

WILLIAMS' PIANOS
Are patronized by Royalty and are in the homes of Merchants, Mechanics, Professional men.
WILLIAMS, 145 YONGE.

EIGHTEENTH YEAR

ON THE QUEEN'S SEAT

Were Found the Names of Some of Our Canadian Politicians.

HON. WILFRID LAURIER TRAVELS IN LUCK.

Sir Richard and Ontario's Uncle Ol Are in the Same Boat.

Three Brand New C.C.M.G.'s—Sir Donald Smith is Now a Peer of the Realm—Lieut.-Gov. Kirkpatrick a K.C.M.G., Also Messrs. L. H. Davies and Sandford Fleming—Honors for Auditor-General McDougall, Mr. Courtney and Mr. White—The Queen's Entry into London—A Continual Ovation All Along the Route—Reception of the Foreign Envoys at Buckingham Palace—Order of To-day's Procession, Which Will Prove a Marker in History.

London, June 21.—The honors conferred by Her Majesty in connection with her Diamond Jubilee were given to the public to-day.

The Order of the Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George has been conferred upon Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Oliver Mowat.

The Order of Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George has been conferred upon Lieut.-Governor G. A. Kirkpatrick of Ontario, the Hon. L. H. Davies and Mr. Sandford Fleming.

Deputy Minister J. M. Courtney, Auditor-General, J. L. Macdonnell and Deputy Postmaster-General White have been made Companions of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Louis Honoré Fréchet, for his services to Canadian literature, has been made a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Sir Donald Smith will hereafter be known as Lord Glenora, that being the title which he has selected.

The Chief Justice of Manitoba and Quebec, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Tait, and Mr. Hargrave, ex-Chief Justice of Ontario, have been knighted.

All the Colonial Premiers, Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, M.P., the historian, and Sir Herbert Maxwell, M.P., the author, have been made Privy Counsellors; the Prince of Wales is made Grand Master and Principal Knight of the Grand Cross of the Bath, an earldom is conferred upon Baron Esplanade of Tatton, and British peerages are conferred upon the Earl of Glasgow, Viscount Downe, Justice of the Peace, the Right Hon. Ion Tait Hamilton and Sir John Bannister Bannock, the actor, has been knighted.

The Mayors of Leeds and Sheffield are made Lord Mayors, and the Lord Mayor of London, George Faudel Phillips, is made a baronet.

Sir John Blundell Maple, M.P., is made a baronet, and the same honor is conferred upon Sir William Macormac, M.P., President of the Royal College of Surgeons; Mr. James Pender, the son of the late John Pender, M.P., for the middle division Northamptonshire, and Mr. Samuel Wilks, M.P., President of the Royal College of Physicians, physician extraordinary to Her Majesty.

Mr. Wyke Baylis, President of the Royal Society of British Artists; Prof. William Crookes, Vice-President of the Royal Society; are made knights, and Sir Francis Henry Jeune, President of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice, is made a Knight Commander of the Bath.

The Duke of Connaught was appointed colonel of the Sixth Dragoon (Imperial) and Prince Edward of Saxony was appointed a field marshal.

The Duke of Coburg has been appointed admiral of the fleet.

THE QUEEN IN LONDON.

A Triumphant March from Windsor All the Way to Buckingham—The Envoys Received.

London, June 21.—Queen Victoria left Windsor Castle at noon by the carriage, and traversed a part of the high Thames streets of Windsor on her way to the station. Her Majesty's carriage was drawn by a pair of greys, with postillions and outriders. The Queen was accompanied by her eldest daughter, ex-Princess Frederick of Germany, and by Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein and Princess Henry of Battenberg, who occupied another carriage, proceeding that of Her Majesty.

The Queen, on arriving at the railroad station of Windsor, walked through the private waiting room leaning on the arm of an Indian attendant, and by a sloping gangway entered her saloon carriage.

