."

Slowly and systematically Davenport repeated this in the ear; then, changing his tone of voice to an imperious command, he cried sharply: "Bob—Bob—can't you hear me? Your heart is beginning to beat." Your heart is beginning to beat."

Again and again he repeated this as-

Again and again he repeated this as surance to the inanimate form, while the medical men looked grimly on. Not a muscle of the body stirred and there was absolutely no sign of animation.

Again Davenport changed his methods, Leaning over Simpson's right ear, he spoke confidentially: "Oh, I say, Bob," spoke confidentially: "Oh, I say, Bob," he said, in a quiet, conversational tone, "look, your heart is beginning to beat." He repeated this soothingly time after time, but without effect. Simpson was apparently as dead as a door nail. Simpson, the victim, was 35 years old, and was accustomed, it is said, to drinking heavily. It is generally admitted that he was intoxicated during the test last night. No relatives have appeared to claim the body.

Everton has employed counsel, and he will fight the case. It has been suggested that he will make the novel plea that the man was still alive when the autopsy was performed, citing various

But the examination to night showed that death was due probably to natural causes.

Eight physicians assisted in performing the autopsy, and they issued a signed statement at its close stating that death was due to rupture of the aorta, the great blood vessel of the arterial, system. This indicated, according to the Coroner, that death was primarily due to natural causes and that the man had probably been suffering for some time from an aneurism or similar affection of the ruptured vessel. Mrs. Asquith, who sat at the right of the new Lord Mayor, Sir John Kuill, looked both frightened and angry. Mr. Asquith, who must be prepared by this time for almost anything on the part of the militant suffragettes, had an expression like that of the smile on a figure carved in marble. The speeches which followed fell very flat. The women who threw the stones were arrested. Another suffragist in evening attire, who accosted Winston Spencer Churchill, President of the Board of Trade, in the vestibule, was ejected.

Mr. Asquith, in his speech, kept to the comparatively safe ground of international politics, and avoided any reference to the question that had been brought to the diners' attention by the suffragette outbreak, or to the situation created by the fight over the budget.

Judging Will All be Finished by This Evening.

Owing to the large number of entries at the annual exhibition of the Hamilton and Wentworth Poultry Association, the judges found it impossible to finish the judging yesterday, and although they commenced at 9 o'clock this morning it will likely be late this evening before it is completed. The quality and quantity of all the classes shown are far in adof all the classes shown are far in advance of previous years, and the judges expressed themselves to be thoroughly pleased with all the exhibition. A good number attended the exhibition yesterday, and a much larger crowd is expected this afternoon and evening. The officers are satisfied that the exhibition this year will be the best yet in the history of the association, and are also assured that it will be a great financial success.

Liverpool, Nov. 10.—Fully 100,000 people took part in a demonstration at Liverpool which attended the return of Mr. George Wise, the Protestant leader, to Walton Jail.

As a sequel to the recent religious riots Mr. Wise was ordered to give surety not to hold his Bible-class parades. He refused and went to jail, but was released pending an appeal. His appeal was dismissed and he therefore returns to prison.

Between 1.500 and 2,000 police were onduty, including 320 from Manchester. Huge crowds gathered in St. George's square, through which Mr. Wise was to pass, the various Protestant contingents marching into the large open space in Orange Order regalia. When Mr. Wise arrived in an open carriage, escorted by a strong bodyguard, there was a roar of cheering which lasted for a quarter of am hour.

It was in the precincts of the jail, however, that the most stirring scenes were witnessed. In Hornby-road, leading to the prison, there was a quarter of a mile of struggling humanity. Mr. Wise's party and the contingents following in procession had practically to fight their way through the surging crowd. The din was tremendous. Bandaplayed triumphantly, whil men and women shouted and sang themselves hoarse.

It looked as though nothing could prevent the rushing of the prison gates. The dense multitude swayed irresistibly towards them, but a force of police came out of the prison and formed a barrier while Mr. Wise spoke to the strength of the prison and formed a barrier while Mr. Wise spoke to the strength and the contingents following in procession had fractically to fight their way through the surging crowd. NINE DEAD.

