Ruled Destiny!

CHAPTER XI
GLAD TIDINGS.

"Really true!" repeated Lady Betty. "Oh, I am so glad! Oh, my dear, my dear!" and she drew Floris away from him and kissed her. "I don't know what I can say, I am so pleased! Oh!" with a sudden alarm, "of course you will want to leave me now, dear!" Floris looked at her affectionately. "Why should I? Perhaps you will want to send me away, though!" Lady Betty kissed her again for an answer.

"I wish I could keep you always with me."

"Thank you, Betty. Thank you," exclaimed Lord Norman.

"Don't be foolish; I mean till you take her, sir! And"—with a sudden brightening—"why shouldn't I? Why shouldn't she stay with me? As—as my friend, I mean, dear. Of course, there must be no more of this 'companion' nonsense," and she flushed. "Fancy having the future Countess of Norman for a 'companion!'"

"If I stay—if you will let me stay," said Floris, gently, "it shall be just as I am."

"Well, well; we'll argue it out when we are alone," said Lady Betty.

"That's a tolerably broad hint for me to take my departure," said Lord Norman. "May I just have a cigarette before I go?"

"Yes," said Lady Betty, "and Floris shall tell Sir Edward when he complains of the smell which caused it. There, I am going now; good-night," and she left the two alone.

"I will not keep you to-night, my darling!" he murmured, holding her in his arms. "How happy you shall be if mortal man can make mortal woman happy! Good-night, Floris. Good-night, my future wife! Will you give me one kiss before I go?"

She hesitated for a moment. Then, for the first time in her young life, she raised her lips and laid them on a man's.

Next morning Lord Norman called his man, and with his assistance got into his morning coat and hat, and walked down to Eaton Square. It was nearly twelve o'clock, and he expected—perhaps he hoped—to be informed by the footman that Lady Blanche was not up yet.

But the man showed him into the drawing-room, and there Lord Norman waited, staring out of the window, at one moment thinking of Floris—of dear, sweet Floris!—and the next of the stately, beautiful creature to whom he was going to announce his passion for another woman.

The door opened and Lady Blanche entered.

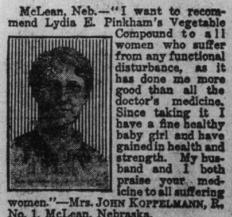

"So early! How good of you, Bruce!" she murmured. "Have you come to breakfast? I have not had mine yet. Come with me," and she drew him gently toward her.

"No, no," he said, almost harshly in his embarrassment. "I have had my breakfast, Blanche. I am very sorry I am so early."

"It doesn't matter. You know I am that he had engaged a new valet.

She went to the door; the footman was standing in readiness. "Ask the gentleman to wait, please," she said.

Then she came back, and laid her hand on Lord Norman's arm.

"Now, Bruce, I am prepared!" she said, and her eyes shone and glistened up at him in a way which he remembered years afterward, and remembered all too bitterly.

CHAPTER XII.

FOR FORTUNE AND REVENGE.

"ASK the gentleman to wait!" said Lady Blanche; then she came back and stood beside Lord Norman, looking up at him with a smile in her eyes though her face was white and strained with the effort to appear calm and unmoved.

"So you are engaged to Miss Carlisle, Bruce?" she repeated.

"Yes, Blanche," he said. "You will give me your congratulations?"

"Yes, Bruce, with all my heart," she murmured. "I wish you every happiness, and her too!" and she smiled again, while her hand closed over Oscar Raymond's note tightly, fiercely.

"The marriage will take place soon, I suppose, Bruce?" she said, quite calmly, almost sweetly.

He nodded.

"As soon as possible. It is early to think of it yet. We were only engaged last night."

"Really? Why, last night, at the ball, they were saying that Miss Carlisle would be Viscountess Clifford, and all the while she had made up her mind to be Countess Norman."

His brow gathered in a frown for a moment, then he laughed.

"Oh, Bertie flirts with any one, you know, and I dare say he made all the running he could with Floris."

"Poor Bertie! Let us hope it will be no more than mere flirtation for him. Good-by, Bruce!" and she let her fingers slide coldly, icily, from his hand.

He got his hat and went downstairs, conscious of a vague feeling of surprise and confusion. At the end of the hall he saw an old gentleman, with white hair and spectacles, and wearing a cloak that gave him the look of a musician or literary man rather out at elbows, standing regarding the weather glass.

The old gentleman turned, and regarded Lord Norman with a bland, amiable smile, and Bruce, touching his hat, in courteous response, passed out.

"This way," said the footman, rather curtly, and the elderly man slowly followed him up the stairs, and was admitted to the drawing-room.

Lady Blanche was standing by the window, looking down at the street, and did not turn her head until the footman had closed the door, and when she did so, she started with a gesture of astonishment.

Oscar Raymond took off his spectacles, and inclined his head, with a smile that was half amused, half sarcastic.

"I read the success of my disguise in your ladyship's face," he said, quietly.

Always Had Headaches

Liver Was Torpid and Bilious Spells Brought Sick Headaches—Lost Much Time, But is Now Completely Cured.

Here is convincing evidence that however much you may suffer from liver trouble and consequent biliousness there is cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Over-eating is the most common cause of sluggish liver action. You lose your appetite, have distressing bilious spells, usually accompanied by headache and vomiting, the bowels become irregular, constipation and looseness alternating, digestion is upset and you get irritable and down-hearted.

No treatment so quickly awakens the action of the liver and bowels as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For this reason this medicine is wonderfully popular and has enormous sales.

Mr. Charles R. Tait, Newtown, N.B., writes: "I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and would often have to stop work for a day or two. I lost many a night's sleep every month with bilious headaches, and although I tried doctors' medicines, and also many other patent medicines, it was without success. When I had these headaches I would vomit, and could keep nothing on my stomach."

"I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills from G. M. Fairweather, Druggist, of Sussex, N.B., and after taking one box I was so much relieved that I continued to take them until I am now completely cured. My advice to anyone suffering from sick headaches is to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and be completely cured."

Mr. A. S. Mac, J.P., endorses the above statement and says: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Charles R. Tait, and believe his statement in every way to be true and correct."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers of Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Substitutes will only disappoint. Insist on getting what you ask for.

Is there any need for this masquerade, sir?" she said, almost contemptuously.

"Judge for yourself," he retorted. "I have just met Lord Norman in your hall. He and I were once friends, and are now bitter foes. If he had recognized me he would have returned to warn you against me, and our plot would have been rendered abortive."

"Our plot!" she said, coldly. "I have not consented yet to join you in any plot, sir."

He raised his eyebrows, and pointed to the note, which she still held tightly in her hand.

"Then why did you answer my note, Lady Blanche?" he said, significantly.

Lady Blanche was silent for a moment, then she said in a low voice: "Last night you said that you intended to—that you were about to separate Lord Norman and Miss Carlisle."

"I did. That is still my intention," he said.

"What is your plan?" she demanded to ask.

"At present it is not complete," he answered. "It is an unwise general who discloses an immature plan of his campaign."

"How then am I to help you?"

"In two ways; for the present you must keep me apprised of all that happens to Lord Bruce; and you must afford me the opportunity of striking the blow when the occasion offers. I shall need another accomplice, Lady Blanche."

"Another?"

"Yes," he said, coolly, "and I think I have found her. Lady Pendleton has a maid, a Frenchwoman, a dark girl with black hair—"

"Yes, I have seen her."

"Her name is Josine. She is vain, and—well, like her race generally—passionate and impulsive, and she detests Miss Carlisle. Josine, with whom I mean to be very great friends, will keep me acquainted with Miss Carlisle's movements, and will assist me to strike my blow as the hour presents itself. My plan is more than half formed already, and when it is complete, your ladyship shall hear it, and judge for yourself whether it is not sufficient for our—I beg your pardon—my purpose."

"I am compelled to trust you, Mr. Raymond," she said, in a low voice.

"You will not find your confidence abused, Lady Blanche," he said. "One thing more. Will you please regard me as Signor Paulo, your Italian master—or, stay—music would be better, and more convenient. Would it not be as well if your ladyship took your finishing lessons from an experienced master?"

