

10,000 PERISH IN SOUTH SEA CYCLONE; HUGE WAVES SWEEP ISLAND COASTS

Society and Tahiti Archipelagos Devastated by Worst Storm Ever Known in Southern Pacific—Wind Rages for Two Days at 120 Miles an Hour.

San Francisco, March 4.—The Evening Post states that 10,000 persons perished during the storm on Tahiti and adjacent islands, several of which, its account says, have disappeared. It places the damage at $5,000,000.

Papeete, Tahiti, Feb. 15, via San Francisco, March 3.—The most destructive cyclone ever experienced in the Society and Tuamotu Islands occurred on Feb. 7 and 8. The damage in Tahiti is estimated at $1,000,000, and presumably a similar amount of property was destroyed on the Tuamotu Islands. The city of Papeete was inundated and about 75 buildings destroyed, including the American consulate and the French Government building. The shipping in the harbor of Papeete escaped injury, owing to the direction of the wind, but fears are entertained for vessels which were caught near the Tuamotu Islands.

Fears for Vessels.
It is feared that there has been heavy loss of life in the lagoons of Tuamotu Islands.

The schooner Papeete was submerged for an hour near Anua, Tuamotu. Her captain, Philip Michell, estimated that the waves were 65 feet high. It was impossible to see 20 feet away at 3 p.m., and the sailors had to be lashed to the vessel. M. Maradi, a French resident at Papeete, Tuamotu Islands, abandoned the place in a small cutter after all the government buildings and dwelling houses were swept away. Many of the natives climbed coconut trees, and others put out to sea in small boats.

Bridges and roads were damaged on the island of Tahiti. Bread fruit, coconut, banana and plantain trees were blown down in great numbers, which will result in hardships to the natives, and materially affect commerce during the next two or three years. The French gunboat Zelee, has gone to the Tuamotu Islands with supplies of food and fresh water. The British consul has appealed to the Government for aid for 500 British subjects. Some Americans have sustained heavy losses, and probably there will be instances of destruction. The Americans are hopeful of securing help from the United States. Money and food are required.

Struck Island at Midnight.
The cyclone reached the velocity of 120 miles an hour. It struck the islands about midnight on Feb. 7, and continued until about 4 o'clock on the next afternoon. The island of Anua, Tuamotu group, is believed to have been the center of the storm.

At Papeete about 7 p.m. on Feb. 7, the sea began to break heavily over the reef, the waves in the harbor washing over the quay. There was no perceptible wind. Toward 10 o'clock persons dwelling in the waterfront abandoned their homes, many saving small portions of their belongings. The merchants and clerks went to the stores and warehouses only to discover that it was impossible to save goods on the lower floors. An hour later high seas broke completely, flooding ship and buildings, besides causing great damage to the coal sheds. The guardian of the arsenal, Teffer Adams, an expert swimmer, was in the water for many hours and assisted in warning and reaching others.

Flotation Swept Away.
The village of Taronia, near the arsenal, was completely swept away. It consisted of the mission buildings and homes of native converts of the Reorganized Latter Day Saints' mission. A settlement nearby composed of dwellings of several hundred Cook Islanders (British subjects), was completely destroyed. Frequent, severe, living near that community, had to take to an adjacent swamp which became inundated and he was compelled to battle with the waves for many hours. Further east on the beach road all the houses were swept away for about a half mile.

At Taunua, the family of Herman McNeil had a thrilling experience, their residence being badly damaged by waves, which compelled the family to flee to a native house. Frequently the water was up to their necks and they were compelled to cling to trees. Other fine homes were badly damaged. Mrs. Gooding, an aged American, narrowly escaped death, being caught by debris in her room at Papeete when it collapsed.

Consulate Collapses.
At 8 a.m. the American consulate collapsed. In the absence of the American consul, his mother, Mrs. Doty, supervised the removal of the archives, aided by several missionaries. Mrs. Doty was in serious jeopardy several times. The records were temporarily stored at the Latter Day Saints' Mission House. Mrs. Doty's family also accepted their hospitality.

The substitute guardian at the quarantine station at Moutautia Island, Papeete harbor, was waving a lantern for many hours during the night, as he and his wife clung to the tops of coconut trees in the midst of waves.

PARIS CHEERS FOR KING EDWARD

A Significantly Warm Welcome for His Majesty at the French Capital.

Paris, March 4.—King Edward's visit to Paris is attracting great attention, enormous crowds cheering his every appearance on the streets today.

The cordiality of the greetings exchanged between the King and President Fallieres during his majesty's official call at the Elysee Palace was much remarked.

The conversation between the two lasted half an hour. Later the president returned the call at the British embassy, where a state dinner was held tonight.

At the dinner, President Fallieres and Premier Rouvier, with their wives, were among the guests. There were no speeches. Afterwards King Edward, President Fallieres and M. Rouvier conversed for half an hour in the smoking-room.

During the course of the day former Presidents Loubet and Casimir Perier left their cards at the British embassy. The King invited M. Loubet to dinner on Monday.

The Princesses Beatrice and Ena of Battenberg, who lunched with King Edward today, will leave for Biarritz, Monday, where they will await the King's arrival.

Later an interview between the Kings of England and Spain will take place, at which official consent to the marriage of Princess Ena to King Alfonso will be given.

SENTENCED TO GO TO CHURCH

How a St. Kitts Magistrate Dealt Out Justice to Thieves.

St. Catharines, March 5.—Judge Carman dealt leniently with William Perry and Garnett Dawson, the two convicted chicken thieves, who pleaded guilty.

When the two young men were brought into court his honor told them he had been looking up their record, and that he had resolved to give them one more chance to reform.

His honor exacted a promise from each of the accused to go to church at least once a Sunday until June, and to quit drinking. He made that a distinct condition in allowing them to go at liberty, and the young men were very willing to make the promise.

They also had to give bonds for appearance at the June sessions.

Moyer and Haywood, of the Western Federation of Miners, on a charge of murder, is part of a conspiracy of the mining capitalists to break up the federation.

The Industrial Workers have started a defense fund, with which to fight the case in the courts, and ask that contributions be forwarded to headquarters at Chicago.

Flirting in Choir

St. Catharines, March 5.—Rev. W. B. Nevitt, son of Dr. Nevitt, the well-known Toronto clergyman, created a sensation at St. Barnabas' Church, here, yesterday, where he officiated for the first time, by the announcement that he has dispensed with the services of the lady members of the choir. His only explanation was that it was owing to the awful stories he had heard about flirting. The churchwardens were angry, and yesterday locked the church organ and had the water power turned off so that it could not be used. At the evening service a small organ was pressed into service from the Sunday school. Friends of the lady members of the choir are very indignant, and there promises to be trouble.

WILL HAVE COUNSEL THERE

Ottawa, March 5.—The Province of Ontario will be officially represented at the inquiry to be made by the Dominion Government's commission on insurance.

Premier Whitney was asked by a reporter on Saturday if a decision on the point had been reached. The Ontario Government expects to appoint counsel to appear before the commission in the interest of the policyholders of Ontario."

NO REDUCTION HERE

All Grand Trunk Train Crews Are Still at Work.

A Stratford dispatch says that the Grand Trunk has laid off twenty freight brakemen there, and that a number of conductors have been set back to brakemen.

The open winter has enabled the company to handle its freight with much greater ease than during the severe winters of the past few years, and this meant less work for the train crews. The Mogul engines also have much heavier trains than the old type of locomotives, and this has also had its effect on the train crews.

No reduction in the forces at London or Sarnia Tunnel has been made, nor has there been any intimation of a change. Traffic continues good.

It was announced yesterday that it was feared 800 fishermen with their families, who were afloat on the ice, were doomed to perish.

MCCURDY COMING BACK

Ex-Insurance President Will Be On Hand for Investigation.

New York, March 5.—It appears from the Herald that Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, before sailing for Paris on Wednesday last, entered into a written undertaking with District Attorney Jerome to return to this country at any time his presence might be desired, and to return by Sept. 1 in any event.

This is taken to confirm the report that the district attorney is preparing certain life insurance matters for the grand jury. Mr. Jerome, it also appears, was shown a certificate from Mr. McCurdy's physicians, representing that the former president of the Mutual was in a physical condition demanding absolute rest and removal from the scene of his many business cares.

Delaney Nicoll, personal counsel to Mr. McCurdy, says that his client entered into a written undertaking to return to New York before Sept. 1.

"Mr. McCurdy is in no danger of prosecution upon any criminal charge," said Mr. Nicoll last night.

GRAIN VIA THE PORTS

Output By Way of Fort William and Port Arthur Greater Than Ever.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, March 5.—The returns for the past season for the output of grain from the west by lake ports shows a big gain over 1905. The receipts of grain at Fort William and Port Arthur for the six months of the fiscal year of the shipping season were 42,325,558 bushels, compared with 24,292,244 for the same time in the previous year. The receipts of wheat alone were 31,091,193, compared with 23,831,383, for 1905. Shipments of wheat were 34,794,323, as against 18,604,109 for the six months last year. There are in storage at both ports 6,421,873 bushels, as against 5,505,993 for 1905.

The insurance commission met in Judge McTavish's office at the court house this afternoon, and sat for a few minutes. The commissioners afterwards called upon Mr. Fielding. They are making arrangements for sittings of the commissions.

COUNCIL NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR OVERDRAFT, SAY CITY AUDITORS

Deficit of $15,000 for 1905 Not Due to Any Mismanagement—Some Estimates Exceeded.

HOSPITAL TRUST OVERRAN ACCOUNTS BY $2,000

The report of the city auditors, Messrs. Jewell and Dale, will be presented to the city council at its meeting tonight.

As already announced, it shows an overdraft from last year of over $15,000, but the auditors in justice to last year's council, draw attention to the fact that the overdraft is, in no wise due to any extravagances or mismanagement on the part of the council of 1905.

The report shows that the waterworks last year spent $6,255.93 more than its estimate, while the hospital trust exceeded its estimate by $1,923.57.

The West London breakwater account was also overdrawn by the sum of $4,178.90. These are the principal items which account for the overdraft, and over which, as the city auditors point out in their annual report, the council had no control.

The auditors, however, point out that in all probability the overdraft will be greatly reduced through increase in the estimated percentage on the earnings of the West London breakwater, and the city being granted permission by the Legislature to use a certain amount of money which was left over from the time West London was taken into the city, debentures having at that time been issued to cover West London's indebtedness, and a balance having been left on hand which the city has far been unable to use for any purpose whatever.

Though it is shown by the auditor's statement that the board of education has still about $2,000 of a balance on hand, accounts yet to be paid are set against this, so that no surplus is mentioned by the auditors.

The receipts of the city for the year from all sources amounted to $588,836.02, against an estimated revenue of $588,987.02.

Tavern and shop licenses, owing to a couple having been closed up, fell off by $387.83. Other smaller estimated items also failed to reach the amount expected last year.

General license fees for the city increased, however, by $308.50, police court fees by $352.78; market house rentals by $171.60, city and town hall rentals, etc., by $217.75, statute labor and dogs by $157, weigh scales fees by $31.60.

Delaney Nicoll, personal counsel to Mr. McCurdy, says that his client entered into a written undertaking to return to New York before Sept. 1.