Loss of Life at Colliery at Manticoke.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 10.—The loss of life in the fire following the explosion yesterday afternoon in the Auchincloss colliery of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway Co. at Nanticoke, reached nine to-day. When the ninth body was brought to the surface this morning it was believed that all the men in the underground working when the explosion occurred had been accounted for. With one exception, all the dead miners are Slavs.

This caused the superintendent to increase the force of rescuers, who last night searched all parts of the mine. The fire is still burning to-day, but is under control. It is not yet known what the financial loss will be.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY IN THE WORLD OF SPORT.

CORNWALL ARE AFTER BIG RUGBY PLAY-OFF.

The Factory Town Wants the Hamilton-Ottawa Game-As Town Is S Near the Capital Hamilton Will Not Consent-Press Pavings.

Cornwall, Nov. 10.-Cornwall is hotfoot after the probable saw-off between Hamilton and Ottawa in the Inter-provincial Rugby Union. The new athletic grounds, with its magnificent covered grandstand, capable of seating 3,500 people, would be an ideal place for such game and the owners, the Cornwall A. A., are quite willing that their rounds should be used. Excursions could be run from Ottawa, Montreal and Kingston and there would be a very large local attendance. Cornwâll is known far and wide as one of the best sporting towns in Canada and every-body would turn out to see the league ers battle for supremacy.
CORNWALL'S CHANCES POOR.

CORNWALL'S CHANCES POOR.
Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Officers of the Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Officers of the Ottawa's are willing to accept the offer of the Cornwall lacross field for the saw-off game with the Tigers, but have little hope of it being chosen, as Tigers would probably prefer to go to Montreal than a few miles west of the metropolis. The Cornwall field is undoubtedly a beauty, and three or four thousand people would go from Ottawa alone to see such a big struggle at the Factory Town. The opinion still prevails here, however, that Toronto will be the place. In fact, inside information is to the effect that the teams have already agreed to meet at the Rosedale Field.

Under the heading of "Ottawa Players Incensed Over Treatment in Hamilton Saturday," the Press writer lets go the following absurd guff:

Saturday. The Press writer lets go the following absurd guff:

Counting on a saw-off, the members of the Ottawa football team will resume practice to-morrow and Thursday afternoon, and play an exhibition game with the Intermediates Saturday. The first four days of next week will be devoted to practice, arrangements having been made to get all the men off work at 3.30 in the afternooff. A special meeting of the club was held last night and as a result, vigorous efforts will be made to have the game will be played.

The bitterest feeling exists among the Union that will decide where the game will be played.

The bitterest feeling exists among the Ottawa players over the manner they were handled in Hamilton last Saturday, and unless pressure can be brought to bear by wiser heads, the saw-off is apt to be even more rough house than last Saturday. The Ottawa players declare they went that policy till the attack was made on Stronach in the second quarter. When he fell on the ball Moore fumbled, half the Tiger team piled on top of him, and he was kicked in the head three times. This feature appears to have been entirely overlooked by newspapers outside of Ottawa, and the fact the big Scotchman was unconscious at half time and played in the second half in a dazed state shows how badly he was injured. All the players are bruised up, McCann suffering from a kick in the head after he had rouged. Capital to see the team is given a fair shake.

He may go to California in December unless he changes his plans. Johnson, who has sidestepped Langford's businesslike challenge, will probably continue to earn a big theatrical hos salary until early next spring.

"Pat" Knebelcamp is in trouble at La-

Stronach is reported to have announced he would never play football again after the manner he was handled by both the Tiger players and the referee last Saturday. Stronach is one of those fellows who prides himself in his clean work on the field, and has taken the penalty Hendry unjustly gave him greatly to heart. Perhaps he can be persuaded to take part in just one more game, and have the satisfaction of assisting in beating the team from Hamilton.

