ARMY ISSUE IS NOW EXPLAINED BY MR. ASQUITH

He Made a Moderate Speech to His Constituents at Ladybank on Saturday—Was Heralded as Great Statesman.

LONDON, April 6.—A brilliant Spring day and notable scenes of enthusiasm at Ladybank marked the opening Saturday by Right Hon. Mr. Asquith of the bye-election campaign...

"I am certain," continued Mr. Asquith, "that they can be counted upon from the highest to the lowest, without exception, to undertake the duties which they may be required to discharge. Hydro Bills Show The Difference

Figures do not lie, and the figures on the Hydro-Electric accounts which are now being issued tell a true story which means much to Brantford light users. One instance to-day shows clearly what saving Hydro has already effected among the householders.

VANCOUVER IS SHOCKED OVER BRUTAL CRIME

Agitation is Launched to Bar Out Orientals—Police Think Roubing Was Motive of Young Kong—A Dreadful Murder.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) VANCOUVER, B.C., April 6. Chief of Police McLennan and Deputy McRea attach little or no importance to the story of Kong, that his mistress was displeased with the porridge he cooked for her, and say their theory is that he was the guilty party in the robbery which took place some weeks ago and they are also of the opinion it was due to the fact that Mrs. Millard discovered him carrying out another robbery that she was butchered to death...

The feeling among the Oriental population has found expression in a resolution passed by the Chinese Benevolent Society, expressing deep sympathy with Mr. Millard in his bereavement and assuring him of their earnest wish that the guilty party shall be punished.

To Bar Out Orientals. "While the agitation against the employment of Orientals as domestic servants following this, the most revolting murder in the city's history, has not yet assumed definite form, it would not be surprising to see a wholesale dismissal of Chinese and Japanese in this city alone, within the next few days..."

This was the opinion of a citizen who is in touch with the revulsion of feeling that has followed the confession of 17-year-old Jack Kong, slayer of Mrs. Charles Millard. This feeling is growing hourly and has spread to Westminster and Victoria with the detail and the foul murder in which Kong now intimates that the small slight woman attacked him and that he struck her in self defence. Several assaults by whites upon Chinese have already occurred and many dismissals of Chinese servants in homes have been urged by their patrons to dismiss their yellow help.

could be made by using the big twin tubes beneath the river. The understanding is that the present freight carrying system across the river will be continued, but that within a few weeks the announcement will be made that the tunnel will be used for passenger trains. This would make the new M. C. R. depot the Detroit terminus for the C. P. R. hosts and leave for home about 9 o'clock.

HOME RULE IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN SETTLED

Statement Attributed to One of the Organizers of Big Unionist Demonstration at Hyde Park on Saturday.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) MONTREAL, April 6.—"We believe that the whole home rule question so far as the present parliament is concerned, has been settled behind our backs."

The foregoing is a statement attributed to one of the organizers of the Unionist demonstration at Hyde Park, London, on Saturday, by The London Daily Mirror and cabled to The Montreal Daily Mail. The Mirror adds that remarkable rumors are in circulation, namely that Premier Asquith went to Fife with guarantees rendering a contest impossible, which guarantees are the result of an agreement between the front bench leaders that the Unionists shall withdraw their opposition to the exclusion of Ulster for six years on condition that the government undertakes a large and comprehensive scheme, and that therefore, there will be no general election this year. There is no confirmation of this story, and it is doubted in the best-informed circles.

The London Daily Mail this morning gives added interest to the rumors regarding the situation by publishing a statement that it understands that Sir Edward Carson, who will hold a conference with the Ulster members from Ulster before speaking to-day will suggest that Ulster shall be definitely excluded from the operation of the Home Rule Bill until the federal system has been applied all round.

BRANTFORDITES AT WOODSTOCK

Two Sirens Were Fined for Theft Following Fortune Telling Escapade

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) WOODSTOCK, April 6.—Two Polish women, Elizabeth Jones and Barbara Butch, both of Brantford, appeared in the police court Saturday on a charge of theft preferred against them by a local merchant who claimed they had swindled him out of $11. The women went into his store on Friday afternoon and solicited the telling of their fortune for 50 cents. He consented, also complying with their request for him to place a roll of bank notes in their hands, in order to give them a clearer vision of the future. After they had returned the bills and departed, he found he had $11 less. The women who boarded a car for Beachville were then arrested.

Both women were operating in this city recently and at a couple of places on Dalhousie street made requests for a bank roll in order to tell their clients future. In one instance the Dalhousie street man noted for his tight wad proclivities would only depart with a one cent piece which caused dismay to his fair callers who thereupon left his place of business in a huff. The trick, of course, was to look over the bank roll and then subtract from its total.

BUSINESS MEN FROM GALT

The Business Men's Club of the Y.M.C.A. will this afternoon entertain a representation from Galt, with whom they will engage in a series of games, including baseball, basketball, handball and bowling. After the games the visitors, who will number about 35, will be entertained by the hosts and leave for home about 9 o'clock.

Local Painters And Decorators May Start Strike For More Pay

Demand is Made for Five Cents More Per Hour and is Refused by Master Painters. Matter Sent to Head Office of Union.

A strike of the first class painters and decorators of the city is impending, which will involve between 30 or 40 men actually striking, without regard to consequences to their helpers, who are dependant to a great extent upon the finished artists of the trade.

JOHN REDMOND SPEAKS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

"Pass Home Rule Bill as it Stands," Was His Closing Declaration—Country Sick and Tired of Prolonged Argument Over Question.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) LONDON, April 6.—"I think in the present circumstances there is nothing for the House of Commons to do but proceed with the Home Rule for Ireland Bill as it stands."