CAN SAY NOTHING ABOUT THE PRICE

Mr. Beck Talks of Niagara Power and What It May Cost Consumers.

Hon. Adam Beck visited Mayor Judd this morning and was seen by The Advertiser.

"How are the chances for Niagara power in London this fall?" the reporter asked.

"Good, I think," Mr. Beck replied. "But I can't say anything about what the people will be compelled to pay for the power."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well, Toronto isn't paying any less for Niagara power than for steam-generated power."

"But haven't the municipalities power to go ahead and secure their own plant?"

"Well, ex-Mayor Uquhart, of Toronto, said the act of 1903, which gave municipalities power to go ahead is no good, didn't he?"

"But if the municipalities get together and secure their own power, they can fix the price of power at any figure they please?"

"Yes, but when the municipalities are ready to invest $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 in the business, I would like to hear of it."

"How about the Government? Will Mr. Whitney help?"

Mr. Beck smiled.

"Mr. Whitney is the man to see about that," he replied.

MILLIONS IN PIRATES' PLUNDER ON AN ISLAND IN THE GULF

Boston, Mass., March 5.—Millions of treasure, captured by a cut-throat crew of a vessel, the Jolly Roger, cached on a island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and the place of concealment kept a secret for 75 years, and now in the possession of a Boston woman, are fitting before the eyes of half a dozen Bostonians, and there is a possibility that they will finance an expedition to go and get the treasure. There are said to be more than $2,000,000 of it, and all that is lacking is somebody with money to guarantee the expedition.

A woman who signs herself Susan Mason now holds the secret. She is advertised for backers. Miss Mason says she can convince the right persons of the truth of her assertions that there are millions in silver, gold and jewels waiting only to be taken away, and her main concern seems to be to prevent the Canadian Government from getting part of the wealth.

"I am not ready to give all the details of the story," said Miss Mason. "but I am absolutely sure that the wealth is to be had for the journey, and I am trying to get means to finance the trip now. I don't care to say just where the wealth is hidden. I am afraid that if the exact location were made public the Canadian Government would learn of it."

"TRYPSIN" HAILED AS CANCER CURE

Discovery of Specific by Dr.
Beard, of Edinburgh.

SHOW GOOD RESULT

Destruction of Disease Said to Follow Use of New Agent on Lower Animals.

New York, March 4.—A specific cure for cancer apparently has been discovered by Dr. John Beard, of the University of Edinburgh, according to an article in Harper's Weekly for Saturday written by Dr. C. W. Saaleby, whose discoveries in the problem of the origin of life give great weight to his account of Dr. Beard's experiments.

"It seems more than probable," writes Dr. Saaleby, "that in trypsin has been discovered for the cancer cell that specific poison which must exist for every cell. Only the philosophic few could have guessed for a moment that Dr. Beard's long and famous researches would ever enable him to have enabled him to place in the hands of the physician a veritable cure for cancer."

Trypsin, the seeming agent of destruction of the cancer cell, is defined by Dr. Saaleby as "the characteristic ferment of the pancreatic juice, a remarkable but quite familiar substance." Experiments with trypsin have been made on several thousand cancerous mice and also on human beings, with the conclusion by both Dr. Beard and Dr. Shaw-Mackenzie, according to Dr. Saaleby, that "trypsin is the substance which will destroy the cancer cell with ease and without danger to the individual."

The experiments of Dr. Beard have not been completely described, but enough of them is known to warrant the general opinion stated in the foregoing quotation. Describing the experiments, Dr. Saaleby writes:

"There is in existence a famous cancerous tumor known as Jensen's mouse tumor. It arose about four years ago in a mouse, and has since been transplanted into some 3,000 mice successively, all of which are now dead. Yet the tumor cells themselves are multiplying in other mice with undiminished activity and producing enormous masses of tissue."

"A number of mice were inoculated with cells from a specimen of this tumor already in a mouse of the same species. About five weeks later, during which the cancer had been growing in the several mice inoculated, two were taken for treatment by trypsin, the results of such treatment being carefully compared with the progress of the tumor in the untreated mice."

"After ten days, during which four injections had been made into each mouse, one of them was found dead, apparently due to its having been caught between its cage and a glass vessel. Microscopic examination of the tumor showed that every one of its cells was degenerate. Half of them were represented by shapeless masses of particles, while the rest were mere crumbling skeletons of cells. All the body tissues of this mouse were found to be quite normal."

"The second mouse was killed 22 days after the treatment had begun, nine injections of trypsin having been made. It was killed in order to compare it with one of the untreated mice, which then succumbed to its tumor."

"The contrast was remarkable. In the untreated mouse the tumor which killed it had reached the size of the last segment of a man's thumb. In the case of the trypsin mouse, the tumor—though of the same size—was only as big as a lentil, and on microscopic examination all its cells were found to be dead. The tumor was quite harmless and, even without further treatment, would probably have soon been completely absorbed."

"How are we to conceive that trypsin exercises this power? Now, physiologists have long known that trypsin has the power of digesting albumen; that is its function in our own bodies, of which it is by far the most important digestive ferment. The probability appears to be that trypsin similarly digests the particular living albumen which is characteristic of the

"One day our groceryman left a package of Grape-Nuts food by mistake, so I tried it for dinner. I was surprised to find that it satisfied my appetite and gave me no distress whatever. The next meal I ate of it again, and to be brief, I have lived for the past year almost exclusively on Grape-Nuts. It has proved to be a most healthy and appetizing food, perfectly adapted to the requirements of my system."

"It is not only easily digested and assimilated itself, but I find that since I have been using it I am able to eat anything else my appetite fancy without trouble from indigestion. The stomach trouble and nervousness have left me. I have regained my plumpness and my views of life are no longer despondent and gloomy. Other members of my family, especially my husband (whose old enemy the 'heart-burn' has been vanquished) have also derived great benefit from the use of Grape-Nuts food and we think no morning meal complete without it." cancer-ferment, 'malignin,' by means of which a cancer digests and destroys the tissues of its host.

"From the very moment that the cell pathology, founded by the great German, Virchow, was applied to the problems of cancer, it became evident that ultimately there must surely be discovered some substance or substances which would be fatal to the life of the cancer-cell, while impotent to affect the life of the non-cancerous cell."

Hamilton, March 4.—That the clue in the Barton murder mystery, which Pinkerton detectives are working on in New York at the request of the Ontario Government, will result in the murdered woman being identified, whose who are familiar with the developments during the past few weeks are confident.

Not only do the police think that the woman came from the east side of New York, but they feel certain that the Pinkerton men will shortly be able to show that it was in that district the unknown victim purchased the shoes that were found on her after the murder.

The story telegraphed from Kingston and published in two local papers yesterday proved to be a dream. Inquiries at Rome, N. Y., where Jerry O'Connor and Sarah Sebasin claim to have been when they were carried at Kingston, showed that Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor are residing there now.

While the Hamilton police seen backward in accepting the suggestion that the dead woman may have been an English Jewess, and came from New York, there are several points in the case to support such a theory. Experienced detectives say that the way the victim was attired would support it.

The manufacturer of our Foot Queen shoes, such as the victim wore, was a Hebrew, and so is the wholesaler and retailer. The retailer who caters almost entirely to the Jewish trade had a big sale for the shoes among people of that nationality, where he conducts his business. If the supposition that the woman was a Jewess is correct, a most plausible motive for the murder could be shown.

HEMMED IN BY FLAMES

Dramatic Incident at Big Car Barn
Fire at New York.

New York, March 4.—The Forty-second street car barn of the Metropolitan Railway Company, extending from 651 West Forty-second street to the Hudson River, were destroyed by fire tonight.

Between 30 and 40 cars of the Thirty-fourth street cross-town surface line were in the barns, and all were destroyed. The total damage is estimated at more than $200,000.

When the fire had gained great headway, and it was thought every one had escaped from the building, a man suddenly appeared at one of the rear windows. He was on the second floor, completely hemmed in by the flames, and his clothing lit in fire.

Lieut. Gorman reached the window, and was about to take hold of the man, when he tottered back into the flames and was seen no more. Gorman was compelled to beat a hasty retreat to save his own life, the fire reaching the window a few moments after he had clambered to the ground.

SACHEM DIES LIKE A SACHEM

On His Feet in War Bonnet, and Armed With Club.

LAST HOURS OF "FALLING DAY"

Head of the Snipe Clan of the Senecas—Kept Secretly His Fathers' Faith.

New York, March 4.—Chauncey Abrams, sachem of the Snipe clan of the Seneca Indians, died on the Tonawanda Reservation, and was buried with the rites of the tribe Nis-Nya-Ne, Falling Day, was his Indian name, and as Falling Day he should be known in death, for he died a pagan. A man of education, well read, living and dressing after the manner of the whites, he clung, as is right for a sachem, to the god of his fathers. Most of the Senecas have listened to the missionaries of one tribe or another, but never Falling Day, who died of a broken heart.

Last month his wife died, and Falling Day went himself into the grave. He retired to his own house and mourned, and presently he took to his bed. It was a fortnight ago when that white man known to the Indians as Chauncey Abrams, "The Planter," a full member of the tribe, went to the reservation on a visit. He heard that Falling Day was sick and went to visit him. The other Pagan Indians of the tribe were squatted about the room, watching, and on a chair near the bed were Falling Day's leggings, his head belt, his war club, his head-dress, with the eagle feather at its crest, all the paraphernalia of a Snipe sachem. To the eyes of a Seneca this showed two things. First, the old chief expected death, and second, he was going to die in the faith. For when a chief of the Senecas dies he faces it in war regalia and on his feet.

For a sachem, his life was a peaceful one. He was not a warrior, a power among his people, and a good Indian. The traders said that he was honest and straight, and the mission people admitted it reluctantly, for he rejected Christianity. He was a grandson of Chief Blacksmith, who saw Washington on behalf of the Senecas and to whom Washington promised a perpetual reservation for the Senecas—a promise which stands out among promises to the Indians in that it was kept. Falling Day, as a boy, used to sit on the knee of Blacksmith and hear the tale of the visit to Washington. He has often repeated it to Planter as his grandfather, an Indian of the old school, told it in his grand eloquent Indian speech.

"He was a tall man, and strong, with the look of a chief. He stood before us. His heart was good and his words were straight. And he said: 'You and your people shall have these lands of the white man forever. None shall take them from you unless he conquers the white man. As long as the waters run and the beavers build, as long as the leaves fall and the eagle flies, as long as the grass grows and the rabbit runs, so long shall these lands belong to the Senecas.'"

When he was young Falling Day went to a mission school and was educated. He resisted conversion, but the teaching he kept, and he was fond of reading, especially history. He could write an intelligent and interesting letter, and though he had an Indian's reserve, he talked delightfully when the shell was broken. In later years he became sachem of the Snipe clan by election of the women, for woman suffrage prevails among the Senecas to a degree which would delight Susan B. Anthony. The women elect the sachem. It is true that the council of men has the right of veto and can force the women to make a second choice, but rarely does.

No news came out of the reservation about Falling Day's funeral, but it must have been a simple ceremony, because the ceremonial of a Seneca death is not at the grave, but at the death feast, ten days later. The chief is laid away in his war regalia and with very little ceremony. A hole is drilled in the grave from the body to the surface, for souls do strange things sometimes, and the soul of the dead may wish to revisit the body.

