Gov't Ducks Responsibility By Slipping Power Co. Bill Up to the Supreme Court

as unfair to both shareholders and the city.

Mr. Potts said that the stand which he would take would be entirely on his own responsibility and prompted by duty which he felt he owed the whole province and particularly the City of St. John. Delays might be dangerous, but perhaps not in this particular case. The amendment to the Bill would displease both the people of St. John and the shareholders of the company. It was questionable what was the best to do, but in his opinion, if the chance which was included in the proposal to delay for a year, were not taken, and something saved from the wreck, the Currier Report would go through in its entirety. He would stand by the best interests of St. John, and the best interests could be served by giving an opportunity for thinking the matter over for a year. Many things might happen in a year.

Mr. Potts said he would not give a snap for a man who could not sacrifice his political chances to serve the best interests of the people he represented, even if they could not see it. Honorable members from constituencies outside St. John had asked that they be given more time and he thought that they should. He would vote for delay, and by so doing he would save the people of St. John from a $2,800,000 rate base.

Mr. Campbell said he would vote against any delay. The matter should be faced squarely. No additional evidence was required. Mr. Baxter said that honorable members of the House had sufficient evidence before them to show that some injustice had been done the city by the Currier report. They would not be better situated in another year. There would not be five of them who would read the evidence. If the delay took place he feared that efforts in the public interest would relax, while private efforts never relax. The chief position was to have one expert go or evidence, which three experts already had gone over. He wished to do the wisest and best thing, but he doubted if handing the evidence to honorable members would produce the best result.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he hoped the honorable member did not intend to ridicule his suggestion. Mr. Baxter said not at all, he was merely pointing out a difficulty. Hon. Mr. Foster said it was not unusual to refer disputed matters to tribunal, and his proposition was not one to be thrown aside. He noticed that both the mayor and city solicitor of St. John were present, and it might be well to have them say if they wanted the House to proceed with the Bill.

Hon. Mr. Roberts said that if this matter were decided tonight a mistake might be made if it were left there would be opportunity of further consideration. However, he did not know what effect delay would have on the interests of the city, the bond holders, or the company. Under the circumstances he would adhere to the amendment of the City of St. John. Mr. Baxter said he had conferred with Mayor Hayes who would get in touch by telephone with other members of the St. John council.

Hon. Mr. Foster said the idea was

Why Be Fat?
The answer of most fat people is that constant dieting is hard, continual exercise is tiresome, exhaustive—then, too, it might be harmful to force the weight down. That was the old-fashioned idea. Today in Marmola Prescription Tablets all these difficulties are overcome. Just a pleasant, harmless little tablet after each meal and all bad habits cease to be harmful. This modern method is a scientific formula based on the study of anatomy, physiology, and the science of dieting. It is a safe, reliable, and pleasant way to get rid of excess weight. A large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by drug stores. It is obtainable by mail from Marmola Prescription Tablets, Ltd., 101 St. John Street, St. John, N.B. Write for free literature. You will know this you have never seen before. It is not a diet, but a scientific method of eating. It is not a diet, but a scientific method of eating. a good one and in the meantime the committee could go on with other bills. He would suggest that this matter might be referred to the Appeal Court of the province.

Mr. Baxter suggested that the representatives of St. John City, the premier and himself confer upon the matter.

At 10:40 the committee reported progress and while a conference was being held with the mayor, Mr. Magee submitted the report of the Public Accounts Committee. Mr. B. F. Smith attempted to submit a minority report, and Speaker Hetherington after some discussion ruled him out of order, and peremptorily closed off discussion.

At 11:25 Mr. Baxter reported that he had been in communication with Mayor Hayes who had tried to get in touch with the city commissioners, but had not been successful. Some prominent citizens whom he had conversed with were favorable to allowing the bill to stand over, and though the mayor was opposed to that course he was willing to forego his personal opinion.

The House again went into committee with Mr. Leger, (West.) in the chair, and agreed to bills to enable the Moncton school trustees to issue debentures; to amend an act establishing the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, and also the Sale of Goods Act, 1918, and an act relating to factors and agents.

Mr. Baxter pointed out that the bill relating to the Moncton school trustees had not been distributed and therefore was improperly before the House. He moved that it be reconsidered.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said that the bill had been printed as required by the rules, but there had been an error made in numbering.

Mr. Baxter said that relations between the two parties in the House during the latter part of the session had been pleasant as all were anxious to get through. He considered that he had been treated with great discourtesy's report. He was conversing at vote on the Public Accounts Committee's report. He was conversing at the time with Messrs. Murray and Smith and was not given time to return to his seat. He made his motion with respect to the Moncton bill merely to show that the business of the House could be held up, and he would now withdraw that motion.

The House again went into committee with Mr. Burchill in the chair and took up further consideration of the New Brunswick Power Company's bill.

Mr. Baxter thought it would be better to move a resolution favoring the postponement of further consideration of the bill. Hon. Mr. Robinson said that he regretted that there had been any unpleasantness to mar the good relations which had existed. Mr. Potts suggested that the committee take recess to allow a resolution to be drawn up that would meet the views of all parties.

Mr. Baxter thought that a resolution recommending the withdrawal of the bill would fit the case. It seemed to him that the House was helpless to deal with the matter.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he would like to have the views of the legal members in regard to referring the matter to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Campbell suggested that a change might be made in the resolution before the House.

Mr. Tilley said the responsibility rested on the legislature and they should not try to shift it to the Supreme Court. They should be prepared to grapple with the bill on their own responsibility and without any shilly-shallying.

—CURIER

If the Mayor of St. John said to postpone the bill he (Tilley) would be willing to accede to his views, but he wanted it understood that he was prepared to stand or fall by legislation which came before the house.

Mr. Baxter suggested that a resolution be adopted setting forth that it was advisable to recast the bill, and postpone consideration until a later date.

Mr. Tilley thought that the suggestion of Mr. Potts should be adopted.

Hon. Mr. Robinson in reply to Mr. Campbell said the rates as fixed by the act of last session would stand until July, 1920, unless changed by the commissioners of St. John or the legislature.

It was finally agreed that a committee composed of the premier, Hon. Mr. Robinson, Hon. Mr. Byrne and Messrs. Baxter, Campbell and Tilley should draft a resolution dealing with the matter.

At 12:13 a. m. the committee then

YOUR CONDITION

This Spring, After the War, Imperatively Demands Treatment.

Health has been greatly impaired, reserved strength much overdrawn, by worry and anxiety caused by the war. Blood has been poisoned by influenza, grip, pneumonia and other prostrating diseases.

And there is besides the usual ill effect from the close confinement in doors during the winter.

You have that tired feeling, poor appetite, backache, rheumatic pains, delicate digestive power or almost none at all. The ideal treatment is Hood's Sarsaparilla—to be taken before meals—thoroughly to purify the blood and expel poisons, and restore energy, and do it quickly, and Hood's Pills, to be taken as necessary, to rouse the liver in cases where there is biliousness, constipation, bad taste in the mouth, or "the blues."

REPARATION CLAIMS TO BE BUNCHED

British Claims Against Germany Will Include Those of Various Dominions.

Paris, April 18.—Reuters correspondent says he learns that the British claim for reparations against Germany will include those of the various British Dominions and India. At first it was intended that they should be submitted separately. This decision, the correspondent adds, was recently made by the delegation of the British Empire to the peace conference.

The correspondent adds that immediately after the Germans sign the peace treaty a meeting will be held in London, when an adjustment of the claims of Great Britain's dominions and India will be made.

THE WATER POWER BILL.

Premier Foster's scheme to encourage private enterprise to undertake the development of New Brunswick water powers, appears to have been unable to survive its frosty reception by the Government press. Introduced into the Legislature with a great flourish of trumpets as heralding a new era of progress, it was read a first time, and the annals of the House knew no more. Mr. Foster may pretend that he withdrew his bill because he was frightened of Mr. Sweeney, who, when the Currier bill was disposed of, shouted the fervent warning: "God help the next power bill that comes before this Assembly."

The truth of the matter probably is that Mr. Foster has had it pointed out to him that his bill was like his Government in that it was not what it professed to be. The Premier's professions in his introductory speech were not consistent with the purpose embodied in the bill. His professed purpose of encouraging private enterprise would have been defeated by the bill because under its provisions a private company would not control developments which it might undertake. Such a company would always be in the position of a minority shareholder. Mr. Foster declared that he did not believe in public ownership and operation of public utilities, but under his bill the Government would have assumed three-quarters of the risk of any water-power project which might be favorably reported on by a commission appointed by the Government. Moreover, this commission, in conjunction with the public utilities commission would have controlled and would further have been responsible for the management of the enterprise. Instead of embodying his professed disbelief in public ownership and operation, Mr. Foster had provided in his bill for public ownership to the extent of a provincial guarantee of three quarters of the cost of any water power development and for public operation of such projects to the extent of the majority of the controlling stock. Under such a plan the Government would have controlled both the policy and management of the enterprise, which is at variance with the definite statements of the Premier in opposition to public ownership and operation.

The bill really provided an elaborate system of public ownership and operation, for the preferred shareholders who were supposed to provide the other quarter of invested capital were not recognized as owners, at any rate they would have had no vote in either policy or administration. Recognized for what it was, the Premier's scheme was not as absurd as it seemed to be when he pretended that it was a measure to encourage private enterprise. It is possible that there are some energetic water power engineers who might have been able to persuade their friends to put up one-quarter of the cost of development if these engineers were able to obtain a government guarantee for the other three-quarters of the risk and by this means have gone ahead and established a new business. By such a method these prospective promoters could have provided themselves with jobs, but they would eventually have found themselves in the position of public servants, in that they would have received no promoters' profits and would have received no dividends or their investments other than the preferred shares which they might hold.

Under Mr. Foster's scheme the Government would have assumed three-quarters of the risk of water power development, and because it would also have assumed responsibility for the management it would of necessity have received all blame if such an enterprise did not prove a success. This being so, the Government might just as well have proposed to assume the risk for the other quarter of the cost, and embark on this straight policy of government ownership.

THE LAST-MINUTE RUSH.

For five weeks the Veniot-Foster Government frittered away the time of the Legislature in useless talk, in puffing discussion of unimportant details, and in muck-raking. In the closing hours of the session, the only measures of any importance to the Province were brought down and rushed through the House without even an attempt at consideration. Legislation which will be far reaching in its effects was introduced, read a second time and passed, because some of the members wanted to get home for Easter, and because the session which had been entirely unproductive of results up to date, had been dragging along for quite a long time. Nothing excepting a deficit was ready at the beginning. There was no committee work, because there was nothing for committees to do. The Government program was in the air to such an extent that even members of the Government, upon introducing bills were unable to explain what those bills meant or what they were intended to mean. When a responsible minister gets up in his place in the House and admits that he does not know he himself has introduced, it is time the country woke up and put into power a class of men better fitted to handle the affairs of the Province. Previous Liberal administrations in New Brunswick have been noted for incompetency, but never in the history of the Province has there been such a display of hopeless bungling and incapacity as has characterized the meeting just ended. The most important matters of the whole year were railroaded through the House by force of Government majority not only without discussion, but without adequate preparation on the part of those entrusted with the drafting of the bills. We have a Women's Franchise, a bill to permit the sale of pulpwood, amendments to the prohibitory law, a most important addition to the Compensation Act, together with many private and municipal bills of more or less importance upon which no time has been spent and which were forced through without the members of the House being given opportunity so intelligently consider them.

EDUCATION.

A commission is to be appointed for the purpose of investigating and reporting on the matter of teachers' salaries, thus confirming the belief that no action will be taken towards increasing their salaries for another year at least. Yet the appointment of a commission representing all interests is a sensible move and one that will meet with general approval. During the progress of this inquiry this committee will be in a position to secure information on the condition of education generally in New Brunswick and in the interests of the Province it will be well that the attention of this body be not wholly confined to the question of salaries. That, of course, is a subject which appeals most strongly to the teachers themselves, for increases in salaries, apart from the incidental advances made by reentered communities, have been negligible during the past four or five years, while at the same time salaries in all other occupations have materially advanced. The time is near at hand when New Brunswick must take up in earnest the whole subject of education. This is too big and too serious a matter to be trifled with, and undoubtedly the reorganization of our school system which is becoming imperative will involve the expenditure of a great deal more money than is now required.

The committee on salaries, when appointed, will be well advised if instead of confining itself to this one point, it secures the fullest possible information on teaching conditions in country schools, on the scarcity of teachers, on the ability of school districts to pay more generously than they are now doing and on the qualifications of those who, under the amended regulations, are now graduating from Normal School.

FAILED AGAIN.

The Power Company dispute goes to the Supreme Court. Premier Foster, who seems to have some little authority in controlling his followers when the issue is only of nominal importance, has evidently no such control when, as in this case, an important principle is involved. He has merely passed the buck to the court, settling on this as the easiest way out of his dilemma after looking around for some method of shifting the responsibility. The action of the Government in dodging responsibility in this manner, although the result is more satisfactory than the adoption of the Currier Bill would have been, is not the action St. John had a right to expect. But it is what might naturally have been anticipated from a leader who has so little control that his supporters could not even be persuaded to treat the opponents of that bill with ordinary courtesy. As the matter now stands, St. John is saddled with the present power rates for at least another year, the Supreme Court is burdened with a task it does not desire, and one which the Legislature, under intelligent leadership, would have been quite capable of handling, and an important principle involving the organization and management of public utilities is still undefined. All this because the Premier of the province had not sufficient backbone to compel the support of his followers in a matter which was in no sense political, and which should have been settled once and for all by the Legislature, the only body in the province which has authority to do so. The reference to the Supreme Court is a betrayal of the Public Utilities Commission, and an open confession of weakness on the part of the Government.

