

GALE OUSTED AS SPECIAL DEPUTY TO A. H. PALMER

Raid On Court House by Provincial Men Arouses the County Officials.

UNSUCCESSFUL SEARCH

Carter Foils Attempt To Ransack Safe and Hunt Ends, Uncompleted.

Special Constable Frank Gale, assistant to Provincial Officer Arthur Palmer, has been ousted from his position. Since his appointment Constable Gale has taken part in many spectacular chases in search of the Murrell brothers, escaped prisoners from the county jail, who were being held there on a charge of murder.

County officials regard the raid on the jail last Sunday by Provincial Officer Palmer and License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside as an unpopular one. The only thing that the search revealed was a bottle of whiskey in the private quarters of one of the employees of the institution.

It was said that Inspector Keenleyside knew that this liquor was there, for the employee, who is not in the best of health, ordered a case of whiskey a few years ago, and it is claimed he had as much right to have it there as in any private home.

The raiders telephoned Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth's house on Sunday to obtain entrance to his office, but being there apparently by accident, they called the office in the courthouse, for they were reported to have sought also to enter the office of the clerk of the county court. However, Mr. Watterworth was out of town.

They demanded that Governor James Carter open his safe, but he refused to allow them to search it, it is said.

Palmer is now in Stratford as a witness in a case at the assizes, having been served with a subpoena by Deputy Sheriff B. F. Watterworth.

COMMISSION MAY REDUCE ESTIMATES

Question Will Be Debated at Next Meeting of Board.

Whether the public utilities commission will cut its estimates for 1922 will be threshed out at the next regular session of No. 1 committee of the city council a week hence.

Directly the commission submitted its probable expenditures for the coming year a storm of protest emanated from the region of the city council chambers, and several aldermen asked various questions as to why the commission intended to do with the sum of $100,000 acknowledge to be due from the provincial board.

The utilities commissioners explained that it was intended to utilize this money for additional street lighting, and that they were not asking for a joint session with the city council. The latter body is seemingly determined that it will not authorize the $250,000 asked by the commission while the council is not prepared to adequately supply the public without it.

That the public utilities commission has no right to expend certain sums on street lighting without consulting the council, is the inference suggested.

"More than likely this question will be discussed at the next meeting," Ald. Harley commented. "Some definite action must be arrived at. If the public utilities commission proposes to go ahead with additional street lighting and charge the same to the city, then No. 1 committee must definitely assume control."

"If, however, they intend to do this work at their own expense and do not charge it to any city department, that will be a different matter. At the present time, however, No. 1 committee regulates every street light in the city and must authorize every expenditure for the same."

Ald. Harley intimated that it is intended that the public utilities commission be represented at the next meeting.

MRS. McCANN WINS NEW HONOR

Fears Juvenile Court Plan Has Been Shelved

TWO ALDERMEN ARE WROUGHT AT CHILD NEGLECT

Harley and Wenige Will Call For Early Decision On Question.

MAY BE ELECTION ISSUE

City Council Still Awaiting the Opinion From Police Commission.

Has the proposal to establish a juvenile court in the city of London been shelved?

Ald. George Wenige, who with Ald. Frank Harley was one of the "fathers" of the movement, concludes that something of this nature has transpired.

At the last session of the city council the motion to apply for a court charter from the attorney-general's department, Toronto, was lost, and the question was referred to the police commission for advice. Since that time not a word has been received from the latter body.

One member of the commission has been ill for some time, but Wenige feels that action should have been taken by the other members.

Accordingly, at the next regular session of the council he will ask that definite action be taken.

"No one knows," he declared Wednesday morning "where we stand on this matter after all these weeks. It's time that we made some headway. The police commission was asked for an opinion at the last meeting of the council and we have not heard a word since, so I intend to bring the matter up again."

Mayor Little, a member of the police commission, declares nothing has been accomplished because Police Magistrate Graydon is unwell.

Alldermen Harley and Wenige, both probable candidates in the coming mayoralty contest, announce that, should nothing substantial develop before November 1st, they will include the project in their platform.

Wenige stipulates that the court must be in the interests of the child and not to provide people with soft berths.

Harley contends that it must be instituted at the minimum of expense to the city.

CITY DEALERS CLAIM COAL WILL NOT DROP

Declare Only Revision of the Miners' Wages Can Lower Price.

Local coal dealers cannot see any material decline in the price of coal in the city, they claim, until the freight rates through, and the settlement is followed by a decline in freight rates in the United States.

Charles Martin of the Martin-Lyons Coal Company stated that there may be a decline of 50 cents a ton in the freight rates. This would be about a 15 per cent cut on the American tariff. He points out, however, that any material cut is not to be expected until the revision of the miners' wages. This is not likely to come until April next. It was only in April this year that the price advanced 50 cents a ton at the mines, owing to a miners' wage increase.

The costs of coal to London today are as follows:

Coal at mines, $8, with 80 cents exchange, $8.80; freight to Suspension Bridge, $3.54, exchange 25 cents, and to London, $1.55, total $14.34. The local coal man must add his overhead of unloading, storage, delivery, light, heat, taxes, screenings, etc.

Mr. Martin expressed the belief that if anything, there would be an increase in the price of coarser lines of coal, such as egg and stove. This will be almost certain if the winter is a cold one. The mines cannot get ahead with the mining of the coarser sizes, and if there is any shortage the dealers will have to turn to the independent miners, and the price is likely to move.

Several dealers report that they find many of their people delay putting in their supply, hoping that the freight rate cut may mean a price cut, but they, like Mr. Martin, see little hope in this.

LOSS IN N. Y. MAIL RAID MAY TOTAL TWO MILLION

New York, Oct. 26.—Belief that the loot from Monday night's daring mail truck hold-up would exceed $1,000,000, was indicated by postoffice authorities today, following a partial check of the contents of the five stolen pouches, while from other sources it was learned that the total might exceed $2,000,000.

Officials of one Wall street firm not yet listed as among those affected by the robbery, said that firm had sent $1,000,000 in securities by registered mail on Monday night, but that they had been unable to learn yet whether it was in one of the five pouches taken by the three bandits who held up the truck in lower Broadway.

The three men who staged the hold-up were being sought by a large force of federal agents and city detectives today, but with no apparent success. A reward of $5,000 for each of the robbers "dead or alive" offered by Postmaster General Hays intensified interest in the man hunt.

HOW FAST CAN YOU TICKLE KEYS OF TYPEWRITER? HERE'S A REAL TEST

MISS PITISAN (AT TYPEWRITER), MISS WANER AND GEORGE L. HOSSFELD.

G. L. Hossfeld Typed to the Black Word in One Minute--Can You?

"I would take a good many pages to tell of some of the queer things which have come to pass solely through use of the typewriter. The office boy only a few years ago got his job because he can pound the keys with accuracy and speed. The pen might be mightier than the sword, but the time is coming when both will be found only in the junk pile. Do you know that it is much easier to get hold of a letter written by Sir John A. Macdonald than it is one written by Lloyd George? It is a fact, and the same is true of almost any man of note who is now living. Few men of affairs write what are known as holograph letters, that is to say, letters which are WRITTEN and signed with the pen.

MAY PREVENT STRIKE BY PUBLIC MEETING

Railmen and Carriers Gather To Discuss Situation.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Leaders of the six railroad unions which have called a strike for Oct. 30 were brought face to face with railroad executives today by the railroad labor board for a public hearing in an effort to achieve peaceful settlement of the disputes leading to the threatened tie-up of transportation next Sunday.

On the eve of the meeting the board announced that the brotherhoods' complaints, largely over rates and working conditions, must be settled before the additional 10 per cent wage cut proposed by the roads could be considered. Union leaders have asserted that this further reduction, bulked largely in their grievances.

At the same time, a committee of the association of railway executives reiterated its intention of applying for further reductions in wages, in order that they might further reduce rates. Unless the extended debate develops unexpectedly, it was said early today, the conference may be closed tonight.

General Chairman of the Engineers will not be present at the meeting, it was said, since the power to revoke the strike call rests with the executive committee.

The chiefs of the big four brotherhoods and the switchmen's union arrived at 8:15 o'clock from Cleveland. W. G. Lee, president of the trainmen, immediately called a conference of his 250 general chairmen to discuss their stand at the labor board hearing.

HOSTEL MAY BE PROVIDED FOR DESTITUTE IN LONDON

Question To Be Discussed at Mass Meeting of Women.

The question of providing a hostel for temporarily destitute persons in the city will be discussed at a mass meeting of London women called for Friday afternoon of this week in Cronyn Hall. Mrs. Joseph Marshall, who is taking a leading part in the movement, urges the desirability of representation at the meeting from all the churches. A representative of the Salvation Army has been invited to give advice on the project, and the co-operation is anticipated of prominent social workers.

Walter Hampden acted as chairman. After a delightful supper, members of the company enlarged their host. In reply, he told many interesting stories of his career. A guest at the party was Miss Nora Thomas, a daughter of Allen Thomas, who came from Detroit for the occasion.

George L. Hossfeld of New York, International Champion Typist, in a Recent Test Acquired a Speed of 136 Words Per Minute.

BY ALICE ROHE.

New York, Oct. 26.—Neither smoke nor drink nor dissipate in any way. I am 22 years old, and have been married since I was 19. The first time I won the international championship was two months after I married. Yes, of course, a man works better if he has a home interest."

So says George L. Hossfeld, international professional typewriting champion.

"Concentration—that is my keynote. Privately doesn't get you anywhere, whether your goal is to be typewriting champion or a winner in any other profession." So says Miss Marian Warner, amateur champion.

"Practice makes perfect. That's my motto. I practice all the time, and I'm working toward one goal. I'm going to be an international professional champion. I believe in being the best in whatever work you undertake."

So says 15-year-old Josephine Pitisan, winner of the novice championship.

His Highest Record.

"In 1918 I made the highest record ever achieved," said Hossfeld, "that of 142 words per minute for one hour. This record is lower this year because of the difference in the material. It was more difficult this year. But last year's record was beaten five words a minute. The conditions were the same, one hour's writing from a familiar copy, ten words deducted for each error. I did 8,439 words in one hour this year with 26 errors, which, deducting 260 words in penalties, left a net of 136 words per minute. I also won the novice championship of 146 words without error."

Concentration Needed.

"Girls who really succeed in this business are not the sort you see caricatured in comic strips, nor on the stage," said Miss Warner. "You have to be serious-minded and have your thoughts on your advancement, as well as your heart, in your work, no matter what your ambition in life. I am 21 years old, born in New York, and have been in this business for five years."

"My fingers—well, my middle finger is 3½ inches long. Of course, my ambition is to win an international professional championship. My record is 127 words a minute after deducting for errors. The amateur class has a 30-minute contest, I did 4,247 words with 45 errors."

Fifteen-year-old Josephine Pitisan did 1,538 words in 15 minutes—the latter being the length of contest for novices. Five errors made her net average 99 words a minute.

NEW MAIL RATES NOT UNDERSTOOD

London, Oct. 26.—Canadian Press Cable.—Business houses here which have much correspondence from Canada, are puzzled by the new postage rates on letters from Canada to the British Isles now four cents for the first ounce and three cents for each subsequent ounce.

The London Times said today it was the common view among the Government supporters that the Irish negotiations cannot survive the blow given them by Mr. De Valera. This view did not appear to be held in ministerial quarters, where there seemed to be hope of expectation that a bridge could be constructed over the chasm in the path of the negotiators.

JEALOUSY MAN KILLS WIFE, SON, SELF, IN NEW YORK

Two Dead, Three Seriously Injured, in Shooting Frays.

New York, Oct. 26.—Jealousy is said by the police to have led to three deaths, and two probably mortal injuries by shooting early today.

