CARVELL SPEAKS AT WOODSTOCK

Enthusiastic Gathering Hears Stirring Statement of War Conditions by Minister of Public Works

The largest audience that ever assembled in the big Hayden-Gibson Theatre was present at Woodstock Sunday evening
when the exercises commemorating the anniversary of the war were carried out.

Hon. F. B. Carvell, moving the customary anniversary resolution expressing determination to carry on the war to a successful determination, referred to the encouraging conditions under which the meeting was held.

It was in striking contrast to an occasion about four months ago when he spoke in the same building, and when the outlook was extremely grave.
Now, it appeared, the Allies were forcing the Germans back rapidly
on land, and the dangerous menace of the submarine warfare was over.

Of course there was a long and hard struggle still ahead. Germany was still strong and yet unbeaten, but there was no doubt of the ultimate result. He referred to the condition of the Canadian army, which had not been very seriously engaged in the fighting of the last few months,
but which was thoroughly organized at its post and thoroughly prepared. It was now completely equipped and ready with the necessary reserves, both in France and England, for the attack on its position which might come at any time. The best method of taking men for reinforcements by means of the draft has completely justified itself. It was the only fair method of raising an army.

Dealing with the Russian outlook, he said that an Allied force would soon be in a position to take a hand which would prevent the Germanization of that unhappy country, and that Canada would be represented in the forefront of the Allied forces operating at that point. Speaking of the great changes that had taken place since the beginning of the war he referred to the fact of the immense sums of money loaned by the people of Canada to the government, amounting to more than $700,000,000, and this coming from the people would again be asked to loan the government a large sum of money for the purpose of carrying on the war to a successful termination.

As a Canadian he was proud of the name the Canadian army had made for itself and for Canada. It was the sin of the American troops, which had gone to the front in such large numbers, to live up to the record made by their neighbors, the Canadians, and they were certainly doing it from the reports that came to hand of their military activities.

A tribute was paid to the splendid work done by the British navy, which had been mainly instrumental in keeping the seas clear of the enemy shipping and had made it possible for the immense armies of the Allies to concentrate on the French front.

lishing Co. that results in his acquiring the plant and goodwill of The Victoria Co. News. For three years past that paper had been conducted by N. J. Wooten, urday, Aug. 17.

THE SITUATION IN CARLETON

As Summed up by The St. John Telegraph

In its anxiety over the political outlook in Carleton county the Standard "supposes" a case.
Supposing it says, that the farmers of Carleton should select a candidate to give independent support to the opposition, and should ask that he be elected by acclamation, what sort of a reception would the proposal receive? The answer is clear enough. Such a proposal would be endorsed by the organ of the opposition and perhaps by the Conservative machine. But the interesting part is that no such proposal has been made or is likely to be made. To give independent support to the opposition under present conditions would merely be to endorse the unfortunate record of the old government and to assist in the attempt to prevent or to belittle
the exposure of the old regime which the present government has made in its praiseworthy effort to place provincial affairs
upon a sound basis.

The farmers of Carleton county will follow out their own programme, whatever it is. Whatever course they may take, they are not likely to be dragged into any course which would mean an endorsement of the old government which was responsible for so notorious a chapter of transactions as the people of the province have become acquainted with since the record of the former rulers of New Brunswick
has been made public.

It is said that the people have a short memory, and naturally they may desire to forget as soon as they can most of the disgraceful transactions of which the old government was guilty. Nevertheless, when the opposition appeals for support the people will be quick to recognize that it is no better today than it was when it controlled the treasury of the province and made so much evil history in connection with the Valley Railway, the Crown Lands, the "patriotic potatoes,"
and the farm settlement board,
to name only some of its best known activities.

The Standard is unwise and unjust in supposing that the farmers of Carleton County are going to become the tail to any political kite. When they organized recently it was for the purpose of advancing and protecting their own interests, and we may be quite sure that they are capable of doing so. How many of them are ready to endorse and support a candidate selected by the Smiths, the Flemings, the Teeds, and others of that delightful circle, is a question that will be answered when the election comes.

WILL SOON VOTE ON INCORPORATION

Sheriff to Appoint Time and Place
for a Vote

The meeting on Monday evening to further the question of incorporation was well attended and the indications pointed to the likelihood of the village becoming a town just as soon as the machinery can be turned that will accomplish such a result.
There was an encouraging unianimity of feeling and practically no dissenting element was manifest. It was found that there is no new act of Legislature governing the incorporation of towns, and the existing act stipulates as one of the first steps necessary that a requisition signed by fifty or more ratepayers in the area proposed to be incorporated be handed to the sheriff of the county asking him to appoint a day and place where all the ratepayers shall vote for or against incorporation. The sheriff shall determine the boundaries, but in so doing, will doubtlessly be guided by the general wishes of the community. A majority vote of the people will carry the question. Incorporation may then be proceeded with.

At Monday evening's meeting
it was decided that the decision reached at a former meeting to incorporate the existing school district be rescinded and instead the southern boundary be the northern side of the Nevers road.
The required requisition was laid before the meeting and all present signed to it. The paper was then given to W. D. Keith who will give any qualified person who chooses the privilege of signing it. Last evening Mr. Keith informed The Observer that a considerably larger number than the required fifty had placed their names on the document. No date has as yet been set for the election, but it will probably be soon, and due notice will be given in these columns.

