"Montreal, Oct. 17, 1893. "Dear Mr. Fitzgerald-I am this morning in receipt of your letter of the 16th inst. I think that I have taken a very fair line of action in connection with the London and Port Stanley Railway. The representatives of that company have had submitted to them an exact statement for two years of the receipts and expenses, and I have. offered to recommend a renewal of the lease upon any commercial basis, paying for the line what it was worth, work it at cost price, proposing that the city should work it themselves with our assistance, or working it on a fixed percentage basis. In handling over the 30 per cent proposed as have already mentioned, that amounts to an absolute guarantee -the city taken the profits and the company comes in for the working expenses. I do not think that anything could be fairer or more liberal. The line has been advertised twice; sundry offers have been made and have ended in disappointment.

"Now, as regards the repair of bridges. I am advised, as you know, that over $130,000 will have to be expended, provided they are put in proper shape. This outlay the company would certainly never consent to incur, and if that be insisted upon it must be understood negotiations are off.

"I am willing to submit for consideration an arrangement on the following basis: "1. The lease to be renewed for twenty years.

"2. The line to be worked by the Grand Trunk at 70 per cent. of the gross receipts, 30 per cent. being anded to the London and Port

"3. The Grand Trunk to pay a minimum of $10,000 per annums should such 30 per cent. not: amount to that sum.

"4. Running powers to be allowed any connecting companyunder proper arrangements as to compensation and safety.

"5. Extraordinary repairs and alterations of bridges to be from time to time done by the London. and Port Stanley, as Government may direct, to insure safe working during the lease.

"6. Ordinary repairs to be assumed by Grand Trunk. "7. Minor details to be agreed.

'8. General terms of lease as faras applicable to be same as before. "I will submit that proposition to the home authorities if it be desired that I should do so. thank you personally for the interest you have taken in this matter. Yours faithfully,

"The Pink Lady," the widely-popuar musical comedy adaptation of the Guillemaud, was presented at the Grand Tuesday night by a very fair company and pleased a crowded and appreciative audience.

She had lived in this house since the oldest resident could remember and for over 66 years she had received every month a 10-pound draft on the Bank of England. Her life was spent with her art work, all of her designs and patterns going abroad, most of them to the great mills of England, Scotland and Switzerland,

She was evidently an artist of great ability, for among her effects were found some exceedingly rare sketches and paintings.

A recent letter bearing the signature of Jane Arden Macfarland, reveiled the fact that this mysterious little woman was the grandmother of Jane Arden, "the artist" and creator of the "Imperial patterns," who was recently presented to the Queen of England and was married to the only son of Sir Edward Macfarland, of England and was married to the the Linen Prince of Scotland.

The "Imperial Patterns" were the masterpiece of Jane Arden and were so named by Queen Mary, who adopted them for her court costumes and pronounced them the most beautiful designs ever created.

Every woman well knows the bad results from constantly opening the oven door to move a cake to another shelf or turn a pan of biscuits. Often the shifting or the cold air striking in proves utterly disastrous to her baking.

The Divided Flue on the Gurney-Oxford range equally distributes the heat to all parts of the oven which is regulated to the exact temperature required by means of the Economizer.

This wonderful time-labor-and-money-saving device controls the heat of the whole range.

It is worked by a small handle which moves around a series of six notches. The housewife soon learns that by moving the handle to No. 1 she has a very hot oven, to No. 3 a moderate oven, and that No. 6 checks the fire so as to burn scarcely any coal while she goes out shopping On her return she simply moves the handle to the number that gives the required heat and the result

Originally the intention was to put down cement curbs and gutters and resurface the street. The engineer did his part and the plans and specifications were in the town clerk's office for several weeks before the proposed work was commenced. Then it was, however, that objections were raised to the methods being followed.

