MAY BATTLE ON PLAINS OF TROY

Turks Are Entrenching On Historic Ground

CONDITIONS VERY SEVERE

Camping Without Tents in Winter—Hope for Peace Improves With Action by Roumania—Turkey Not Anxious to go On

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 22.—The Daily Mail intimates the probability that one of the next scenes of conflict between the Turks and the allies will be the immortal plains of Troy. The Turks already are entrenching there to resist any expected Greek advance from Beleskay. Twelve thousand troops from Gallipoli have crossed to the Asiatic side, making the defense force there now 15,000. They are bivouacking without tents on snow covered grounds, while biting winds are blowing and they are suffering severely.

In this respect they were not much better off at Gallipoli, where, according to Francis MacCallagh, the correspondent of the Daily News and Leader, cholera, striking many victims among the troops in consequence of the disgraceful failure of the commissary department to shelter and clothe them.

The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a rumor that a fierce battle is on near Bulair. The Turks took the offensive, to which they will have been provoked through lack of food and shelter. The bright outlook for peace is further figured from the definite decision of the Roumanian cabinet to accept the mediation of the powers and the further statement by Bulgaria is willing to agree to this.

The commissioner of the Daily Telegraph says that, although Roumania is willing to accept mediation, she would refuse to accept arbitration because the odds against her obtaining Silistria would then be enormous while mediation may include Bulgaria to rule the territory.

Turkey Wants Peace and Friendship

London, Feb. 22.—Haki Haaha, Turkish grand vizier, in an interview here said he had no official mission to perform in London as a peace delegate but that he had been sent here unofficially because he would be able to do things impossible if done in an official capacity.

"Peace as a result of direct negotiations" is the belief of the grand vizier, who said he is ready to see our business in the hands of the conference of ambassadors. We have interest in continuing the war as the treaty lost cannot be recovered. We want to conclude a peace that will permit us to be friends with our present enemies.

Mexico is a country cursed by the unpopularity of its population. The picture the artist has suggested is unpleasing. The Spanish Mexican is pictured raising the question of throwing off his national afflictions. The beautiful parks and buildings, and fighting people were a strange contradiction that puzzle the Anglo-Saxon.

BABY PARTIES SOCIETY FREAK

Women in Short Frocks and Men Dressed as Babies at London Function

New York, Feb. 22.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: The freak party craze has reached London. "New York itself never devised anything stranger than the "baby party" held in the residence of Edward Storer at Baywater last night. A score of artistic and literary friends assembled in a room labelled "the nursery," which was filled with toys, rocking horses, dolls, teddy bears, pop-guns, rattles and other playthings. On the walls were placed child-like pictures and printed nursery rhymes. All the men and women, some of their middle aged, were dressed as babies, and wore their hair in the fashion of very short socks. The men were attired in "pompaloo suits," short jerseys and "baby caps," and the women very short frocks and pinafores.

The amusements were varied. Some of the "babies" looked at picture books, as they sat at stools by the fire, while others prattled to each other of dolls or golly wogs. One "infant," not more than thirty years old, busily engaged herself with a feeding bottle.

CHIEFS DECLINE TO BOW

Huerta Not Chief of Some of the Government—Already There is Work by Armed Men—Diaz Coming Home

(Canadian Press)

Mexico City, Feb. 22.—Acceptance of the new administration in Mexico is not so general as was at first thought. To the states of Coahuila, Sonora and Yucatan, now the federal capital and the port of Vera Cruz, also conditions are very uncertain. Bodies of federal troops have been sent to Jalapa and Orizaba in the state of Vera Cruz to maintain the balance of power.

The Indians in Oaxaca have gone on the war path from personal motives. Felix Diaz is a native of that state, and the Indians declare that since he has not been made president and if it is necessary to appoint a provisional president, they demand Hernandez, another native of Oaxaca, who has a distinguished army career. In no case will the Indians will they recognize Huerta.

In the state of Vera Cruz a small group of sympathizers with Huerta stopped a train on which he was believed to be going from the federal capital to the coast. The train was stopped at the station of Roberto Velasco, in Vera Cruz city which had been taken over by the federal troops. A force of federal troops was also sent off post haste and disarmed the men commanded by Velasco.

No Degree For Undergraduate Unless Competent in Military Matters—British Admiral To Command the Australian Fleet

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 22.—A remarkable proposal has been launched by twelve eminent professors of Cambridge University, with the view of promoting military training. The question of national defence is being increasingly agitated here every day.

The Cambridge professors now suggest that no undergraduate shall be granted a degree until he has at least attained efficiency as a member of the officers' training corps or territorial force. Sixty-three members of the university staff, which is the governing body, approved of the proposal, and will soon confer with and try to procure the co-operation of Oxford, which institution if Cambridge adopts it, is expected to follow suit.

The promoters urge that the scheme may be extended to the civil service and the municipal railway employment by making promotion dependent upon military efficiency. A long explanatory memorandum accompanies the proposal.

FOUND WOMAN HANGING AT BEDROOM DOOR

Note Indicated Suicide Because of Illness - Husband and Three Children

Boston, Feb 21-Alarmed by the story that a bed man was hanging his name, Joseph Grainger, a milk striker, who was delivering milk in Wallace street, West Somerville, accompanied the boy who had made the statement to a house at 88 Wallace street and found the body of Mrs. Emma E. Barrett, thirty-six years old, wife of William H. Barrett, hanging to the upper hinge of a bedroom door opening from the front hallway.

One end of a cord had been tied about her neck and the other to the door knob. Grainger ran upstairs and notified Fred G. Gleason, who lives in the upper tenement. The two cut the body down and laid it on a bed.

Fearing that the woman's death might have been caused by violence, they notified Patrolmen Lynch and Dewar. The patrolmen summoned Dr. Harold B. Ayres.

An investigation brought to light a note lying on a dresser in the bedroom which the woman had written indicating suicide because of illness.

Mr. Barrett, who is employed as the driver of a local express company, was notified. He said that his wife had been in poor health for some time. Only last September she came out of the Inman Hospital in Augusta Me.

She sent her three small children, Warren, six years old; William, five, Louise, three, to the store with money telling them to buy candy and amuse themselves. It is thought that immediately after they left the house she began preparations for the suicide act.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett had lived in Somerville for the last eight years. Before her marriage she was a trained nurse and had graduated from the Malden Hospital. She was thirty-five years old and was born in Pawtucket.

Little Beauty Chats

Pallid Lips and What To Do For Them

THE scarlet lips yours? If not, you must contrive some way to make them sport the colors of the red, rose, as Dame Fashion has a great predilection for flaming lips, in which matter she shows good taste as red lips are much to be admired.

If you covet this beauty and have it not, invest in a bottle of spirits of camphor and use it daily on your pale lips. By exciting the blood vessels in the lips, camphor, whether in liquid form or made up into a dainty ice, promotes a better color. A hint as to the use is sufficient.

As spirits of camphor is not quite so convenient to use as camphorated ice, I am printing for your special benefit a camphor ice recipe which is as old as the hills-almost.

Old Time Camphor Ice. White wax . . . . . 2 drachms Lard . . . . . 2 drachms

Almond oil . . . . . 2 drachms Spermace . . . . . 1 1/2 drachms Camphor . . . . . 1 1/2 drachms

This ice is made by melting the wax, fat and oil in a double boiler and then adding the camphor. Mixture should be beaten steadily, until it firms, with a fork or one of the patent egg beaters, when it may be formed into small cakes or balls, whichever you prefer.

This camphor ointment serves a triple purpose, it not only relieves the lips to bluish redness as the world but prevents infection and "chaps." One could hardly ask more of the preparation.

MARRIAGE CEREMONY IN DIFFERENT COUNTRIES

In Morocco the wooing never precedes marriage-it follows. Often the wife does not see the husband until after she has been married.

For three nights after the marriage the Chinese bride, veiled, must stay awake and listen to the banterings of the groom. Squeezed is the word, for in Moorish countries brides are fattened for their marriage just as pigs are fattened for market.

When the bride has been pushed into this tight box she is carried mourning through the streets to her new home, where she meets her husband for the first time. After that comes the reception and the congratulations of friends.

Would you like it if you could talk to no one for three days? Yet that is the fate of the Chinese girl who is married.