Julius Planavsky, aged 32, shot and killed his wife, Myrtle, and his 5-year-old son, Julius, in their apartment, after a quarrel. He then ended his own life. Patrick J. Lovett of Brooklyn, the police say, shot Miss Dorothy Reed twice through the body, and fired a bullet into his own mouth, when she refused longer to receive his attentions. Both are in a critical condition.

He objected. It used to be only $1.

"Do you belong to the U. F. O.?" asked the clerk.

"I certainly do," replied the farmer.

"Well, this $5 charge is a U. F. O. government demand," came back the clerk.

The old Ontario Government used to be known as the twenty-centers, as out of every license fee it collected 20 cents. The U. F. O. takes $4 of every $5 fee.

COMPLETION OF CITY'S BIG PAVING PROGRAM IN SIGHT

The city engineer's department is on the last lap of the heaviest year's paving program in the city's history, which when completed will total over seven miles for the year, and give London between 29 and 40 miles of pavement.

The pavement laying force will complete English street pavement by Wednesday night, and there will then be 2,800 yards. When the concrete work on these two jobs is completed, the surfacing will be immediately started and will be the final of the season.

The whole year's paving work has been done by the city paving plant by day labor.

SYMPATHY FOR ULSTER

Cabinet Hopes Difficulties in Path of Parley May Be Bridged.

London, Oct. 26.—Announcement that no meeting of the Irish conference of the committee trying to find a formula by which the negotiations may continue, would be held today, was made shortly before noon.

At the Dail Eilreann headquarters it was declared the announcement had no significance relative to the continuance of the conference, as the representatives of the British Government were extremely busy in connection with the departure of the Prince of Wales for India.

The committee, consisting of Prime Minister Lloyd George and Austen Chamberlain, for the British Government, and Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, for the Dail Eilreann, discussed the matter two hours yesterday, but failed to arrive at any definite solution of the question.

The Sinn Fein headquarters had received no notification at noon today from the Government as to when either committee of the conference as a whole would reconvene. The Government had not intended to issue a communiqué last night, but the Sinn Fein delegates pressed for a public announcement, explaining that otherwise the meeting of Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith with Prime Minister Lloyd George and Austen Chamberlain might be represented as informal parleys.

Tonight the Dail delegates are to attend a reception to be given by Sinn Fein followers in London at Albert Hall, but in response to a protest against the use of the hall by "rebels" the lessors of the hall explained that there would be no speeches.

This morning's newspapers plainly viewed the situation as precarious, but seemed to believe the chance of success had improved during the last day.

It was stated that further pressure was being brought to bear upon the Government to adopt legislation that would enable the Ulster Government to establish its administration in Northern Ireland.

Sympathy among Unionists for Ulster and indignation resulting from Eamon De Valera's telegram to Pope Benedict, appeared today to be shaking the allegiance of many. It was believed that very little was needed to swell considerably the number of malcontents in political circles.

The London Times said today it was the common view among the Government supporters that the Irish negotiations cannot survive the blow given them by Mr. De Valera. This view did not appear to be held in ministerial quarters, where there seemed to be hope of expectation that a bridge could be constructed over the chasm in the path of the negotiators.

ASK CHARLES TO SURRENDER SELF

Budapest, Oct. 26.—The Hungarian Government today formally asked former Emperor Charles to abdicate and to recognize the complete cessation of his dynastic rights. He was ordered to surrender himself to British authorities and was told that an answer to these demands was expected today.

Lawrence also found conditions in his homeland much better. The new South China Government had taken drastic measures to eliminate the opium traffic. There today a smoker is fined $1,000 on his first conviction, and if he continues to pursue his iniquitous way he is executed. Gamblers, too, are confronted with a similar fate. Canada, the "big city" of the province is adopting western styles and customs. The streets have been widened and American dress is being adopted, even the policemen being uniformed. Yes, even traffic cops have been trained.

And so, with his relatives dwelling in peace in this new China, Lawrence has returned to Canada, bringing with him a determination to save enough money to build a home here, and bring his wife and child to Canada, the land of his adoption, the land in which he believes his children will taste the best of the land of life.

Not long ago he started in business for himself and soon acquired enough money to return to China.

There he found his home still intact, despite the sickness and famine that had been the lot of his people.

Scorns To Wed!

World Famous Songbird Too Busy to Think of a Husband.

MARY GARDEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Mary Garden, on her arrival here from abroad, declared today that the best voices were to be found on this side of the Atlantic.

"The future of grand opera in America," she stated, "must stand on its own merits."

She championed the habited hair fashion, and confessed that she had adopted the same to her views on matrimony. Miss Garden replied:

"Marriage? Nonsense! I have no time to think of such frivolous things. Am I how daintily I am, I am married in 1921. I'm always looking over my men acquaintances and wondering if he is to be the one."

"That doesn't mean anything. Why, if I had a husband, I'd live under a separate roof."

LONDON MAN DIES AFTER BEING STRUCK BY AUTO

James Quinn, Waterloo Street, Victim of Accident.

As a result of injuries sustained when struck by an automobile driven by C. E. Marley, at Waterloo and Central avenue, early Tuesday evening, James Quinn, of 536 Central avenue, died in Victoria Hospital at 8:30 Wednesday morning.

Mr. Marley stated that he was traveling close to the curb, when Mr. Quinn stepped directly out in front of his car. He also claims that Mr. Quinn was carrying a stick of wood on his shoulder, and his view of the street was obstructed.

Coroner Cameron Wilson was called and ordered an inquest. The jurors viewed the body at Killingsworth's undertaking parlors at noon Wednesday, and adjourned until Nov. 2.

The accident victim was 66 years old and was employed as a mechanic at the Glens Casket Works. His brother at Chatham was notified and is expected to arrive in the city Wednesday.

TOILS AND SAVES, THINKING ONLY OF FAMILY IN FAR-AWAY CHINA

Once every five years, a Londoner travels thousands of miles over land and sea and spends the savings of two years of toil just to see his wife. He is Lawrence Lee, one of the prominent Chinese businessmen of the city. His wife lives in the little town of Sun Ning, in the province of Canton, China.

Ten years ago, shortly after their wedding, the groom decided that he would leave his home and set out for America, the continent of better things and opportunities. Having left his bride in the safekeeping of his mother, he departed for the new world. Here he found fellow countrymen who had come before, and who had established themselves in business. His weekly reward for his labors was greater than it had been in his native land, but it was not of wealth he thought, but of his native home, where he was an ocean away. Finally three years elapsed, and his dream of seeing her again was realized.

Went into Business.

His desire satisfied, he embarked again for America with renewed hope. This time he had two objectives, a second visit to his wife, and a little home in Canada.

Not long ago he started in business for himself and soon acquired enough money to return to China.

There he found his home still intact, despite the sickness and famine that had been the lot of his people.

LONDON WOMAN ELECTED HEAD CATHOLIC BODY

Distribution of Lactal Fluid in Schools Is Strongly Recommended.

Mrs. B. C. McCann, president of the London subdivision and volunteer organizer for the diocese, was elected by acclamation first president of the London diocesan division of the Catholic Women's League of Canada at the forenoon session Wednesday of the first convention.

Her name was the only one for the office brought in by the nominating committee and an immediate motion was made for her unanimous appointment.

The greater part of the forenoon was devoted to discussion arising from the report of the resolutions committee and questions submitted, especially lively interest being manifested in the subject of the organization of home and school or mothers' clubs in every community where there is a Catholic League, and the problem of dealing with juvenile delinquents.

"Is there anything in the constitution of the league which forbids the holding of dances by subdivisions or is there any objection?" was a question which, according to Bishop Fallon, Guerin of Montreal, Dominion president, replied emphatically: "No objection whatever. I am sure that any dance or entertainment held under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League could not fail to be all right. In Montreal, where we have a junior league, composed of girls and young women, they raised funds for recreation rooms by means of theatricals, tons and dances."

"The future of grand opera in America," she stated, "must stand on its own merits."

She championed the habited hair fashion, and confessed that she had adopted the same to her views on matrimony. Miss Garden replied:

CLAIMS LONDON LEAGUE OF CATHOLIC WOMEN LEADS ALL DOMINION

THOUGH it is less than one year since the organization of the Catholic Women's League was first broached in the London diocese, this diocese today leads the rest of the Dominion, according to Bishop Fallon. It is the most perfectly and completely organized, having branches in every parish, 54 in all. Mrs. B. C. McCann and Mrs. J. Leach, both London women, is given the credit for the major portion of the work.

"I was in sympathy with the organization," Bishop Fallon told the women at Tuesday night, but in the past there had always been a difference between wishes and results, hopes and achievement, shadow and substance.

"The future of grand opera in America," she stated, "must stand on its own merits."

She championed the habited hair fashion, and confessed that she had adopted the same to her views on matrimony. Miss Garden replied:

Barnum's List of Adjectives Needed For "Theodora"

BY JAMES W. DEAN.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Magnificent, marvelous, massive, glorious, gorgeous, gigantic, dazzling, stupendous, sensational, impressive, extravagant. Thus would P. T. Barnum have billed "Theodora," the Italian film being released in this country by Goldwyn.

And all these adjectives truly describe the film, "extravagant" being the word that most aptly fits. The cost of the production in Italian money is not given. Had it been made in America it would have cost more than the world's series receipts.

This is extravagance because the art of photography is not in proportion to the cost of production. None of the principal players shows acting ability above the ordinary.

The merit of the picture lies in its mass effect, as regards both settings and action.

One of the most thrilling sights ever filmed is that of lions, more or less wild, turned into an arena choked with thousands and thousands of spectators. The killing of several lions in pursuit of the players is quite a sight.

The only mass of human flesh this writer has ever seen which compares to that filmed in "Theodora" was in the Dempsey-Carpenter arena. And the most remarkable part of that, during the running crowd in the film is that it did not stir up a speck of dust. A most polite mob.

Rita Jolivet plays the role of the Empress Theodora. In certain poses she is good to look upon, but she displays an uncontrollable penchant for looking into the eye of the camera when she would have been more effective looking into the soulful orbs of her patrician lover.

And when Rita smiles it is as though the garish light of a blue moon were beaming upon her. This is probably because she had adenoids when a child and slept with her mouth open.

Rita Jolivet in the title role of "Theodora," Italian film spectacle based on Sardou's famous play.

I would recommend "Theodora" as a treat for bald-headed men. The Italians evidently realize that when a man loses his hair he loses only his hair; that he is still more or less human, capable of being heroic or villainous. The American producer apparently looks upon the bald man as a being foreign to heroism or villainy as he is excluded from movie casts or made to disguise his baldness.

"NO BILL," SAYS GRAND JURY IN HASTINGS CASE

Mrs. M. Strickert Must Face Trial For Alleged Murder.

STRATFORD, Oct. 25.—The grand jury of the supreme court this afternoon returned "no bill" in the case of Mrs. Catharine Hastings of London, charged with the murder of her husband, Daniel Hastings, by administering poison to him. The accused was taken into custody March 25, following a confession by her.

In the case of Mrs. Margaret Strickert of Elmira, also charged with poisoning her husband, William Strickert, a "true bill" was returned.

A true bill was returned against Dr. J. L. Sebben on a charge of culpable homicide. The action followed the death of Royal Smiley, whom Dr. Sebben ran over with his auto.

The accused pleaded not guilty and the case is proceeding. The prosecution evidence was much the same as produced at the inquest.

John Fitzgibbon, aged 26, was convicted of indecent assault against a young woman. The judge will pass sentence.

Levi Kueper, aged 16, pleaded guilty to assault on a married woman. In view of his youth and the petitions asking clemency, sentence was suspended.

Plans for Armistice Day celebration are proceeding under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire. The centennial will be erected in front of the city hall, and wreaths will be placed thereon by the school children.