The chief objection was to two steps from the sidewalk down to the street level. There were hurried consultations between members of the council, ratepayers, and the contractor, and latterly the engineer was called in. decision has now been reached by the council to take the contractor off the work and cancel the contract. Temporary repairs only will be made to the street, so it is difficult to predict when the long-looked-for improvements will be made. Street improvements is one of the big questions for the council of next year to consider, and it is probable that some definite scheme will be evolved for beganing work early next spripng.

Divorced Wife Shoots Husband

[Canadian Press.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—Rising from the breakfast table to answer the door bell, Frank Ivy, a real estate dealer, was shot and probably fatally wounded today by his first wife in the presence of his second wife and their two babies. After firing two bullets into her divorced husband's body Mrs. Ivy dropped the revolver Ivy picked it up and fired at the woman as she ran down the street, the bullet striking her in the leg. She is now in jail.

The shooting, according to all accounts, was the result of a quarrel over the divorced couple's 15-year-old daughter. The girl was given to the mother at the time of the divorce nine years ago. Recently the child was aken from the mother and sent to a reform school. Mrs. Ivy blamed her ormer husband for this, and now has a suit pending against him in the superior court.

The London Advertiser Printing Co., Limited,

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 1. WHY DISCREDIT MUNICIPAL

OWNERSHIP? The principle of municipal ownership is not involved in the controversy over the London and Port Stanley Railway.

No one proposes the cale of the city's property. How to turn municipal ownership to the most profitable use is the question.

The city's ownership of the road enables it to secure all the advantages which could come from mu micipal operation, without the financial risks. There advantages are differential rates on freight between London and the lakeside; an open harbor and a good steamship ser-Nice; an adequate passenger service at cheap fares; and the maintenance of the Pere Marquette and Michigan Central connections.

If these things can be obtained through the city's proprietorship of the L. and P S. R., why discredit municipal ownership by adding $700,-000 to the city's debt, and three or four mills to the city's tax rate? Is the tax rate (249-10 mills) not suf ficiently high?

The electrificationists who figure out a surplus conveniently ignore the report of Mr. Marshall, which deals exclusively with the earnings of the road. His estimate of $205,000 as the annual revenue, leaves a deficit, if we accept the Warfield and Eastman estimates of annual operating expenses, and add fixed charges at the rate of 6 per cent. for interest and 5 per cent. for depreciation.

The deficit deduced from the Marshall report would be doubled or trebled if the Grand Trunk withdrew Its business, which constitutes about per cent of the present freight traffic of the road. The Grand Trunk officially declares that it will take this the electrification plan is own coal if the taxpayers of London

GOVERNMENT KILLED GOOD ROADS BILL.

The charge that the Liberal majority in the Senate killed the Good Roads Bill continues to be made by Government speakers and journals, without any foundation in fact. It stands to reason that the Senate would not kill a measure of that sort, and any reading of the published debates of the Senate, however cursory, will show it. What the Senate did was to cut the string which the Government attached to its measure. In pique, the Government then killed its own child.

Nobody has even questioned the wisdom of the amendments proposed by the Senate. Mr. Borden in the House of Commons promised that the Dominion grants for road-building and improvement would be based on provincial population. But he refused to in the bill. The Senate insists that this be done for the protection of the of Canada. Another thing: the Lib- pire will be safe, or as safe as our erals urged that the Dominion grants like the ordinary provincial subsidies should be paid over to the provincial grain-growers' policy? Not by any governments, to be managed by them means. There is the Dominion Manuas local authorities knowing local needs. This again Mr. Borden refused It is true, these are mostly loyal men. to do. Quite clearly he intended to Their loyalty makes them look with use the granting power to his own advantage, as much as to the good of rural Canada. The Senate stood firm against not good roads, but the maninulation of them for the purposes of

On March 18, that free trade with Britain would send 1912, Sir Richard Cartwright was speaking. In the course of his speech