News of Woodstock Woodstock, N. B., Feb. 21-Potatoes today dropped to seventy cents a barrel. Farmers have been rushing them in and it is feared they will go still lower.

In Hamilton in spite of the strike on the Niagara and Aroostook, and the great difficulty in handling, at no time has the price been lower than $110 a barrel, while at other points in Aroostook the prices are higher.

There are rumors of a deal in which the two big opera houses in town may be put under one management. Negotiations will pay the bill.

The Purpose Behind Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is made for the purpose of supplying an absolutely pure stimulant of uniform quality and strength, for the use of the physician in the treatment of disease and for hospital and household purposes.

It is made to meet the demand for a high-grade tonic stimulant free from the injurious by-products contained in beverage whiskeys and suitable for the use of the delicate, those who are not entirely well and the aged who require a tonic stimulant to help maintain good health and strong faculties during advancing years.

Carrying out the purpose requires methods of manufacture which considerably increase the cost of making ordinary beverage whiskeys. But in doing this we secure a true medicinal whiskey-in fact, the one true medicinal whiskey made.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is subjected to a process which removes the fuel oil and other dangerous substances and prepares it for the finished product, which comes from aging in wood.

The result is a tonic and stimulant unequalled for renewing the natural health, activities of the stomach and digestive organs, preventing waste of tissues in which the distillations and refinings to which aged, strengthening the whole body and brightening the faculties. There are many limitations claimed to be just as good for the "Old Game" as well. Write to the doctors for free medical advice and a full illustrated booklet.

Sold in sealed bottles only by druggists, dealers and hotels. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

With a sudden fall of the temperature persons run a great risk of catching cold. There is one simple way of avoiding cold—keep your mouth shut while out of doors. The man or woman who comes out of an overheated room, especially late at night, and breathes through the mouth, will either catch a bad cold or irritate the lungs sufficiently to cause a bronchitis and pneumonia. Colds are often the result of people talking freely while out of doors just after leaving a room full of hot air, and breathing people who discuss and laugh over the play on their way home are inviting disease.

AN ENOCH ARDEN CASE

Young Wife, Thinking Husband Dead, Marries Again — First One Comes Home

Pittsburg, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Hilda Connor, who was arrested upon the charge of bigamy, told a rather remarkable story to Judge Gallagher as to how she happened to marry Henry Connor, her present husband, while her first husband, Frank J. Smith, was living.

She said that she was married on July 13, 1911 in Burlington, Vt., to Smith and that after living with him two weeks she deserted her. After a time she learned that her husband had enlisted in the army and when she found that he did not provide for her support she began divorce proceedings against him upon the grounds of non support.

While the case was pending in the superior court, she said that she received an anonymous letter from Florida, signed by a man, who said that he was a friend of her husband's and who said that Frank J. Smith while attempting to escape from the army barracks at Florida was drowned while crossing a stream. Upon the receipt of this letter she said that she saw her attorney, who had the divorce case in hand and told him that her first husband was dead and that there would be no necessity of proceedings further in the court to get a divorce.

Being without a home and having no means of support, she said that she met her present husband, Henry Connor, and later married him. The second marriage was performed by City Clerk Davidson on August 30, 1912. She said that she has since lived with him and that her life has been a happy one. Last Friday night, while walking on Main street with her husband, she said she was surprised to meet her first husband, whom she thought dead. Mrs. Connor said that she acquainted him with the fact that she was married again, because she thought he had died.

The first husband she said called at her home a few days ago and asked for their child, but she refused to give it to him. Later she said that he called to tell her that he did not want her any more because he could not support it. Mrs. Connor wept copiously as she told her story.

She said that it was a mistake and that she would have never married the second time if she had known her first husband was alive.

Mrs. T. L. Walsh, who was her counsel in the divorce proceedings, told the court she was clear and was still pending in the courts and he corroborated the story in part as told by her about receiving the anonymous letter. He suggested that the case be continued so that steps could be taken to have the second marriage annulled and then allow her to proceed in her divorce petition for separation from her first husband, which would allow her to marry Connor again if she so desired.

The court accepted the suggestion and continued the case for one year after a finding of guilty in the case.

She was held in the sum of $500 for her appearance at the time she was reinstated that the complaint will be filed, provided that the marriage is annulled.

The court instructed the jury to start from her present husband and not to be in his company until the courts had annulled the first marriage and the court gave her a verdict of acquittal.

Neither one of her two husbands cared to prosecute her.

Mrs. Connor gave her age as nineteen years.

COMMISSION TO CONTROL NEW WESTMINSTER HARBOR Bill Has Passed Commons and Been Sent to the Senate

New Westminster, Feb. 22.—New Westminster's harbor commission bill has passed the house of commons and has gone up to the senate awaiting the final vote of the Fraser river as a great national port. This bill appoints a commission of three and the dominion government nominates two and the city of New Westminster one member to control the harbor works on the lower reaches of the Fraser river extending from the east end of Douglas Island just above the junction of the Pitt and Fraser rivers to the sea.

The commission will report on New Westminster city's plans for a great fresh water harbor to the dominion government which is expected to either make a direct grant to the commission or guarantee loans for carrying out the work.

The river is rapidly becoming an important lumber port as proved by the shipping anticipated by the mills on the river's banks this year. At least thirty million feet of lumber, it is expected, will be shipped to Australia and South Africa. The first cargo of 1,500,000 feet left about a week ago on the barkentine Alta while the American schooner Aloha of San Francisco is expected to arrive next month to ship a cargo of lumber also for Sydney, New South Wales.

Two square riggers are also expected up the river this spring and several other charters are being negotiated by the Fraser river mills. The steamer Strath of the Strath line will arrive in a few weeks at Port Mann with rails from Cape Breton for the C. N. R. After discharging this cargo the steamer will move across the river to the Fraser mills to load lumber.

Interest to Archaeologists London, Feb. 22.—Julian Grenie, a traveler just returned from Egypt, Arabia and Palestine, says he entered a shrine which is reported to be the tomb of Amnon on the top of Mount Hor, and photographed the interior, although he was covered by a rifle in the hands of an Arab fanatic.

The shrine is guarded by Mohammedans and has never been examined by a competent archeologist. Grenie says he saw Arabic inscriptions. If this is so, it is presumed that they are ancient and very important, as no Jews have been allowed to approach the shrine for ages.

The Cake Cost $2,500 New York, Feb. 22.—The 250-pound wedding cake designed and created for the wedding breakfast of Vivian Gould, who married Lord Devis on Feb. 7, 1911, and paid for this week by George Gould, who sent a check for $2,500 to Miss Carrie Rosenheim, administratrix of the estate of Mrs. Helen Brown, the designer of the cake, who asked $3,000 for her services.

There was a dispute over the size of the bill, and before it could be settled Mrs. Brown died.

The shocking story that comes from Harrisburg, Pa., that seven children, the oldest only twelve years, had been burned to death while their parents were absent from home, ought to arouse parents generally to a deeper sense of their duty to their children.

The St. John friends have great interest in a statement that Rev. W. A. Cameron, who receives $3,000 per year from a Toronto church, and has an assistant and a lady worker, has rejected an offer of $12,000 from a New York church.

TRIBUTES TO H. L. SPENCER

A lady formerly a resident of St. John writes from another city to Mrs. E. A. Smith, president of the Women's Canadian Club, and says: "It is with great pleasure I have just read that the Women's Canadian Club of St. John are arranging a benefit evening for our dear old poet, H. L. Spencer. If everyone who has derived pleasure from his beautiful sonnets will give ever so slight an expression thereto, by the way, I think it would be abundantly gratified and comforted in his declining years. I have before me a few of his sonnets which bring to remembrance the old days. This lady refers pleasantly to a little circle of literary men of whom Mr. Spencer was one, who often met in pursuit of their literary tastes, and who contributed articles both amusing and edifying to the press of that day.