There is no doubt Hamilton is shouting "dirty Ottawa" to cover up their Johnstone, Christie and McCann were stretched cold during the game, but not a word to that effect was heard through the Hamilton or Toronto papers. Every time Simpson was thrown there was an awful yell, put up by the crowd. That Hamilton team can play football, but they carry off the medals for squealing as well. The Hamilton papers boldly announced early in the week that Ottawa players would be roughly handled showing conclusively the whole affair was premeditated. Now they are squealing at their own tactics. It is a safe prediction the Tiger players will not cut up on neutral grounds the way they did in the presence of their own cohorts. Up till Saturday they have always been regarded in this city at least as a model crowd of athletes. Some of them still carry taht reputation, but Marriott and three or four others lost cast on Saturday.

were deficient in stamina. They doubt-less suffer from the change of climate and surroundings, but that, The Times considers, is an insufficient explanation, baccuse Sir Martin, an American horse, owned by Louis Winans, did as well as he would have in America. It is point-ed out that A. J. Joyner, trainer for Harry Payne Whitney, with twenty-horses, won 33 races, a notable achieve-ment for a trainer during his first sea-son in England.

Alleged offers for the Jeffries-Johnson fight are bobbing up with remarkable frequency. A man up in the State of Washington says he will hang up $125,000 for the mill, but he doesn't explain whether he can pull it off without interference. The owners of a big ranch in Oklahoma say they have secured the corsent of Gov. Haskell and will soon be in New York prepared to outbid the other promoters who are red hot to get the fight. View, and Coffroth, of Colma. Jeffries and Berger deny that they are in with the Gleason offer and say they will accept the biggest offer without a sign of prejudice. Coffroth's friends, however, think that Gleason's offer will result in a deadlock, as Johnson will probably agree to fight at Colma. In fact, sporting men are circulating a yarn to the effect that Coffroth is Johnson's real 174 682 661 2087 manager and that the negro will do he says. FOOLED BY BOXERS.

That is the Reason For Skepticism Regarding Jeffries' Condition-Let the Retired Champion Meet Kaufman and O'Brien and Pro vo Ability

James J. Jeffries' press agent ic working overtime. Last week a report was sent broadcast over the country that the ex-boilermaker was in rare condi-tion, for he had just finished three hours of work at top speed in Cooper's gymnasium, New York, and the ambitious press agent had witnessed the feat. The writer has no desire to misjudge any of Jeffries' efforts. In fact, ther is no man living who hopes more than the writer that the big-good-natured fellow may remain the undefeated cham-pion of the world. It was possible to fool the public 15 years ago, but in that decade and a half the opportunities for gathering honest, straightforward news have so improved that Jeffries nor any other pugilist who aspires for a title can-not hide his true condition from the scanning eyes of the public or trained critic. fellow may remain the undefeated cham-

In 1892, when Sullivan was matched to fight Corbett, he was spirited off to Canoe Place Inn, at Shinnecock, near the end of Long Island. Phil Casey, the world's champion handball player, assisted by Jack Ashton, the heavyweight pugilist, and a retinue of rubbers, took up the task of training him, says the Referce in the Philadelphia Ledger. The civilized world was interested in Sullivan's condition. It was eager to know whether a man 34 years old, who had been out of the ring for three years, could be trained to come back and show his oldtime form. The newspapers of the country sought daily reports from the training camp. A versatile scribe who wrote over the nom de plume of Mickey Finn, was the press agent of the In 1892, when Sullivan was matched who wrote over the nom de plume of Mickey Finn, was the press agent of the camp. All the news disseminanted came from Mickey Finn's pen. Whenever a wise one like P. J. Donahue, who then wrote for the New York Recorder over the name of 'P. Jay," drifted into Canoe Place, Sullivan would do no road work and merely punch the bag. And the big fellow could punch the inflated leather sphere; it was hung taut and could not get away from him.

ice pads placed on his pulse to reduce the rising temperature of his blood. It was revealed after the training and fight were over that an old Irish woman servant at the inn could not bear to see the great John L. suffer from thirst, and dozens of empty bottles of a popular brand of brown stout found secreted in the closets of his bedroom were mute testimony that she had been a faithful one to slacken his thirst.

Sullivan practically beat himself in the Corbett fight. He was a beaten man before he even entered the ring. He trained his punch on the bag, but he found Corbett more elusive than the leather sphere. Strong, active legs are a great receivity in a heater trained.

sphere. Strong, active legs are a great necessity in a championship ring battle. Sullivan could not get away from Cor-bett's lightninglike jabs, neither was he builtvan council not get away from Corbett's lightninglike jabs, neither was he fast enough to catch the elusive Californian on a counter. In the 21st round he was simply beaten down and dropped through exhaustion.

