The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Douglas Library
Queen's University

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol ➡ (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Douglas Library
Queen's University

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole ➡ signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

THE THOUSAND ISLANDS

SCATTERED in prodigal profusion along the noble St. Lawrence River, from Cape Vincent and Clayton to Alexandria Bay and down to Morristown—the channel in some place being twelve miles broad—are the island genus, more than 1800 in number, known collectively as the Thousand Islands. They vary in size from a small mass of rock to picturesque islands, luxurions with vegetation and miles in extent. Many of the Islands have been converted into summer homes, with here a cluster of cottages and there a pretentious house or castle-like structure of stone. Bright and pleasing colors abound. Flags and streamers, the whistles of the many-shaped steam vessels, waving handkerchiefs and other signs of general good fellowship greet you on all sides. At night the river is ablaze with lights—lights in cottage windows and upon docks and vessels—long belts of lights flashing from huge hotels, lanterns arranged in fantastic forms, crowns and stars and suns of fire. Many colored calcium lights flash across the scene and vie with the searchlight of steamers on their nightly errands.

But civilization as it shows itself among the Thousand Islands is not abtrusive. It rather heightens than detracts from the total impression. In wild beauty, in grace and boldness of outline, in form and color, in beauty near at hand or in distant prospects, in infinite variety, and in the endless combinations of land and water views, the Thousand Islands surpass any known river scenery. Giant forces have been at work here in the past, and the Titans in their sport have hurled rocks and islands broadcast, leaving the blue limpid waters of the St. Lawrence to filter through as best they can. As the visitor moves along in the skiff or upon the steamer's deck, the view changes almost every moment. New beauties present themselves before the eye has been satisfied with those on which it already looks. One may spend months or years in this favored spot without exhausting it's charms. The lovely flowers which Frontenac saw in 1673—"as beautiful as can be seen" still blossom in the crevices of the rocks and along the shore.

Laved by the clear blue waters of the St. Lawrence, and fanned by gentle breezes which come laden with the balmy odors of balsam, pine and cedar, the Islands are at all times delightfully cool and refreshing. You may in canoe or boat, float to some sequestered bay redolent of the perfume and water lilies. Or, if a lover of fishing, you may tempt the wily bass from his hiding-place, or, if given to sentiment, you may alight on some quiet island, make a bed of the mossy rock or green sward, watch the clouds and the white-winged vessels, or wake the echoes with guitar, mandolin or song.