The great ceremonial observance is the "Ada-Kew-Ha" on the tenth day after death. For those ten days the soul is hovering about the earth, lingering near its old haunts, watching everything, listening to everything. But on the tenth day it departs, and in the feast the tribe bids it farewell. For two or three days before this feast runners of the Snipe clan will go to every part of the reservation, inviting the people of the Wolf, the Deer, the Turtle, the Heron, the Beaver and the Hawk. They will assemble in the Long House of the Snipe people. Everything will be done according to ancient ceremonial. The women will enter from one door, the men from another. They will eat corn bread whereof the meal is beaten out as their mothers beat it—in wooden mortars.

For although the Senecas live in modern fashion, they go back to the old customs at their ceremonial feasts. The people wear any bits of the old dress which they own, and the women of the clan work all the day before with the pestles. The mortars are followed from the trunks of trees. The head of meal and beans is boiled up in kettles and baked over the fire. They make tea, a soup of meal and beans. All this is ready when the guests arrive and seat themselves about the Long House.

The last great death feast was held in November, 1904, for Mrs. Harriet Maxwell Converse, a white woman, and an adopted member of the tribe. She also was of the Snipe clan. She had died a year before. If anything prevents the feast on the tenth day it is held one year after the death, because the soul comes back once a year.

On this occasion the food was distributed among the mourners, and then Chester Lay, a head man of the Wolf clan and a friend of the dead, spoke her eulogy, and the Senecas wept, for they are a people of soft hearts. Crow, the "preacher" of his tribe, expounded the doctrine of Gan-Nia-Deh, the Seneca prophet and teacher, and others who had known her followed in the Seneca tongue. At the end the Snipe clan gave presents to the runners, the chief mourners, the friends of the dead and the women who had prepared the feast.

Something like this will be the death feast of Falling Day, known to the whites as Chauncey Abrams, and to his own people as Nis-Nya-Neant, the sachem, and the faithful follower of the old ways. Then the Snipe women will meet and choose a man, the council of men will approve him and there will be a new sachem.

DEBS SAYS WE MUST FIGHT
The Arrest of Moyer and Haywood
Termed Plot of Plutocracy.

Toledo, Ohio, March 4.—"What I have to say about the latest and boldest stroke of plutocracy will require but little space. It is not talk that is wanted, but action. The issue is clear. The labor leaders that cannot be bought or bullied are ambushed or strangled. How shall we meet that situation? We must fight."

This announcement, made by Eugene V. Debs in response to a telegram from William Miller, editor of the Toledo Socialist, asking for an expression regarding the arrest of President Moyer and Secretary Haywood, of the Western Federation of Miners, for complicity in the murder of former Governor Steiengenberg, of Idaho, continuing, Debs says:

"Another Haymarket will precipitate a revolution. If murder must be committed it will not be the working class alone that will furnish the victims this time. A million of men will meet the issue with guns. All workers and others who have red blood in their veins will rise up against this murderous plot of the plutocracy against two innocent men. They have stolen our country, debauched our politics, defied our judiciary, and now they propose to murder those who will not abjectly surrender to their brutal domination."

"We have no courts to appeal to. They belong to the plutocracy, and I am opposed to spending our means going up against a brass-bound judiciary. Let mass meetings be held all over the country and the workers aroused. If they put our leaders in the penitentiaries without a trial we will put them down, as they did the battle in France. The issue is the workers versus the plutocracy. If they strike the first violent blow we will strike the last."

"Iv Dear Wilhelm."
Berlin, March 5.—Satisfaction reigns in high circles here because King Edward has written a most gratifying letter to the Emperor on the occasion of his silver wedding. King Edward addresses his nephew as "My Dear Wilhelm" and wishes him and the Empress every happiness and hopes they may live to celebrate the golden jubilee of their marriage. The Emperor's letter is held all over the country and the workers aroused. If they put our leaders in the penitentiaries without a trial we will put them down, as they did the battle in France. The issue is the workers versus the plutocracy. If they strike the first violent blow we will strike the last."

Borrowed Quebec's Jail.
Quebec, March 4.—On account of the overcrowded condition of the Montreal jail, some 50 prisoners arrived from this city yesterday afternoon by C. P. R., and were transferred to the jail where they will serve out their sentences.

A landmark of Paris, dating from the city's most ancient past, is to disappear. This is the street Du Petit-Pont, which commemorates the struggles of the city against the Norsemen.

SOME PERSONS are more susceptible to colds than others, contracting derangements of the pulmonary organs from the slightest causes. These should always have at hand a bottle of Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the present day sovereign remedy for coughs, catarrh and inflammation of the lungs. It will effect a cure, no matter how severe the cold may be. You cannot afford to be without a remedy like Bickel's, for it is the best.

THE VITAL CENTER

No Man Stronger Than His Stomach—Let Mi-o-na
Strengthen Your Digestive System.

The stomach is your vital center. No man is stronger than his stomach. The average man measures his physical vitality by his heart, his kidneys, or his lungs. Yet it is the stomach that should be first considered when you cast up the account of health.

Every organ of the body is sustained and nourished by food which is converted into nutrition in the stomach and conveyed to every part of the system in the form of blood. For this reason, when the stomach is strengthened with Mi-o-na and able to convert the food into nourishment, all other organs soon become well. This explains many cures of heart, liver or kidney diseases in the cases where Mi-o-na is used. It is the most wonderful health restorer known.

Just one little tablet out of a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na for a few days, and you will soon see a great improvement in your health. If you cannot obtain Mi-o-na in your drugstore, it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for advice on your case from a leading stomach specialist, which will be sent free. Shadow and Sunlight

CHAPTER XXX.

A week has passed, and St. George is still in London. His portmanteau is packed, his route is made out, all his preparations made for one of his escapades, but he is still in London. If anybody should ask him why, he would have some trouble to provide a substantial reason. He cannot explain to himself what keeps him; he is only conscious that he cannot go, that some indefinable feeling holds him back, and so he hangs on, dreaming away the day between the club and his rooms, and occasionally looking in at Lady Carton's and other well-known houses. Yes, dreaming is the only word which will explain his condition of mind. Ever since the evening at the Coronet he has been possessed of a demon of unrest and disquietude.

Madge, the only woman he ever loved, is in his thoughts night and day. He not only loves her, but he is anxious about her. The mystery which envelops her whereabouts sits upon him like a nightmare, and it is a nightmare which he cannot throw off by his own efforts, and which no one will help him to be rid of.

Since that evening when Lady Carton spoke her mind, with such terrible plainness, she has maintained a profound silence on the subject. Several times St. George has endeavored to lead the conversation towards Madge, but every time Lady Carton has quietly put the topic aside. For some reason or other she will have no more to say on the subject, and St. George cannot move her.

Once he has met the Honorable Francis at the club, and with as much artfulness as he can command has endeavored to get some information from him; but the Honorable Francis politely and gracefully puts him aside, with a smile and a few commonplace phrases.

"My daughter, Lady Lashwood?" he said. "Oh, yes, she is on the Continent. Her health is not quite so good as it might be, and she is afraid of a London season. Where are they? Upon my word, I scarcely know; they are like those what-do-you-call-they birds—always flitting. The last letter I got was dated from—dear me, some out of the way place in Switzerland, that I must confess I never heard of before, and have quite forgotten now."

And then he smiles softly and benignly, and takes himself into the card room, leaving St. George utterly repulsed and balked.

There is only one intimate friend of the Lashwoods whom he does not ask for information, and that is Adelaide Newson. Whenever he goes he meets her. Her name is heard in all the haunts of society and night after night he sits and hears her sing, watching her moodily as she plays her part, surrounded by a crowd of admirers. Sometimes she speaks to him; she is always graceful, smiling, but the smile has a peculiar significance, and he never looks on it but he remembers her as she stood in the box at the Coronet.

Once or twice he has been on the point of speaking to her about Madge, but some indefinable feeling keeps him silent.

And so he still clings to London, though the day brings him no satisfaction, and the aching void in his life grows more intense. It is on the sixth night, and he has made up his mind that he will certainly leave London on the morrow, and start for—somewhere; but he finds himself wandering from the club, where he has been dining, toward his own rooms.

The table is covered with notes and letters, most of them addressed in feminine handwriting, and containing invitations. As he enters the room he glances at the table, and the management turns over with a yawn, to choose from among them one which he can accept for tonight; but one by one he throws them aside.

"I'm half-inclined to sit down and smoke," he mutters. "Thank heaven, this is the last night of it. I'm off to-morrow. Yes, I shall be better away; London seems full of her; I cannot get her sweet face out of my sight. I'll go and do some big shooting somewhere; perhaps I shall forget her, for a time. At least, no, that is impossible—I shall never forget her now. If I knew that she was well and happy, I might do it—my love for her, if I know anything about it, would enable me to do that, but as it is, with this uncertainty hanging over her life, I cannot rest. What is it that has happened? Something—something; but what?"

He lights his cigar and sits down; but before the cigar is half-smoked he is on his feet again.

"No, it won't do—I should go mad if I sat here thinking. I must go some, where!"

He puts on his overcoat and hat and starts out, objectless and indifferent as to his destination, and makes his way down Pall Mall and into the Strand. That historic thoroughfare is at its busiest; a line of cabs is already forming, awaiting the emptying of the theaters; the usual throng of foot-passengers is in full possession of the pavement; and to avoid the crowd he turns up into one of the streets leading from the main thoroughfare, and stopping to light his cigar, is suddenly aware that he is opposite the classic portico of the Coronet. As he looks, his eyes are caught by the bills, on which the

Rheumatism

Is one of the constitutional diseases. It manifests itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles, but it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires constitutional treatment acting through the blood, and the best is a course of the great medicine name of Maud Brandon is printed in huge type, and obeying an impulse of the moment, he crosses and enters the theater.

There are several boards up, bearing the imposing notice, "Stalls and boxes full," but he goes to the ticket-box, and lays down ten and sixpence.

The man stares. It wants but an hour to the fall of the curtain. "Stalls full, sir," he says.

"Never mind, I'll stand," he says; with that unreasonable obstinacy which makes one inclined to persist in one's purpose when that purpose meets with an obstacle.

The man gives him the ticket, and St. George enters the theater.

The house is crammed—the placards make no false assertion. On tiptoe St. George walks down to the stalls and gets into a corner. Ada Ransome is on the stage, the great last act of "The Two Queens" is half-way through. He stands and listens; he can only see her at intervals, and he looks at the absorbed and attentive audience. Presently he knows by the general slight but significant movement that runs through the audience, that Maud Brandon has appeared, and he moves forward and looks at the stage.

As he does so the same thrill that ran through him on the first night seizes him, agitates him now.

Somehow his brain struggles to call up the time and place, when and where he had seen that face. So hard is the effort, so absorbing, that the action of the piece passes by him unheeded, and is not until a thunder of applause breaks out that he is conscious that the play is ended.

"I must be getting softening of the brain," he says, "or else I have dreamed of that face before I saw it." It is still puzzling, he makes his way out.