The Crops

In this district last week rust seriously threatened the potato crops in many sections.
The cool weather that set in Friday night and continued into this week has had a saving effect that may mean thousands of dollars. Most favorable reports continue to come from all sections of the upper St. John Valley of splendid crop conditions. In the southern portions of the province, where there is more low land, and where wet conditions prevailed to even greater extent than here, crops are not so promising. Some parts of the west are having a most unfavorable season. On the whole our farmers would seem to have a promise of abundant harvest and good prices.
Prosperity for the farmers means prosperity all around, and an abundant harvest means more for the needs of those prosecuting
the war.

Among those who went to Houlton last week for the Chautauque entertainments were Mrs. Gordon Boyer and daughters, Misses Jennie and Ruth, and Mr. Annett driven over by Howard Adams in his car.

Wine of Life

By CATHERINE HOPKINSON

(Copyright, 1911, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Want a lift?" called out a cheery voice, as jingling sleigh bells slowed up.

Amy Davanant, teacher of the Pine Grove school, stopped aside in the road at the approach of bells, and then turned with a slight pucker between her smooth brows at the fatality of the question. Her need of a "lift" was obvious since she was shivering through fourteen inches of unbroken snow. Besides, she felt pained that Duncun Alden, unlike the other young people in the community, had made no effort to get acquainted since her coming among them.

"Oh—it's you, Miss Davanant," Alden said when he saw who it was. Then he jumped out to help her in the sleigh.

"I don't wonder you didn't recognize me. I'm so wrapped up," she laughed, as he tucked the robe around her.

"Why in the name of common sense didn't the Perkinses take you to school on a day like this?" he asked, when the jingle of bells began again.

She laughed. "They seldom think it's necessary. Their daughter, Amelia, once taught this school when she was a girl, and walked back and forth every day of the term. She set an uncomfortable precedent."

"It's hard to live up to some one else's reputation, especially in a winter like this."

"Maybe the paragon Amelia didn't have so much snow to wade through. But in most ways the Perkinses are very kind to me," she amended, but she should seem to disagree the good people with whom she boarded.

"Just but it must be pretty dull for you there—just those two old people."

She glanced complacently at the bearded girl beside her.

"It isn't exactly exciting," she acknowledged.

When they reached the district schoolhouse, the children, snow and snowshoes, told them that they were the first arrivals.

"Oh, I'm afraid Ted isn't there," she exclaimed in dismay. "He's the boy I tried to build fire for me."

"Allow me to be Ted this morning," laughed he. "I'm a good hand at fire building. A case of practice making perfect, you know."

She protested, but he had his way. Ted had a glowing fire in the main stove. This done, he glanced triumphantly at the country school-room back to the dainty, city-bred girl before him.

Genuine concern was in his face. "This blizzard's made traveling mighty bad. I don't if any of the people get home this morning. Most of them live so far away. What'll you do if they don't come?"

"Oh, stay out the time. I'll have to on account of the salary you know. The directors aren't very lenient in the matter of lost time."

"That's so. But it's a pretty dreary proposition. I'll drop in at noon to see how you're making out." With a few last laughing words of advice, he left, and the merry sound of bells died away in the distance.

He was right about the pupils. No one came. Amy put in the morning correcting papers and finishing pieces of work she had been obliged to neglect in the stress of regular routine.

All the time, though she would not acknowledge it to herself, the thought of Alden's promise to drop in at noon was a cheering factor.

However, when twelve o'clock came he did not appear and she was setting out a cold lunch from her lunch box when she heard bells again. She opened the door. Alden stood there, fur-coat, snow-capped, his dark eyes shining.

"I'm afraid I'm a bit late, Miss Davanant," he began, glancing at his

the forlorn, empty schoolroom. "I see my prophecy proved true."

"I'm glad of it," he said, half-sarcastically. "For it makes possible the fact I've been harboring that you would do me the honor of taking pot-luck dinner with me. I'm not much of a cook, but I can make bully soup; and I've a whole bottle full on the stove in my cabin."

Her eyes brightened, but hesitancy shone in their depths.

"Oh, I know it may be a bit unconventional. But surely this blizzard might allow us some latitude in that direction. Besides, we have Lemie, here, for a chaperone," he nodded at the grumpy-eyed collier at his feet.

She laughed. "It does seem as if the storm might make some concessions. But can you get back by one o'clock? I might have some pupils by then, you know."

He gave hearty assurance, and before she could change her mind he bundled her into her wraps.

Again the jingling cutter made the half-mile trip to his cabin, where the appetizing odor of steaming tomato soup greeted them. The cabin was a cozy, two-roomed affair, backless in appointments, but with books and magazines everywhere. Amy drew a long breath. After five homeward months away from her kind in the narrow isolation of the Perkins home, it was good to be in a book-loving atmosphere again.