There is every reason to believe that the benefit entertainment to be given by the Women's Canadian Club next Thursday evening in the Opera House, as a tribute to H. L. Spencer will be one of the most complete literary, musical, and artistic successes of recent years. But that which most highly pleased the poet, was his laboring for this success is the universal support they are receiving from the citizens. On general appreciation of his work, and sympathy in the loneliness of his declining years, must gladden the heart of the venerable poet, and it is to be hoped, who have the affair of next Thursday evening in hand. In addition to Mrs. E. Altherton Smith's lecture on Longfellow which is one of her finest efforts, there will be a rare musical programme in which Mrs. L. M. Curran, Mrs. A. Pierce Crockett, Mrs. Darden, Mrs. Gerow, Miss Brenda Thompson, Miss Frances Travers, Miss Louise Knight, and Miss Pauline Biederman will take part. An efficient committee is preparing a fine series of Longfellow tableaux for the close of the entertainment. The sale of tickets has already been large. Tickets are on sale at E. G. Nelson's and Gray and Ritchie's bookstores.

BORDEN AGAIN CHALLENGED

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—The naval debate was continued in the house this afternoon. Hon. Mr. Crothers defended the construction of three Dreadnoughts, maintaining that they did not constitute tribute. He charged that the Liberal policy had been twice rejected by the country and he sneered at the Liberal demand for the general election to be called on the issue. He was challenged on that point by Hon. Mr. MacLean of Halifax, Mr. McMillan of Glasgow, and Hon. Mr. Graham. Hon. A. K. MacLean in a thoughtful but forceful speech reviewed the whole naval question setting forth the Liberal stand and riddling the government policy. Mr. MacLean challenged the government to carry out its pre-election promise to the Nationalists, to repeal the existing naval service act. They dare not do it. As far as they dare go was to leave the training officer Niobe tied up in Halifax harbor instead of going out on cruises with a full complement of enlisted Canadians in training for the Canadian navy. The Niobe is tied up to a wharf and that is the price Canada is paying for the alliance of the Conservatives and the Nationalists. He charged the government with cowardice in their administration of the Canadian naval service act. R. G. Miller, president of state, was annoyed yesterday from the parliament building and lodged in the Carleton County jail. He was given comfortable quarters and will order his meals from outside. Meanwhile his counsel is looking up the law with the intention of applying for a writ of habeas corpus to secure his release.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Lord Haldane is to address the American Bar Association in Montreal about September 14. Ye Ho Na Ja, Empress Dowager of China, died yesterday. She was the widow of Emperor Kwangsu, who died on November 15, 1908. She had been ill only a few days. The S. S. Batiscan from Antwerp to Halifax arrived at the latter port yesterday. She left Antwerp with a cargo of coal and was delayed so much by rough weather that the cargo was used at sea and the crew had to chop away some of the woodwork of the vessel to keep the three going. Albany, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Dr. John W. Russell, superintendent of the Mattewan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, testified today before Governor Sulzer's committee of inquiry, that he had been offered $20,000 if he would release Harry K. Thaw. The offer, he said, was made during the latter part of 1912 by a lawyer, whose name he could not remember, in an "uptown hotel" in New York city, and was refused.

J. H. Hare, Appointed to Investigate the Canadian Egg Trade

During the last year the live stock branch of the department of agriculture has been engaged in a preliminary investigation of the Canadian egg trade. Certain facts relating to the enormous loss that is charged back against the farmer and the unsatisfactory status of the trade as a whole have been collected and presented in Bulletin No. 16, entitled "The Care of Market Eggs." Having, however, the necessity of securing more detailed information before inaugurating any policy having for its object the bringing about of improvement in the condition of the business, the minister of agriculture has authorized the appointment of J. H. Hare, B. S. A., of Whigby, to undertake the necessary investigation. Mr. Hare has held the position of district representative in Ontario County, Ont., and received his early training on the farm. He entered the Ontario Agriculture College in 1904 and graduated in 1908. Since taking up the district representative work in Ontario county he has devoted much time and has been very successful in the organization of co-operative egg circles. Not only has he paid particular attention to conditions of the egg trade as they exist in the rural districts, but he has also made a close study of poultry business in general and has written numerous articles, among which is a bulletin now in press. By virtue of his technical training and his practical experience Mr. Hare is, therefore, well qualified as a specialist in poultry work. Mr. Hare will first be concerned with the collection of all data that is available on the grading of eggs as they have been received at wholesale produce houses of Canada during the past two years. The information thus obtained will be used to form a basis for such action as may be taken by the government in initiating a movement to improve and properly regulate the trade. Mr. Hare will be located in Ottawa, but will travel extensively throughout the Dominion, first in the east and later in the west.

His many friends will wish him success in his new undertaking.

RIGHT THIS TIME.

Little Willie, who regularly attended church with his father, always took particular notice of the board where the numbers of the hymns to be sung are placed. He evidently thought that the fourth number on the hymn-board should be the total of the other three numbers; but he never had found it so. But on going to church on Sunday morning his eye alighted on the board, and there saw the hymns to be sung were numbers 17, 3, and 22, which, of course, added together, made a total of 42, which on this particular day happened to be the fourth and bottom number on the board. The little chap couldn't let this go, and blurted out in church—"I say, dad, they've added it up right this time!" The foods used for feeding the poultry should be varied in accordance with the time of year, since some are suitable for cold and others for warm weather; some, too, that are admirable for winter are not only unsuitable during the summer, but are positively dangerous.

Pennsylvania is great in its mineral resources, its manufacturing establishments, and in its agricultural interests.

HIS REPLY.

A tramp rapped at the door the other day and asked the woman if she could spare him a piece of bread. "No, I can't," replied the woman; "and if you knew who I was you wouldn't come here." "Oh, and who are you?" asked the tramp. "I am a policeman's wife, and if he were here he would take you." "Well," replied the tramp, "if he'd take you he'd take anybody."

Lotteries are believed to have originated in Florence as early as 1530, and were legalized in France nine years later.

MRS. NELSON ARNOLD OF SUSSEX DIED TODAY

Had Reached Age of 85—Six Sons and One Daughter Survive

The death of Mrs. Anna Maria Arnold, widow of Nelson Arnold, occurred this morning at her home in Sussex. Mrs. Arnold was eighty-five years of age, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the community. Previous to her marriage she was Miss Smith, and came from her birthplace in London, Eng., to this province at an early age, with her parents. Quiet and unassuming in her manner, she was a woman of fine character and was respected and esteemed by all who knew her.

She is survived by five sons and one daughter, Percy, of Los Angeles; Fenwick W. of Toronto; Herbert E., of Wolfville, N. S.; Chas. M., of Moncton; A. Edward, of Sussex; and Mr. T. C. Brown, at home. The funeral will be held from her late residence to Trinity church where services will be held at two o'clock on Tuesday. Rev. Canon Neale officiating. The interment will be at Sussex Corner, beside the grave of her husband.

BUILDING WORK TO BE COMMENCED SOON

New Germain Street Sunday School Plan is Unique

The work of constructing the new Sunday school to be built as an attachment to Germain street Baptist church, will be proceeded with very soon. The building of the building committee last evening the preliminary plans presented by an eminent New York church architect, G. W. Kramer, were approved, and they will be given to a local architect to put into workable shape and call for tenders. The new building will be two stories, of brick, and will be unique in Sunday school circles in that it will probably be the only one in the maritime provinces, if not in Canada, to have practical provision made for the graded system of teaching, that is the execution of the departmental ideas in six departments which can be merged into one if necessary.

This is in harmony with the public school teaching system, and will permit of the classes being taught each in its own class, specially officered and manned. The building will have a frontage of sixty-six feet, and will be about sixty-five feet in depth, and when finished will be an important addition to the present structure.

MILITARY COURT HERE PROBES LOSS OF SADDLES AND GREY COATS

Major Campbell of the Halifax R. C. R., assisted by Major Anderson, C. O. C., and Major McDowen of the Artillery, has been conducting a court of inquiry here regarding a quantity of goods belonging to D Squadron, 28th New Brunswick Dragoons, which were either lost or stolen while in transport from Sussex to St. John. The squadron trained at Sussex and when camp was over and the stores were being transported to St. John it was found that several hundred dollars worth of stores were missing.

The missing goods included about five military saddles which are valued at more than $80 each, and several military overcoats. Local men gave evidence. Major Campbell will submit his findings to the military headquarters at Ottawa.