The weather has changed during the last hour, and the crowd at the entrance is rendered more exasperating than usual by the addition of elevated umbrellas. The sight of the umbrellas reminds him that he has left his own in the corner where he had been standing, and he turns back to get it.

Although not ten minutes have gone by since the curtain went down, the gas has been lowered, and the brown holland covers are being put over the seats and boxes.

He stumbles down the passageway, and makes his way to the corner of the stalls, not a little to the amazement of the attendants, who stare at him inquiringly, and one of them politely, but emphatically, requests to know what he wants.

"I've left my umbrella," he explains. "It was standing here—"

"All right, sir, I found it. I'll get it for you in a minute if you'll wait here. I hadn't time to take it to the cloak-room and I slipped behind with it."

St. George stands where he is hidden, and the girl goes toward a dark corner beside the proscenium and opens a door, the existence of which St. George had never suspected, thought he had been leaning against it for an hour.

It leads apparently to the stage itself, and St. George, watching her listlessly, catches a glimpse of the side scenes and of persons passing to and fro.

Presently the girl comes back with a perplexed face.

"I put it inside there, but it's gone, sir," she says, apologetically. "Somebody must have taken it."

"Never mind," says St. George, as he turns up the collar of his coat; "it's of no consequence," and then he turns away.

But the girl stops him with a word. "If you don't mind waiting, sir, I'll run to the prompter's box—it's there, I expect," and she disappears again, before St. George can prevent her.

He gets a half-crown ready, and in another moment she comes back triumphantly.

"You've taken a bit of trouble," says St. George, with a smile, as she pockets the half-crown.

"Oh, no, sir, it wouldn't do for you to go without it. The management is very particular about anything like that—"

"I don't suppose the management would have known much about it," he says.

"No, sir; but some gentlemen make such a fuss about anything they've lost. This way, sir, there, now. The door's locked. You'll have to cross the stage, if you don't mind."

Inwardly wishing he had abandoned his game, St. George turns and stumbles back through the nearly dark theater, and passes through the door on to the stage.

There is little room, and such a maze of scenery, and ropes, and similar obstacles, that his progress is not easily slow, but dangerous, as he stumbles after her.

They cross the stage and enter a narrow passage, and the girl opens a door leading out into the street.

St. George finds another half-crown is about to transfer it, when the girl, with a frightened start, draws back, and St. George, looking round to see the cause of her alarm, sees a lady coming down the passage.

"We mustn't take fees, sir," whispers the girl. "Good-night."

St. George manages to slip the coin into her hand, and is about to pass out—has his foot on the threshold, when he hears a voice say:

"Will you tell Miss Ransome that I am ready, please?" and unconsciously she stops.

It is Miss Brandon.

Slight as has been his pause, it has allowed her time to come within a few yards of him, and naturally enough he turns and looks at her.

As he does so, a man passes with a lamp in his hand, and the light falls full upon her face, and St. George utters an exclamation. Evidently startled, she stops and looks at him, then with a sudden gesture shrinks back and puts up her hand.

In a moment St. George is by her side and his hand is on her arm.

One word only he says, but never in his life has one word meant so much.

"Madge!"

She does not attempt to fly—she does not shrink—she simply stands and gazes at him with a look of doubt and infinite sorrow in her beautiful eyes.

"Madge!" he repeats, and his voice trembles with fear and emotion which threaten to overwhelm him. "Is it possible? Great heaven, is it possible? Am I dreaming? You here! Speak!"

Her lips move, but no sound comes for a moment, then at last she speaks.

"Yes, it is I. Why are you here—"

He takes off his hat, and wipes his brow, upon which large drops have gathered, and stares at her, his hands some face white and working.

"By an accident," he replies, and his voice sounds strained and hurried. "By a mere accident, Madge"—he stops and the color comes to his face again. "Forgive me—this surprise—great heaven, I can scarcely believe it! I have been seeking for you," and he pauses again.

CLOSING 100 SALOONS

Agreement Between Mayor and the Brewers of Buffalo.

Buffalo, March 4.—In accordance with an agreement entered into between the Association of Buffalo Brewers and the mayor about a hundred saloons in the Tenderloin district of this city are to be closed. The brewers have agreed not to sell any more beer to these places, and have sent the names of all places which are under the ban to out-of-town brewers who are members of the National Association of Brewers and have requested them not to sell beer to these places. It is said the national association will stand by the Buffalo brewers in accordance with the resolutions adopted at the national convention of brewers held in Atlantic City last June, when it was agreed to wipe out all saloons of ill repute throughout the United States.

All the places to be closed in Buffalo have been investigated by the police, who submitted their reports to the mayor. In accordance with these reports the mayor told the brewers the places to be closed. In every case reported in this way it was found that women were inmates of the places or frequented them with men.

BOGUS "SUN" REPORTER

Swindler Sent to the Penitentiary for Nine Months.

New York, March 3.—George M. Lynch, who posed as a Sun reporter and sought subscriptions from wealthy women on the plea that the money was for the Sanatorium Gabels in the Adirondacks, was sentenced by Recorder of the Court to nine months in the penitentiary. There are two other indictments against him, which were obtained recently after the Sun had exposed him. Then the district attorney remembered that he had pleaded guilty to grand larceny in October, and that Judge Newburger had released him on a suspended sentence. The charge at that time was that he got $150 from a man for the Irish Fair and kept the money.

It was on this charge that he was sentenced. He is a son of the late Theresa Lynch, the Union Square diamond dealer, but she cut him off in her will. Whenever he has been arrested, however, his friends have interceded for him, and repaid the money he stole. His counsel led Dr. Goff that the money he had got for the Sanatorium Gabels had been refunded and that Lynch had never before been convicted of a crime.

"I have never heard," said the recorder, that he has been convicted before, but he has escaped arrest and conviction many times, because he was a member of a wealthy family whose members came forward and funded the money he stole. It is a lamentable thing, Lynch, to sentence a man who should have been a valuable member of the community. You had every opportunity—education and social relations and everything to make a good man of you. I am afraid that you came by your money too easy. You did not have to work for it. You adopted a life of trickery and device to get more money. Judge Newburger was merciful in your case, but you had hardly left court before you began stealing again—stealing in a miserable manner, the money supposed to go to the poor and sick. I imagine that compared with you a burglar is a respectable man."

Lynch says he has been a morphine fiend for two years.

Cossacks Rewarded.

The sum of $2,000,000 has been presented to the Doon, Ural, Kuban and Terek Cossacks, ostensibly for the improvement of their lands, but in reality it is an exceptional reward for their services during the war and their fidelity in repressing the troubles in the interior.

Suicide at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, March 5.—J. D. Maudsley, of Sefton Park, Liverpool, England, committed suicide yesterday at the Leland Hotel. The act of self-destruction occurred in the lavatory of the hotel shortly after 2 o'clock, when Maudsley fired a revolver to his head and fired a fatal shot. The dead man was a stranger to all connected with the hotel. An envelope was found on his person addressed to Ed Smith, 624 Yonge street, Toronto. Deceased was a remittance man, and had just recovered from a protracted drunk.

After Ten Years.

Mr. G. L. Stephenson, of Peterboro, says: "For over ten years I suffered constantly with Piles, first itching, then bleeding; pain almost unbearable; life a burden. Tried everything in vain till I used Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid."

"I had taken but a few doses when I began to notice an improvement. I decided to keep on, and now after using three boxes I am glad to say I am completely cured. My general health has also greatly improved. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Hem-Roid to all sufferers with Piles, and I feel convinced that what it has done for me it will surely do for them."

A $1,000 guarantee goes with every box of Hem-Roid. Price $1.00, all druggists, or The Wilson-Pyle Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

GOOD WORK APPRECIATED

Presentation to Rev. J. W. Hibbert, the Pastor of Browns Church.

A very pleasing event took place in Browns Church on Wednesday evening of last week (says a Kintore correspondent), when the Ladies' Aid Society, on behalf of the congregation, presented Rev. J. W. Hibbert with a neatly-worded address and a purse, containing $33, as a token of their esteem, and in recognition of his work and untiring efforts in aid of the erection of the new church. At the close of the regular prayer service, Dr. Murray, of Lakeside, was called to the chair, and after a few well-chosen remarks, invited Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Hibbert to the platform, when Miss Ida Brown read the address, and Mrs. Philip Purdy presented the gift. The address, while recognizing the material prosperity that the church enjoyed, spoke especially of its spiritual growth and the increase in its membership under the pastor's ministrations, which had made the home of his congregation glad. The hearty and efficient operation of the pastor's wife was also referred to in terms of appreciation. The address was signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid by Mrs. Chas. Vaughn, Miss Ada Steele, Mr. Philip Purdy and Mr. Josiah Gallinger.

Rev. Mr. Hibbert made a very suitably reply on behalf of himself and Mrs. Hibbert, in which he intimated that from the proceedings he expected to be called on to officiate at a wedding instead of receiving a gift.

The chairman, Dr. Murray, thought the reverend gentlemen might not be far astray, as he had been courting the people at Browns Church for some time, and had succeeded in winning their affections, and received a much larger fee than the groom generally puts up. He thought this was the climax to a brilliant victory in connection with the new church.

Shrewd remarks were given by John Brown, J. G. Robinson and T. B. Brown, who all spoke in pleasant terms of Rev. Mr. Hibbert and wife. The chairman was in his happiest mood and made witty comments on all the numbers. The addresses were interspersed with selections on the gramophone, recitations and instrumental and vocal music.

At the close of the programme all retired to the basement, where tea was served. The tables were prettily decorated, and an abundance of appetizing viands gave evidence that the ladies of the congregation have not lost any of the energy that has characterized their efforts during the past year, and had thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

RAILWAYMEN CONVENE

Big Gathering at Norwich, N. Y., to Talk Up Fraternity.

Norwich, N. Y., March 4.—A meeting here today of more than 400 employees of the different railways of New York State was attended by the national officers of several of the railway unions and by the operating officials of several railroads.

Warren S. Stone, of Cleveland, Ohio, grand chief of the International Brotherhood of Engineers, was one of the principal speakers. He represented the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and affiliated unions.

The purpose of the meeting was to bring together representative men of the different branches of the service in an effort to improve their social and moral condition and to promote a stronger feeling of fraternity and brotherhood among the different orders.

Walter C. Case, president of the village, welcomed the visitors. In addition to Grand Chief Stone those present included James Murdoch, of Toronto, vice-grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, with headquarters at Cleveland.

When You have a Bad Breath

Food does not tickle them enough to make them act.

That's Constipation! Castor Oil, or "Physic" will help to slide out one load of trouble, but they can't help the Cause.

In fact, they weaken the Bowel-Muscles more than ever by slackening them, and by doing work for them which they should do for themselves.

When your Arm-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise, to strengthen them—not a sling to support them.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to pamper them.

Then carry the little ten-cent "Vest Pocket" box constantly with you, and take a Cascaret whenever you suspect you need it.

One Cascaret at a time will promptly cleanse a foul Breath, or Coated Tongue, thus proving clearly its ready, steady, sure, but mild and effective action.

A thousand dollars a year spent in amusements could not buy for you half so much hearty Happiness, solid Comfort, Cheerful Temper and Health Insurance as that little ten-cent "Vest Pocket" Box of Cascarets will bring you.