Mr. Redmond, like the Government, was trying to create an atmosphere favorable to himself without an attempt to find a practical compromise. The talk of federalism had not, he said, advanced the settlement of the Ulster question an iota.

WEALTHY MAN KILLS HIMSELF

Arthur Vickers of Port Arthur Took His Life Early This Morning

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 6.—Arthur A. Vickers, 41, a wealthy landowner and real estate dealer of this city was found dead with a gunshot wound in his head in the bath room of his home on Ridgeway street early this morning.

Mr. Vickers retired in apparently good spirits at his usual hour last night. The report of a shot was heard by Vickers' young wife, to whom he was married only about two months ago, at four o'clock, and the doctors' death was instantaneous.

THE BUDGET TODAY IS A MYSTERY

Cut in Agricultural Implement Duty is One of Predictions

OTTAWA, Ont., April 6.—Much interest centres in the budget speech of the Finance Minister, Hon. W. T. White, in the Commons this afternoon, it being understood that certain tariff changes or readjustments will be announced to go into effect immediately.

Some Residents Object to New Armoury Building on Brant Ave.

It was stated to-day that the move to make Brant avenue into a residential thoroughfare was for no other purpose than to prevent the Dominion Government from rebuilding the armory building on the corner of West and Brant avenue, the objection, it is said, having been raised by some private owners on the other side of the street.

Building Permits Issued

Building permits were issued Saturday to Mr. Thomas Ayerhart, Campbell street, for a brick cottage to cost $800.

Col. Hughes and Maj. Gordon-Hall To Study Virginia Battlefield

OTTAWA, April 6.—There will be a general scattering from Ottawa this week and the break up has already begun, so much so that it looked yesterday as if there might be a rather slim House for the finance minister's budget statement this afternoon.

MONTREAL IS HAVING A STIFF BATTLE TODAY

Sermons in All Churches Urging Electorate to Vote for Honesty and Purity in Municipal Affairs—The Issue.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) MONTREAL, April 6.—After sermons in nearly all the city churches yesterday, urging the electorate to vote for honesty and purity in municipal affairs, polling began briskly this morning for the selection of a mayor, board of control and city council for Montreal for the next two years.

In the morning papers the various candidates for mayor and board of control reiterated their platforms and one and all denied the allegations that may have been made against them that they are the representatives of the Montreal Tramways Co., which is seeking a forty year addition to its franchise, which application must be considered by the next municipal administration.

James Morgan, treasurer of the Montreal Citizens Association, which is supporting A. V. Roy, Duncan MacDonald, J. U. Enard and Joseph Ainey for the board of control, expressed confidence this morning that this slate would be elected. Similar confidence was expressed as to the result by Percival St. George, supported by the Montreal Star, Herald and Presse for controller, and Thomas Cote, who has also made a strong bid for a place on the commission.

Yesterday the moving picture shows were taken advantage of by candidates to place last minute announcements before voters and nearly every theatre showed the "gladiators of the different contestants on their screens."

FLORA DRUMMOND HAD NEW ROLE

She Serried at the Judge in Court and Had to be Carried Out.

LONDON, April 6.—"General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, the militant suffragette, shrieked so loudly when she was arraigned to-day at the police court in connection with the suffragette disturbances at the Unionist demonstration in Hyde Park on Saturday, that she had to be forcibly removed. She would not allow either the magistrate or the prosecuting attorney to utter an audible word.

When Mrs. Drummond entered at the top of her voice she would not permit anyone but herself to speak, because, she said, the magistrates and the police courts were doing the dirty work of Premier Asquith. She then proceeded to bombard the court with volleys of verbal shrapnel until she was carried out by wardens.

Col. Hughes and Maj. Gordon-Hall To Study Virginia Battlefield

Hon. C. J. Doherty is going to Winnipeg, where he has a number of engagements. The Premier, it is understood, will make a short trip with Mrs. Borden to Atlantic City. Col. Hughes is going to Virginia for a week, where he is planning to visit a number of important battlefields of the American Civil War.

Cricket

Many Changes Made to Rules—The Schedule for Season Drawn Up.
The Western Ontario Cricket League held its annual meeting in Galt on Saturday afternoon, two representatives being present from each of the following places: Brantford, Waterloo, Galt, Stratford, Paris and Waterloo. Brantford representatives were J. F. Bryden and C. Smith. The Paris members, backed by Brantford, proposed that the league be split into two divisions this year, Guelph, Berlin, Stratford, being one half, with Brantford, Paris and Galt as the other, the winners for each division to play off for the championship. On a vote being taken however, this was voted down. After considerable discussion, it was decided to bowl eight balls to the over instead of six as formerly, it being thought that this would add much to the attractiveness of the game and also make it faster. It was also decided to donate a prize for the best batting average and also for the best bowling average, the annual fee to the league being raised to meet the extra expense. A player to qualify for these prizes must play in at least 60 per cent of the games his club takes part in.

Grace church will have the strongest team they ever had this year, already three new men of good playing ability having joined their ranks and the nets are out for more.

A meeting of the grounds committee will be called shortly by Chairman West to arrange ground matters for the coming season.

I Will Trust Club.
Blind people, their records and achievements, was the subject of a general discussion at talk at the "I Will Trust Club" meeting on Saturday. Various members of the class spoke and gave instances of illustrious blind people, who had engraved their names upon the roll of fame and the influence of their great examples was impressed upon the class, which benefited no little from the talk of the afternoon.

