Springfield, Ill., Jan. 12.-Because there was a coal famine in the city, and the dealers were unable to secure any coal, a large number of citizens of Arcola have held up a coal train of 30 cars on the Illinois Central road. The citizens are willing to pay the value of the coal, but are determined to have it.

In spite of these enormous receipts the masses in Toronto are on the point of freezing for want of coal. In the meantime the price of soft coal is being advanced in jumps of $1 a ton. This latter is mixed with the ore from Bell Island, Newfoundland, and produces an excel lent quality of steel. The fact that the Dominion Iron and Steel Company can import this ore in bulk may induce Newfoundland to think twice before placing the threatened export tax on ore.

'Less Crown and More Colony" -Greenlees' Epigram Will Make Him Famous.

London, Jan. 13. - The name of Greenlees has suddenly become famous. The gentleman who owns it was selected to propose the toast of Lord Milner's health at the dinner given in Mr. Chamberlain's honor by the official population of Pretoria. During the war we used to be told with rather wearisome frequency, what was thought by the "man on the spot" and the "man in the street." Some special advantages belong to the "man on his legs," if he knows, as Mr. Greenlees evidently knows, how to use them. If he has been asked with He cannot decently be interrupted. At this festive entertainment, Mr. Greenlees, after the usual compli-ments appropriate to such occasions, himself of an epigram, which will not soon be forgotten. crown colony," he said, "was all very

Lord Milner, in his genial good-humored reply to Mr. Greenlees, spoke of transferring his responsibility to

But this question of home rule so promptly and abruptly raised by Mr. Greenlees will have to be settled by the Secretary of State himself. If Mr. Chamberlain were in Downing street he might postpone, though even there he could not evade a solution. Being by his own choice at Pretoria, he must make up his mind at once. Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 11.-A blizzard prevailed here today for several hours. A stiff wind piling the snow in huge drifts, made many of the highways impassable. Toward evening the wind died away. At Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the snowstorm, which set in early this morning, changed to sleet, rain and hail toward evening, the combination was accompanied by lightning. At Plattsburg, N. Y., the worst storm of the winter came today and was general throughout the Adiron-

Blizzard weather, with the thermometer averaging 15 above zero, prevailed at Utica. Local trains and the street car lines had little trouble, but averaged from three to five hours late. At Gloversville, N. Y .- At 11 o'clock tonight the wind was blowing with force, and the foot of light snow which had fallen during the day was raised into a blinding storm. of the city. A DAKOTA BLIZZARD. Huren, S. D., Jan. 12.-Another severe wind and snow storm struck this part of the state Saturday, and at night the wind was blowing a gale and the air so filled with fine snow that travel was unsafe. Railway cuts are again filled with snow, and great drifts are seen everywhere. The storm is severe on stock, and scarcity of fuel makes conditions in this locality alarming.

Because of the shortage of fuel the various churches have held their meet-

At Omega, Worth County, the hotel was blown down and a number of houses unroofed. The cyclone swept a path 100 yards wide through the town, damaging every house and uprooting every tree it encountered. At Herrizes the stacks and pipes of a hig lumber plant were knocked over lee ten-pins. At Tifton, a number of houses were damaged. It is feared much further damage has been done.

Tobacco, Pipe and Pouch Led to Identification. KILLING OF MISSIONARY LARGE

The Crime Brought Home to a Japanese Convict After a Lapse of Twelve Years.

Toronto, Jan. 12.-News lately receive ed from Japan, says the Globe, has at last unraveled the mystery surrounding the murder twelve years ago of Rev. Mr. Large, the Canadian Metholist missionary. Mr. Large, many will recall, was murdered without any apparent motive, and the only clue was a pipe and a tobacco pouch left by the murderers in their hasty flight from the Large residence, after having inflicted fatal wounds upon the missionary's body with a sword. With such meager material to work upon, the authorities at the time were unable to trace the owners. It was afterwards insinuated that the officials knew who the murderers were, but for political reasons were shielding them. Mrs. Large, who after her husband's death lived for a time at Toronto Junction, but who now resides at Orrtanna, Pa. has written to the Globe saying that she has never wavered in her faith that every effort was made to bring the perpetrators to justice. UNRAVELING THE MYSTERY. The unraveling of the mystery was effected when all hope of doing so had been long abandoned. Two years after the Large murder was committed a temple in the suburbs of Tokio was entered and two persons murdered in a manner closely resembling that observed in the case of the missionary, where every cut had been delivered in the unerring style of a finished swordsman. The police suspected that these two crimes were committed by the same persons, but the latter case afforded absolutely no clue. The same year however, two Japanese were arrested and sentenced to fourteen and thirteen years' imprisonment respectively. One of them died in jail, but the other is still serving his sentence. A native detective suspected these two men, and after much difficulty succeeded in tracing the dead burglar's widow, who identified the pipe and pouch as the property of the surviving prisoner, Ogasawara. The seller of the articles was found and he identified Ogasawara as the purchaser. The prisoner, upon being confronted with this evidence, lost heart and confessed, but he endeavored to place blame for the actual murder upon his dead comrade. It is unlikely that he will be prosecuted on a charge of murder, the time limit having expired. MOTIVE FOR THE MURDER. The actual crime turns out to have been but an incident to a vulgar burglary. Ogasawara was a discharged military man, and was addicted drink. He fell in with Baba Tsunehachi, his accomplice, and at a drinking bout on the night of the Large mur-der decided at Baba's suggestion to lead through trains on the New York Cen- a short life and a merry one. Mr. Large was aroused by their presence, and upon ittempting to drive them away was slashed unmercifully with a sword. He forced the intruders to the passageway outside the room, and there fell mortalwounded. Mrs. Large attempted to shield her husband, and was also badly cut. Superintendent Kelso's Report on Kept Bodies of Wife and Mother Until Juvenile Immigration to Canada.

Toronto, Jan. 12.-J. J. Kelso, superintendent of neglected children, in his report on juvenile immigration into Ontario for 1902, which has just been made public, states that the total number of children who came into the ovince was 1,256, as compared with 1.165 for 1901. The percentage of crime among the children of this class has greatly diminished, and this is attributed to the close inspection made at Liverpool. Before they are allowed to board ship there, the children must be able to read and write, and if they have been used to street life must spend a period in one of the homes before being allowed to come to Canada.

The children located in the province during the past year were brought out under the auspices of the following institutions: Dr. Barnardo's Home, To-ronto, 529; Dr. Barnardo's Home, Peterboro, 340; Catholic Immigration Society, Ottawa, 118; Marchmont Home, Belleville, 79; Macpherson Home. He says that his country, like the British Isles, has more people than she can produce food for. In consequence they are anxious to exchange their manufactured goods for our food products and raw materials, of which they import a great deal.