THE FOSTER METHOD.

Blocking the introduction of the minority report of the Public Accounts Committee by an arbitrary exercise of the Speaker's prerogative, and the power of its majority, is not an inconsistent course for a government that censures its political opponents on the report of a biased commissioner. But it will not redound to the credit of the Government, or enhance the reputation for impartiality of the Speaker. The former is of no great importance, but it is unfortunate that the Speaker should not have shown a stronger regard for the dignity of his position, for unless a sense of fair play prevails over the deliberations of the assembly, the public business is likely to suffer. Speaker Hetherington had no excuse for allowing the rules of parliamentary procedure to be violated in an arbitrary manner. And the Government gains nothing by forcing a snap vote of this character, for its only serves to direct public attention to the minority report and justifies the presumption that it contains information which the Government had good reason to fear.

WHAT THEY SAY

Chance is For All.
London Advertiser: F. W. Woodworth was able to take in so many nickies and dimes he became a multi-millionaire. He had $50 to start with. What young man will say opportunity is for the rich only?

The Man's View.
Kingston Standard: We rather object to clean-up weeks; there should be no necessity for them. Clean up as you go along every day should be the rule.

Opportunity Was the Rule.
Ottawa Journal: In view of the liquor probes now going on in Toronto, it must have been the easiest thing in the world for an Ontario liquor detective to make a good fellow of himself.

For Canadian Farms.
Canadian Gazette, London: Canada, like the other Dominions, has so much to do to replace her own soldiers in industrial and agricultural life that she cannot hope to do much for British soldiers for some time. But she will be only too pleased to welcome British soldiers who come to share in Canadian farm life, and we are glad to see that Lord Milner and Col. Amery, the Under Secretary for the Colonies, are proposing to ask the British Parliament to facilitate a movement of this kind.

A Tough Job.
Vancouver Sun: The Dominion Civil Service Commission calls attention to the "imperative necessity for a superannuation act." If that were wanted so to what should or should not be included in such an act, they can be had in profusion at Victoria. Any commission which undertakes to draw up a satisfactory law on the subject has a tough job.

BY LEE PAPE.
Yesterday afternoon some kid with little eyes and big glasses told us fellows about his school being closed and nobody having to go back all it was all fumigated on account of measles, and us fellows tossed up to see with one would pretend he had the measles so our school would close up, me being the one that had to do it, and this morning I made measles marks all over my face with a piece of red crayon before I went in school. Wich at first Miss Kitty didn't notice it, and after a while Puds Simkins waved his hand, saying, Miss Kitty, Miss Kitty, did you notice Benny Foster's face, there's things on it. Marney, wat kind of things? sed Miss Kitty. Measles things, sed Puds. Goodness gracious, sed Miss Kitty. And she quick came down the fle to my desk and looked at me, me trying to look as if I didn't know how I looked, Miss Kitty saying, O dear, izent that dreadful, Benny, how do you feel? Like measles, I sed, and Miss Kitty sed, O dear, but youve had the measles, havent you? and I sed, I don't think I ever quite finished them. And Miss Kitty looked at me close, saying, come, over to the window. Wich I did, and she looked at me in the lts, saying, Go and wash your face and come back. Wich I did, and we skool left out Puds Simkins put a note on my desk, saying on it, We appreciate your efforts and thank you jest the same, you died in a good cause, Puds Simkins, Skinny Martin, Ed Wernick, Lew Davis, Sam Cross.

Nor ours the about of victory, the fame
Of them that vanquish in a stricken field.

That day of battle in the dusty heat
We lay and heard the bullets swish
and sing
Like scythes amid the over-ripened wheat,
And we the harvest of their garnering.

Some yielded. No, not we! Not we,
By these our wounds; this trench upon the hill
Where all the shell-torn earth is scoured and bare,
We stand to keep; and lo! we have it still.

We might have yielded, even we, but not full breath
Came for our helper; like a sudden flood
The crashing darkness fell; our pain ful breath
We drew with gasps amid the choking blood.

The roar fell faint and farther off, and soon
Sank to a foolish humming in our ears,
Like crickets in the long, hot afternoon
Among the wheat-fields of the olden years.

Before our eyes a boundless wall of red
Shot through by sudden streaks of jagged pain!
Then a slow gathering darkness overhead
And rest came on us like a quiet rain.

Not we the conquered! Not to us the shame,
Who hold our earthen ramparts, nor shall cease
To hold them ever; victors we, who came
In that fierce moment to our honored peace.

ALMOST BLIND FROM HEADACHES
It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time. Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels.

The reason Burdock Blood Bitters makes permanent cures of all cases of headache, is because it starts the organs of elimination acting freely, and instead of pains and aches there is revived mentality and bodily vigor.

Mrs. Geo. Monck, Arden, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled a great deal with sick headaches, and at times would almost go blind, and have to go to bed. I tried different kinds of medicine without any benefit until I was advised to use Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking it, I have not been troubled since."

B. B. B. is a purely vegetable remedy, and has been manufactured for the last forty years by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system.

Who the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from —with this remedy. One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes deep seated and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the dis-ordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills,
Ont., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of these pills, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money, and can highly recommend them to any one.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 60c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The

GUM DECAY CAUSES TOOTH DECAY

Healthy teeth need healthy gums to hug them. Else they will loosen in Pyorrhoea. Tiny openings will come in the gums to act as the gateways of disease germs, which infect the joints or tonsils, or cause other ailments.

Forhan's prevents Pyorrhoea, if used in time and used consistently. No more toothpaste does. Are your gums tender? Are they bleeding?
If so, you are certain to have Pyorrhoea (Rie's Disease). Four out of five people who are over forty have
it. To you we earnestly recommend Forhan's. It preserves the gums which hold the teeth secure.

Brush your teeth with it. Forhan's cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in,
start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Six and 60c tubes. All Druggists.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM ONW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry,
Avoid Exposure and Eat
Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid ex-posure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxins, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of getting rid of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming that it is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink
each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, hollow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing.

The Great Relief She Found in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Jones, of Alberta, After Two Years of Neuralgia, Headache and Rheumatism, is Enthusiastic Over What Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Done for Her.

Clive, Alta., April 18.—(Special)—
After two years of suffering from neuralgia, lumbago, and rheumatism, Mrs.
Jones, a highly respected resident here, is telling her friends that she owes her new lease of health to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I cannot recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills too much." Mrs. Jones states in her enthusiasm. "I would not use any other kind."

"I do not know the cause of my trouble, but I know it dragged along for two years—and in that time I suffered in my cramps in my muscles, neuralgia, headache and lumbago.
"My sleep was broken and unrefre-shing, I had dark circles around my eyes and I was always tired and nervous. I was low spirited, my memory was failing, my limbs were heavy and my ankles swelled."
"I took three or seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me so much good I feel like telling everybody about it."

All Mrs. Jones' troubles are symptoms of kidney trouble. If you have any two of them ask your neighbors
if Dodd's Kidney Pills will not help you.

BOLSHEVISM A PROBLEM SEVENTY YEARS OLD

Not Produced by Poverty, Unemployment or Autocracy— Must be Combated by Presentation of Facts, Logic and History.

(By F. R. G. Gordon, in the Boston Commercial.)

Just now when any politician wants to put anything over, he exclaims: "Look out for the Bolshevik devil or he will catch you, unless you follow me." Or words to that effect.

Mr. Taft thinks that a League of Nations will somehow in some way arrest the growth of Bolshevism. It won't.

President Wilson said that $100,000,000 worth of food would do the job, but neither $100,000,000 nor 10 times that amount will stop the growth of Bolshevism by a single year.

Bolshevism is no new thing, though it has a new name. It began its appeal to the world way back in 1841. And the man who made it were Karl Marx and Frederic Engels. They did it through the publication of "The Communist Manifesto," a booklet, by the way, that for 60 years has been circulated in Russia and all other great nations.

This famous publication advocated the forcible overthrow of all existing forms of government. It promulgated a sort of a platform for the communists all over the world from which I quote the following:

1. Abolition of property in land and application of all rents of land to public purposes.
2. A heavy progressive or graduated income tax.
3. Abolition of all right of inheritance.
4. Confiscation of the property of all emigrants and rebels. (This means that any citizen who wanted to flee from the land pirates would have any other property confiscated.)
5. Centralization of credit in the hands of the State by means of a national bank with State capital and an exclusive monopoly. (This is just what the Non-Partisan League is doing in N. Dakota.)
6. Centralization of the means of communication and transport in the hands of the State.

The other planks relate to the state establishment of factories, agricultural and industrial armies; equal liability of all to labor; for free trade, etc. And it demands the abolition of all class distinctions denounces the church as in league with the enemies of the proletariat.

It declares that capital and capitalists "are their own grave diggers." It further declares for the abolition of the family. And declares that the present family is based on capital and private gain, and with the coming of the proletarian revolution the "bourgeois family will disappear."

It declares that the working class "will wrest by degrees, all capital from the bourgeoisie; to centralize all instrument of production in the hands of the state, i. e., of the proletariat organized as the ruling class." And it ends with this statement:

"The Communists disdain to conceal their views and aims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions. Let the ruling class tremble at a communistic revolution. The proletarians have nothing to lose but their chains. They have a world to win. Workingmen of all countries unite."

I have quoted this at length merely to show that the Russian bolshevik movement is using the identical language in thousands of speeches and documents, that Marx and Engels used in 1847.

Later we find Engels the co-worker with Marx saying in his book, "The Working Class of England," this: "The proletarians, driven to despair, will seize the torch . . . the vengeance of the people will come down with a wrath of which the rage of '79 gives no true idea. The war of the poor against the rich will be the blood-est ever waged. It is too late for peaceful solution. The classes are divided more and more sharply, the workers' bitterness intensifies, the guerrilla skirmishes become concentrated in more important battles, and soon a slight impulse will set the avalanche in motion. Then, indeed, will the war cry resound, 'War to the palaces, peace to the cottages,' but then it will be too late for the rich to beware."

This is the kind of language Lenin and Trotsky, "Big Bill" Haywood, Kaplan and all of the rest are preaching today.

Here a quotation from Robert Hunter, once a candidate for governor of Connecticut, on the socialist party ticket: "The ballot is a means. The ballot is a means. . . To the man, or class, who know how to use the ballot, the strike and the ballot, victory is near."

The Appeal to Reason (now called the New Appeal) the socialist organ of largest circulation said: "Labor demands all the products of its hands—and it is going to have them, let the consequences be what they will. It may cause the slaughter and massacre of millions."

John Spargo, for many years a leader in the socialist party, a former minister in England, now an American citizen, said:

"When the slaves answer the challenge of socialism and a united war cry for justice and economic freedom, all who resist them will be swept away as chaff before the fury of the gale. And that, I believe, will be the result. The despoiled and disinherited, urged by the mighty passion of socialism, will rise and enter into full possession of their own, hurling into the dust of oblivion false and unjust religions, Statecraft and political economies."

This is exactly what is happening in Russia under the rule of the Bolshevik.

The Bolshevism of the early days of Marx was called communism, later it was named socialism and in Germany social democracy; but it all means the very same thing.

Socialism has always been a philosophy of destruction. From the day when it began to develop in the brain of Karl Marx, as in all the stages through which it passed toward the unfinished product, bolshevism, it has always been a revolutionary party of physical force.

It was founded upon class hatred, which had little or no existence outside its founders. It has persisted through all the years since 1847 to pit class against class and man against man, on the theory that by such a propaganda it will be possible to create a reign of terror and the destruction of our present day civilization.

Socialism has always appealed to the lowest and meanest passions of man. It has always invented excuses for its gospel of destruction. It tells the workers to go to war; but says nothing of how to build up it points the way to revolution; but it leaves humanity in the dark as to what and how it can be done.

It is this kind of thing which is to produce a reign of terror and the destruction of our present day civilization.

Haywood and Frank Bohn say in their joint appeal for the revolution: "The social revolution could only end in an immense cataclysm, of which the immediate effect would be to lay waste the earth and to consume society in a straight waistcoat; and if it were possible that such a state of things should continue only a few weeks, to kill three-fourths of men by an unforeseen famine."

"The workers' government of the future will realize socialism. . . when the worker, either through experience or a study of socialism, comes to know the truth he acts accordingly. He retains absolutely no respect for the property 'rights' of the profit-takers. He will use any weapon which will win the fight. He knows that the present laws of property are made by and for the capitalist. Therefore, he does not hesitate to break them. He knows that whatever action advances the interests of the working class is right."

Here we have the program of socialism in America. It is no way differs from bolshevism in Russia. And we have had this kind of bolshevism in America for 25 years. In 1912 the socialist party with this kind of a program cast more than 900,000 votes and 1912 was not a panic year. It was not a year when people were starving, or when food was scarce; it was a year in which the working class saved and invested more than $100,000,000 in the savings banks alone and as much more in other forms of savings, while the immigrant labor of the nation sent a million dollars a day to their relatives in Europe, yet, almost a million men voted for the social revolution.

So, it is not food that will curb the growth of bolshevism either in Europe or America. One of our doctors who know little or nothing about the matter is that we have a lot of the problem, but who are anxious to settle it in some old way and may desire the credit for the settlement. They will be miserably fail.