In view of this bit of ring history of 15 years ago, it is no wonder that the critics are apt to be skeptical about Jeffries and his "remarkable physical condition." The news sent out last week that the big fellow would likely take on a few six-round bouts to test his judgment of distance was hailed with delight by the sports. At the present time Al Kaufman is in the east. A six-round bout between the undefeated world's champion and the Pacific coast youngster would be one good try out. Johnson toyed with Kaufman for ten rounds bout between the undefeated world's champion and the Pacific coast youngster would be one good try out. Johnson toyed with Kaufman for ten rounds and it is to be presumed that Jeffries, if he is in the condition claimed, could do the same. The public is willing to pay the price to see. Such a bout, if arranged, is sure to draw between $20.

000 and $25,000 even on a rainy night, and Jeffries' share would go a long way toward defraying his training expenses.

After Jeffries proves his superiority over Kaufman he could take on Jack O'Brien in a six-round bout. Johnson was not fast enough to reach O'Brien on leads in their six-round engagement, and the Philadelphia middleweight, who now scales 175 pounds, would be a good test of Jeffries' mimbleness of limb which the press agent says is marvelous. If the retired world's champion cannot make a good showing against either of these two men in a six-round bout, he had better give up the idea of ever getting in good enough condition to beat Johnson. It will saye him time. All the stories sent out from Shinnecock about Sullivan's running out to the lighthouse and back, eight miles, at 5.30 in the morning, were simply rot. The real truth was that he jogged and walked out to Shinnecock Light and returned, and during the latter days of August he would frequently stop and have

It looks like Varsity and Hamilton for the Canadian championship final. That the first named team will be a contender is certain, but there is still some doubt as to whether the Tigers will win out in the Interprovincial. However, most of the fans are expecting them to defeat Ottawa in the play-off, without much trouble. Of course, there is a probability of the Argonauts beating the return to seclusion. much trouble. Of course, there is a probability of the Argonauts beating the Tigers next Saturday, in which case Ot-tawa would be the team to play Varsity for the honors. The Tigers are the fav-crites for the Interprovincial honors,

When it comes to the matter of picking the Canadian champions theer is a great diversity of opinion. Some say that Varsity will win, and others de that Varsity will win, and others declare that the Tigers are unbeatable. Certainly, neither team showed championship ealibre in their games last Saturday. The Tigers did not wake up until the last quarter in the match with the Rough Riders, and Varsity did not show form at all in the Queen's game. If the teams were to be compared on their play of last week, Hamilton would certainly be picked as the stronger fourteen. The Varsity men were away off color. Neither on the wing line nor on the back division did they display their usual skill. Lawson, the star of the team, fumbled continually, and Gall, who does most of the punting for the team, was, to say the least, extremely weak.

Belated news of a disaster at sea in which probably eleven lives were lost was brought to New York yesterday. Six of the crew of the bankentine John 8. Bennett, bound from New York to Halifax with a cargo of coal, were drowned early on Monday morning when she was sunk in collision off Block Island with a four-masted schooner, supposed to be the Merrill C. Hart, of Thomaston, Me., bound for New York. The schooner is also believed to have been lost, causing the death of five members of her crew.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 9.—Jim McCuaig, left scrimmager of the Ottawa football team, will be lost to them for the balance of the season. McCuaig, who is an agent for the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company, leaves to-morrow for the lumber camps, on business. He will be in the north woods until May of next year. McCuaig has played in remarkably good form for a first-year man in the Big Four, and his absence will be felt. However, the Ottawas are fortunate in having such a good man as "Doc" Sherriff to replace him. Sherriff, who distinguished himself in last week's game against the Tigers, has been playing in fine form, and will be a first-class substitute to McCuaig. Dick McGee will be carried as first spare for the wing line. The Ottawas did not practice this afternoon, but will be out to-morrow for two hours at Varsity oval. All the injured men are progressing favorably, and Clancy expects his "speed boys" to be in condition for the game of their lives when they next clash with the Tigers.

Ottawa papers will wail all week as to how they lost the game at Hamilton, and then, if Argos defeat Tigers here on Saturday, it will be one grand Doost of what their team will do a week from Saturday; while, after the game, the wailing will continue, with variations, till hockey sets

For with Ballard gone it was bad enough. It was his quick brain that a year ago interpreted Varsity's signals, and it was he who picked the critical moment to slip along the line and greet Lawson before the big fellow got into his stride. Now without Ballard's defensive work and Moore's runn Tigers don't look like the photos that were don't look like the photos that taken of them twelve months ago.