Speaking of the importation of steel rails by Canada, Baron De l'Epine said that he had been looking into this matter and had found that it would be impossible for Canadian firms to manufacture rails sufficient to supply the demand of the country under present conditions. Therefore, he contends that it would be absolutely ridiculous for the Government to impose a high tariff against Belgian and German rails, as they are required in the country, and can be laid down here cheaper than the Canadian firm now equipped

Hutch for Bad Breath.

Most disgusting is it to be afflicted with flatulency. The fermentation of undigested foodstuffs produces gases which are eructated in an offensive manner—that is what is called flatulency. These gases are given off from more or less decayed matter and become somewhat foul smelling. This unfortunate condition seems a little thing, yet it is the cause of much unhappiness. It estranges friendships, makes heart-breaking misunderstandings between sweethearts, and is sometimes the occasion of family quarrels. Hutch will do away with this disease in a natural and effectual manner. Hutch induces the secretion of the gastric juices so that there is plenty to dissolve food—promotes the assimilation of the proper nourishment for the body, and by being slightly cathartic expels all excrement from the body. British and American Labor Conditions Compared.

Statement of Mr. Barnes, Who Has Just Returned From the U.S.

London, Jan. 12.-Mr. Barnes, secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers and one of the British labor commissioners, who recently returned from the United States, has made public some of his impressions. Mr. Barnes says of the labor conditions of the two countries that, as far as wages are concerned, England lags considerably, but that in every other respect the comparison favors this country.

DRAWBACKS IN AMERICA. "The most noticeable drawbacks in America." he says, "are the congested character of the workshops, disregard for the comfort of the workers, and the bad sanitation. I am persuaded that on the whole the workmanship of the American me-chanic is inferior to that of his English cousin. This, however, is not so observable in the engineering industry as in others. With regard to orking hours, as a rule, they are longer than in England, especially in the engineering trade, but, as I have indicated, wages are higher.

"I do not think the American works harder than the English mechanic, but there is a great difference in the point of view. The Americans' point of view dominated by the one central idea of labor-saving machinery. That being so, it follows that production is on a large scale. But, man for man, I do not think the output of the American exceeds that of his English com-

SOCIAL CONDITIONS.

"With regard to the social condiof the American workman, I think they are considerably lass pleasant than those prevailing in this country. There is also less sense of civic responsibility, and as a consequence, the streets are less cleanly and the buildings more uneven and unsightly than here. That may sound incredible, but it is the impression I formed. I have no hesitation in affirming that the English workmanship is more thorough than the American, and that our mechanics are on the whole much better trained."

A CLASH. The discharge of three men for violation of rules was the cause of the strike. The employes demand their reinstatement and a new wage scale. Trolley con-nection with Naugatuck, Waterville

St. Catharines, Jan. 12. - About 250 employes of the McKinnon Dash and Metal Work Company went on strike Saturday, and the company's works are closed down. The trouble centers in the moulding and annealing rooms, where the men ask for a better scale of wages and better regulations. The moulders ask that a schedule of prices for piece work be arranged, so a firstclass moulder will not average les than $2 a day. The annealers complain of the work they have to do in the moulding room, shifting weights, and object to going cold from annealing room into the hot moulding room and vice versa, but are willing to do this provided their demand for 15 cents per hour is granted.

The moulding department ask for a new schedule and increased prices. ask that the wage for any day work be not less than $1 50 per day. Supt. McKinnon came over from Buffalo and met the men and asked a week's time to consider the demands made. This, however, the men refused and the strike resulted. The men working in the other departments went out on strike in sympathy with

The kitchen stove was close to a gas stove, and the pipes froze up during the night. The girl commenced to light the fire, when with two loud reports both stoves exploded, and portions of them struck the ceiling with force. The terrifled girl drove hand through the glass close by and leaped through it. The alarm was given and the fire soon overcome. Damage, about $3,000.

WINTER GAMBOL IN SURF

has been missing for a week, was Daring Rescue From Death in the Icy St. Lawrence River.

> Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 12. - To win a champagne supper, a wager of $500, and to show that one could bathe in Atlantic City at all times of the year, winter or summer, as they had boldly asserted to some of their friends, William Peissinger, of the firm of J. A. treme in their nature—six months of Kramer & Co., and S. J. E. Dickson, excessive rains and six months of exboth of New York City, donned their bathing suits today and took a dip in the surf at the foot of Kentucky avenue. It was the coldest day of the year here, but the men stayed in the water for five minutes.

A BOLD SWIMMER. Brockville, Ont., Jan. 12.-The story of a boating accident between Rockport and Pine Island in the St. Lawrence. reveals a daring rescue. Two men named Dano and Kelly were upset. They were returning from Alexandria Bay in a skilf, and when near Uine Island, became surrounded with floatof a man apparently 60 or 65 years of ing ice. Dano got out to shove the age. The man is thought to have boat over a patch, when the ice gave way and the boat capsized, throwing both men into the river. Dano told Kelly, who could not swim, to cling to the boat, while he himself would try to swim to Pine Island, a little distance off, and see if he could get aid.

WENT BACK FOR HIS FRIEND. Dano reached shore after an exhausting swim through the chilling water and broken ice. He shouted for help erately, but before his cries were heard on the mainland, he heard Kelly. chilled and exhausted by exposure in the upturned boat, desperately cry cut that he could hold on but a short time longer, and appealed to him for help. Dano, benumbed and half paralyzed as he was by his swim from the boat to the island, could not resist the call for help, but plunged unhesitatingly once more into the icy St. Lawrence. He reached the boat and brought the old man safely through the water across the fring of ice surro Pine Island, to the shore. There the men called for aid, and their cries at-There the tracted the attention of rescuers, who went to their assistance. When help reached them both men were unconscious. Kelly remained in this condition for several hours. Dano being a younger man, did not sustain serious

AN OBJECT LESSON

In a Restaurant.

A physician puts the query: Have you never noticed in any large restaurant at lunch or dinner time the large numer of hearty, vigorous, old men at the tables; men whose ages run from 60 to 80 years; many of them bald and all perhaps gray; but none of them feeble or senile?

Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to have escaped your observation or comment, but nevertheless it is an object lesson which means something.

If you will notice that these hearty old fellows are eating you will observe that they are not munching bran crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu card of new-fangled health foods; on the contrary they seem to prefer a juicy roast of beef, a pro-perly turned loin of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored.

