INDIANS' FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON

Tigers Steady a Wobbly Game in the Ninth and Win

Habe Ruth for Yankees Poles Out Home Run as U. S. President Looks On—McGraw Uses Recruit Pitchers and Defeats Robins.

(Canadian Press) New York, April 25.—Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers, steady in the ninth inning of a wobbly game, broke the winning streak with which the Cleveland Indians began the season by taking yesterday's contest 8 to 7. Pilleite allowed the Indians only five safeties, but the Tigers made three errors. It was the Indians' first defeat this season.

The Chicago Cubs, who last their first contest of the season to the Pirates, ran their streak up to seven yesterday by trouncing St. Louis 8 to 0. Albridge holding the Cardinals to two hits and catcher Hartnett making his fourth homer.

Babe Ruth, adding the psychological touch so long missing from his hitting, yesterday suited the second big occasion of his season by knocking a home run for the edification of President Harding, who braved a stiff wind to watch his "home team," the Washington Senators, lose 4 to 0.

The Philadelphia Athletics, recovering the equilibrium they lost the day before when they made seven errors, defied a strong wind and came through without a mistake, beating the Boston Red Sox 7 to 3, while the St. Louis Browns were winning their second victory of the season, 1 to 0, from the Chicago White Sox.

Taking advantage of his team's early yesterday, Manager McGraw's Giants tried out two recruit pitchers and defeated the Brooklyn Robins for the fourth time, 4 to 4. A Brooklyn rookie, Roy, failed McGraw after four innings before his neighbors, and Fred Johnson, a San Antonio hurler, held the Dodgers hitless the rest of the game.

The Reds evaded their series with the Pirates and the Yankees in the National League by taking a heavy hitting game 5 to 0, while the Braves and the Quakers were playing in the rain drops pattered.

Bout in Boston. Boston, April 25.—Batting McCrary of Boston, was awarded a Sar over Kid Norfolk, at the close of a ten round encounter here last night. The bout was billed as a negro light heavyweight championship.

HUSBAND AND WIFE SUCCUMB TO BURNS. Hamilton, Ont., April 25.—Mike Ordana and his wife Sophia succumbed last night to burns received in the afternoon when a can of oil in the hands of Ordana, exploded.

ANOTHER PHILADELPHIA MAN JAILLED FOR MOTOR KILLING. Philadelphia, April 25.—Four to eight years in the penitentiary for killing a girl with his automobile was the sentence given to John J. Creedon. Except with intoxication, the case was somewhat similar to that of Henry G. Brock, a banker, who was sentenced to six to ten years for killing three persons.

BACK AT WORK IN 10 MINUTES AFTER MAKING 37th RESCUE. New York, April 25.—John De Temple, 32-year-old employee of the department of docks made his 37th rescue this week when he swam 100 feet in the Hudson river and saved Herbert Haggerty, 17-year-old clerk from drowning.

Ten minutes later, after his clothes had dried, he was back at his work on a pile driver.

OLD POSEY, PIUTE CHIEF, FOUND DEAD IN CANYON. Salt Lake City, April 25.—Old Posey, Piute Indian chief, who was reported to have led the recent uprising at Omb, Utah, was found dead yesterday near the Tribune. The body was set near a canyon, where he is believed to have been shot fatally in a skirmish on or about March 28.

HUNGARIANS AND CZECHS ARE AT ODDS. Budapest, April 25.—Owing to Czech reports, trains running from Hungary to Czechoslovakia have been halted and travelers are returning to Budapest from border stations. The Czech legation here has suspended the granting of visas to passports of Hungarian citizens.

Seventy Hungarian estate owners in Czechoslovakia, including a number of prominent men, have been handed expulsion orders from the Czech authorities.

HOPKINS MAJORITY 1,598. Moosejaw, Sask., April 25.—E. N. Hopkins, Progressive, recited Moosejaw constituency in the recent by-election by a majority of 1,598, according to an official count conducted yesterday. The count gave Hopkins 8,800 votes and Hon. W. E. Knowles, Liberal, 7,262.

U. S. Fisherman Is Fired on by Canadian; Crew Scuttle Vessel

Broadside From Patrol Boat Into Suspected Poacher

Chase Off Vancouver Island —U. S. Crew Leave the Sloop when a Wounded Man on Board—Now Being Hunted on the Island.

(Canadian Press) Vancouver, B. C., April 25.—The U. S. fishing schooner Sloop of Seattle, suspected of poaching in Solander Bay, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, was captured last night by the Canadian Fisheries patrol boat Malaspina, after the schooner, struck broad by a volley of shots from the patrol boat, had scuttled by a crew that fled, leaving one wounded man, who was taken prisoner where they were being sought by police.

The rest of the Sloop's crew succeeded in escaping inland on Vancouver Island where they are being sought by police. The Sloop is said to have fled when the Malaspina appeared. After a chase of a mile the Malaspina sent a volley through the cabin of the Sloop.

The Sloop passed long enough to take to the small boats and disappeared. The Sloop's crew was seen to be taking to the small boats and disappeared. The Sloop's crew was seen to be taking to the small boats and disappeared.

Discovery that the Sloop had been scuttled made after the wounded man had been taken aboard the Malaspina, and the U. S. boat taken in. The wounded man was removed to Quatsno Sound and the Sloop was towed ashore.

Inspector J. A. Motherwell, who received a report of the episode from Captain Holmes Newcomb of the Malaspina, said he believed that this was the first time a Canadian patrol boat had fired on a U. S. craft in Canadian waters.

BUILDING BETTER IN OLD COUNTRY

(Canadian Press) London, April 25.—(Canadian Press) —Neville Chamberlain, minister of health, when explaining in the House of Commons yesterday, the main provisions of the housing bill, pointed out that of 216,000 houses which had been provided by state assistance, 161,000 merely met the normal growth of population, leaving 54,000 as a contribution towards a reduction of the shortage.

Private enterprise, said the minister, was beginning to function again. In the last six months upwards of 12,000 houses had been built by private enterprise and 14,000 more were now in the course of construction.

ARM DUBLIN PEOPLE BECAUSE OF ROBBERIES

London, April 25.—A Dublin dispatch to the Times says the Free State Government has decided to issue revolvers and ammunition to the police for the protection of their lives and property in view of the prevalence of robbery, which in many instances has been accompanied by violence.

U. S. AND MEXICO ARE PLANNING GET-TOGETHER

Washington, April 25.—The U. S. and Mexican Governments have agreed to appoint a commission of two representatives for each country to meet in Mexico City soon to explore further the possibilities of removing the obstacles to recognition of the Obregon Government by the United States.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "it might be worse, what's happened now?" "I fear," said the reporter, "that I am about to have a pimple on my nose."

"Mister," said Hiram, "if you want to get better go on, live for a spell with a family where they ain't got nothing but eat or wear work in sight. What you want is to be put up again some real trouble—an' the a hull lot just like you—let me tell you that."

BOY BURGLAR SHOT, COMPANION HELD

16-Year-Old Lad Wounded in Thigh by Detective's Bullet

Schoolboy's First Crime —He Weeps When Picked Up After the Shooting —Failed to Halt When Ordered.

New York, April 25.—An essay in burglary by two boys, patterned on methods of more experienced criminals, ended in disaster Sunday night. James McCabe, 16 years old, of 211 East Eighty-fourth street, was killed by a bullet wound in his left thigh, a prisoner on a charge of burglary. John Nelson, 17 years old, of 210 East Eighty-fourth street, was held at the East Eighty-seventh street police station on the same charge.

Policeman Peterson, who was on patrol in East Eighty-first street, was notified about 10:30 o'clock by a civilian that he had seen two boys break into a rear window of the Eskey Brewery Company building at East Eighty-fourth street. The policeman requested his informant to telephone the police and called the Eskey Brewery station and hurried to the Eighty-fourth street address. He found that a rear window had been pried open and goods stolen.

On the other hand, the defendants will seek to show through high priced evidence by means of several witnesses that the defendants conspired together to defraud the Government by means of false statements as to the conditions of these companies and their stock.

WEATHER REPORT

Forecast: Fair tomorrow. Maritime—Fresh to strong north-west winds, mostly cloudy, light local rain or sleet today. Thursday fair and little higher temperature.

Part of Far Rockaway Is Swept By Fire

Half Million Dollar Loss There And at Coney Island

New York, April 25.—Coney Island and Far Rockaway, two of New York's best known seashore resorts, were visited by fires that caused damage estimated at $500,000 yesterday afternoon. A tiny spark, flying from an electric motor mixing machine, set the blaze in Far Rockaway that destroyed the 350-room hotel Tack-A-Pow-Sha and 3,000 bath houses on Eastern Beach. Swept by a west wind, flames from the beach fire carried to the far side of Far Rockaway, destroyed a $25,000 summer residence, caused slight damage to an old railroad station, and started a brush blaze that swept across two miles of flat land before being halted. A dozen beach bungalows were damaged. Five firemen were slightly injured.

Three old buildings on the Bowery at Coney Island, including Immans Casino, a landmark, were destroyed. The loss was estimated at $300,000. Four alarms were sounded for the blaze.

GLOOMY WEATHER FOR THE WEDDING

Spring Has Not Yet Come to London

King and Queen to Give a Final Reception Tonight at Palace—The Queen's Dress—This is Princess Mary's Birthday.