Toronto evidently can't get a good city football team, but the reason thereof is not lack of support. Nowhere on the Canadian map do the fans turn out in such numbers to see the rough and tumble games. Last year Hamilton and Ottawa played off their tie at Kingston and the gate amounted to $4,000 would have been nearer the amount of the silver collection. And Ottawa don't need to be afraid they was, to say the least, extremely weak.

In spite of the desperate—almost ferocious—struggle in last Saturday's game, there are chuckle-headed people who make themselves believe that the result of the Ottawa-Hamilton football match was "pre-arranged, so as to bring about a tie, and draw another big gate." ORAL BETTING IS NOT A CRIME

New York State Court of Appeal Renders Decision-The Law Is Violated When the Bet Is Registered or Recorded.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 10.-Betting is crime only when accompanied by a record, registry, or the use of some part of the paraphernalia of professional gamblers, according to a decision vesterday of the Court of Appeals, holding, in cffect, that oral betting does not constitute bookmaking in violation of the socalled anti-race track gambling laws .c-commended by Gov. Hughes. The court affirms the order of the lower courts for the discharge from custody of Orlando Jones and Sol Lichtenstein, who werindicted in Kings County on a charge of bookmaking.

Jones and Lichtenstein were charged with orally laying and publishing cods on horse races and accepting a bet che the basis of such odds.

Assistant District-Attorney Elder of King's County, contended that bookmasing was the gambling scheme, which consists of the laying of odds for the purpose of certifier, but and that with bout, he had better give up the idea of ever getting in good enough condition to beat Johnson. contended that the only effect of the new laws was to provide a uni form penalty to the recording and registry of bets wherever made and that the making of an ordinary bet between individuals did not constitute a crime. In holding that the laying of odds alone does not constitute a crime, Judge alone does not constitute a crime, souge Haight says:

"If a man should offer to bet the ladies of his party a pair of gloves to a box of candies it would be the laying of odds and publishing the same. To hold him to be a bookmaker would, in my indepment, be a departure from the more nim to be a bookmaker would, in my judgment, be a departure from the rules which give the terms of the statute their ordinary and accepted meaning and would be a construction which was not within the contemplation of the Legislature."

Chief Judge Cullen, in his opinion, says: "Legislation should be practical and it is at least doubtful whether a statute making every offer or acceptance of a bet or wager a crime in the present state of morals and habits of the community could be enforced. While the statute makes all bets and wagers void and money lost thereon recoverable, it has made gambling a crime only where it is accompanied by record, registry, or the use of some part of the parapherualia of professional gamblera, except in the case of pool-selling, where probably no writing or record is necessary to constitute the crime.

"While in reality the statute is direct-

"While in reality the statute is directed against gambling, not against its incidents, the law has laid hold of certain incidents of the theory that, these being prohibited, the evil itself would be suppressed because of the impractibility of the control of the cability of carrying on gambling on a large scale without some of the accessor-ies denounced by the statute. How far ies denounced by the statute. How far this plan has proved successful in operation is for the Legislature, not the Court, to determine, and we cannot hold that the act of these men constitutes a crime unless it falls within the terms of the statute. Whether the plan adopted to suppress the evil is an efficacious one is soley for the Legislature.

In a dissenting opinion, Judge Vann says: "The constitution forbids book-making without defining it, and the statute forbids engaging in it without defining it. In view of the explicit command of the legislation and the history of legislation on the subject. As well as of legislation on the subject, as well as the origin of the word bookmaking and its meaning in the country from which we borrowed it. I think that the statute we borrowed it. I think that the statute prohibits engaging in bookmaking with or without the aid of any writing, because writing is not of the substance and need not be resorted to, and if resorted to, is a mere incident. Engaging in the business of public gambling lyquoting and laving insidious odds t multitude of people was the evil aimed, and, not the making of a record of the business, which is comparatively innocent."