EAST LAMBTON GRITS PREPARE FOR ELECTION

THAMESVILLE, Oct. 25.—The meeting of Liberals of East Lambton held at Alvinston today was attended by a fairly large representation from many parts of the riding. The matter of selecting a candidate for the forthcoming election was laid over after hearing addresses by Mr. Towers of Stratford, Mr. Pickering and Dr. McIntyre of Forest.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, D. G. Sturges of Dresden, and Robt. Clark of Petrolia, who with one member from each division make up the executive.

"The underfed medical men and women in the famine area undertake their task with the full knowledge that they risk death every time they touch a patient. Their hospitals are not screened. They have no saline solution, and in most cases haven't the means for injecting it. They are without medicines and frequently without disinfectants.

"Consequently the refugees who get cholera must fight the disease as best they can."

Claim Inoculation Helped.

June was the worst cholera month along the Volga. During that month the average number of new cases reported at Samara alone was about 200 daily. In July the number decreased, and in August it was reduced to 30 a day. Soviet officials attributed the improvement mainly to inoculation.

Screens are almost unknown in Russia. Consequently the great swarms of flies prevalent in midsummer doubtless did much to spread the disease. With the coming of autumn these disappeared.

Every Russian railway station provides an unlimited supply of hot water for travellers, all of whom carry a teapot and drink little water, except in the form of tea. Most of the cities have also provided barrels of boiled water for drinking purposes, and have numerous hot water stations where boiling water may be had without charge.

Warnings against drinking unboiled water are posted very generally about public centers in the larger cities. But the inability of Russians to read and their general indifference to sanitary precautions make it difficult to protect them against epidemics.

DEFRAYS EXPENSES OF GREENLAND RESCUE SHIP

Danish Government Grants Trading Company $56,000 to This Purpose.

Copenhagen, Oct. 26.—The Danish Government in April appropriated 200,000 kroner ($56,000) to defray the expense of sending a ship to the east coast of Greenland to search for the East Greenland Trading Company's ship Dagny, which had been dispatched from Copenhagen in the spring of 1920. Since then, nothing had been heard of her.

A cablegram from Akureyri, Iceland, reports the safe arrival there of the Dagny. On July 17, she observed a distress signal on Walrus Island and sent a party across the ice to investigate. They discovered the Dagny's captain, Hansen, at Germanishavn station.

It appears that the Dagny became ice blocked on August 8, 1920, 30 miles east of the Shannon Islands. Part of the crew had previously landed at some newly established station, and the remainder had reached land on an ice floe.

Before they were rescued by the Dagny, however, three of them perished succumbing to scurvy and the third being killed in an encounter with a polar bear. The Dagny, however, was icebound from August 24 to September 2.

WHY NEARLY ALL NERVOUS PEOPLE WEAR GLASSES.

The eyes use up more nervous energy than any other organ of the body, and therefore if a person is of a nervous temperament, it is essential that he or she should have even the slightest optical error corrected accurately.

In many cases there is a small defect of which the nervous person is not conscious, but which if corrected, would improve the nervous condition of the person tremendously.

Sale of Street Dresses Tomorrow Half Price, $7.50 to $43.75

THE importance of this announcement is indisputable. So early in the season a sale of this type is rare. The models on sale have many of the newest features, and are developed in Taffeta, Soft Satin, Fine Serge and Tricotine. These dresses are not leftovers nor undesirables, and you will naturally ask the question, Why half price? The answer is simple. Just like a remnant sale in yardage goods, they are odds and ends as it were, an odd size or two left of a range which cannot be restocked. We have gone through the racks and sorted out all odd sizes. You may find a 38 or 39 or a 40 in one style, a 34 or 36 in another, and so on, but any one you find in your size will be a smart new model, and in order to clear all quickly we have set the prices at just half to do it in one day.

THINKS BOBBED HAIR GIRLS' HARMLESS WHIM

Baltimore Professor Declares "Bobbed Brains" Are More Vital Problem.

Baltimore, Oct. 26.—Judging a girl's fitness for business by the length of her hair as an employment standard, has little more to recommend it than the selection of a man because he wears a bow tie or a four-in-hand, in the opinion of Dr. William W. Hall, president of the University of Maryland. While a "bobbed brain" is good for any woman, "bobbed brains" are a more vital subject than bobbed hair, according to Professor Guth.

"It is difficult to see why this harmless feminine whim has aroused such widespread discussion," Dr. Guth added, "unless, perhaps, it is true that we dwell on making mountains out of molehills. For, all the evidence visible from a college office points to the fact that the young girl of today is aiming to ward a standard not to be compared with uniform cuttings the standard of usefulness in the home, in the community and in the world of business."

"So much has been said about the modern vanities and frivolities of the modern girl that it is only fair to point out that the average girl of today is far better equipped mentally than the girl of a generation ago. The girl of today wants to be useful as well as ornamental."

HUNT FOR SUSPECT IN HAMILTON BANK THEFT

HAMILTON, Oct. 25.—The police are looking for Norman Ryan, alias Norman J. Bell, who is suspected of being the man who robbed the Bank of Hamilton here last week. His arrest has been ordered, and a descriptive circular has been sent out. He weighs about 135 pounds and holds his head to the left side. Ryan is a war veteran, frequents soldiers' clubs, and is usually clean shaven. He is described as a dangerous man who carries a gun.

Philip Sevasta Scores Big Hit At Charity Concert

BY HELEN McMILLAN.

The charity concert given last night in the Masonic Hall in aid of the relief work of the G. W. V. A. Women's Auxiliary was an undoubted success, both financially and artistically.

Philip Sevasta, the New York harpist, was certainly the biggest attraction of the evening. Playing an instrument but rarely heard and yet dearly loved, with the skill of a true musician, he received with enthusiasm the large audience which had gathered in the hall.

His numbers were rendered in two groups, but it was in the final group that he made the greatest impression as an artist.

The delicate fingering of "Serenade" (Grieg), with its beautiful harmonies followed by the more masterful "Etude of Boreo," played with vigor and artistic interpretation. "Nina" (Paganini) was another very fine number of this group. The first group included Chopin's "Prelude," and Prokofiev's "Gagliardo," all attractive numbers.

Mitcheltree Excels As Artist In Touching Farewell Recital

BY HELEN McMILLAN.

Chopin Hall was well filled last evening for Thomas Mitcheltree's farewell recital in London, and never did the artist of the evening appear to better advantage. Rising to the significance of the occasion, the loved pianist seemed anxious to give the very best of his art to the friends he is leaving behind. And as an added personal touch to the program were many of his own compositions.

"Romance," "The Dance of the Fairies," and the whimsical little picture sketch, "Gloria Falls," all coming at the close of the program, will long be remembered as the numbers which created the artist's own composition, "Sighing Winds," "Harmonies," and "Scherzo."

Another trio of little gems, which also placed on the program, which also included a splendid group from Chopin and Bach, Mendelssohn and Schumann.

Mr. Mitcheltree was assisted by Edward Webster, baritone, who was heard in Schumann's "The Two Grenadiers," "Alone in Love's Castle" (Hewitt), and "Invictus" (Huhn). Still another contributor to the program was the Rev. Dr. Quintin Warner, who gave a rendition of a group of old airs, with accompaniment improvised by Mr. Mitcheltree.

At all events, the characterization is another earnest of the younger actor's determination to give the public a series of well-studied and individualistic portrayals of the chief figures in the Shakespearean gallery.

In the supporting cast Miss Mary Hall makes the Katherine of the earlier scenes the embodiment of perverse and sullen womanhood, while her gradual yielding and final submission are skillfully graduated. It is a clever rendition, even though the genius of a Shakespeare is hardly equal to convincing an audience in these days of aggressive feminism of the possibility of such a sudden and thorough conversion. Mr. William Sauter lends dignity and unusual distinctness to the role of Baptista, while Mr. Allen Thomas' ripe art is displayed, though all too briefly, in his appearance as Vincentio.

The Gremio of Mr. P. J. Kelly is a graphic piece of elderly amorosness, and Miss Elsie Herndon Kearns as Bianca brings out the sweetness and submissiveness of the dutiful daughter. Among the characters of or extravagantly connected characters of the servants, those which stand out most clearly are the Gremio of Mr. Hannam Clark, the Biondello of Mr. Le Roi Opert and the Curts of Miss Mabel Moore.

At all events, the characterization is another earnest of the younger actor's determination to give the public a series of well-studied and individualistic portrayals of the chief figures in the Shakespearean gallery.

Monday night Mr. Hampden selected Hamlet as his vehicle, and ably demonstrated his ability to display the idiosyncrasies of that Prince of Denmark, but his offering Tuesday night, "The Taming of the Shrew," was the farce which shows Shakespeare in his most robustly humorous mood, his life, his fancy busy with the masquerading of masters as humble toadies, servants as masters and nameless wanderers as the rich fathers of pseudo sons.

In electing to play the raffish hero of "The Taming of the Shrew," Mr. Hampden naturally invites comparison with Mr. E. H. Sothern, the only Petruchio of the first rank with which the present generation of players is familiar.

Mr. Hampden is a less exuberant Petruchio, and seems to enter into his task of brow-beating Katherine with less gusto than does his elder rival in the role. This by no means implies that his is not as interesting and satisfactory a performance as that of Sothern's; it is a difference in kind rather than in degree. Mr. Hampden's Petruchio gives the impression of one who, heeding Hamlet's advice to Ophelia, assumes the unpossessed vice of bullying to reach an end. Mr. Sothern's Petruchio rather enjoys the jest quite as much for its own sake as for its victory over the victim.

Cholera Ravages Undertert Russians of Volga District

SAMARA, Oct. 26.—By a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.—Cholera has about run its course along the Volga for this year, and as the weather grows cooler, is disappearing very rapidly in spite of the weakened condition of the famine-stricken population, and the insanitary condition of impoverished refugees crowded into camps where there is absolute lack of sanitary precautions.

Vital statistics are lacking, but the testimony of medical men who have wide knowledge of health conditions in the Volga districts indicates that the death rate among persons who were taken with cholera ranged from 50 to 75 per cent. This was attributed to the

SOLDIERS' AID WOULD END DISTURBANCES

Want Control of "Child Welfare" To Be in City.

Members of the London branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission approached the provincial department in Toronto Tuesday, asking that child welfare work in this city be placed under local control. The Toronto authorities promised the question would receive instant and careful consideration.

This action on the part of the London members comes as a climax following a long series of disturbances in the local commission during the past few months. Last spring L. E. Lowman was brought to the London department from Toronto and placed in charge of child welfare work. Previous to that date this enterprise was a "community" affair and handled solely by the local branch.

As time progressed many complaints of inefficiency were hurled at the department, and Mr. Lowman was severely censured by the Army and Navy Veterans, who at a general session recommended that the question of his appointment be taken up with the provincial department. The Soldiers' Aid Commission in Toronto.

Those who attended the Toronto session were: Rev. H. B. Ashby, James Gray, George Conneland, Col. C. M. R. Graham and Edward Lauce, secretary of the London commission.

BRIAND LIKELY TO ASK RELIEF FROM HIS DUTIES

French Premier Will Demand a Vote Before Going to Washington Conference.

Paris, Oct. 26.—Premier Briand faced today a situation that seemed perilous to his ministry. Debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the government's domestic and foreign policies was to close, and a vote of confidence was to be taken.

There appeared to be a possibility that the opposition would have enough strength either to reject the vote of confidence or cut down the margin of the premier's victory to such an extent that he would feel it was a mandate against going to the Washington conference. In either event, it was deemed probable that Mr. Briand would ask President Millerand to relieve him of the duties of office.

In opening the debate in the chamber last week, the premier made it plain that he desired a vote of confidence which would be emphatic enough for him to go to Washington as the recognized spokesman of the French Government and parliament. Discussion of the policies followed by the administration relative to the Near East, German reparations, domestic questions and other matters of great importance at the present moment developed bitterness many times during the past few days, and culminated yesterday in an attack upon the government by Andre Tardieu.