The point of all this is that a vigorous old age depends upon good digestion and plenty of wholesome food and not upon dieting and an endeavor to live upon bran crackers.

There is a certain class of food cranks who seem to believe that meat, coffee and many other things are rank poisons, but these cadaverous sickly-looking individuals are a walking condemnation of their own theories. The matter in a nutshell is that if the stomach secretes the natural digestive juices in sufficient quantity any wholesome food will be promptly gested; if the stomach does not do so, and certain foods cause distress one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal will remove all difficulty, because they supply just what every weak stomach lacks, pepsin, hy-drochoric acid, diastase and nux. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act upon the bowels, and in fact are not strictly a medicine, as they act almost tirely upon the food eaten, digesting it thoroughly, and thus give a muchneeded rest and giving an appetite for the next meal.

Of people who travel nine out of ten use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, knowing them to be perfectly safe to use at any time and also having found out by experience that they are a safeguard against indigestion in any and eating as they have to, at all hours and all kinds of food, the traveling publice for years have pinned their faith to Stuart's Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full-sized packages and any drug-gist from Maine to California, if his opinion were asked, will say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the most popular and successful remedy for any stomach trouble. 91c zxv

PANAMA CANAL IS IMPOSSIBLE

What an English Journal Says About the Ditch.

CAN NEVER BE BUILT BY U. S.

A Number of "Insuperable Obstacles" Which Bar the Way Are

New York, Jan. 10 .- The Herald's London correspondent cables: The Westminster Gazette publishes an article on the Isthmian Canal, which is of distinct interest at the present juncture. It is written by Tankerville Chamberlayne, whose practical ex-perience with the Panama project gives the weight of authority to his views.

Americans are at present expecting their session of Congress to pass a bill approving the construction of a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. It seems to persons of common sense who have followed with keen interest and observation for seven years the work undertaken by the French company that the selection of the Panama route is most difficult and presents' obstacles of an insuperable characters There are other isthmuses, such as Darien, Port Blas, Nicaragua and Te-huantepec, which do not offer the complicated physical and climatic impediments as does Panama. First and foremost, the climate of Panama is unhealthy. The seasons, although only two in number, are excessive aridity. Fevers are prevalent, in many cases mortal, such as yellow fever and malignant fever. The region is volcanic. So are the countries in proximity to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, which are visited frequently by seismic disturbances. Revolutions are of common occurrence. They can be relied on nearly every alternate year. Colombia and Venezuela are in a chronic state of revolution. Labor is another intricate question Colombians hate hard work. They will not face a navvy's work.

Justice is in an elementary state. Disputes and quarrels are frequently settled by lead or cold steel. Now, the ordinary difficulties are summed up as follows: Climate, disease, seismic disturbances, revolutions, scarcity and dearness of labor Climate impedes proper work for five months of the year. During six months rains do not cease to pour. During the middle of the dry season there is a complete lack of water, and at Panama it is sold at exorbitant prices, although it is of a turbid

All the labor is imported, as natives do not consent and are not able to do the work. West Indians are the only suitable laborers, and are paid $1 to $1 50 per day.

PROBLEMS OF EXCAVATION. The problems of the excavation of Culebra mountain and damming the derivation of the Chagres River have not been solved.

The damming of the derivation of the Charges is a mighty work. The plan suggested by M. Boyer, a great French engineer, was to tap the river near its source and build an artificial bed or derivation, starting in proximity to Gamboa and terminating east of Colon, near Porto Bello, a distance of about 30 miles, with an approximate width of 60 feet and a depth of 15 feet. This represents a cube of more than 5,000,000 yards for this artificial bed.

At a consultation held by some of the most distinguished engineers of France it was resolved that no other scheme than an artificial conduit could master this problem, owing to freshets during the wet season, which cause the River Chagres to rise to a height of from 25 to 30 feet in a single

The Culebra Mountain, which is 312 feet from its summit to the bed of the canal—and of which not 40 feet has been excavated, has a peculiar freak of closing when earth is re-moved by cutting; i. e., the sides of the gap made by excavating have a tendency to come together, similar to the process of healing in an open wound. How is this peculiarity to be remedied.

In conclusion, supposing Americans were to take over the French con-cession they would be saddled before any expenditure was undertaken with the sum of $40,000,000, which is the price the French company demands its concession. The excavation of dry earth, dredging and blasting, with cost of the ports of Panama and Colon, will amount to $160,000,000, in accordance with a rough estimate made by practiced engineers. This represents a sum of $200,000,000. Labor alone, on a large scale, will amount to the sum of $3.500,000 per annum when the works all along the line are in full progress. Under these circumstances will the Americans build the canal of Pan-

mending the repeal of the Ford Franchise tax, the measure championed by Mr. Roosevelt when he was Governor of the State, and forced by him on a reluctant legislature. The Ford law lays down the basis of assessment for public service or quasi-public corporations, such as street railway, electric light and power, gas, telephone and telegraph companies. The main principle is that such corporations shall be taxed upon the value of their franchises. This value is estimated to be the excess of a corporation's capital stock and bonded indebtedness over the actual value of its tangible property. In other words, it is the extra Value conferred upon a company's plant by the privilege of using the public streets and highways. Governor Odell, in his message to the Legislature, declares that the tax is oppressive, and cannot be borne by many of the smaller concerns. He urges as a substitute the taxation of corporations upon their gross earnings. If the Ford law is repealed, and by a Republican legislature, it will be a slap at President Roosevelt, who pressed the measure through against the opposition of his own party. It has been desperately resisted by the corporations, who have carried the matter into the courts, and expect the law to be declared unconstitutional.

In Ontario, as in New York, the assessment of quasi-public corporations has been a perplexing question. The Legislature has rejected the principle of assessing these companies on their gross earnings, as recommended by the Governor of New York. This same principle also meets with the disfavor of the Ontario Assessment Commission. The law, in its present shape, as amended at the last session, taxes all tangible property of a corporation except the rolling stock and the plant and appliances affixed thereto. This is by no means satisfactory to the corporations who have carried the matter to the court of appeal. The prospects are that the Legislature will overhaul the whole assessment act at the ensuing session and definitely fix the basis of taxation for quasi-public rations The Assessment Commission has recommended that the realty of corporations be assessed at its actual value, and in addition the right of using highways or other public places, with the structures thereon. "The use of land," the commissioners say, "is what produces profit to the corporation." They point out that the land used by the corporation is public land, which is not assessable, whereas the land of a private person is assessable. Buildings often add to the earning value of private land, and this extra value is assessed. So the added value, which the right to use public land creates, should be assessed against a corporation when that public land has been adapted for use by structures placed thereon by the possessor of the franchise. To take a concrete example, the right of using the public streets is of great value to the London Street Railway Company, and under the proposed law would be assessable, as well as their tangible property. It would be difficult for the average assessor to estimate the precise value of such a privilege, and the commission recommends the appointment of a central board for the whole Province, authorized to employ experts have been caused in the city by deaths, for the work of appraisal.