ST. BASIL'S MISSION IS NOW CLOSED

At St. Basil's church Saturday night, the shrine in honor of the mother of God was all ablaze with burning wax candles, which presented an imposing scene to a large congregation of men who dedicated themselves to the mother of God, Rev. Father McCadlish preached a strong sermon on the purity of the mother of God, and her wonderful influence with her Divine Son, Christ the great Mediator, who alone merited all places for us and who is pleased to dispense his favors throughout mankind.

Father McCadlish exhorted them to be ever faithful to the blessed Virgin, and they would be enabled to find favor with her Divine Son.

Yesterday at four masses Dean Brady officiated, and at High Mass blessed and distributed palms to the faithful, in commemoration of the triumphal entrance of Christ into Jerusalem, when the Jews broke and strewn palms in his pathway, on the eve of His Passion.

At the different masses, the Passion of our Lord was read, Father McCadlish preached a short sermon at high mass which was listened to with great interest.

The closing of the men's mission was held in the afternoon, at which a large crowd of devoted men, who have attended all the meetings of the week were present.

Rev. Father O'Reilly preached a very helpful and inspiring sermon, pointing out the duties that men have to fulfill, now that they were at peace with their God. The speaker went on to point out that the way of the sinner is hard. In closing he thanked the men for turning out in such large numbers for all the meetings.

Peace With Honor.

Mr. Asquith recapitulated his temporary exclusion plan, and while admitting its disadvantages, said that it had the great merit at least that it got rid of any question of coercion. It gave the populations concerned the immediate arbitrament of the ballot.

Other Issues Mr. Asquith dealt briefly with other subjects of political importance, such as the Welsh disestablishment, plural voting and land rating problems.

The Premier concluded by saying that he placed himself at the service of his constituents as their candidate for the ninth time. He did not know whether they would have a contest; if they had he should reappear amongst them.

MR. ASQUITH'S SPEECH

There can be no doubt that Premier Asquith is a very artful tactician. Many of his critics use a harsher term than that, but however, he may be classed, the fact remains that he is to-day the most adroit political acrobat in the British public arena.

He has more recently demonstrated this with regard to the Home Rule agitation. After getting the country to the verge of civil war in connection with the methods proposed with reference to this question, he managed recently to weather what Liberal papers frankly admitted were the darkest hours of his administration, and now he has come along with the conciliatory touch. It has been denied that the sudden movement, not long ago, of troops to Ulster and orders for war vessels to take up a position off the North coast of Ireland had any significance. Very few people will be inclined to believe that, and it remained for the action of officers to bring about a hasty repudiation on the part of Asquith and his colleagues with regard to any sinister intent. The Premier, however, did not refrain from momentarily taking advantage of the diversion caused by the cry of the army versus the Government, but at his opening speech Saturday, in the Fife by-election, he conveniently forgot all that and said with regard to the army:

"I am certain that it can be counted upon, from the highest to the lowest, without exception, to undertake the duties which it may be required to discharge."

Referring to the scheme of Home Rule he remarked:—

"They must see some process applied, with necessary variations, and applied without undue delay, to other parts of the United Kingdom, in the conviction that such a reconstruction of constitutional organization would lead to greater efficiency in the conduct of both local and Imperial interests. The quickened patriotism of every party would stimulate the largest patriotism of the whole."

It would have been the part of true statesmanship to have evolved some such plan in the first place instead of bringing about all the irritations in connection with the singling out of Ireland alone. However, the skies seem to have cleared quite a lot and the stand of the people of Ulster can be thanked for that fact.

LOGIC AND THE TARIFF.

The following editorial from the Ottawa Journal is right in accord with recent actions of both the political parties in Brantford:

"Where Sir Melvin Jones errs," proclaims the Toronto Globe oracularly "and where all our protectionists err is in supposing that a country like Canada in which agriculture is the greatest industry," etc., will remain content with a protective tariff. One would imagine himself back in 1878. Just so did the Globe orate in that olden time. Thirty-six years have passed, Canada has continued content with a protective tariff. What the Globe correctly proclaims now, that agriculture is our greatest industry was far more true in 1878 than now. Yet the agriculturists, or enough of them accepted a protective tariff in 1878 as desirable, and have always continued to do so. They support one still. Much water has flowed under the bridge; decades have elapsed, governments have changed, politicians have come and gone; nothing remains as of yore save a protective tariff and the thirty-six year old oracular proclamations of the Toronto Globe that the protectionists err in thinking that the country is going to put up with protection.

The Globe proceeds to compliment Sir Melvin Jones on his logic within the limits of the great error they attribute to him of supposing that the farmers or plenty of them, are going to support the policy which they have to see the camel and the yak, the bug, house monkeys in their cages. I like to see the hippo swim like mermaid, in the dirty water, then turn a fond admiring glim upon the warthog and the otter. Without the circus, genial story; so, come, oh circuses, and bring red lemonade and peanuts hoary.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

THE CIRCUS.

They grease the circus wagon now and exercise the spotted horses, and curvy down the sacred cow—and this is a harbinger of course is. In training are the acrobats those dauntless neck-and-shoulder riskers; the clowns invest in steeple hats, and sacrifice their winter whiskers. Full soon the own and only show will set forth from its winter quarters, and we shall to see the camel and the yak, the bug, house monkeys in their cages. I like to see the hippo swim like mermaid, in the dirty water, then turn a fond admiring glim upon the warthog and the otter. Without the circus, genial story; so, come, oh circuses, and bring red lemonade and peanuts hoary.

Splendid Result.