(Canadian Press) London, April 25.—Sudden skies, a cold wet atmosphere and sharp winds today portended undesirable weather for Britain's royal bridal party tomorrow when the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowers-Lyon will be married in Westminster Abbey.

Although the barometer was rising at noon, official weather forecasters refused to hazard a promise of the clear skies and balmy spring sunshine that gave such a brilliant natural setting to Princess Mary's wedding a year ago. Spring has not yet been able to penetrate London's raw, cheery and wintry climate, and it is certain that the hundreds of thousands who will witness Thursday's brilliant wedding ceremony will be snugly dressed in ulsters and woollens.

Lady Elizabeth divided her time today between her dressmakers and rehearsal of the wedding ceremony. In the midst of all the traditional trappings and regal grandeur attending the church ceremony tomorrow, the modest little Scotch girl will touch a chord in every British heart by placing her hand upon the altar of matrimony. At tomorrow's festivities in Buckingham Palace the bride will cut with the duke's sword a mammoth wedding cake, containing one of the unknown soldier, whose ashes repose beneath the concrete floor of the great abbey.

Reception Tonight. —Tonight King George and Queen Mary will give their final reception before the wedding. The members of the party, comprising the royal household, will meet the duke and his fiancée.

Approximately forty million dollars was involved in the four ship construction and two ship operating contracts awarded by the Government officials and the shipbuilding corporation and the shipbuilding corporation and the United States Transport Co. The Government will undertake the construction of these ships and the United States Transport Co. will operate them.

On the other hand, the defendants will seek to show through high priced evidence by means of several witnesses that the defendants conspired together to defraud the Government by means of false statements as to the conditions of these companies and their stock.

Trale, County Kerry, Ireland, April 25.—Richard Hatheway, James McEneaney and John Greaney were executed here today by the Free State authorities.

SUCCESSORS TO BRITISH PREMIER ALREADY BEING PICKED BY POLITICIANS

London Expects Pronouncement; May be Offered

Cuno Told by Reichstag Parties That Proposals Must Soon be Made—Another Clash—German Cardinal Reports to Pope on the Situation.

(Canadian Press) London, April 25.—The prospect of Germany making a definite reparations offer, especially with reference to a settlement of the Ruhr situation, is widely discussed in the press here. The view is generally taken that recent utterances of German statesmen and comments by German newspapers point to the likelihood that an important pronouncement on this subject will be forthcoming from Berlin in the near future.

It has been hinted here that Lord Curzon has suggested to Germany a sum which would be acceptable to the Allies, but the Times professes to be able to deny this report authoritatively. The newspaper also cites utterances of Allied statesmen showing that an offer of a settlement in the Ruhr must be made directly to Paris and not to London or elsewhere.

In Berlin, April 25.—The Reichstag leaders, representing the present coalition parties, have informed Chancellor Cuno that Lord Curzon's speech has made it incumbent on the German Government to come forward at the earliest moment with some tangible concrete reparations proposals.

Essex, April 25.—A mob of unemployed men clashed with the police yesterday at Katersberg near here, in another outbreak of the unrest throughout the Ruhr which German officials attribute to Communist agitators. One man was killed and one badly hurt in the attack.

To Report to Pope. Rome, April 25.—Cardinal Schuler, Archbishop of Cologne, has arrived in Rome to outline to the Pope the situation in Germany.

Düsseldorf, April 25.—The trial of the Krupp directors, Hartwig, Oesterlin and Brühl, arrested by the police, is therefore fully apprised of the dominant sentiment in the Reichstag, where the discussion of the reparations question of tactics to be employed in reaching the path designated by Baron Von Rosenberg to the effect that secure a hearing at the Paris conference last January would eventually constitute a basis for the renewed discussions, it is believed the Chancellor's forthcoming offer will represent a re-tempting those policies which were indicated a year ago by the same approach to Premier Bonar Law's estimates of the program proposals which failed to secure a hearing at the Paris conference last January.

FORD MYSTERY IN U. S. POLITICS

Petitions to Have Name on Ballot as Third Party Candidate for President

Washington, April 25.—(By Canadian Press)—Henry Ford continues to be the mystery of the political situation in the U. S. The latest development, the circulation of petitions in several states having presidential primaries, to put his name on the ballot as a third party candidate, has increased the already plentiful speculation as to what figure Mr. Ford will cut in the 1924 campaign. Democratic voters may want Mr. Ford but it is certain most of the leaders are opposed to him.

As for the Republicans, they have no expectation that Mr. Ford will become a seker for the Republican nomination against Mr. Harding. Some of them express doubt whether Mr. Ford wants to run for president at all, but on the other hand interesting stories are told of the activities of some of his business representatives and agents in his behalf.

The movement to run Mr. Ford as a third party candidate, unless he sits down on it and refuses to have anything to do with it, is likely to become formidable. It is commanding the support of some extremely active progressive leaders in the middle west. What the politicians in the two old parties would like to know is the effect of Mr. Ford making a race as a Progressive. He would command a large vote which would be drawn from both parties. It is probable it would draw more heavily from the Republicans than from Democrats and it is conceivable that it might indirectly help to elect a democratic president.

For that reason, the developments on the movement to put Mr. Ford's name on the ballot as a third party or independent candidate will be awaited with painful anxiety by leaders of the old parties.

Senator Johnson of California may oppose Harding for the U. S. presidency.

LARGER EXEMPTION FOR FATHERS OF FAMILIES ASKED

Petition in Income Tax Matters Presented in Commons—Estimates of Indian Affairs Department Considered.

(By Canadian Press) Ottawa, April 25.—In the House of Commons yesterday Joseph Archaumont, Chamby Vercheres, presented a largely signed petition asking the Government to increase income tax exemption for children from $300 to $500 and to exempt entirely fathers of five children, provided the family income did not exceed $3,000.

Third reading was given to a bill to amend the Immigration Act and a bill amending the Copyright Act. Estimates of the Department of Indian Affairs were taken up and Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, made a short statement emphasizing the importance of educational facilities for Indians. Votes were approved covering the Prairie Provinces, British Columbia, the Yukon and N. W. T. also $1,946,702 covering Indian education generally.

Another item approved was $400,000 supplementary to last year's estimates for unemployment relief, under the head of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment. Practically without discussion some $700,000 for steamship subsidies on the Atlantic coast were approved before the House adjourned at 11:30.

Today in Parliament. The House of Commons today will continue in committee on the bill to amend the Naturalization Acts of 1914 and 1920. Second reading of an act respecting Chinese immigration will then be the order. After these are disposed of, estimates of the Department of Public Works, will then be taken up. The Senate will sit this evening.

EGYPT GROWS SYMPATHETIC WITH PROHIBITION

London, April 25.—The Egyptian Government is viewing sympathetically the growth of the prohibition movement in that country, according to a Cairo despatch to the Morning Post. The Government recently refused several applications for licenses to sell alcoholic liquors on the ground that it "desires to curtail the sale of spirituous liquors" in Egypt.

EX-KAISER'S AUNT DEAD

Berlin, April 25.—Grand Duchess Louise of Baden, mother of Frederick III, head of the Grand Duchy of Baden, and an aunt of ex-Empress William, is dead. She was born on December 8, 1838, a sister of Emperor Frederick III, and married the late Grand Duke Frederick I, of Baden, on Sept. 20, 1856.

DRIVER KILLED BY HIS OWN ENGINE

Buffalo, April 25.—Walter M. Luce, an engineer for the Nickel Plate Railway, was killed in the yards here yesterday by his own locomotive rolling over him. The engine was standing on a grade and Luce was adjusting his airbrake. The fireman checked the rolling engine in a few yards, but the engineer was caught under the wheels.

CARDINAL MAFFI FAVORS BEATIFICATION OF PIUS X

Rome, April 25.—Cardinal Maffi, one of the most learned members of the Sacred College, has written to Cardinal Dean Vannelli, thoroughly agreeing with the request of the cardinal living in Rome in favor of the beatification of Pius X.

The Case for Daily Newspaper Advertising

The question has been asked: What are the Advantages of Daily Newspaper Advertising by contrast with all other forms of advertising?

In setting out these advantages, Daily Newspaper Publishers do not discount supplementary forms of publicity. But the area of Canada and its distribution of population are such, that Daily Newspaper Advertising has been and must be the basis of all the pointedly successful Canadian advertising campaigns.

1. UNIVERSAL APPEAL.

- (a) Enters the home intimately.
The newspaper enters the home and has a more intimate appeal to all members of the family than any other reading matter.
- (b) Reaches all classes.
The newspaper appeals to all literate members of the community, without distinction of race, class, creed, sex, income or occupation.
- (c) Thorough distribution.
The newspaper finds its readers, whether they are at home or not; if they are not at home, it reaches them when travelling, on trains and cars, in hotels, clubs and libraries.
- (d) Reaches the business man.
The newspaper is to the business executive the most necessary medium of information.
- (e) Minimum duplication.
Because of the completeness of the service of each newspaper, there is a minimum of duplication between newspapers.