The Lake St. John Valley.

Quebec, like Ontario, is discovering the riches of its hinterland, and rivalry to New Ontario is being cffered by the Lake St. John Valley. We have received a portfolio of views illustrating the wheat fields and industries of the Lake St. John region, which is being colonized by the energy of the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway Company and the St. John Colonization Society. Lake St. John is at the head of the picturesque Saguenay River, about 150 miles due north of Quebec City. It is fed by a dozen rivers. some of them several hundred miles in length. The banks of the lake and of its tributaries are already studded by villages, built by the lumber and farming industries, and the whole region is described as teeming with natural wealth. The district embraces an area of 31,000 square miles, and therefore contains nearly twenty millions of acres. So far a little over 500,-000 acres have been cleared; the population is 50,000. Last year the number coming from the United States. The soil for the greater part of the country gets through with the combination. ing of grain and vegetables, and for pasturage. the large tributaries of the lake, carrying the settlers to and from their homes on the banks of these streams, and conveying their produce to market. Many of the water powers on these rivers have been harnessed, and saw and pulp mills abound, furnishing work to those who go in without means. The uncleared land is sold at 20 cent? per acre. One settler, Claude Villeneuve, went in with $400, bought 350 acres of land, and now cultivates 250 acres. He harvested in one season 800 bushels of wheat, 2,500 bundles of hay, and 350 to 500 bushels of potatoes. He would not sell his property now for less than $7,-000. Several others whose names are given went in a few years ago with little or no capital, and now count their wealth in four figures. Euloge Menard, of Roberval, testifies that the first season two pounds of Manitoba wheat sown on his farm yielded 207 pounds; the next year this 207 pounds produced 38 bushels, which in turn produced 742 bushels the following season. In Pelletia Township, north of the lake, the Trappist fathers, who own 6,000 acres, have an immense area under cultivation, and operate a number of sawmills. Dairying has become a great industry in the region, nearly every parish having its cheese or butter fac-

he west for land-seekers.

The Stratford Herald professes to think the influence of the Grand Trunk Railway Company was unfairly exerted against Mr. Monteith in the North Perth bye-election, and threatens that the Conservative party will take its revenge when the Grand Trunk's application for a subsidy comes before Parliament. The Stratford Beacon discusses the Herald's attack on the Grand Trunk as follows:

"The Beacon is in a position to know the attitude of the Grand Trunk, and we say it was nothing more than that of fair play. The chief officials here have for years been Conservatives, and we know that in past elections some of them were not backward in using their influence and powers to the limit to the injury of the Liberal party. There was no complaint then from the Conservatives, and different policy had been pursued by these officials, it would only have have only themselves to blame if some of the officials and men, approving the policy of development inaugurated by Mr. Ross, voted of their own free will for Mr. Brown, and were goaded by misrepresentations of the ut terances of one of their number into announcing the fact. They are freemen and capable of exercising their franchise intelligently. The attacks of the Herald are therefore unwarranted and will be sure to react on its party."

Whether any restraint was put upon the zeal of the chief officials or not the fact remains that no railroad company could undertake to deliver a solid vote to either party. To suggest any thing of the kind is to insult the body of Grand Trunk employes, not only in Stratford but in London and other railroad centers; for if they could be driven like a flock of sheep in Stratford, the same influences could prevail elsewhere. If the company had dictated to its employes in Stratford, as to how they should vote, the fact could not be suppressed. In explanation of the turnover of the vote in Stratford, the Beacon points out that since the general election in May over 500 changes removals and accessions. This would affect the result, and in addition there was the propensity common in byeelections to vote for the party in

In Girlhood

There is a great need of motherly watchfulness and care. A growing girl needs all her strength, and if she is nervous and melancholy, and loses appetite there is surely something wrong. The three bye-elections yesterday resulted in the election of three supporters of the Government, and, without a moment's hesitation, the Mail and Empire declares that all three seats have been stolen. Surely this cannot be true. Was not Mr. Whitrey on his guard against the terrible practices of the Government? The whole country knows that he was. He told everybody wherever he went that he was watching this time and would not be robbed. The Opposition press has been proclaiming for weeks the arrangements made for guarding the ballotboxes with shotguns against the aw-ful Grit machine. Surely the shot-Liberals had the good sense to endure in silence what could not be cured. If on Wednesday last a workers to the principle that the tallot-box shall be sacred did not fall them on polling day? Surely, the Pinkerton detectives, the local milibeen retributive justice, but nothing more than fair play was extended either party. The Conservatives honest men (including a host of honest men (including a est but disgusted Liberals also bearing shotguns) did not fail, and allow the ballot-boxes to be profaned once more! Can it be possible that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M. P. P., who went up to North Norfolk to protect the pallot-box against any Liberals might dare to have designs upon that sacred source of all our slumbered and slept at his job? It isn't like the doctor. Yet, if he were awake, imagine this vigilant politician looking on while the constituency was being stolen by raw counrymen. That is certainly not like the

The country, we suppose, may as well abandon itself to hopeless grief, now that shotguns and detectives failed and the great vigilance of Mr. Whitney and his lieutenants was unequal to the task of securing an honest vote.

Didn't Need the Job.

[Philadelphia Ledger.] A woman in Portland, Me., passing by garden saw a rather shabbily dressed nan working on some trees. "What are you doing to those

The Imperial Problem.

[Montreal Star.] Exclusive of Rhodesia, the British Empire comprises a trifle less than one-fifth of the surface of the earth. With Rhodesia it amounts to a trifle more. In contemplating the empire's size, one cannot but vainly try to imagne its strength and wealth were it all well organized and thoroughly developed. But it is not. That is its one danger. All the brains and energy of he dominant race is needed for the work. To get them applied properly is the British problem of the time. Canadians would be glad to see it tackled seriously and effectively.

Punishable Offenses.

[Toronto Globe.] in a collection of illegal and punishable acts London Tit-Bits mentions the marriage of an officer in a crown regiment without the consent of the war office, the holding of political meetings within a mile of Westminster Palace the sale of one's body to an hospital to be delivered after death. Looking abroad, it is found to be an offense at law to kiss in the streets in Southern Russia, or to give solid food to a baby under 1 year old in France. In Chester, England, anyone failing to lift his hat when a funeral is passing is liable to arrest. Our London contemporary should look to Canada, where a man may be arrested and fined for selling his railway ticket.