The net proceeds of the bazaar at the Children's Shelter last week, under the auspices of the house committee, were $181. The proceeds go towards a nursery and winter playroom. The committee is very grateful to the Tutela Women's Institute, the Pansy Club, and the public generally.

LARKIN'S PROTESTS OF DIVINE ORIGIN, SAYS REV. GORDON

Irish Leader Voices "Divine Discont." and So is Right, He Reasons.

"The Dissatisfied God" was the subject of a striking sermon preached by Rev. James Gordon, of this city, who yesterday occupied the pulpit at St. Andrew's church, London. Mr. Gordon based his remarks on Matthew 25, 42 and 43, and gave a scholarly analysis of modern conditions and the part the church was expected to play in redeeming the world to God, and out of the chaos which men had made of it by their own arrangements.

There was no doubt, declared the speaker, but that God was dissatisfied—not figuratively, but in reality, it was a personal matter with God, this world and its people. If men were hungry, God was hungry; if men were thirsty, cold and neglected, so also was God. The cause of man was God's cause and He had no other purpose but looking after that cause.

"In some wonderful and mysterious way," said the speaker, "God is everything to us. He sees no glory but that expressed in our contentances. We can do nothing, think nothing but does not touch God. Our feelings towards our fellows must be God walking the streets to-day peering into the countenances there, telling their story only too plainly of conditions as they are to-day. We are never closer to God than we have got into close personal touch with men. Men are not helpless. Through all the social strata men are not helpless, never were and never will be. Who man cries out for justice it is God that is calling.

Even Larkin, thundering in the streets of Dublin, with all the weird violence of his uncouth self, has a divine spark and is voicing divine discontent. He sways the unlettered multitude with the inarticulate cry of the oppressed. It is the voice of anarchy, mayhap. God does not like it, but He is not smug."

Continuing the speaker declared that God was not satisfied with the sight of men reeling drunk, young women and boys, emaciated and gaunt from the labor conditions in factories. Justice was inevitable. The laws of the universe meant that justice should come, and it was coming surely. The one hopeful sign was that men themselves in every spot in the world were becoming dissatisfied. They deplored the need of charitable organizations and kindred things that expressed the conditions confronting the world to-day. But charity would never pay the debts of humanity.

"There is one consolation," the speaker declared, "men are not helpless. There is no easy solution to the problem. The church has proven that God can still save men and is doing it still. It has gone into the byways and has been instrumental in bringing thousands to Christ, but what was the use of preaching of a future hell when hell number one is still here."

Neglected. Many would never get salvation in the churches. They never would because they had been neglected. But once having saved the body it was easier to save the soul—the one great lesson that the Social Congress held at Ottawa had been able to teach.

Labor was growing in power and so was socialism. In its growth, however, socialism was growing antagonistic to the church. It is a menace to the church and a menace that must not be forgotten. France had tried to forget a menace and a revolution had swooped down upon it, snuffing out the aristocracy and causing the streets of Paris to reek with blood.

"I marvel that someone did not think what Luther thought before he thought it," declared the speaker. "I marvel to-day that 10,000,000 men do not rise and put their fists through something." Concluding, he said: "Every age has had its task to perform. The sixteenth century purified religion. The seventeenth century brought science and religion closer together, and the task that now lies before us to-day is bringing the whole of Christendom into its own. If the church will do its work, set itself in the balance against all iniquity and injustice, it will become an influence, save men and lend those God-like qualities to mankind."

Alfred Noyes, the English poet, was heartily welcomed in Toronto.

Birthdays of Note

MONDAY, April 6.

HON. F. D. MONK, the eminent French-Canadian statesman, who recently resigned his seat in the House of Commons on account of ill-health, reaches his fifty-eighth birthday to-day. The son of an English father and a French mother, he is singularly gifted as a speaker in both languages and enjoyed the reputation of being the best bilingual speaker in Canadian public life. Coupled with this, he possessed a rare personal charm that has won him the esteem of men of both political opinions. He was in Parliament for eighteen years, and on the accession of Premier Borden acted for some time as Minister of Public Works.

EAGLE GUN CLUB HOLDS FIRST EVENT

Some Good Scores are Made on Saturday Afternoon at 25 Targets.

The Eagle Gun Club held their weekly shoot on Saturday afternoon on their grounds on Erie Avenue. The scores were very good considering the weather, as a strong wind was blowing with snow falling most of the afternoon. The following scores were made, shooting at 25 targets: Clark, 166; Mather, 10; Lambden 19; Strouger 17; Moyer 14; Fisher 16; Elliott 11; Woods 14; Steves 12; Leitch 6; Mathew 16; Dixon 16.

Mr. C. J. Mitchell donated a box of shells for high man.

It is the intention of the club to have a shoot on Good Friday; two matches in the morning, starting at 9.30 o'clock, and the afternoon shoot starting at 2.30, to which the club extend an invitation to all who are interested in the sport.

Fears are entertained in St. John's Newfoundland, that the sailing steamer Southern Cross has been lost.

VITAL MATTER FOR THIS CITY

A Strong Representation Against Removal of Duty on Agricultural Implements.