To do her house, he spread a clean white cloth over the little, oil-stove covered table, and served the steaming tomato soup. They were as merry as two children while they ate. Lemie sat beside them in gracious forbearance as they talked and laughed. Both were surprised when the clock struck one. Quickly they entered the cutter and drove back to the schoolhouse, where silence again greeted them.

"We needn't have hurried so after all," protested he.

"Some of the pupils may come yet," answered she.

He brought in more wood for her, and with advice about keeping up the fire well, went away.

The afternoon dragged. No one came. She finished the odd jobs which occupied her during the morning, and time hung heavily on her hands. The storm which had abated at noon, increased in fury. The air seemed full of snow, and smooth unbroken expanses of white stretched out around her for miles and miles.

She had no assurance that Mr. Perkins would come for her at four o'clock—he never did. And Alden had not said anything about coming back. Her spirits which a little while ago were gay and carefree, slumped to zero point.

"How shall I get home? How can I ever go alone through this storm?" She did not wish to desert her post before four o'clock, and during the last hour stood at the window watching each way of the road for a passing team that might help her out of her difficulty. But none came by. Above the low notes of the storm, she could sometimes catch howls of coyotes. Tears gathered in her eyes at the desolation of it all.

"I can't stay here all night," her quivering lips whispered. "Oh, why didn't I ask Mr. Alden to take me back to the Perkinses at noon, even if I lost my position by so doing? Surely they would have forgiven me."

Philippine Fruits There have been found in the Philippines two fruits entirely unknown to Europe and even to America. One of these is the durian, which grows on a lofty tree somewhat resembling an elm, is about as large as a coconut, has a shiny shell and contains a creamy pulp which combines some of the flavors of delicious custard with those of a fine cheese. American soldiers in the Philippines have dubbed the durian the "vegetable hamburger."

The other rare fruit is the mangosteen, which has not yet been successfully preserved for shipping abroad.

Woman's Economy Mrs. Styles—Woman are more economical than men.

Mr. Styles—I don't believe it.

"You often hear of a bride being married in the same gown that her mother was married in."

"That's true."

"But you never heard of a man being married in the clothes his father was married in."

With the Proper Cause "I see Mrs. Gaddis has a new hat."

"Yes, isn't it a dream?"

"Depends on what you had for supper the night before."

Same Effect He wanted an auto, but couldn't get credit from those who had noses to sell.

One morning he carelessly fell down the stairs.

And found that his head was well.

The wind howled, and around them stretched the desolate, snow-covered prairie; but in the night have been a respite for all the two young people needed, for their eyes were bright with youth and joy and wine of life.

USING A MEDICINE DROPPER The More Slanting It Is Held the Bigger the Drops Will Be.

When using a medicine dropper it is important to use it correctly, especially if measuring one drop of some powerful medicine like strychnine, morphine or arsenic, for drops vary widely in their size.

Dr. R. P. Garrod of London recently reported to the Lancet the results of some experiments he had made with a medicine dropper and a simple solution. He measured the solution very carefully and then took it all up into a medicine dropper, from which he turned it drop by drop, holding the dropper at different angles and counting the drops as they fell.

With the dropper held vertically at an angle of 90 degrees with the horizontal its contents made 100 drops. Held at an angle of 60 degrees its contents made eighty-two drops; at 20 degrees they made sixty-eight drops, at 10 degrees they made sixty drops, and held horizontal they made only forty-eight drops.

In other words, the drops become progressively larger as the dropper is moved from the vertical position. A drop from a dropper held at an angle of 60 degrees is one-quarter larger than normal; thus, if the nurse has to give sixteen drops and holds the dropper slanting she is really giving twenty. And the more slanting the dropper the bigger the drops.

Exhausting Experience. "What's the matter with our morose friend?"

"Political indigestion," replied Senator Sorghum. "The pork barrel and pie counter were too much for him."

How Glass Industry Shifted. The ancient Roman glass works shipped to all parts of the civilized world; and specimens of their productions are today found throughout Europe, and even in Ireland. When Rome commenced to decline and her great people fled to Byzantium, they took with them their glass industries, and Constantinople became the greatest glass manufacturing city in the world. This prestige it held up to the tenth or eleventh century, and when it entered upon its decline and fall the glassblowers fled to Venice and there established what afterward grew into the celebrated Venetian glassware.

Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freedom, the other discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

Ask any pharmacist for a quarter ounce of freedom, which will cost very little, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so softened that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.

Centreville Affairs

Large numbers from here and the surrounding community visited the Riverside Camp meetings at Robinson on Sunday. To many of the younger set this is quite an outstanding annual event in their lives and a great chance to take their best girls for an outing.

A public meeting was held in the Opera House on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of pledging the moral and physical support of the citizens during this and the remaining hours of peril to our nation. It is this spirit of patriotism and national unity which will result eventually in a vanquished rather than a victorious Hun. In his miscalculation of the real relationship between the individual and the nation lies the greatest evidence of his colossal stupidity and will prove one of the real reasons for his final downfall.

Tobique Season

The sportsmen on the Tobique have had a great season. The high water in the St. John has been beneficial to the Tobique waters, and Theo. Allan, of the Tobique Salmon Club, reports the best run ever known there. He says the members of the club have had splendid success in their quest for salmon. They have been getting large ones, and plenty of them. Salmon weighing as high as 30 pounds have been killed there this season. The club will close on the 15th of the month.