"I do not in the very slightest degree dispute that good roads are a right good thing, but I will remind be too dearly purchased under certain conditions. There is such a thing volve, as I shall presently show to my honorable friend, that it may involve, very serious inroads indeed on the constitution of this country." the constitution was the object of Sir Richard's attack. It was one of his latest public appearances. As a Cato of the Canadian Senate he pronounced his warning that the constitution must not be infringed. Further, he said:

"I regard this measure as one of a very dangerous character, I say that as between province and province it is hopelessly unjust. ministers want us to put this money at their absolute disposal, to use when and where they please in the best way they can conceive their own political interests. I might sum up this measure in brief declaring that it is bad in principle worse in detail, and the motive, believe, to provide a huge fund for corruption, is worst of all. Were I to suggest a short title for this bill would recommend the followingthat this should be declared a bill to make the British North America Act so much waste-paper, and to provide a permanent fund for the use of the Government of the day Nothing can be plainer than the language of the B. N. A. Act, which declares that local works and undertakings shall be absolutely and exclusively under the control of the local governments.'

At another part of his speech Sir

Richard pointed out that: "At any conceivable time when there was an election going on, either federal or provincial, Dominion Government might deluge any particular province with any amount of money with which they could get Parliament to intrust them, and everyone knows that there is no more invidious or dangerous form of corruption than that of being able to offer the voters of any parconstituency a number o roads in places where they desire to have them, free of charge, at the federal expense. I am told that in a recent election the electors of a cer tain constituency were told that they elected the Government candidate they would get good roads, and if they did not they would not ge good roads at all.' Mr. Cloran-True!

"What was done then can be done on a larger scale all over the other provinces of Canada.

And it is being tried in East Middlesex. Sir Richard's language, however, shows clearly enough what was in the Senate's mind when it tried to amend the measure of Mr. Cochrane, indorsing the principle of Dominion assistance to road-making, but wouldn't have, you know, had a good immigration law then. safeguarding it with clauses that would make it strictly a kind of provincial subsidy, proportioned to population, as Mr. Borden recognized it to be just, and controlled by the prov- seem like displaying a roor spirit not inces, as Mr. Borden also recognized to rejoice with Toronto in her devel to be right, but refused to allow to be opment; yet it would unquestionable set down in the bill. The Senate did not kill the bill. It tried to administer uted in Ontario between the rura a restorative, but the Government rejected the doctors' aid and let the child perish. Mr. Borden would not suffer it to live.

Messrs, T. H. Smallman and T. A. Rowat must smile when they find themselves classed as Liberal politicians by the pro-electrification organ.

Hon, Bob Rogers spoke too soon when he accused the Liberal press of deliberate lying in saying that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name had been wiped off a Government dredge. The Official Gazette announces the change. Let us hope that the lying has been done by the Gazette.

The panic in the electrification camp is justified but ludicrous in some of its manifestatons. After shouting that only one local individual was behind the opposition to the scheme, it was disconcerting to have the Grand Trunk Railway Company step in and take away their ammunition.

THE PARNELL SCANDAL REVIVED. [Manchester Guardian.] sequel to Mr. O'Brien's publicaion of letters to himself from Parnell regarding the Parnell-O'Shea divorce case will surprise many people in Ireland, Mr. O'Brien, in the Cork Free Press, quoted would have been altered if he. (Parnell) had given evidence of his relations with Captain O'Shea, and then drew the deduction that Parnell was the "victim rather than the destroyer of a happy nome" (there is something authentically fresh about this phrase). According to his letter in the Times today Mr. Gerard O'Shea, Captain O'Shea's son, considers this statement to be libellous. Parnell's widow, once Mrs O'Shea, who has long lived in the most complete retirement with her son, agrees that Mr. O'Brien has insulted herself and Captain O'Shea, but she adds that he has insulted the late Mr. Parnell above all. She therefore proposes to publish Parnell's letters as soon as possible. I am told by an Irish correspondent that the existence of these letters was, after Parnell's death, a cause of great curiosity in Ireland, particularly among the old Parnellites. According to secure the rights of publication in these nicipal activity from the old city hall ultimately intervened with a strong protest with the result that Miss Parnell -who, I believe, has since died-was reported to have burned the whole correspondence. But it appears that Mrs. Parnell had kept the letters, and given directions that they should be published after her death. It is, of course, well known that Mrs Parnell always entertained feel-tions between Parnell and his revolting followers! Mr. O'Brien was then, as now, a conciliator. But his efforts at Boulogne failed, and when he finally declared himself an anti-Parnellite his action caused more resentment among the Parnellites than that of any other of the