2. IMMEDIATE APPEARANCE.

- (a) Impulse to immediate action.
Because the newspaper deals with the immediate fact and the opinion of the day, its columns give an impulse to immediate action; results are often felt even before the presses are silent.
- (b) Quick insertion.
Through the newspaper the reader may be reached within a few hours after copy is prepared.
- (c) Quick change.
Advertisements in a newspaper may be changed or even cancelled up to a few hours before going to press.
- (d) Quick repetition.
A newspaper advertisement which proves successful can be repeated promptly before the conditions favoring success have altered.
- (e) Timely copy.
Newspaper copy can be adapted to the day on which it appears, or to current events, and can avoid untimely references.

3. FREQUENCY OF APPEARANCE.

- (a) The choice of the day.
The newspaper advertiser has his choice of the precise day of the week most suitable to his advertising.

- (b) Intensive campaigns.
Newspaper advertising permits any intensity desired, up to daily insertions.
- (c) Serial campaigns.
In the newspaper it is possible to use serial copy with any desired interval between insertions.
- (d) Cumulative effect.
A newspaper campaign may be planned to obtain a maximum cumulative effect, through the flexibility of space and intervals.

4. LOCALIZED CIRCULATION.

- (a) Close to place of purchase.
The reader of a newspaper advertisement can go directly to the place where the article advertised is on sale.
- (b) Spotty distribution.
The advertiser with spotty distribution can, by using newspapers, advertise exclusively where his goods are on sale.
- (c) Concentrated territory.
The newspaper offers the maximum concentration of circulation in any community.
- (d) Strengthening weak territory.
The newspaper may be used to strengthen weak spots in the distribution with the exact degree of force desired.
- (e) Progressive zone advertising.
Newspaper advertising may be extended progressively by zones, hand-in-hand with and aiding the extension of distribution.
- (f) Seasonable by territory.
Seasonable variations in the demand in different territories may be taken into account in newspaper advertising.
- (g) Price variations.
When necessary, different prices may be quoted in different territories through newspaper advertising.
- (h) Localized copy.
Newspaper copy and illustrations may be made to meet precisely, and take advantage of, local conditions.
- (i) Traceability.
The effect of newspaper advertising may be traced by observing the course of sales in each community.
- (j) Try-out and test campaigns.
At low cost, tests may be made of the medium, the product, the selling plan or the copy approach at typical points before embarking on a costly general campaign.

The Daily Newspaper is the medium of the moment—the axis of opportunity; flexible, powerful and instantaneous in its ability to create sales. Advice as to the best ways and means of using it will be given to those who inquire of us; or, consult any recognized advertising agency—a list supplied on request.

$20,000 TUG SINKS AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Blown Over On Her Side, Will Be a Total Loss—Crew of Twelve Rescued.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 25.—The tugboat Right Arm, Captain Richard Littlefield, bound for New York, after towing a barge to Longport to be filled with sand and rock and sunk as an aid to the new jetty there, grounded on the bar of the Absecon Inlet rapidly filled with water, and will probably be a total loss. The tug is owned by McAllister Bros, towboat owners, New York.

There was a heavy wind, and she was blown over on her side. Her sudden end was broken and her sternpost driven up. She immediately began to leak, and in a few hours filled with water. Captain John Holdstock and the Inlet coast guards took off seven men. Five, including the Captain, remained on board. After the tug had filled, the coast guards returned and took off the remaining five.

Holdstock expressed the belief that the tug would be a total loss. The tug was valued at $20,000.

PRIESTS' UNIQUE RECORD.

Father Fitzgerald Celebrates Jubilee in Church Where He Was Baptized.

The Very Rev. Edward G. Fitzgerald, former Prior of the Dominican House of Studies of the Catholic University, celebrated the silver jubilee of his ordination on April 9 in St. Dominic's Church of Washington, D. C., where he was baptized, made his first Holy Communion, served as an altar boy, was confirmed, and celebrated his first mass. The history of the church in Washington for the last fifty years may in part be sketched by a review of the life of Father Fitzgerald, for the Fitzgerald family has been associated with Catholic affairs in that city for more than half a century, and for that length of time has maintained residence in St. Dominic's parish. One of Father Fitzgerald's brothers, Joseph Fitzgerald, is the president of the Washington Holy Name Society. Another brother, the Rev. Jeremiah Fitzgerald, is a priest of the Dominican Order.

Father Fitzgerald was born in August, 1878, and on the margin of the baptismal register is noted that he was "the first child baptized in the new font." He studied under the Christian Brothers in Washington and entered the Dominican Novitiate at St. Rose Convent, Kentucky, in 1892. He was ordained by Bishop Waterson in 1896, probably the youngest priest ordained in the history of the Dominican Order in the United States, a special dispensation being required from Rome for the ceremony.

In the fall of the same year, Father Fitzgerald was sent to the Dominican Biblical School at St. Stephen's in Palestine, where he intended to remain for five years, preparing to teach Biblical sciences. However, he completed the difficult course in three years, gaining the degree of Doctor of Sacred

TEAM HAULS RECORD LOAD OF PULPWOOD.

Draws 12 Cords, 3 Feet, From Maine Forest to Landing.

Calais, Me., April 25.—Two horses owned by Higgins Brothers, lumber operators of Denysville, have established a record by hauling twelve cords and three feet of peeled pulpwood one and a half miles over rough logging roads. Woodsmen say the load is the biggest ever drawn on a sled by a pair of horses.

The record load was sealed by Andrew Matheson and Larry Comeau and was driven by James Lyons of Denysville. It was hauled from the lumber camp to the landing here. Another load of the same size, driven by Willard James, upset within twenty yards of the landing.

POLICE COURT.

At the afternoon session of the police court yesterday Roy Thompson was before the court on a charge of stealing $21 from Isaac Goldberg. Evidence was given by Isaac and Israel Goldberg. The former said that since Thompson had been arrested a man representing himself as the accused's brother had visited him and paid him $21. The case was postponed.

Mrs. Emma May Bannister, charged with using threatening language against her husband, was allowed to go yesterday with a warning.

A restaurant keeper in whose place of business some overlength beer was found by the police last week was fined $200.

PORTRAIT OF TENNYSON FOR LEVER ART GALLERY

London, April 3.—(By mail).—One of the great portraits of the nineteenth century has just passed from private ownership into a public museum. Lord Leverhulme has purchased Sir John Millais' portrait of Alfred Lord Tennyson for the Lady Lever Art Gallery, Port Sunlight. This impressive portrait was painted in 1881 for Mrs. (at the time Miss) James Knowles, founder and until his death editor of The Nineteenth Century, an intimate friend of the poet. The picture is painted on canvas forty-nine inches by thirty-six inches, and is signed with initials and dated 1881.

CANNOT OVERCOME THIS COMPETITION

Some of the Basics of Good Merchandising. To get a suit that you may depend upon absolutely, to know that if it does not fit you the seller will not let you take it—that is our idea of Semi-ready service," said the Chief Designer of Semi-ready clothes. "And we carry this principle out in our Special Order service, where we make to custom measure hundreds of individual suits on a four-day schedule. For we do not want in all Canada a single dissatisfied customer. We have held our trade and increased it tremendously, despite the myriads of attacks by envious competitors. Be PARIS-GOWNED at LOW COST!

The SILK DRESS you have always wanted - at such a little price!

NEVER before in Canada, in the history of silk dress manufacturing, have such decidedly reasonable—almost revolutionary—prices been asked for silk frocks and sports dresses, Paris-styled! In their trimmings, their needling, their finishing, those last-minute niceties of workmanship; in their exclusively modish lines so flatteringly trim; in their exquisite silk fabrics of newest shades—McMULLEN dresses express every refinement of good taste.

Their amazingly low price—so welcome to many women of innate taste but modest means—is the happy result of an intensely specialized knowledge of silk buying in the world's markets, of expert designing by fashion authorities. Few makers could afford to buy such enormous supplies of imported silks and raw materials. None other has the wonderful manufacturing facilities nor the style artists necessary for exclusive creations.

PEDANTIC USE OF ADVERB.

(Victoria Colonist.) Taking all this for granted, then, the studious reader aforesaid may have noticed recently, particularly in telegraphic news dispatches, a somewhat pedantic use of the adverb. Such dispatches say, for instance, "already had been," "soon will make," "practically had been decided," and would die violently at the rude hands of the new editor, rather than permit themselves to be pedantic.

J. L. STEWART DEAD

Veteran Editor of a North Shore Paper Succumbs at Melrose, Mass.—An Outstanding Figure.

James Lemuel Stewart, one of the outstanding figures in Journalism in the Maritime Provinces, passed away in the New England Sanatorium, near Melrose, Mass., yesterday afternoon soon after four o'clock. He had reached the advanced age of eighty years and had been ill for several months. For the last forty years he had been proprietor of the Chatham World and his writings were widely quoted. He battled with death for seven weeks following hemorrhage of the brain.

Michael McDade of St. John, a journalistic pupil of his, was with him at the end and will leave with the body tonight for Chatham.