C.P.R. SHOPS HERE ARE SAID STILL TO BE POSSIBILITY

It has been intimated by a prominent C. P. R. official that the action of the C. P. R. in calling for tenders for a new concrete machine-shop at McAdams does not necessarily indicate that the company is not contemplating transferring their shops to St. John. Even if this were done it would still be necessary to maintain a machine shop at McAdams for repair work and this would not interfere with the larger project in or around St. John. While there is no indication that the company intends to undertake the change in the near future it is believed that arrangements which they have made have been undertaken with this in view.

IT WILL BE N. B. AND MAINE LEAGUE

Definite Baseball Announcement Next Week—Good News For the Fans

It was learned from a reliable source this morning that matters in regard to the local baseball situation for next season were taking shape and that within the next few days a definite announcement would be made to the fans. It is altogether probable that the New Brunswick and Maine League will be formed again, not to be composed just the same as last season, but better. The teams to probably compose the league this season will be St. John, Fredericton, one team from St. Stephen and Calais, either Bangor or Lewiston, or perhaps both, and possibly the Woodstock team. A league composed of such teams would be a big drawing card, and would stimulate much more interest than was shown last year.

However, the plans have not yet been made known, and no definite statement has been made as yet. It is practically an assured fact, however, that the league will be formed along the lines here given.

MCLAN WIRES HE WILL COME HERE FOR MARITIME MEET

He is Chicago Flyer on the Steel Blades—Championships Next Meet

The executive of the Victoria Skating Association received word this morning from Robert McLean, world's champion speed skater, of Chicago, that he would come to St. John next week to take part in the maritime championship races. Among the other entries received is that of Fred Logan, former world's champion, who has been in retirement for some time. Logan announced his intention of coming back this season, and he is now training. It is said to be likely that he will state a match race with McLean.

Other local skaters who may compete are Hilton Belter, Emer Ingraham, Garnett, Coleman, Trask, Gorman and Northrup. The events will be the 200, 400, 800, mile and other distances. It is expected that entries from outside points will be received, including Whitehorn and Duffy of Halifax, the latter formerly of St. John. The Canadian Skating Association are to donate a medal to the skater winning the most points in the meet.

DAY AND NIGHT WORK ON FOUNDATIONS OF THE SUGAR REFINERY

Twenty-four Hours a Day as Soon as Lighting Plant is Ready—Power Apparatus Next Week

Excellent progress is being made on the work of excavating for the foundations of the new sugar refinery and the first of the work is well advanced. At present the workmen are digging for the foundations, which will be made to go to a depth of twenty-five to thirty feet. Most of the openings have been excavated to the depth of eight feet, and as far as can be reached by hand methods. Power apparatus for the deeper work has been brought in and will be ready for work on Monday and this will enable the company to proceed with the balance of the excavation.

So far only day shifts have been employed, but as soon as the lighting system which is being installed is ready the work will be kept going twenty-four hours a day. Owing to the immense size of the buildings the foundation work is a big undertaking in itself and will take at least two or three months.

LAUNCH DREDGE IN FEW WEEKS

New Suction Digger of Local Construction
 IS NOW AT HILYA'S
 North End Young Folks Take Advantage of the Fine Moonlight Nights and Sleight—Death of Dennis O'Neill

Within the next few weeks an interesting event will take place in North End, the scene being Hilyard's blocks from which will be launched a large suction dredge which is now nearing completion, and which will be one of the most modernly equipped and constructed in the eastern waters. All during the winter the work has been going on. The hull was built by James Fleming, and the woodwork, painting, etc., was attended to by F. S. Heenan. A large crew of men have been employed in the work and it is so well advanced now that it is expected that within four or six weeks the dredge will be launched under Mr. Heenan's direction.

The dredge is to be a large one, measuring 110 x 30 feet. It is a suction dredge and in Fleming's foundry there are now about ready thirty pontoons which are to be used in connection with the craft. These are each thirty feet in length, two feet in depth and ten feet in width, and are attached to each other and to the dredge by heavy rubber couplings, thus enabling them to be brought up all together along the dredge is ready for launching and will be required for thirty to float. When it is considered necessary they can be placed for convenience or for work into separate knots, or they can be wriggled together in zig-zag manner, not unlike a large snake or box in appearance. These pontoons can be drawn in or extended outwards according as it is desired to work them, provision being made for their suction.

There is one way in which they are of particular convenience. They can be floated easily close to shore in shallow water and in this way do effective work in the suction of the deposited matter there. They are quite an innovation in this vicinity and there is curiosity expressed as to how they will be used. The operations with the dredge is ready for launching and will be placed in the harbor about the same time.

YOUNG MAN AND WOMAN FOUND DEAD; MURDER AND SUICIDE

Methuen, Mass., Feb. 22—The police were notified of the discovery of two bodies in a field off Jackson street extension, about two miles from the village proper. Chief Bunting and Patrolman Nimmo went to the scene together with Medical Examiner Dow, of Lawrence, under whose orders the bodies were taken to a Lawrence morgue for examination.

One was that of a young woman, while the other was that of a young man, each under 30 years of age, apparently.

Upon last examination, Medical Examiner Dow decided that it was a case of murder and suicide, the young man having apparently shot the woman and then himself. The revolver was found beside the man. Clutched in the man's right hand was a .22-calibre revolver, with two cartridges emptied.

"Those we are most often asked to put in," said a beauty specialist, the other day, "are just at the corners of the mouth that come into play when one smiles. It is quite a simple operation, consisting of a few places in the skin in the required spots. It is then bound up and dressed every day for a fortnight, after which the dimple is complete. It usually costs about $80. You see it has to be done by a skilful hand, as any careless needle would result in an ugly scar, and the dimple would be conspicuous by its absence. These signs mean anaemia—that is bloodlessness.

FIGHT AGAINST DANCE HALL EVIL The Woman Chief of the Cleveland Police LITTLE WOMAN WINS

Went Herself to the Places as One of the Revelers, Learned About Them and Then Worked the Reform

If you go to Cleveland, ask to meet Chief Chadey and the police staff over whom she rules. If you go early enough, you will see twenty-eight uniformed and immaculate men lined up in front of a diminutive little lady of scarcely five feet, and then you will further observe these men salute with military precision in instant recognition of her orders and promptly march forth to execute them. It is rather unusual for a woman to be chief of a police force in a city the size of Cleveland, but Chief Chadey of Cleveland's sanitation board is one, and is furthermore said to be the only woman chief of a police force over whom she has entire control. The following is quoted from an article about her in Fictorial Review for March.

Quebec, who both married daughters of Hon. Judge Irvine, are staying in London. A. M. Nanton, of Winnipeg, is at the Hotel Park Hotel, and Mrs. Galt, of H. Dufferin, of Montreal, left London last week for Paris.

Housework Will Not Spoil Your Hands if you use "Vaseline" on them regularly. That is a simple little secret thousands of women who do their own housework have been glad to learn.

A little "Vaseline" rubbed into the hands night and morning prevents redness and roughness and keeps the skin smooth and soft and delicate.

Vaseline And the best thing you can find for cracked lips, wind-burn and all the other irritations of the skin that come with cold weather is VASELINE CAMPHOR ICE. Here is another little "tip" for the busy housewife. When your feet ache at the end of a long day, rub in "Vaseline." You hardly will believe the feeling of comfort it brings.

Certainly the youths who flitted about with her and who pronounced her a "swell skirt" and invited her to have beer or wine, to "goose" with them in dark hallways or to go to a picnic on the next Sunday never dreamed that under the puffs and ruffles of her dress she was trying to evolve a scheme by which the youths could still enjoy themselves and be protected from the evils that she saw on every side.

SPINNERS' TROUBLE MAY BE ADJUSTED

It has almost been accepted as a truism, he said, that the Sahara desert receives an amount of solar heat every day equivalent to that produced by 5,000,000,000 tons of coal; and in this vast region, with great quantities of produce available from the wonderful forest land nearer to the coast, and the country traversed by a network of railways, thoughtful scientists are saying that some economical method can be found to utilize this lost solar energy, there is no reason why the factories of the future, factories enormous in extent, with glass chambers instead of chimneys, and reflectors instead of furnaces, all designed to receive and transmit the daily gift of the sun's heat, should not be established there.

A Hit for The Poor Goffer

Golf as a popular game has brought with it a golfing complaint. It is called goffer's neuritis and the cure, as carried out at Guy's Hospital is hypnotism.