Europe's Conquering Banners.

There are only three African nations eft on all the great continent of Africa, and their downfall will come in due time. With the crushing of the Dutch republics, not a vestige of Af-rican nationality was left below the Desert of Sahara, except that poor little experimental station of negro republicanism, Liberia. Above the desert only Morocco and Abyssinia remain. Over all else the conquering banners of Europe wave, Of 12,000,000 square miles, not more than 500,000 are possessed by the Africans.

In all the continent of Asia Japan is the only genuine native sovereign-ty. Everything else is dominated by Europe, openly or otherwise. There are 17,000,000 square miles of land in Asia, and the Europeans rule, in form or spirit, all except 150,000 square miles of that vast territory. Less than 50,000,000 of the 900,000,000 Asiatics are free and independent. Australia, Oceanica and Malaysia all belong to Europe, excepting only the possessions of the United States. The western hemisphere alone is ruled chiefly by the people who inhabit it.

Widow Finds $25,000 Husband Had Hidden Away.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 12.-Charles R. Richards, a mechanical engineer, who died two months ago, leaving a personal estate valued at about $3,000, had hidden away, unknown to his wife, more then $25,000, which represented the accumulation of years. A few days ago while the widow was looking for a will, which she believed her husband had made, she found a large number of $5, $10 and $20 bills stuffed, in small rolls, in crevices of furniture, in the cushions of chairs and stitched into undergarments worn by the dead man. She also unexpectedly found bank books, showing deposits of $15,-

PIONEER'S EXFERIENCE

Rat Portage, Ont., Jan. 12 .- (Special).—Seventy-nine years of age, but hale and hearty, H. S. Barnes, of this place, is a splendid specimen of the pioneers of New Ontario. To his numerous acquaintances he often tells the following story: "I was troubled with kidney com-plaint. I suffered severely with pains across my back, and with a scalding burning sensation when urinating that was very painful. Though I had little faith in proprietary medicines, I had a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the, house and commenced using them. It was not long before I felt better and looked better. My friends started to greet me with 'Hello, Mr. Barnes, how young you are looking!' My kidney complaint was completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make the old eel young again.

Live Stock Perish in Prairie Fire. St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.-A special from Mandan, N. D., says: News comes from the southeastern part of the county of the loss of 5,000 sheep and 300 cattle belonging to different ranchers by a prairie fire. The fire broke out during the late high wind and spread with great rapidity. Seventeen ranchmen suffered severely, some of their houses being swept away by the flames.

Unimpeachable

If you were to see the unequaled volume of unimpeachable testimony in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, you would upbraid yourself for so long delaying to take this effective alterative and tonic medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering.

It eradicates scrofula and all other humors, and cures all their inward and outward effects. Take Hood's.

A hitherto unknown portrait of Mar-Luther, painted by Lucas Cranach, the celebrated artist and burgomaster, of Wittenberg, has been uncovered in the town church at Wittenberg. It is pronounced to be the best portrait of Martin Luther in existence.

A SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE .- Everyone wishes to be successful in any undertaking in which he may engage. It is, therefore, extremely gratifying to the proprietors of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills to know that their efforts to compound a medicine which would prove a blessing o mankind have been successful beyond heir expectations. The indorsation of hese Pills by the public is a guarantee pill has been introduced which will fulfill everything claimed for it.

Meat purveyors in Brussels have advanced their prices 25 per cept. YOU CANNOT BE HAPPY while you have corns. Then do not delay in getting a bottle of Holloway's Corn Cure. It removes all kinds of corns without pain. Failure with it is unknown.

A REQUISITE FOR THE RANCHER.

On the cattle ranges of the West, where men and stock are far from doctors and apothecaries, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is kept on hand by the intelligent as a ready-made medicine, not only for many human ills but as a horse and cattle human ills, but as a horse and cattle medicine of surpassing merit. A horse and cattle rancher will find matters greaty simplified by using this Oil. Strong protests are being raised in India against the abandonment of the dum-dum bullet for frontier fighting.

Postman Johnson Had Catarrh --- Used Catarrh Remedies, Snuffs, Washes and Sarsaparillas, But Got Only Temporary Relief.

Then One Happy Day He Tried the Life-Giving Powley's Liquified Ozone—Seven Bottles Made Him a Well Man.

Now He Eats Well and Sleeps Well and Pronounces Ozone the Most Perfect Blood Purifier Sold.

That the only way to cure catarrh is to get right at the seat of the trouble the Buffalo Forge Company intends to and reach it through the blood is proven by the experience of Postman M. F. Johnson, 395 Rivard street, Montreal. For eight or nine years he suffered from Catarrh of the head and can capitalists and about $2,000,000 exstomach, but half a bottle of Powley's pended on it. I could cite a score, Liquified Ozone improved his condition and seven bottles effected a per- tural, grazing and timber lands

The following is Mr. Johnson's statement of his case: Mont eal, Feb. 8, 1902. The Ozone Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont. Gentlemen,-I have been suffering for eight or nine years from Catarrh in the head and stomach, and have used all kinds of catarrh remedies, snuffs, washes and sarsaparilla, but they gave me only temporary relief. I saw your advertisement in the Montreal Herald and procured a bottle of Ozone and before it was half used I found it was doing me good and going to cure me, which it has done after using seven bottles. The pains in my head have all disappeared and the hawking and spitting in the morning is no more. I get good sound sleep now since taking Ozone and can eat my breakfast, something I could not do before using Ozone.

I honestly believe that Ozone is the best blood-purifying remedies on the market today, and anyone following the directions and instructions in your book will surely be cured of any ailment of the body. I remain, truly yours,

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system. Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Halifax, and of which an American syndicate has taken 5,000 shares of stock at $250 a share, a total of $1,250,-000. This, it is understood, is largely owned in New York and Chicago, although a fair-sized block has been placed in Buffalo.

The bank has assets of more than $20,000,000, a capital stock of $2,000,000, fully paid, and a surplus of $1,700,000. with branch offices in New York and Chicage," said Mr. Henderson. "Some of the stock is held in Buffalo, but not to any great extent as yet. Who holds this stock? Well, I am not at liberty to state that.