Feeling of Heat.
The early hours were enlivened by the pealing of bells in the morning breeze. Everywhere floated the royal standard. The first point of interest in the day's proceedings was Windsor, where by six o'clock the short route leading from the castle to the Great Western Railway station was lined by a mass of people gathered to see the Queen start. Flags and flowers were everywhere, and the order of the day, "God Save the Queen," appeared on houses and banners without

EIGHT PAGES—TUESDAY MORNING JUNE 22 1897—EIGHT PAGES

FOR HER DIAMOND JUBILEE.

HER MAJESTY WILL RECEIVE NO GEMS MORE PRECIOUS THAN THOSE WHICH OUR PREMIER HOLDS FOR HER TO-DAY.

HE WON'T DO IT AGAIN

The World's Young Man Meets Rudyard Kipling

AT A LUNCHEON IN LONDON

Where He Got That Expression, "Our Lady of the Snows."

The Imperial Laureate Took to Task for Giving a False Impression to Foreigners About This Country's Grand City—Canada Always Wrongly Depicted—Kipling Pays a Tribute to Bliss Carman.

London, June 21.—(Special.)—I took the opportunity to-day at a luncheon of addressing a few admonitory words to Rudyard Kipling, who sat on my right. The Imperial Laureate, as is well known, is extremely shy of newspaper men, but in reply to a "Stanley" query, "Mr. Kipling, I presume?" I received a pleasant answer.

"What have you to say to the criticism of the Canadian press on your poem, 'Our Lady of the Snows,' Mr. Kipling?"

"Why, you must know that we Canadians seriously object to being described as living in a land of snow and ice."

"Well, I take it all back," said the poet. "I shall never do it again, and if desired, I hereby certify and make oath that never a foot of snow falls from Halifax to Vancouver, and that the railways are never blocked for days."

This, of course, was a Kipling joke. "But," said he, "Canada is an immense country, and it can't be denied that the greater part is decidedly wintry, like, for a long period, each year. I lived on the border for four years, and know something of it. Of course, your summers are glorious, far ahead of ours here in England, but how has Canada always been depicted—a maiden in blanket suit and snowshoes, is it not? I am quite willing that Miss Canada be pictured without any garments if you like."

Another Kipling pleasantry.

"Speaking seriously, however," he continued, "it is the fault of Canada, and her governments, that the really splendid climate of her southern provinces is not sufficiently advertised."

"But, Mr. Kipling, 'no advertisement of our Government is so widely read as your writings, and as we want people in Canada, it is just this sort of thing that gives us a set-back. Emigrants don't want to live in snowbanks.'"

"Quite so, but I ask the Canadian press to enquire into the meaning of the words, 'Our Lady of the Snows.' Ask any Roman Catholic what they mean. Don't you remember D'Arcy McGee's words?"

"As I didn't recollect what words were referred to, I discreetly changed the subject, by requesting a poem on Indian summer, some time in the future, but the encouragement was not great."

"A beautiful season, the splendor of the changing maples and beeches is at most indescribable. Some of our poets should attempt the task. Bliss Carman, who has done some admirable work, is fully capable."

And with the enigmatic sentence, "I shall never do it again," my talk with the foremost of living English writers was over.

The Central Figure.
Queen Victoria is to the English race wherever it is scattered the embodiment of its government, its country. With her subjects in any part of the earth think of their ruler there does not come into their heads a picture of Salisbury or Laurier, or any other First Minister in his centre, but the image of Queen Victoria. A life-like picture of Her Majesty now decorates Queen's window on King-street. It is draped in royal purple silk and is surrounded with neckties of every leading shade in the same fashionable shade.

"Salada Ceylon Tea is something."

Grand & Toy's Snaps.
Envelopes, "Envelopes" or "ong envelopes," call them whatever you please, but when you need printed envelopes, don't forget that we are headquarters for same. It is a good thing we have it. Grand & Toy, Stationers and Printers, Wellington and Jordan-streets, Toronto.