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 10 .- Louis Chevro t, the sturdy Swiss pilot of Buick car nexed a hard-earned victory yesterday hen he captured the 200-mile Stockhassis race, averaging about 72 miles an hour. Chevrolet's victory came as a climax in a record-breaking contest, in which Atlanta's new two-mile speedway was opened.

Two of Barney Oldfield's records were owered; one of them by Louis Strang, who reduced Oldfield's one-mile mark of 43.1 more than five seconds. To do it Strang used the big 200 horse power Riat, which made a world's record of 28 Fiat, which made a world's record of 28 seconds over the 3½-mile track at. Brooklands, England, last summer. Oldfield took the limit out of his hitherto unbeatable, and took nearly three seconds off his own previous record.

The second of Oldfield's records finished in the ten-mile handicap, in which ohn Aiken, in a National sixty, starting from scratch, forged ahead to third position in the field of eight cars in 8.02.41. Oldfield, who made the distance at Minneapolis in 8.15.90, also started from scratch in this contest, but broke a steering knuckle in the first lap and was compelled to withdraw.

George Robertson, who was to have appeared in two events with his Fiat, sixty, broke an oil pipe before reaching the mark, and was out all day.

Chevrolet's winning of the big race of 200 miles in 2.46.48 was a brilliant exploit, lowering Burman's record of 3.24.134.41, made in a Buick at Indian-

Chevrolet assumed the lead in the first lap and increased it slowly but steadily for 72 miles. The two Chalmers Detroit cars took his exhaust at distances which seemed to increase only by inches.

During the few minutes that it required to extinguish the blaze in Che let's engine, Dingley regained the lost laps and took the lead by about 30 laps and took the lead by about 30 yards. His triumph was short, for Chevrolet took after him and passed him during the next lap. He was never again in danger. No serious accident marred the day's sport. Summary:

One mile time trial—First. Fiat (Strang), 37.7; second. Benz (Oldfield), 40.13; third. Christie (Christie), 43.82; fourth, Stearns (Rutherford), 50.85.

JACK GRAY WILL NOT PLAY AGAINST ARGOS.

His Ankle Is In Bad Condition as the Result of a Twist in Saturday's Game Tope and Lyon Will Line Up Against Argonauts.

ankle, it is not likely that Jack Gray will be able to play against the Argonauts in Toronto next Saturday. The injured member was badly twisted in the thawa-Tiger game, and since Saturday the big wingman has been using a cane. He has not been out to practice, and will likely rest up for the play-off. The team had a great practice yesterday af-ternoon, the players and all the spares ternoon, the players and all the spares being out. Bramer will be put in Gray's place on the wingline, and Bethune will go in to fill up the scrimmage. Davey Tope is fast rounding into shape and should be in the best of condtion for the Argo game. Both he and Don Lyon will be played, as it is necessary for them to play in one of the regular schedule games to qualify for the play-off and tinals.

There will be a big change in the Tigers' back division for this game as Art Moore may not play, and Simpson may rest up for the game with Ottawa. Tope will play full back, and the half back line may be made up of George Smith, Burton and Harvey. If Simpson does not play he will be on the touch lines ready to jump into the game at a moment's notice should it begin to go against the Jungle Terrors.

According to the Ottawa Free Press, the Rough Riders are hatching up all kinds of schemes to get to some of the yellow and black stars. It would seem to most people that they would behave after the lesson they got last Saturday, but should they start to rough it, and any attecks be made on Ben Simpson, the Tigers have got a plan that will save their captain from very much rough handling. Of all the dirty players most people that they would behave after the lesson they got last Saturday, but should they start to rough it, and any attacks be made on Ben Simpson, the Tigers have got a plan that will save their captain from very much rough handling. worst, at least judging by the brutal assault he committed on Saturday. He will be closely watched in the next game, and the first sign he makes of repeating his performance here will see his finish.

Outside of Ottawa the Tigers have the reputation of being one of the cleanest teams in the Interprovincial League. They have never been known to play rough house unless the opposing team started it, and in those cases they have always been able to hand back more than they got. Almost every man on the yellow and black wing line is an experienced boxer, and their strength and size, coupled with their science, makes them formidable men to try dirty tactics with.