The late Mr. Stewart was born in Advocate Harbor, N. S., April 5, 1843. His parents were Charles E. and Catherine Stewart. He began his journalistic career early and devoted his entire life to it. He was connected with the following papers:

He began in newspaper work fifty-five years ago on the St. Croix Courier, first canvassing Charlotte County for subscribers. Soon after he was sent to Fredericton as his paper's legislative reporter. His letters to his paper attracted great attention and it was not long until John Livingstone, the late Mr. Stewart, became night editor of the paper. He also became editor of the Presbyterian Advertiser, and the Halifax Herald, under J. I. Stewart. In 1877-8 he was editor of the Moncton Times, under Mr. Livingstone, and the Halifax Herald, under J. I. Stewart. After severing connection with the News he became a parliamentary correspondent at Ottawa and was engaged in that work when he purchased the Chatham World. For more than forty years he was editor of that paper, continuing as such to the time of his death.

The late Mr. Stewart is survived by one brother, Isaac Stewart, of Norton, and one sister, Mrs. M. M. Stewart, of the city and Miss Minnie on the Pacific coast.

He was a member of numerous societies, being a Past Grand Master, I. O. O. F., Grand Representative, Sovereign Grand Lodge, president of a natural history society, commodore of the Chatham Yacht Club, and for twenty-five years a member of the board of school trustees at Chatham. Always actively interested in politics, from 1912 until 1916 he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Chatham Yacht Club.

is quite unique. Oriental fruits and spices perfectly blended with pure malt vinegar give H.P. a delicious flavour and piquancy that suits all tastes.

member of the provincial legislature as a supporter of the Fleming Government. During the war he was overseas as a visitor by invitation of the British Government, and is said to have been the only civilian to go over the lines in an aeroplane. During his stay in England he was presented to King George, Queen Mary and Princess Mary at Buckingham Palace.

For several years he was alderman and chairman of the finance committee at Chatham. At one time he was well known throughout the province as a lecturer on the Lyceum course. He was for a time president of the New Brunswick Press Club and the Maritime Provinces Press Association. In religion he was a Methodist and in politics a Conservative.

President of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, since 1904, who resigned in June, at the meeting of the Alliance in Rome.

Progress with the construction of the distribution system was held up again yesterday afternoon when Commissioner Thornton and Wigmore refused to vote for a bond issue for an amount of $15,373 to cover digging of post holes. This was the amount of the tender of Saab & Company. The two commissioners took the stand that the construction of the civic distribution system should be let out under contract for some considerable amount instead of for small items. The Mayor said he had been advised by Gordon Krize and Barry Wilson that the work should be done by day labor. The Mayor's motion to award the contract for digging the post holes to Saab & Company was lost because of lack of unanimity.

New French Hand Bags

Never have we shown a more attractive assortment of beautiful Hand Bags. Each one novel in shape, beautifully lined and having an air of elegance that immediately stamps it "Parisian." Among the many kinds are:

Venetian Leather Bags in plain colors or elaborately designed in Egyptian patterns. Mostly flat shapes with handy strap handles.

Suede Bags in particularly soft shades of tan, and grey; as well as all black and black with white lines. They have inset coin purse, ticket compartment and dainty vanity mirror.

Corded Silk Bags in rich self colored patterns. Lined with heavy cream corded lining. Showing in lovely shades of brown, grey, navy and black.

New Paisley Bags—Some are in plain Paisley patterned silk; others are elaborately beaded. These are a decided novelty and one that promises to share a popular demand. You'll think them very charming.

Beaded Bags are showing in several very attractive color combinations. Many of them have tortoise shell tops, beautiful silk linings and pretty fittings. Only once in a great while do we see such elaborate and decidedly tasteful creations. The prices are much more reasonable than you would suppose.

EGYPT INSPIRES

Tut-Ankh-Amen Luck Charms

In the period of Tut-Ankh-Amen 1358 B.C., when anyone died the belief was that he was judged by various Gods. Depicted on small charms made from the bluest of butterfly wings are many of those old Egyptian Gods. Among them:

Bes—Who was supposed to be able to give and take life. He was the protector of children.

Lotus Flower—Considered sacred as it grew in the Nile.

Khonsu—The God who travelled by boat to protect those in love.

Key of Life—Symbol of life. Nearly all the Gods are seen holding it.

Bast—(Sacred cat) symbolizing the heat of late and early summer.

Scarab—The symbol of resurrection.

Anubis—God of all hearts.

Thoth—The deity of weights and measures.

Horus—Representing the rising sun presiding over the heavenly arch.

Isis—Representing the highest type of wife and mother.

Osiris—The God of the dead.

It is popular superstition that good fortune comes to the wearer of these lucky charms. Try one and see—the prices are very moderate and the charms particularly attractive.

The Breaking Point

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

When, at five o'clock, the nurse came with a thermometer, he was asleep in his chair, his mouth slightly open, and snoring valiantly. Hearing Dick in the lower hall, she went to the head of the stairs, her finger to her lips. Dick nodded and went into the office. The afternoon mail was lying there, and he began mechanically to open it. His thoughts were elsewhere.

"Now that he had taken the step he had so firmly determined not to take, certain things, such as Clara Rossetti's story, David's anaesthesia, his own doubts, no longer involved himself alone, nor even Elizabeth and himself. They had become of vital importance to her family.

"One thing was clear, then. Before he asked for her he would have to tell Walter Wheeler the situation in which he found himself, and having laid all his cards on the table, propose that, before any definite engagement, Mr. Wheeler go with him to Noranda.

"That was the only fair thing to do, and it was wise too. He felt that he knew himself, and that he was not the sort to have committed any further act. Probably the thing David was hiding was only his illegitimacy. That was bad enough, but it was not through any fault of his. Of course, David might speak.

"He pondered that, with an open and untraced letter in his hand. Even if David talked, it would still be necessary for his own peace of mind to go back. He was certain.

"He began to read the letter.

"Dear Doctor: I have tried to see you, but understand you are laid up. Burr, this is as soon as you've read it. Louis Bassett has started for Noranda. I advise you getting the person you discussed out of town as soon as possible. Bassett is a man of no account. I'm not signing this fully, for obvious reasons."

The Syre house stood on the hill behind the town, a long, rather low white house on Italian lines. In summer, until the family exodus to the Maine coast, the brilliant canopy which extended over the terrace indicated, as Harrison Miller put it, that the family was "in residence." Originally designed as a summer house, Mrs. Sayre now used it the year round. There was nothing there, as there was in the town house, to remind her of the bitter days before her widowhood. She was a short heavy woman, of fine taste in her house and of no taste whatever in her clothing.

"I never know," said Harrison Miller, "when I look up at the Sayre place, whether I'm seeing Ann Sayre or an evening."

She was not ashamed woman, nor a clever one, but she was kindly in the main, tolerant and maternal. She liked young people, gave gay little parties to which she wore her outlandish clothes of all colors and all cuts, lavished gifts on the girls she liked, and was anxious to see Wallie married to a good, steady girl and settled down. Between her son and herself was a steady but unobtrusive affection. She viewed him through eyes that had lost their illusion about all men years ago, and she had no delusions about him. She had no idea that she knew all that he did with his time, and no desire to penetrate the veil of his private life.

"He spends a great deal of money," she said one day to her lawyer. "I suppose in the usual ways. But he is not quite like his father. He has real affections, which his father hadn't. If he marries the right girl she can make him do almost anything."

She had her first inkling that he was interested in Elizabeth Wheeler one day when the head gardener reported that

Mr. Wallace had ordered certain roses cut and sent to the Wheeler house. She was angry at first, for the roses were being saved for a dinner party Tom had considered.

"Very well, Phelps," she said. "Do it. And I'll select a plant also, to go to Mrs. Wheeler."

After all, why not the Wheeler girl? She had been carefully reared, if the Wheeler house was rather awfully in spots, and she was a gentle little thing; rather lovely too, especially in church. And certainly Wallie had been seeing a great deal of her.

She went to the greenhouse, and from there up-stairs, and into the rooms that she had planned for Wallie and his bride, when the time came. She was more content than she had been for a long time. She was a lonely woman, isolated by her very grandeur from the neighborhood she craved; when she wanted society she had to ask for it, by invitation. Standing inside the door of the boudoir, her thoughts already at work on draperies and furniture, she had a vague dream of new young life stirring in the big house, of no more lonely evenings, of the bustle and activity of a family again.

She wanted Wallie to settle down. She was tired of paying his bills at his clubs and at various hotels, tired and weary of the days he lay in bed all morning while his valet concocted various things to enable him to pull himself together. He had been four years sowing his wild oats, and now at twenty-five she felt he should be through with them.

The south room could be the nursery. On Decoration Day she did her dutiful best by the community, sent flowers to the cemetery and even stood through a chilly hour there while services were read and taps sounded over the graves of those who had died in the great war. She felt very grateful that Wallie had come back safely, and if only now he would marry and settle down all would be well.

She made a resolution, there in the small church yard, to enlist Nina as an ally. She had placed Nina very skillfully in her mind. Nina, with her ambitions, would be quick to see the advantage of such a marriage to herself. Otherwise, the middle-classness of Elizabeth's family did not matter. They were eminently respectable, and the Sayres had family enough for all.

Rather under pressure, Wallie lunched with her at the country club, but she found him evasive and not particularly happy.

"You're twenty-five, you know," she said, toward the end of a discussion. "By thirty you'll be too set in your habits, too hard to please."

"I'm not going to marry for the sake of settling matters," Nina replied. "Of course not. But you have a good bit of money. You'll have much more when I'm gone. And money carries responsibility with it."