The experiment was first of its kind for a complaint which is also believed to be the first of its kind—looked place in a large hall at Guy's before an assembly of medical students and doctors. It was carried out by a well-known specialist, aided by an equally well-known hypnotist. The victim of the new complaint was an amateur golfer who, up to the time that he broke down, was a fine player.

For a long time his complaint puzzled the doctors. Instead of hitting the ball with his old force and accuracy, he found himself absolutely incapable of even swinging a golf club when the ball was in front of him.

Physically he was in perfect condition, and nerve specialists diagnosed that his absolute helplessness was due to over-concentration on the game, with the result that the nerves had struck work so far as golf was concerned. It was to coax them back to their job that a course of hypnotism was decided on. The experiment aroused much curiosity in the medical world.

The patient was put under hypnotic influence and simply told that he could hit a golf ball and could play the game, and that he was to go away and try. The result was seen later in the day, when the patient, who was quite cheerful, turned up at his golf club and, without the slightest difficulty or hesitation, drove a long and accurate ball from the first tee—the first that he had been capable of driving for some months.

The result was reported to the specialist in charge of the hypnotic experiment, who expressed himself thoroughly satisfied with the result.

A tragic crisis has been reached in China with regard to the traffic in opium. Heavy financial commitments, it is alleged, stand in the way of Great Britain's duty in this matter, and, unless the force of public opinion can be brought to bear on the government, one more disastrous chapter will have to be added to the history of a traffic which has brought moral ruin to China while enriching the coffers of the Indian government to the extent of $4,000,000,000.

Yielding to the pressure of the banks and the merchants interested, the government has decided that China, while retaining every nerve to suppress the cultivation and use of the drug in her own dominions, and even to the extent of putting to death those who violate her laws on the subject, is to be compelled to continue to buy the drug.

The "Republican Advocates of China," of January 14, contains the following article: "China is now on the horns of a dilemma in the opium crusade. Yielding to the request of those who deal largely in the pernicious drug, Great Britain is going to bring pressure upon China for alleged non-observance of the Opium Treaty, and will probably hold her responsible for the accumulation of large stocks of unused opium in Shanghai and Hong Kong, estimated to be worth about $60,000,000 in value. Whatever truth there might be in the alleged statement, surely the missionaries in China, who have always shown such anxiety for the moral and spiritual welfare of the Chinese people, will not fold their hands and keep quiet over the crisis. For the eradication of opium is a moral question, and if they do not assist substantially, and sincerely in the fight they fall in their duty towards humanity. We know they will say that they are prevented from interfering in politics, but they have always interfered in Chinese questions. Then why single out this one? Oh, where are the missionaries? Come to our rescue if they are really working for our good."

MORE ABOUT NEW FRENCH LIGHTING

The invention is expected to revolutionize the naval and military searchlight system, and its commercial use may be much more numerous even than these enumerated.

The Ex-President M. Fallieres, the retiring president of the republic, has been telling about his plans for the future. "I am going to resume the life I led formerly in Paris when I was president of the senate, and on my estate in the country. For a month at Easter and during the four months at the long vacation I shall be a simple vine grower. I am eager to be among my hands, not that I own a renowned vineyard, but I like my vineyard to be among the most carefully cultured in the whole country. I know quite well that an ex-president may recommend a political career, there is nothing to deter him; but all the legislative offices for my department are filled. Moreover, I am seventy-one, and there are younger men waiting for legislative positions. I have no other plans. Perhaps I shall travel a little. Our country is so beautiful that I have been several journeys to see it in the manner I desire."

A Paris Tragedy A tragedy of affection in which the man was sixty years old and the woman fifty-six was described in the Seine senate court. Jules Nozpep, a basket-seller, formed an attachment for Marguerite Hallin, a street hawker. At first she returned his affection, but afterwards left him. "I cannot live without her," the old man told his neighbors.

An attempt at reconciliation took place, but when Nozpep's advances were rejected he became furious, fired twice at the young man and killed her.

His advocate, Maitre Campinchi, pleaded to the jury: "The infatuation of autumn leaves more regrets because they must needs be the last. Have pity on old folks whose hearts are not yet ready to die!" The jury yielded to his plea and found that extenuating circumstances existed, and when the court imposed a sentence of ten years' imprisonment the juror signed a petition demanding a reduction to five years.

"Open the window, waiter, I am roasting," said a customer who had just dined at a restaurant. "But it isn't winter; it is frozen," protested a man who had just sat down.

The writer hastened. The proprietor settled the dispute at once. "They the customer who has not yet dined!" Some of the inhabitants of Marcinelle, a suburb of Charleroi, are about to leave the town because they believe it is infested by malignant "ghosts." The residence of the Van Zanzen family has been the principal target for "ghostly" attacks, which have resulted in the partial demolition of the building and the smashing of all the windows. M. van Zanzen endured mysterious showings of stones and other misdeeds for several days, without being able to discover the perpetrators. He then complained to the police.

Captain Vandermersch, chief of the gendarmes, with six men, went to the house to assist in the search for "ghosts." The gendarmes were stationed in various rooms, yet the strange attacks began immediately after luncheon, in accordance with the usual custom.

Showers of stones and pebbles rained against the windows, and the crash of broken glass sounded in all the rooms. Captain Vandermersch and his men were driven from one room to another by the heavy fall of debris, apparently flung from outside. They were unable to discover any persons in the vicinity, and although they entered climbed on the roof, there was no satisfactory explanation of the attacks.

The next afternoon the shower of stones continued from noon until 3.45 at two-minute intervals. M. van Zanzen and his family have left the house, which is now in a semi-ruined state, with shattered walls and gaping window frames. Police and soldiers are watching the house night and day.

CHRIS MATHEWSON'S NEW BALLPARKS—CROWD OF 913

STAR UMPIRE BAITERS AND THEIR CONVERSATIONS

By CHRIS MATHEWSON, of the New York Giants
(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

It has long been an invariable rule of McGraw that, after a pitcher has worked and won, he deserves one day of absolute rest during the long, hard drive of the championship race when he does not require every man on the bench each afternoon. This means the writer is given the luxurious privilege of remaining in his regular clothes, and that he can stay away from the ball park. But, strange as it may seem, the missing pitcher can generally be found in the grand stand.

It has been my good fortune to draw a few of these afternoons of leisure since I have been with the Giants, and I spend my time studying the crowd rather than the second baseman in the secondary interest to me, the spectators of the game, and, instead of being watched, I am watching.

The thing which has impressed me most frequently is the attitude of the fans toward the rows between players, managers and umpires. There is a universal desire to know what is going on in the grand stand to know what is being said, because the performance is necessarily a performance.

This opinion appears to prevail that the conversation is spicy, and that the reports are so well seasoned it would make a long banquet a banquet of himself, and so embarrass a Billingsgate fellow, if he were to hear in that way that he is watching.

The fans are usually wrong in their estimate as to the conversation. Modern day dialogue between the umpire and the players has improved with the progress of the game. But most of the regular kickers are great actors, and umpires are strict believers in the text that actors should never speak unless they are speaking to the umpire. If the umpire is to be shown up, therefore, an umpire must stand for more conversation. A few of the cardinal sins which mean instant expulsion are:

Throwing the glove into the air.
Tramping on an umpire's toes with the spikes, especially if the ball when called out on a third strike.
Tearing the hair after a decision as a disgraceful—of "Johnny" Evers' varieties.

Laying a hand on the umpire in argument.
Making any motion of disgust.

Evers Champion Baiter
Perhaps John Evers holds the first place among umpire baiters, while there are numerous runners up for the title. "Bill" Dahlen was good in his day, but he is getting back, while McGraw was no slouch. Griffith, Tinker, Brunsban, Devlin, Magee and Fred Clarke have had their places among the National League athletes. But umpire baiting as a sport, with home racing and bicycling is now on the decline in this country. It isn't what it was.

The days of the old rough-and-tumble are passed. "Tim" Evers is the highly-developed type of this sort, and he lived in vigorous days when the life insurance companies considered an arbiter a bad risk. "Tim" had a stormy career, for he carried off a number of times when umpire baiting was in its prime. They tell a funny story about "Tim" one of many which show how deeply his professional tactics were ingrained.