If a soldier was dying with a couple of bullets in him for want of a surgeon, would it be wise to call in a dozen blacksmiths? This is about what we are doing with the bolshevik trouble.

Trouble Makers. Hyndman, the greatest of the English socialists said: "We do preach discontent, and we mean, if we can, to stir up actual conflict."

"Can anything be more frank? He said this 10 years ago and men like Mr. Taft and President Wilson act as though they had heard of this kind of talk only day before yesterday."

What have our pink-tea socialists of Boston to say to this real socialist; the kind that is preached in Lawrence, Seattle and every other industrial centre in America every day in the year? The kind that has been preached for many, many years all over this country and all other industrial nations.

There is but one method to arrest the growth of bolshevism in America or elsewhere and that is by a continuous education of facts, logic, history and statistics, against it. All that is needed is the whole truth and plenty of it. Every argument, every statement, put out by the revolutionists should be answered right on the spot. It can be and it must be. No greater patriotic service can be rendered the nation than to organize and combat this world-wide bolshevism.

The world-wide discontent, almost entirely manufactured from fiction, is the result of the socialist propaganda for 60 years and is largely due to its results to the fact that the conservative elements of society have watched and waited and nothing else.

We are as unprepared to meet this social discontent as we were unprepared to meet the German armies. Socialists preach for the 'social ownership and operation of every-thing in the matter of wealth production and exchange.

On our part should constantly show that the things which are already socialized have made a miserable failure all over the world. We should show that socialized railways charge twice as much to carry the freight as private railways charges; we should show and prove, because we can, that whenever and wherever government has socialized any kind of business, it has added to the burden of the people and especially the working class. Wherever we have done this socialism has gone down to defeat. If we reduced the price of wheat tomorrow from $2.26 down to 26 cents per bushel, it would not affect the growth of bolshevism by even one voter. Let us get through with this fool talk about buying the workers of the world with cheap food and cheaper laws. Just as long as the socialist argument is unanswered just so long will socialism continue to grow. Let's think it over.

Practically 25,000 BOYS IN "SOLDIERS OF SOIL" ORGANIZATION

That 22,385 boys were enrolled and 20,431 assigned to farmers, as a result of the "Soldiers of the Soil" movement organized under the direction of the Canada Food Board, is shown in the report of the chairman of the Food Board, issued recently by the Department of Agriculture.

Of this enrollment, 10,324 were Ontario boys, 2,283 were from Nova Scotia, 1,925 from Saskatchewan, 1,800 were British Columbia boys, 1,650 belonged to Manitoba, 1,560 were enrolled in Quebec, 1,218 in Alberta, 855 in New Brunswick and 760 in Prince Edward Island.

On account of the shortage of farm laborers, and the urgent need of greater production steps were taken before seeding time in 1913, to enlist this army from 15 to 19 years of age, and an appeal was launched simultaneously in each province, and was made particularly to boys of the High Schools, Collegiate Institutes and Academies to give up their plans for vacation, and go out for three months or more to help the farmers to produce food, according to the report.

It was not altogether an experiment. In some parts of Canada groups had already been organized. In certain provinces the provincial governments had already established agencies through which the boys could be officially assigned to farmers through those departments. The Ontario Trades and Labor Branch and the Manitoba Department of Immigration and Colonization rendered good service. In the other provinces it was necessary to establish practically a new department for the temporary requirements of the "S.O.S." Applications were received from farmers directly.

With the aid of the boy labor, far more extensive seeding operations than had originally been planned by the farmers were carried out. Bronze badges of honor were presented, on behalf of the Food Board, to boys who had served three months on the farm. It is stated in the report.

Now a Complete Truck

HEREAFTER Ford One-Ton Trucks may be bought complete with bodies and cabs, ready for the road.

The Chassis may still be purchased separately.

But in most cases, the Ford Truck will be sold as a complete Ford job. The body as well as the chassis will be planned to give Ford Service.

This radical step in the production of Trucks is being taken to insure the utmost efficiency from the Ford Truck; to give the purchaser Ford value in every part of his truck; to produce better bodies at lower prices.

Two Standard Bodies

The two types of Truck body most widely used are the Stake and the Express.

These types will be kept in stock by Ford dealers and Ford Branches, set up, painted (or in the lead) and ready for prompt delivery.

They are scientifically designed to distribute weight and strain, and to give the utmost loading capacity.

They have oak floors. The sills are of seasoned hickory, clear five-inch members, clamped to the chassis. There are no bolt holes to weaken this sturdy frame.

Specially designed forgings and castings are used throughout the entire job.

The construction at every point provides for rough usage such as every truck is bound to get. There are no outside stake sockets or braces. The sides of the body are free from trouble-making projections.

The driver can step from the cab into the truck body, saving many a trip to the back of the truck.

Enclosed Cab

There never has been any sound reason for an open cab for all-year-round service. A truck goes out in rain and storm. The driver should be protected from unnecessary exposure.

He gets proper protection in the Enclosed Cab of the Ford Truck.

This Cab can be closed up tight, or perfectly ventilated. It has sliding windows and two-way double ventilating windshield.

It is the Coupe idea applied to the Truck.

These Complete Ford Trucks are on Sale NOW

Call and learn what it will cost to use them in your business. Look them over carefully. See how they outclass other Trucks in every detail. This new idea in selling Trucks not only gives you unusual value, but enables you to avoid delay in securing the Truck you need.

GET OFF CORNS WITH FINGERS

Doesn't hurt a bit and costs only few cents.

You laugh. Apply a few drops of the lift sore, touchy corn right off. No pain. Yes, magic!

A few cents buys a tiny bottle of the magic Freestone at any drug store. Apply a few drops of Freestone upon a sore, itching corn or a callus. Instantly that troublesome corn or callus will be lifting, then shortly you lift it out, root and all, without any pain, soreness or irritation. These little bottles of Freestone contain just enough to lift the fest of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes and the scallions on bottom of feet. So easy! So simple. Why wait? No number!

New Fog Alarm.
The installation of the new fog alarm at Cape Forchu has been completed and the "diaphone" was used last week for the first time. The local quality, however, of the new horn is not greatly admired by land-lubbers, but there is no doubt it will prove of more value to seafaring men than the old steam whistle. The diaphone is operated by air, compressed by an oil engine, and will give one blast of four seconds' duration of every thirty seconds during thick weather.

A New, Harmless Way to Banish Hairy Growth (Beauty Topics.)
By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home, remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face. With powdered detolone and water mix enough paste to cover the not wanted hairs; apply in 2 or 3 minutes and wash
the skin. This method is unfeeling, harmless and quick in results, but care should be employed to get the genuine detolone.

Use Coconut Oil
For Washing Hair
If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.
Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful.
Just plain, mild, refined coconut oil (which is pure and entirely grease-less), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure and wash Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two tea-spoonfuls of every kind of hair oil rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, fluffy, and easy to manage.
You can get mulitised coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

In the Kitchen

A great help in Cooking

One of the most remarkable features of OXO CUBES is the economy they effect in cooking. They are an excellent substitute for meat in soups and savouries. They prevent waste and oddments can be served in many appetising ways by their use.

Then contrast the old-fashioned cumbersome way of cooking with the quick, convenient OXO CUBE way. Think of the time saved—the material saved—the fuel saved—and then reckon up that in dollars and cents. But that is not all. OXO increases nutrition—it makes every dish more wholesome and digestible.

TOLERANCE OF SOVIET MISSION IN AMERICA CALLED A MENACE IN UNION LEAGUE CLUB REPORT

Bolsheviks Still Fight Americans in Russia, is Reminder—Theory of Interference in All Governments Declared Dangerous.

(New York Herald.)
Resentment over the establishment of a mission of the Russian Soviet Republic in this country while its armed forces are engaged in conflict with troops of the United States and opposition to diplomatic recognition by the United States of the Russian republic were expressed in the report of the Committee on the Study of Bolshevism of the Union League Club submitted last night. The committee's report was adopted, and the report and resolution will be sent to President Wilson and the other American representatives at the peace conference, to the Attorney General and Representatives in Congress.

The report, which was signed by Archibald E. Stevenson, Robert C. Morris and Theodore F. Sanxay, quoted newspaper accounts of the arrival of Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the Bolshevik envoy, who hopes to be Ambassador to the United States, and his establishment of a "Russian Soviet Bureau" at No. 110 West Porticieta street. Mr. Martens was quoted in replying to a question as to whether his credentials had been acknowledged by the State Department as saying "not yet" and intimating that the department would first have to communicate with Paris.

Well Supplied With Money.
"It appears therefore," the report continued, "that an unofficial diplomatic mission has been established in New York city by the Russian Soviet Republic. It is apparently well supplied with funds, for the bureau has taken an entire floor in the office building referred to. Its commercial department is headed by A. Heller, the legal department is in charge of Morris Hillquit, the chancellery is under the direction of Gregory Weinstein, who was formerly editor of Novy Mir, the railway department is in charge of Professor J. W. Lomonosoff, and the diplomatic department is in charge of Santen Nuorteva, who hitherto has conducted the Bolshevik propaganda in the United States.

The report quoted the following official Bolshevik communiqué received from Moscow on April 8, the same day as the announcement of the arrival of the Bolshevik mission in this country:
"On the Archangel front fighting occurred near Tcherisereko. In the region of Pellausk we advanced twelve miles, capturing several fortified enemy positions. West of Obosersko enemy attacks against Ozerki were frustrated."
"Our troops are the enemy referred to in this communiqué," the report continued.

"Unique Diplomatic Situation."
"These two items of news show that a condition exists in the foreign relations of this country which is unique in its history. Never before has a government with the armed forces of the United States have been engaged in battle openly established a mission within our borders for the purpose of carrying on propaganda looking toward its recognition."
The report criticized the sending by the American representatives at Paris of a mission, consisting of William C. Bullitt, Lincoln Steffens and Walter E. Wey, the purpose of which was said not to have been officially disclosed. This commission, it was stated, has recently returned to Paris and is believed to have expressed itself in favor of a recognition of the Russian republic. For that reason, it was stated, the committee would give details to show that the present Russian government is a class government and is committed to the attempt of the establishment of a similar class rule throughout the world.

"It is in no sense representative of the people of Russia," the report continued, "it is committed to the proposition of the expropriation of all the capitalists and the general liquidation of the Bourgeoisie. The government set up by Nikolai Lenin and his followers is a socialistic state founded upon the principles of the first international and dedicated to the principle that class rule shall maintain throughout the world."
"Saw Right to Start Soviets Here."
The report quoted from various Bolshevik documents to show that the Bolshevik government was committed to the policy of interference in other countries and recalled that the so-called Pan-Colonial Congress of Soviets held in New York city last January held that the constitution of the present government gave American citizens the right to organize Soviets in the United States and to become citizens of the Russian Soviet Republic.

CRERAR PLANNING TO STEP DOWN

Mr. Burrell Also Likely to Seize Early Opportunity for a Change.

Ottawa, April 13.—Possible Cabinet reconstruction is being discussed in formally among the members. It is probable that Mr. Crerar will seize an early opportunity to leave the Government. He still retains his position as head of the Grain Growers Grain Co., which is understood to be worth about ten thousand dollars a year to him. The farmers who constitute the share holders in that company are said to be chafing a little at his absence, and it is well known that he himself is anxious to get back to it. He has frequently stated of late that it is his intention to go back to his work very soon, and Sir Robert Borden will not be back very long before Mr. Crerar leaves the Government, although he will retain his seat in the House. Mr. Burrell, also, will seize the first opportunity to seek translation to the Senate or elsewhere.

There are several pressing contests for the first Western seat in the Cabinet that opens up. Mr. Stevens, of Vancouver, drops into a vacant seat on the front benches to converse with a Minister now and then; and always seems reluctant to go back. Mr. Green of Kootenay, is his strongest Western rival, and so keen is the rivalry between the two that the Government will probably have to resort to the old expedient and choose a dark horse. The Government might probably solve the difficulty by offering it to Mr. Tolmie, of Victoria, B. C., who is a well known stock breeder, and well thought of.—T. M. F.

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

HERE'S a welcome to the returned soldier and his bride. May their wedded life be a long and happy one. If she is a "British Bride" she will be very fond of tea—and good tea, at that. She will first be attracted to Red Rose Tea by the name which will remind her of the "Red Rose" of "Old England". And when she tries it she will again be reminded of the "Homeland", for she will find Red Rose Tea the same kind of Tea that she has used at home—a rich, full-flavored blend, consisting chiefly of ASSAM teas grown in British-owned plantations in northern India. Red Rose Tea is sold always in sealed packages.

The World's Best Bread Wheat

WE call it "Cream of the West" for the best of good reasons. Just as the cream is the best part of milk, similarly the wheat we use is the "very cream" of Western hard wheat, the finest wheat in the world for bread. That is why

Cream of the West Flour
The hard wheat flour that is guaranteed for bread makes splendid, big swelling loaves, always highly nourishing, always dependable.

The reason is, the Western hard wheat we use is exceptionally rich in gluten, the elastic substance that enables the yeast to make the bread rise properly. Besides, the gluten has a wealth of body-building protein which ensures the highest nutritious value.

Cream of the West is always the same high quality and uniform strength. It never varies, never upsets your recipe.