Mr. Sayre sat down, a gross disharmony in the room, but a solid and not unkindly woman for all that.

"My dear," she said, "I am not paying a call. Or not only that. I came to talk to you about something. About Wallie and your sister."

"What a delightful room!" said Mrs. Sayre. "And how do you keep a maid as trim as that?"

"I must have service," Nina replied. "The butler's marching in a parade or something. How nice of you to come and see our little place. It's a den-bbox, of course."

fact, and he fairly glowed with righteousness.

It was the great lady's first call, and Nina was considerably uplifted. It was for such moments as this that one trained servants and put Irish lace on their aprons, and had decorators who stood with their heads a little awry and devised backgrounds for one's personality.

"What a delightful room!" said Mrs. Sayre. "And how do you keep a maid as trim as that?"

Noranda to do with David! And who was the person who was to be got out of town?

He did not go up-stairs. Instead he took the letter into his office, closed the door, and sitting down at his desk turned his reading lamp on it, as though that physical act might bring some mental light.

It was distinctly a warning, and a warning that referred to himself. Had not David already attempted to get him out of town? And Bassett was "up to something," evidently something menacing to himself that was to culminate in Noranda; something which he knew and felt David should know.

Months later he wondered what would have happened had he taken that letter to David, as was his first impulse? Suppose Bassett had been left to work the situation alone? How far would he have got with it? Not all the way, that was certain. He had a slightly faster pulse, and he came up against David, and David would have fought him to a standstill.

For a little while, then, the shutters were closed, and the shutters were in Dick's own hand. For he went up to David's room, and with his hand on the door handle, he carried on behind his casual talk the debate that was so vital. But David had a head-ache and a slightly faster pulse, and that part of the pattern was never woven.

The association between anxiety and David's illness had always been apparent in Dick's mind, but now he began to surmise a concrete cause, a telegram, a telephone call, and after dinner that night he went back to his "Minnie," he inquired, "you remember the afternoon Doctor David was taken sick did he receive a telegram that afternoon?"

"Not that I know of. He often answers the bell."

"Do you recall whether he had any visitor, just before you heard him fall?"

"He had a patient, yes. A man."

"Who was it?"

"I don't know. He was a stranger to me, I think."

"Do you remember what he looked like?"

"Minnie reflected. "He was a smallish man, maybe thirty-five or so," she said. "I had had letters over his shoes, or maybe light tops. He was a nice appearing fellow."

"How soon after that did you hear Doctor David fall?" Dick asked.

"Right away. The door slammed, and then he dropped."

Poor old David! Dick had not the slightest doubt now that David had received some unfortunate news, and that up there in his bedroom even since, alone and helpless, he had been struggling with some secret dread he could not share with any one. Not even with Lucy, he imagined. Nevertheless, he made a try with Lucy that evening.

"Lucy," he said, "do you know of anything that could have caused David's collapse?"

"What sort of things?" she asked guardedly.

"A letter, we'll say, or a visit."

"When he saw that she was only puzzled and thinking back, he had his answer.

"Never mind," he said. "I was feeling about for some cause. That's all."

He was satisfied that Lucy knew no more than he did of David's visitor, and that David had kept his own counsel ever since. But the sense of impending disaster that had come with the letter did not leave him. He went through his evening office hours almost mechanically, with a part of his mind busy on the puzzle. How did it affect the course of action he had mapped out? Wasn't it even more necessary than ever now to go to Walter Wheeler, and tell him how things stood?

He hated mystery. He liked to walk in the middle of the road in the sunlight. But even stronger than that was a growing feeling that he needed a sane and normal judgment on his situation; a fresh viewpoint, and some unprejudiced advice.

He saw David before he left, and he was very gentle with him. In view of this new development he saw David from a different angle, facing and dreading something imminent, and it came to him with a shock that he might have to clear things up to save David. The burden, whatever it was, was breaking him.

He had telephoned, and Walter Wheeler thought he knew what was coming, and he had well in mind what he was going to say. He had thought it over, pacing the floor alone, with the dog at his heels. He would say, "I like and respect you, Livingston. If you're worrying about what these damned gossips say, let's call it a day and forget it. I know a man when I see one, and if it's all right with Elizabeth it's all right with me."

Things, however, did not turn out just that way. Dick came in, grave and clearly preoccupied, and the first thing he said was:

"I have a story to tell you, Mr. Wheeler. After you've heard it, and given me your opinion on it, I'll come to a matter that—well, that I can't talk about now."

"If it's the silly talk that I dare say you've heard—"

"No things a part of it. That alone I'd stand ready to face, but there is something else. Something I haven't told Elizabeth, and that I'll have to tell you."

Walter Wheeler drew himself up rather stiffly. Leslie's detection was still in his mind.

"Don't tell me you're tangled up with another woman."

"No. At least I think not. I don't know."

It was doubtful if Walter Wheeler grasped much of the technicalities that followed. Dick talked and he listened, nodding now and then, and endeavoring very hard to get the gist of the matter. There was at least a foundation of mutual liking and respect to go on, and there was no doubt of their earnestness. Now and then Wheeler stopped him with a question, and Dick would break in on his narrative to reply. Thus once:

"You've said nothing to Elizabeth at all? About the walling off, as you call it?"

"No. At first I was simply ashamed of it. I didn't mean to speak to her until I'd cleared things up. But it happened anyhow, I suppose the way she thought of it."

"There is, I didn't intend it. In fact, I'd told her I was going to Noranda. I didn't mean to speak to her until I'd cleared things up. But it happened anyhow, I suppose the way she thought of it."

The talk lasted well over an hour, and it left Walter Wheeler depressed and uneasy. He agreed to go back with Dick to Noranda as soon as Dick could leave David, but from the moment Dick gave him the letter to read he felt that a situation was developing which threatened the peace of at least two households.

"It looks queer, doesn't it?"

"Yes, it does."

"You don't recognize the name Bassett?"

"No. I've tried, of course."

The result of some indeliberate thought finally that Elizabeth should not be told anything until they were ready to tell it all. And in the end a certain resentment that she had become involved in an unhappy situation died in Walter Wheeler before Dick's white face and sunken eyes.

At ten o'clock the house-door opened and closed, and Walter Wheeler got up and went out into the hall.

"Go on up-stairs, Margaret," he said to his wife. "I've got a visitor." He did not look at Elizabeth. "You settle down and be comfortable," he added, "and I'll be up before long. Where's Jim?"

"I don't know. He didn't go to Jim's."

"He started out with you, didn't he?"

"Yes. But he left us at the corner."

They exchanged glances. Jim had been worrying them lately. Strange how a man could go along for years, his wife writes those of business, his track a single one through comfortable fields where one reaped only what he sowed. And then his family grew up, and involved him without warning in new perplexities and new troubles. Nina first, then Jim, and now this strange story, which so inevitably involved Elizabeth.

He put his arm around his wife and held her to him.

"Don't worry about Jim, mother," he said. "He's all right fundamentally. He's going through the bad time between being a boy and being a man. He's a good boy."

He watched her moving up the stairs, his eyes tender and solicitous. To him she was just "mother." He had never thought of another woman in all their twenty-four years together.

Elizabeth waited near him, her eyes on his face.

"Is it Dick?" she asked in a low tone.

"Yes, don't mind, daddy, do you?"

"I only want you to be happy," he said rather huskily. "You know that, don't you?"

She nodded, and turned up her face to be missed. He knew that she had no doubts whatever, that this interview was to seal her to Dick Livingston for ever and ever. She fairly radiated happiness and confidence. He left her standing there and, going back to the living room, closed the door.

Louis Bassett, when he started to the old Livingstone ranch, now the Watson place, was carefully turning over in his mind David's participation in the escape of Judson Clark. Certain phases of it were quite clear, provided one accepted the fact that, following a heavy snowfall, an easterly and a tenderfoot had gone into the mountains alone, under conditions which had caused the posse after Judson Clark to turn back and give him up for dead.

Had Donaldson sent him there, knowing he was a medical man? If he had, would Maggie Donaldson not have told it in her confession? She had said "a man outside that she had at first thought was a member of the searching party." Evidently, then, Donaldson had not prepared her to expect medical assistance.

Bon Ami

"Hasn't Scratched Yet"

Do you know there are two kinds of Bon Ami—cake and powder? Both are made from the same ingredients—both are equally good.

It's a matter of taste which you use. Many women prefer the powder in its handy sprinker-top tin—it's so easy to shake the powder on a damp cloth.

Others prefer the solid, long-lasting cake—it's rubbed on the cloth like ordinary soap.

Many women keep both kinds on hand—they prefer the cake for some uses, the powder for others. It's a splendid idea to keep both—why not try it?

Are you familiar with the principal uses of Bon Ami—they're listed at the right?

LARGE LOSS IN EARLY MORN FIRE

Wm. Shaw Estate Building Afire With Robertson Stores Ablaze.