As he spoke he went to the grand piano, inclined his head by way of asking permission, and seating himself, began to play.

U-Boat Strikes Mine.

ONLY TWO MEN SAVED.

London, June 17.—(Via Reuter's Ltd.)—Harrowing details of the destruction of one of the largest and recently constructed German submarines are given in a despatch from a neutral correspondent. This submarine was one of the last to leave Zeebrugge before the entrance to the harbour was blocked by British forces on April 24.

The U-boat struck a mine and out of the crew of forty only two survived on reaching the surface after a terrible struggle with death for one hour and a half, twenty fathoms below the surface. Some of the crew committed suicide, having lost all hope of leaving the boat alive.

NET TERRIBLE DEATH.

The only chance of escaping was to force open the coning tower and the forward hatches and trust to the compression of air in one part of the vessel to force each man like a torpedo to the surface. The air pressure in the submarine had become so high that the great majority of the Germans could not keep their mouths closed.

The compressed air shot them to the surface and hardly they reached the sea level when the air pressure burst their lungs and about twenty of them sank like stones. The survivors described the yell of the men, when the end came, as the most horrible noise they had ever heard.

The attention of a British trawler was attracted and it hastened to the rescue. The conduct of the survivors showed that their experiences in the submarine had been of a dreadful character.

Austrian Offensive Defeated.

Losses to Enemy Estimated at 180,000
Now in Retreat Across the Piave River Hun Submarines Being Bested.

WAR REVIEW.

The first phase of the Austrian offensive has ended in failure and defeat. The culmination of what was intended to be a crush of Italy between the jaws of Austrian pincers is the rout of the invaders themselves. With their backs to the swollen Piave River the Austrians for many days past had been trying to ward off the vicious counter attacks of the Italians and save the situation. Now they are endeavoring and still under great pressure to ford the stream and reach safety on its eastern bank. From the Montello plateau to the Adriatic the enemy is in retreat. The River is literally clogged with his dead. Already his losses are estimated at 180,000 men, and the chances of his escape without additional heavy casualties and men made prisoners seems remote. Large numbers of the pontoon bridges the enemy threw across the Piave have been swept away by the now torrential stream and on all the sectors of the 33-mile front where they gained the edge of the Venetian ridge they are being sorely harassed by the fire of the Italian guns and rifles, and by the machine gun fire and bombs of the aviators who have done such notable executions since the drive started. Monster preparations had been made by the Austrians for what was to be the death blow to King Victor Emmanuel's men. Thousands upon thousands of men, many of them brought from the Russian and Rumanian fronts, and guns and stores in tremendous quantities had been parcelled among the various commanders for the drive over a battle area of virtually 100 miles running from the Asiago plateau to the Piave River, and then following that stream to the sea. Undoubtedly the Austrian high command had built largely for success on the belief that the Italian morale had been shattered when last year their great pincers closed in upon them and forced back the line in a semi-circle from the Julian Alps to the Piave and from the mountains in the north almost to the plains of Venetia. Such a belief, however, was entirely erroneous. From the first onslaught the enemy met a rejuvenated army, which fought him with the greatest gallantry, never ceding an inch of ground unless it was dearly paid for. Aiding the Italians in the mountains were British and French allies, who also fought nobly and everywhere defeated the enemy. Large numbers of the enemy have been reported recently as coming behind the northern line in the mountain region, and it is not improbable that shortly the second phase of the battle will begin. Complete confidence is felt in the Italian and other Allied command, however, that the enemy will meet foemen of superior quality, and that his efforts will go for naught.

This announcement was made by Premier Orlando in the Senate to-day. He added, after the present victorious resistance another battle will burst sooner or later. In fact reliable reports which have been received say that the enemy is concentrating large forces in the Tyrol and Trentino in another desperate attempt to break through the mountain front. A proposal made by an Italian General to declare Mont Grappa a national monument in recognition of the heroism displayed there, was announced by the Premier and was received with approval.

ENEMY DEFEATED.

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN ITALY, June 23. (By the Associated Press.)—From Montello to the sea the enemy has been defeated, and forced by the Italians to cross the Piave River in disorder.

OFFENSIVE NOT RENEWED.

ROME, June 23. The enemy's offensive pressure, broken heroically or withheld along the whole front of battle by the firm resistance and counter offensive spirit of our troops, has not been renewed since the evening of June 20th, says the official report from headquarters yesterday.

AUSTRIAN EXAGGERATION.

ROME, June 23. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The Austrian claims of the capture of 40,000 Italian prisoners is semi-officially contradicted. The truth is that this figure represents the whole of the Italian casualties, which when compared with the length of the front is very small.

AUSTRIA GOT THE BONE.

WASHINGTON, June 23. Official despatches received here to-day, founded on information gathered at Berne, reflect the seriousness of the food situation in Austria-Hungary and the difficulties of Ludendorff, the German General, in supplying his armies on the west front. They tell of the diversion of the food supply in the Ukraine and Bessarabia, they promised to the Austrians by the Germans to themselves, and recite correspondence between Ludendorff and the Mayors of Vienna and Budapest, in which the Mayors gave warning that they could not be responsible for such conditions and could give no more help.

AUSTRIAN CABINET RESIGN.

PARIS, June 23. (Via Havas Agency.)—After a meeting with Emperor Charles of Austria on Friday, says a despatch from Zurich, Switzerland, Premier Seydler presented the resignation of the entire Austrian Cabinet. The Emperor said he would decide on Sunday whether to accept the resignation or not.

DESTROYING U-BOATS.

PARIS, June 23. (Via Havas Agency.)—Two-thirds of the German submarines launched are already at the bottom of the sea, according to a statement made to the Deputies by the Under Secretary of the Navy, and, continued the Under Secretary, we are destroying them twice as fast as they are building them.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, June 23. British troops last night successfully raided the enemy lines near Moriancourt and Bucquoy and captured a number of prisoners, the British War Office announced to-day. A strong German attack on the British positions west of Merra was repulsed.

AMERICA'S MARVELLOUS WORK.

WASHINGTON, June 23. Nine hundred thousand men have been shipped across the seas, General March told newspaper correspondents at the weekly conference yesterday. These include the troops shipped from all American ports of embarkation. The United States to-day is five months ahead of its programme for placing an army in France, General March said. The figures on Austrian troop movements are significant, since General March at his first conference last week fixed the number shipped at more than 800,000; the addition of more than 100,000 during the week showing the rate of progress that is being made.

ITALIANS IN SCRAP ON WEST FRONT.

PARIS, June 23. German forces last night attacked the Entente Allied positions at Bligny about eight miles southwest of Rheims, and succeeded temporarily in gaining a footing in the Allied trenches. A vigorous counter attack, instituted by Italian troops, however, quickly ejected the enemy and re-established the line in its entirety.

AERIAL OPERATIONS.

LONDON, June 23. The War Office communication dealing with aerial activity, issued last night, says: In spite of adverse weather conditions on the 21st inst., some artillery co-operations, photographic reconnaissances and patrols were carried out by our airplanes. One hostile machine was destroyed. Two of our machines are missing.

AN IDLE RUMOR.

PARIS, June 23. Premier Clemenceau and Leon Abramiz, Under Secretary for Effectives and Pensions at the War Office, had a lengthy hearing before the Senate Army Committee to-day on the question of effectives. It has been widely rumored that the Germans have placed a number, varying from eight to thirty, of long range cannon for the bombardment of Paris. Several questions were put to Premier Clemenceau, most of them concerning this rumor, but he treated it as idle gossip.

ROMANIA IN THE WAY.

AMSTERDAM, June 23. According to the Rheinische Westphalische Zeitung, Dr. Gustav Stresemann said in the Reichstag yesterday we might well have wished that the Rumanian dynasty had disappeared. There is ever the longer that Bucharest remains an entente nest where threads can be spun against Germany. Go. Ledbour then declared the authors of the war one day will be brought to trial. When Count Von Westang, Conservative member of the Reichstag, advocates the removal of the Hohenzollerns in Rumania he are in accord with him.