The following despatch from Ottawa on Saturday is from The Toronto Star (Liberal) and refers to what is regarded as an extremely important fiscal matter to Brantford. A strong lobby from Toronto, Hamilton and Brantford, the Ontario centres of the agricultural machinery industry has been at work for some time at Ottawa in opposition to the possible reduction in the duty on harvesting machinery. There seems to have been a marked nervousness on the part of the machinery manufacturers as to the course the Government might take upon the tariff items in which they are so keenly interested, an uncertainty of which the recent action of Senator Melvin Jones forms another example. It is thought that the Senator took his action in part to emphasize the opposition of the Liberal Western Legislatures and influential farmer organizations have passed resolutions affirming the expediency of reducing the duty on reapers and binders and the other tools of the farmer's trade. It was thought that it might be that the Government would consider it good policy to make a five per cent reduction and seal the Opposition's thunder. Conservatives claim that under their administration, the duty has been reduced from 3 per cent, to 20 per cent for implements, and 17 1/2 per cent for harvesting machinery. They say that maybe Mr. White will see his way clear before Monday, to announcing another reduction of five per cent, but it is also said by some members that he has not definitely made up his mind yet, and that the problem is troubling him not a little. For a five per cent reduction won't by any means satisfy the farmers, while it will make enemies from manufacturing interests all along the line.

All Sorts of Rumors
For some time there has been a shrewd suspicion that a measure of reduction was in the air, and being considered by the Ministry. The Westerners want it. Conservative as well as Liberal, Western Legislatures and influential farmer organizations have passed resolutions affirming the expediency of reducing the duty on reapers and binders and the other tools of the farmer's trade. It was thought that it might be that the Government would consider it good policy to make a five per cent reduction and seal the Opposition's thunder. Conservatives claim that under their administration, the duty has been reduced from 3 per cent, to 20 per cent for implements, and 17 1/2 per cent for harvesting machinery. They say that maybe Mr. White will see his way clear before Monday, to announcing another reduction of five per cent, but it is also said by some members that he has not definitely made up his mind yet, and that the problem is troubling him not a little. For a five per cent reduction won't by any means satisfy the farmers, while it will make enemies from manufacturing interests all along the line.

Shortens His Speech.
There is a considerable number of observers who deduced that Mr. White has changed his mind, however about reducing the tariff on machinery or anything else, and changed it within the last week or two. One foundation for this impression lies in the story that the Finance Minister budget speech instead of four, as previously rumored. It is said there will be nothing in it requiring much discussion on the Government side of the House, but that Western Liberals may find something to criticize. That is the deduction from the remarks the Finance Minister himself fell in conversation with certain Liberal members. By that it looks as if the present time was considered unpropitious for adjusting duties where any line of principle is involved.

The Senator's Mistake.
"What a joke it would be on the senator if he did reduce the duties on agricultural implements," said a member last night. "He did not take the psychological time for making his break from the Liberal party. He should have waited until it was certain what the Government was going to do."

Free wheat is given up as hopeless in this budget. A duty on steel rods used in nail making for the encouragement of Canadian steel industries is looked upon as impossible if the farmers are to get nothing in the way of concessions on the production of iron ore. "The Government will not dare," a member of the Governments own side last night. "He will have to stand pat this time all along the line."

Empire Theatre Popular House

With a packed house, and hundreds turned away the Empire Theatre opened Saturday night with a splendid bill of moving pictures and high class vaudeville. The large crowd was more than pleased with the bill presented on Saturday night at this house, which cannot help but become one of the popular amusement resorts of the city.

Morrison and Clifton presented a high class musical act which was second to none seen in this city. The numbers were exceptionally good and judging by their reception by the crowd, they pleased all. Mr. A. G. Woods delighted the crowd with a number of popular melodies and illustrated songs.

The feature picture "Soldiers of Fortune" presented Dunstan Farnum in the leading role. This picture, a five reel drama, was extra good and coupled with a number of other high class reels, completed a splendid bill.

The orchestra, which has been reinforced by a number of new instruments, lent color to the evenings entertainment. The bill for the first half of this week promises to be as high class as that of Saturday night.

F COMPANY HOLDS SOCIAL

A Very Pleasant Event of the Dufferin Soldiers on Saturday.

On Saturday night at the armories F Co's held its annual social. There were present Col. Howard, Majors Gent and Capt. MacLean.

Five tables were made up, and a whist tournament resulted in the three following prize winners, Pte. T. G. Lee, 1st prize; Pte. Huggins, 2nd prize; Pte. L. Moran 3rd prize. Booby, Pte. Yerkes.

tasks, spoke of the need for recruits and every man's duty to fetch them. The next to speak was the "pay" Captain Watt. His genial and irresistible flow of spirits is a factor at the regimental socials, which could ill be dispensed with. Everybody expects a laugh and they seldom have reason to feel disappointed. "More men" and he maintained they could be got. Every man present bring a chum and soon the 38th would be on strength.

F company's men are this week on the warpath for "rookies" and a few catches should result. It was proposed to hold company social evenings perhaps monthly.

With the City Police

Five drunks and a breach of the Trunancy Act composed the whole docket at the police court this morning. Three dollars was the only fine inflicted upon any of the drunks, whilst Marquis Ditchfield, whose case had stood for a week, has complied with the law by sending his children to school. In his case a doctor's certificate was discounted, as the child-estate holds that certificates are not satisfactory as personal testimony. Ditchfield was allowed to go.

"Pape's Diapepsin" digests food when stomach can't—Cures indigestion.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

THE PROBS

TORONTO, April 6.—A disturbance which was not indicated last night is this morning centered near Sable Island, whence it is likely to pass quickly across Newfoundland. Another disturbance now over the south-western states will probably pass eastward across the middle states. The weather continues quite cool from Ontario eastward, but is somewhat milder in the west.

Forecasts. Fresh winds, unsettled with occasional rain or sleet to-night and on Tuesday, a little higher temperature.

