WIFE AND HOME. Let rakes extol a roving life, Of freedom, prate, and all that; f noisy brats, a scolding wife, And doctor's bills, and all that. Though fools may rail, and jest, and scoff, A wife's the thing, for all that : The time, they'll find, is not far off, When so they'll think, for all that.

'Tis true, when youth and fortune smile, And health is firm, and all that; Wine, wine, and song, and dance beguile, Variety, and all that;

When every place, where'er you roam, Has jolly friends, and all that; You want neither wife nor home, Nor sympathy, nor all that.

But age comes on with stealthy pace, And sober thoughts, and all that; Trouble will show her frowning face, Sickness and pain, and'all that. The feast, the bowl, will lose their powers,

Then shall we need to cheer the hours,

And revelry, and all that ;

A wife, and home, and all that Oh, "when misfortune clouds the brow," Disease and death, and all that, Then, "woman, then an angel, thou, To soothe, and cheer, all that. Thy gentle cares beguile our pains,