Nixon passed from this life to the world beyond, at sunset on Wednesday evening. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Reformed Baptist church in this place. INTERESTING LETTER FROM WAR ZONE

The following letter is from Harley P. Burpee of Jacksonville to his aunt, Mrs. Walter Craig. Private Burpee is a despatch rider and has had many thrilling experiences:

Francis, May 21.

Dear Aunt: I received your more than welcome letter last night, yours are the kind of letters I like to get, they do me good, for they are full of cheerfulness and are newsworthy and breezy. I don't want the sad longfaced kind for it is hard enough to keep cheerful here at any time, and cheerful letters help us a lot. Some people in Canada I think, have an idea that we go about with frowzy features all the time, but it is not true. I'll bet that smiles are more spontaneous and frequent here than they are at home, even when death seems nearest. Most soldiers have very little fear of death after they get a bit used to facing it, if they do they are usually sent home a nervous wreck or put out of their misery for cowardice. I was with a man once who was so frightened, that he spewed, the worst I could do was pity him for I suppose it was a physical weakness. It was no credit to me that I did not vomit also, for it was simply natural that I should take it as a matter of course. What I call bravery is when a person is terribly frightened but does their duty even though it is the opposite to what their fear prompts them to do. The same day that I have spoken of I saw a man do an act which won him the military medal. Everybody had taken what ever cover that was handy for we were being intensely shelled. A German shell hit our ammunition and set the boxes on fire, a chap who was lying down under a "splinter proof" near, simply went out and took off his steel hat, and filling it full of water threw it on the fire, he kept this up until it was out, he told me he had no fear he simply wanted to put out the fire much the same as you would put out a fire in your fence. It's a funny thing this bravery business. I know an officer who was carrying one end of a stretcher with a fellow on it, who had a great hole torn in his stomach by a piece of a shell he heard another shell coming and he dropped the stretcher and jumped into a shell hole, fear made him do it, if he had have mastered his fear and kept on with the wounded man, he would have done a brave act, I think. Enough of this, for it is morbid I suppose and I cannot write it as I feel anyway.

Two hours later I had to stop writing and take some dispatches to H. Q. and have just arrived back. I wonder if you would like a pen picture of myself and surroundings as it is just now. I'll try it anyway, but I am not sure that I can make it look as it is. The place is a ruined village that might have had two thousand people in peace time, the houses were mostly made of brick with red tile roofs. But of course the houses are not any more, for the most part where the buildings were, there is now an irregular mass of crumbled bricks and mortar, in some places a piece of a wall is still poking up through the mass, usually where the corner was as it is stronger there. I am on a little side street just off the main one, my shop is here, the reason I picked the spot was because there was two fairly good walls about seven feet high running about twenty feet back from the street so to make a shop I simply put a tarpaulin over the tops of the walls, and level up the floor, and lo! a garage for four machines, since then I have made ends in it and have a door on it also. I found the flywheels of an old gasoline engine it still had the shaft connected between them so I rolled them up in front of the shop and placed them about two feet from the wall, then I took an old mail sack and wired one end to the shaft between the wheels the other end of the sack I nailed to the walls about four feet from the ground this arrangement serves as an easy chair, the rim of the flywheels act as arms for the chair just now I have a piece of board across the arm's and the writing pad on that my feet are comfortable resting on a backing box and I have a good Canadian cigar stuck in my face at a pocky angle. It is very warm so I wear no cap or coat and the sleeves of my shirt are cut off at the elbows, if you imagine that I am at peace with the world you are right. Within five hundred yards of me there are about twelve big guns, nine inch and six inch, they have been firing as hard as they can ever since I sat down so the noise is scandalous. Up in the air I can see nine aeroplanes circling around, the ones nearest the German's line are shelled by anti-aeroft guns, the planes are dodging around to spoil the aim of the enemy gunners. An airplane of

All communications should be brief or possible and sent to the editor of the department: C. Gordon Sharpe, Fredericton, N. B.

This department belongs to the United Farmers of New Brunswick. It is to be just what we make it—let us make it a real success by sending in regularly any notes of interest from the different branches. We should hear from each other. Get together in your monthly meetings, come to a decision just what the crop conditions are in the district covered by your branch, and instruct your secretary to send the crop report to this department. The general secretary will undertake to answer any questions in connection with the United Farmers movement. Send such questions direct to me and questions and answers will be published in this department.

There is every likelihood that immediately after having a meeting of delegates will again be called to consider the answer made to the committee who waited upon the political leaders to sound their feeling on permitting the election of an independent farmers' candidate by acclamation.

HARVEST HANDS WANTED IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The Department of Agriculture for war purposes, last spring, urged Greater Production. 108,772 bushels of seed grain were imported. The farmers have responded splendidly. The acreage undercrop is in excess of any previous year. Climate conditions have been favorable. Crops promise well.

Every acre of crop in this Province must be properly harvested this year.

Many men may be called to the Colors.

Under the conditions the Department fears that many crops will remain in the fields unless men from our towns and industrial plants become harvesters, and are setting up labor burdens in different sections of the Province to ascertain the farmers' labor needs and to register voluntary labor.