Educational Anniversary at Wellington Street Church. The preacher for the day was Rev. E. A. Pearson, of Wesley Church, Hamilton. His discourses were fine, and were greatly enjoyed by 200-sized congregations. The choir music was well up to the high standard.

Miss Ruby Gann and Mr. Chas. Darwin assisted in the solo work. At Sunday school Mr. Ranton gave an interesting talk on a missionary topic, Miss W. Carling and Mr. T. W. Darwen added a pleasing piano duet "The Palms" (Faure).

Interesting Debate.

The High School Club will debate with the Dufferin Patrol of Scouts at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow night, when the subject will be: "Resolved, that the time has come for all nations to sign a peace treaty."

LAST EDITION

SUNDAY IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES

Inspiring Services Throughout City—Helpful Sermons.

PARK CHURCH

Choosing his theme on Social Service from these verses of Ezekiel, 2nd chapter: "And he said unto me, Son of Man stand upon thy feet. And the Spirit entered into me. And he said, son of man I send thee to the children of Israel." In these words said Rev. Grigg, we have the source from which missionary effort and social service springs. Ezekiel inspired, "the spirit entered into me." Regenerated, "stand upon thy feet," and commissioned "I send thee to the children of Israel."

Problems face around the church to-day graver than those that beset the day of the prophet, and the whole social fabric is in need of a regeneration and the gospel of a living Christ. The need for the masses and the classes also is a sympathetic gospel, not a creed, a disseminating of ideas to enable the masses and masters to bridge the chasm between them. Some people think there are two gospels, that is wrong. There is only one and time has only begun to ripen its message into fruition; the brotherhood of men.

COLBORNE STREET

Colborne street church celebrated their 26th anniversary yesterday with large congregations, eloquent sermons and excellent music.

Rev. Mr. McClintock for his morning preaching took for his subject, "The Appeal of Christ." He also addressed the brotherhood on the Social Service Congress at Ottawa, which he recently attended. Rev. Dr. Linscott assisted at the morning service.

In the evening Rev. Llewellyn Brown preached an able sermon on the Miracles of Christ.

The music of the day consisted of selections appropriate to Palm Sunday from Maulder's cantata, "From Olive to Calvary." Mrs. Lennox also sang with splendid effect "The Palms." The male quartette also delighted the evening congregation with a selection.

The anniversary social gathering takes place this evening from Revs. C. W. Rose and A. E. Lavell will give addresses. There will also be musical and literary numbers and refreshments.

AT ST. JOHN'S

Sunday the services in St. John's Church were conducted by the Rector and were well attended. The text for the morning was Math. 26:45, "Rise let us go hence." In the evening Mat. 27:24 "Pilate took water and washed his hands before the multitude." The lessons drawn from the subject for an evening were of a preparatory nature, leading up to sad Good Friday and on to the glorious Easter. Pilate, washing his hands before the multitude, was a vain act, for all the waters of the universe could not cleanse him from a guilty conscience. The speaker went on to say, Christ's downfall commenced at the cleansing of the Temple, the Priests found their gain was practically gone as they determined to persecute Christ. It being Palm Sunday, appropriate music was rendered.

MEN'S LEAGUE AT PARK CHURCH

Speaking yesterday at the men's league the Rev. W. Greig of Toronto dealt with the problems of social life. It was by far the most able and interesting address given by any speaker to the club so far. Too little in these days is made of the man, he said. Changes have swept over all phases of life and the church is only finding now that she, too, has a part to play beyond the spiritual on the Sabbath. It used to be that men were left to be fulfilling their part when they footed the bills for church upkeep and attended regularly. To-day is one of unrest, evolution is forcing ideas up throughout the whole fabric of society, and Christian ideals are being put forward as practicable.

AT BELL VIEW

There was a good attendance again last night at the Bell View school religious service, conducted by Rev. Dr. Linscott. While most of those present were members or adherents of other churches, there were some there who had not attended church for years. There were also a large number of big boys and girls, many of whom had been in the habit of playing or walking around the streets and the roads on Sunday evenings. The singing was very hearty, and Dr. Linscott preached an earnest gospel sermon, taking his text from 2 Corinthians, 3:18. It was announced at the close of the meeting that there would be service again in the school house next Sunday evening.

MARLBORO' ST. CHURCH

The pulpit of Marlborough Street Church was filled last evening by Mr. George Wedlake of Wesley Church, much to the delight of the congregation. The speaker, in a very forcible and logical manner, preached an excellent sermon from John to, verse 9, "I am the door," etc. Christ, as a great teacher, took earthly things in order to attract the attention of his

PARIS FOOTBALL CLUB CONCERT

Was Held Saturday Evening—Enthusiastic Over Prospects for Season.

A very successful inauguration meeting and concert was held by the newly-formed Paris Football Club on Saturday night at the home of the new organization in the Sons of England Hall. A great rally of members and supporters was present, and among the notabilities who attended the meeting were Mr. Fisher, M.P. for North Brant, and Mr. Westbrook, M.P.P., both of whom spoke and wished the club every success for this, its first season. Mr. Fisher came especially from Ottawa to attend the meeting, and he gave a word of encouragement and cheer to all concerned. He thought football was a fine and manly sport, and he would do all in his power to further its interests in Paris. Mr. Westbrook was likewise a firm supporter of English soccer, and he voiced his confidence in the club to make its name in the Brantford and Paris League.

Mr. Uniacke, the secretary of the league, welcomed the newcomers into the ranks of his association, and wished them every success, mentioning the splendid trophies which were to be competed for. These were the Courcier, Expositor and J. Hill Cups, and he thought the honor of their possession was enviable. He announced that there were 22 members of the club, and the enthusiasm was such as to warrant results.