Cook's Turkish Baths, 204 King W. Ladies 75c; gent's, day 75c, evening 50c.

Hotting Pads.
Strong leather corners, and filled with the best quality blotting, at 15c. per case, 50c, 60c, and 75c each. Scribbling pads in great variety, from 1c up. Eight Bros., 65 Yonge-street.

Fleming's Turkish Baths, 120 Yonge.
Lake View Hotel, Parliament and Winchester-streets; terms $1 and $1.50 per day. Table d'hôte, 6 to 8 o'clock. J. H. Ayre, proprietor.

Killed by a Pitched Ball.
Saratoga, N.Y., June 21.—Anath Smith, aged 19, son of James Smith of Sandy Hill, was killed Sunday while playing baseball with a pitched nine on Washington County Fair grounds, near Saratoga, when he was struck by a ball pitched by Edward McGinnis, a currier at the fair.

An Idea for the Jubilee.
The rose of England, patriotic emblem, will be prominent in all the celebrations of to-day. Though the rush for Jubilee long-stemmed roses has been tremendous, Dunlop still has a supply of roses and other blooms for to-day. A very pretty idea for the Jubilee is a bunch of red roses tied up in small silk bags. The sales-rooms at 5 King-street and 445 Yonge-street will be open till 1 o'clock to-day.

For indignation in any form see Adams Tait's Frisbee. See that the trade mark name Tait's Frisbee is on each 1-cent pack.

Cook's Turkish Baths, 204 King W. Open all night. Bath and bed 5c.

Hotting Pads.
The coal handled last season by the firm of John Kent & Co. gave such complete satisfaction and so pleased the people, that they have decided to handle the same coal this year. The increasing sale of this coal is marvellous, its reputation has spread wonderfully, and if the demand for it continues to increase as it did last season, it will soon be the largest output of any coal in Toronto. They will deliver this coal at any time now for the winter's supply. Office 105 Yonge-street, near King.

Fleming's Turkish Baths—Ladies 75c. 120 Yonge.

Holidays at Niagara.
The Jubilee holidays and any other holidays this summer can be most delightfully spent amid the beautiful surroundings of Niagara-on-the-Lake, the most healthy wintering place in America, and famous all over the continent for the long lives of its inhabitants. For June, a most delightful month, a special rate of $12 per week, or $2.50 per day, is offered.

Vin Pile Champagne.
During nine week all lovers of a medium dry champagne will drink this popular wine, pronounced by connoisseurs to be the finest light wine on this market. $14.50 per case, quarts, $16.50. Mara's, 79 Yonge-street. Phone 1708.

Rethersburg & Co., patent stationers and printers, 100 Adelaide, Toronto.

Butter Day Photos—Galleries open all day. Please come early. Mara's, 79 Yonge.

Mr. Bell Improving.
Guelph, June 21.—(Special.)—Mr. Bell is improving and is now out of danger.

Mr. A. E. Irvin and his stars arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the Grand Union.

Luxfer Prisms.
The Greatest and Latest Product of the Victorian Era.

Since Her Most Gracious Majesty ascended the throne of the British Empire, science has achieved many wonders. Her Majesty's subjects at the commencement of her reign were just verging from the old talloir dip, or wax candles to the light of day—nature's own light.

The Great Creator filled the universe with light, the perfect light of the sun, but the demands of modern commerce have since that time out of many places, it remained for "Luxfer Prisms," the wizards of daylight, to bring in light to premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer it means preserved eyesight, better health; to the customer, it means protection against inferior goods, false premises in our cities and towns, which otherwise were deprived of the use of natural light. The benefit of this cannot be computed. To the merchant it means that he can honestly show his goods in the pure light of day; to the employer

CLAPP SHOE CO.

The Day

The Day
We Celebrate.