Every shipment of wheat undergoes a test in our laboratory, by which we know exactly what it contains; this test enables us to keep our flour uniform in quality. Not only this, but our expert bakers are continually testing the flour by baking big bulging loaves with it. You can have these splendid results too, with your own bread. Just give Cream of the West the right good trial it deserves. Then you will use it always.

MATCHED TO FIGHT.
It is stated that two bootleggers who have become bad friends, are now in training for a fight to be pulled off on May 1. The place is being kept quiet, and only a few interested friends are to be present.

RECEIVING CONGRATULATIONS.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Recker, of the city, are receiving the congratulations of their numerous friends on the recent arrival of a young son at their home.

THE ABUTTERS' ACT.
The property owners on Prince William Street having considered that a private thoroughfare, have petitioned the powers at City Hall against the paving of the street under the provisions of the Abutters' Act.

ARRIVED AT HALIFAX.
Charles Robinson, Secretary of the New Brunswick Returned Soldiers' Commission, received a telegram from Halifax last night that the steamer Carmania had docked. Officers for this district are Major D. S. Winslow, 76 King Street, Fredericton; Major C. R. Turner, 78 Sydney Street, St. John, and Major J. D. Hickman, 100 St. John Street, St. John.

THE FINAL DRAWINGS.
The final drawings in connection with the Fair in Oddfellows' Hall, West St. John, took place Thursday evening. The drawing was won by Ticket 478, held by J. B. Ham; Ladies' Manicure Set, $29, won by W. McLeod; Bouclair Lamp, won by C. S. Nelson.

FIRST TRIP TO FREDERICTON.
The steamer Majestic made the first trip of the season on Thursday from Indiantown to Fredericton. Owing to the strong current running down the river and to the great quantity of ice that came out from Grand Falls and other points, the steamer did not reach the capital until about eleven o'clock Thursday night.

THE RIVER RISING.
The recent rain storm has caused the water to rise considerably in the river. Yesterday afternoon at Indiantown the lower end of Bridge Street, with many of the wharves were covered with water, and while the water is rising slowly, it is not thought the freshets will be as high as in previous springs.

THE VALLEY ROAD.
Thos. Corzolino, contractor on the Valley Road, left last night on the Halifax Express en route to his home in Sydney, N.S. Speaking to the Standard at the Royal Hotel last evening, he stated that trains would be in operation on the Valley road in about two months' time. At present some seventy-five men were being employed on the road, working at and above Westfield.

SACRED CONCERT ENJOYED.
The sacred concert in Saint Andrew's Church, Germain Street, last evening was attended by a large audience. The following is the order of the exercises: Hymn 51; Organ Recital, Mr. Cochrane; Anthem, "Arise," Choir; Solo, "Calvary," Mr. Guy; "The Radiant Morn," Choir; Solo, "God Shall Wipe All Tears," Mrs. LeCheur; "The Redeemer Liveth," Church Choir; Organ Selection, Mr. Cochrane, and Hymn 50.

ACTING MAYOR OF CHARLOTTETOWN.
J. J. Mackinnon, acting mayor of Charlottetown and chairman of the street committee of that municipality, was in the city last night en route home from Montreal where he had been making investigations regarding street paving processes and arranging for work to be done on the thoroughfare of the capital city in the garden province.

FIVE TROOP TRAINS.
Five troop trains with soldiers and dependents left Thursday night with the passengers from the Minnedosa. The train for Montreal was the first to leave, setting under way at 8 o'clock, followed by the Toronto train at 8:30, the Berlin and British Columbia train at 9:30, and the Regina and Montreal train at 10:30. The train for Newfoundland, leaving its wife to be accompanied by the Red Cross secretary, had a full complement of comforts for the boys while on the march.

Rhodes Scholar Had Experience

William J. Rose Arrived on Minnedosa—Returns from War-torn Poland After Spending Four Years in That Country.

Fresh from war-torn Poland, after spending four years in the country, William J. Rose, Winnipeg, arrived Thursday afternoon on the S.S. Minnedosa.

Mr. Rose, who is a Rhodes scholar from the University of Manitoba, went to Germany in 1912 to take up post-graduate study of languages, but after a year and a half in Germany he went to the University at Prague, where he became a member of the Czech-Slovak nation, and started the new post-graduate student association work there.

He was there six months before the war broke out, the cloudburst landing him in Silesia just behind the southern line of the front. He was friendly with the people and they were friendly to him, and the Austrian authorities taking him for an American, he was not interned. In the spring following the outbreak of war he learned the Polish language, during his enforced idleness.

The place was full of Austrian secret service men and the people were sternly suppressed, but on the day of the old Emperor Franz Joseph, the general staff moved to Vienna and affairs in Silesia improved with the passing of the court.

Nothing could be bought during those terrible days for the possession of wealth alone was not sufficient to keep one in comfort. Mr. Rose has seen a pair of ordinary woolen hose sell for an amount equal to $15, and a spool of cotton thread bring an amount equal to $10. The Slav peasants were able to exist on gifts from each other, and happy indeed was the person who could possess butter, eggs, fats or meat.

In the crash caused by the collapse of Bulgaria the Silesian Poles established a national council, which became the local government of Austrian Silesia.

On November fifth, last, after the revolution, the members of the government asked Mr. Rose to go to Vienna as an authoritative Pole to establish a commonwealth with the country, and the entente authorities, but after visiting many of the important persons at Vienna, Trieste and other points he found that nothing could be done outside of Paris.

In Paris he was met by E. C. Carter, head of the American Y. M. C. A., who presented him to Col. House, of the American general staff. At the American embassy he made out a memorandum for the members of the British and American peace delegates, telling them as much as he could of the situation in Austria-Hungary and warning of the danger of Bolshevism.

The following week he went to London where he stayed for five weeks, and was appointed by the foreign office as an envoy to discuss facts about the dispute between the Czechs and Poles over the Silesian coal fields.

After some delay the British military council granted him a passport to Poland, and after four weeks in France he held in Y. M. C. A. and peace conference work, he started back to Silesia with the American Red Cross train to Warsaw.

In Silesia, which he returned, he found a veritable civil war progressing over the disputed coal areas, and a parcel of Polish ground which was claimed by both parties. Getting through, he spent two weeks at Cracow and Warsaw, in the latter place making a full report on the needs of welfare work and concluding a report to the Allied tribunals regarding the Silesian dispute for the Paris conference.

While in Silesia he was urged to return home by the sudden illness of his mother at Winnipeg, and two weeks ago saw him in Paris en route home.

THEY OPPOSED DAYLIGHT SAVING
Teamsters and Chauffeurs Hear Addresses and Oppose New Time Until Government Enacts Law for Eight Hour Day.

The Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union, Local 661, held a meeting in their hall, corner Union Street and St. John Street, Thursday evening, with President Winchester in the chair. A large number of members were in attendance, and four members were initiated.

Boy Scouts' Assn. Annual Meeting Arrived Thursday

Encouraging Reports Received at Provincial Session—Officers Elected and Important Matters Discussed.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Provincial Boy Scouts' Association was held in the offices of the Canadian Boy, 100 Prince William Street, Thursday afternoon. A representative number of members were present, among whom were the following: A. C. Skelton in the chair, Professor J. A. Stiles, Rev. J. S. Gregg, J. D. Tothill, H. O. Eaman and P. Gibson.

The usual routine business having been disposed of, the election of officers then took place. Those for the next year are: Provincial commissioner—A. C. Skelton. Provincial president—S. E. Elkin, M. P.

The above are, strictly speaking, recommendations, as the final appointment is made by the Chief Scout, the Duke of Devonshire. Honorary president—Hon. W. H. Thorne. Vice-presidents—Rev. H. A. Coder, Rev. J. S. Gregg and Col. F. Wedderburn.

Provincial secretary—Percy Gibson. Provincial treasurer—E. H. Turnbull. Added to council—Col. J. McAvity, T. H. Estabrooks, F. W. Daniel, Dr. H. S. Bridges, Chas. C. Jones.

A medal board for the purpose of examining all claims for awards in connection with life saving and other meritorious actions was also formed consisting of Dr. H. S. Bridges, Chancellor C. C. Jones and Percy Gibson.

The retiring officer was Professor J. A. Stiles who has received appointment as assistant Dominion commissioner. The report read by the acting Maritime secretary, H. O. Eaman, was most comprehensive and encouraging, as it showed the Boy Scout training had been arrived at through having established the Maritime headquarters last year. New centres are being heard from and local associations formed.

Among other things under discussion were the bye-laws, Baden Powell's appeal on behalf of the Roumanian Boy Scouts, Camp Recommendations, etc.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. J. T. MATTHEWS Dropped Dead Yesterday Morning While Performing House Work in Her Home, 203 Sydney Street.

Relatives and friends were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Joseph T. Matthews at her home, 203 Sydney Street, White Lake, yesterday morning. Mrs. Matthews had not been in the best health for some time past she was able to be about and attend to her shopping and household duties. Yesterday morning she appeared as well as usual and about 9:30 o'clock while performing her household work she fell over on the floor and expired instantly.

Neighbors immediately telephoned for doctors but were unable to get to respond immediately to the call and when the coroner's inquest was held. The deceased was beloved by a wide circle of friends who are deeply grieved and extend their deepest sympathy to her bereaved husband and family in the loss of a loving wife and mother.

JOHN K. PERCEY DIED YESTERDAY

Provincial Manager of Sovereign Life Insurance Company Had Been Ill But a Few Days With Pneumonia.

John King Percy, aged forty-five years, provincial manager of the Sovereign Life Insurance Company, succumbed last evening about six o'clock in the Saint John Infirmary, after a few days' illness of pneumonia. The deceased was well and favorably known in the city and province, his business bringing him in contact with a large number of persons. He came from St. John's, Newfoundland, some time ago, and entered business in the city with the Sovereign Life Company, and met with success. He leaves to mourn his wife, who fortunately reached the infirmary in time to be with her husband at the last, having just returned from a visit to relatives, and hearing of her husband's illness hurriedly reached his bedside.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the residence of Mrs. J. A. Draper, 25 Elliott Row, with services at Trinity church at two-thirty.

Be sure to send the children to the Opera House this afternoon to see the funny Puppets Show, the funny manning fight from the old country. A great treat for the kiddies, and the grown-ups will like them just as much. Two performances this afternoon at 2 and 8:30.

S. S. Minnedosa Uneventful Voyage of Eight Days from Liverpool—Brought 1,765 Passengers, of Which 396 Were Officers and Men.

After an uneventful voyage of eight days from Liverpool the S.S. Minnedosa arrived here Thursday afternoon on her last visit of the season.

It was thought that the heavy rain and fog of the early afternoon would delay the vessel, but a light breeze like that did not stop her and four o'clock saw the gag-plank going up the side of the vessel to the strains of "O Canada" from thearrison band.

The welcome committees were all present and the large number of women and children on board gave the relief organizations a strenuous day. The cabins were surrounded, the rest of the rooms were filled and every one present was cheerful and mighty glad to be home again.

There was a total passenger list of 1,765, of which 396 were officers and men of the reorganized military party in command of Lieut. Col. Henry J. Lamb, D. S. O., Windsor, Ont., formerly of the public works department at Ottawa. He was attached to the third brigade in France, but has spent some time at the war office, London.

Among the passengers for New Brunswick were: Stewards—B. Baird, St. John; Sub-Lieut. F. J. Baker, St. John; Mrs. M. Calvin, Grand Bay; Mrs. Fairbank, Grand Bay; Mrs. John; Mrs. M. Gorman, Fredericton; Cadet P. M. Simms, St. John; L. W. St. John; Margaret Menzies, Sackville; Joseph Byrne, St. Stephen; Charles Keshaw, wife and son, Moncton; Helen Matherson, St. John; Mrs. Dorothy M. Barnes, Apsalug; Florrie Foster, Mrs. Marian Moore, Miss Kathleen Moore, Miss Eileen Moore, Philip Moore, Charles Moore, Mrs. Ruby E. Moore, Stewards—Muriel, Mrs. Daisy Peters and child, all of St. John; Amy K. Smith, Grand Bay, N. B.

The returning fishing men from New Brunswick were: Pte. Herbert Beach, St. John; Pte. Geo. DuGuay, Campbellton; Pte. Samuel R. Hurroff, Moncton; Pte. Arthur E. Macdonald, St. John; Pte. Ernest Peters, St. John; Pte. Harry A. Tozer, St. John; Pte. Moseley Barnes, St. John; Sgt. George L. Calvin, Grand Bay.

The most distinguished military passenger was Major General C. A. Blacklock, B. C. M. C., D. S. O., of Victoria, who for some time was commander of the Third Division in France. Major G. R. Gilles, O. B. E., the senior staff officer who holds a command in the Forestry Corps for some time, Capt. R. O. Bull, M. C., is of the staff of the 10th Battalion in France.

The men were general in their praise of the conduct of the ship's officials and the quality of the food served during the trip. Most of them were old timers, several having regiments numbers as low as 200, and they were all glad to be home, nothing else mattered.

HOLY THURSDAY WAS OBSERVED

Solemn Pontifical Mass at the Cathedral When Bishop LeBlanc Was Assisted by Visiting Clergymen.

Holy Thursday was observed in the city churches with special services. At the cathedral, Waterloo Street, Solemn Pontifical Mass was read, St. Joseph's religious exercises. His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc pontificated, with Rev. J. A. Stiles, C. E. C., president of St. Joseph's University, in the chair; Rev. W. M. Duke, as deacon; Rev. F. Hannigan, Chipman, as sub-deacon; Rev. J. L. Coughlin, W. L. Moore and R. L. Fraser, as deacons of honor. Rev. J. A. Stiles, C. E. C., president of St. Joseph's University, in the chair; Rev. J. A. Stiles, C. E. C., president of St. Joseph's University, in the chair; Rev. J. A. Stiles, C. E. C., president of St. Joseph's University, in the chair.