Dr. Gould also spoke on the future before the club. A splendid concert was provided by local talent, and a good time was spent, cigars being handed round, the evening closing with a hearty singing of the National Anthem.

Two splendid services were conducted yesterday at Grace Church by Professor Boyle of Trinity College. At the evening service the choir under the leadership of Dr. Thomas sang Mendelssohn's Motet "Hear My Prayer," the solo being taken by Mrs. A. W. Burtch. Both services were largely attended. Professor Boyle preaching two very strong sermons.

Letter Carriers at Galt.

On Saturday night the Galt Letter Carriers entertained the Letter Carriers of Brantford, Guelph and Berlin. Nearly every member of the three places mentioned were present and the evening was a jovial one. The first part of the evening was spent in initiating new members after which business was transacted. It was decided to hold a big Postman's Field Day in Berlin on the afternoon of Dominion Day. It was decided to extend an invitation to the Letter Carriers of Stratford to participate in the field day. After the meeting the "posties" retired to a restaurant and partook of a dainty repast. The cigars were passed around and the remainder of the evening was spent in music and song.

Mrs. Squirrel, an Indian woman, with her husband and little child, walked 96 miles to New Liskeard to undergo an operation.

DENEAU IS CONFIDENT HE HAS THE PITCHERS

Brantford Manager in the City To-day --Red Sox Will Have Best Four Pitchers Any Club Ever Carried in the Canadian League.

"I will have the best four pitchers which were ever on any club in the Canadian League," declared Rube Deneau, manager of the Brantford Red Sox to the Courier to-day. Deneau arrived in town last night for a conference with President Nelson, and he brought with him some additional contracts. Besides having corralled a fine array of good hurlers, the Rube has also gathered what looks like a good bunch of ball players. Certainly they are new to Brantford, and according to Deneau, who knows all the men he has secured, they are tried and trusted, and have had that experience so necessary to make the team a success. In fact, to mention the pitchers, for instance, the class of new ones secured by Deneau makes it uncertain whether Henry Gero, who was considered a star last year, will be able to make a place on the Brantford team this year. Local fans can understand the import of this, as Gero was considered the best Red Sox hurler last year.

Some 30 players in round numbers will report here for training April 20. Included in these are the following:

Pitchers—Gero, Gehring, Connell, Worfel, Chase, Carroll.
First Base—Deneau, Ivers.
Second Base—Wagner, Neauclair, Lattime.
Short Stop—Honeck, Taylor.
Third Base—Rickart, Nelson, Halenbeck, Belts.
Outfielders—Sandusky, Carr, Nicholas, Sleming, Deneau.
Catchers—Lamond, Rice, Meriden, Conn; Taylor, Mt. Clemens.
 Johnson of Toronto and Ferris of Detroit, along with a pitcher named Brodie and Molyneux of Niagara Falls, will also report. Manager Deneau will also get one, if not two good pitchers from the St. Louis Nationals.

Confidence in Pitchers
 In expressing his confidence in the pitchers Manager Deneau did so for several reasons. Three of the pitchers he tried to secure for London when the Kockneys were fighting for the flag last year. They were so good and London was so close to the top that Deneau believes to this day had been successful in getting them to report, he would have landed the pennant. Now that he has had all winter to work on his men, he has induced them to sign Brantford contracts. Incidentally, the Red Sox President has never yet paid salaries equal to those

Red Sox Manager Here

George Deneau, Manager Brantford team, 1914, who will make a big shake-up in the Red Sox this year, which promises to be all to the merry.

he is paying the pitchers this year. One of the best men in the bunch is Worfel, whom Syracuse tried to get last year, and for whom Utica put up a fight before the National Commission this year. Utica lost out. Worfel is a semi-pro, pitcher for whom the allurements of organized ball have not appealed until this year. Carroll is a left-hand pitcher of Springfield. Gehring hails from Utica while Connell and Chase are from Chicago. Chase is a southpaw and stands 6 feet two. All of the pitchers signed have had experience in class C leagues.

Deneau For First.
 In all likelihood Deneau will play first base himself. The Rube thinks that Gabby Ivers is a good ball player in the making, but is chary about him being able to cover first base. With his own experience and steadiness Deneau feels that his presence at the initial corner would have a good effect on the rest of the infield and he could watch his pitchers better. Ivers with his hitting ability, it is believed, would make good in right field. Gabby is a faster man on his feet than given credit for and he is considered fast enough.

Second Base.
 For second base, Deneau has Wagner, Lattime and Neauclair to fight it out, while for shortstop he is counting upon this lad Honeck to make the fans forget all about Lou Courtney. Incidentally he is counting upon Taylor to play utility, although he is marked down as a catcher. Taylor can play any position in the field and can go in and pitch. He is of the Chubby Coose kind, although not as good a hitter as Coose. At third base Deneau has four candidates. Johnny Nelson will not report until June 1, and Rickart, Halenbeck and Bello will fight it out. Bello played with Berlin last year.

The Outfield.
 The outfield has been picked with a view to hitting ability. Sandusky, Carr, Nichols, Sleming and either Deneau or Ivers should make a good combination.

Lamond's Job.
 Matty Lamond is the only player who has already cinched his job. Rice of Mendon will be let go. Taylor, whom Deneau has secured, will be used as second catcher. The club will only carry four pitchers, and this with a salary limit of $1600 is figured about the right number.