Premier Briand yesterday refused to entertain proposals from Premier Goullet and Foreign Minister Balthazard of the possibility of mediation between Greece and Turkey. It is asserted by newspapers here.

RETURNED SOLDIERS' BODY WILL ENTER CAMPAIGN

New Organization to Support "Reasonable Protective Tariff."

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Organization has been completed here of the National Service League of Returned Soldiers and others, which will enter the campaign. The league is pledged to support "a reasonable protective tariff." It is stated that this new organization is in any way to conflict with or supplant veteran organizations which are non-political, and right to be so.

Premier Meighen is expected to address a gathering of the local members of the new organization next Friday night.

STOLE GOOTSON'S LIQUOR; REMANDED FOR SENTENCE

Laho Lazwoko Pleads Guilty to Charge of Theft.

Laho Lazwoko, a Russian, pleaded guilty in police court Wednesday morning to stealing six quarts of whiskey from the cellar of Morris Gootson, whom the police term "the boss" of the city's Russian quarter. Gootson laid the information, but did not want the prisoner to receive heavy punishment.

Evidence showed that Lazwoko was intoxicated when he committed the theft. He was remanded until Tuesday for sentence. He stated that he did not break into the house, but that he just lifted a piece of tin which was covering a cellar window and crawled through the opening. Although a key to Gootson's house was found on him, the prisoner denied that he had used it to get in or out of the house.

No sooner was the case disposed of than Gootson was charged with allowing a horse to run at large. He pleaded not guilty. After the evidence was heard, the case was adjourned until Friday. Gootson left the court carrying the contents of the six quart bottles which had been emptied in a large jar by the thief. The plaintiff stated that nine quarts of whiskey had been stolen but considers himself lucky to have six of them returned to him.

Lake Erie Gale Holds Up Ships At Welland Canal

ST. Catharines, Oct. 26.—For 24 hours all downbound traffic on the Welland Canal has been completely tied up because of a prevailing east wind on Lake Erie which has lowered the water in the canal to such an extent that boats with cargoes are unable to float over the sill at Lock No. 2. The steamer Brantford is held around at the Allenburg guardlock and is leaking.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

A UNITED FAREWELL will be tendered Commissioner and Mrs. Richards tonight in the Masonic Temple by local, Chatham and St. Thomas members of the Salvation Army.

ALFRED PRICE, general manager of the C. P. R., Montreal and H. C. Groat, general superintendent, Toronto, were in London Wednesday morning making an inspection of the local terminals.

SECRETARY ED. BERNARD of the London Motor Club announced on Monday that the Lambeth highway is now open to St. Thomas. Motorists making the trip will not have to make any more detours. Mr. Bernard stated that the London highway in the London diocese are gathered in the city today for a conference with Bishop Fallon. It is believed that educational matters, along with general subjects pertaining to the welfare of the diocese, will be up for consideration.

FROM ADVANCE REPORTS at the local agricultural office it is expected that 50 members of the Western Ontario Association of Farmers will attend the banquet to be held in the Royal Cafe on the evening of Oct. 23. A. R. G. Smith of New Hamburg will be the special speaker.

ABOUT FORTY MEMBERS of the engineering profession of London and the immediate vicinity will meet at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night with a view of organizing a branch of the Canadian Engineering Institute. The plan is to limit the membership of the local institute to the city and centers within a radius of 25 miles.

CLOTHESLINE. THE FIVE are the latest species of thieves to begin operations in London. Tuesday night William Hunt's backyard at 738 Princess avenue, was their stamping ground. The result was that when Hunt awoke in the morning he found that some underwear and a grey sweater coat with red trimmings was missing.

BUILDING PERMITS on Wednesday included three new residences for the city. W. J. Wilkie, 1009 Lorne avenue, will erect a brick dwelling to cost $2,800. A. Fitzsimmons, Highbury street, a similar home, cost $3,500. A. Girard will build a stucco home on Pipe Line road, cost $2,000. E. Howitt, 60 Adelaide street, and A. Smith, 43 Victor street, will build garages. Repair permits include N. McLeod, 12 Oxford street; H. G. Harwood, 543 York street, and E. Bick, 52 Walnut street.

ROBERT MCKELLAR of Moss Township, through his solicitors, Ivey, Elliott & Ivey, has issued a writ in the supreme court against E. R. Mayall, of Toronto, and B. A. Holgate, of Bowmanville, to recover possession of the west half of the south half of lot 4, concession 5, Moss Township. He also asks a declaration that a certain oil and gas lease made between himself and Frank J. Carman is null and void, damages for trespass, and an injunction restraining the defendants from entering the land, searching for, producing, storing or removing petroleum or natural gas.

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO RIVER; MANY KILLED

BUTCHER IN MONTREAL LOSES $750 TO THUGS

Montreal, Oct. 26.—While Alime La Bousserie, butcher, Mount Royal avenue, was talking on the telephone in his store this morning two bandits entered, ordering him to throw up his hands at the point of revolvers, stole $750 from his pockets and then threw him into the refrigerator. He was rescued, almost frozen to death, some hours afterwards.

WITNESS'S DEATH ENDS TRIAL

Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 26.—The indictment against William Jarvis of New York, charged with complicity in an alleged fake wire-tapping scheme through which Michael Connolly, late Montreal contractor, lost $125,000, was dismissed in the supreme court yesterday. Connolly's death, which occurred about two months ago, was responsible for the dismissal of the indictment. He was the chief witness for the prosecution in the case, and without his testimony the state was unable to proceed with the trial.

BALTIMORE RIOTERS KILL ONE

DELAYING CHOICE OF SCHOOL ARCHITECT

Board of Education To Consider Enlargement of "Tech."

At a special meeting of the advisory vocational committee of the board of education to be held at 12:15 p.m. Thursday, the proposal to enlarge the London Technical and Art School will be further considered. Before any estimate can be provided as a guide for the 1922 board, it will be necessary to determine just which architect will prepare the specifications.

Following the wish of the committee at its last meeting, L. E. Carrothers, the school architect, has been approached to his ability to assist in the task. He declares that he is both willing and able to proceed. The majority of the trustees admit this, but feel that with the volume of work already outlined for the coming year, it would be necessary to hire additional help for Mr. Carrothers.

"This is a much-involved question," explained School Trustee Thomas Row, chairman of the committee, discussing the point Wednesday. "There is more than one angle to regard this matter from, and looking at it from the ratepayer's viewpoint, the question of expenditures must certainly not be overlooked."

The committee may decide not to employ additional help for the school architect, but may allow the architects who prepared the original plans of the entire school, to continue with the proposed auditorium.

JUSTICE MOWAT'S FIRST CASE WAS LIBEL ACTION

Woodstock Barrister Enters Suit For Damages Against Sentinel Review.

Woodstock, Oct. 26.—Justice H. M. Mowat of Toronto, the newly-appointed judge of the supreme court of Ontario, began his career as a supreme court judge when he conducted the fall assizes at Woodstock on Tuesday, Tuesday, and incidentally the lone case which he had to try turned out to be one without a parallel in the legal history of the province. In the opinion of the prominent jurist, who was present, it was one without a parallel within the knowledge of the legal profession.

The case was that of libel action of Homer D. Neely, barrister of Woodstock, versus the Sentinel-Review Publishing Company, and the unique feature about the case was that not a single witness was brought forward to give evidence on either side, the case being entirely upon the plea of counsel to the jury. The presentation of the case hinged entirely upon the interpretation of points of law, and in the end the judge rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, without damages, and a recommendation that the costs be paid by defendant.

The judge, however, intimated that his recommendation was beyond the power of the jury and that he alone had the right to determine which party would pay the costs, that he would give his decision on this point later.

Obituaries

THAT THE LONDON METHODIST Conference will be held in London in June, 1922, was the important announcement made by the committee chairman, who are in conference in the First Methodist Church today. The conference will be held in the Centennial Methodist Church.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE BILLEN. The funeral took place from A. L. Oatman's undertaking parlors, Wednesday afternoon, of George Billen, 81 years old, who died at the Victoria Hospital Monday. He is survived by one son, G. H. Billen, and one daughter, Mrs. Hanson, of Canton, Ohio.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. Garbutt. Interment was made at Woodland Cemetery. The pallbearers were: Walter Richards, Thomas Thealeven, Harry Porter, H. Sargent, J. Woods and H. Thorne.

PROPOSE 20 PER CENT CUT TO SHOEWORKERS' UNION Lynn, Mass., Oct. 26.—Proposals for an immediate 20 per cent reduction in the wages of 18,000 shoe workers in factories affiliated with the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association were submitted to the workers' unions today for approval.

Under an agreement with the unions changes in rates of pay are effective only when both sides are agreed that such a change is necessary to stimulate wages.

MANY TORONTO PEOPLE REQUEST GUN PERMITS

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Since the recent bank robberies citizens have inundated Chief of Police Dickson with applications for permits to keep revolvers in their homes or places of business for protection.

A permit is necessary to purchase a revolver from a dealer.

SIR ROBERT CRAIG HONORED

London, Oct. 26.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Sir Robert Craig has been appointed chairman of the Scottish board of agriculture. He has spent some years in the Canadian Northwest.

PRINCE OF WALES NOW ON WAY TO INDIA AND JAPAN

Some Anxiety Is Felt Concerning the British Heir's Safety During Trip.

London, Oct. 26.—The Prince of Wales left the Victoria station at noon today for Portsmouth to embark on the battle cruiser Renown for a tour of India and Japan. Great crowds outside the station greeted the prince with an enthusiastic send-off, while on the platform were King George, Queen Mary, Princess Mary, Prime Minister Lloyd George, several members of the British cabinet, United States Ambassador Harvey, Japanese Ambassador Goto, and other distinguished personages.

The leave-taking of the royal family presented a touching scene. All of them were deeply moved. Princess Mary weeping quietly, while the King, with his arm over the prince's shoulder, was talking earnestly with him. After the prince departed, the other members of the royal family remained on the platform for a few minutes.

The Renown will land the prince at Bombay, in which city he will begin a series of formal functions arranged in every city he will visit. Following his progress through India, the prince will go to Japan, where he will return to the United Kingdom of Crown Prince Hirohito, who returned to Tokyo recently from a journey that took him to London, Paris and Rome.

Anxiety over the prince's journey has been caused by the troubled political conditions in India. The possibility of an attack on him is minimized here, but it is feared the Indian Nationalists, led by Mahatma Gandhi, may possibly attempt to carry out their threat to call strikes in every city visited by the party.

Prince Charles, second son of King Albert of Belgium, was last month appointed a midshipman on board the Renown during the voyage to the Orient.

GRAND TRUNK EMPLOYEE IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

J. Henry, 56 years old, 463 Maitland street, employed as a porter at the Grand Trunk Hotel, has had a serious injury to his left leg, which he sustained while on duty. He was on duty at work Tuesday afternoon when a heavy iron pipe into one of the cars, heard then the car was being moved, the pipe fell on his left foot, crushing it severely.

George Bathgate, a comrade, who is proficient in first aid, immediately rendered the assistance, and dressing the injured member, had Mr. Henry removed to the office of Dr. Seaborn. Mr. Henry will be confined to his home for a week or more, it was stated at the freight sheds on Wednesday afternoon.

MICHIGAN STUDENTS TO STUDY AT STRATHROY

Two students from Michigan are the first to send in applications to attend the three months' short course in agriculture at Strathroy, under the direction of the Middlesex branch of the Ontario department of agriculture, which opens Nov. 28.

R. A. Finn, district representative, states that a number of inquiries have been received regarding the course, which will be held five days each week from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. It is expected that there will be a number of farmers and farmers' sons from the vicinity of Denbigh who will attend.