Yesterday the mass of the Pre-sanctified was celebrated at 10 o'clock by His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc assisted by many other priests, among whom were a large number of visiting Catholic clergy. At the services on Thursday evening after the chant of the "Te Deum" Rev. Father O'Brien, Norton, delivered a sermon touching on the "Real Presence." Father O'Brien is an excellent speaker and his sermon was handled ably, being listened to by a congregation which crowded the large edifice to its utmost capacity.

DOLLMANS AND CAPES BRING BACK THE AGE OF ROMANCE. Surely they were evoked straight from the age of romance—these enveloping wraps with their elusive suggestion of mystery—one can almost picture a timid runaway heroine of early Victorian times, shrinking with terror in the voluminous folds of some ancient protective garment. Of all the Period modes exploited this Easter season at Dykeman's, they are the most gracious and picturesque. Many exquisite examples of these wraps and Coats featured in today's special Easter display. There's the Dollman Cape with its orderly rows of buttons down its seams from shoulder to arm openings, and displays a dainty French Blue lining of Silk. All these wraps favor such soft and drapable woolsens or serges, Pointe-Twill, Tricotine, and Broadcloth. Linings are beautiful and the wraps are perfectly finished. An accommodating scale of prices. $25.00 to $85.00.

AN EYE FOR
Captain Kettle stepped out from the little knoll that sheltered him, and ran rapidly across the open. The Gormas bullets hummed near his legs, and spat up fountains of dust from the ground below, but he went steadily on to where the man was writhing and squirming in the barbed wire, and with brisk, capable fingers disintegrated him.
"The man said: 'Go away, you damned fool. I'm done for.'"
"If you speak to me like that, you are a brick," returned the little sailor, "I will stamp the tripod out of you. Say 'Sir' when you address me. Add 'Lift up your shoulder elbow. I've got all the rest clear now. Will it hurt you if I lift you by your left arm?'"
"I'd rather you left me alone. I'm done in. I'm shot through the backbone. Thank you very much, but I can't do any more. These regulator doctors to—"
"If you go now," said Kettle, "and mind don't knock off my hat, because it's the only one I've got outside, and I have them built at Scott's, and can't buy another nearer."
"It's jolly decent of you," said the soldier faintly, as Kettle lowered him gently down from the short tangle behind the knoll, "but you've wasted my wind. I'm a goner."
"If I had a bottle of Horner's Perfect Cure, you'd make you as fit as a fiddle. Horner's has cured worse than yours. As it is, I'm afraid you'll have to wait till I can get you to those regulator doctors to patch you up."
"You can't fix me a drink? I'd be real glad to infer on. It's the very best I've had."
"You're a good sort," said Kettle, "but when I'm myself, you shall have something better. I'll get you a bottle of other folks' cod liver oil, and put it on your head—"
"He's got no further use for it. Now take a grip on your nerve, and expect me back in twenty minutes."
"You're a good sort," said the soldier faintly, "but when I'm myself, you shall have something better. I'll get you a bottle of other folks' cod liver oil, and put it on your head—"

ST. JOHN

After a year of national anxiety, mingled at times with grave doubts, which, however, eventually disappeared with the signal of the armistice, and the hope of a permanent peace, we come again to the celebration of the most wonderful event in the world's history—the Crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. Tomorrow, Easter Day will probably be more earnestly and thoughtfully celebrated than ever before, for to many thousands of hearts there is a new and personal meaning in the circumstances surrounding that first resurrection. The wealth of bloom in the fields, the green of the trees, the fragrance and brightness of the Easter blossoms, the home, the hospital and the various charitable institutions, all are covered by the fragrance and brightness of the Easter blossoms. The proverbial Easter egg occupied a prominent place in the shop windows, and since the egg is looked upon as a symbol of life, it is commonly thought to signify the birth of spring or at this season as symbolizing the birth into a new life.

A number of ladies and gentlemen, chaperoned by Major and Mrs. Percy McAvity, enjoyed a dinner dance at the Bungalow last Saturday evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. K. I. CONGRATULATIONS, MY DAUGHTER, YOU ARE LOOKING FINE

"AND why shouldn't I look well after using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"Is that what has made such a change in your appearance? You were so pale and thin, I was rather anxious about your health."

"Why, I have gained fifteen pounds, and I feel so well, too."

"And you have such a good, healthy color. Your blood must be rich and red."

"I knew you were suspicious of anything that our doctor did not prescribe, so I said nothing about it to you."

"Well, I will not have any doubts about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the future after what a healthy looking girl it has made of you."

"Yes, and I feel so differently, too. I was so nervous and irritable that I was very easily annoyed and upset. Then I would have those fearful nervous headaches. But, thank goodness, that is all over, and I know what to give credit for the change."

"I am very glad you are so well again and think Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a very valuable medicine, since it has done you so much good."

Miss Gertrude M. Burrell, Clementsport, N.S., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results. For a number of years I was afflicted with nervousness, and six years ago had a complete breakdown. I had no control of my nerves and had terrible hysterical spells. I could not sleep, had night sweats and migraines. My physician gave me medicine to put me to sleep every night, and another kind to take every two hours during the day, but it did not seem to do me any good only while I was taking it. I never really expected to get well. Reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I gave it a trial, and the results from the first box encouraged me, so I continued its use, and found my nerves getting steady and stronger. My appetite improved and I gained in strength and flesh. Now I am able to do considerable work, and can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a good tonic for the whole system."

(Alonso W. Daniels, J.P., says: "it gives me great satisfaction to vouch for the testimony of this young lady and the benefit she has received from your wonderful discovery.")

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

WELL SATISFIED WITH BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Edmund Gagne, Tikuap, Que., writes:—"I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets. They are absolutely necessary in homes where there are little children. They cured my baby of constipation and I would not be without them." Thousands of mothers always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand as a safeguard against constipation, colic, solids, simple fevers or any other of the minor ills of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY

With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

Weekly Chat

Dearst Boys and Girls:— Most of you will be reading our page in time to receive Easter Greetings and I wish you all to have a happy Easter holiday. May the day be bright and fair than we can enter into the joyous Easter spirit with more sincerity than when it is a mere duty and dreary. However, our hearts can keep bright and glad no matter what the weather man may contribute for we know the Easter story and it happened so many years ago.

Easter has always been known as the movable feast, for its date is regulated by the moon so that it never comes on the same date twice in succession and even comes in different months. After the death of Christ on Good Friday so many centuries ago, you remember having read of the soldiers which were placed on guard by the tomb, where His body lay, so that the angels were not to see him and claim Him after death. But what a thrill of joy those loved ones must have had when the angels came and the tomb was found to be empty and the stone rolled away from the tomb and then Christ came forth and with them walked away. The great stone had placed in front of the tomb seemed secure enough with the guard watching day and night. But on the second night a strange and wonderful light was seen slowly rising in the East, the birds began to sing beautiful songs and a great stir seemed to be everywhere about as the angels from heaven rolled away the huge stone. A pretty Easter legend tells us that pure white lilies all about had come forth and bloomed and they marked the footsteps of Jesus and the angels. That is why we have always associated the lily with the Easter time. How many of you have lilies growing in your gardens? and indeed how many of you have little gardens of your own? I hope you have not yet planted any. It is possible to make ready the ground, plant your own seeds and give them all the care they must have to mature and become beautiful and healthy plants. Do you know kiddies that I think gardens are very fascinating places indeed and I do wish I had one to work at just now. The ground is ready fertilized and made fine, with stones removed—the seeds are put in and you have such pleasure in watching them grow. The anticipation is pleasanter than the realization I admit. Whether the results are satisfactory or not, the habit of forming a real good habit to form, there is lots of pleasure and contentment obtained from it, and besides the exercise in the little hands which use the much of the surplus energy which little folks are apt to have.

Once the seeds are in the ground your imagination can scope for you. You can hear the tap, tap of the rain on the window pane and you know that the seeds are being watered as well, then the little plants begin to take hold of the soil and after that they reach up a hand to catch all the sunbeams. So that the new plant sprouting from the soil and you planted will receive its food and nourishment both from the soil and the air steadily growing each day after the first signs of life appear. I do want you to tell me of your garden plans and you must have some of the seeds to plant. I will be glad to hear of the successes. Some will have beautiful flowers to report, others may prefer growing the delicious "potatoes" and the good preparation and afterwards the skillful care.

We can not always depend upon the raindrops coming when necessary so there may often be the watering necessary. Then those unweeding seeds if allowed to flourish, they will certainly root the ground of all the food which your seeds will need so they must be picked out as fast as they appear. While choosing your seeds your minds may be on flowers, so I have a garden puzzle for you to try today, as well as other suitable to the season.

Heaps of love and a very happy Easter to all the pals.

Answers To Letters

MARION PEARSON—I am sure you are taking notice of all the signs Marion and your letter will fall in line with interest, so I thought the other members should read it too.

FLORENCE MEGARITY—Your letter was too late for last Saturday's issue, but you will understand why you are in today's list. We welcome you to our C. C.

JOSIE HARRIS, Woodstock—So glad to hear that pleased you so much, I trust today's will be even more in your favor. Sorry to hear of you being sick.

LINDA KEITH, Lower Ridge—Glad to hear from you. Write a longer letter sometime and tell me next time how old you are.

LAURA FLEWELLING—I am delighted to recall you as a member Laura, and you write a very good letter. Your bright eyes have seen lots of signs of spring also. Glad to hear from you again, but I did not receive any blossoms yet.

ETHEL MAXWELL, St. George—You sorry to hear you have been ill and hope you will continue to improve. You were able to notice our little friends the birds as they returned to the north.

MILDRED STODDARD, Beaufort—I should think it is much like Spring to you with so many lambs and calves frisking about. Thanks for Easter wishes. May I return them to you? Your writing is excellent.

GRACE DAVENPORT—You certainly showed me in this letter that you can puncture that as if you did it yourself. How I should like to have a ride with Viny as the horse. One of your puzzles was not complete, that is, you did not state why the whole would be. Thanks for wishes, accept mine for you.

STELLA M. GIBBON, Apohaqui—You can get a book for Thrift Stamps in any bank by just asking for it. Of course stamps are worth twenty-five cents whereas the little green ones are worth only ten cents. You will not mind the members reading it today too. I always love to feel sure we shall not have to wait much longer. Indeed I saw Merry Sunshine dancing near the edge of the forest yesterday. I feel quite hopeful.

META M. LONG, Sussex, R. R. No. 1—I was glad to hear from you again and I know you will be pleased to win a stamp by sending in the Golden Glow, the Elder Buds having been acknowledged before. It pleases me to hear that you are enjoying the Children's Corner so much for all of us like encouragement, don't we?

KIDDIES' LETTERS

Beaufort, N. B. Dear Uncle Dick:— I have not written to you for a long time, and will do so now. Hope you are well. The snow is nearly all gone here now. It sounds good to hear the birds sing again and to know that they reach up a hand to catch all the sunbeams. So that the new plant sprouting from the soil and you planted will receive its food and nourishment both from the soil and the air steadily growing each day after the first signs of life appear. I do want you to tell me of your garden plans and you must have some of the seeds to plant. I will be glad to hear of the successes. THE EASTER RABBIT

Shrill and sharp North Wind whistled through the forest where the trees and flowers were patiently awaiting the arrival of My Lady Spring Jack Frost was delighted. Perched on the topmost branches of the great trees he laughed gleefully. "Hal hal hal surely Old Father Winter has forgotten that April is almost here," said he. "I shall not remind him, not I. They say My Lady Spring who is waiting in Wild-Flower Hollow is growing most impatient!"

"And so am I," whispered Mother Maple to her neighbor Dame Oak. "I've told my babies many pleasant stories about My Lady Spring and her companion Merry Sunshine. I'm afraid I shall be unable to keep them in their dark cradles much longer."

"Oh, do hold them back a few days," said Dame Oak. "You remember what trouble that rude rollicking fellow Jack-Frost made last year. So long as he is here he insists on playing with all the babies of the forest. I do wish Lady Spring would come and tell him to be off."

"He'll never go long as his bold brother North Wind remains," sighed Silver Birch.

"Have no mind," said Dame Oak. "I feel sure we shall not have to wait much longer. Indeed I saw Merry Sunshine dancing near the edge of the forest yesterday. I feel quite hopeful!"

"Oh, how happy I shall be to hear 'Theirs' song again!" said Silver Birch.

"And the happy children's voices! They haven't been to the forest since nutting season," said Dame Oak. "I'm sure they are longing to hear the Children's Corner so much for all of us like encouragement, don't we?"

"Not a bird or blossom anywhere. See how brown and bare that bank is!" said one.

"And Easter is almost here. I wonder why Lady Spring is so late!" said another.

"Maybe she has forgotten us," said a tiny companion.

"I am very disappointed. Last year at this time that bare was the brown earth, the fresh green grass, the violets. Come, let us go home! And away ran the children."

"I shall wait no longer," said Lady Spring. "Away danced Merry Sunshine and Lady Spring followed in trailing robes of green and white."