"Few people in this country comprehend that Canada represents 30 cent. of the entire British Empire and one-fifteenth of the land area of the world, and few have any idea of the millions of United States money invested in her industries. Not only in agricultural and timber lands, but in ining and manufacturing, and some of the largest industries in Canada are practically owned by capital from the States. The Canadian Steel and Coal Company, capitalized at $6,000,000 and owning 4,000 acres of iron mines and 3,000 acres of coal, is a New York State concern. The Federal Sugar Refining Company is owned in California, and the Toronto Abell Works is operated by big thrashing machine manufacturers in Michigan and Minnesota The Canadian Coral Marble Company, of Toronto, is backed by American capital, some of it from Buffalo, while the Northern Cereal Company, with $2,000,000 capital, is largely owned by men in a similar line in Chicago and Cedar Rapids. A manufactory for building planes, at Toronto Junction, is owned by a Rochester concern, and employs 200 hands. I understand that put in operation a plant in Canada soon, but where I don't know.

"The most modern cold-storage plant in the world has just been built on Prince Edward Island by Ameriyes, a hundred other instances.
"Then the investments in agricul-amount to many millions, but these are principally in the Northwest Territory. Then we return to the States in the shape of manufactured goods quite a large amount every year. Nearly $1,000,000 worth of woodpuip went to your manufacturers last year and more than a quarter of a million in steel, half of the entire output. "But don't think I want to run down the United States. I think it is the greatest commercial country of the world, and has a wonderful future. As for Buffalo, I think the next ten years will see her, in population, wealth and commercial greatness, second to but very few of the cities of the United States. As a residence city she has no superior, and as a distributing center for raw material and manufactured articles has few equals."

Philadelphia, Jan. 12.-The reports of the Delaware and Hudson Company, the first of the coal companies to present its side of the controversy with the anthracite mine workers to the strike commission, occupied both sessions yesterday of the commission. #### From the Mail and Empire, Toronto, Saturday, Jan. 3, 1903: ANOTHER GUSHER IN KENT.

Good Flow of Oil Struck in Raleigh Township.

Special to the Mail and Empire. Chatham, Ont., Jan. 2.- Another splendid oil well has been struck on the farm of Mr. Miller, lot 17, 13th concession, in the Ralegh oil fields. The new well is 500 feet down. It was shot yesterday, and a splendid flow of oil has been secured. This well is only a few hundred feet from "Gurd's Gusher," and is the second good one in the Raleigh oil fields. A number of other wells were shot yesterday, and a good strong showing of oil was secured. The field is judged by experts to be about three miles long and a quarter of s

We desire to call the attention of our shareholders to the above extremely gratifying news item, which is particularly satisfactory to the Dominion Oil Co., on account of the act that this is the second well brought in adjoining the west side of the 1,530 acres in which this company is interested, and practically demonstrates that of the company's lands at least 1,000 acres is proven oil territory, the output of which is bringing the highest price of any oil in either Canada or the United States, it being of the best quality. A marked demonstration of the way in which the permanency of this field is regarded s the fact that the Standard Oil Co. has constructed a pipe line from the "Gurd" gusher o the nearest railroad, and is now erecting additional steel tankage and pumping stations. verage estimate at about half a month during the entire year. The exact figures will be handed up when worked

In addition to the wage statements, Mr. Culver presented a mass of other statistics, showing the number of houses the company owned, the rents received and showing dockage for the year, which amounted to 34.16 per cent. Mr. Culver disputed the accuracy of Mr. Mitchell's statement of wages paid to anthracite mine workers, and those paid to the same class of workmen in the soft coal fields. This statement was handed to the commission at Scranton, and showed that the bitumingus men received more pay than the anthracite workers. The witness said the company is making a de-termined effort to lessen child labor, and that the 20 per cent reduction in hours of labor each day without a decrease in wages is tantamount to a 25 per cent intase in wages, Mr. Torrey then read the laws of several states on the question of child labor. He said the coal companies would gladly join with anyone in having laws enacted forbidding the employment of children in and about anthracite or bituminous mines Two witnesses having testified that Wm. Dettrey, the new president of district No. of the miners' union, had made threatening remarks against non-union men, the president was present today to tell his version of the story. As counsel for the non-union men was not present, he The commission will insist that counsel for the parties before the commission shall be present at its sessions, or have their interests looked after by someone else in their absence. be called next week.

Manager Small Again Wins in Suit With Musicians.

Federation Must Not Interfere With

Leader Cresswell.

[Special to London Advertiser.] Toronto, Ont., Jan. 12.-Chancellon Boyd has refused to interfere in A. J. Small's suit against the American Federation of Musicians and the local union at London to prevent further alleged interference with Mr. Cresswell. Mr. Small's present orchestra leader there, the federation seeking the reinstatement of Mr. Evans, the former leader. The injunction is continued and the rights of all parties left to judge at trial which is to be at earliest opportunity. Costs reserved till then udge, after reciting contentions of both parties says: The action of the federation was based upon the conclusion that Small had engaged Mr. Evans and his orchestra for the season 1902-3, or that the negotiations tending that way were in process and not determined when counter negotiations were opened by Small with Cresswell, which led to his orchestra being engaged for that season. The court then says: 'Not interfering now with Cresswell will in no wise be detrimental to defendants. even if they are found to be right on the merits.' Relevant issues of fact sent themselves for determination." Citing language of earlier decision, he judge says: "It is not enough that the defendants were not actuated by improper motives, their justification for interference must be an equal and superior right in themselves, and no one can equally excuse himself to a man of whose contract he has procured the breach on the ground that he acted on a wrong understanding of his own rights or without malice, or in the interests of himself, nor even that he acted as an altruist, seeking only the good of another and careless of his own advantage."

WILL WINNETT CLAIM 15?

Ald. Forristal Said To Be Disa qualified by Technicality.

Ex-Ald. Winnett as Thirteenth Man May Be Entitled to Seat.

Owing to the change in the municipal act preventing any member of a school board for which rates are levied, from serving on a municipal council, Ald. John Forristal is said to be disqualified. fied. The law required him to be qualified at the time of his nomination, but his resignation as a member of the separate school board was not accepted until after his election.

If Ald. Forristal steps out, the seat would go to ex-Ald. Winnett, who was thirteenth man on the poll. Mr. Winnet was today elected by the council to the L. and P. S. R. board, and on that account may waive his claims. It is not likely that Mr. Forristal will resign on the technicality unless his right to sit on the council is challenged.

ASTONISHING DISCLOSURES MADE BY DR. MOORHOUSE

Scandalous Action of the Beck- members representing the entire profession, making a deliberate Waterman Trust.

Medical Profession Shut Out in Interests of Clique.

Facts Suppressed by Trust for Fear of Influencing Elections-Will the Trust Explain?