Hurst was never an umpire to dodge the spotlight, and in the old days, "Cap" Anson was out with a show called "The Runaway Colt." This was a regular day ago. In each town on the route, some would be impressed to appear a sliding celebrated citizen or baseball authority named "Archie" Latham, formerly the Giants' coach, had a reputation as a great base runner in those days, and he played in this sliding scene. When the show got to New York, they asked "Tim" Hurst to umpire. The stage was set for the big show, and Latham came coasting into the

Was Troubled With His Heart.
HAD TO GIVE UP WORK.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitations and throbs, skips beats, and sometimes seems to almost stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm. Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mr. Alfred Male, Elida, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my heart for two or three years. I thought sometimes that I would die. I went to the doctor, and he said he could not do anything for me. I had to give up work. My wife persuaded me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. The first box relieved me, and I kept on until I had taken seven boxes, and they cured me. I would not be without them on any account, as they are worth their weight in gold. I advise my friends and neighbors who are troubled with heart or nerve troubles to try them."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 80 cents a box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

JOHN EVERS, CHAMPION UMPIRE BAITER

and started to steal. The play I am told, was not very close, and Egan called Danahill out. Wolverton emitted a terrible roar, and protested so violently to Danahill that the umpire finally turned to him, after playing dead for a time, and said: "Now, Harry, go to the bench and get a nice drink of water and a chew of tobacco for yourself and then run along to the clubhouse, because you are through here for this afternoon."

Gets as Good as He Sends
Wolverton did as directed, but in his way from the bench to the clubhouse he passed Egan to indulge in some conversation. That was where he made his mistake. "I have a good mind," said Wolverton, "to come over and punch you right square in the nose."

"If you are as good a fighter as you are a manager, Harry," returned Egan, "you must be the champion of the world. Come on."

That silenced Wolverton, and he went away grumbling, hanging on the fringe of the field until chased out into the clubhouse by Egan with a wave of his hand. Even some of the New York players, who had resumed their places in the field with Danahill's protest, out to be the third, put their hands to their mouths to conceal their laughter when Egan expressed these sentiments to Wolverton. But the player always has the old percentage with the crowd. The spectators undoubtedly thought Wolverton was making a mistake in not coming to the plate, but he was not. He was not a fair talker.

Cold Settled On Lungs.
LEFT THEM IN VERY WEAK STATE.

A cold, however slight, should never be neglected, for if it is not treated in time it will, in all probability, lead to bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma, or some other serious throat or lung trouble. Obsolete coughs and colds yield to the grateful, soothing action of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, containing as it does all the lung healing virtues of the Norway Pine tree.

Mr. G. G. Rhynard, Mill Village, N.S., writes:—"I have had occasion to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and can say that it is certainly a good medicine. About a year ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs, and left them in a very weak state. The cough racked me terribly, and I was in despair until a friend advised Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took five bottles, and it cured me of my cough, and left my lungs strong and well."

place, and, like all ball players, he is fond of his batting average. It ranked him greatly one day in the Polo Grounds, when "Mule" Dahlen struck him out twice in a game at the Polo Grounds, the third strike being called by "Henk" O'Day both times. "Mule" did not have the reputation then he has now. Roger and Evers never contemplated Dahlen and Breanahan felt that by an old star of the Polo Grounds, who had been in the position of manager, was being shown up before a crowd which had come out to look him over and see how he was getting along. It was said to be fanned away by a youngster in the league, especially when Breanahan was very sure that O'Day was responsible for both third strikes, and not himself. He did a good deal of beating over the decision, and, when he came up for his third time at the bat, he carried a whisk broom with him. He did not use a word to O'Day, but he did not and curiously brushed the plate clean. Henry felt his finish. As Roger straightened up to take his position in the batter's box O'Day said:

"Now send somebody out here who can last ten strokes through for the afternoon. Much obliged for brushing off the plate." Breanahan was very much annoyed, and over it, and made a vigorous kick, running from one umpire to the other, as was the custom. The ruling stood, however, and most of them do, and he had to tramp for the clubhouse. Breanahan is a hard man on umpires. He will not until the judge of the play gets to dread his constant conversation. For instance, when the Cubs played that famous game with the Giants on October 8, 1908, on the result of which depended the pennant winner, he protested so violently to the umpire that he was ejected. Breanahan was full of fight, and started his work in this way:

"Well, Johnson, are you going to give us any of the close ones today?" This was a putting on his chest protector before every ball has been pitched. Roger was a great man. It is this aggressive temperament which makes him so able to lead his team. He leaves the players full of pepper when he is catching, and the game never drags with him in it.

Umpire's Troubles

The old Cubs were a bad bunch, and one to be dreaded by umpires. On the day of the great game, the 1908 one, they had all keyed to a high pitch, and even in practice. Once, before the game McGraw got up, and said:

"Now, Harry, go to the bench and get a nice drink of water and a chew of tobacco for yourself and then run along to the clubhouse, because you are through here for this afternoon."

The umpire knew they were up against it. The putting on of the game might mean defeat to one team or the other, and defeat attributed to an umpire put that crowd through the roof of the stadium. It was in the second inning that Chance got the first hit made off him. It caught him so far from first base, a minute later, according to Klem's decision. There was an immediate roar from the Cubs, and the umpire, running from Klem, umpiring on the bases, to Johnston, behind the bat, the Chicago pitcher sprang and aimed the ball at Johnston, which never would have stood in an ordinary game. Johnston knew that a continuation of Chance would mean no part in the argument, but he was standing down on the first-base coaching lines, and he protested so violently to Johnston that he was ejected. Johnston caught it out of the tail of his eye over the crowd, and he was not far from the Hoffman out.

"Beat it!" he shouted at the center fielder, who was running to the plate to join actively in the kick, but who quickly waved away. There was another storm of protest, and the umpire, who was not so violent now, as it was evident that Johnston was not afraid to put his hands to his face, he had greatly improved the situation by removing one of the lesser gods of the Cub machine.

"If you are as good a fighter as you are a manager, Harry," returned Egan, "you must be the champion of the world. Come on."

That silenced Wolverton, and he went away grumbling, hanging on the fringe of the field until chased out into the clubhouse by Egan with a wave of his hand. Even some of the New York players, who had resumed their places in the field with Danahill's protest, out to be the third, put their hands to their mouths to conceal their laughter when Egan expressed these sentiments to Wolverton. But the player always has the old percentage with the crowd. The spectators undoubtedly thought Wolverton was making a mistake in not coming to the plate, but he was not. He was not a fair talker.

Evans passed it over with some remark about Cobb being wrong. But the second time Cobb refused to get into the batter's box when the first ball was pitched, which Evans promptly labeled a strike. The third strike was also called, whereupon "Ty" hurled his bat in the air, grabbed up a handful of dirt and sprinkled it to windward, where he was able to blow in Evans' eyes, and demonstrated to the crowd with his hands spread apart a look, how wide the ball was. It showed Evans up in a great style.

"You'll have to get out of the battle, Ty," urged Evans.

"Do you mean that?" asked the Detroit star.

"Never meant anything more in my life."

Cobb is said to be very quick tempered. Perhaps the battered appearance of the man's face, which Cobb walked upon when he went into the grand stand here in New York, will testify to this. The fan had been abusing Cobb.

"I have a good mind to lick you," he said to Evans, during the game.

"Come right around to my dressing room after the game," Cobb would appear to declare war. He concluded that his opinion had been confirmed when Cobb showed up in his quarters after the contest.

"Bill," said Cobb, "why are you always picking on me?"

"Oh," answered Evans, "I thought you were coming round here to do business with me. You are fully expected to get over it quickly. Few harbor a grudge. The fact an umpire is doing the best he can is very generally recognized around the Big League circuit. The best of some of them is none too good, though."

Most ball players, who are bad umpire baiters, are the nervous, aggressive ones who put their whole heart into the game, and are highly strung during a contest.

"Jiggs" Donohue, the former first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, was always after the umpire on every close play. I have been told, and he was very frequently seen juggling an arbiter's footsteps from first to third base, presenting his argument on the wing. Baseball wren Donohue out and he was still a young man, and he was let go by the White Stockings shortly after the club had won the world's championship in 1906.