Every man in the towns or cities who has had farm experience should be ready to assist for a few days.

Every farmer should register his wants immediately at one of the following bureaus. A guarantee of help cannot be given by the Provincial Department of Agriculture but when the requirements are known after a certain date, if necessary, the Dominion authorities will be appealed to.

Give, name, address, railway station, number of days help required and when. Approximate wages per day. Where wages cannot be satisfactorily arranged, an appeal to the Department of Agriculture may be made for adjustment.

Every man willing to help should also be registered at one of the following places:

Had Headache For Two Years

A Barrie Man Tells of Persistent Headaches and Indigestion—Finally Found His Way to Good Health.

For two long years the writer of the letter was subject to severe headaches. The nervous system got run down, digestion failed, and there was continued loss of weight. The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food changed all this, and now with scores of other Barrie people Mr. Nader is recommending the use of this food as the best means of building up the exhausted nervous system and curing headaches, indigestion and all the annoying symptoms of a run-down condition.

Mr. John Nader, 38 Penetang street, Barrie, Ont., writes: "During the last two years I had an attack of indigestion, accompanied by severe headaches. I suffered from loss of appetite and my system became run down. I also lost considerably in weight. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and as they helped me I continued this treatment for some time. My condition is now greatly improved, my headaches are gone and my health in general is much better. I can cheerfully recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to those suffering from nervousness of any kind."

The reason Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so effective in cases of this kind is because of its extraordinary blood-forming influence. By creating an abundance of rich, red blood it strengthens the action of the heart, revitalizes the exhausted nerves and builds up the system in every way. The appetite is restored, digestion improves, you rest and sleep well, and the new vigor and energy is felt in every organ of the human body. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is doing wonders for men, women and children whose systems have become weak and run down. It costs a box 6 boxes for $1.00. All dealers or Dr. Chase, Barrie & Co., Limited, Toronto.

SOLDIERS GIVEN LEAVE

Soldiers in camp throughout this province are to be given leave to assist in harvesting under certain conditions. Officials of the provincial government have received notification from Ottawa to the effect that soldiers in camp may be given a leave of absence of sufficient extent to make it possible for them to assist in harvest operations, but, however, only on the recommendation of their company commanding officer.

The stipulation that the leave may only be granted on the recommendation of the company commanding officer is not viewed with any great account of enthusiasm by those interested in seeing the crop harvested in good order in this province this season. The opinion is expressed that the order for leave should be made general provided the soldier can establish to the satisfaction of his commanding officer the bona fides of his desire to assist in harvesting activities within his native province.

Government authorities point out that there is at present a great shortage of harvest hands not only throughout New Brunswick but all over Canada. The harvest trains for western Canada are expected to take a great many young men who would otherwise be employed on the farms in harvesting in this province and that as the time draws near for harvest hands it will be found increasingly difficult to secure sufficient farm labor to handle the harvesting demands.

In view of this fact it is felt that a two or three weeks or even a month's absence from training activities would not retard the growth of the soldier civilian into a fit soldier and at the same time be of inestimable worth to the farmers of the province in getting their crops garnered in a reasonable length of time.

It is said that at Camp Sussex a great many of the men have already expressed their desire for leave in order to work on the harvest and it is pointed out that at the present time a larger number of farmer's sons in camp than in any previous year, indicating that the drain of labor from the farms due to the Military Service Act has been of considerable proportions.

It is understood that an effort will be made to secure the consent of the military authorities at Ottawa to grant a general leave of absence to all men who desire to assist in the harvest operations, the consent of their company commanding officer notwithstanding, provided of course that each individual establishes the fact that his desire to work on the harvest is genuine.

Card of Thanks

This is to thank my friends and neighbors for their kindness to me for having installed at my bed side a desk telephone on the Farmer's line, also for the nice gift of money, for which I am very thankful to you and to my Lord and Saviour. I am sure Our God will reward you, although you are more blessed than I am—Jesus said it is more blessed to give than to receive. But I know I am greatly blest in receiving.

I am ever your servant in righteousness.

JUST LIKE A MAN.

He May See the Advantages of a Bad Bargain, but Not Like a Woman.

"Well," said Mrs. Caperton expectantly as her husband entered the room, "how did it look to you?"

"Bully," cried Caperton enthusiastically. "It's just the place to spend the summer. You'll like it immensely. I know you will. I've engaged accommodations for August with an option on September."

"Is it a nice boarding house?" asked his wife.

"Oh, also enough," answered Caperton. "The rooms are dainty, little things, the windows are small, and the ceilings are low, but—"

"Well, of all things! And you engaged accommodations in such a place?"

"Listen, dearie, I'm not through yet. As I just said, the rooms are small and all that and I'm told the grub isn't so very good—mostly canned stuff, you know—and they don't keep many sorts, as the milk supply is not particularly plentiful when there's a crowd there, but—"

"Are you losing your mind, Jim Caperton?"

"Wait a bit, dearie. Don't be hasty! I'm not through yet. The rooms are small, and the food is not absolutely 'A No. 1' and they're sort of shy on milk, and it's a good way to the town, and there are not many nice walks, and there's no water near except the well, but those are just minor considerations."