We Will Buy

You a Bottle of Liquezone, and Give It to You to Try

We make few claims of what Liquezone will do. And no testimonials are published to show what it has done. We prefer that each sick one should learn its power by a test. That is the quickest way to convince you.

So we offer to buy the first bottle and give it to you to try. Compare it with common remedies; see how much better it does. Don't cling to the old treatments blindly. The scores of diseases which are due to germs call for a germicide. Please learn what Liquezone can do.

What Liquezone Is

The virtues of Liquezone are derived solely from gases, by a process requiring large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. No alcohol, no narcotics are in it. Chemists of the highest class direct the making. The result is to obtain from these harmless gases a powerful tonic-germicide. The great value of Liquezone lies in the fact that it is deadly to germs, yet harmless to you. Germs are of vegetable origin; and this gas-made product, when absorbed by them, stops their activities. We publish an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. But to the body Liquezone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. It is helpful in the extreme.

That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. That is why medicine proves so nearly helpless in a germ disease. Liquezone is a tonic.

Most of our sicknesses, in late years, been traced to germ attacks. The list of known germ diseases now numbers about one hundred.

Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as rheumatism, blood poison, kidney disease and nerve weakness. Some destroy vital organs, as in consumption. Some—like the germs of catarrh—create inflammation; some cause indigestion. Directly or indirectly, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result. Such diseases call for Liquezone—not drugs, which can't kill germs.

Every germ attack, no matter what its symptoms, calls for a germicide.

IRONCLAD AUTOS FOR RUSS ARMY

Sent from France—To Be Used in Street Riots—Cossacks
Well Rewarded.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—A number of armored automobiles, manufactured in France for the use of the Russian army, have arrived here. It is understood that they will be used by the troops in case of street riots in the cities and against troubles in the country.

Successful experiments have been made in the streets of Paris with one of these seven bullet-proof and shell-proof motor cars. The car attained a speed of 28 miles an hour on level ground, and ascended gradients as steep as one in four. The car weighs three tons, and is of 30-horse power. It is provided with a small quick-firing swivel gun, which can fire 600 shots a minute in any direction.

France also is providing herself with a complete corps of these armored motor cars. The car carries a folding steel bridge, which can be quickly placed across ditches. With the help of this the car showed that it could go across country.

Two anarchists armed with bombs were arrested at a railroad station here today as they were boarding a train for Tsarskoe-Selo, where the Emperor is at present sojourning.

NOT A CHANCE FOR SETTLEMENT

Plaintiff in Breach of Promise
Case Insists on Having Her Rights.

Galt, March 5. — Mrs. Jennie McArthur, widow of Neil McArthur, and plaintiff in a breach of promise suit against W. J. Patterson, of the Union Life Insurance Company, of Toronto, is living in Galt with her aged father. Interviewed she said:

"I met Mr. Patterson, now in London, in this very town two years ago this month. After keeping company with me for some time we became engaged, but he kept putting off the marriage from time to time till I began to grow suspicious. What finally opened my eyes was in last October when he left town to take another position with the company. He promised faithfully to write to me, but did not keep his promise. I wrote to him, though I didn't know his address, I just sent the letter in care of the company at Toronto.

"Then he came up to Galt at New Year's and I made it a point to hunt him out, and tax him for his unfaithfulness. He made all sorts of promises. I went to Toronto and consulted Mr. Heyd, whom I have known for many years, and he tried to arrange matters, but Patterson failed to come to time. Now I see Mr. Heyd has the law after him."

"Any chance of making up?" the reporter asked.

"No, indeed," said Mrs. McArthur. "I shouldn't marry him now if he was the last man on top of earth; but I mean to make him pay for spoiling my life, if justice is to be had in Canada. There is probably nobody who knows him in this town, but knows that he has been going with me regularly for two years."

FIFTEEN MILES OF FLAME.

Roswell, N. M., March 5.—Over 1,000 acres of fine pasture land in the western part of the Pan-Handle and just east of Portales, N. M., have been burned by the prairie fire that has been sweeping these lands for two days and is still beyond control, with a head fifteen miles under a stiff wind. The loss is already estimated at $1,000,000. Probably a dozen big ranches have been robbed of their feed.

THIS ARTICLE EXPLAINS

The Cause and Cure of Rheumatism.

It originates in the blood and develops most quickly in the system of persons who are run down and lacking in vitality.

An excess of insoluble urates and uric acid must be eliminated, which is done by introducing some substance into the blood, which will dissolve it.

It is also important to establish correct action of the kidneys and liver, which plays an important part in excreting poisonous matter from the system.

The only specific of ALL forms of Rheumatism is Ferrozone, which is a perfect solvent for uric acid, and is a splendid stimulant for the kidneys and liver.

There is no remedy so successful as Ferrozone. It has never failed to cure, because it attacks the cause of the disease in the blood. It neutralizes the uric acid poison, quickens the sluggish circulation, and relieves the system of all irritating matter.

Every distressing symptom is cured. Swollen muscles and aching joints are relieved of their pain. The disease will not return if once cured by Ferrozone, which does its work thoroughly. Its cures are lasting, which explains the enormous sale, larger than any other rheumatic remedy in America.

People—Several Important
Concessions Made.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—As a result of a series of special councils held at the Tsarskoe-Selo, and composed of 40 high dignitaries, ministers and members of the council of the empire, under the presidency of the Emperor, the main guarantees of liberty have been granted and a manifesto has been ordered to be coded and incorporated in the fundamental laws of the empire.

No law will hereafter be effective without the approval of the national assembly and council of the empire. The latter body will consist of an equal number of appointed and elected members, taken from the clergy, nobility, Zemstvo Academy of Science, universities, trade and industry.

There will be two houses, both of which will have power to initiate legislation which does not affect the fundamental laws of the empire, the question of succession, etc.

The annual sessions will be convoked and closed by imperial ukase.

Both the council of the empire and the national assembly will enjoy the right to interpellate ministers for alleged unlawful acts.

The sessions will be public.

PATRICK'S FIGHT FOR DEAR LIFE

Reasons Pro and Con Advanced in Connection with the New Proceedings.

New York, March 4.—In the Patrick case yesterday the adjournment followed a short session of the hearing during which Recorder Goff, District Attorney Jerome and Patrick's counsel W. M. K. Scott, joined in discussing motions which were made by District Attorney Jerome to strike out of the court records several affidavits made for Patrick by Texas witnesses on the ground that the witnesses had failed to appear. Mr. Jerome also asked to strike out the affidavit of John T. Milliken, Patrick's brother-in-law, of St. Louis, from whom a telegram was received stating that he would be unable to attend. His affidavit concerns the manner in which the witnesses for Patrick were found and their statements obtained.

Simultaneously with the district attorney's action, Mr. Scott made a motion to place on record three new affidavits made by Edward McKenzie, official stenographer to Judge Kittrell, of Texas; Adolph Goldman, a real estate dealer, and ranchman of Houston, Texas, and former Chief of Police John J. Blackburn, of that city.

Mr. Jerome objected to these new affidavits, and Recorder Goff said that the case should not be carried out to interminable length. It was six years since the alleged crime was committed, and if the district attorney did not object to the introduction of the supplementary affidavits of the recorder said he would be remiss in his duty. If the affidavits contained any new matter the recorder said, there would be a reasonable justification for their admission, but they were simply a reiteration and accumulation.

Nevertheless, he added, he would allow their admission in order that the defendant might have every opportunity under the law to obtain justice.

Recorder Goff also gave permission to admit the affidavits of H. C. Ist and Sol Williams, of Texas.

He then ordered stricken from the records the affidavits of John T. Milliken, Angella Barber, James Riordan and Fayette Lee. The case was then adjourned until April 3.

Queries Answered.

WIDOW.—A man died, having property and personal, leaving no children, but widow and brothers and sisters. Can the widow claim all the property, or how would it be divided, he being in debt when they were married? Ans.—After payment of debts the widow is entitled to $1,000, and if anything remains, one-half goes to widow and one-half to brothers and sisters, who share equally this half.

RODNEY.—What is the law regarding the practice of medicine in Indiana, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia? To whom should I write in each state to find information. Ans.—We have no accurate knowledge of the local laws of these States and Province, or of the officials. Probably Dr. Waugh, registrar of the medical department of the Western University, London, could give you the names and addresses to whom to apply.

New High School for Kincardine.

Samia, March 3.—During the summer holidays work on the new high school building, which the school board have decided to erect, will be started. Several cases of diphtheria have developed since the death of Malcolm Martin.

Iceboat Plunged into Hole.

Hamilton, March 5.—Eugene McCarthy, of Bastien's boathouse, in company with two men named Baxter and Muirhead, narrowly escaped drowning in the bay through an iceboat on which they were sailing plunging into a hole cut by ice harvesters. McCarthy swam out, but his two companions had to be rescued by ice harvesters, who were at work nearby.

Victim of Riot in Ohio.

Springfield, Ohio, March 5.—Mark M. Davis, a 35-year-old man, was shot by a colored man Wednesday night, Saturday morning. It was the shooting of Davis that led to the riot in this city on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Edward Dean and Preston Ladd, both colored, are in jail at Dayton, charged with shooting Davis.

DUPLICITY OF THE CHINESE

Corrupt Official Instigated the Shanghai Riots—
Reassurance.

London, March 4.—The Shanghai correspondent cables the London Times as follows: The native press and Peking telegrams report that the Chinese Government has decided to instruct its ministers abroad to assure the powers that there is no cause for uneasiness at present in the situation, and no signs of an anti-foreign movement. While it is admitted that there is no apparent disposition to encourage overt acts of hostility, as in 1900, nevertheless general unrest throughout the country is directly due to the Government's unmistakable support of the policy of China for the Chinese, the most aggressive manifestations of which are endorsed, if not directed, by the officials. The mot d'ordre, as shown in recent memorials and regulations of the Warhu and the board of commerce, is to keep foreigners at arm's length, an attitude that is reflected in every provincial yamen.

The policy of the Government is significantly indicated by the extraordinary promotion at Shanghai of Tsoai Yuan. This notoriously corrupt official, whom consuls and diplomats regard as probably responsible for the Shanghai riots, is now appointed governor of Peking, the meaning of which outweighing all assurances, is fully appreciated by the Chinese.

A RECORD YEAR FOR MONTE CARLO

Made Clean Profit of $5,000,000
Out of "Business" That
Totalled $8,000,000.

Monte Carlo, March 4.—The forthcoming annual report of the Societe des Bains et de la Mer, which is the Blanc Heirs' Monte Carlo gambling institution, will show that the bank did business to the amount of $8,000,000 last year, and spent $2,000,000, leaving a clear profit of $6,000,000.

Blanc, it will be remembered, had two daughters, Marie Felix, who became the wife of a grandson of the great Napoleon, and Louise Antoinette, who married Prince Radzivil.

The sum of $2,000,000 seems an enormous annual budget for a country only three times the size of Central Park, New York, but it must be borne in mind that the expense account includes the salary of a reigning prince, a bishop, papal delegate, and their clergy, the civil list of an absentee American girl-princess—she was Miss Alice Heine, of New Orleans—in addition to the pay of a bodyguard of five generals, seventy troopers and forty-four carabinieri.