NEW YORK STOCKS

N. Y. STOCKS. 6.55. 19.20. 19.20. a.m.—Further retirement of the short interests was noted at the opening of today's stock market, especially in oils, motors, steels and equipments. Royal Dutch, Shell Transport, Atlantic Gulf, and Standard Oil of New Jersey, were among the preferreds. Baldwin Locomotive, Pressed Steel Car, Bethlehem, Crucible and United States Steel were higher by fractions to 2 points. Shipments also improved, but rails failed to shake off their recent anarchy. Preliminary quotations for the principal foreign exchange rates were irregular, reflecting latest political developments abroad.

1:30 p.m.—The low-priced oils, sugars and leather issues forged ahead in the early afternoon, but rails declined 1 point, and other representative shares substantial fractions. A wide assortment of industrial and specialties ruled from 1 to 5 points higher, reflecting a decided increase in professional and public buying.

WANTS TO LIVE TO FORGIVE GIRL WED TO ANOTHER

Former Detroit Policeman, Near Death, Loyal To Woman He Loved.

SOBS IN MOTHER'S ARMS

Attempted Self-Destruction
On Lonely Grand Trunk Station Platform.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 25.—Lying in High Park General Hospital near death as a result of a bullet wound self-inflicted in a dark, deserted suburban depot, Carl Bates, former Highland Park patrolman, whose disappearance and frenzied threats to die for love set police of two states on his trail, sobbed to his mother tonight the story of his acts of last week.

In intense pain from a wound an inch above his heart, Bates, clutching his mother's hand, gasped that he wanted to live and to make good. In the same breath he asked her to forgive the girl whose deceit, he said, had prompted his attempt at self-destruction.

Occasionally he lapsed into a semi-coma and called aloud, "Margaret, come back to me!" He asked his mother to wire Margaret Tool in Wilkesbarre, Pa., and ask her to come to his bedside.

Find Farewell Letters.
In his pockets when he was borne into the hospital were two farewell letters, addressed to his mother and to the Tool girl, the first professing undying love for the girl, the second asking pitifully why she had treated him as she did.

Five days after Bates abandoned his automobile on the Belle Isle bridge approach, leaving behind notes announcing his intention of hurling himself into the Detroit River, he summoned courage for his attempt at suicide.

On the lonely platform of the Royal Oak Station of the Grand Trunk, Bates resumed his role of scorned Romeo in the public eye, when he turned a revolver on himself and fired once, the bullet piercing his breast, and lodging in his back after taking a downward course.

"I Want To Die."
"I want to die," he moaned at that time.

"I want to live," he sobbed to-night.

"I found that she was married to a man in Wilkesbarre," he told his mother. "I was stunned. I saw her kiss him as he left her on the steps of her home, and it broke my heart."

Behind the story of the boy's frustrated suit for the girl's hand his parents believe is a plot to bleed him of his possessions, in which the girl and the man, who, it now develops, is her husband, were conspirators.

"Some time ago," Bates said to his mother at the hospital, "I opened a note addressed to Margaret when we were living together in Glendale avenue. It was from Wilkesbarre, from this man Kane, and it said 'Bled Bates and come back to me as soon as you can.'"

Explained Away Note.

"She explained it away. We were happy. Then when she left Wednesday morning I decided to kill myself. I found a note to me that said: 'Bill, you've always treated me white. Don't feel so badly,' and it was signed 'Marge.'"

"I went to the station and found she was gone and I decided to go, too. As soon as I got off the train in Wilkesbarre I saw them together on the street."

GUELPH HOTEL BURNED.

GUELPH, Oct. 25.—The old Station Hotel at the head of Main street here was burned to the ground late yesterday. In addition to the hotel several outbuildings were destroyed. The hotel was owned by M. P. Barry. The cause of the fire is unknown.

'Unknown Warrior' Conflict May Delay Arms Parley a Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—There was still doubt tonight as to whether it would be possible for the first formal session of the forthcoming conference on limitation of armaments and disarmament of Pacific and Far Eastern questions to be held as planned, on Armistice Day, November 11.

CLAIMS SCHOOL TAX SITUATION IS INTOLERABLE

Bishop Fallon Declares Ontario Denies Catholics Educational Equality.

WANT OWN HIGH SCHOOLS

Ask Only Same Minority
Rights That Protestants
Enjoy in Quebec.

"The present position of the separate schools in Ontario is intolerable and cannot go on. If our case is not good let the court decide, but let something be done quick," was the declaration of Bishop M. F. Fallon, in addressing a meeting of delegates representing the Catholic Women's League of the London Diocese in St. Peter's Catholic Club last night. The bishop had a large audience. Besides the delegates from the 64 parishes of the diocese, there was also a large attendance of Catholic men and women of the city.

"Catholic Education" was the bishop's theme, and it was after presenting the case of the separate schools of the province that he made the above declaration. The address was a review of the position of separate schools since 1841.

Claims Marked Difference.
Catholic education, he said, did not differ from any other education as education, but it did as to being Catholic. The latter he described as the atmosphere, surroundings, text books and Catholic teachers. This was the marked difference from any other education.

"Separate schools," he contended, were the most discussed topic at the conference, and the discussions which led up to Confederation. He remarked that undoubtedly the majority of his hearers had in mind that separate schools were designed to satisfy the Catholics of Ontario. Nothing was farther from the fact. It was designed to protect the Protestant minority in Quebec, and said the bishop, "I don't blame them."

He would not trust the education of his people to a majority that was not of the same belief. And so the Catholic majority in Quebec, harkening to the demand of the Protestant majority in Ontario, that the Protestant minority in Quebec be protected, insisted on the same treatment for the Catholic minority in Ontario.

The bishop said that it had often been thrown in his face that he was not a good, loyal Canadian, because he was a Catholic. "I cannot accept this," he declared, "and added that if the Queen's minority in Ontario was not as loyal as the Queen's minority in Quebec at the time of confederation he would begin to think that there was something inferior in being a Catholic."

Catholics in Politics.
The bishop touched briefly on the enormous agitation in Ontario against separate schools, as carried on by George Brown and his paper, the Globe, and how it drove every Catholic in the province into the ranks of the Conservative party. And then he said: "They say that Catholics are in politics. Why, George Brown drove us into them, and Sir John A. Macdonald kept us in politics." The bishop also said that from reading the old archives at Ottawa he would quote from George Brown and Sir John A. Macdonald that "it was not a safe thing to monkey with the Roman Catholic machine."

After confederation, the bishop said, Mr. Brown and Egerton Ryerson, who was the superintendent of schools, said that their opposition to separate schools was that they feared the danger to the national school system. But the contrary has been the fact. The separate schools have kept the public schools "up to snuff," and the separate schools had benefited also. "Competition in the life of trade, even in education," said the bishop.

Two Systems Defined.
By the B. N. act he said two systems of schools were defined—the general common and the separate common schools. The only difference made in the two was the first word. He referred at length to the comparison of the rights of the two provinces, Ontario and Quebec, as defined in the act. He outlined the case that had been taken to see that both acts were identical, and he added, "they are identical in wording and meaning." The act he declared to be a treaty, "no mere piece of legislation," and then proceeded to tell how it was being interpreted in Quebec first and then Ontario.

In Quebec the situation, as he outlined it, might be briefly said to be that the Protestant minority has complete charges of its own schools from the alphabet up and even has its own deputy minister of education.

In Ontario they did not ask that much. He did not think that he would ever live to see a Catholic minister of education in Ontario. He had seen a minister in that post, but he never expected and did not think that the youngest child within his hearing would ever see a priest in that post. And so he proceeded to the Ontario position.

"A Grudging Spirit."
"It was a grudging spirit towards the separate schools from the beginning," he declared. "I remember when the separate school taxes had to be collected at the doors of the church. It was only after a great deal of insistence and beseeching that we got the right to collect our own taxes, as had our Protestant fellow citizens for their public schools. We were allowed in a sort of back-handed way to develop our own schools."

The bishop traced a great deal of this trouble to the "cezar of the school system of the province," the then superintendent of education, who said that he did "not believe in separate schools," and that they "should be put out of existence."

The bishop said that the bishops of the province have, however, labored steadily, with a quiet, courteous demand for consideration right up to the present without success. He exonerated the present Government from his condemnation, saying that they have been the heirs of the educational system of their predecessors, but, he said, it was their duty to study them and then deal in strict justice with the situation.

The bishop concluded his address with a few words on the assessment question as it relates to separate schools, pointing out that no matter what proportion of the stockholders of a corporation, utility of stock company may be Catholic, the separate schools are deprived of any share of the taxes.

Calls Situation Intolerable.
The situation, he declared, to be positively intolerable and intolerable. "It has got to be defined one way or another. We have got to be told plainly and frankly that we don't cut the same figure as the people of other faiths and that we get our rights."

Bishop Fallon said that he was sure that when his non-Catholic friends understood the situation, they would immediately realize and admit the fairness of the case for separate schools. He announced that he is issuing a series of pamphlets dealing with the situation.

Mrs. B. C. McCann of the London branch of the Catholic Women's League presided, and on the platform were a number of the Dominion officers of the league.

Toronto Police Need Permits To Attend Theatre or Movies

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—"The green book"—the new rules and regulations for the direction of the Toronto police, as revised and amended by Chief of Police Dickson—was sent out from police headquarters today to all ranks.

"The rules and regulations as they were are practically obsolete," the chief stated. The new book replaces the red book which was drawn up thirty-one years ago.

In instructions to patrol sergeants the book states: "Constables shall not enter public houses or houses of entertainment, nor permit their constables to do so, except in the actual execution of duty, or to make observations or investigation in the line of duty."

"They must not permit undue familiarity on the part of constables doing duty under them."

Pertaining to constables the book says:

"Constables are not to attend theatres, racetracks, or other places of amusement, even in plain clothes, without obtaining leave to do so."

"Constables neglecting to avail themselves of the time at their disposal for rest and sleep, and spending a large portion of their time in walking about the streets, are to be reported to the police to interfere with the commissioners or chief constable with respect to transfer or other duties, will be considered guilty of disobedience of orders."

"Matrons," says the book, "must when on duty, be neatly and respectably dressed in modest attire."

Any members of the force found entering public houses, except on duty, or frequenting shops where spirits are sold, or drinking there, or who purchase spirits from unlicensed persons, are liable to dismissal. "Any constable may be removed from service by dismissal or otherwise without assigning any reason."

NEEDED MORE ROOM.

CHATHAM, Oct. 25.—A. B. McColg has been forced to shift his committee rooms to a larger place. The rooms were opened in the Sheldon Block on Sixth street, but it was found impossible to accommodate the large crowds which gather there nightly. Mr. McColg owns a big warehouse on Market Square south and has transferred his committee to the ground floor of the building.

Announcement was made in the city Monday that the members of the local Mothers' Pension Board have been reappointed. The members are: Rev. R. J. Perkins, Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Mrs. R. V. Bray, Charles Austin and Bert P. Groombridge.

In Ontario they did not ask that much. He did not think that he would ever live to see a Catholic minister of education in Ontario. He had seen a minister in that post, but he never expected and did not think that the youngest child within his hearing would ever see a priest in that post. And so he proceeded to the Ontario position.

Hurry, mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." And it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, cold, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Society Ladies Adopt New Hair Curling Method

Since the introduction of the slimerine method in this country, it has become quite "the proper thing" among society women, who have readily adopted it in place of the destructive curling iron. The waves and curls acquired by the new method are far more natural in appearance, and the hair, of course, is glossier and prettier than could be if the hair were cooked out of it.

The liquid is pleasant to use, being neither greasy nor sticky. It is a simple thing to apply with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair. The lovely wavy effect in evidence in about three hours is all that one could wish for. It costs little to use liquid slimerine, as a few ounces from the druggist will keep the hair in curl for weeks.—Adv.

FAIR LIBERALS LINE UP FORCES FOR CAMPAIGN

Leading Supporters of Mr.
Somerville Reorganize Women's Liberal Association.