Wayward her silver wand over the bank of Wild-Flower Hollow she whispered, "Ready, Violets; come, Starry Bluet; my sweet Anemone, you need wait no longer. Ah, brave Arbutus, I see you were expecting me. Did you think I was never coming, my darling Spring Beauty?"

How radiant Lady Spring looked waving her magic wand here and there through the forest. Wherever she stooped and touched the brown earth, the fresh green grass leaped forth; where she tapped the great tree trunks the bare branches above instantly veiled themselves in tender green. She waved at the brooklet and away it ran over the moss and pebbles.

"Sing, Merry Sunshine, dance and sing!" Lady Spring called to her companion.

Merry Sunshine thrilled the gayest song. It rang sweetly through forest and echoed far away over the hills to the South where the birds were waiting patiently for the call. How glad they came! Bluebird and Bobolink and the Chickadee, the Blackbird and Thrush and Wren—all the forest warblers answered Merry Sunshine's Song of Spring.

"When are the children coming?" asked Dame Oak.

"Oh, to be sure! I must not forget to send them word that I am here. Robin Redbreast will you take a message of Spring to the children? I'm sure they will want to see the lovely songs."

"And Mr. Coon had a long and private talk with Jimmy Coon about his family, and about his ability to give Carrie a good home. And Jimmy Coon trembled when he feared that he might lose pretty little Miss Carrie Coon; and he stammered, "Mr. Coon, my family is one of the oldest and best families in the North. We have one of the biggest houses around Mirror Pond."

"Tiddy Pogram of Mirror Pond is my first Cousin; and Mr. Black Bear is also my first Cousin, and our Family Tree is the biggest and tallest in the Great Forest at Mirror Pond."

And Mrs. Coon had a very long and plain talk with Jimmy Coon; and she asked him all about his mother, and how she dressed, and also all about his sisters and their clothes.

and looked quickly about in all directions. Lady Spring was puzzled. "Bunny," said Robin, "couldn't you go at night? You know the dogs and boys go to sleep then and you can hop so softly that I'm sure they would not hear you. Besides, your ears are very sharp."

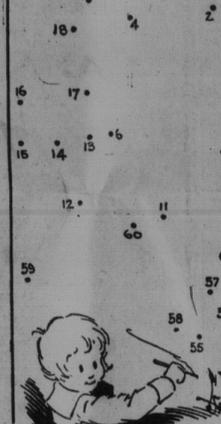

"Well, perhaps I could go at midnight," said Bunny, thoughtfully. "But how could I take a message to the children without waking them?"

"On Easter morning, Merry Sunshine wakened the children early. "Bee! I found this little moss nest on the doo-see," cried one of them. "There is a wild-dove and three colored eggs in it. How beautiful!"

"I will come," said Bunny. Lady Spring made a beautiful basket out of twigs and leaves and grasses. She lined it with the softest moss. Around the top she placed a garland of choicest wild flowers. And when the birds know that she was sending a message to the children, each one wished to help her. So they strewed lovely little eggs of all colours—greenish blue, brown, white and spotted. How beautiful they looked lying on the bed of moss wreathed with flowers.

A little before midnight Bunny came to Wild-Flower Hollow.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By DR. WARREN G. PARTRIDGE

As a handsome as she ever was in her shining lagoon, Jimmy Coon screwed up his courage to ask Mr. and Mrs. Coon for the hand of their lovely daughter, Carrie Coon, as his mate. Mr. and Mrs. Coon were very particular about a mate for their daughter. You see they both belonged to two of the oldest and best families in the North. We have one of the biggest houses around Mirror Pond.

And Mr. Coon had a long and private talk with Jimmy Coon about his family, and about his ability to give Carrie a good home. And Jimmy Coon trembled when he feared that he might lose pretty little Miss Carrie Coon; and he stammered, "Mr. Coon, my family is one of the oldest and best families in the North. We have one of the biggest houses around Mirror Pond."

Tiddy Pogram of Mirror Pond is my first Cousin; and Mr. Black Bear is also my first Cousin, and our Family Tree is the biggest and tallest in the Great Forest at Mirror Pond."

And Mrs. Coon had a very long and plain talk with Jimmy Coon; and she asked him all about his mother, and how she dressed, and also all about his sisters and their clothes.

Now Jimmy Coon, do you think you can give our daughter just as good a home as we have? My daughter Carrie is very fond of fine clothes; and she is the best dressed girl at the parties at Shining Lagoon. And we want to know if you can keep up the style Carrie is used to? Are you willing to work hard and be a success in life, and give her a beautiful home?"

And Jimmy Coon trembled, fearing he could not keep up such a style as Carrie's family was used to. But Jimmy had such a wonderful love in his heart for little Carrie, that he made a great resolution, saying, "Mr. Coon, I'll promise you that I'll take my coat off, and I'll work my hands to the very bone to make dear Carrie a happy home! I'll promise on my word of honor, that I'll keep her dressed just as handsomely as she ever was in her shining lagoon. I'll get her a lovely house right away. And my mother says I'm a wonderful provider; and I'll keep the pantry full of the nicest fresh birds' eggs, and lovely fresh chickens, and frogs, and green and black snakes and black crickets, and field mice, and wild grapes, and persimmons, and all nice things to eat. And mother says, I'm the best fisherman at Mirror Pond! And we'll have fresh fish every Friday!"

And Mr. Coon had a long and private talk with Jimmy Coon about his family, and about his ability to give Carrie a good home. And Jimmy Coon trembled when he feared that he might lose pretty little Miss Carrie Coon; and he stammered, "Mr. Coon, my family is one of the oldest and best families in the North. patch and ammunition carriers, trench or sentinal dogs, and dogs of all the classes for war dogdom find their way here for the injuries of the animals are almost as many as those of the soldiers in the military hospitals. The flames of the diabolical flammenwerfer, the splinters of bombs and shells, shrapnel, machine-gun and rifle bullet wounds, even the jab of the bayonet, and nearly all the other horrible means for causing bodily injuries are to be found as the causes of the wounds of the brave animals. Indeed, a broken leg, or a torn ear, is among the least serious of "cases."

Every dog, as it comes in, is taken to the veterinary ward situated in a separate building, and most carefully is it examined and treated by the veterinary surgeons. A human being could not have his wounds dressed with greater caution and softness of hand than the wounded war dog in Neuilly dog hospital. Then each case is transferred to the kennels, where it is as carefully and methodically looked after—even to the dieting as with a human patient. While the shell-shock "cases" obtain just as much sympathetic treatment and suitable medicinal attention as any poor stricken soldier from the front.

Many are the canine heroes that have passed through this merciful place of healing. Perhaps most famous of all has been the patrol-dog, a wolf-hound, who not so long ago tracked down a notable military spy behind the front, and in the final encounter with him was severely wounded in the chest and, also, the rattling terrier, that, while busy at work hunting these infectious trench vermin, burrowed its way after one into an unsuspected tunnel underground, which the enemy had driven, and by its timely warning not only saved the French battalion at hand, but also occasioned the capture of many German sappers.

BUTTERFLY. Oh! butterfly! with your golden wings New Scotia's high over my head. But yesterday evening a withered leaf, At the thought of being born, I believe you fly from very joy At the thought of being born. Did you come to show me in yourself The meaning of Easter Morn'.

BOYS! GIRLS! Make Big Money Selling Illuminated Service Records.

Everybody wants to see a record of their own or their loved ones' military service. It is a permanent record of glorious service in the great war. This beautiful scroll, ready for framing, sell for only 15 cents each. One agent ordered a few to begin with and immediately repeated for 100. Within a week she ordered 300 more and now wants 2,000. These beautiful scrolls are really wonderfully cheap at 15 cents. Agents also make big money selling our patriotic pictures at 10 and 15 cents each.

Don't send us any money! Prove, before you pay. We trust you. Let us send you a trial assortment of $5 worth. When you've sold them send us $2 and keep $1 yourself. Do not let us have your money for the big quantity you're sure to want. Then let us send you the big quantity. The Gold Medal Company, Dept. S.S. 25 511 Jarvis Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Just the Man. The young and inexperienced motorcyclist was bent upon breaking all records. He did very well until he came to a portion of the road where ripples were going on, and the next thing he knew was that his was a hazy sort of dream, and that it seemed a pity that in this particular town all the houses should be built upside-down.

By and by they dug him out of the wreck, and took him to the first doctor's establishment they came to. But the owner of the establishment shook his head.

"I can do nothing for this youth," he said, "I'm a veterinary surgeon."

"Never mind, doctor," moaned the patient. "You go ahead. You're the right man for me. I was an ass to think I could run that machine!"

Down the Pipe. A few years ago a fire occurred early on morning at a boarding school, and as the staircase was well lighted before it was discovered, the pupils had to seek some other means of escape.

The companion to an elderly invalid lady was reading the newspaper report of the fire to her, which stated that several boys escaped down a water-pipe at the back of the house.

"At this statement the old lady exclaimed: "But how thin the poor dears must have been!"

Asking Too Much. Belonging to certain Yeomanry regiment was a youth of very small stature, who, to make himself look as big as the rest, had a very tall horse. It was well known that Private Robinson could not mount unassisted so there was great amusement when one day they heard the said Private Robinson dismount.

Private Robinson gave no sign. Again the order was given, with a like result. A third time the captain gave the order, "Private Robinson, dismount." But the little private, long patience at last, roared out: "Don't be silly, captain; you know I can't get on again!"

"My son Harold is so poetic," said one lady to another in a tramcar the other day. "He writes a poem every day."

"Have you ever tried rubbin' his joints with barbershop liment, mum?" interrupted an old woman with a market basket at her feet, who was seated at the lady's elbow and overheard the remark. "That'll straighten his out as quick as anything I know of, if he ain't got it too bad."

"No, the governor doesn't pay me more than I'm worth," said another. "How in the world do you manage to live on such a small salary?"

Quite Confident. Willie and Tommy are two youngsters who are pugilistically inclined. The other day the following conversation took place between them: "Aw," said Willie tauntingly, "you're afraid t' fight—that's 't' it is!"

"Naw, I ain't," protested Tommy, stoutly, "but if I fight my fatherly find it out and thrash me."

"How'd he find it out, eh?" "

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE.

Hurry, Mother! Remove poison from little stomach, liver, bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, bilious or feverish.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given. If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, ferocious, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sour throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels, without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mother, can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative" because it never fails to cleanse, soothe the one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they directly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

This Skin Peeler All the Rage in Society
There is a growing tendency among women of culture and fashion to pay more attention to hygienic means of preserving their charms. The advent of mercurized wax doubtless has been largely responsible for this. This remarkable substance produces complexion so natural in appearance, so magnetically beautiful, artificial complexions are no longer desired. Instead of "doctoring" an offensive skin, the skin is peeled off. The wax peels the skin so gradually, in such fine particles, no discomfort is experienced. The fresher, younger skin beneath, wholly in evidence within a week or two, is lily white, satiny soft and smooth. It's not a patch-over complexion, but a brand new one. That's why mercurized wax has become such a rage among society folk. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings. All druggists have it; one ounce will do.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN

THE FLANDERS LILIES.
(By Lucy Hyatt.)
On Flanders fields where poppies grew
The Easter lilies spring up, too,
And shed their fragrance far and wide,
In memory of those lads who died.

Who died—but yet who live again,
In realms beyond our mortal ken;
Who fought—in no losing fight,
For them do bloom the lilies white.

And on this resurrection morn,
New life and hope to us are born,
While Easter lilies bud and blow
On Flanders fields where poppies grow.

DAINTINESS.
Daintiness is an essential. Not just mere cleanliness, but that super-cleanliness that is expressed in that one attractive word—daintiness. Without it, no woman is pretty; and with it the homeliest woman is lovely.

The real dainty and pretty woman would not go about with a shiny nose, any more than she would go out with dirty face. She would take care to rub on a little powder, or to wipe off the shine with a bit of chamomile—indeed, she would treat her skin so as to overcome the oiliness that makes the nose unduly shiny.

The really dainty woman would not go out with her suit or dress showing wrinkles. If tailors are expensive, it's easy enough to press a tailored suit at home. The skirt is the only part that needs frequent pressing, and this any woman can do. Any woman can keep her shoes shined, too. The well-groomed girl never goes out without rubbing off her shoes to smarten their appearance.

The really dainty woman keeps her gloves new looking—a process that takes a little time, but that means frequent pressing, and this any woman can do. Any woman can keep her shoes shined, too. The well-groomed girl never goes out without rubbing off her shoes to smarten their appearance.

Needless to say, lingerie should be changed very few days. Some fastidious women have a complete change of underthings every day. This is surely the gainly and ideal way, but those who have to reckon with laundry expenses cannot always do quite so particular.

The diner out was exploding with wrath. "Waiter," he called, "come here at once! Here's a pin in this salad!"
"Yesir, yesir!" said the waiter imperturbably. "That's part of the dressing sir!"

costume accessory, the sweeter this season threatens to go beyond itself for inspiration, and you hear of such things as the flax sweater and the hand-painted one, says the North American of Philadelphia.
The flax is exactly what its name implies—a slip-on crocheted with a flat mesh from sweater wool and showing a border or all-over design in its composition. These are particularly lovely for Summer frocks, as they give a dressier and lacier appearance than the solid wool sweater.

22nd year in this business.

WAR WROUGHT GREAT CHANGES IN ANCIENT CITY OF SALONIKI

Local Merchants Have Grown Inordinately Rich by Sales to the 500,000 British, French and Italian Soldiers Quartered There.