Blanc, originally, paid less than $400,000 for the real estate, and license held by his gambling company. His first contract with the Prince read: "I, the Prince, for the sum of 5,000 francs and 5,000 shares of 500 francs each." At the renewal of the contract the prince exacted another gift of 5,000 shares, and had his salary run up to the sum amounting to mentioned.

No prince's garden spot, there is world is a finer garden spot, there is no more affluent constituency. Monaco is a collection of palaces, great hotels, fine houses and churches, enchanting gardens and rocky building lots, selling at prices that rival those paid for real estate on Broadway. And nowhere, not even in the United States, has the population increased so rapidly. Albert's father lorded it over 3,443 subjects, the great majority of whom walked barefoot. When the husband of Alice Heine accended the throne, 9,864 men, women and children called him Highness and Father. Today he is ruler and autocrat of 16,000 people. Some American police captains have larger clienteles.

Albert is a mild ruler, and the Blanc heirs pay for all. They insisted that the little district be raised to a bishopric, with four or five monsignors, a vicar-general, a prelate and a large staff of priests. The Blancs built a cathedral, too, and declared that Catholic was "state religion." Next they told his highness subjects that all taxes were abolished; they need neither pay a tax to the prince, nor a dog tax, and besides would be policed free of charge. A free fire department was also established, free lighting, free schools, free water and free sewerage followed.

But, of course, even the enormous profits of the Casino could not put a whole principality of 16,000 persons on the free list unless the gambling establishment were run on an economic basis.

The president gets $20,000 a year, the director-general considers himself happy with $8,000 a year; the directors get $4,000 annually, and the croupiers get from $500 to $1,500 a year. Just now Monte Carlo is crowded and its 55 hotels are daily turning away people. In 1870 less than 150,000 men and women visited the resort; in 1889, the 500,000 mark was reached; last year 1,073,884 went to Monte Carlo. The present season promises to smash all records.

Backache Is From the Kidneys.

Kidney disease—marked by backache, pains in the limbs, scanty, dark colored urine, puffiness about the eyes, dropsical swelling and gradual loss of flesh—is always to be dreaded both on account of the suffering it entails and because of its fatality.

The kidneys and liver share alike the responsibility of filtering poisons from the blood, and it is therefore necessary to regulate both these organs in order to effect a cure of kidney disease.

This fact accounts for the extraordinary success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which is the only treatment obtainable having a direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys.

For years evidence has been piling up which goes to prove that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have positively cured obstinate and complicated cases of kidney disease which defied physicians and ordinary kidney medicines.

DEADLY FREE LUNCH

Seventy-Five Participants Are Down
With Poisoning.

Marysville, Kan., March 5.—About 75 persons were poisoned Friday by partaking of a free lunch at a public sale at a farm near here. The lunch served was apparently of the best quality, but soon after eating it persons were taken violently ill with symptoms of poisoning.

While all were very sick there will probably be no death resulting from the unfortunate affair. The county health officer is making a rigid investigation.

KILLED BY SPIDER

Child Bitten on the Ankle Died in Great Agony.

San Bernardino, Cal., March 5.—The bite of a black spider brought agonizing death to Edmund Seconbe, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Seconbe, prominent residents of this city. The child, while playing in the yard, was not thought serious.

Home remedies were applied, but these failed to bring relief, and when convulsions and unconsciousness came doctors were hurriedly summoned.

They announced at once that the poison had progressed too far to hope for successful treatment, but every means was employed to relieve the suffering of the child, who raved wildly. The leg which had been bitten had swelled twice its normal size, when death came. Chloroform had to be liberally administered during the period of the child's intense suffering.

NEWSPAPERS PROSECUTED

Because They Published Details of an Execution.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—The Ramsey County grand jury Friday returned bills of indictment against the St. Paul Dispatch, the St. Paul Daily News and the St. Paul Pioneer Press, charging violation of the law prohibiting the publication in newspapers of more than a bare announcement that a legal execution has taken place. The indictments grew out of the hanging of William Williams, who was executed in St. Paul Feb. 13. Each of the papers indicted printed stories, giving the details of execution and one of them asserted that it had a reporter present at the hanging.

Although the law under which the indictments were found has been on the statute books for 10 years or more, this is the first time action has been taken looking to a prosecution for its alleged violation, which is made a misdemeanor. No arrests were made.

Wild Wind in Wisconsin.

Superior, Wis., March 5.—A north-east gale, which began blowing Friday, continued with unabated energy Saturday. Little snow fell, but what there was piled in drifts. Street cars are running with great difficulty, and wires are tangled badly. The velocity of the wind at one time reached 65 miles an hour.

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS

FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's
Kidney Pills
CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hazeldean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use."

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in the first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

The Argos have protested the final game, and are again working the O. H. A. executive to come to their rescue. The Globe explains that their object is not to have another chance, but merely to convince the public that they are just as good as Berlin. That's fine. That certainly is losing gracefully. It will be the greatest event in hockey history, should the Argos win the protest, if they should hand the mug over to Berlin's boys. The one last bet is that they will win the protest and the game ordered to be played over.

Prospects for a good soccer team this season in London are extremely good. There are several young Englishmen here who have played on county eleven in the Old Land, and are fast. We look for a good season for this game in this city. It is probable that a club will be organized soon.

The Turks and Swedes are winning the "rassling" tournament at Montreal this week. They must intend to have a football team in the Royal City this fall. It would be the sight of a lifetime, to see Kurrythekauft, the Terrible Turk, and Hal Walters handing each other a few Lafleur and Tannuhimhard, the Battling Swede, would hook up right, too.

R. Meldrum, who refereed the recent Stanley cup matches, says there is no other team in Canada which can score the number of goals against Ottawa on their own ice that Queen's did. It is that point that Meldrum laid stress upon in discussing the contests. The Ottawa, he said, strengthened themselves to the utmost by getting Westwick out as rover for Queen's matches, and played the very hardest they possibly could do. Recognizing Ottawa, of course, as a much superior team, Meldrum said that to score seven goals against the champions in a single match was something that Queen's should be proud of.

Galt Reporter—A cry has gone up from many sections of the country that the dirty work at present so prevalent in hockey must be cut out. This is the first rumbling of the storm which is gradually gaining in this country against roughness in any kind of sport. The great Canadian game is the finest and fastest game on earth, and it would be a serious thing for its welfare if a prejudice should be raised against it here, such as has been caused in the United States by the brutality prevailing there in football. Anyone who saw the Berlin-Argonaut game last Monday night would class the American college sport as ping-pong when compared with a game wherein it seemed to be the object of some of the players to cripple their opponents, not only by elephantine rushes, but with heavy clubs and sharp skates. Numerous remedies have been suggested for the elimination of dirty work from the game, and several of them have been tried. One, however, that is not given enough trial is the long penalty.

Others, besides ourselves, think that the last senior game was rather rough. The Toronto journals simply cannot see it, however.

London has many admirers in basketball games and players. Therefore great interest is taken in the Wednesday night games at the Y. M. C. A. Many features are brought forth, and one will be noted, that is the staying power of the Medicals. J. Follinsbee gathered together a number of players and picked the team of five from them. At the first of the season the Meds had poor luck, but by continual drumming of the manager, their play is first-class, and a team to beat them has to be at all times in the game. F. Moore, '09, at center, is probably the most dangerous man, as his accurate combination work has everybody guessing. A. Ross, '08, is one of the best forwards in the league, and always says, "If there is a will, there's a way," pertaining to scoring, and he does it. W. Crawford, '07, just like his brother Andrew, is good. P. Potlison, '09, and J. Wood, '09, make up the rest of the team. Both are excellent long shots, and best of guards. J. Follinsbee has a great deal to be proud of as manager of such a team. The Meds play the Pirates Wednesday night; first game, 8 p.m.

Has there been any collateral handed out to Peterboro hockey players this year? asks the News. If not, why so guilt-stricken a howl from the Review, of that town? That journal ventures the following prediction: "Professional hockey will undoubtedly be all the rage in Canada next winter. Why shouldn't it? Why should the national winter game be placed under false pretenses any longer, any more than the national summer game? Hockey has been played for ten years or more in Canada by men paid good salaries to play the game. Yet they are called amateurs, and that private organization, the O. H. A., which knows just as much of the truth as the C. L. A. did regarding how many lacrosse men were playing for their health, whenever it had what was considered a good chance, has been in the habit of making a lot of fuss about it when some unlucky chap was caught with the goods on him. Better to come out boldly as professionals, because that is what most of the big teams in Canada today are, than to continue the hypocritical farce."

The Telegram finds considerable fault with us for championing the cause of Referee Wagborne. He may not be the best ever, but he is certainly good when the Telegram and the Argonauts are sore on him.

We are informed by the only sporting sheet in Canada, the Toronto Telegram, that one Rowe is as dead as Ramones, as far as hockey is concerned. Then why is the O. H. A.'s money to be squandered in a series of lawsuits and appeals? It might better be hoarded or given to the Sick Children's Hospital.

Berlin Telegraph: Berlin's senior hockey team will not consider the challenge from the Argonaut supporter for several good reasons. In the first place, O. H. A. rules and regulations forbid their teams from playing for money; secondly, the Argonauts will have to learn how to play hockey; and, thirdly, there will be no advantage gained by either team by playing another game this season. That "gentleman in town" in Toronto evidently is trying to work a scheme whereby he can regain some of the money he lost on Monday's game. The "Dutch Company" is not playing hockey for the benefit of Toronto bookmakers and gamblers.

If a bank clerk had taken a few thousands of his employers' dollars and gone to a race course instead of a jewelry shop, there would be a clamor against racing. The essential feature of the case—the weak spot in the individual's character—would either be ignored entirely, or serve as the basis of misdirected sympathy for him.—Globe.

One Canadian who doubtless will be greatly interested in the fight situation at 'Frisco, is our own Noah Brusso. Should the game be stopped the title that he now claims will be of little use to him, for outside of 'Frisco there is now no place where a fighter can get big money for his work. Brusso is going to cling to the title, whether it gets him anything or not. Defending his claim to the title he said, to a 'Frisco reporter the other day:

"Jeffries resigned the championship to the winner of the Hart-Root fight in Reno. If he did not resign it actually, he implied that he did, and since then has time and again declined to re-enter the ring and defend it. Jack O'Brien offered to box him. Jeffries said he had retired and did not care what became of the championship. So that shows that he will not fight any more. Hart's claims therefore to possession of the title had some basis. When I defeated Hart I consider that I won the title. I appreciate the fact that I may be scoffed at, but with the heavyweight championship in its present condition I feel that I have just as good a claim as anybody else. Certainly it is as good as Jack O'Brien's claim."

"When O'Brien is released of his engagements I think he will give me a chance to fight him, and I feel sure that I can defeat him. His speed will not frighten me in the least, for I consider that I could have done to Fitzsimmons just what he did."

The once famous stallion Atlantic, 2:21, by Almont, that James Goldsmith raced in the Grand Circuit some 20 years ago, is still alive and hearty in his Italian home, where he was exported eighteen years ago. In Italy Atlantic has sired a lot of speed and his progeny left in this country indicate that he had remained here, he would have been a very great sire. Atlantic King, 2:09, the sire of a long list of Grand Circuit race horses, including Frank Gogash, 2:03, is about the best living sire now representing the Almont family.