"Just m!"

"Precisely. Here's the main thing. They've got the finest bathroom and floor I ever saw in my life anywhere, and there's dancing every night and free lessons in all the new steps every morning. From—just think of that! They keep a fellow there all season just to teach 'em!"

"You big dummy," blurted Mrs. Caperton—"yes, dummy. You know how a place like that fills up. Why didn't you reserve accommodations for July as well as August? Can't you get them on the long distance phone?"—Funch.

Valuable Misinformation.

In the large dining room of the Hotel Marescaux hangs a large equestrian painting representing General Robert B. Lee. It is the mascot of the Hungry club, which has its dinners at monthly intervals at this hotel and was painted by a member of the club.

Recently a lady on the west side gave a bridge party at the hotel in aid of her pet charity. Among the players was a modern Mrs. Malaprop, a typical "cellar" with considerably less education than cash. Consequently she was never backward with misinformation on most any subject that came up. During a cessation in the play one of the ladies expressed admiration of the picture and a desire to know whom it represented.

"It was Mrs. Malaprop's opportunity. 'That, my dear,' she solemnly explained, 'is General Marescaux, a noted Frenchman, for whom the hotel is named.'—New York Times.

The Way to Unlock.

The red haired office boy was whistling a lute popular air, but he didn't carry the tune very well.

"You will break into song occasionally, will you?" remarked his employer.

"Sometimes," answered the auburn haired youth.

"If you'd get the key you wouldn't need to break in," retorted the boss.—National Monthly.

Sheer Brutality.

"This reminds me of some of the pie I had in my happy childhood days," said the man without a heart.

"The kind your mother used to make?"

"No. The kind we children would make out of mud."—Washington Star.

Tired Eyes.

When the eyes are tired and dimmed use either an eye lotion bath or one made of water to which a little boric powder has been added. Keep the eyes open in the water. This both strengthens and brightens them. Kholing the brows when reading or working is a habit certain to produce disfiguring lines on the face.

His Cruel Critic.

"I shall now give out the effect of distance," he said to her, and he sang so low as to be scarcely heard.

"A little further, please," she said crossly, and he picked up his voice and went away with it into the chilly night.

Commissioned Officers.

An officer never "enlists." He is commissioned by the president of the United States. Only private soldiers, including corporals and sergeants, can "enlist."

PROCLAMATION

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in any wise concern, GREETING:

A Proclamation of conditional amnesty respecting men belonging to Class I under the Military Service Act, 1917, who have disobeyed our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, or their orders to report for duty, or are deserters or absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

E. L. NEWCOMBE, WHEREAS considerable numbers of men belonging to Class I under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada under our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the Military Service of Canada,

Have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order in Council duly passed on April 20 last,

Or have deserted.

Or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Force,

And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that, notwithstanding the information and warning contained in our Proclamation aforesaid, they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons.

AND WHEREAS we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of the heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers have thus been guilty, and to afford them an opportunity within a limited time to report and make their services available in our Canadian Expeditionary Force as is by law their bounden duty, and as is necessary for the defence of Our Dominion of Canada.

NOW KNOW YE that we in the exercise of Our powers, and of Our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and made known THAT THE PENALTIES OF THE LAW WILL NOT BE IMPOSED OR EXACTED as against the men who belong to Class I under Our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed Our Proclamation aforesaid; or who have received notice from any of Our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past and have failed so to report; or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence, have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become deserters from Our Expeditionary Force, PROVIDED THEY REPORT FOR DUTY ON OR BEFORE THE TWENTY FOURTH DAY OF AUGUST 1918.

AND WE DO HEREBY STRICTLY WARN AND SOLEMNLY IMPRESS UPON ALL SUCH MEN, and as well those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist them in their disobedience, that, if they persist in their failure to report, absence or desertion until the expiry of the last mentioned day, they will be pursued and punished with all the rigour and severity of the law. SUBJECT TO THE JUDGMENT OF OUR COURTS MARTIAL WHICH WILL BE CONVENED TO TRY SUCH CASES or other competent tribunals, and also that those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for their said offence.

Provided however that nothing contained in this Our Proclamation is intended to release the men aforesaid from their obligation to report for duty as soon as possible or to grant them immunity from arrest or detention in the meantime for the purpose of compelling them to perform their military duty; Our intention being merely to forego or remit the penalties heretofore incurred for failure to report, absence without leave or desertion incurred by those men of the description aforesaid who shall be in the proper discharge of their military duties on or before the said twenty-fourth day of August, 1918.

Of all of which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter; One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this FIRST day of AUGUST, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the ninth year of Our Reign.

By Command,

Thomas Mackenzie
Under-Secretary of State.

COST VALLEY RAILWAY

The report of the directors of the St. John & Quebec Valley Railway Company has been issued and holds much of interest to the people of this province.

It points out that the railway is completed between Centreville and Gagetown and the whole of the work has been paid for. The right of way has been settled with the exception of sixteen cases, twelve of which are through the city of Fredericton and are being acquired by the Canadian Government railways on behalf of the company from the owners through the exchequer court under an arrangement between the former board of directors and the government railways. The cases have been heard, but judgments have not yet been given. Apart from the total cost of the railway between Centreville and Gagetown has been $4,495,544.11.