Urged on by the two great considerations of backing our boys and protecting your own private interests, there is no doubt as to what course you will pursue. You will buy these Bonds immediately. You will buy them to the full extent of your means. You will urge your friends to buy them. And the next time you meet a returned soldier you will be able to look him straight in the eyes with the consciousness that you have not failed in your duty here at home, but have kept the home fires burning and the flag at the mast. It's a great feeling—don't miss it.

AUSTRIANS RETIRING IN DISORDER.

LONDON, June 23. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—A bulletin from Reuter's correspondent at Italian headquarters states that the enemy in disorder is recrossing the Piave from Montello to the sea closely pursued.

AUSTRIANS' HEAVY LOSS.

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS June 22. (By the Associated Press.)—An official communication published by the Stefani Bureau recognizes the first phase of the battle as definitely ended with the enemy at a positive disadvantage. It estimates the Austro-Hungarian losses at 180,000, and declares that if the enemy desires to obtain his objectives it will be necessary to begin a new offensive, as thus far he has not attained any essential position of military value. The communication sets forth again the objectives which the Austrians had fixed for their advance, and points out the idea that these objectives could be won was due to the strange conviction of the commanding generals that the Italians would not fight. The only result claimed, continues the statement, was the disruption of fifteen of their divisions in exchange for the advance on the Italian lines at Cima Di Rossi, whereas another thirty divisions barely gained two and a half miles upon Montello and the same distance at San Dona, for which they paid a terrible price. The poison gas attack by the Austrians has been a complete failure.

MORE THAN A FAILURE.

ROME, June 23. The Austrian offensive was more than a failure. It was a defeat for the enemy who at many points was four times stronger than the Italians.

MONDAY, June 24, 1918.

WHY NOT.

To-day is the 421st anniversary of the discovery of Newfoundland by John Cabot, who sailed from Bristol, England, on the second of May, 1497, in a little ship called the "Matthew," of 50 tons burden, manned by one Burgundian and sixteen English sailors. An old manuscript thus briefly notes what was, perhaps, the most important discovery of any age:

"This year (1497) on St. John the Baptist's Day, the land of America was found by the merchants of Bristol, in a ship of Bristol called the Matthew, which said ship departed from the port of Bristol (Bristol) the 2nd of May, and came home again the 6th of August following."

From that day, it may be said that the growth of the British Empire commenced, and Newfoundlanders surely are proud of being inhabitants of the oldest of Britain's possessions. It has for long been a cause for wonder why no attempt has been made to commemorate publicly this day. Being the eldest daughter of Britannia is no small honour, and yet it is strange that we do not appear to realize our distinction and our standing in the imperial family. We observe holidays by proclamation and arrangement, but so far as is known no effort was ever put forward to include our natal day (by discovery) in the list. Are we ashamed of it by any chance? It would appear so, for neither the Government nor the Mercantile Association's schedule of whole holidays in any provision made for St. John the Baptist's Day, June 24th. Such an omission is not creditable to our loyalty and our love for Newfoundland. Birthdays are looked upon by nations and individuals alike as a time for rejoicing, but for 421 years there has been no public celebration (apart from the quinquennial of 1897) of the appearance of Newfoundland into the history of the world. Not even in the school system of the island is there provision for the children to keep and commemorate the day when Cabot first sighted our shores. No one denies that the love of country is strong in the hearts of Newfoundlanders, and we consider ourselves second to none in our devotion to our native land. Is it not then passing strange that we neglect our birthday, and in that neglect do a wrong to the children who will become the future men and women, to whose care the concern of our Dominion must be entrusted. Are we not somewhat slack in our duty, by this failure to fittingly commemorate "the day"? Opinions may differ on other points, but in this particular one there will, we think, be a unanimity of sentiment that we owe it to ourselves, our forefathers, and the coming generations to perpetuate the 24th day of June by making it the National Holiday of Newfoundland.

Notes and Comments

To freeze or not to freeze.
With coal at $16 per what other alternative is left?
And the present weather is by no means balmy or summerlike, out—we have hopes.
Kultur at its true worth appears in the discovery that the "five thousand dollar gold cup" presented by the Kaiser as a winning trophy to an American yachtsman, turned out to be made of pewter, washed with gold, its real value being about $40. And yet many people think the Germans are sports.

To get rid of the germs in ice cream, boil it and serve while hot.
That was "some chestnut" which Lord Morris worked off on the "Tit Bits" man in London some time ago. Newfoundlanders are not the only people too green to burn. There are others.

The world must be made safe for democracy.
Why? Because autocracy has proved itself the enemy of Peace, the foe of Liberty, the dealer of Death. Democracy stands for the opposite faith. "Can two walk together except they be agreed."

Buy Victory Bonds and help defeat autocracy and Prussianism.
"How doth the gentle laundry man search out the weakest points, And always scrape the buttons off At the most strategic points."

You Who Read This.

You who read this as you sit in your comfortable home, office, or club, will probably throw down the paper and exclaim "more of that irre-some Loan Campaign drive!" But if you do you are shirking your responsibility. You cannot look the facts of the present struggle in the face, and calmly stand aside in this great fight for Freedom and Civilization. He who is not on the side of the Allies is against them. You may not be able to fight yourself, but if you cannot do so you are bound to make your dollars fight. This, as some people may suppose, does not apply to those who are comfortably off. The people who should subscribe to this Loan, and the people who will benefit most, are those who must make sacrifices in order to procure the money to invest in War Bonds. Keep on subscribing. There must be no war-weariness in connection with this Victory Loan. We must keep hammering along the whole line, until, if possible, the whole Loan is many times oversubscribed.

Farewell Service.

At George St. Church last evening, the Rev. Norman M. Guy said farewell to the congregation to whom he has faithfully ministered during the past four years. Rev. J. T. Newman, of Burin, assisted at the service. Mr. Guy has been appointed to Hamilton, Bermuda and will likely leave for his new field of labor next week. Newfoundland Methodism by his departure is losing one of its most brilliant sons and finest preachers. During his city pastorate, he has achieved remarkable success and will leave a memory which can never be erased. Mr. Guy takes with him the very best wishes of a host of friends for his future success, and his people say goodbye in the confident hope that some day they will have the privilege of welcoming him to his native land again.

Wild Dominion Day.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The first day of July is the anniversary of the most memorable day in our history. On the first day of July, 1918, we are commemorating the obscurity of centuries and became, through the valor and self-sacrifice of our sons at the front, a place of national and world-wide significance. Other great days have followed, and our gallant regiment is now the Royal Newfoundland Regiment and our island is now the Dominion of Newfoundland. Should we not make July the First our national holiday, and call it Dominion Day, setting it apart by statute for permanent and universal observance by our people? The first of July is the Canadian Dominion Day, and on that day the flag flies all over Canada from Atlantic to Pacific; should we make the first of July, Newfoundland Dominion Day, the Union Jack would that day fly all over British North America, from Yukon to Labrador.

Faithfully yours,
GEO. J. BOND.
June 22nd.

Dominion Day.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In this morning's issue of the Daily News, I have read with much interest and pleasure a suggestion by Dr. Bond, that the 1st July be made a National holiday, with the Dominion Day, entirely agree. As a matter of fact I have a letter written for publication in the Cadet under the heading of "A Glimpse of the Past and Future," in which appears the following, (in part). To commemorate July 1st, we are glad to note that the Veterans Association, under the leadership of Sgt. Harold Mitchell are making arrangements to fittingly celebrate the historic battle of Beaumont Hamel.
I was in London, July 1916, when our wounded were arriving at Wandsworth, and the other great hospitals. We were present at the War and Record Office, when they received the long list of killed and wounded. At this time the London Press published graphic details which thrilled our hearts with the heroic deeds and bravery of Newfoundland's soldier boys.
If I am spared and well at the next session of the Legislature, I propose to introduce a bill making July 1st a legal National holiday to be named "Dominion Day," in everlasting memory of those brave soldiers of our country, who fought and shed their blood, and gained for us the name of His Majesty the King. The 1st of July we wish to have enshrined in the memory of the present and future generations, as the day when the Western Front, known as the battle of Beaumont Hamel, in which this country took a leading part, where our soldier lads brought glory and lustre to this country which should never be forgotten. If spared and well, I promise you to father the bill in the Legislative Council next session to make July 1st, each and every year a legal holiday.