RETURN GAME IS POSTPONED A DAY

Peterboro and Goderich Will Not Meet Again Until Tomorrow Night.

Toronto, March 4.—The return game between Peterboro and Goderich in the final intermediate O. H. A. series will be played at Goderich on Tuesday evening, instead of Monday, as previously arranged.

The gate at Peterboro gave each of the teams $135.

OTTAWAS WIN FINAL.

Ottawa, March 4.—Ottawa won their final home game in the E. C. H. A. last night, defeating Montreal 14 to 9 in a fast, rough match. Twenty penalties were imposed, and both referees were kept busy. Sergeant, Montreal's captain, was forced to retire as the result of a collision with McGee, while Brophy, their goal-keeper, was badly out across the face by a deliberate blow from Alf Smith.

Ottawa had things pretty much their own way until near the finish, when the visitors rallied, scoring seven goals in twelve minutes. The line-up was:

Referee—Darcy McGee, Ottawa. Judge of play—R. Burland, Montreal.

Argos Can't Stand Defeat; Have Entered a Protest

The Argonauts have forwarded the following protest to the O. H. A.:

On behalf of the Argonaut Hockey Club I beg to request that an investigation be made by the executive committee of the Ontario Hockey Association to ascertain whether or not the Argonaut Hockey Club were unjustly deprived of a goal claimed to have been scored in the recent match at Berlin. We are convinced, after a careful investigation on our own account, that a goal was scored and we would like an official declaration to that effect if the facts warrant such a decision on investigation.

We base our claim on the fact that the goal was reported by Toms, a member of the Argonaut team, who scored the goal, and who reported the same to Mr. Hamber, who formally claimed it from the referee. The referee refused to allow the goal and play was continued. On investigation we have ascertained that the puck was distinctly seen to pass the goal posts by D. L. Darroch, president of the Ontario Hockey Association, and also by Francis Nelson, sporting editor of the Globe, and on inquiry from Mr. Charles Welsh, of Stratford, who was the goal umpire, he says that he raised his hand to allow the goal, but that no notice appeared to be taken of his action and the game proceeded.

We have been delayed until the present time in taking action, not because in possession of the full information required. We believe that on official investigation the facts will be as we have stated. We trust that if our view in this matter is sustained the executive will accord to our club the rights which we believe we are entitled to.

TENNY'S DEATH WILL NOT STOPS FIGHTS AT 'FRISCO

San Francisco, Cal., March 3.—A canvass of the members of the board of supervisors and the police commission reveals the fact that the death of Harry Tenny, the young fighter, as a result of a beating received in his match with Frankie Neil on Wednesday night, will not affect boxing contests scheduled for the future.

All those interested took the view that Tenny's death resulted from an unfortunate accident, and did not indicate that boxing is particularly dangerous.

Three theories have been advanced in explanation of the death of Tenny, who died in the Grant avenue bathhouse, nine hours after the grueling battle with Neil. The dead man's relatives claim that he died of epilepsy.

Autopsy Surgeon Kuehl declared that death was due to hemorrhage of the brain, the direct result of a blow or fall.

Which of these theories is correct will require further time to determine. The stomach of the dead boy is in the hands of the city chemist.

Four of the fighter's seconds appeared before Police Judge Cabanas today on the manslaughter charge, which has been made against them. Frankie Neil, Spider Kelly and John Frayne, through some misunderstanding, did not appear.

ALL-STAR GAME EAST VS. WEST

Toronto, March 4.—There will be an "all-star" hockey game at the Mutual street rink a week from tonight between teams representing the two senior groups of the O. H. A.

The teams will be known as the East and the West, as in the past, and the men selected will be the fastest individual players of their respective clubs. A sudden-death game will be played on Toronto ice, which is familiar to all the players.

The East team will consist of Barrie, Argonaut, Midland, and Marlboro players, while Berlin, Galt, St. George's, and Stratford will have representatives on the West seven.

The News suggests the following lineup:

"A match between the above teams would be a most interesting one, and it would be a guessing game as to which would win. There would be little advantage on either side, the men being fairly well balanced in weight and the forward line of both is equally fast.

The Eastern team would perhaps have an advantage in weight, but not enough to make any material difference."

STRAITFORD MEN WILL PLAY.

Stratford, March 4. Mr. D. Forbes and A. K. Kier received word from Secretary Hewitt, of the O. H. A., asking them to play on the western team in the All-Star East vs. West game, which takes place in Toronto next Saturday.

Both the Stratford hockey players have signified their willingness to play and have notified Secretary Hewitt to that effect.

CANT ACCEPT.

Berlin, March 4.—Secretary Hewitt, of the O. H. A., has asked Cochrane and Gross to play with the "All West" team in Toronto some night next week.

At present neither of these players can accept Mr. Hewitt's invitation, thanks to injuries sustained in the recent games with the Argonauts. Cochrane is unable to use his right hand, which is badly swollen owing to a fractured bone, while Gross is just able to navigate. He is suffering from internal injuries, and will not be able to play again this year.

McGinnis, who is improving nicely, but still confined to his bed, and Gross refuse to take legal proceedings against Reiffenstein and Hamber for doing them bodily injuries. They prefer leaving the O. H. A. to deal with the matter.

AT PRESENT NEITHER OF THESE PLAYERS CAN ACCEPT MR. HEWITT'S INVITATION, THANKS TO INJURIES SUSTAINED IN THE RECENT GAMES WITH THE ARGONAUTS. COCHRANE IS UNABLE TO USE HIS RIGHT HAND, WHICH IS BADLY SWOLLEN OWING TO A FRACTURED BONE, WHILE GROSS IS JUST ABLE TO NAVIGATE. HE IS SUFFERING FROM INTERNAL INJURIES, AND WILL NOT BE ABLE TO PLAY AGAIN THIS YEAR.

CONDUCTOR'S LIVELY TIME

Got Tangled in Wires on Top of a Trolley.

Conductor Ray, of the London street railway, had a hair-raising experience one day last week when he was caught on top of a trolley.

At noon a trolley wire on the South street belt broke at the curve at the corner of South and Wellington streets, and Ray got on top of his car to move the wires, which were tangled up with guy wires.

The whole mass suddenly gave way and enveloped Ray on top of the car.

The live trolley wire of the Wellington street line whirled around him, emitting sparks in all directions and burning the rubber coating of the guy wires.

Knowing that if the live wire touched him it meant death, the conductor jumped from the top of the car to the ground, a distance of fully ten feet. He landed in a heap, but full of thankfulness that he had escaped from his peril.

The break in the wires delayed traffic for quite a while.

KEEP AWAY FROM THEATER

Father McKee Gives His Congregation a Lenten Warning.

In speaking of the Lenten regulations in St. Mary's Church yesterday, Rev. Father McKee warned his congregation to keep away from the theater during Lent.

He declared that 50 per cent of the plays of the present day are not fit for the average man or woman to see, and that it is the duty of all good Catholics to be at all times careful of the plays they patronized, but in Lent to keep away from the theaters entirely.

WORK WAS APPRECIATED

Presentations to Mr. and Mrs. Cook by Richmond Street Methodists.

At the close of the exercises in the Richmond Street Methodist Sabbath school, Sunday, the assistant superintendent, Mr. E. J. Cook, who leaves this week for Southern Alberta, was made the recipient of a handsome copy of Holman's Interlinear and self-pronouncing teacher's Bible, and Mrs. Cook with a dozen silver spoons, as a slight recognition of valuable services rendered in the Sunday school.

Mr. George McBroome read the address. The pastor, Rev. J. B. Freeman, presented the Bible, and Miss Essie Poole the spoons. The address was as follows:

"Dear Sir and Brother,—We, the officers, teachers and scholars of the Richmond Street Methodist Sabbath School, regret that the present happy and harmonious relations that have existed between yourself and us during the past six years as teacher and assistant superintendent, are now to be severed, owing to your decision to move yourself and family to the far west.

"We desire to express in the strongest possible way our very great appreciation of your earnest and untiring efforts at all times displayed for the spiritual and material well-being of our school.

"Often at great inconvenience and self-denial to yourself you have made sacrifices to further in every way possible its best interests, and although we are unable to reward your earnest, faithful labors, we believe the divine favor and blessing will continue with you, and richly repay your works of faith and labor of love. May the joy also that comes from faithful service abundantly follow you and be with you as you enter upon new duties and work for the Master in your western home.

"We can assure you that we will miss you and your dear wife and family will bring regret and sorrow to many hearts, yet we realize that our loss will be the gain of those who will be privileged to associate with you in your new field of labor.

"Words fail us to express our deep appreciation of the successful work accomplished by Mrs. Cook as teacher of the infant class. Her unflinching zeal and love for the little ones has been one of the great factors in the success of our school, and the seed sown, we believe, will produce an abundant harvest under the blessed influence of the holy spirit.

"We are at a loss to evince in a suitable way the deep obligations under which we have been placed to you, we ask you, however, to accept this copy of Holman's Self-Pronouncing Teachers' Bible as a slight token of our esteem and gratitude. We also ask you to accept on behalf of Mrs. Cook this silverware as the evidence of our esteem and appreciation of her kindnesses and abundant labors.

"In conclusion, we pray that you may be spared for many years to come, that God will prosper you in all your ways, that his gracious providences may attend you and yours, and that your pathway may be like that of the just, shining more and more unto the perfect day.

"Signed on behalf of the officers, teachers and scholars,—James B. Freeman, pastor; Geo. McBroome, superintendent; and Bessie Poole, treasurer."

Russia's Lenten Move.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Russia's renewed attempt to establish a permanent foothold in Northern Manchuria by making Vladivostok the port of entry, there, by offsetting the loss of Dairen and Port Arthur, is described in an official report from a United States state department agent in China. The report expressed the belief that the Russian will endeavor to develop of American trade, and will result in a great curtailment of the importance of Shanghai as a distributing point.

A stone weighing a ton and a half was split open by blasting at Blackburn, Scotland, and a living worm was found embedded in it, being located 10 inches from the outside at the nearest point.

FATHER DIES WHILE FAMILY IS ON WAY HERE TO JOIN HIM

Sad Story Woven About the Death of Thomas Fenn, G. I. R. Employee.

Around the death of Thomas Fenn, who died in Victoria Hospital last Thursday, is woven a story of more than ordinary interest and sadness, for it is thought that the wife and family of the deceased are now on the ocean on their way to Canada, being unaware of the death of the father.

Fenn came to this city from West-ham, a suburb of London, last fall. He secured work in the Grand Trunk car shops, and at once began to save what money he could to bring his wife and family out. He had been connected with the Salvation Army in England, and they had assisted himself and his daughter to reach the Dominion, but his wife and four children still remained in the old land.

A month or so ago Fenn received a pitiful letter from his wife, telling him that the cotton mills in which all had had employment, were shut down, and that starvation stared the family in the face.

The office staff and other employees of the car shops at once came to the rescue of Fenn's family, the good-hearted workmen making up a purse sufficient to bring the family out.