The C. G. S. has been provided with terminals at Fredericton, says the report, and it is not necessary that the St. John & Quebec Valley Railway Company construct such facilities.

The company has received from the dominion government the full subsidy granted in aid of this 120 mile of railway between Centreville and Gagetown and from the Prudential Trust Company that part of the trust fund, applicable to this section.

It is expected that the railway between Westfield and Gagetown will be finished and ready for operation during this season. The estimated cost of this section is $2,420,738.64.

The board of directors, it is announced, has obtained a settlement of a long outstanding account with the C. G. R. in respect to which claims against the subsidy had been filed at Ottawa and the 40 per cent. rental above referred to had been retained by the dominion government. As a result of the settlement of the claims have been released and the rental received by the province, and it has been agreed that the rental in future shall be paid at the end of every six months.

The board of directors report that with the more efficient operation by the C. G. R. of the section of railway between Centreville and Gagetown, the gross income therefore could be greatly augmented. The service is very inadequate.

There is appended a full and technical report by the chief engineer of the road which deals with deals with grading, bridges and foundations and various sections of the proposed line where obstacles are to be met and overcome.

Torturing, Iching Ezzema

Mrs. J. B. Horth, Paspelias, Bonaventure Co., Que., writes: "Thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment I have been completely cured of that horrible disease eczema. I was held as if in prison from going among other people, for I was ashamed of the raw, flaming sores. Doctors could do nothing for me and I was almost desperate with suffering when I began to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. In one month I was completely cured and think that this was little short of a miracle."

FIGHTING FOR HAPPINESS

When you get into a frame of mind that makes the life seem one tiresome duty after another, with no pleasure in it; when ill-health seems to take all the joy out of life and you worry over things that are really not worth worrying about, then your nervous system is becoming exhausted, and you are on the way to a general breakdown in health. In this condition your health and happiness is worth fighting for and good, rich, red blood is what your system needs. It is a hopeless task to try and to restore your health while your blood is deficient either in quantity or quality. And remember that no medicine can be of any use to you that does not build up your weak, watery blood.

To build up the blood and strengthen the nerves there is one remedy that has been a household word for more than a generation—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It is the actual mission of these pills to make new, rich, red blood, which strengthens the nerves and tones the entire system. They give you a new appetite, make sleep refreshing, put color in the lips and cheeks, and drives away that unnatural tired feeling that oppresses so many people. If you want to experience new health and happiness give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

His View

"Are you fond of country life?"
"Indeed I am."
"But you never go to the country."
"Never, I always stay in the city."
"Why deny yourself?"
"It isn't denial at all. I am fond of country life, for it is a thing that I can sometimes manage to get people whom I don't like to take up."

Couldn't Collect

"Brown keeps his house very warm."
"Yes, so warm that it affects his cool dealer."
"Affects him?"
"Yes."
"Oh, I see—good customer."
"Didn't mean that."
"What then?"
"Makes him hot."

Treating Him Right

"Leave me car fare," pleaded the victim of the holdup man.
"No," replied the robber. "But I want to do the right thing. A distinguished person like you should not ride in street cars. Wait here and I will send my auto around to take you home."

His Desire

"I feel the use of a greater education."
"Every one does."
"Yes, but there's one subject that I wish to explore to the depths."
"What is that?"
"I want to learn how to inherit money."

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera Infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

Nothing Can Compare With It

Mr. Fred Adams, New Rose, N. B., writes: "I have tried many medicines for coughs and colds but never found anything to compare to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. We have had the greatest satisfaction with the medicine for it never fails to relieve a cough and loosen it up."

Interesting Letter From War Zone.

either side is seldom hit by shell fire because at the speed they travel the gunner has to aim well in front in the direction the plane is flying, the airman knows this of course so he does not travel long in one direction. The gunner also knows that the airman won't travel far straight so they try to guess which way he will turn next, sometimes the airman fools them by flying straight ahead longer than usual and the shells will burst to his right or left whichever way the gunner thought the plane would go, then also the pilot can fool them by diving or climbing for the fuzes on the shells have to be set to explode the shells at the required height. It is very interesting to watch them sometimes, a battle of wits. An air duel is the most exciting though, when one fast British and one fast German meet, it is usually fought to a finish and is sometimes all over in about twenty seconds and after it's four or five minutes of circling and manoeuvring their machine guns rattling away all the time, they use tracer bullets in other words each bullet has a slow burning powder in its base and so leaves a trail of smoke as it goes through the air, at night it leaves a trail of fire instead of smoke. These battles come out of the gun about 700 a minute so as you watch the fight you can see the stream of smoke or fire going from one plane to the other until finally one or the other bursts into flames or crumbles up, they usually burn though for those flaming bullets set their gasoline tanks on fire. You asked me how the bread was made, you seem to be under the impression that we take our bread in the field this is not so, but is all made at the base. I have never seen this bake shop but it must be a monster, for every man gets one sixth of a loaf a day and there are several million of us here. The army leaves are about eight inches square I should say, but this is not war bread, the war bread is applied to the stuff they eat in England, a standard bread it is, it is not white but a sort of brownish drab color. I ate some of it when I was on leave, I don't mind it much but it is not like we have out here. This may surprise you but we get beautiful white bread here that is no joke. I have never in my life eaten better bread than we get here, it is better than the baker's bread we usually get at home and I have never seen a bad batch it is always good. Flour is not issued so no bread is made outside of the base bake ovens. It is getting too dark to write more to-night so will finish in the morning. 7 a.m.