Each Pattern Transfers from 3 to 5 Times Will Not Injure the Finest Fabric

These new and wonderful Patterns can easily—almost magically—be transferred to any kind of material in a twinkling. The patterns are made by a secret process, which does away with the old-fashioned, perforated, smudgy carbons, or hot iron-all you need to do is to moisten the Pattern, and the design is instantly transferred, and each Pattern will transfer from three to five times.

160 new and beautiful designs to select from. Designs for shirt-waists, underwear, household linen. Designs for the girls and the baby. Everything you will ever need.

The 6 Coupons will show you are a reader of this paper. The 68 cents is to cover the express, clerk hire, checking, handling and the overhead expense of getting the package from the factory to you.

Out-of-town readers will add I cents extra for postage and expense of mailing.

T in Chicago, according to a dispatch printed in the newspapers, a woman became so angered when thieves visited her coops and stole 20 chickens that she advertised for the culprits to come back and take the 12 she had left.

They did.

(Oh, there's no telling what advertising will accomplish!

Which reminds me of the story of the hen that after watching the pigeons make their graceful flights from the top of the henhouse until she grew envious of their skill, concluded that she, too, could fly with equal success if she could only get up on the henhouse so as to make the right kind of a start.

After many strenuous efforts, she finally gained the desired elevation, squawked, flapped her wings and made the plunge. She turned seven somersaults, struck on her neck and broke it in

The moral of the first story is that advertising is a force with which it doesn't pay to trifle, and of the second, that skill, knowledge and ability are as essential as opportunity to the man who would accomplish what others have accomplished through publicity.

Before you advertise, be sure that you can deliver the goods. Newspaper advertising is a mighty force in bringing to your door the people who want what you have advertised.

But newspaper advertising isn't worth a continental hurrah to the advertiser who either can't or won't live up to his printed claims.

When you get ready to jump from the top of the henhouse, Mr. Merchant-About-to-Advertise, be sure that your wings are built to fly and that they are in good working order.

No pains or expense had been spared by the directors and committees in charge, and the results were highly satisfactory.

Fine Races.

A good race card is always a great attraction, and this fact had been given considerable emphasis during the arranging of the lists. Some of the finest races ever seen in Thorndale and the vicinity were witnessed.

An event of unusual interest in connection with the track events was the contest for lady drivers. The ladies were very proficient, and some clever driving was seen. Considerable difficulty was experienced in making the awards, but finally the judges decided that Mrs. Guest and Miss McFarland were the winners

The School Exhibit.

Particularly worthy of special men-tion was the West Nissouri rural school exhibit. A large tent had been erected in a prominent position on the grounds, and within its canvas walls the work of the school children was exhibited. The idea of showing children's work which had been done by them originated in Oxford County four years ago. Since then it has spread over Western Ontario. The Government has taken the matter in hand. The children are particularly encouraged in the plantng and caring for gardens of their manufacture of wooden tables, chairs, and many miscellaneous articles.

designed and built for you. We considered your wants, the size of your kitchen -then we built the "Champion" built it as you would have had it built to order.

The best coal range you can buy is a trying, fatiguing necessity in the summer time. You have often said as much. Also, you have thought that even a first-class gas range had its drawbacks in the winter season. Yet, you want both. Therefore, McClary's "Champion" - the famous two in one range-is exactly the range for you. The original construction of the "Champion" makes it possible

-to cook and bake with gas

HIS range was especially -to cook and bake with coal -to cook and bake with wood or -you can cook and bake using gas and coal at the same time.