A few days ago I noticed in the Press a suggestion, that our Wednesday holiday should be changed to Thursday, July 4th, the glorious fourth day of the Declaration of Independence was adopted 1776, over one hundred and forty years ago.

To make a beginning, we humbly suggest to the Importers Association to change the holiday from Wednesday to Monday, July 1st, as our first National Dominion Day.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN ANDERSON.

TO-MORROW'S GAME.
The game to-morrow evening between Red Lions and B. I. S. promises to be a regular scorcher. Both teams have been hard at practice for some time. The lineups are still kept secret. It is pretty safe to say however that Herb Power will catch and "Bill" Sinnott pitch for the Hillz crew. Art will occupy his old position at the initial sack. It is rumoured that should Sinnott "blow" Art will go in the box. Charlie Quick will play third and Art Mullings short, while Bill Cooney will be in the field. The injured man was placed in a cab and driven to the laundry of Kim Lee, where he was attended by Dr. J. S. Tait, who inserted seven stitches in the morning.
The party who committed the assault is known to the police and the injured man is to answer for his conduct before the Judge of the Central District Court.

Cochrane Street Centennial Church.

At Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church yesterday, two very important subjects were presented to the congregations for their consideration and thought. Rev. D. B. Hemmison, subject for the morning, he, "Humility," and that of the evening by the Rev. Dr. Bond, "Conversion." A goodly number of the members of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment were present at the service. During the evening service twenty young men and women presented themselves at the Reception Service. After the usual disciplinary questions which were duly answered by the candidates, the right hand of fellowship was extended by the Pastor and all were duly received into full membership of the Church. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by the Rev. Dr. Bond, assisted by the Revs. Dr. Curtis, T. W. Atkinson, J. Wilson, W. H. Dotchson and W. Grimes.

Magistrate's Court.

A laborer who filled up on Florida Water on Friday last and started to break up glasses in a beer shop, on Queen's Street from which he was ejected, lodged a complaint against the proprietor for assaulting him, and this morning was in court to make good his charge. The defendant swore that he did not lay hands on the complainant, but told him to leave the building, refusing at the time to sell him any "refreshments." The judge, in dismissing the case, pointed out that Florida Water has a peculiar effect on the mind, quite different from that caused by the ordinary "Old Tom" or Scotch whiskey, and it was evident that in this case it greatly affected the complainant.

Prices and Values.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

An acquaintance of mine was boasting about a set of dishes which she had gotten at a great bargain. She told, proudly, how another shop was advertising a set of the same dishes at five dollars more the set. Someone asked how many dishes her set included. "But the set of dishes," she said, "is advertised in it," he pointed out. "I happened to notice, because my wife wants some dishes for her summer cottage." The bargain getter's set had only six of each article. The difference in number just about cancelled the difference in price.

The incident interested me greatly because it was typical of the careless way in which we compare prices without being careful to compare values and quantities at the same time.

Have They The Same Net Weight? Take canned goods, for instance. You find you can get a can of corn which tastes just as well, cheaper at one shop than at another, but are you sure that there is the same net weight in each?

Commodity. "I buy such and such a commodity," a woman told me, the other day, "because it is the only brand that hasn't gone up in price." Now, as a matter of fact, the size of the package has been reduced so that it really has gone up in price more than some which actually have changed the price but kept the size of the package the same. One Should Take Advantage of Quantity Buying.

Having the net quantity thus clearly printed on the outside of all packages, is an advantage which I do not think we make full use of. Not only should it be used in comparing values but in deciding what size jar or package to buy. Usually, the larger quantity is sold for a worth while saving.

Value Difficult to Measure. The matter of quality is, of course, a good deal harder to determine. There are no scales or measures by which to weigh and measure it, except the measures of experience and the scales of judgment. But no just and thrifty buyer will hastily and thoughtlessly compare prices without at the same time trying to consider the matter of values.

Your Boys and Girls.

Any little girl over seven years old may be taught to knit. Here is a simple direction for making a knitted sweater for dolls.

Use one hunk of shetland wool and a pair of knitting needles about number five. Cast on twenty stitches for the back and knit twenty ribs. Then cast on ten more stitches, knit across and cast on ten at the opposite side, you have on the needle now, forty stitches which gives the width from sleeve-edge to sleeve-edge. When you have knit ten ribs, the sleeves will be finished up as far as the shoulder line.

About eight stitches may be bound off for the back of the neck. You have knit sixteen stitches bind off eight for the neck, and continue to knit across the remaining sixteen stitches. Slip off the sixteen stitches on the opposite side of the bound-off portion, on a big safety pin and fasten securely.

Take the empty needle and commence knitting where the end of your worsted is, knit as far as the bound-off place and back twice, which will give you two ribs for the shoulder. Now cast on six stitches to make the front wide enough and knit across the twenty two stitches for ten rows.

This completes the sleeve. Bind off under the sleeves for ten stitches (the original number you cast on for the sleeves) and then knit across and across, straight down the front until the front is as long as the back. Finish the opposite front in the same way and sew up the underarm seams with a bit of worsted.

HE HAS NOT GONE TO DIE.

He has not gone to die, though he may fall, And far in Flanders lie; He heard life call, And knowing what it meant— His strength to give For Freedom, on he went That he might live.

Death! There is no such thing For honor's sons, Who brave the thundering And crash of guns And in one mighty hour Dare all for truth; They snatch from Death's grim power Eternal Youth.

Not by some secret plan, Nor space of time Does life produce a man Superb, sublime, Not in three-score of years Does manhood glow; More than our gray-beard seers Brave youth may know.

Only the coward dies; Clinging to breath, Fearing to strike or rise, He is a living death. Lost is his soul to truth, Dead to his heart within, Wasted his strength and youth, Shame's grave has shut him in.

He went to live one hour For truth and right; To rise to manhood's power And test his might, And if beneath that sky He falls for truth, His name shall never die; Life guards his youth.

Everyday Etiquette.

"What is the procedure when a couple leave a public dining room?" asked nervous Nettie. "The lady precedes the gentleman when leaving," replied her mother. "At the door the man will receive his hat from the attendant which attention is usually rewarded with a small tip."

Milady's Boudoir.

THE HAIR.

One's complexion is not the only detail that must be perfected before a woman can lay claim to charms, for going hand-in-hand with it is the hair. Hair to be beautiful must be clean and nourished. While it usually has enough natural oil, it is often robbed of it by the manner in which the hair dresser shampoos and dries it and also by the tonics used, the greater part of them containing wood alcohol, which literally takes all the oil out of the hair and burns it up.

A woman with scanty hair does not hesitate about shampooing it at home for it is easily dried, but one with a heavy head of hair dreads the task. A simple means by which the drying of the hair is easily and quickly accomplished is to use a straw hat, with the crown removed, of any size or dimensions. After the shampoo is removed the greater part of the water from the hair by rubbing with a towel, then lift the hair through the crown of the hat, rest the hat on the head and spread the hair out around the brim to dry.

Dandruff is the worst enemy of the hair. Frequent shampooing is a necessity but, as this is too drying, for a head of hair which is not naturally oily, the hair should be given a small dose of oil after each shampoo.

An easy way to accomplish this is to wet the hair with a seventy per cent solution of alcohol to which some castor oil has been added, four teaspoons of castor oil to one pint of alcohol. The alcohol carries the oil to all parts of the scalp and then evaporates, leaving it intact.

A ten minute massage should be given every night. Place the tips of the fingers on the scalp and, without moving them, rotate the scalp on the skull. Then move the fingers to another part of the scalp and repeat.

Your Daughter.

Sits at home, sewing or performing some other household task. She is the apple of your eye, the joy of your life, the light of your home. She fills your life with sunshine, and your heart with happiness. No sacrifice is too great for you to make in order to ensure her safety. But only a few thousand miles away in ravaged Belgium there are other daughters, daughters who were as fair and innocent as yours before the Kaiser let his hell-hounds loose over that fair land. There were fair daughters of France who filled the homes of their parents with love and laughter, but who lived to curse the day they were born—when the Germans came. Your daughter is secure from outrage and shame only through the sacrifice of our brave soldiers and sailors. What are you paying for your protection, and the protection of those you hold dear? Are you in a position to buy Victory Bonds? If so, do so. Buy More Bonds, until the Germans are driven back to the Rhine and the four crimes they have committed have been wiped out in their blood.