A fire which assumed considerable proportions broke out about half past five o'clock this morning in a building at the corner of Waterloo and Golding streets and did quite extensive damage to a building owned by the estate of the late William Shaw, M.P.P. The grocery and meat stores of H. C. Robertson suffered as did also the dwelling of Miss Nellie Shaw, situated upstairs. The total damage was estimated at $100,000, said to be covered by insurance. The fire started in the lower part of the building and when the flames arrived it was burning fiercely. The greatest damage was to the grocery store of Mr. Robertson. The combined damage caused by fire, water and smoke, Mr. Robertson said, would be between $40,000 and $50,000. He thought the damage to the building would be another $5,000. Several large plate glass windows were smashed and a good deal of damage done by the cutting which the firemen had to do to get at the seat of the blaze. Mr. Robertson had $5,000 insurance on his grocery store, $1,200 on the fixtures and carried no insurance on the contents of the meat store. It was said that there was insurance to cover the damage to the building. The losses over the stores were covered by Miss Nellie Shaw and W. A. Shaw. Miss Shaw suffered considerably although Mr. Shaw escaped. The "fall-out" was sounded about seven o'clock. Ambrose P. Ryan, Pitt street, had moved two loads of furniture into the upper part of the building preparatory to moving in on May 1. In a part of the building which suffered no damage.

DEATH OF MRS. J. H. STEVENSON

Mrs. Stevenson, wife of James H. Stevenson, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, passed away at a quarter to three this morning at her home, 16 Queen street, after an illness of more than four months. She leaves to mourn her husband, two sons, Stuart, at the Pictou County Academy, and Charles, at home; two brothers, Percy Reid, superintendent of immigration at Ottawa, and S. N. Reid of Toronto; two sisters, Miss Ethel Reid, a missionary in China, and Miss Eleanor Reid, of Toronto, and her mother, Mrs. J. D. Reid, of Toronto and formerly of Charlottetown.

Mrs. Stevenson was formerly Miss Lenora Reid, of Charlottetown. She came to St. John in August of 1920 when Mr. Stevenson was transferred here from New Glasgow and in the short time she was here made a great many friends. She was a member of DeMonts Chapter, I.O.G.E., of the Women's Canadian Club and of the Red Cross Society and took great interest in philanthropic work. She was highly respected and her death will be mourned with deep regret by a large number in St. John and in other cities and towns. Following a short funeral service at her home on Thursday evening, the body will be taken on Friday to Charlottetown for interment there. Friends have been requested to send no flowers.

WELL KNOWN WRITER IS HERE TODAY

John Nelson, formerly editor of the Vancouver World, is at the Royal. He is writing a series of articles presenting the views and problems of the Canadian provinces for Maclean's. Mr. Nelson is one of Canada's most experienced and popular newspaper men. In speaking to a Times man this morning he pointed out an error in a Canadian Press despatch giving a summary of his address before the Fredericton Rotary Club yesterday. He was reported as saying that 600 Oriental votes had been cast in the last provincial election in British Columbia. Orientals do not vote in British Columbia. The 600 votes were cast in Edmonton.

Dancing and bridge will start at nine o'clock and refreshments will be served at eleven o'clock, thus giving those who desire time to get a street car. A special surprise is in store for those who are in the Gardens by 9:25.

MAIN WAS FROZEN

Commissioner Wigmore said this morning that excavation at the scene of the water break in Burpee avenue had revealed that the frost had reached the pipe and had caused one of the joints to split. The freezing was due to the frost penetrating, not from the street surface, but from the dry stone retaining wall which supports the street and which was exposed to the full play of the wind. After the installation of a new joint, the main at this point will be encased in a sawdust jacket to prevent a recurrence of the trouble.

RUM IN BOXES OF DECAYED FISH

Scheme Used in Boston and Lynn in Shipments to Maine to Conceal Odor.

Lewiston, Me., April 25.—Decayed fish has been a popular camouflage for liquor smugglers' wares, local enforcement officers have discovered. Recent seizures have disclosed that in nearly 70 per cent of the cases, alcohol sent from Lynn and Boston, has been packed in barrels or boxes of decayed fish. The odor from the fish was sufficiently strong to "kill" any of the tell-tale smell from the liquor. The scheme is said to have been working very successfully during the winter and spring until about a week ago, when a barrel of old fish broke open and a few cans of alcohol rolled out. Now when a freight or express package smells "fishy," officers promptly open up the contents to the daylight.

HOLD VESSEL FOR OTTAWA ORDERS

Clears for Here With Liquor from Bermuda; Arrives Without Cargo.

What is termed a "Mystery Ship" is now in port and is being held by the customs authorities for some irregularities in her clearance and entrance papers. She is the three-masted schooner Jessy and Alice, of about ninety tons register, and she lies now at McAvity's wharf waiting for word from Ottawa.

The mystery about her they say, is that she cleared from Hamilton, Bermuda, some time ago with a cargo of liquor consigned to St. John and that she arrived in St. John without her cargo. The customs authorities are holding her for orders from the department of customs at Ottawa. It is not known by them whether she lost her cargo en route, landed it at some other port or had it stolen, according to an official this morning, but it is known that she cannot enter this port until she has called for a cargo of liquor and without the cargo to match. The schooner has apparently encountered some rough weather on her journey for her bowsprit is broken off short and two of the three topmasts have parted company with the other spars.

APPLIES UNDER "BLUE SKY" LAW

Utilities Commission Not Yet Ready for This as the New Law is Not in Effect.

The N. B. Public Utilities Commission, in session here today, received the first application under the "blue sky" laws passed at the last session of the Legislature, by which securities must have the approval of the commission before they can be marketed. The application was made by J. H. A. L. Fairweather, but as the law does not become effective until June 1, and no regulations have as yet been prepared by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council covering the operation of the act, the application was withdrawn and Mr. Fairweather will present it at a subsequent meeting.

The board also heard an application, made by S. H. Hunton, acting for the New Brunswick Telephone Co., Ltd. for permission to issue 1850 shares of stock to cover the purchase of assets of the Farmers' Telephone Co., Carleton County. The board requested further information and consideration of the application will be given when this information is filed. Some routine business was disposed of. J. D. P. Lewin presided and F. X. LeBlanc, the chief clerk of the commission was present.

COMPEL RAILWAYS TO CONSOLIDATE

Harding Declared to Favor This Course in U. S.—Fifteen or Twenty Systems.

Washington, April 25.—(By Canadian Press)—The next big step in railway matters in the U. S. is likely to be compulsory consolidation of the railroads into fifteen or twenty systems, probably, though not necessarily, regional. President Harding in his western speeches will come out for consolidation, it is predicted, and Senator Cummins, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, is urging consolidation of the railroads. He says that only by consolidation of strong lines with weak can the weak roads be saved and government ownership avoided. Also, he holds that by consolidation economies can be effected and rates of the railroad problem will be up, including changes in the law as to rate making. Just now, the consolidation issue seems to be foremost. President Harding has let it be known that he believed the railroad problem will be paramount in the next session of Congress. Study is being made by representatives of the administration of the consolidation of the railroads in England, which is said to have been a success. Many students of the railroad problem here are skeptical of the consolidation plan for this country. They take the view nothing will solve the U. S. transportation problem but government ownership and say consolidation would prove nothing more than a temporary palliative. Nevertheless it is unlikely Congress would go the whole length of government ownership and for that reason consolidation may be tested out.

WILL NOT TAKE P. E. I. LIQUOR ACT CASE TO ENGLAND

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 25.—The prohibition prosecutor has withdrawn application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council of England from a judgment given by the Supreme Court in a winter declaring ultra vires certain sections of the prohibition act with regard to possession of liquor. Leave to withdraw the application was made because the Legislature shrank the act this session.

Better Bedrooms

In the widespread move for better homes, it is natural that increasing numbers of women should elect to start with their own room, the bedroom, in improving their home furnishings. For it is here that the feminine members of the family may be truly at ease, free of the social obligations of the living room. Here, often, they may exchange with their closest friends those intimate confidences so dear to a woman's heart.

Women who take pride in the appearance of their bedroom furniture appreciate such niceties as reading lamps, artistic bedroom screens, small night stands or tables—enhancing the effect of a bedroom suite of that better quality which reflects the owner's taste and discrimination.

The latest arrivals in bedroom furniture are exceptionally charming. Why not visit our splendid showing of furnishings for the bedroom right now—while prices are still at their lowest?

DISCUSS THE INDIANTOWN FERRY SERVICE

Get Report on the E. Ross—Temporary Service Left With the Commission.

After discussing for nearly two hours the question of obtaining a new hull for the ferry steamer operating on the Indiantown-Lancaster route, the finance committee of the Municipal Council decided this morning to apply for a renewal of the license for the steamer E. Ross, now on the route, by a report as to what work will be necessary to put her into sufficient good shape to warrant a certificate being issued. The matter of a temporary service while the inspection was being made was left in the hands of the ferry commission.

Councillor Wigmore presided, and others present included Mayor Fisher, Councillors Frink, Thornton, Bullock, O'Brien and Golding, J. King Kelly, County Secretary, and George W. Mullin, secretary of the ferry commission. The chairman explained that the matter had been referred by the Municipal Council to the finance committee with power to act. The committee called for tenders for the service but the only tenders did not hold the necessary certificates to pass Marine Department requirements, so the matter came to a deadlock. He asked Council members to state the case of the ferry commission.