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I have before me a typewritten copy of the Beck-Waterman hospital bylaws, and also a printed copy of the old (Col. Lewis') bylaws of 1900. After a careful scrutiny and comparison of both bylaws, what strikes me first is this: Why have the Beck-Waterman bylaws been shut up from the light of day in the hospital safe for the last six months, and not given to the public before the January election? My candid belief is that the trust dared not publish its bylaws and regulations in the fear that such publication would adversely influence the vote of the trust answer. Criticism of the Beck-Waterman bylaws and regulations: (1) Why do the new bylaws dispense with a medical board? That board was appointed by the trust in 1900 when Dr. John D. Wilson, as mayor, was a member of that body. It consisted of 30 medical men, only 8 of whom were schoolmen. Chap. I., Sec. 4, of the bylaws defined the duties of the medical board, and For the appointment of Ald. Wyatt, read as follows: "All matters connected with the treatment of patients. and the care and use of medicines, instruments and appliances, not otherwise provided for, shall be under the control of the medical board, subject to the approval of the board of trustees." The medical board, consisting of 30 members (22 out of the 30, mark you, were outside men, and only eight were schoolmen) selected, in accordance with their prescribed duties, a visiting staff of outside doctors and submitted their names to the Beck-Waterman trust for approval. What was the sequel? The trust absolutely ignored the recommendations hospital questions further I shall of the medical board, and instead, appointed its own medical clique on the Only one name among those appointed by the trust appeared in the recommendations made by the medical fully yours, board. Here we have a regularly con-choice of the men best fitted in their judgment to act on the ward staff of Victoria Hospital, and lo! the Beck-Waterman trust refuse to accept their recommendation. Why? We charge that the self-evident reason was because the name of only one of the eight medical men fathered by trust appeared on that list. The fact that the trust designedly set aside the men recommended by the medical profession and appointed its own medical clique instead, is evidence to any candid reader of the truth of this statement. What stronger proof could be adduced to show that Victoria Hospital is run by the Beck-Waterman trust in the interests of a medical clique who are in control of that institution? But the trust did not stop here. It next framed and adopted the new bylaws in which the medical board

is dropped altogether, thus shutting out the medical profession from any future interference with its schemes in behalf of its medical clique.
(2) Why has the "Advisory Board of Women to be chosen from the Local Council of Women" been retained, while the medical board, representing the whole medical profession has been dropped in the Beck-Waterman bylaws? A profession, upon whose services and skill the care of the sick in the hospital is entirely dependent, is disqualified from having any voice in ratepayers against the trust. If this the appointment of its own members, is not the reason, what is it? Let the while the status of the Local Council of Women is retained. Why this organization be represented to the exclusion, for example, of the Women's Christian Association. the Daughters, and a number of other charitable associations of women that might be mentioned? My purpose is not to object to the privileges conferred by the trust upon the "Advisory Board of Women;" but I do say that it is surely an unwarrantable anomaly that this advisory board, whose meinbers must be chosen exclusively from one organization of women, are given legal authority and status by the by-

The action of the trust in relation to the medical board I consider an outrage upon the medical profession of the city of London. She lay in her darkened chamber for long hours, suffering as only such proud, resolute natures an suffer, after the downfall of schemes which they have sacrificed so much to achieve. In vain Isabelle knocked upon her door and begged to be allowed to her door and begged to be allowed to come in and do something for her com-fort; she absolutely refused to admit her, and at last, unhappy and discouraged, Isabelle went away by herself and tried to think out the terrible puzzle

She could not realize at first that all the incidents mentioned in Nurse Morris' confession had any connection with her history and yet she knew now that her father had married that other woman, Annie Keith French, who had died so suddenly years ago.

She began to understand dimly why her aunt had been so startled and agitatupon meeting Kenneth last year, after had saved her from drowning, and a sickening fear took possession of her that she who had been like a mother to her for so many years had been guilty of a dreadful wrong in her early life.

Annie Keith French! How the name rang continually in her ears! Was she Kenneth Keith's mother? Was he Allan Kavanagh's son? Was Kenneth her brother? She remembered how she had gone brother? She remembered how she had admired him—how her affection had gone but to him from the very first. Oh, if it lould prove to be true, that he belongto her—that grand, noble fellow who had sayed her life! It was after long hours of thought and grave reasoning within herself, that, with an anxious, but resolute face, she sat down at a desk in the library and indited the following note:

"Shannondale, June 20, 18-"Dear Mr. Keith" (how her little fingers thrilled to write "My Own Dear Brother," only she was not quite sure she ther," only she was not quite sure she had the right to address him thus,—"If you are still at the Shannondale Arms, will you please remain for a few days onger? Auntie is ill, but I am sure that she will wish to see you, about some thing very important, just as soon as she is able. Anvhow, I hope you will not go away without seeing your little friend, "ISABELLE LANGFORD."

When she had sealed and addressed it, he summoned a servant, and, with the ame resolute air, told him to take it to he Shannondale Arms and wait for an answer. With a sigh of relief, which also had something of anxiety in it, she watched the man ride down the avenue upon his errand. Then she seated herself by the window, and never moved from her position until his return, about two hours later. But to her great delight, he brought her the desired answer. It ran thus:

Shannondale Arms, June 20, 18—.
"Dear Miss Isabelle,—You kind little note was very welcome, and I am made happy by the knowledge that you wish to see me. I had intended leaving for London tomorrow morning, but I will low remain until I hear from you again. Sincerely your friend,
"KENNETH KEITH."

CHAPTER XLIV.

Late in the afternoon of the day on which Isabelle had written to Kenneth, Miss Kavanagh had summoned her niece to her room, and charged her with having read Mrs. Morris' confession, and the above was her answer to the accusation. The young girl was sitting by the side of the bed where Miss Kavanagh lay, for she was still to prostrated by the shock of the morning to arise.

"You did very wrong to read what was not intended for you. What made you do such a thing?" demanded Miss Kavanach souverally.

nagh, severely.
"I do not know what made, me, auntie," the young girl responded, and lifting hereyes for a moment to the stern, white words that Mr. Keith had written on the words that Mr. Reith had written on the outside to you, and I thought it was only a petition—like what you often have—asking aid for some poor woman whose name was Mrs. Morris; you have always let me see such things, and I did not think I was doing wrong to read it."

"I would not have had you see it on the convergence of I am greatly displayed.

"I would not have had you see it on any account, and I am greatly displeased with you for looking at it without my permission," returned Miss Kavanagh.

The child flushed a vivid crimson.

"You know I am always sorry to hear you say that you are displeased with me," she said, in a tremulous tone; "but—except for one reason I am glad that I read it."