"Jiggs" is said to have brooded over his decline in the ranks of his profession until his mind was affected. Somebody told me just the other day that the grand old first baseman was in a sanitarium in southwestern Ohio, now still making the bench, because a man in the famous world's series of 1906 that the White Sox won from the Cubs. He thinks that the standers are the umpire, and he expects with them continually on the close ones. That is what umpire baiting may do for a ball player.

As I said before, the sport is on the decline. When such old masters as Eberfeldt, Jack Doyle, McMurtry and some more passed, it received a severe blow. Once there was a time when a lot of the managers used to spend quite a number of their working hours directing their teams from the field boxes as they did from the bench, because a man in the grand stand is off the field.

McGraw had been transported from the bench to a box for a period of three days in 1907, and was giving his signs from this inopportune position. Sitting near him, there happened to be a man who resembled the Giants' leader very closely. Some of the players, tiring quickly as he did from the attention of the umpire or the visiting players, got the actions of the wrong man and misinterpreted them. The Giants lost the game.

As a rule, I believe that most of the bad umpire baiters are subject to some rule, and there is no doubt that the umpire are absolutely dominated by their wives. I could mention the name of one arbiter who was in the league a few years ago, who was "bitter half" regularly by his better half, the "cupper half" in any sense you care to take it.

ENJOYS FISHING AND SHOOTING AFTER BEING INVALID IN BED
GIN PILLS Brought Strength Back Again To New Brunswick Sportsman.

Kidney and Bladder trouble may quickly bring you to the sad state Alex. W. Stevenson was in. He was an invalid using a crutch and cane for sixteen months. In this state he sought and found relief in GIN PILLS. Now he goes shooting and fishing as you see.

The first state leading to the invalid's bed may be the very time when you recognize the first symptoms of Kidney and Bladder trouble, when you have constant pain in the joints, swollen hands and feet, frequent desire to urinate, it may be when you feel the urine hot and scalding or when you have specks floating in front of your eyes.

These are the times when the marvelous results of GIN PILLS are appreciated. These are the very best occurrences of these signs. Take GIN PILLS at once. Keep the invalid's bed as far away as possible. Get close to the health which allows you to enjoy your outdoor life, and which makes your indoor times also a pleasure.

Perth, N. B.
For two years I was an invalid, incapable of work of any kind, sixteen months of this time I was unable to rise without the assistance of a crutch and a cane. During this time I was treated by all our local doctors as well as taking treatment from a specialist in Chicago, but did not improve any, and had about given up hope of ever being of any use again, when a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS. He did, and with a two months' treatment was as well as ever I was. That was four years ago, and I have had no return of my trouble since.

I will use a box or two a year as a preventative and am enabled to go fishing and shooting in the Spring and Fall, and lay out on the ground at night without any inconvenience. It is a wonderful medicine and I feel great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers from Rheumatism. ALEX. W. STEVENSON.

Personal Influence A Marvellous Power in Business and Society

The Rev. James Stanley Wentz writes eulogistic letter to discoverer of new and remarkable system for developing the mental powers, controlling thoughts and actions of others, curing disease without drugs and reading the secret desires of people through thousands of miles away. British and American physicians unite in endorsing extraordinary method.

Wonderful book describing this strange force and a character delineation post free to all who write at once.

The National Institute of Science of London, England, has appropriated $25,000 toward a fund for the free distribution of Prof. Knowles' new book, "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practice of Eastern Yoga, and explains a wonderfully simple system for the development of Personal Magnetism, Hypnotic and Telepathic Powers, and the curing of disease and habits without drugs. The subject of practical character building is also extensively dealt with, and the author describes a simple method of accurately reading the secret thoughts and desires of others through thousands of miles away. The almost endless stream of letters requesting copies of the book and character delineations indicate clearly the universal interest in Psychological and Occult Sciences.

This Prof. Knowles' system is exciting the interest of the brightest intellect of the present day, as clearly shown by the scores of recommendations following from representative British publications, the clergy and the medical profession are striking examples.

The Christian Age—Prof. Knowles' System has cured the spruced bad habits, strengthened memory, and proved highly beneficial to the cultivation of personality and Personal Influence.

The London Weekly—Prof. Knowles, on his "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces" is a work which can be readily grasped by all who have the ability to read and understand simple prose. No better help to success in life could be desired.

Modern Society—"No modern investigator along psychological lines has received so large an amount of praise as that accorded to Professor Elmer E. Knowles for his marvellous System of Personal Influence and Healing. Here at last is a man who is at once a great scholar, a born teacher and a practical helper—for the instruction papers reveal a nature which is sympathetic and of good fellowship for an ambitious, yet largely misguided population."

Society Women to Have Boxing Bouts For After Dinner Entertainment

By TOM ANDREWS

Do not be surprised if boxing bouts are introduced as part of select parlor games for the "400" in various cities about the country. The fad has started in London and now Paris has taken it up, so why not the United States? It has been the custom for several years past to stage short round bouts at stags and entertainments where men were the only participants, but now the women threaten to enter the field. Only a short time ago Miss Claudie Lassell surprised her friends in London by giving them a genuine boxing match as an after dinner entertainment instead of the usual vaudeville performance with the Salome dancers. She had the ring arranged in one of the large rooms and the bottle holders and towel swingers were there in all their glory. The young woman acted as master of ceremonies and she did very nicely indeed. She appeared to enjoy the sensation of being in the ring and the ladies present certainly enjoyed the contest as much as the men, judging from the way they applauded. It was a sure enough scrap between two well known welter weights and there was a real knockout.

This brings to mind a request I had some months ago from a Milwaukee lady who thought she would like to give her friends a treat of the same kind, but I talked her out of it at the time, stating that it would hardly be taken in the right spirit by many of the people. However, if the society people of Europe can stand for it why surely the liberal minded Americans can.

And while talking about women enjoying the manly sport it might be well to remark that when Sam McVey and Sam Langford fought in Paris nearly two years ago I attended at the Cirque de Paris and saw fully 500 women present, occupying the boxes and best seats in the house, many of them in evening dress. The women, many of them, were prominent in society, and they seemed to enjoy the sport immensely. Since then women in Paris have been regular attendants at some of the boxing shows and they see nothing wrong in it. Probably it was this fact that prompted the London lady to get up the boxing show for the entertainment of her guests. With the ladies interested there is hope for the boxing game in the future. They patronize baseball, football and auto races, so why not boxing?

MORNING LOCALS

It is possible that a large pigery will be erected near this city. Local merchants are considering the matter. The St. John ladies who were in Fredrickton to hear the debate on woman suffrage returned to the city last night. They were disappointed at the result but were encouraged by the progress made.

Doctor Wilby will sail for Europe today to assist in the organization of a company to promote settlement in New Brunswick by the purchase of farms and their resale to farmers on easy terms. The company will operate in Great Britain and France. Dr. Wilby will return to St. John as manager of the company with Jean Paul, who is well known here, as secretary of the company.

C. M. Bosworth, vice-president of the C. P. R., who arrived in the city yesterday and that this is the busiest season which that company has had in St. John. More freight has been shipped than ever before and the freight charges of the Mount Temple, which were $60,000, created a new record for a single vessel from that port. He said that the C. P. R. had not tendered for the West India service, but he understood that the Western Steamship Company had tendered. J. E. deWolfe, of T. A. S. had tendered. J. E. deWolfe, of T. A. S. had tendered. J. E. deWolfe, of T. A. S. had tendered.

Cheaper freight rates from this port are attracting business from United States points according to F. W. Brown, of F. M. Sutton & Co., New York, who is here looking after a shipment of American motor cars to South Africa.

A stained black coat can be quickly cleaned by applying to it with a sponge strong coffee to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Finish the process by rubbing the coat with a piece of colored woolen material.

Stanley Bates, for two years with Fredrickton, has been asked by McGraw of the New York Giants to report to him on April 10.

THE RING Ready for Wells. New York, Feb. 21.—Gunboat Smith, the California heavyweight, has arrived in Chicago from the coast and wired Manager Gibson of the Garden A. C. that he had signed articles; also that he would be here at once to begin training for the ten-round bout with Bombardier Wells, the British champion, on March 14. Smith will not receive $10,000 for boxing Wells, the amount refused by Luther McCarthy, but it is expected that he will put up a smashing good fight just the same.