URGE NEW REGISTRATION

Will Open Information Bureau
This Week in Hyman
Hall.

With the reorganization Wednesday of the London Women's Liberal Association, an important step was taken by leading women supporters of Mr. C. R. Somerville and Liberal principles in forwarding their plans for participation in the election campaign, and bringing to the attention of women electors their national responsibility in exercising the franchise on election day.

The organization meeting followed a luncheon given by Mrs. C. R. Somerville, wife of the Liberal candidate, at the Hunt Club, to afford former members of the Liberal Women's executive and other active workers in the cause of Liberalism an opportunity of meeting and conferring with Mrs. Harry Carpenter of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association.

Mrs. Vining President.

Mrs. C. R. and Mrs. C. R. Somerville were made honorary presidents. Mrs. J. Vining was the unanimous choice for president. Mrs. Donald McLean and Mrs. W. H. Fox were elected first and second vice-presidents; Mrs. T. H. Purdon, treasurer; Mrs. E. J. Mcintosh, corresponding secretary; Miss Jessie Macle is chairman for ward 1; Mrs. Alex. Calder, ward 2; Mrs. C. A. Whitman, ward 4.

One of the first activities of the organization will be to bring to the attention of every woman in London eligible to vote, regardless of party affiliation, the importance of making sure that her name is on the voters list during registration week.

A women's information bureau will be opened immediately in the large sitting-room in the southwest corner of Hyman Hall, the rendezvous of patriotic women workers and the Red Cross headquarters throughout the war. Direct access to the bureau may be obtained through the Queen's avenue entrance, marked, in the course of a few days, by a large banner. Women conveners will be in charge to elucidate points with regard to registration and later concerning polling places, the procedure of voting, etc., as well as to give information regarding the issues of the campaign.

Must Educate.
Mrs. Carpenter, whose stirring informal talk to the group of Liberal women, was in a large measure responsible for the decision to reorganize without delay, emphasized the importance of awakening women to their duty of voting now that they have the ballot, and thus rendering peace-time service as faithfully as they rendered war-time service.

The value of the association at all times as a means of education in public questions was urged as vital as the functions to be exercised during an election campaign to promote the cause supported.

Mrs. Carpenter, who returned to Hamilton last evening, has consented to come back to London next week for the first rally meeting of women supporters of Mr. Somerville to be held next week by the reorganized London Women's Liberal Association.

ABANDONED TWINS
MAY BE CLAIMED

Letter From Alleged Mother
Received by Inspector Winters

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—The girl mother who abandoned her twin babies of a few days old on top deck of Detroit ferry, Sept. 15, is alleged to have notified the authorities that she is willing to disclose the identity of the father of her infants if she is granted immunity from the law.

This information was conveyed to M. R. Winters, Inspector of Children's Aid Society, in a letter received by him today supposedly from the mother, who signs "Jessie" to communication. "If you are willing to guarantee me protection from prosecution," the writer says, "I will take my babies back and disclose the identity of the father. I am sorry that I left them. There seemed no other course open for me. I was betrayed by a Windsor man, who induced me to get rid of them."

The writer of the letter also asks the Inspector to meet her in Detroit if he is willing to accede to her request. This Inspector Winters is reported to have decided to do.

COAT CAUGHT IN FLYWHEEL OF ENGINE

CARGILL, Oct. 25.—While cutting wood with a gasoline engine in George Jackson's bush, concession 20, Greenock, Thomas Rushon sustained a fracture of collarbone and other injuries, the result of an accident caused by his clothing becoming entangled in the flywheel, while he was in the act of making an adjustment to the engine. His coat was wound so tightly around him that it had to be cut to pieces in order to release him.

OPENS CAMPAIGN IN MARITIMES AT WOODSTOCK, N.B.

Crerar Recalls Mr. Guthrie's
Change of Front On Re-ciprociti Since 1911.

LAUDS WESTERN LOYALTY

Points To War Record of Prairie Provinces in Reply
To Meighen.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Oct. 25.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Opening the National Progressives party's campaign in the Maritime Provinces here today, Hon. T. A. Crerar came sharply to the defence of the West. He declared that an "imputation" had been cast again at the loyalty of the men in Western Canada, and in warm tones resented statements reported to have been made by the prime minister and by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia and defence.

Today's meeting was but the second which Mr. Crerar has addressed in New Brunswick since he entered political life, and singularly enough the first was from the same platform. The audience was not so large as some of the Ontario meetings, and like other agrarian audiences, generally was un-demonstrative.

There was one interruption. Mr. Crerar was referring to Mr. Guthrie, claiming that while Mr. Guthrie attacked reciprocity now, he supported it in 1911.

"Yes," interposed a voice, "he spoke in favor of it from that very platform."

"Well, the whirligig of politics brings many changes," musingly observed Mr. Crerar, "and it has brought some queer ones for Mr. Guthrie." In his defence of the Progressive movement, Mr. Crerar cited the following statement, reported to have been made by the prime minister during his tour of the Maritime Provinces:

"It is not unfair for me to say," Mr. Meighen was quoted, "that the soil from which the Wood-Crerar movement has grown is not so wholly Canadian as the soil in which we and I grew. There has been much immigration in that country, and though these immigrants make good farmers, I do not believe that they have the vision of Canada or the heart of Canada in the way the rest of us have."

Regrets Premier's Words.

"As a Canadian who was born in the same province as Mr. Meighen," commented Mr. Crerar, "our birth-places were no more than a day's journey apart—as a Canadian proud of his country, I regret to hear such language falling from the lips of the prime minister of Canada. There is in it an imputation against the men in Western Canada. I care nothing for Mr. Meighen describing the party to which I belong as the Wood-Crerar party. That is a transparent device to create prejudice in the public mind against a political movement that is threatening the foundations of this Government."

"But in face of the fact that we need people in Canada to share our burdens, to develop our resources, in face of the fact that Western Canada and Alberta and Saskatchewan particularly, sent more men to the front in proportion to their population than almost any other province, I say that I regret to see the prime minister using such language."

No Question of Loyalty.
"There is no question of the loyalty of Western Canada, none whatever," Mr. Crerar added. But such questions were raised, he claimed, to divert public attention from the main issues—such issues as the railways, public debt, immigration and the unification of Canada."

He declared that no man in his right senses would advocate that the tariff be swept away at once, but argued that the budget of last session, instead of decreasing, had increased tariff protection.

Appetite Good,
Gained 20 lbs.
Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loversburg, Sask., writes:

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight, became very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39."

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and after three months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

WIRTH TO AGAIN STRIVE TO FORM GERMAN CABINET

Will Attempt To End Chaos in Republic in Response To Ebert's Appeal.

PLANS MAKESHIFT BODY

Entente's Ultimatum Regarding Silesia Necessitates Hurried Organization.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Joseph Wirth, who resigned from the office of German chancellor last Saturday, has been designated by President Ebert to form a new cabinet.

He has consented to assume the task. It was in an eleventh-hour attempt to solve the political chaos brought about by the Wirth cabinet's retirement on Saturday that President Ebert tonight requested Dr. Wirth to form a so-called businessmen's or non-parliamentary ministry. It is expected that the new government will take office tomorrow.

The cabinet will not be a coalition one, as all efforts to reconstitute the three-party block or to induce the German People's Party to enter the Government failed definitely when the Democrats and the representatives of the People's Party withdrew from today's inter-party conference, owing to a dispute over the Upper Silesian decision.

The Majority Socialists and the Clerical Party will constitute the nucleus of the parliamentary support actually vouchsafed the new ministry. The Democrats and the Independent Socialists promise to stand by it, while the German People's Party again agrees to observe benevolent neutrality. Notwithstanding the precarious nature of the support afforded him by the inter-party "gentleman's agreement," Dr. Wirth sallied forth tonight in quest of men to do the government bench when the Reichstag meets at noon tomorrow.

The new cabinet, it is considered, will be wholly an emergency makeshift which will undergo changes a few weeks hence. Its organization under pressure is due solely to the Government's predicament with respect to the entente's ultimatum in connection with the appointment of commissioners for negotiation with the Poles.

BABE RUTH REPENTS; QUITS BARN-STORMING

Babe Ruth, the world's record home run hitter, has repented and is now willing to abide by the decision of Judge Landis. It takes a wise man to see his mistake and change his mind. But this is happening every day in London by people who bought ordinary diamonds, and are sorry they did not buy Perfect Blue White Diamonds from John A. Nash, My Jeweller, 182 Dundas street, London, "Where You Will Eventually Buy."

FLORIDA TOWN FLOODED AS RESULT OF DELUGE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—The business section of Tampa is practically flooded under three feet of water, as a result of the Gulf stream, according to advices reaching here tonight over crippled transmission lines. No loss of life has been reported, but industry is at a standstill. The entire west coast of Florida is feeling the effects of the storm and is virtually isolated in so far as communication is concerned.

The reason for the continued good health of some children is simple enough

Especially when you know the facts, some of which are given here

EVERY mother is proud of a healthy, strong youngster that radiates buoyant life and energy. She has reason to be proud, because the child's good health proves her wisdom in the selection of the food she gives her boy or girl.

All mothers should know that growing children require a balanced diet, a diet containing the food elements needed for building and energizing the little body.

Grape-Nuts, the rich, nourishing food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley, served with milk or cream, contains the materials the child needs for its best growth and development.

Closing the Mines.

Claiming that it is impossible to pay the wages demanded by miners, Roy M. Wolvin, president of the British Empire Steel Corporation, states the mines in the east may be closed for the winter. These include the properties worked by the Dominion Steel Corporation and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, both of which are included in the Empire Steel Corporation. The operation of the various steel mills and blast furnaces owned by the same corporation is also involved.

Such a move would be serious for the eastern section of the Dominion. Not only is coal mining one of the basic industries there, but the taking out of iron ore from the deposits off the coast of Newfoundland is also an undertaking of no mean dimensions.

The steel and coal business of Nova Scotia has not been in a healthy state since the conclusion of the war. The bringing about of the British Empire Steel Corporation was spelt in the first attempt by the impression of some of the promoters that there was to be a very large amount of stock available for rewarding the promoters. Since the corporation has been formed on a different and less extended basis, the operations of all the subsidiary lines, coal, iron ore, steel, shipbuilding, etc., have been carried on at low ebb. The world market has been against rapid development, and then they had to overcome difficulties that had been built up by years of dispute between the Scotia and Dominion companies, whose submarine properties in many cases were so interlocked that litigation and special legislation were necessary to make operations legal or even possible.

There is no reason to doubt that Mr. Wolvin states a very real case when he says it is impossible for the corporation to operate on a successful basis against present costs, and present costs are made up largely of the pay of the miners.

Whether the corporation is so capitalized that it cannot earn on the basis of reasonable returns, we are not prepared to state, although it must be admitted there has been no mad rush for the stock of the British Empire Steel Corporation since it was placed on the market. It recently received a large order for rails from the Dominion Government, but that may have been given with a view to keeping the steel mills busy until after the general election.

If Mr. Wolvin knows that a lower wage will bring enough business to keep the mines going, he will have a formidable argument that cannot be ignored.

"Unthinkable."

It may be urged that President Harding's Yorktown declaration that another break in the "peaceful and friendly relations between United States and Great Britain is unthinkable," is merely the warning over of a stock speech—that there is no new thought in it—no definite program—merely a pleasing remark to fit the occasion.

These two great nations need men who have sense and sincerity enough to make just such statements, no matter if they are 100 years old.

Both nations have enough factions working in the opposite direction.

Twisting the lion's tail and pulling feathers from the eagle has too long been the pastime and the stock-in-trade of those who would commercialize on public and find their glory in misunderstanding.

More power to the speaker, be he president of United States, or the humblest layman in the constituency, who has vision enough to reiterate to the point of monotony that "another break in the friendly relations between United States and Great Britain is unthinkable."