"What is that reason?"

"I—I do not like to tell you just now, dear auntie," Belle replied, a look of keen pain in her clear blue eyes, while she reached out one hand and laid it with a fond, pleading touch upon the white, jeweled one lying on the sheet near her. "And now," she added, hastily, as if anxious to evade a repetition of the trying question, "since I do know all there is in that paper, will you tell me one or trye things more alease. Was the near ing question, "since I do know all there is in that paper, will you tell me one or two things more, please. Was the poor lady it tells about—who died and left her baby—my papa's wife?"

"Why do you ask that?" Miss Kavanagh queried, with white lips.

"Because that Mrs. Morris said her name was Annie, and you told me this morning that papa married Annie Keith French, and that she died while he was abroad. Was she that lady?"

"Yes."

The word came out as if it had been forced from her unwilling lips.
"Where was papa at that time?"
"Here in England." 'Did-did he love the poor lady?"
'Oh, Belle, you torture me with these

"Then why was everything so secret? Why was that little baby sent to that-that dreadful place?"
"Child! child! I will not tell you!" cried Miss Kavanagh, in a tone of passionate pain.
"I shall never rest until I know all about it, auntie." returned the young girl, in a clear, resolute tone.

JOCKEY TELLS OF JOBBERY. New Orleans, Jan. 9. — Jockey Penn, suspended by Steward Rees last season for complicity in the notorious steeple-chase jobbery, asked for reinstatement. Accompanying his application is a written confession of the whole plot.

Penn says ex-Jockey Enison had men betting in pool rooms in New York, Chicago, Fort Erie and Toronto on fixed steeplechase races. He declared Thomas Hatfield and C. C. Wright, a local business man, assisted Ellison in framing up the conspiracy. The jeckeys in league with the conspirators met at periodical times in a down-town barber shop, when the finish of the next lay's steeplechase was decided

The jobbers, according to Penn, cleated many thousands of dollars on five prearranged races. Ex-Jockey Ellison was the real owner of Inspector Stevens, raced about New York last summer with great success and under the ownership of "Dr. Lawson."

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT. Boston Globe: The conviction and punishment of the Canadian who went on a ringing tour with the pacer, Norseman, 2:141/4, under the name of Dandy Hal, shows that in some respects they do things better in Canada than we do in the United States. If the man Wood had confined his ringing operations entirely to tracks in this country he would have suffered no punishment beyond being expelled by the National Trotting Association. By starting the horse out of his class in Canada, however, he was fined and sen-tenced to a short term in prison, and at that his punishment was made light on account of his advanced age.

He a few years 250, crossed the Atlantic to consult German doctors, without result. I used to call at his store every sew months, and heard his tale of woe. He said while it he was never able to retain his food, and at certain times of the day he was attacked with an agonizing pain which lasted an hour or so, when he acted as a madman, breaking chairs, etc., and having to give up business for the time being. Food never stayed on his stomach longer than half an hour. Yesterday, after a lapse of 18 months. I called again, and to my surprise he was still dive, and looking well. I asked him about his health. He said he had been well for over a year, and gained 40 pounds in weight. I wanted to know what doctor had cured him. This is what he told me: About a year ago or over a man came to his store, telling him he had been sick very much the same as he was for some time, and tried Radway's Pills, which quickly cured him. He at once decided to use the nills. The druggist did not have any, and tried to give him another kind, but as he insisted on Badway's, they were procured for him the next day. He only took one at night, and he immediately felt better. He kept up for a time to take the pills, and from the first day to this his malady never returned.

CURED IN 1885.

Mr. David F. Mott wrote us from Spring Valley, Ont., in 1885. He said:-I suffered from impure blood and had over 500 boils, but since taking BUR-DOCK BLOOD BITTERS I am entirely cured, and can recommend it to any person troubled with bad blood.

CONFIRMED IN 1901. Mr. Mott writes us from 62 Broad St., Utica, N.Y., under date of Dec. 31st, 1901. He says:—Some time ago I received a letter from your firm, saying that some years ago you received a testimonial from me, stating that I had over 500 boils. Yes, sir, I had, and I must say that I have never had the reappearance of one since I took the course your BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. I thank God that I have had good health ever since, for I was a great sufferer. I wish B.B.B. a world of success, which

STODDART TONIGHT Much of the fun in Mr. J. H. Stoddart's production, "The Bonnie Brier centers around the character of a bibulous Scottish letter carrier, named McKittrick, known to his towns folk of the gien as "Posty." The character is played by Mr. Reuben Fax, and is said to be the most remarkable comedy creation of that gentleman's long and honorable stage career. Mr. Stoddart, of course, assumes the role of Lachlan Campbell, the bigoted, rockribbed, but gentle and loving old pillar of Presbyterianism, who all but wrecks the life of his daughter and himself in obedience to the dictates of his stern creed. ## WORK IS CONSOLIDATED

Rearrangement of Plans for Missionary Effort in Huron.

Anglican Churches in Diocese Expected to Raise at Least $10,000.

it was decided at a recent meeting of the Anglican Synod to consolidate the missionary work of the church by placing it under the charge of a central committee, and a permanent secretary. Under former conditions each diocese had the handling of its own missionary affairs, but it was felt that the ground was not being covered as thoroughly as the importance of the work demanded. Hence the change, which is expected greatly to stimulate missionary zeal. With the object of placing the aims and intentions of the movement clearly before the local Anglican churches, special services have been arranged for next Sunday. The church in Canada is pledged to raise $75,000 for missionary purposes, of which the Diocese of Huron is expected to contribute $10,000.

The list of those who will during the day speak on this important subject includes the following: Rev. L. N. Tucker, M. A., the new general secretary of the missionary board; Thompson, of Igersoll; Mr. Matthew Wilson, K. C., of Chatham; and Mr. A. H. Dymond, principal of the Blind Institute, Brantford.

Literary Notes.

Piera Marshal Viscount Wolseley, K. P., begins a very interesting series of four articles on "The Young Napoleon" in the January Cosmopolitan. Field Marshal Wolseley is today probably the ablest living writer, and his work will be received with a wide welcome, not only from those interested in Napoleon's career, but from all those who are interested in military affairs. Three other features in the January Cosmopolitan will attract attention. The first is a sketch of Russell Sage and his methods and the immense resources controlled by him. The second, a very able paper on Daniel Gray Reid and the men who have recently played so large a part in financial affairs in connection with the Rock Island Railroad. The third is by Representative Walter P. Brownlow, of Tennessee, on the movement to York build $100,000,000 worth of good roads each year, one-third to be paid by the Government.