Smith is a former able seaman in Uncle Sam's navy, and is not afraid of a gun. He has learned much about boxing in the last year and has never lost a fight on a decision by a referee or by the sleep route. He carries a lick in the right hand that is liable to stop anybody if it lands, and is announced in Prize last Saturday that the Bombardier, in spite of his cleverness, would not last the limit.

The British champion, who asked who would referee the Smith bout replied that he would insist on William Joh.

Census returns show that New York owes nearly half of its population to foreign countries. Out of every 1,000 white residents only 576 were born in the United States; only 103 of every 1,000 white New Yorkers were the children of native-born Americans. ## It is Flattering To the Original But Imitations Only Disappoint

If the old saying is true about imitation being the most sincere form of flattery, then Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine must possess a world of merit.

This is a fac-simile of the package, bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D.

There are many imitations and near imitations of this great treatment for coughs and colds. They usually have some sale on the merits of the original, and because they are sold at a lower price appeal to some people, who lose sight of the fact that the imitations are like the genuine in name only.

From a small beginning the sales of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine have grown and grown until to-day they are enormous. The constant increase is undoubtedly due to the genuine merit of the medicine itself, for nothing else could place it at the front as the greatest seller of any similar medicine in the country.

We have told you something of the effectiveness of this medicine in the cure of coughs, colds and sore throat, of how it lightens every mother's heart by curing croup and bronchitis, of the relief it affords to the sufferers from asthma or consumption.

It remains for you to insist on getting the genuine article. There need be no doubt if you insist on seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the bottle you buy. There can be no better recommendation for any medicine. 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

NEW YORK EXPERT TO CONDUCT MOUNT ALLISON CAMPAIGN

The campaign committee of Mount Allison University at Sackville has secured the services of R. A. Cassidy of New York in the forward movement planned for next month. Mr. Cassidy has had wide experience in work of this nature and is said to be an organizer of exceptional ability. The details of the campaign have not yet been fully worked out, but plans are now being prepared, by means of which it is hoped to clearly place the needs of the Sackville institutions before every graduate and other friends of the college in Canada.

Mount Allison requires a new science building, and it is felt that $20,000 set apart for this purpose from the quarter million which the committee hope to raise, will give the institution an equipment of science equal to any in the eastern provinces, and sufficient for many years to come. This, however, is not a first consideration of the campaign. Mount Allison's most pressing need is a sufficient regular annual income to entirely eliminate all possibility of further deficits, and to guarantee that for the future the university will be self-supporting in so far as this term may be applied to a denominational institution. With this end in view, the first efforts of the committee will be directed to securing $200,000, as an addition to the permanent endowment, and only after this has been obtained will the proposed new science building be given consideration.

Revival of Campaign for Votes for Women

WAR SERVICES AS CLAIMS

Forty-two Serbian Women in the Ranks and Two Were Killed—The Agitation Also is On in Bulgaria

(Times Special Correspondence.)
Sofia, Feb. 2.—Fresh war is threatened in the unquiet Balkans, not because peace negotiations are unsatisfactory, because King Ferdinand has not enough, because Serbia is not to keep Albania, or because of trouble in the reorganizing suffragettes. The reorganizing suffragettes has not yet reached the stage of seizing the coat of arms of King Ferdinand or stoning King Peter's tomb, as have her sisters in other lands. But she is active and irritated, and the terrible Turk himself has raised no more vocal passions than her ultimatum: "We women must have votes."
This passion has overtaken Bulgaria; and also progressive Serbia, where women are already further ahead in the professions than they are in Germany or France. The war has given women their chance and they are not neglecting it. For the last few weeks Madame Vasilisa Petroff, wife of a Philippopolis lawyer, has been running a very strong suffragette agitation. The agitation feeds mainly on the great services rendered during the war by women nurses, hospital makers and even soldiers. "But the greatest thing we are doing," she says, "is becoming widows. Every Bulgarian woman who has seen her husband die on the battlefield is a fresh argument why women should have votes."

In An Old Cause There

Women's suffrage is an old cause in Bulgaria. Before the war the Women's Emancipation Union had 1,700 members, and it lately became affiliated to the international suffrage movement. The war brought 400 fresh members. The Bulgarian man regards the movement with suspicion. Of these are the radicals and the Democrats, neither of which counts for much. During fifteen years' fighting the women have gained only one victory. That is the right to vote for the elections of the school management committees. The right to sit as members of the committees has been refused.
Madame Petroff is preparing a petition to Queen Eleonora. The petition begins by reciting words used by King Ferdinand to members of the English Red Cross Mission. "My wife," said the incautious Ferdinand, "is worth 10,000 soldiers." If one woman is worth 10,000 soldiers, argues the logical petition, then one woman might have at least the same political power as an ordinary soldier. The petition asks Queen Eleonora to let her influence in pushing the woman's emancipation movement, thereby liberating the world that both halves of the Bulgarian nation are worthy of freedom.
By occupation of the whole male population in the war the women found themselves promoted into necessary beings. Some cleaned the streets, others drove cabs, and a few even applied to be enrolled as policemen. Three were enrolled and their drill began. But the three soon discovered that they were not wanted. With all the men fighting their country's battles, there was no one to get drunk, to give black eyes, or to steal pocket-handkerchiefs and the policeman's occupation was gone. So the three were discharged.
M. Greshoff, not the prime minister, who had been serving in the foreign ministry and was drawn as a reserve officer, proposed a plan for employing women in the ministry to replace men gone to the front. Twenty were so taken. They proved good diplomats. That is, they were entrusted with the copying of confidential despatches; and they kept the secret.

In Serbia

Serbia's women's emancipation movement is booming even better than Bulgaria's. It is older and Serbia has hundreds of women doctors, teachers and even women engineers. Serbia led almost all Europe in giving women a show of political power. In 1878, the year in which Serbia finally threw off Turkish suzerainty, women were given the right to vote in municipal elections. Only twelve per cent of adult women could then read and write. The right of municipal voting has never been exercised. The courts were asked to decide on the matter, said wisely: "Women have a legal right to vote, but it cannot be recognized as it is against the custom of Serbia."
The Serbian Women's Suffrage League is seven years old. It is always hovering on the verge of success. When women doctors and teachers demanded a right to vote for the Skupstina, they were backed by many eminent men, including Prime Minister Pashitch. They lost by only six votes.

Serbian Social Democrats support in theory woman's suffrage; but they do not support it in practice, on the ground that the suffrage organization is unfriendly to them. For practical work the suffragettes have to rely on M. Valovitch, chief of the young radical party, and now minister of education. Valovitch works hard for the cause, and he has promised to open several new fields for women's activity in teaching. The present minister of the interior also backs women's rights. Other ministers are unfriendly. The famous war minister, Pavlovitch, proposed to employ women copyist clerks in the war office. His project caused an open revolt among the men.

A real backer of the Serbian suffragettes is Prince Arseno Kamogorovitch, brother of King Peter. Fervid, brave, hard-worked in his day, and he shows them his gratitude by wishing them votes. When he gives small sums to the suffragette organization. He is a close friend of one of the most prominent suffragette leaders, Madame Marie Gruyitch, the half-French widow of an agriculturist of Nisch. Madame Gruyitch is a remarkably handsome woman. When her husband died in 1900, she gave half his property to the Women's Suffrage League. She is now busy organizing a "national demand for votes," which is to be based on what women have done and suffered during the war. Forty-two Serbian women, she says, have taken part as soldiers and two were killed.
Thus do Bulgaria and Serbia progress. From Montenegro and Albania come no echo of this emancipatory movement.

A. ERNEST EVERETT, 91 CHARLOTTE STREET

The following motto hangs over a busy man's desk in New York: "Don't explain; don't apologise. Your friends don't need it, and your enemies don't believe it."

USE THE WANT AD. WAY

Scraps of soap should never be wasted. When they are too small to use for washing they should be carefully collected and put away. When flannels or fine articles are to be washed the scraps should be cut in small pieces and boiled to a jelly, the garments being washed in the fine lather this will produce.

Wall paper as an American industry represents $141,000,000 capital, according to census statistics for 1909. This was an increase in five years of 15 per cent.