If you are going to get that new suit of clothes, get it now, as with new shipments of goods prices are going to soar. We have a splendid stock to select from, and you can rely on a good fit in any style you wish to have it made. SPURRELL THE Tailor, 365 Water St.—June 24, 1918.

THE SAVING HABIT.

WALT MASON

We're learning how to save! The shilling, a 2 & 4 when the armies cease their thrilling, the lesson will abide; our hard-earned savings we won't be blowing; the tail no longer will be going to blitzen with the hide. In peaceful times I failed to pickle the useful dime and helpful nickel. I put no coin in brine; I wasted money as I earned it, with foolish energy I burned it, the spendthrift's course was mine. Then came the war, and thrifty neighbours who'd saved the product of their labors, the crisis calmly met; they had their bundles in their cellars while I and other giddy fellows were plunging neck deep in debt. We were a bunch of also-wases; we couldn't help the Red Cross causes, or buy a baby bond; we couldn't line up with the loyal, and help to can the madman royal, for all our goods were pawned. The busted man is pretty useless when war is raging, endless, fruitless, and coin is in demand, when every gent should have his dollar to help to make the foeman hotter, and save his native land. And I felt shame, and I was blushing, when I beheld my neighbours rushing with coin to boost the flag; I wept for all my spendthrift folly, my soul was steeped in melancholy, my spine began to sag. But now my wisdom teeth have sprouted, along the paths of thrift I've scouted, I've salted down four bones; my package doubtless will be greater, and as it grows 'twill balk the traitor, and shake the tyrants' thrones.

Strikes Unpatriotic.

(From the Pittsburg Gazette Times.) Director General of Railroads McAdoo's warning to railway shophmen against striking is timely. It plainly indicates a principle of patriotism which should be obvious and which no doubt will furnish food for serious thought to those who had given it no consideration. Every person engaged in any form of railroad work is a Government employee; every employee of an industry essential to the carrying on of the war is a servant of the people. The duty of all is alike, though the Government may exercise no direct authority over those on the payrolls of private employers. Retention of the independence of these latter will depend much upon their own recognition of the obligation they owe the country in these times. But there can be no cavilling about the duty of those, like the railroad workers, already enrolled as employees of the Government. They stand in much the same relation to the public as do our soldiers. If wages and conditions of employment are unsatisfactory, they may petition for a readjustment. That is all. The Government fixes the terms for them. If this condition involves sacrifice, they must content themselves with the reflection that they are enlisted in the common cause and have no private rights that can take precedence over the public necessities. In setting aside the rights of private owners, the Government suspends the rights of private employees. That is the significance of public ownership or control of industries. During the war all must strive for victory under Government leadership. After the war the questions of rights can be considered in the light of the war-time experiences.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Life is transient: "Our home is in Heaven our home is not here." These words are ever vibrating in our souls, and some day we all hope to meet with our loved ones gone before. As the years go by old friends depart, no distinction of persons, all classes and all creeds, are gathered in by the hand of time. Yesterday all that was mortal of the late Rev. Such are also the feelings of human nature the moment that persons become to be, as it were, at the zenith of love for their fellow creatures, then does it often please the hand of Providence to lay upon them the cold still hand of death. Father Vereker was esteemed as a Priest whose love for his fellowman was unbounded. He was loved by rich and poor; many Protestants vied in their admiration with their Roman Catholic countrymen in their veneration for the Padre. The Last Link in the Chain of Irish Priest.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Life is transient: "Our home is in Heaven our home is not here." As the years go by old friends depart, no distinction of persons, all classes and all creeds, are gathered in by the hand of time. Yesterday all that was mortal of the late Rev. Father Vereker were laid to rest within the sacred precincts of Belvedere, and many an eye was bedewed with the tears of sorrow over the loss of a kind and loving Sogarta Aroon. As we write the lines of Moore occur to us: "I never nursed a dear gazelle To glad me with its soft black eye, But when it came to know me well And love me it was sure to die."

Such are also the feelings of human nature the moment that persons become to be, as it were, at the zenith of love for their fellow creatures, then does it often please the hand of Providence to lay upon them the cold still hand of death. Father Vereker was esteemed as a Priest whose love for his fellowman was unbounded. His Lordship in reply to an address presented to him by the Catholic societies said, concerning the death of Father Vereker: "The death of my dear friend and Administrator, Father Vereker, is a source of intense sorrow to me; his loss cannot easily be replaced, a more zealous or single minded priest could not be found, and though we must bow to the Divine Will still the wound will bleed."

I believe I am right in saying that Father Vereker, who was buried on Friday, was the last link in the chain of the Irish pioneer priests who did so much, and who suffered untold hardship in the cause of religion when our sea girl life possessed not the facilities for travelling or for advancing the cause of education as is possessed to-day. Father Vereker will be remembered for many years to come by many in all parts of Newfoundland, and his genial presence will be missed by none more so than by those amongst whom he laboured for so many years, the kind and hospitable residents of historic Ferryland.

I remain yours truly, JAMES MURPHY.

It's Up to You.

Yes! Absolutely! We have got to get this Loan across! It's a matter of duty! It's a matter of pride! It's a matter of patriotism! And you, YOU who read this, are as much responsible for its success or failure as if you were in a position to make or break it, to buy up the entire Loan, or to prevent its being subscribed at all. You cannot fail to do your part; you cannot be recreant to your duty. You owe it to your family, your country and our soldiers and sailors, as well as to yourself. We know you will not fail. We are certain you will not. You will go right out and buy that bond you have been threatening to buy since the campaign started. And then you will buy more as your means permit. You will make certain that you will do your part towards the success of the issue, and that is all that can be expected of anyone.

Austrians Offensive Depleted.

(Continued from 3rd page.) LENINE TO RESIGN. ZURICH, Switzerland, June 23. Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier of Russia, has expressed his intention of resigning his office, according to a Moscow despatch published in the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, of Berlin. The Premier made this decision despite the vote of confidence in him recently passed by the Soviet Committee, the despatch states.

AMERICAN CASUALTIES.

WASHINGTON, June 22. The steadily progressing participation of American troops in the fighting in France, was sharply marked in to-day's casualty lists. Of 153 men named, 52 including 3 officers, were killed in action—the heaviest death toll from the battle field yet made public.

SITUATION IN AUSTRIA CRITICAL.

PARIS, June 22. A number of telegrams received in Paris to-day by way of Switzerland, describe conditions in the interior of Austria-Hungary as becoming critical. Fifty thousand workers at the arsenal in the Vulcan factories and in the Worchelowsky airplane works have gone on strike. The Burgomaster of Vienna has told the Municipal Council that "it would be impossible to distribute potatoes after the work end. The resignation of several Ministers in the Austrian Cabinet is expected.

PUNISHING THE HUN.

LONDON, June 22. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Havelock Wilson, President of the Seamen's Union, in a speech in London said he had received a cablegram from Rotterdam that the Dutch sailors had refused to sail with the pro-German Dutch Socialist leader Troelstra, who wished to attend the Labor Conference in London. Mr. Wilson emphasized that the refusal was another example of the policy of the Allied and neutral seamen to punish the Hun for his diabolical crimes at sea.

GERMAN UNREST.

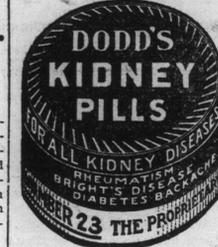

AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 23. Germany war-weary and ill-fed is in a state of unrest, so acute, that talk of revolt against the Imperial Government is common among both the military and civilian populations, according to Americans who arrived to-day on a Norwegian liner after a long residence in Germany or adjacent neutral countries. Officers and men the voyagers said, told them of a sullenness which is widespread in the German army, predicting that it would reach the point where the troops would refuse to fight.