To-day we are loyal to our Gracious Queen!
The store is closed—

No Evening Papers to announce our Wednesday and Thursday values. These are $ Days, and to help you sharpen your memory we offer:

See the Beautiful Souvenir Photo of Her Majesty Queen Victoria

Extra Special

Extra Special

COUPON.

Anyone presenting this will receive a beautiful souvenir photo of

OUR GRACIOUS

Dollar-Day - Values

Wednesday and

CLAPP'S

Thursday

for Jubilee Week doesn't come often. Get the Souvenir Photo. The store is festooned with beautiful things. It is full of interest to all appreciators of tasty decorations and honest footwear.

The Pinchingest Place in a Shoe is usually the price. • That pinch has been taken out of the following:

500 pairs Ladies' American Extra Fine Vici Kid Turn

Road, worth $3, Jubilee $ Day price	1.00
800 pairs Men's Regulation Ballbearing Bicycle Boots, worth $1.50 to $2.50	1.00
120 pairs Boys' Bicycle Boots	1.00
Same as above	1.00
980 pairs Women's Fine Vel Kid Beaded-Front Strap Slippers, for street or evening wear, made by G. T. Slater, worth $2.50, Jubilee $ Day price	1.00

Clapp Shoe Co.

Only Entrance : 212 Yonge St., Toronto

THE ONLY DROP

that coal will take this season is when it is dumped at your door. Prices are low as they will be till the Winter schedule, and the high quality of our present stock should lead the provident buyer to lay in a good supply right now. Quality and weight always guaranteed.

OFFICE:
6 KING STREET EAST

CO'S

GOAL C O'Y

Limited.

700 VINGE STREET
2ND WELLS FARGO STREET
COR. SPADINA AVE. AND COLLIERIE
DOORS, FOOT OF CHURCH STREET
BRANCH QUEN ST. TO 74 QUEEN ST.
" COR. BATHURST & DUPONT ST.
TYMOUTH JUNCTION

GOAL AND WOOD

And Pressure Delivery.

PRICES REDUCED.

Best Hardwood, long $3
Best Hardwood, cut and split..... $3
Best No. 2 Mixed Wood, long..... 50
Best No. 2 Mixed Wood, cut and split..... 50
Pine No. 1, long..... 40
Pine No. 1, cut and split..... 40

Shale, long..... $3
Shale, cut and split..... 50
Slabs..... 60
No. 1 Pine..... 40
Per Cent

AT LOWEST PRICE

HEAD OFFICE: Corner of Bathurst St. and Spiller Ave. Phone 5825.

BRANCH OFFICE:
42 Queen-St. West. Phone 2354.

W.M. MCGILL & CO.
Phone 131. 38 King-street E.
BEECH AND MAPLE
CUT AND SPLIT $4.50 PER CORD
MIXED WOOD
CUT AND SPLIT $4.00 PER CORD
P. BURNS & CO.

[illegible] killing himself instantly. Wilson about 37 years of age. Miss Hines about 33. The motive for the deed not known.

Doan's Kidney Pills.

Doan's Kidney Pills act on the kidneys, bladder and urinary organs only. They cure rheumatism, weak back, rheumatism, diabetes, indigestion, inflammation, gravel, Bright's disease and all other diseases arising from the action of the kidneys and bladder.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secrete the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of headache. Farnie's Vegetable Pills, taken before going to bed for a while, never fail to give relief, and effect a cure.

Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Farnie's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have tried."

ed exhausting vital drains (the effects of foliains thoroughly cured; kidney and bladder diseases, Gonorrhea, Discharges, Syphilis, Rheumatism, Lost or Failing Manly Vigor, etc., etc.) On diseases and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs a specialist. It makes no difference who has it to cure you. Call or write. Consultation Free. Medicines sent to any address. Hours—9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sundays,

10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dr. Beeve, 335 Jarvis-street, Toronto, 269

unselected lot of a where, under a m
son. Of course it means that all of that high, but abou so right across the don't that the mill
above that figure,
one, and, under sk
dividend payer.
Several hundred