Fenn was in high spirits and, at once set about to make a home for his family. He resided at 20 Campbell street, but he made arrangements to rent a house, and began buying furniture. Then he was suddenly taken ill, a malignant type of cancer manifesting itself. His condition became so grave that he was placed in Victoria Hospital, where, as stated, he died on Thursday. His last words were a good-bye to his wife and children. With him at the time was his daughter, who had accompanied him to Canada, but who had been working in Ottawa since the fall, she having come to London when her father's illness developed.

A week before Fenn's death a letter was received from his wife saying that she and the four children would sail on the next steamer for Canada, so that it is thought she is now on the ocean, or perhaps is somewhere in Canada, unaware of the death of her husband.

The expenses in connection with Fenn's funeral were paid by the Grand Trunk men.

THE BIG LEADERS HAVE THE SNEEZES

Campbell-Bannerman Now Laid Up and Commons Business Is Dislocated.

London, March 4.—The chief topic of conversation just now in both political and social circles is the extraordinary situation which has arisen in Parliament. Responsible leaders of both parties are away ill, and the business of the House of Commons is seriously dislocated in consequence.

Campbell-Bannerman, Balfour, and Chamberlain are confined to their rooms suffering from one form or another of colds.

Mr. Chamberlain is suffering from influenza.

Mr. Balfour's illness is more serious. The strain of a vigorous campaign in the great working-class constituencies like East Manchester, where he delivered two, three and sometimes four speeches a day, told on him.

Near the end of his city campaign he contracted a severe chill, which he has not been able to shake off.

On the advice of Sir E. Venning he has decided to remain in bed several days.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman is the other invalid. He was found suffering from a bronchial cold Monday and was ordered to keep to his room. He is confined strictly to his room.

The only analogy to the present situation in parliamentary records is the experience during the influenza epidemic of March, 1885, when Lord Rosebery's Government was in power.

Rosebery, Morley, Balfour, and about twenty members of Parliament were all down with the malady at the same time.

POWERS FORCE KAISER'S HAND

Must First Declare Himself as to the Policing of Morocco.

Paris, March 4.—The semi-official Temps seems to accept the Saturday decision of the conference as a vote in favor of France's proposals, saying:

"The vote, though referring to a question of procedure, is valuable to us from more than one viewpoint. Not only have Great Britain, Spain, Russia and the United States clearly adhered to our ideas, which was foreseen, but Italy, Belgium, Portugal and Holland unhesitatingly recognized the loyalty of our proposition."

The Temps correspondent at Algiers, however, points out that the vote refers merely to procedure, signifying the desire of the conference to attain a result. At the same time the character and import of the action of the delegates with reference to procedure should not be minimized.

The result also affects the diplomatic status of the controversy. Germany wants to settle the bank question before that of the police, but France does not wish to grant concessions on the bank until she is more sure that Germany will make a reciprocal move concerning the police.

Therefore the decision of the conference to consider the police question requires that Germany shall pay whether she is or is not prepared to change her attitude relative to the police.

Germany's answer will thus determine whether France will yield on the bank question.

The indications are that if Germany refuses to give way on the police question France will not yield on the bank, thus accentuating the former deadlock by carrying it into the open conference.

Weilman Sails.

Paris, March 4.—Walter Weilman started from Havre today on the French Line steamer La Lorraine. His polar dirigible balloon will be attempted in May, after which the expedition will proceed to Spitzbergen for trial trips, preparatory to departing for the pole.

Old Publisher Dead.

New York, March 5.—Patrick O'Shea, the mentor of the Catholic publishers in America, is dead at his home in Summit, N. J., in his 74th year, having been born March 17, 1832, in Kilkenny, Ireland.

THE GIRL BRIDE IMITATED MOTHER

Says Her Parent Was Married at Age of Fifteen—Why Should Not She?

Boston, March 4.—Mrs. Grace A. Adams Jenkin, aged 14, who eloped from Kentville, N. S., three weeks ago with John E. Fenn, aged 15, is stopping at the home of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. By her own choice she will remain in the home on Mount Vernon street until there is an opportunity for her to return to her native village.

"John and I were married in Wolfville, N. S., Feb. 9, by the Rev. Mr. Spidel," she said last night, "and I don't regret it now, but I may later. We came here right off and started to live with Mrs. Mosher, at 205 Cambridge street, East Cambridge."

"John had been here several times before, so knew the city. He got a job working in a grocery store, and as Mrs. Mosher was ill I did the housework, and we were getting along very nicely, until mother's letter upset everything."

"I don't see why she did it, anyway, as she was married herself when she was but 15. John and I will soon go back to Kentville, where we will live with his folks, and mother can't interfere with us."

"John had a grocery store in Kentville, and he sold this out, so that we had plenty of money to come here."

"People up here seem to think it so strange that a girl of 14 should get married, but it is nothing unusual where I came from. Law against it? Why, of course not. Why should a girl get married who she is 14 if she loves her fellow? The arrest and everything has been pretty hard, and I am glad to be at the home here away from the police and everybody."

HIGHER LIQUOR LICENSES

Hanna Has Important Amendment to the License Act.

Toronto, March 4.—Some day next week Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, will introduce a Government measure to amend the liquor license law.

The general terms of the bill have been discussed in caucus, and, according to information received, there will be some radical changes.

The license fee will be increased from $375 to about $800. The fee for Hamilton will be about the same as in Toronto.

The fixing of the number of licenses will be left wholly with council and commissioners.

Before the bottle was half finished I had not the slightest trace of a cough, and in my opinion Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has no equal as a cure for coughs, colds, or any affection of the throat and lungs."

All Want To Be Farmers.

Toronto, March 3.—There was an overflow meeting of new arrivals at the Grand Central Hotel Thursday night, and the manager arranged for 50 of them at the Albion, while about 150 were housed with him. It is a splendid party, nearly all intent on going into farming, and provision has been made for most of them in various portions of the Province, for there is good demand for responsible farm labor.

"One of the best bunches I ever ran against," remarked Mr. Flanagan.

A YOUNG C. O.

Lieut.-Col. Martin of the Twenty-Ninth But 32 Years Old.

Lieut.-Col. H. Martin, who recently succeeded Lieut.-Col. Acheson as commanding officer of the Twenty-ninth (Waterloo) Regiment, is well known to the military men of the London military district, having for several years come with his regiment to camp on Carling's Heights. He is a young officer who has rapidly risen from the ranks by his zeal and energy. He is yet scarcely 32 years of age, and after serving as a private, corporal and sergeant in No. 1 Company, he received his first appointment as provisional second lieutenant in August, 1883. In April, 1884, he obtained a second-class certificate at the R. S. L. London, and was in July, 1885, promoted captain and transferred to No. 6 company. In February, 1887, he took a first-class certificate at London, and in November, 1888, an equitation certificate at the Cavalry School in Toronto. In January, 1889, he was promoted to a majority, and for the last seven years has been second in command. For four years he acted as adjutant of the corps. This he comes to the responsible position of commanding officer with some fifteen years' experience in these lower grades, and with a theoretical and practical knowledge of the profession of arms, which, combined with his zealous and energetic character, should make him a very efficient C. O., and the corps will not doubt render a good account of itself during Col. Martin's tenure of command.

Popular Lecture.

Rev. Dr. Ross, of St. Andrew's, will deliver his popular lecture on "Scottish Life and Manners" in Wesley Hall, First Methodist Church, Tuesday evening, March 6. Miss Eiler and other favorite soloists will sing.

Dr. Ross is one of the strongest men in the Presbyterian Church. Before coming to St. Andrew's he was a professor in the Presbyterian College in Montreal. His lecture is very highly spoken of by those who have heard it. Some say the Doctor is a little hard on his own countrymen, others that he isn't hard enough. The only way to know is to come and hear the lecture. Tickets, 15 cents; may be had at McCullum's drug store, and Chipman's drygoods store.

Is There a Piano Combine?

It is certainly a proof that there is no such thing as a piano combine when almost every piano house has no set standard of prices, one price being charged one customer and $50 or $100 more being charged another customer for the very same piano. In the end the piano firm gets just as much or more out of the system, but there is little satisfaction to the average purchaser in this. An exception to this system of selling pianos is to be found in the methods of the Nordheimer's, Limited. They have a one-price system. A customer visits their show-rooms at 183 Dundas street, and selects one of their beautiful instruments, and there on a ticket he or she will find the price—not a price higher than is necessary, and which may be "bought down," but the company's lowest selling price, the one price at which that piano may be bought by anyone. It is a good system.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

[From The London Advertiser of March 4, 1871.]

The Music Hall was densely crowded last night, on the occasion of the first appearance of Amy Lloyd's Female Minstrels. Scores of people were turned away from the door for want of accommodation. The performance was warmly applauded, and the jokes, local hits and election squibs of the "red men" created immense laughter.

The Reform Convention, assembled in the court house here today to select a candidate in their interests for the east riding, unanimously nominated Mr. Jas. Evans, M.P.P. Mr. Evans accepted the nomination, and addressed the convention on the political questions of the day. There is not the slightest doubt entertained of Mr. Evans' ability to defeat any candidate the Axe Grinders may bring out to oppose him.

The political mass meeting held in the city hall last evening in the interests of the Conservative candidate was without exception the smallest and least public demonstration ever held in this city. There were dozens of vacant seats in the body of the hall, the council chamber was merely fringed with onlookers, the south gallery contained scarcely a score of company, and the north gallery was entirely unoccupied. To make a show of numbers, a crowd collected about the door, blocking the entrance.

With rather indecent haste the first Parliament of Ontario, so recently procured, has been buried and numbered among the things that were. The majority of its members had served their master so zealously and so well that one would have supposed Mr. John Sandfield Macdonald would have felt some lingerings of gratitude and affection for them, and would have let them wear their

TO PREVENT IS BETTER THAN TO CURE.
Purmele's Vegetable Pills, administered at the proper time and with the directions advised, often prevent a serious attack of sickness and save money which would go to the doctor. In all irregularities of the digestive organs they are an invaluable corrective, and by cleansing the blood they clear the skin of imperfections.

WILL INVITE EDITORS

Manufacturers' Committee to Ask Newspaper Men to Visit London.

The manufacturers' committee on Saturday afternoon decided to extend an invitation to the National Editorial Association of the United States to visit London in June next, when on their tour of Canada. The editors meet in convention in Indianapolis in June, and immediately afterwards will commence a tour of the Dominion. The committee also decided to ask the city council for the sum of $500 for the entertainment of the guests. The programme includes a trolley ride over the city and a luncheon at Springbank.

An application from Mr. Walter Toll, on behalf of the Trades and Labor Council, was received, and Mr. Toll was requested to name two representatives for the committee at once.

The committee also instructed City Clerk Baker to have certain changes made in the city year-book, with the object of presenting a souvenir copy to each of the editors when they come to London in June.

New Trolley Road.

Tilsonburg, March 4. It is quite probable that operations will be commenced in the spring on an electric railway, to run from Port Burwell on the north shore of Lake Erie, through or near the town of Aylmer, and from a point on that line, into the town of Tilsonburg.

At the next session of the Dominion Parliament application will be made for an act incorporating a company to be called the Erie, London and Tilsonburg Railway, with power to build the proposed line.