New Hull Offered. Mr. Mullin read a letter from the Metropolitan Marine Railway and Ship Building Co. quoting a price of $20,775 for a new hull, and from J. Fred Williamson quoting $16,000 for the transfer of the machinery and boilers from the E. Ross to the new hull. Incidentally, including the cost of towing from Miramichi, new life rafts, water tanks etc., he estimated at $1,000, making the total estimated cost $48,775.

The E. Ross, Councillor O'Brien said, cost $1,000. Mr. Mullin said the engine was in good condition, $1,000 having been spent on its last year, as well as $700 for new equipment, which was in good order. Mr. Bullock said that the boat would have cost $400 less if bought and equipped last fall.

Mr. Bullock said the cost of operation for a year would be as follows: Lessee $2,000 Insurance $100 Depreciation $400 Secretary $100 Interest 6 per cent. $200 Depreciated $200 130 Cost and Interest $484

One third of this cost would be borne by the city, the municipality, and the Provincial Government making $1,613 a year each, or $188 a month. Mayor Fisher objected to allowing $200 for depreciation and $400 for interest. He thought they were too high. Councillor O'Brien said the first item covered repairs to sheds and floats.

Mr. Mullin said that the $4,000 for incidentals was a close figure and, if the city would vote $2,000 instead, the commission would not spend more than necessary. According to the agreement with the lessee, the service was to be maintained daily from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The Mayor said that Theodore Valis, the present lessee, was willing to make an agreement under the conditions that would put the E. Ross in good shape. Councillor Thornton suggested that the fare for non-residents might be increased to ten cents. Councillor O'Brien thought that with an increased fare for non-residents, the school children should be carried free.

Councillor Frink suggested that the Board of School Trustees might bear this expense. Mr. Mullin said the proposed new hull was planned for non-residents, the school children should be carried free. Councillor Frink suggested that the Board of School Trustees might bear this expense.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATERS

Imperial Concerts Again Enjoyed

The fourth week in which the Imperial Theatre has been introducing special orchestral and mixed musical programmes on Tuesday and Thursday nights was opened last night with a programme that was quite as enjoyable as any of the preceding ones. The novelty feature on this occasion was the first appearance on the Imperial stage of Guy H. Taylor, a North End boy who possesses a particularly fine voice of operatic quality and strength. Mr. Taylor sang the Aria from "Carmen" with splendid effect also that favorite "A Dream" by Bartlett. There were two pretty concert numbers one of which was a rollicking little minuet by Leonoville being issued. The matter of a temporary service while the inspection was being made was left in the hands of the ferry commission.

Councillor Wigmore presided, and others present included Mayor Fisher, Councillors Frink, Thornton, Bullock, O'Brien and Golding, J. King Kelly, County Secretary, and George W. Mullin, secretary of the ferry commission. The chairman explained that the matter had been referred by the Municipal Council to the finance committee with power to act. The committee called for tenders for the service but the only tenders did not hold the necessary certificates to pass Marine Department requirements, so the matter came to a deadlock. He asked Council members to state the case of the ferry commission.

New Hull Offered. Mr. Mullin read a letter from the Metropolitan Marine Railway and Ship Building Co. quoting a price of $20,775 for a new hull, and from J. Fred Williamson quoting $16,000 for the transfer of the machinery and boilers from the E. Ross to the new hull. Incidentally, including the cost of towing from Miramichi, new life rafts, water tanks etc., he estimated at $1,000, making the total estimated cost $48,775.

The E. Ross, Councillor O'Brien said, cost $1,000. Mr. Mullin said the engine was in good condition, $1,000 having been spent on its last year, as well as $700 for new equipment, which was in good order. Mr. Bullock said that the boat would have cost $400 less if bought and equipped last fall.

Mr. Bullock said the cost of operation for a year would be as follows: Lessee $2,000 Insurance $100 Depreciation $400 Secretary $100 Interest 6 per cent. $200 Depreciated $200 130 Cost and Interest $484

One third of this cost would be borne by the city, the municipality, and the Provincial Government making $1,613 a year each, or $188 a month. Mayor Fisher objected to allowing $200 for depreciation and $400 for interest. He thought they were too high. Councillor O'Brien said the first item covered repairs to sheds and floats.

Mr. Mullin said that the $4,000 for incidentals was a close figure and, if the city would vote $2,000 instead, the commission would not spend more than necessary. According to the agreement with the lessee, the service was to be maintained daily from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m.

THE PROVINCIAL I.O.D.E. MEETS

There are 28 Chapters and They Raised $81,192 in Last Year.

(Special to The Times). Fredericton, N. B., April 25.—The annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter of the International Order of the Daughters of the Empire, held at the Hotel Victoria, opened this morning. Mrs. Robert FitzRandolph, Fredericton, provincial regent, presided. Mrs. FitzRandolph has announced that she will not be a candidate for re-election.

There was an address of welcome by Mrs. W. J. Scott, late vice regent, on behalf of the members of the order. Mrs. J. O. Calkin, representing Lord Sackville Chapter of Seckville, presided. On behalf of the regent, a formal invitation to a reception at her home tonight was issued.

Mrs. H. F. McLeod of Fredericton, presented her report as secretary. It mentioned the addition of one chapter, Alexandria, of St. John. There are twenty-eight primary chapters with a membership of 1923 as against 970 the year before. Three appeals given particular attention during the year were Princess Mary's wedding gift, North Ontario fire sufferers and the maritime home for young women.

The total amount raised by the chapters was $81,192.62. Mrs. Courtland Robinson of St. John presented the report on the memorial. Mrs. M. G. Hiddell, reported as the Echo secretary.

Hardly one in ten town escaped. Great Storm Wrecks Buildings in Henrietta, Texas.

Henrietta, Texas, April 25.—Virtually every building in this town was damaged by the recent storm, and six of the streets at Burkhardt, three miles north of here, were blown to bits by a terrific southeast wind storm.

A city mile and drove large hail stones through every window and blew in the roofs of the three-story St. Elmo Hotel, several business buildings and a dozen residences. Hail piled up a foot deep in the streets and a torrential rain which followed the wind storm caused water to fill basements.

GAINED 5 POUNDS; FEELS 100% BETTER

Edward Davis of Woodstock Road, Fredericton, N. B., Found All Medicines and Treatments Unavailing—Dreco Gave Him First Real Help in Ten Years.

When a man has suffered from indigestion and constipation for over ten years and spent hundreds of hard-earned dollars, vainly seeking relief, he might well be pardoned for looking about for any new remedy that was recommended. Edward Davis, however, heard such glowing testimonials of the splendid corrective properties of the herbal medicine, Dreco, that he determined to give it a trial. The result is achieved with his long standing ailments is typical of the consistent performance of Dreco. Says Mr. Davis: "I suffered for over ten years with indigestion and constipation. Have spent over $500 on all kinds of medicines but positively without any good results. After meals I would have a pain settling as if there was a piece of lead in my stomach. Would often take dizzy spells and spots would float before my eyes. Always had a bad taste in my mouth every morning and often had pain around my heart. Was very nervous and restless and was never able to get a good night's sleep before taking Dreco. Since taking Dreco, all signs of weakness and dizzy spells are gone. My appetite is 100 per cent improved and can now eat anything. I have no more pains around my heart and can snugly enjoy every minute of my sleep. Dreco will always have my highest recommendation. Indigestion and constipation are, of course, the inevitable result of a sluggish stomach and bowels. It is on these, the kidneys, liver and bladder that Dreco acts, speedily toning and regulating them to normal functions. With these important organs in proper working order, all distressing symptoms, such as troubled Mr. Davis, disappear. Dreco is made of herbs, roots, bark and leaves and contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs. It is Nature's own spring tonic and restorative and speedily restores a run-down system. Dreco is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King street. It is also sold by Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward street, and F. W. Munro, 357 Main street. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilton, in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop, and by a good druggist everywhere.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, pancreatin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY, BROKEN OUT SKIN

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. It is a natural skin speciality. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings rasc from the itching, burning and irritation.

SHAKESPEARE, FIRST FOLIO OF 1623

(By SIR SIDNEY LEE.) Three hundred years ago, seven years after Shakespeare's body had been committed to the chancel of Stratford-upon-Avon church, the dramatic spirit was first revealed to the reading public in the full blaze of glory. On the stage, the contemporary playgoer through three earlier decades had warmly welcomed Shakespeare's tragedies, histories, comedies and romances in a steadily flowing stream; yet until 1623 his fame lacked assurance and stability. Drama, however exalted, can never in lasting life unless it is preserved in print, and while Shakespeare lived a mere fragment of his mighty achievement reached the haven of the printing press. Of the thirty-seven plays with which Shakespeare's name is associated, no more than sixteen enjoyed typographical honors during his working career; and of these sixteen printed pieces, three were deprived of value by reason of textual mutilation. In 1623, six years after Shakespeare's death, one of his masterpieces, the tragedy of "Othello," first assumed the shape of a book. Even so, less than two-fifths of his dramatic labors was available for the stage. Not until another year had passed did the spurious versions of his dramatic labors were available for the stage. Not until another year had passed did the spurious versions of his dramatic labors were available for the stage.

second heat Upon the Muse's anvil; turn the same. (And himself with it) that he thinks to frame. Or for the laurel, he may gain a scorn. For a good Poet's muse as well as born. And such'st thou. Look how the father's face Lives in his issue, even so, the race Of Shakespeare's mind, and manners brightly shines. In his well turned, and true filed lines: In each of which he seems to shake a dance. As brandish'd at the eyes of Ignorance. Shine forth, thou Star of Poets, and with rage, Or influence, hide or cheer the drooping Stage. Which, since thy flight from hence, Hath mourn'd like night, And despair'd day but for thy Voluntary light.