I have already done my first regular run to Brigade Headquarters. I arise every morning at 6 o'clock and go to bed every night about dark except when I have a special run or when there is something to do. I am sitting in my easy chair this morning it sure is beautiful again this morning there is a little haze so I cannot see the planes that I can hear up in the skies, there must be thirty or more, they sound like million of bees humming. I have not had breakfast yet and believe me there is nothing the matter with my appetite. Must close now, give my regards to Uncle Walt and my cousins.

Your loving nephew,

Several summer visitors are visiting relatives and friends here.

Farmers are very busy gathering their hay crop. A scarcity of help is a great draw back to them.

Everett Foster, Rev. H. S. Mullen and wife and Mr. Reicker have been holding special meetings in the R. B. church here where much good has been done.

J. A. Burt who has been working in York county returned home on Aug. 5.

Harry Waide has moved his family to Centreville where he has purchased a house and lot. In their departure we lose good neighbors.

Miss Mary Owens had the misfortune to injure her foot with a pitch fork.

Miss Helen Crawford was kicked in the face by a young colt but escaped with broken glasses and slight cuts.

This community attended an annual Camp meeting at Riverside on Sunday last.

Graham and White have purchased a new threshing machine and will be in a much better position than ever to do custom work in their line.

Miss Maud Crawford of Lowell is visiting at the home of her brothers.

Woodford Burt and Cody Burt have each built themselves an up to date barn.

CARLETON CO. POLITICS

Since the opposition press has begun a campaign, it is apparent that they see an election at hand, or that they wish to force one on strict party lines.

It might be a wise policy to see just what the situation is. It becomes necessary to define the distinction between Federal and Provincial politics.

The main issue in the Federal field is the war and all that goes with it, in its various ramifications.

Owing to the vast importance of the satisfactory conduct of all matters arising therefrom it was imperative that all sections of this community should be represented in Parliament; hence the Union Government.

As there has been, and is some considerable confusion in the minds of the adherents of both political parties, I say both because as yet we have no real independent party, it would be as well to say that in the judgment of men well qualified to know, Provincial politics should be carried out on the old lines.

In other words, there should be a straight party fight to decide which party is best qualified to carry on the public business of this province.

While under the circumstances the union policy is the only logical one to be followed at Ottawa, it is otherwise at Fredericton. While it seems to be a policy of unlimited expenditure for war purposes at Ottawa, it is equally clear that the Provincial policy is one of the strict economy and conservation of resources, to avoid bankruptcy or, its alternative, heavy and direct taxation. The question as to who is the best fitted to carry out this policy, is constitutionally left to the people to decide. Really it has been the fashion to leave the decision to the party bosses, who arrange the matter by way of packed conventions or by the expedient of what is known as a "saw-off."

It is time the people realize that they will never get a good representative government by these methods. It is necessary also to say at this time that scandal has been overworked. No party will win an election in these days who rely on scandal to win. The people are case-hardened. The old cry leave us cold, or what is worse, disgusted. Surely that lesson has been driven home in this county.

It is also necessary to state that there are many well-defined causes which work in favour of a Liberal candidate, which to the politicians, and to some of us outsiders. The city is that our local men have views of their own, which are not in line with the situation or the facts. For instance one of the political axioms reads—to the victors belong the spoils.

The present government, while it believes that to be a good policy in the Acadian sections, does not believe that it is good for other sections. Consequently there is a feeling of inequality of treatment not conducive to good feeling. As far as this county is concerned, the balance of power remains where it has been for years, that is in the hands of the "Big Four," supported by a small bunch of nominal Liberals. Just so long as it is allowed to remain there, just so long will the Liberals remain unrepresented.

While this is purely the material side of the argument, there is much force in it. A government to be respected must first have a good working policy, and secondly enough driving force to carry it through successfully. Lack of either is fatal. In New Brunswick, we need some leader of the calibre of a Whitney or a Gouin. Better a combination of both.

The question is, have we such men in office. If we have not, we must get them, and the sooner the better. Quebec today is spending for public uses much more than we, but she has more revenue to do it with. Yet her sources of revenue are largely the same as ours. We simply cannot afford to practically give away our resources to the big combines, as we have been in the

We must do business in a business way, that is the only way that counts, and wins the respect of all.

First have a constructive and not a destructive policy and then have sufficient grit to stand by it regardless of the ferocious opposition of the "interests" who ever they may be. To all politicians of the old stamp we say "Quit your fooling." Times and circumstances are far too serious for us to allow you to work off the old and stunts on us. If you attempt it, so much the worse for you and your party, which ever it may be.