HAMMERING THE ENEMY.

ROME, June 23. Along the front of battle our artillery continues to bombard the enemy intensely. On Montello and along the Piave our infantry is everywhere maintaining powerful pressure on the enemy. Yesterday we carried out successful raids and patrol actions to the west of Fagare. The enemy attempted some counter offensives which were crushed. A British party in an energetic surprise action broke into the adversary's line to the south of Asiago and after a lively struggle killed 100 of the enemy and brought in 31 prisoners and one machine gun. Our own allied armies have continued the struggle with undiminished fury. They also carried out yesterday big air effective bombardments on the enemy immediate line of communication. Ten enemy machines were downed. The enemy aerial losses since June 15 amount to 85 airplanes and 6 captive balloons.

BERLIN REPORT.

BERLIN, June 23. Both British and French are raiding the German lines in the Somme area, according to the official statement from general headquarters to-night.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, June 23. (Official.) The day was calm along the whole front. On the eastern theatre violent storms have prevented activity along the Serbian front. In the region of Sina Frenta in the Upper Derol valley we repulsed enemy detachments who left prisoners in our hands.

RECRUITING IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, June 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The Irish recruiting Council in issuing its manifesto calling for soldiers, emphasizes the difference between this appeal and the former along the same line. The Council points out that this campaign is being conducted by Irishmen among their own people and in their own way. This is only the cradle of your race, the manifesto declares. The greater Ireland beyond the seas from Adelaide to Brisbane and from San Francisco to New York is heart and soul behind the men in Flanders. Our countrymen the world over stand aghast at our inaction and their friendship is growing cold. This is no hour for tricks or bargains. An answer to our appeal must come from the heart and conscience of a nation that has never yet sold herself.

NO ATTACK YET.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, June 22.—Another week has passed with the Germans continuing to make threats to attack the British front, but without an offensive materializing. Both sides have been closely watching each other and each has carried out a large number of raids for the purpose of identifying opposing troops and inflicting damage. The biggest and most successful raid was made by Scotch troops yesterday southwest of Gavreille, where enemy trenches were rushed along a depth of 700 yards and penetrated to a depth of 400 yards. Every enemy dugout in this area was destroyed and its occupants killed.

STRIKERS KILLED AT BUDAPEST.

AMSTERDAM, June 23. Nineteen strikers were killed and 36 others wounded in a clash to-day with the police at the Government railway shops in Budapest, according to a telegram received here from the Hungarian capital.

WILL BE NEXT HEARD OF IN GER-MANY.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 23. Emperor Nicholas has been transferred to Moscow from Zekaterinburg, which was no longer safe owing to the movement among the Czech Slovaks, according to the Zeitung Ammanet of Berlin.

FED BY AIRPLANES.

ROME, June 22. Austrian airplanes were compelled to carry provisions to the Austrian troops that succeeded in crossing the Piave River and were in danger of starving owing to the flood which carried away their pontoon bridges between Zenson and Mutille, according to a despatch received here by the Giornale d'Italia. In spite of the difficulties that he is encountering, General Wtem, the enemy commander is attempting to press on, but all his efforts are vain in the face of the resistance presented by the Italian soldiers.

SIR ROBERT'S REPLY.

LONDON, June 22. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Sir Robert Borden replied to the toast "Our Cabinet Colleagues from the Dominions" at the Parliament supper last night in connection with the presentation of the "black rod" to the Canadian Parliament. The Canadian

Premier said the extreme peril had indeed been passed, thanks to the splendid work of the navy. The whole Empire's spirit was unflinching as ever and it would be so to the end. They fully realized how the Empire's power and system had been thrown into the struggle. Sir Robert proceeded to dwell at length on what Canada had done and assured his hearers that the effort would be continued until the issue was decided. Canada roughly had furnished 435,000 men in the war, and he paid a tribute to the Canadian people for the manner in which they had accepted compulsory service, which had been loyally supported throughout the country. He also mentioned that Canadian industries had produced $1,000,000,000 worth of munitions in payment for which the Canadian exchequer had furnished $400,000,000 and Canadian banks another $100,000,000. The Canadian Premier appreciatively referred to the manner in which the United States had worked in sympathy and co-ordination with Canadian war legislative enactments. He dwelt with the importance of the very great step in the constitutional development of the Empire by the summoning of the Overseas Premiers, to the Imperial War Cabinet where they met on terms of equality. As the Prime Ministers of self-governing nations they were all optimists regarding the war, because it was undertaken in a cause which should not be permanently defeated, though it might be temporarily defeated and optimism alone would prevent such a disastrous outcome. It would be idle to pretend that serious mistakes had not been made and idler and more foolish still to dwell upon them merely for the sake of pointing them out. Against these mistakes was a wonderful and mighty military effort as had been undertaken by any non-military nation. Let them not be turned from their purpose by unnecessary adherence to any tradition or system or personal considerations. The death knell of German militarism had been sounded when the United States entered the war and he believed that before peace was signed the military forces of that mighty republic of the West would prove to be the most formidable Germany had ever met, and that militarism would go down eventually before the onset of democracy. In the hearts of all Britishers was the profound conviction that their faith was strong enough to endure and surmount any reverse that had or could come. The fact that this world-wide British commonwealth of free nations founded upon the aspirations, efforts and sacrifice of thousands of years was not going to be destroyed or dominated by the brutal force of the Hun.

Four Soldiers Die Since Saturday.

On Saturday and yesterday four soldiers who have recently enlisted died in the city, namely:—Pte. George T. Fudge, Muddy Hole, H. B., at Jenson Camp. Pte. Eliott Hobbs, Red Cliffe, B. B. and Pte. Augustus Winsor, Wesleyville, at the Millpark Hospital, and Pte. Permus Canning, Moreton's Harbor, N. D. B., at the General Hospital. The three last mentioned succumbed to pneumonia. Two of the bodies were sent out by yesterday's express to their late homes for interment. A detachment of soldiers attended the remains to the station.

Supposed Suicide.

The drowning of Fireman Hartwell, of the S. S. Susan, which took place at 12.15 Thursday morning last shortly after the steamer left Paquet, is supposed to be accounted for by the deceased committing suicide. Hartwell who came on watch at midnight went to the stokehold and after attending to his duties came on deck and jumped overboard. The alarm was immediately given and a boat launched but nothing could be seen of the missing man. Deceased, we learn, had been acting strangely throughout the voyage.

FATAL RESULT OF COLLISION.

GARY, Ind., To-day. Sixty-two persons are known to be dead, and 125 are in hospitals in Gary and Hammond to-night, as a result of the rear end collision at dawn yesterday, between an equipment train and a Wallace-Hagenbeck Circus train on the Michigan Central Railway, five miles west of Gary.

VIA GERMAN ROUTES.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Ship tonnage sunk by German submarines in the month of May, aggregated 61,000 gross tons, according to an official statement issued at Berlin. The claim also was made that in addition, heavily damaged ships with a tonnage of 56,000, were taken to ports of the Entente Allies in April, besides the losses already announced for that month.

REJOICING IN ITALY.

ROME, To-day. The news that the Austrians have retreated across the Piave, pursued by the Allies, caused the greatest enthusiasm here. Extra editions of newspapers were bought up as fast as they were issued. Flags were displayed and bands played. The King, the Army and General Diaz. Despatches announce similar manifestations in provincial cities.

GERMAN STORMERS DEFEATED.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, June 23. (By the Associated Press.)—An enemy attempt to capture some British positions on the high ground east of Strazeele this morning met with a complete reverse. The attack was a local one, and was preceded by a heavy bombardment that began about six o'clock, and was maintained with great intensity for a considerable time. At the conclusion of the artillery preparation, the German infantry, along a narrow sector, surged forward for the assault, but as they pushed up the incline which led from their own trenches to the more elevated British defences, they encountered such a tornado of machine gun and rifle fire that after struggling ahead a little they were forced to retire. During the night the British conducted a raid near Bucquoy with tanks, which had never been used for raiding purposes before. The big engines went over the top shortly before midnight followed by infantry. The riflemen met with strong opposition and were held up by a heavy machine gun fire, but the tanks proceeded on their business, and for two hours trundled about the enemy territory, leaving the marks of their guns wherever they went. What casualties were inflicted on the enemy are not certain, but the tanks did good execution and many prisoners were brought back. Two successful raids, also, were made the people of the Central Powers for painful news. Comment in some quarters here, assumed that the defeat on the Piave will have an important influence on operations on the western front, it being supposed that the aim of the Central Powers in the offensive was to destroy the Italian power of resistance, so that the Austrian army might be transferred to France.