An Important Finding

Judgment has been handed out in the suit brought by Charles E. Campbell against the Vancouver Sun. The charge was made that certain extravagant amounts were paid to complainant for his property, taken over by the Government.

With that phase of the case we are not at the moment concerned, but there were certain essential points made that define quite clearly the length to which a newspaper can go in making charges and comments about people, incidents and things in general.

Mr. Justice Morrison, in his charge to the jury, spoke at length on the liberties the press might take in such discussions. Some of the points he made were:

"Everybody has a right to comment on a matter of public interest and this, I find, is a matter of public interest. A man may comment very strongly, but he must comment on the facts."

"Everybody has a right to comment on the acts of a man if the subject matter is one of public interest.

"Now that is a privilege, gentlemen of the jury, that I am sure none of us wish to see curtailed, and that is the attitude of the defendant in this case, that, actuated by a sense of duty to the public he exercised the privilege of criticising what he called the acts of the plaintiff in a public or quasi or semi-public manner in dealing with governmental department or with the government of the day. He contends that that is a matter of fair comment and fair criticism."

Were this right of the press taken away it would be a serious thing for the country. It would cause temerity in the columns of the public press, and make papers subservient to any interest that cared to swing a fist in their direction.

There is a very close and vital connection between the liberty of the press and the liberty of the people.

The Basis of Liberalism.

In his book, "A Period of New Beginnings for Liberalism," Alexander Smith of Ottawa brings out some noteworthy references from British authorities.

Replying to a question often asked, "What Is Liberalism?" he says:

"Canadian Liberal leaders have ever kept and keep before the people four guiding principles of Liberalism. These are individual liberty, collective prosperity, racial and religious harmony, and growth toward nationhood. They struggled to make and continue to struggle to make political authority stable by resting it on the broadest possible basis of popular responsibility. They maintained and continue to maintain that the greatest security for the Empire was and is obtained by allowing the greatest diversity and fullest liberty of self-government in all its parts. And as regards the liberty of the individual they endeavored to make and continue to endeavor to make it a reality instead of a sham by the advocacy of public universal education and by an ever-increasing standard of humane conditions."

Further, in bringing the views of English "Liberalism," Mr. Smith quotes from the Right Hon. C. F. G. Masterman, as follows:

"Liberalism does not believe in a government by aristocracy of birth, of wealth, or of landed or other possessions. After these things do the Gentiles seek. It believes in government by an aristocracy of intelligence, of energy, of character. It believes that an educated and enlightened democracy will never rest content until such a government is attained."

"In its work for the fulfillment of these great ends, it calls to aid men and women of all classes, creeds and occupations. It will not favor the welfare of any particular class, nor will it in any way limit the choice of its representatives and leaders by the test of class. It will not select landlords because they are landlords, nor business leaders because they have been successful in business, or trades unionists because they are trades unionists, or rich men or poor men because they are rich or poor. It has been the glory of Liberalism in the past that it has thus been able to transcend the boundary of class limitation, and to call to its service men of good will of all and every class alike, in a fellowship 'wide as human life and deep as human need.'"

Better Conditions.

The following is from the editorial columns of the Galt Reporter:

"A notable improvement in the shoe-making trade is recorded by the manager of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada. 'Within the last month,' he says, 'there has been a notable improvement in buying, due in part, no doubt, to the change in season. Many merchants had let their stocks get low and there has been a sudden rush to buy goods. There are practically no job lots obtainable and the majority of manufacturing plants are operating at

IF we are not here to try to do the best, in my humble opinion, the sooner we are away the better for all parties.

The Master of Ballantrae.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL.

VACCINATIONS

By Dr. R. H. Bishop.

Civilization has learned through long, bitter experience that epidemics and plagues can be prevented only through the absolute co-operation of every person in every community.

But even expert sanitary methods fail against such a disease as smallpox. It was not until science discovered vaccine for smallpox, that this disease lost its virulence against whole nations. Until this simple preventive was hit upon, thousands and thousands of people died of the dreaded plague.

Vaccination made smallpox almost obsolete. Yet carelessness and the rarity of the disease are bringing it back. This because people get off getting vaccinated or are altogether indifferent.

Vaccination is not dangerous. Over 3,000,000 persons were vaccinated in the last two years in this country without a single death.

The method consists in introducing vaccine virus into the skin, causing what is known as a vaccine. A small pimple or sore appears in three or four days; the skin around becomes red, slightly swollen and tender. In ten or twelve days, a scab forms and soon drops off. There may be a slight headache or fever.

In some cases, vaccination is not successful the first time, in which case there is no sore, and the treatment should be repeated.

Since vaccination is the only sure preventive of smallpox, it is essential that one should be vaccinated early in life. A baby should be vaccinated during its first year and again at the age of ten. After two successful vaccinations, immunity usually lasts a lifetime. However, if one is exposed to smallpox and has not had the disease, he should be vaccinated at once unless he has undergone the treatment within the past five years.

Vaccination is a form of health insurance that pays many thousands of dividends in preventiveness.

JUST WAITING FOR DEATH IN FAMINE-SWEPTRUSSIAN AREA

WAITING for death. That describes the situation that faces hundreds of thousands of souls in Russia. Some of our most graphic information, and at the same time, the most reliable, is coming from correspondents of the well-known and reputable newspapers, who are, or have been, through the famine districts.

The correspondent sent out by the Manchester Guardian describes a trip he made into the famine and disease-swept areas. In part, he writes:

"So far we were still far from the famine country. But in the evening a little man with curly black hair and a curly red beard knocked at the door of our compartment and asked for me. He had heard in Moscow from a mutual friend that I was going down to Samara to investigate the famine, and introduced himself as the vice-president of the Council of Labor and Defence of the Khirghiz Republic, and capital of which is Orenburg. Would I not come on from Samara to Orenburg, to tell the western world of those millions of Khirghiz, for whom no help is in sight, for whom no help is possible unless it comes from the West? The republic stretches from the Ural to the Caspian Sea, and its people live mostly by cattle pasturing, and have been forced by the drought to kill their beasts. They have nothing before them but death."

Feeding Points, But No Food.

"I asked him what they had in the way of feeding points. He replied sadly: 'We have feeding points, but no food. We care as we can for some of the children, but we have no food for the food, and are surrounded by corn-growing countries, which, like ourselves, have been stricken by the drought, and can give us nothing. Help from abroad is the only thing that can save us.'"

"At evening we were in a station, and for the first time I heard that pitiful wailing, which, during the rest of the journey, was to be the continual accompaniment of all our work. A child's voice outside the window cried continually: 'Uncle, little uncle, give me a scrap of bread.' The little man from Orenburg was beside me. 'You will not hear that in Orenburg,' he said. 'Here they have starved to death. There they simply wait and die.'"

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

TENDER BANQUET TO LEAGUE GUESTS

Catholic Women Meet Miss Guerin, Dominion President.

Over a hundred delegates who attended the convention of the Diocesan Catholic Women's League gathered together for the first time, at the banquet given in their honor by the London subdivision at the Tecumseh House yesterday at noon.

Miss B. Guerin of Montreal, the Dominion president of the Catholic Women's League, addressed the delegates, speaking of the wonderful progress the league had made in the London Diocese. Miss Guerin stated that although she was of French descent, she claimed Canada as her home, and told the women of the Catholic League that by working together they could make Canada as good and holy as it was great.

Another address was given by Mrs. Kentleton, who organized the London branch eight months ago. She congratulated the delegates on the splendid growth of the league throughout the diocese. Other speakers were the president, Mrs. B. C. McCann, Mrs. W. H. Lovering of Hamilton, the Dominion treasurer and president of the Hamilton subdivision; Mrs. Margaret Jones, of Montreal; Mrs. F. E. Leonard, president of the Women's Canadian Club; Mrs. E. B. Smith, president of the Local Council of Women, who also represented the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E.; Mrs. John Stevely, president of the Sanatorium Aid Society, and Mrs. F. P. Betts, Ontario commissioner of the Girl Guides, and Mrs. Allan McLean, Toronto women.

The ladies were very inviting with huge bouquets of white mums. After the banquet Mrs. E. Wyatt sang several enjoyable numbers. Others seated at the head table were Mrs. Wm. McPhillips, Mrs. Frank Forristal, Miss Mary Power, of the Provincial Department of Health, and the officers of the local subdivision, including Mrs. R. M. Burns, Miss Mary Manley, Mrs. Joseph Leech, Miss Jessie Macfie, Mrs. W. H. Fox and Miss Frowell.

The local council of the Knights of Columbus is entertaining the delegates and the local division at a banquet today at the Tecumseh House.

WILL HOLD FRESHMEN'S RECEPTION NOVEMBER 3

University Governors Secure Masonic Hall for Annual Function.

A reception given in honor of the freshmen of Western University will be held in the Masonic Hall on the evening of Nov. 3. This reception will be the largest ever held in the history of the university. The board of governors is giving the reception, assisted by the university faculties in Arts, Medicine and Public Health, the board of governors providing the hall and program, while the Arts students provide $100, and the Medical students, $50.

Formerly the annual reception for the students was held in Huron College, but owing to the large number of students this year, larger quarters will be necessary.

Committees are being formed to arrange for the reception, which will be followed by a dance and supper.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

WANTS ROOTS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please find enclosed 15 cents in stamps for the parcel Elderberry seed, and many thanks for it. I wonder if any of the Boxes would give me a root of white and yellow chrysanthemum. I would love to get a few snapdragon seeds. I will pay postage, and will gladly give slips of scented geranium, balsam or other geraniums in return. Find self-addressed envelope. Will send mite next time. Yours truly,

APPLE FACE.

I received the stamps, and have put them in the hospital fund. Will be very glad to receive any yoke or edging patterns you may have.

WANTS SONGS.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to your Mail-Box. I read your page every day and enjoy it very much. Have any of the Boxes got these two songs, "K-K-Katie" and "Stuttering Jimmie"? As I would like to get them, I will return them. I would like to get some crochet edgings for dollies. Will close now. Thanking you in advance.

MAPLE LEAF.

If the songs or edgings are sent in, Maple Leaf, I will forward them to you.

LOVER OF FLOWERS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a silent though interested reader of your page for some time, and as so many have received help I thought I would come, too. Would you kindly send me the stocking-foot pattern? I am a lover of flowers, and see where a number of readers are sending in seeds. Would you please send me packages of the following seeds: Petunia, salvia, salpiglossis, holly-

YOUR HAT MUST HAVE SWAGGER

[BY MARIAN HALE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Your hat must have swagger. It must dare say things about you—your eyes, the tilt of your chin, the line of your nose. It dares flare abruptly up at the side and wear a swirl of shining feathers flapping loose around the brim. It may find mite in self-addressed envelope for pattern and seeds. Thanking you in advance. YVONNE. I am mailing you the stocking-foot patterns and seeds, Yvonne, also many thanks for your mite to hospital fund.

SENDS SONG.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my second letter to your Mail-Box. I tell you if it was not for The Advertiser I would be lonesome. I am thirteen, and have passed my entrance. What do you think of my writing? Inclosed you will find the song of "My Bonnie." It is very poorly written out, but perhaps you will excuse it for this time. How do you like this weather? I will say I like it any way. I was away for a forty-mile car ride last Friday, so you know how I enjoy it. How is that lovely quilt getting on? I hope it will soon be finished, for I hope to take a bid for mother. I would have had my name on it only I guess it will be too late now.

I wish you were here, Miss Grey, to see our lovely dahlias. They are beautiful. Would you mind sending me a packet of petunia, salpiglossis seed? I will sign as before.