Saloniki, April 12.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—This war has wrought great changes in this ancient Thessalonian metropolis. Local merchants have grown inordinately rich from sales to the 500,000 British, French and Italian soldiers quartered here for four years. Every line of business has undergone extraordinary expansion. Occupation by the Allied troops has brought about great civic improvements in the city and its environs. The Saloniki area, which heretofore has been one of the dirtiest and most unsanitary in Europe, has been made at least habitable. Sanitary methods have been introduced by the British and French. Disease-breeding swamps on the outskirts of the city have been drained. Water systems have been purified and drainage has been improved. Miles of new roads have been built. Numerous stone and wooden buildings have been constructed and a score of hospitals established. Hundreds of miles of telegraph and telephone lines have been installed, and acres of arid soil have been converted into productive gardens.

Only for the disastrous fire of August, 1917, which caused $200,000,000 damage, the city and its surroundings have been revolutionized. No steps have been taken by the Greek government since the great fire to rebuild any of the devastated area. The question of undertaking it is one solely of labor and material. The funds are available for the work. Most of the 50,000 persons made homeless by the fire are now living in tents and huts on the hillsides, or in the cellars and ruins of burned buildings, where they live almost like rats. No ray of sunshine enters their wretched cellar abodes. They sleep on straw and live almost entirely on black bread and vegetables. All are poor. They lack proper clothing, shoes and all the ordinary conveniences of life. The American Red Cross is helping them.

At one time the center of learning of the ancient world, Saloniki today has little to show in the way of schools, libraries or academies. Nothing except a few broken columns remain of its ancient stadium, senate, hippodrome or temples. The few school buildings and churches are filled with refugees. The best buildings have been converted into hospitals.

PEOPLE MUST DISCHARGE DEBT OF THE NATION

Governments Seem Doomed to Inevitable Inefficiency. GREATER PRODUCTION

It is Only by Activity and Frugality That We Can Hope for Prosperity—Public Expenditures Not a Solution.

(By C. H. Cahane, K. C., in Financial Post.)

In carrying on the war, we have increased our national debt to nearly two billion dollars; and the result is well worth the immense sacrifice. But to carry the burden of the present and prospective war debt, we must provide a surplus out of which high wages may be maintained and invested capital suitably rewarded, every healthy man and woman in Canada must put forth increased and intelligently directed energy. We must depend upon individual effort; we cannot depend upon the Government, since all governments seem necessarily doomed to inevitable and permanent inefficiency.

We must eliminate waste, waste in national expenditure, waste in industry, the waste of families and individuals. Our accumulated wealth is what we save out of what we produce. We cannot obtain financial prosperity by juggling with the currency, employing engravers and a printing press to manufacture legal tenders, or by selling up book-entries of inflated credit. Our prosperity in the final analysis depends upon the people of Canada having a surplus of income over expenditure, of production over consumption. The theory of a restricted output is a lie; and if followed, must inevitably result in poverty and misery. If labor, thinking only of the fair distribution of the prospective surplus, regards an increase of the present production as the only way out of the war, it is a permanent and disastrous reduction both in nominal amount and in real purchasing power.

During years, men of wealth, or of considerable income, must disregard all luxuries. Every dollar which you spend on an article of luxury is a dollar not spent on the cost of living, and the imposition of the poor of articles of necessity. I have no jealousy of those who by their industry and intelligently directed activity have increased their production. The bulk of the profits made in industry were probably legitimate return for the capital invested and the risk incurred. There are probably some exceptions, but if profits were excessive it was the duty of the Government to combat them for the general benefit by imposing suitable taxation on such excess profits.

Straight Talk to the Rich.

But I do denounce those who made profits and expended their profits on luxury. Capital arises solely out of savings. Capital is indispensable for the increased and proper production of the necessities of life. Expenditure upon luxuries is an economic waste of capital. The extravagance of the rich increases the poverty of the poor. On the other hand, sensible spending upon actual necessities, in the production of necessities, cheapens the price of necessities, and insures good wages to the producers of necessities. The importation and domestic manufacture of every dollar of savings should be invested in reproductive machinery. Only in this way can we create prosperity. We should keep constantly before us the precept that spending upon luxuries is one way of grinding the faces of the poor.

For several years we must rely less than ever upon importations of capital from abroad. Probably one-third of the accumulated capital of the combatant countries has been depleted by the war; and the life-time of a generation is necessary to replenish the losses. Yet on the average for every 100,000 of increase in our population we require an increased investment of at least $200,000,000 to furnish them with constant employment at living wages.

Socialism a Dream.

Moreover, sound finance is the only foundation for sound political policy; yet it seems impossible in a democracy to obtain wise and efficient Government. Socialism will only justify its program upon the arrival of the millennium, when an Ideal Government rules an Ideal people; for a century or two we must deal practically with actually existing conditions. But the industry, activity and economy of the individual citizen are of slight avail, if the Government in time of peace continues to deplete the country's accumulation of capital to provide expenditures upon public works and services which have no reproductive value. The diversion of capital to unproductive uses inevitably reacts injuriously upon the wage earners of the country. Money is bound to be dear for a long time to come and all national expenditures must be restricted to those absolutely unavoidable. The extravagance of war finance is notorious; but, in addition to this we have increased our financial difficulties by diluting unnecessarily the legal tender currency of the country, thereby decreasing the purchasing power of the wages, salaries and limited incomes of a large number of our people; or, in other words, we have thereby inflated the prices of all commodities vitally necessary to support human life.

Expenditure upon luxuries is an economic waste of capital. The extravagance of the rich increases the poverty of the poor. On the other hand, sensible spending upon actual necessities, in the production of necessities, cheapens the price of necessities, and insures good wages to the producers of necessities. We should keep constantly before us the precept that spending upon luxuries is one way of grinding the faces of the poor.

NO HOPE OF LOW NEAR FUTURE AT INDUSTRIAL

O. P. Austin, Commerce Secretary's Association That Elements Material Reduction

(New York Herald.) Optimists who may have been cherishing the belief that, with the return of peace, the high cost of living and soaring prices in general were going to drop to something like a normal plane may just as well grimace at the pleasing illusion. The grim facts of the present situation are too plain to warrant the hope.

That is the conclusion that must have been reached by thoughtful men who listened to the papers read yesterday on vital aspects of the monetary situation at the meeting of the leading authorities. They had been brought together in an industrial conference held in the Hotel Astor under the auspices of the New York Business Publishers' Association, a whose contributions formed a notable symposium.

"Prices Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," was the theme of the address delivered by O. P. Austin, chief statistician of the National City Bank. Mr. Austin is a specialist of the highest standing in commerce, industry and finance. For many years he has been the chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

"Causes of Price Advances." The chief causes of the world-wide advance in prices," he said, "appear to be the inflation of the world currency coupled with the 'scarcity' demand and the consequent advance in labor costs. The prospect of material reductions in the near future, therefore, would depend upon the possibility of the removal or modification of these causes. Stated chronologically, the chief causes of the advance seem to have been, first, the 'scarcity' demand for war materials, food, clothing, manufactures, manufacturing materials and labor required for their production. This was quickly followed by an enormous world-wide inflation, which paper money, with a face value of $20,000,000,000, was added by the printing presses of the countries at war, and the legal tender circulation medium of the world was thus advanced from $100,000,000,000 to $45,000,000,000 in 1918, most of which gold formerly in circulation passed into the vaults of the government and their great banks as a partial offset for this greatly enlarged paper currency.

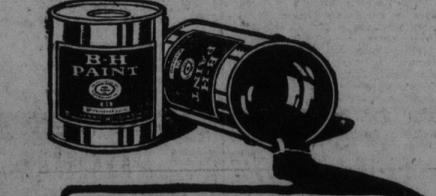

"The face value of the paper currency issued in the four years of the war was greater than the value of the gold and the silver mined in the world since the discovery of America. Meantime, the national debt of the world has advanced from $4,000,000,000, in 1913 to $220,000,000,000, in 1918, and the annual interest charge from $1,750,000,000 to $10,500,000,000.

Growth of Bank Deposits.

This startling picture of government promises to pay had also an important bearing upon the world finances, which the fact that bank deposits in the ten principal countries of the world grew from about $25,000,000,000 in 1913, to approximately $75,000,000,000 in 1918, still further increased the currency supply, especially in countries like the United States, in which the cheque plays so important a part in business transactions.

"This enormous inflation brought about, coupled with the continued 'scarcity' demand, was accompanied by great advances in prices in the materials for the war. The advances gradually extending to other articles which their respective producers must exchange for those in which the advance had already occurred, and this made the advance in price world-wide, and applying to all classes of articles.

"The chief question involved in consideration of the future of prices, whether there is a prospect of early removal of the cause of the 'scarcity' demand, still continues in everything except war supplies, and even in that line is not likely to end, since there are about 15,000,000 men still under arms. The demand for food is as insistent as ever, owing to the disordered state of Central Europe and the impoverished condition of the neglected soils of that continent, while the factories are empty shelves of all the world clamoring for new supplies which are slow during the war period.

Economical— Because It Covers More

EVEN if this paint were sold at a price half as high again as any other—it would still be the economical paint to use on your house. In sheer covering capacity it has no equal. A gallon of it goes so far that you'll buy less of it and yet do more with it.

B-H PAINT

This paint is guaranteed to possess as its important basis the above formula which we inscribe on every can. The result of such a formula is all that you could ask in brilliance of color and in proper "body"—a paint which gives a fine lasting finish, excelling all others in "covering capacity" and in durability. Paint with B-H "English" Paint—and your house is protected for years, where a coat of ordinary paint will last but a few months.

NO HOPE OF LOW PRICES IN NEAR FUTURE, SAY EXPERTS AT INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

O. P. Austin, Commerce Specialist, Tells Business Publishers' Association That Enormous War Debts Will Prevent Material Reductions in the Near Future.

(New York Herald.) Optimists who may have been cherishing the belief that, with the return of peace, the high cost of living and soaring prices in general were going to drop to something like a normal plane may just as well dismiss that pleasing illusion. The grim facts fail to warrant the happy dream.

That is the conclusion that must have been reached by thoughtful men who listened to the papers read yesterday on vital topics of the moment by leading authorities. They had been brought together in an industrial conference held in the Hotel Astor under the auspices of the New York Business Publishers' Association, and their contributions formed a notable symposium.

"Prices Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," was the theme of the address delivered by O. P. Austin, chief statistician of the National City Bank. Mr. Austin is a specialist of the highest standing in commerce, industry and finance. For many years he was the chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Causes of Price Advances. "The chief causes of the world advance in prices," he said, "appear to be the inflation of the world currency, coupled with the scarcity demand and the consequent advance in labor costs. The prospect of material reductions in the near future, therefore, would depend upon the possibility of the removal or modification of the causes of price advances."

"Stated chronologically, the chief causes of the advance seem to have been, first, the 'scarcity demand' for war materials, food, clothing, manufactures, manufacturing materials and the labor required for their prompt production. This was quickly followed by an enormous world inflation, in which paper money, with a face value of $25,000,000,000, was emitted by the printing presses of the countries at war, and the legal tender circulating medium of the world was thus advanced from $15,000,000,000 in 1913 to $45,000,000,000 in 1918, most of the gold formerly in circulation passing into the vaults of the governments of their great banks, and a partial basis is for this greatly enlarged paper currency."

Growth of Bank Deposits. "The quintupling of government promises to pay had also an important bearing upon the world finances, while the fact that bank deposits in the fifteen principal countries of the world grew from about $35,000,000,000 in 1913, to approximately $75,000,000,000 in 1918, still further increased the currency supply, especially in countries like the United States, in which the cheque plays so important a part in business transactions."

"This enormous inflation thus brought about, coupled with the continued 'scarcity demand,' was accompanied by great advances in prices, first in the materials for the war, the advances gradually extending to other articles which their respective producers must exchange for those in which the advance had already occurred, and this made the advance in prices world-wide, and applying to all classes of articles."

"The chief question involved in a consideration of the future of prices is whether there is a prospect of an early removal of the causes of the advance. The 'scarcity demand' still continues in everything except war supplies, and even in that line is not entirely ended, since there are about 15,000,000 men still under arms. The demand for food is as insistent as ever, owing to the disordered state of Central Europe and the impoverished condition of the neglected soils of all that continent, while the factories and empty shelves of all the world are clamoring for new supplies which ran dry during the war period."

Prospects Not Encouraging.

"As to a material reduction of the inflated currency, the prospects for the near future do not seem encouraging in view of the fact that the 1918-20 budgets of the principal countries of the world now being made up call for full four times as much money as those of the year preceding the war, suggesting that the governmental demands in the first peace year after the war will be about $50,000,000,000 as against about $12,000,000,000 in 1918, and that the governments, which must quadruple their demands upon their taxpayers and prepare for a reduction of their debts, will hesitate about reducing the amount of money in circulation."

"If the governments should fail to materially reduce that excessive supply, and if the world's demand for food, manufacturing material and manufactures is to continue at the present rate, are we justified in expecting a general reduction in prices in the near future? The question I think answers itself. There will, of course, be instances in which there will be material reductions, but in general terms the outlook for marked or rapid decline, at least in the near future, does not seem encouraging."

Francis H. Sisson, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company, read a paper on "Post-War Financial Problems." He discussed this country's present "embarrassment of riches" in finding itself so largely the creditor of other nations, and addressed himself to the problem "How are the creditors going to pay?"