WITHOUT GERMANY'S KNOWLEDGE.

LONDON, To-day. Preliminary negotiations, presumably regarding the Dobruja, have begun between Bulgaria and Turkey, and Germany only learned of them through its espionage service. The Daily Mail correspondent at the Hague says he is informed Austria will participate in these separate negotiations in the course of a few days. The recent speech in the Reichstag of Dr. von Kuhlmann, the Foreign Secretary, it is added, resulted from conversations between Bulgaria and Turkey. The negotiations on the initiative of King Ferdinand of Bulgaria. Mallinof, the new Bulgarian Premier, is said to agree with the plan of King Ferdinand to exact fulfilment of Bulgaria's demands at whatever cost.

ITALIANS CROSS PIAVE.

BULLETIN, June 23. (By the A. P.)—Italian troops have crossed the old channel of the Piave River, west of the main stream, and recaptured several of their old positions there, according to a semi-official announcement to-night from Cap. Sile. Other detachments are advancing toward the main stream of the river. The Italians have thrown numerous detachments across the main stream where the artillery and aircraft are hammering the enemy.

MINOR ATTACK SUCCESSFUL.

LONDON (Bulletin) To-day. The British made a successful minor attack on German positions, south of Meteren, in the Lys last night. Many Germans were killed and fifty prisoners and some machine guns were taken by the British, according to a statement issued by the War Office.

GERMAN DRIVE ON WEST FRONT.

PARIS (Bulletin) To-day. The Germans launched a new attack against positions held by the Italians at Bligny, at 11 o'clock last night. After hard fighting the Germans were completely repulsed with losses, leaving prisoners in the hands of the Allies, according to a statement issued by the War Office to-day. The French agreement can be reached. The Telegram says that speeches and actions of the Labor Ministers have been twisted and misrepresented, to suit sectional purposes, and the minds of their constituents have been poisoned by insidious propaganda. It charges the campaign is being waged ruthlessly to force labor out of the coalition Government, and break up the present administration. George H. Roberts, Minister of Labor, and George N. Barnes, Minister without portfolio in the War Cabinet, are quoted by the Daily Mail as saying in an interview, that they are so sick of the "mean lies and venomous calumny" of their opponents within the party, that they would gladly resign, but feel by doing so they would be shirking their duty. They intend to continue working to the utmost, but could not and would not continue without the goodwill and support of their constituents. The manifesto, it seems, was called forth by the determination of the Labor Executive to move at a conference fixed for Wednesday, that the political truce observed by all parties since the beginning of the war be terminated. If this is endorsed by the conference, whenever an official labor candidate will oppose a candidate representing the other parties to the truce, and the position of the Labor Ministers becomes impossible.

UNDER COVER OF DARKNESS.

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS Sunday (Bulletin).—By the Associated Press.—The great retreat by the Austrians along the Piave front began under cover of darkness on Saturday night. Italian troops left their cannon behind them. Italian detachments are pursuing the enemy east of the Piave.

SPLIT IN LABOR PARTY.

LONDON, To-day. The manifesto issued by eight labor members of the British Government, according to some of the morning newspapers, is correct without the causes of dissatisfaction are so deep, and the prejudices and passions so great, that it is difficult to see, it adds, how an agreement can be reached. The Telegram says that speeches and actions of the Labor Ministers have been twisted and misrepresented, to suit sectional purposes, and the minds of their constituents have been poisoned by insidious propaganda. It charges the campaign is being waged ruthlessly to force labor out of the coalition Government, and break up the present administration. George H. Roberts, Minister of Labor, and George N. THE WHOLE LINE ADVANCED.

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS, SUNDAY NIGHT, June 23rd. (Bulletin).—Not 12.10 p.m. When it was observed that the Austrians had begun a retrograde movement, the Italians began to attack virtually all along the Piave line, from Montebelluna on the north, west towards the mouth of the river. The attack was promptly pressed and became more insistent in some quarters here, assumed that the defeat on the Piave will have an important influence on operations on the western front, it being supposed that the aim of the Central Powers in the offensive was to destroy the Italian power of resistance, so that the Austrian army might be transferred to France.

Two Anniversaries.

Yesterday a few flags were displayed from public buildings in honour of the birthday of the Prince of Wales, who now is 24 years of age. No White Ensigns were observed and from this fact it is assumed that the flag censor is keeping his weather eye lifting. To-day, "Discovery Day," save for the bunting floating from the twin towers of the Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. John the Baptist, no other evidence of flag decoration is observable.

A Race for Boys.

We understand that the practice which has always prevailed in connection with the Royal Horticultural Society's Garden Party of having some new item each year, has resulted this season in the decision to hold a quarter mile race for boys under fifteen years. The race will take place on the grounds in the afternoon of the Garden Party, Wednesday, July 24th, and as it is open to all boys under the age named, there will, without doubt be a large field of entries. It is proposed in such event to run the race in heats. Without doubt this new feature of the Garden Party will prove as successful as all the other items in the years past.

Fads and Fashions. High waist lines are as much liked as the dresses that hang straight from the shoulder. The throat that is none too pretty can be swathed in tulle when evening dress is worn. Sable and marten are favorite furs now and promise to be so still in the autumn. The pile fabrics are so scarce and so high that very few coats can be made of them.

Thoughts Upon the Times

(By PATRIOT.) The editorial in Saturday's Advocate on the price of coal would be making if the question were not so pressing. Under present circumstances it is insulting. The writer begins by trying to defend the coal dealers' price of $16 per ton and ends in calling it "profligate" and "big jumps." He claims that coal is $15 per ton in London and that it should be at least $2 less there than at St. John's. Why coal should be $2 per ton less in London than in St. John's, the editor does not enlighten us. Is because the good people of Canada have no Food Control Board Minister of Shipping? The coal price of Carboniferous have to pay an export duty on coal as well as they pay in St. John's. The freight rates are higher there than here, then why should the Carboniferous coal dealers be expected to sell coal at least $2 per ton less than it is sold in St. John's? The Advocate says the Government is not doing anything. This is about all that has been done. It is now high time to begin to do things. The statement published by P. T. Smith as Chairman of the Food Control Board shows that coal, such as we get here, is $6 per ton at Sydney. This statement can be questioned for the writer has very good reasons to believe that the price of this coal at the mines is not $6 a ton. The public are not by any means satisfied with the treatment met to this question and I unhesitatingly say that if there were no duty of Shipping to-day we would get cheaper coal. But this is not enough. The public are not satisfied with statements made by P. T. Smith and the editor of the Advocate in defence of the coal dealers' difference between $10.50 and $16. Thoughts
Upon the Times

(By PATRIOT.)

The editorial in Saturday's Advocate on the price of coal would be interesting if the question were not so obvious. Under present circumstances it is insulting. The writer begins by trying to defend the coal dealers' price of $16 per ton and ends in calling "profiteering" and "big jumps."
He claims that coal is $15 per ton in London and that it should be at least $2 less there than at St. John's. He says why coal should be $2 per ton less in London than in St. John's. The editor does not enlighten us. Is because the good people of Carbonear have no Food Control Board Minister of Shipping? The coal price of Carbonear have to pay an extra duty on coal as well as they do in St. John's. The freight rates higher there than here, than why the Carbonear coal dealers believe that it is sold in St. John's at a higher price than in London?
The editor says the Government is doing things. This is about all that is being done. It is now high time to begin to do things.