You can get all the cooking and bak-ing service out of a "Champion" that you could possibly get out of a first-class coal and wood range and a firstclass gas range too simply because McClary's "Champion" is two ranges in one.

Think of the convenience! The "Champion" is a handsome steel range—a cooker and baker unrivalled. During the cold weather it heats up your kitchen, using coal or wood. In the summer, it cooks and bakes with gas without heating up the kitchen—Because it is just as serviceable a gas range as it is a coal and wood range. And, you can use both fuels, with absolute safety, at the same time.

See McClary's "Champion" before you buy a range. You might as well have two serviceable and durable ranges for about the price of one—the "Champion" is the original two in one range.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

When electrification is forgotten, perhaps someone will be forthcoming to do something in the real interest of the city, and he could not do better than visit all those real estate agents and get a true list of all the farms now for sale within a radius of 20 miles of the city; how many are mortgaged, and the improvements and exact locations. This is a subject that should be interesting to the city, its over-taxed people and its high cost of living. Why are those farms idle while thousands of men in the British Isles await such chances? Detectives, However, Soon Found Them Rolled Up Within the Bed Clothes.

"Someone has stolen my trousers and $6, which was in the pocket," called a man who boarded in a house on York street, between Richmond and Talbot, one norning recently.

The landlady heard him, and suggested that he come downstairs and tell her and her busband all about it "But I can't," wailed the unfortunate one. They were the only pair of trousers I

Then the officers went to the room of the man who said he lost his trousers, and searched it. There they were successful. The missing pants, with the $6 in the pocket, were found rolled in in the bed clothes.

Explanations followed, and the man re nembered that after disrobing for the night he carelessly threw the trousers on the top of the bed. In rolling about during the night they became mixed with the coverings and could not be seen.

SEPTEMBER WEATHER

Comparison With Last Year Shows Some Interesting Changes.

The official temperature and rainfall reports for the month of September were given out this merning and a comparison with that of September. 1912, reveal some interesting changes. The highest temperature on record for the past month was 91 degrees. Many of the citizens will remember the 2nd and 3rd as the days in question. when the thermometer, feeling rather skittish, moved playfully near the top to keep them from becoming only, muddy, blotchy or rough, or if such condition has developed, to overcome it. In such chronic cases it is particularly inadvisable to keep piling on cosmetics which clog the pores, piling on cosmetics which clog the pores, and the thin man smiled complacently. The greatest drop occurred on the 14th, when the mercury registered 33 degrees. A year ago in September the maximum temperature was also 91 on the 5th of the month, while the lowest was also 33, making a strange coincidence. The rainfall for September, 1913, zed wax, procurable at any druggist's, is shows a decided falling off from that of the same month last year. Official report for last month shows a rainfall of .52 against that of 5.19 of a year

Poor Turnout to Drill of Seventh The Multiplication of Units in City De pleting the Old Corps.

Monday night's turnout of the Seventh Regiment proved a disappoint-ment, to the officers, and as a result Lieut.-Col. Campbell, at a meeting following the drill, intimated to the of. ficers and non-commissioned officers that a large increase in the numbers attending drill was desirable if the regiment was to be kept up to a state of efficiency. He instanced several regiments in much smaller towns that turned out a greater number to their weekly drills than the Seventh.

The Seventh has a large number of its roll, but many of these, it is claimed, seldom, if ever, turn out. It is possible that failure to do so will result in a request that they turn in their clothes and cease to be members of the corps.

Speaking of the disappointing at tendance one of the officers stated today that the multiplication of units in the city was partly responsible for the decrease. "Many of our men have lef to join some of the more recently-organized corps, and, of course, this de pletes our ranks to some extent,' pletes our ranks to some extent," he said.