"If we are to increase our production, which is necessary to the maintenance of our prosperity," he said, for that of our debtors. Our prosperity now is more than ever contingent upon the prosperity of other nations. In helping them to rehabilitate themselves we are helping ourselves. And we are amply able to render the needed assistance in the form of foreign investments.

"But investment in foreign securities involves grave responsibilities, particularly for the uninitiated. The utmost care must be exercised in determining what foreign securities shall be offered to the American public. Our banks can be trusted to do their part in this new field, but they cannot perform that function fully and properly unless they and our investors have the support of our government."

"Aside from the material security which will guarantee the repayment of capital and interest, there is involved the question of property rights. These rights must be protected by the United States government. It is high time that a policy which would afford such protection be formulated and put into practice—not perfunctorily, but actively and earnestly—so that our investors in foreign lands will be assured that, regardless of the administration in power in Washington, their property rights abroad will be defended, if need be, scrupulously and sternly."

Dr. Charles A. Eaton, who resigned his fifth avenue pastorate to enlist in the public service work of the United States Shipping Board, spoke on "Industrial Democracy," and Charles P. Steinmetz, famous as the consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, spoke on "Industrial Co-operation."

Mr. Steinmetz argued that so-called "welfare" and "welfare" boons conferred by capital upon labor are resented by the latter and are futile. Nor will employees be content with such paternalistic methods as the mere conferring of "bonuses," nor the sharing in dividends from profits accrued. In the industrial co-operation of the future, if it is to be effective, he argued, the employees—or at least those employees who have earned the privilege by faithful service—will share in the management of the business, as well as in the apportionment of its profits.

Makes Plea for "Humanity."

Dr. Eaton, said in part: "Before we can get our industrial system reorganized and running smoothly, it will be necessary for all parties to reach an agreement as to what work and wealth really mean. If there is a natural antagonism between labor and capital, as the socialists and Bolsheviks teach, it is folly to dream of industrial peace. If capital is destroyed labor will fall back automatically to the Stone Age, and the race will begin all over again its slow and painful journey toward civilization. If labor is destroyed the world will starve, for no one can eat money or machinery."

"It is plain, therefore, that both capital and labor need to be educated in the school of co-operation. Personal contact must take the place of corporate autocracy. We must have human beings in the director's room and manager's chair, and they must be of the same brand of humanity as the men in the works."

Other papers were read by Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale University, on "Stabilizing the Dollar in Purchasing Power"; by John Calder, consulting engineer, on "Recent Advances in Industrial Management"; by G. A. O'Reilly, foreign trade expert of the Irving National Bank, on "Problems of Our Foreign Trade," and by V. Everett Macy, president of the National Civic Federation, on "Necessity for Organization in the Settlement of Labor Disputes." The presiding officer was Roy V. Wright, president of the editorial conference of the Business Publishers' Association.

In the evening the association held a dinner dance.

Process of Reasoning. Friend—That was a wonderful speech you made to the jury. Why they convicted your man I can't understand.

Lawyer—One of the jurymen explained that fact to me. He and his colleagues put their heads together and concluded that my client must have been guilty or he wouldn't have felt it necessary to hire so expensive a lawyer.

Middle Aged Women

Women should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, shortness of breath, excessive nervousness, irritability, and the blues—which indicate the approach of the inevitable "Change" that comes to all women nearing middle age. We have published volumes of proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest aid women can have during this trying period.

Read About These Two Women:

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness and was in a general run-down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger every day since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Gomez, 122 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and my Vegetable Compound has made me a well-strengthened woman to do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. Frank Hasson, 1318 South Orcaada Street, Urbana, Ill.

CANNOT ENFORCE THE WARTIME "DRY" LAW

Revenue Commissioner Roper Declares Action is Left to United States Attorneys—Many Officials Urge President Wilson to Lift the Ban.

(Bangor Commercial.) Enforcement of war-time prohibition, which becomes effective July 1, is not lodged with the internal revenue bureau or with any other government agency, but is merely left to the United States attorneys, Revenue Commissioner Daniel G. Roper declared Saturday after analysis of all statutes and regulations.

Information that because of the apparent difficulty of enforcement, the President or Congress might be called on to postpone the law's operation, was given by Mr. Roper in a statement saying that "the issuing of licenses for the manufacture prohibited by the war-time prohibition act will naturally cease with July 1, assuming of course, that either the President or the Congress stays the operation of that law."

Urge President to Act.

It became known that several administration officials and advisers of the President had recently urged him to prevent prohibition from going into effect July 1, by proclaiming the completion of demobilization by that time. This view is understood to be held by Commissioner Roper, who is reported as believing prohibition cannot be enforced adequately without specific legislation establishing an enforcement agency.

After explaining in a statement that Congress had failed to pass bills authorizing administration of the war-time prohibition provision of the agriculture bill approved last Nov. 21, Mr. Roper said:

"Enforcement of the prohibition contained in the act, therefore, is not placed with the commissioner of internal revenue, or lodged anywhere in the government, but is naturally left to the United States attorney to enforce by prosecution under the section of the act which provides that any person who violates any of the foregoing provisions shall be punished by imprisonment not to exceed one year, or by fine not to exceed $1,000, or both such imprisonment and fine."

No Money Appropriated.

"An anomalous condition exists brought about by the failure of Congress to enact at the last session the necessary legislation to provide the necessary money for the enforcement of war-time prohibition.

"Existing revenue laws with regard to the control of illicit manufacturers and sale will, of course, remain in force until replaced by Congress. Their enforcement will continue to be given the vigorous attention of internal revenue officers until repealed.

The commissioner also expressed the view that the only authority given the internal revenue bureau by the war-time prohibition act related to regulating the manufacture and sale of distilled spirits for other than beverage purposes and the distribution of wine for sacramental, medicinal or other than beverage purposes.

This statement of Commissioner Roper threw a new element of uncertainty into the status of prohibition between July 1 and Jan. 18, when the enforcing prohibition measures and become effective. Some officials said this uncertainty might be partly removed by enforcement legislation, if a special session of Congress is called soon, although revenue bureau officials doubt whether an adequate force of agents could be whipped into shape between the passage of such legislation, even if it were speeded through Congress before July 1.

3,000 Agents Busy on Taxes. It now develops that the revenue bureau will be unable to assign all of its 3,000 revenue agents to liquor work, owing to the necessity of employing most of these men on tax collection business. Reports that 3,000 agents would be assigned to prohibition enforcement work after July 1 now appear erroneous in the light of the revenue commissioner's decision that he has no authority nor appropriation necessary to carry out the task.

Commissioner Roper and Secretary Glass have always been opposed to lodging in the bureau the function of enforcing prohibition measures and have suggested that the department of justice is the proper agency for this work.

The enforcement of revenue measures which remain on the statute books regardless of the advent of prohibition on July 1, will not constitute an adequate policing of the country so far as making prohibition of the manufacture of liquor absolutely effective, or even coming near it, revenue officials now explain. Campaigns against moonshiners, which heretofore have engaged a large force of revenue agents, have been very limited in scope as compared with the nation wide violations looked for after prohibition goes into effect for the entire country.

Technically interpreted, the revenue laws would constitute sufficient basis for detecting and prosecuting illicit manufacture or dispensers of liquors, officials says, since it violates the laws to make liquor without authority of the revenue bureau and without paying the tax, and the bureau will have no authority after July 1 to issue licenses.

Despite these persons detected in the manufacture of whiskey, beer, wine or other liquors would be subject not only to the penalties provided by the prohibition act, but those established by existing revenue laws and to the payment of liquor taxes in addition.

Asked to Lift Ban on Beer, President Wilson has been asked to remove the ban on the brewing of beer now in effect imposed. Under a modification of this order, permitting the manufacture of "near beer" the brewers in New York and elsewhere are now seeking to make a product containing 2 3/4 per cent. alcohol, claiming this to be non-intoxicating. The revenue bureau's attitude toward determined finally pending receipt of 2 3/4 per cent. beer has not yet been an opinion from Attorney General Palmer. Temporarily, however, Commissioner Roper has instructed revenue collectors not to sell revenue stamps ordinarily affixed to beer to brewers desiring to make 2 3/4 per cent. beer.

Thus the manufacture of this beer at this time is considered illegal and the bureau has not been apprised that any brewers were actually making it. Tentatively, it is said, the contention of the revenue bureau is that 2 3/4 per cent. beer may not be made legally under the President's food conservation order and this contention has been upheld in a brief presented to Attorney General Palmer in connection with the request for an opinion.

HYPNOTISM USED BY BRITISH TO CURE SHELL SHOCKS

London, April 14.—Soldiers suffering from that distressing ailment known as shell shock are very much disturbed, and in many cases their cures have been set back by the suggestion of some medical men that it is simply a glorified form of "cold feet."

It is true that there has been a great deal of humbug, or attempted humbug, about shell shock. Many have claimed to have it when the only malady was really "cold feet," just as gas poisoning has been another favorite excuse of the "kirkmishankers" to evade overseas service. But these excuses will never stand the examination of an expert.

"A man may shake and shiver under fire," says an army surgeon who has dealt with many such cases, "but he cannot make his hands and tongue tremble for months and months afterward, nor can he feign stammering or loss of speech or sight. Soldiers of proved courage who have gone through battle after battle have become in the end pitiable nervous wrecks from shell shock.

"There are people in London today who evinced calmness and courage under air raids, and who would deny that they felt any fear, whose nerves have not yet recovered from the effects of a bomb falling close by. There was a man of proved nerves who, hearing bombs falling, went out in the open to give assistance.

"A bomb fell 50 yards off without wounding him, but knocking him senseless with the vibration, which was equal to many tons to the square foot. Three months later that man was still unable to keep his muscles from trembling. You have heard of many cases where loss of sight, loss of hearing and loss of speech have followed the concussion of an exploding shell, and also of many so-called miraculous cures. In many cases a second shock has brought the lost sense back; in at least one case a third shock has driven it away again.

"In all these cases the special sense, be it sight, hearing or speech, is injured. There is no organic change in the eye, ear or throat. It is a vital centre in the brain that controls these senses that is temporarily thrown out of action. So true is it that we see and hear and speak with our brains. All the events of life really happen in the brain.

"Some of the methods that have been successfully employed to restore lost speech or hearing are equally remarkable. The process known as 'suggestion' has been one of the most useful. In fact, it occupies today a high place in the treatment of all cases of shell shock, and it will certainly be employed for early mental cases quite unconnected with shell shock as well in the future.

"The patient is lightly hypnotized—that is, to say, his active, conscious brain is thrown out of action. 'Suggestion' is then made to his subconscious brain that he can speak, and in many cases he does speak. He is then awakened and, if necessary, the experiment is repeated.

"Another method that has been employed is to put a man, temporarily dumb, under an anaesthetic, either chloroform or ether. As is well known, during the early struggling stage of 'going under' the patient shouts and generally uses language of an unpardonable character. The dumb man does the same, but the anaesthetic is not pushed, and he is allowed to come around quickly, possibly, still swearing. In one case a man who had not been able to speak for two months uttered the phrase 'Oh, Christ!' when 'going under.' Tin cans were then banged close in his ears—he was deaf as well—and other hideous sounds produced. In a voice expressive of the keenest appreciation he uttered the words, 'church bells.'"

Men!

The biggest advance in shirt convenience since the coat shirt

W. G. & R. were the first people to introduce the Coat Shirt to the men of Canada. Here is an improvement equally as good, and one that all men will appreciate. When the Double Wear Cuffs are soiled, turn them and get extra wear before sending to the laundry.

You will find these cuffs just as neat either side, and the cuff turns without a wrinkle or bulge—that's the convenience and the difference.

Ask your dealer to show you how easily you can turn

A HOT SPOT Chalmers Never Cries For Gas

A GALLON of gas goes a long ways in a Hot Spot Chalmers. For the great engine in this remarkable car wrings every last bit of power out of gas.

As soon as it leaves the carburetor the gas hits the Hot Spot (one of two magnificent devices common only to a Chalmers) and there it is "cracked up" into "dust."

So "dry" does this gas become that once it reaches the cylinders and the spark plugs touch it off there is translated immediately almost every single bit of power that nature put into gas.

But to get the "dry" gas to the cylinders from the Hot Spot is no easy matter.

The great Ram's-horn was designed to do this work and it does the task well.

See this device and you'll never forget it. You'll wonder why it wasn't done years ago. But the common every day thing known as a pin, remember, was one of the last things the human mind devised.

One look at this Chalmers car of today and you'll want to sit behind the wheel. One ride there—and you'll want one.

Six months later you, too, will say that the Chalmers is really one of the few great cars of the world.

Each New Day Brings a Better Maxwell

MOST anyone would think that after building 50,000 motor cars on one chassis plan that close on to perfection would be reached.

That is true in a large measure; but it happens to be only the point at which the Maxwell executives began.

They decided, to keep on building Maxwells better and better as each new day went by.

The locomotive engineer drives his engine better every day. The banker who loans money does so with more and more judgment. The man at the forge—likewise.

This is the principle on which the Maxwell is built. It is not new in the business world. But it is sound.

And to-day, with 300,000 Maxwells built on this plan, anyone will readily understand—

Why a Maxwell runs on and on and never quits with age;

Why a Maxwell seldom turns in at a repair shop;

Why a Maxwell is so eagerly sought for in the second-hand market.

One of the last of more than 1000 improvements made since the first Maxwell was built is the appearance.

Let your eyes glance over this present day Maxwell and you'll think the price $200 more than we ask for it.