LITTLE JEFF. Many thanks, Little Jeff, for sending the song. You write a very good letter for a small girl.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

W. I. CONVENTION.

The Women's Institutes are holding their convention in London on Nov. 1, 2, 3. On the morning of Nov. 1 will be the registering of the delegates at the chamber of commerce rooms, followed by business meetings held in the Masonic Hall. In the evening, a civic supper will be held at McCormick's Hall. On Tuesday evening Manning Doherty is to address the convention. Sir Arthur Currie has also been invited to speak.

SPeAKS ON "SPEECH."

Mr. A. Stevenson of the Normal School is addressing the Tecumseh Avenue Mothers' Club on Thursday evening on "The Speech of Children."

HAS IDEAS AND IDEALS.

Mr. Walter McEwen, the distinguished Canadian, who addresses the Women's Canadian Club in the Normal School at 4:15 o'clock on Thursday afternoon

"ship," is remembered by many Londoners as a delightful entertainer in the days previous to the war, when he was regarded as the great interpreter of Dr. Drummond's poems of habitation life.

At the outbreak of the war he left the platform for the ranks of the C. E. F., and after three years of the stern duties of the great conflict, returned to take up a new role, that of orator and public speaker. In the past few years, he has visited every province of the Dominion, delivering a message of citizenship, characterized by deep insight, broad vision and great concern for the things that are vital in national life. It is said that his addresses are characterized by "ideas and ideals" and that they are witty and entertaining as well as they are forceful.

His first visit to London was paid several years ago, when he was on a concert tour with the great Indian poetess, the late Pauline Johnson.

MR. WHALE IN TROUBLE

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

Lightly as thistle down, the twins wished themselves on to his broad back.

OFF through the waves hurried Nancy and Nick, carrying the bottle of ink Mr. Cuttlefish had given them. They looked this way and that way and every which way for Mr. Whale, for you never can tell just where he's likely to be. He doesn't stay in one place much, but goes anywhere he takes a notion to. Mr. Whale is a funny fellow.

They couldn't see a sign of him anywhere, and Nancy said to her brother that perhaps he had done like the whale in the poem, which goes like this:

"There once was a whale Who swallowed his tail. First he turned to a ball, Then to nothing at all."

But Nick said to be patient and to keep on looking, and sure enough, just then in the distance they saw a tremendous spout of water, which went as high as the fireman's hose, and they knew that Mr. Whale was coming.

Lightly as thistle down the Twins wished themselves on to his broad black back, so gently indeed that Mr. Whale never for an instant suspected that he had company, and kept on breathing the nice fresh air into his lungs, as whales do, you know, being different from fishes, and blowing water up into the air like a park fountain, and enjoying himself like everything.

But suddenly a dozen huge forms appeared. They seemed to come from nowhere at all, and formed in a complete circle right around Mr. Whale. Nancy and Nick knew at once that they were the wicked sharks. They were snapping their huge jaws and showing their teeth like savage dogs.

Mr. Whale gave a snort of surprise and looked dreadfully worried.

"Don't be afraid!" whispered Nancy's soft voice in one of his ridiculous little ears—just holes in his head, really. "We'll save you."

Delightful entertainments arranged in honor of Miss Lilian Mowat of Kingston, a weekend visitor in town, the guest of Mrs. Donald McLean, included a luncheon given by Mrs. Ernest Smith at the Hunt Club, and a happy tea hour gathering, of which Mrs. Janet was hostess.

Miss Irene Strachan, St. James street, entertained at a "handkerchief shower" in honor of the bride-elect, Miss Myrtle Hicks, a former member of the Elgar Lullaby Quartet. The evening was spent in music and games, after which a dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Geoghegan pouring tea, with Miss Ollie Suhr and Miss Gwen Ware assisting.

Mrs. Harry Carpenter of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, who addressed the mass meeting for women last evening in the city today for a luncheon, arranged in her honor at the Hunt Club, the invitation list including the names of eighteen or twenty women, who are active workers in Liberal circles.

The London Drama League held an interesting reception yesterday at the Institute of Musical Art, in honor of Walter Hampden, and the principal members of the cast, including his wife, wearing a black gown, with a large hat; Miss Barnstead, in black chapeau; with touches of grey canton crepe; Mr. Hannam Clark, Mr. Le Roe Operte, Mr. William Saunter, Mr. Reynold Evans and Mr. Paul Girard.

Mr. Hampden, who was introduced by Miss Grace Blackburn, gave an interesting address. He informed the members of the league that he was not an Englishman, as was the common opinion, but an American, but had spent the greater part of his life in England and on the English stage. He spoke of the great invasion of the silent drama which was spreading through the country and which would have to be fought against by such organizations as the Drama League. He dwelt on the work

Confessions of a Movie Star

CHAPTER IV.—MY GREAT ADVENTURE BEGINS.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

The story is told by May Scott, a girl who attained stardom in the movies when she was about 16. Leading characters in the story are her guide and guardian, whom she calls Motherdear; Clissy Sheldon, a vain leading man; Nandy Anderson, a publicity writer, and his wife, Polly, and McMaster, a producer, who believes his girl stars should have had "experience."

THE following Saturday I had to do more close-ups than I expected in order to complete a play for rushed release. In consequence of too many exposures to fierce lights, I reached home with a pair of highly inflamed eyeballs.

Motherdear knew just what to do for my eyes. First there was a wash of boracic acid, then a coating of the boric acid, and then tepid compresses, the treatment repeated at intervals.

While I relaxed on my bed as well as I could, considering the discomfort, on Clissy, what I knew about him personally and what I guessed about him from Clunette's spiteful news.

She couldn't have been so horrid unless she were jealous. She wouldn't have been jealous unless she were in love with the Apollo of the company.

I kept on thinking of Mr. Cyrus Sheldon because he seemed to be the only person sufficiently spectacular and dramatic to keep my mind from the excruciating pain in my eyes.

While Motherdear renewed the compresses on my light-burned eyes, I asked her how Clissy could look so like the Watie picture of Sir Galahad in the other room, and yet be so unlovable.

"Why, he will promise anything to anybody with the most fascinating appearance of sincerity. I think he is always sincere when he promises. And then he'll break his word for any old excuse."

"Clissy is chivalry personified," Motherdear agreed, "and a good deal of forgetting. His profile is adorable, as all the girls say. But I really believe that his vanity governs him. And that is equalled only of Shakespeare, pointing out that Shakespeare's work suffered in being translated into other languages, but that in the English language it was supreme.

Mrs. E. H. Johnston received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Frank Ware, Miss Grace Blackburn, and Mrs. E. W. Scattered, while Mrs. Walter Hungerford and Mrs. Kenneth Greene presided at the table. Assisting in the tea-room were Miss Margaret Glass, Miss Pemberton, Miss Doris Deitoe and Miss Gwen Scandrett.

Twenty prominent Liberal women workers of the city yesterday afternoon enjoyed a luncheon given by Mrs. C. R. Somerville at the Hunt Club, and the opportunity of meeting the clever and charming guest of honor, Mrs. Harry Carpenter of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association. A glowing open fire made cozy and inviting the room in which the large square table was laid, centered with a silver loving cup filled with great shaggy yellow chrysanthemums, played on a mat of richly-colored autumn foliage. At the corners the central decoration was echoed in vases of yellow button mums and sprays of crimson and golden brown leaves. The hostess was wearing a becoming gown of deep blue canton crepe embroidered in grey and black hat. Mrs. Carpenter wore a smart black costume brightened by the size of his fan mail. His mail is so immense that he'd have been started months ago—if only the directors could rely on him."

Motherdear departed for another wet cloth.

What she said was too true. The directors never could trust Clissy to follow instructions. They could rely on him to break every regulation of the studios. And he was kept on in the company only because of his popularity with the fans.

His mail was the one thing Clissy took care of conscientiously. He acknowledged every letter received with a stunning autographed photo of his handsome self.

While I rested, Motherdear started reading to me the scenario of my next play, "Love in Leash."

She began with the cast.

There was a new name on the program, "Dick Barnes." He had the villain's role. The name was unknown to us.

Motherdear had finished the synopsis when she was called to the phone.

Bangs, one of the assistant directors, was on the line. He wanted to come out and bring the new bull-man, who was posing a very good man. Bangs explained. He wanted to introduce Dick Barnes to Motherdear and me. All the company calls my mother "Motherdear."

Bangs said that Mr. Barnes wished to discuss some of the business of "Love in Leash" with me.

New, everybody in the company expects to take tea with Motherdear when the impulse moves them, but this time she was obliged to explain that I was blind and in bed, and, of course, Bangs understood, and regretted, and trying to be very sympathetic, he said a few hard things about the lights. Then he suggested:

"Since I can't come out with Dick, let me introduce him to May over the wire."

Motherdear switched him to the extension phone at the head of my bed.

This informal was the prelude to my great adventure.

HAS CHILBLAINS. Dear Miss Grey,—I would be very much obliged to you or any of the readers if they would advise a girl about 17 years old what kind of a costume to wear to a Halloween party, as I have no idea how to dress. I will leave my address with Miss Grey for any information. Would any of the readers please send a cure for chilblains to the Mail-Box, as I am troubled badly with them in the winter. I will say adieu for this time.

TWICE EIGHT. I have mailed you the seed and directions for making sachet bags, and hope some of our Boxes will offer suggestions for costumes.

SENDS CASTOR BEANS. Little—Many thanks for the double sunflower and castor bean seeds. Several of the Boxes have been asking for them, and I know they will be glad to see that you have sent some to the Mail-Box.

What Will Be Worn This Fall?

The New Colors and Fabrics are Now Here on Display

A VISIT to our Piece Goods Department is a little trip to Fashion Land. For here, in beautiful lengths of velvets, in rich satins, in serge, crepes, velours and a host of other fabrics, one may visualize just the smart frock, dress or suit that one has dreamed of for fall.

And this fall you can buy and buy of these exquisite fabrics; you may choose from a myriad of lovely styles just the ones that you love best, and transform them into frocks with all the smartness exemplified by the dresses shown here. All because of a wonderful new invention, the Deltor, which accompanies every new Butterick pattern.

And it's so easy! In three simple steps—one, professional layout guide that saves you 1/4 to 1 1/2 yards of material; two, a picture-and-word set of instructions for putting together; and, three, a host of finishing suggestions, the Deltor saves you money and time and guides you invariably to real Parisian charm.

A Mystery Cake

Can you name it?

Here is another new Royal Cake, so delicious and appetizing that we have been unable to give it a name that does justice to its unusual qualities. It can be made just right only with Royal Baking Powder. Will you make it and name it?

$500 for the Best Names

For the name selected as best, we will pay $250. For the second, third, fourth, and fifth choice, we will pay $100, $75, $50, and $25 respectively.

Anyone may enter the contest, but only one name from each person will be considered.

All names must be received by December 15th, 1921. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Do not send your cake. Simply send the name you suggest, with your own name and address, to the

ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY
155 William Street, New York

How to make it

Use level measurements for all materials

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
Grated rind of 1/4 orange
1 egg and 1 yolk
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup milk
1 1/2 squares (1 1/4 oz.) of unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening. Add sugar and grated orange rind. Add beaten egg yolks. Sift together flour, salt and Royal Baking Powder and add alternately with the milk; lastly fold in one beaten egg white. Divide batter into two parts. To one part add the chocolate. Put by tablespoonsful alternating dark and light batter into three greased layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

FILLING AND ICING

3 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups confectioner's sugar
(powdered sugar may be used but does not make as smooth icing)
Grated rind of 1/4 orange and pulp of 1 orange

Put butter, sugar, orange juice and rind into bowl. Cut pulp from orange, removing skin and seeds, and add. Beat all together until smooth. Fold in beaten egg white. Spread this icing on layer used for top of cake. While icing is soft, sprinkle with unsweetened chocolate shaved in fine pieces with sharp knife (use 1/2 square). To remaining icing add 2 1/4 squares unsweetened chocolate which has been melted. Spread this thickly between layers and on sides of cake.