Palm and Olive Oils— This is the Secret Palm and olive oils are perfect soap ingredients, as millions will testify. Their scientific combination in Palmolive has produced the most popular beautifying facial soap in the world, measured by actual sales value. Don't be satisfied with ordinary soap when mild, soothing, lotion-like Palmolive costs so little. Its use for every toilet purpose is an economy as well as a luxury. Palm and olive oils—nothing else—give nature's green color to Palmolive Soap. Value and efficiency produce 25-cent quality for 10c. PALMOLIVE Made in Canada

Eat a Good Breakfast it's the important meal of the day Your physician will tell you that to keep fit you should start the day with a substantial breakfast and take but a light lunch. The digestive apparatus is at its best after the night's rest. Eat the best breakfast you can get—porridge made with Quaker Oats—and you will go to work with a will. Start-to-morrow morning with Quaker porridge. The Quaker Aluminum Double Boiler is now in use in thousands of homes. A Coupon in each Carton. 50% of all diseases start from constipation —yet this dangerous ailment is becoming more common every day. It is simply because our concentrated modern diet gives our intestinal muscles too little work to do. They grow soft and flabby—fall to pieces—and our bodies are flooded with poisons! Today we realize the folly of trying to whip the weakened system into action with drugs and stimulants. Only the proper food can give the intestinal muscles regular, natural exercise. That is why so many physicians and hospitals are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast today. Every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast consists of millions of tiny living plants, which mix with the waste products in the intestine, softening them, and increasing their bulk. This greater bulk greatly encourages the muscles to act, and at the same time strengthens them by offering just the resistance they need. Your own physician will heartily endorse this principle of regularly exercising the intestinal muscles as the only way to relieve constipation and all its evils. Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast—yeast in its natural fresh form. Experiments have shown that yeast corrects constipation only when its cells are alive and active—that it loses its laxative effect when these cells are "killed" and dried. Fleischmann's Yeast is in no sense a purgative and does not produce immediate violent action. It is a nourishing food—not a digestion-disturbing medicine—and like any other food, it must be eaten regularly to secure results. Eat at least 2 or 3 cakes a day—plain, or dissolved in water, milk, or fruit juices—preferably half an hour before a meal, or the last thing at night. Get several cakes at a time—they will keep in a cool, dry place for several days. Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast. All grocers have it. Send for free booklet, "The New Found Value of Fleischmann's Yeast in Building Health." The Fleischmann Company, 208 Simcoe St., Toronto.

morality with which the opening pages of the First Folio seem acknowledged in plain language Shakespeare's personal association with Stratford-upon-Avon. It is in the elegant tribute of affectionate appreciation which Ben Jonson offered there at his friend's shrine that the poet is addressed for the first time as "Sweet Swan of Avon," mother of the disciplines of the dead master, Leonard Digges, writes of "thy Stratford monument." The dramatist's tomb is declared to be less likely to resist time's ravages than his collected works in folio. Scarcely was the First Folio published than a visitor to Stratford-upon-Avon recorded that the town "was most remarkable for the birth of famous William Shakespeare." Since that remote time pilgrims have come to the place in ever-increasing numbers, conscious of that townman's eminence, of which the First Folio gave first and final proof. Reason and sentiment are at one in seeking to guarantee the permanence of the theatre of his native place. That "virtuous fabric" has already striven to the place in ever-increasing numbers, conscious of that townman's eminence, of which the First Folio gave first and final proof.

And the chances are it will all come out right in the end.—C. Forbes, in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.) The regular monthly meeting of the members of the St. John Transportation Association was held last evening in the Board of Trade rooms in Prince William street with W. N. Collins, the president, in the chair. The meeting was attended by about fifty members of the association and several important matters of business were discussed. It was decided last evening that at the next meeting fifteen minute talks would be given by a railwayman, a steamshipman, an expressman, and a commercial man concerning their particular lines of work.

Bilious Attacks Are Usually Due to Constipation When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication. Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine of laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today. Nujol A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Mascart Wins Bout.
Paris, April 25—The French bantamweight Mascart last night technically knocked out Billy Matthews in the 16th round of what was to have been a 20-round bout.

Willard is Trying.
New York Times.
Jess Willard has accomplished the first step in his campaign to a return of favor as a factor in heavyweight boxing. He has discarded nineteen pounds of the superfluous flesh which accumulated in his four years of idleness. This is important, for it reflects the determination of the former heavyweight champion to re-establish himself as far as he is physically possible. At the same time it introduces a side of Willard which is totally foreign to the Willard to whom boxing followers have become accustomed. Six weeks of the intensive exercising Willard must have undergone in reducing his weight from 260 pounds to 241 pounds indicate a faithfulness in the trying ordeal of training which compels even Willard's most enthusiastic enemies to express admiration, when it is remembered how as champion Willard entertained a feeling akin to dread of training.

But, while it is important and helpful, and at the same time particularly encouraging both to Willard and his followers, this reduction in weight is by no means the greatest task in Willard's drive for the place he once occupied in pugilism. Four years of idleness and easy living are not good training for an athlete. With a man like Willard, an abnormal individual in physical measurements, the effects present a barrier which will be difficult to hurdle. Specifically, Willard's chief concern will be the condition of his wind and the volume of his endurance. Willard now is directing his efforts toward a meeting with Floyd Johnson on May 12. This bout, a fifteen-round affair, will be nothing more than a stepping stone to the real Willard objective, in the event the former champion wins. Willard wants another bout with Dempsey. He believes a victory over Johnson would establish his right to this match. Whether it will remain to be seen. Boxing critics who watched the good-natured Kansas in training at Yonkers last Saturday were unanimous that he would give Johnson a worthy battle. They were even divided on the subject of a winner. Some declared Willard would vanquish Johnson. Others expressed the opinion that Willard never can "come back" but on one subject the critics were unanimous. This is the prospect of another Dempsey-Willard bout. The critics agreed that Willard would be even an easier victim for the Dempsey punch of 1923 than he was in 1919.

All Obstacles Removed.
The New York State Athletic Commission has granted a license to Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the United States, to meet Eugene Criqui of France, European champion, to meet at the Polo Grounds on June 2 for the world's championship, thus removing obstacles which had prevented the bout being staged.

For Hilton's Fund.
At a meeting of the Citizens' Committee Monday evening arrangements were furthered for sending Hilton Bell to the English Broom to compete in the diamond seals which are to be held during the first week in July. Business in connection with the big fair to be held in the Carleton Curling Club rink next month was taken up and from reports presented it should prove one of the most successful ever held in these parts.

A handsome shield has been donated by G. P. Bolton of Sussex, for annual competition among the schools in Kings County at track meets to be held at various places. The first meet will be on June 4 in Sussex, it is expected. The events to count will include the following: 100 yd. dash, 220 yd. dash; 440 yd. dash; running high jump and broad jump; sabbal and obstacle race.

School Shield for Kings.
A handsome shield has been donated by G. P. Bolton of Sussex, for annual competition among the schools in Kings County at track meets to be held at various places. The first meet will be on June 4 in Sussex, it is expected. The events to count will include the following: 100 yd. dash, 220 yd. dash; 440 yd. dash; running high jump and broad jump; sabbal and obstacle race.

Eastport made the highest total pin fall for the day with 1,461, which was considered an exceptionally good score. Casey of the Cairns quintette hung up the best individual average with 109.1, while Saunders of St. Stephen with 135 had the highest individual string. The Imperial Alley team with 525 had the highest team single string. The scoring was best brought out in the opening day of any tournament ever held in this city.

One of the most exciting games played was that between Black's and Halifax. The first string went to Black's by one pin, but in the second the champions went out in front with a margin of fifty-six pins. Down through the third string the Halifax boys began to creep up and slowly but surely cut down the lead until the last frame when it was announced that they had won by a margin of two pins. Later in the afternoon when the scores were being checked up an error was discovered showing that Black's should have been credited with a total of 1,424 instead of 1,424. From the time the tournament started until the concluding game last evening a crowd remained in the alley and great enthusiasm prevailed at all times. The majority of the visiting players are young and full of "zip" and all seem eager to capture the trophy. The Eastport boys are out to beat "Mr. Sims" for they brought with them an old horse shoe and when the breaks were coming tough they would grasp the charm and suspend it about their necks.

The scores during the afternoon and evening were as follows:

A WORD FROM MR. STILLMAN

Brought here by Mr. Selig to conduct this great money-saving event. I'm going to show you people what real "Price Wrecking" is when it really has to be done. I am here to sell the goods and sell them I will! Nothing can stop me. I've forced prices down so low that you'll be sorry when the sale is over. Mr. Selig will back up everything I do and say here. I'll forget all costs and ignore profits in my "grim" determination to make this sale the "talk of the town" for months to come. You'll remember me for bargains. "Watch my smoke."

MR. STILLMAN.