The statement published by P. T.
Smith as Chairman of the Food Control Board shows that coal, such as we get here, is $6 per ton at Sydney. This statement can be questioned. The writer has very good reason to believe that the price of this coal at the mines is not $6 per ton. The public are not by any means satisfied with the treatment done to this question and I unwillingly say that if there were no Food Control Board this would be cheaper coal. But this is not enough. The public are not satisfied with statements made by P. T.
Smith and the editor of the Advocate in defence of the coal dealers.
The difference between $16.50 and $12.00 is not too great and too serious to be attacked by party politicians on behalf of their friends the profiteers.
Our champions say there is no competition now in shipping. Whose fault is that? The Government has increased freight rates on coal from $1.20 per ton to $1.20 per ton
although not in the danger zone.
Newfoundland would have got along just as well as we had never had a Food Control Board or a Minister of Shipping.
The writer is a mystery. So wrote Mr.
Smith about himself in the Advocate several years ago when representing himself as the greatest business genius the country has ever produced. In proof of this, skeptics were invited to visit Port Union monument. Recently, so mysterious has Mr. Coaker become that it is exceedingly difficult to find him. Those who trusted him sought for him at Port Union, in his palatial office, but his presence could no longer be found. They finally located him in the Advocate office here in town and embraced him. It is understood that an astute gentleman, who was his private mentor at Palm Beach, will now undertake to watch over his future mysterious movements.

June month has well advanced and with the exception of one or two places, there is very little sign of fish around the whole coastline of the island. Last year at this date many men had their voyage secured. It is to be hoped that fish will soon strike in for we cannot very well do without a good fishery this year.
Reading an account of the British Prime Minister's address of welcome to the Empire's delegates one recalls
the efforts made by the late Joseph Chamberlain and others nearly a quarter of a century ago towards the formation of the Empire. The desire and need for such union was never greater than it is to-day when Germany threatens our existence among the nations of the world.
The idea is beautifully outlined in a verse of Kipling's "Seven Seas."

"Look, I have made you a place, and opened wide the door.
That ye may talk together, your Barons and Councillors—Wards of the Outer March, Lords of the Lower Seas—Ay, talk to your grey mother that bore you on her knees!
That ye may talk together, brother to brother's face—
Thus for the good of your people—
thus for the Pride of the Race.
Also, we will make promise. So long as the Blood endures,
I shall know that your good is mine;
ye shall feel that my strength is yours!
In the day of Armageddon, at the 'ast great fight of all,
That our House stand together and the pillars do not fall."

Your Money or Your Life.

These are the two alternatives that are put up to every man in this present world-crisis. All available and physically fit men are called upon to take up arms in defense of their country and Empire. Those who are not privileged to serve their country in its hour of need in that capacity, are called upon to subscribe their money to the Victory War Loan issued by the Government to provide means for the carrying on of our Naval and Military operations. The soldier is asked to risk his life; those who are not fitted to go on the firing-line are asked for their money, but they are not asked to risk it, they are only asked to loan it on the best security obtainable, and at a magnificent rate of interest, free of all taxes.

The man who goes to fight necessarily takes a chance. In buying Victory Bonds you take no chance whatever; your investment is secure, and is absolutely reliable as the money of the Bank Notes. But Victory Bonds are better than Bank Notes, because the Victory Bond you buy to-day may be worth more than its face value when you get ready to cash it, for Bank Notes can never be worth more than one hundred cents to the dollar.

Purchase Victory Bonds to the full extent of your ability, and thus prove your faith in the justice of our Cause, and support the men who are fighting
your battles.

and the Worst is Yet to Come

How the Hun
Will Laugh.

If it should come to pass that, by any chance, the VICTORY LOAN was undersubscribed, what delight there would be in Germany! What a pleasure it would be to them to read that we deserted our boys, betrayed our Allies, disgraced ourselves, and assisted the enemy by failing in our duty in this great crisis! Will you let them have the laugh on us? No! We intend to make this LOAN such a SUCCESS that it will be a bayonet thrust in the side of Prussianism. We intend to stand by our boys and give them that confidence which ensures Victory. Show Germany that "he laughs best who laughs last—but be sure that you do the last laughing by buying VICTORY BONDS.

The 1st. July.

A MEMORABLE DATE IN THE RE-GIMENTAL HISTORY.

Arrangements are now in progress for an impressive commemoration of the gallant work of our Regiment, at Beaumont Hamel on July 1st, 1918.
The assistance of the prominent patriotic ladies has been invoked, and members of the W. P. A., and Daughters of Empire will probably combine in making the day one of national interest.

From the War Veterans' Association
Capt. L. C. Murphy, Sergt. H. Mich-
elli, Sergt. J. McKinley, Sergt. Rocinson, Corp. Mansfield, Pte. B. B. Harris, Errol Munn and M. Shears with Messrs. H. A. Winter, John Fenelon, L. E. Emerson and K. M. Blair from the R. S. and V. A., have been elected as a Committee to make the necessary arrangements, and the co-operation of His Excellency the Governor and the patriotic members of the community will make the event an especially appealing one.

There are many soldiers here who survived the July drive, and amongst these Capt. Gerald Byrne, M.C., L'États, Val Warren, Ralph Herder, H. Mac-dick, with several men, are prominent representatives of an advance that has won history for the Dominion. Although the day is one that has brought sorrow to many homes the suitable commemoration of the affair, with a tone that shows true appreciation of its real quality and sacrifice, shows the loyalty of the people and their determination to uphold the splendid traditions of their representatives as shown at Beaumont Hamel. It is anticipated that the day will be proclaimed a general holiday and that the observance will be unanimous in the city and elsewhere.

Home Notes.

Sour milk is splendid for mixing cakes or scones.

Gas cookers should be washed now and again with mixture of strong ammonia and water.

Salt and paraffin will take the most obstinate stains out of a sink.

Cold tea will remove the smell of fish from frying pans, plates and so on.

Artichokes will keep their whiteness
if a little vinegar is added to the water.

The best method of cleaning piano keys is with a rag dipped in methy-lated spirits.

The water in which macaroni has been boiled should be kept for making stock.

Paraffin and emery-powder mixed together make a very good polish for rusty steel.

Slightly tainted meat may be freshened if rubbed over with vinegar before cooking.

A teaspoonful of honey in a cupful of hot milk is one of the best drinks for small children.

A little dry salt and cloudy ammonia mixed together will take the stains out of crockery.

If bacon is steamed instead of boiled, it improves the flavour, and also less fat is wasted in the water.

Iron rust stains can be removed by using, instead of salts of lemon, a tiny pinch of oxalic acid.

A cloth rain-coat can be cleaned by rubbing it gently all over with a mixture of ammonia and hot water. Then press it with a hot iron on the wrong side.

The Same Here.

(From the Brantford Courier.)
In Canada there is no authorized design for the service flags, neither are there any regulations as to how they shall be displayed. The result is that any person can display them, and there is no authority to determine whether he is entitled to do so or not.
This is a most undesirable condition of affairs. Not only should there be a uniform flag, but there should be proper regulations adopted as to its use, and the right to display it ought to be conferred by some competent authority.

Freemasons at St. Andrews.

Yesterday afternoon the members of the Masonic fraternity attended Divine Service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when the brethren of the mystic tie turned out in goodly number. Also the preacher, his subject being "The Child" basing his remarks on the words of Isaiah 11:6. "And a little child shall lead them." After explaining that the words of the prophet were literal and not figurative, the preacher pointed out that the care of the child was the measure of the nation. The size of the city does not mark its greatness. It is the care of which does that London with its huge population had a mortality rate of 73 per thousand, whereas in St. John's it was over 200. Such a difference was not creditable to us and we were not giving the child his place in the city life nor yet helping the profane. It was the children who through the edict of Herod were the first martyrs for Christ. They were by this the first line of the defence of the Christian era. They were held up to us as examples of the Kingdom of God for the Great Master had said to his disciples "Except ye become as little children ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." In conclusion the preacher made brief reference to the work accomplished by the Tasker Educational Fund.

The whole service was most inspiring, a very fine feature being the choir of male voices which led the singing.
At the opening, the choir rendered the "Sanctus" followed by the "Benedictus." The anthem was Mendelssohn's
"Loving, dawned, its light aroze."
On returning to the Temple votes of thanks to preacher, choir and Board of Management were passed. The collection was a substantial one.