The Ottawa Free Pressaccuses Simpson of being a great man to yell when he gets tackled. Such a statement is too absurd to need denial. When it comes to quitters Jack Williams has got about to quitters Jack Williams has got about as little nerve as any man playing football to-day. He has never been known for play a decent game after getting a couple of good tackles, and hardly ever finishes a game off his own grounds. With a little more nerve Williams would make one of the greatest players in the Dominien, but as it is any team with a couple of good outside wings has got the Indian sign on him.

Cornwall, not an hour's ride from Ottawa, has made a bid for the play-off. Perhaps their anxiety to have the game is not altogether uninspired.

Owing to the bad weather I did not visit as many orchards as I had intended; but I mamaged to visit the orchards of Mr. J. Nearly every tree in these orchards had ten or twelve long poles placed under it as props, to enable it to bear its load without breaking down, and the upper limbs of many of them were wired extended from the same reason.

The Olds orchard has the great record of having earned 85 per tree net for its owner during the last four years, and this year it will earn $7 to 88 per tree. At Mr. Johnson's and Mr. Olds' I saw two healthy young peach orchards, and the former has, in addition, twenty acres of fine strawberries, nine acres of thrifty pear orchard and a very flourishing, young orchard of sour cherries.

COBALT STOCKS.

The inherent strength of the market in Toronto in Oobalt stocks was again manifested yesterday when a slight advance was recorded in a number of minor issues. The variations in prices were not very marked, but showed a healthy indication of the condition of the market. Rochester was very active and acold up to $8.1-2, with a strong probability of going higher to-day. Seaver closed a fraction higher, with heavy trading, reclosed a fraction higher, with heavy trading, reclosed a fraction higher, with heavy trading relief to the strong probability of going higher to-day. Seaver closed a fraction higher, with heavy trading relief of toward the close to $1.2. Little Nilo, was in demand at 19 and 20 cents, and was considered a good buy along with Cobalt Lake, which closed at 13.

In the higher priced stocks La Rose touched par again, and was held firmly at that figure. The dividend announcement had little effect on Crown Reserve, having apparently been very largely discounted. Trethewey looked good to most of the brokers, and was much sought after, the prospect of an early flavor. A buillab feeding griving it a lively flavor. A buillab feeding priving it a lively flavor. DUN'S REVIEW.

Without exception, the reports trade, both wholesale and retail, in all parts of the country are more than satisfactory and hold out the promise for 1910 of a year of unqualified business. What this means, expressed in almost inconceivable figures, is that the United States is now increasing its wealth at a rate never before achieved. Neither the higs prevailing prices for the discussion of disputed economic policies seem in any way to shake confidence or check the industrial progress. There has been no further advance in money rates and financial conditions, which three or four weeks ago appeared somewhat threatening, are now undisturbed. The volume of bank clearings, measuring the business transactions of the nation, are in many cities greater than ever before and all records in New York for one rate never before achieved. Neither the of bank clearings, measuring the business transactions of the nation, are in many cities greater than ever before and all records in New York for one day were broken during the week. When it is seen that bank clearings increased 38.9 per cent. over 1908 and 23.1 per cent. over 1906, and outside New York 26.6 per cent. over 1908 and 13.0 per cent. over 1906, some idea is obtainable of the extraordinary recovery which has been made in a short time in business activity. It is as if the depression of 1908 had been blotted out altogether, and the only fear is that the impressive lessons it taught may be forgotten. Individually and collectively, the railroads are reporting the same proofs of prosperity, their earnings for thre weeks of October having been 11 per cent. better than in 1907. October was a month of record-breaking production in iron and steel.

The cost of many important articles of supply used by the railways has increased more than 100 per cent. Fuel for locomotives constitutes about 11 per cent, of the cost of railway operation.

Owing to the increased price of coalduring the last ten years which in some during the last ten years, which in so States has amounted to as much at 56 per cent., It is asserted that for $1 spent for locomotive fuel in 1897 for each for locomotive fuel in 1897 for each $17.25 of gross receipts the ratio has declined in 1907 to $1 for locomotive fuel for each $12.93 of gross receipts.

The expense of taxation is shown to have increased from $235.36 a mile of line in 1897 to $353.09 a mile of line in 1907, over 50 per cent. The cost of regulation, both State and national, which is classified akin to taxation, has also added greatly to the expense of the carriers. the carriers.

A conservative computation discloses that the costs due to increases in expenses or reductions in revenue imposed by statutes or by commissions acting under Federal and State regulatory laws cost the railways of the United States approximately $100,000,000 per annum.—Freight.

Caterpillars as Food.

Caterpillars as Food.

The natives of the Upper Congo are very fond of certain kinds of caterpillars gathered from the trees which these insects frequent during the caterpillar season. They assert that "mita," as they call these edible caterpillars, are very palatable when cooked in the proper way.

Several kinds are eaten, ranging in size from small insects less than two inches long, which form clusters or nexts in the branches of the trees and are therefore easily gathered, to big, hairy monsters five or six inches long, and proportionately thick.—From the Wide World Magazine.

STOOD BY HER MISTRESS.

Mme. Steinheil's Cook Favored the Prisoner.

Declared She Had Been Misquoted by Pelice.

The Prisoner Interrupted With Passionate Protests.

Paris, Nov. 10.-No servant fought more loyally for her mistress than did Marietta Wolf, the cook in Steinheil household, when callto-day as a witness in the tria Madame Steinheil for the murder of her husband and stepmother. the judge had led her through a labyrinth of contradictory statement suddenly challenged the witness h this abstract from her original labyrinth of contradictory statements he suddenly challenged the witness with this abstract from her original deposition:

"When Madame Steinheil learned that her husband was dead she ejaculated, 'At last I am free."

Without the least hesitation the servant replied: "No; I have been misquoted. What Madame said was: 'At last I am alone."

The witness insisted that the wife was devoted to her artist husband. Next to the prisoner, Marietta Wolf excited the most interest in the courtroom, as in the popular mind she is suspected of holding the key to the mystery of the Steinheil home.

She was the first witness to-day and a hush of expectancy greeted her appearance on the stand. She was gowned in black and her attitude was as sombre as her clothes. As a witness she was reticent and volunteered nothing. When pressed with specific questions by the judge she replied frequently "I do not know," or "I don't remember."

She testified that Madame Steinheil had known all of the Wolf children by Alexandre, whom she once accused, least of all. She admitted, however, that her mistress addressed Alexandre by a familiar appelation. Judge Develles, with considerable difficulty, induced the witness to describe the Steinheil home and tell how Madame Steinheil had leased "Green Lodge" in order that she might there receive her lovers. It was after she had expressed the opinion that Adolphe Steinheil was ignorant of his wife's intrigues that the witness was confronted with the deposition which she made for the police soon after the tragedy. In this she had stated that when the accused woman learned that her husband was dead she ejaculated "At last I am free." The cook with much show of earnestness contested the version of the affair in her deposition as follows: "I have been misquoted," she said. "It was when the nurse had left Madame alone that she cried out "At last I am alone." She added that the prisoner had always shown herself very fond of both her husband and her stepmother.

During the examination of the cook, Madame Steinhei that the prisoner had always shown herself very fond of both her husband and her stepmother.

During the examination of the cook, Madame Steinbeil displayed great nervousness, frequently interrupting with passionate protests against the queetions and the deductions made from the answers elicited.

Mariette Wolf contradicted categorically the testimony given yesterday by the newspaper photographer, Barbary. She said she had never stated that she would deny everything if Madame Steinheil was arrested.

Several stormy scenes occurred during the afternoon. At one point Madame Steinheil shouted defiantly that if it was true that she had received $1,200 from her lover, Chounard, the iron manufacturer, he had made a hundred times that amount from clients whom she had brought him.

The testimony of Mime, Wolf, as well as that of her son Alexandre, who followed her, was wholly favorable to the defendant.

Alexandre Wolf admitted that Me.

Alexandre Wolf admitted that Ma-dame Steinheil had been in the habit of dame Steinheil had been in the habit of addressing him familiarly, and that she had kissed him on New Year's day. He offered the opinion that Madame Steinheil had been led to accuse him through auggestion on the part of the police and the newspaper reporters.

Starting a Rubber Plant.

Rubber plants are usually started by a method known as mossing. A cut is made in a young branch and a wedge put in it to kep the surface apart. A bunch of sphagnum moss is then fastened around the stem over the cut, the moss being kept wet. As soon as the young mosts appear on the outside of the moss the young branch is cut off and potted up.