Manager Deneau, when asked as to his opinion of the strength of other clubs would not make any predictions. "I do not know what they've got and some of them don't know themselves. I do know that we have the pitchers and it is a hobby with me to get the best for this important position. If we get off to a bad start, we can fill the other positions satisfactorily. I can get infielders and outfielders but there are times during the season when good pitchers cannot be secured for love or money. If you've got them at the start you've got a big jump on all the other teams!"

Exhibition Games.
 Exhibition games will be arranged for Saturdays prior to the opening of the season. This morning Deneau went over to the ball park and made some recommendations for improving the diamond. He returns to Windsor to-night.
 From the gist of the Rube's talk it doesn't look as if Brantford fans will have to be ashamed of their team this year. Deneau believes he will be able to give them all a battle when the times comes. His arrival Sunday greatly cheered up the baseball officials, who met him and discussed the situation.

LONDON PLAYERS START TRAINING

Will Get Early Work-Out in Marietta, Ohio—Fine Climate.

MARIETTA, Ohio, April 6.—The city of Marietta is looking forward to the arrival of twenty members of the squad of the London baseball team, which will report here for their spring training season to-morrow, with great expectations. The Marietta fans, and there are a lot of them, are making great preparations for the arrival of the Canadians and a hearty welcome is assured the visitors when they climb down out of their coaches this week.

The London team will be put up in the best hotel of the city and has been granted the use of the Marietta College gymnasium, one of the finest equipped buildings of this kind in this section during their stay here. The visitors will also use the college athletic field, which has been put in fine shape for the coming practice and a number of exhibition games have been scheduled with the fast college nine, which are expected to draw fans from all over this section of Ohio.

Manager F. C. (Doc) Reising, who has been here for the last few days, completing the final arrangements for the training season, said that it was not going to be all play for the squad during the next few weeks however. "I have about the best material for a winning team this year that the London aggregation ever boasted," said Doc, "but I am going to put them through a course of training here that will put them all in the pink of condition for the opening game. There is going to be nothing but steady hard work for the boys while here, and I think that when the season starts we will have an organization that will be almost invincible."

"Everything seems to point to a most successful visit here," Doc added, "the climate, the field, the gym, the spirit of the people here, all are ideal for a perfect training season and this combined with the bunch of men that we have signed up for the year, I promise you that there will be doings in the Canadian League this summer."

"THERE IS NO WAY FOR FEDS TO LOSE"—TINKER
 NEW ORLEANS, La., April 6.—Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago (Federal League) team said Saturday that the Federal League could not lose by any decision the United States court at Grand Rapids may bring in the Killifer case.

"If our contracts hold good" said Tinker, "Pitchers Blanding and Kahler of the Cleveland club and several other players must return to our organization."
 "Should the decision be adverse baseball contracts will be illegal thus enabling us to offer inducements to major league stars. We can't lose no matter what the decision of the court."

SATURDAY'S GLASGOW SOCCER CROWD WAS A WORLD'S RECORD

If the official figures confirm the cables statement that 130,000 spectators paid to see Saturday's International football match in Glasgow a record has been established for paid attendance at any form of sporting event, unless possibly racing in Paris. Up to Saturday the record attendance at a football match was at the International of two years ago on the same grounds when 127,307 spectators were present. The gate receipts, including stands and enclosures, amounted to £6997. On the same grounds in April, 1908, 121,452 spectators were present at a football match in England is 120,028, at the cup final on April 19 last year. This match between Aston Villa and Sunderland, was played at the Crystal Palace, London, and produced £9,406 in gate money, which sum is the record for football in the United Kingdom.

Holmedale Tigers Practice
 The Tigers turned out at full strength on Saturday, which was very good. The weather was terrible, snow falling all the time. The new centre Holmedale has got, turned out for first time, and made a good showing. All players are requested to be on Holme street on Tuesday night at 7.30 for special training.

S. O. E. Club.
 S. O. E. football club will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening in the Roberts and VanLane Shoe Store. Members and players are requested to attend.

Indoor Shooting

Very much interest and enthusiasm has been displayed during the winter months by the members of the 38th regiment at their indoor ranges, a splendid attendance having kept up, more than double the number of men shooting than in any previous winter. Prizes have been given every fourth week with the result that some excellent scores have been made and on Saturday evening last the best scores of the season were put on. Firing five rounds at 25 yards the following were the lucky prize winners, the last four places being reserved for first year men.

Sergt. G. Bisset, A company and Sergt. C. Bisset of A company tied for first with a score of 25; Capt. M. A. Colquhoun, A company; Pte. G. Stanley, A company; Pte. L. Colquhoun, signal section tied for second with score of 24; Sergt-Maj. Oxtaby, Staff Sergt. H. Martin, D company, tied for third with 24; Pte. Foote, F Company 23; Pte. Shaw E Company 23; Pte. 130,000 Pay for Admission—Scotland Beat England by 3 Goals to 1—Cup Finalists Whitewashed, 5 to 0

By IRWELLITE JUNIOR
The Thistle beat the Rose by three goals to one Saturday at Hampden Park, Glasgow, and according to cables received it was a magnificent sight. Over a hundred and thirty thousand paid for admission to the game and thousands were turned away.

The English team set off at a cracker pace and netted Scotland in the goal area. Brownlee, McNair, and Dods, the Scottish defence, kept steady, and after five minutes the forwards got going, forcing a corner. Thomson registered the first goal amidst great excitement. England again put on pressure, and ten minutes later Fleming caught a pass from the left and put the scores even. This fast pace continued until the interval, but when the teams changed over the score still remained a tie, Scotland 1, England 1.

Early in the second half McMenemy scored after a nice bit of combination play. Ten minutes later the same player hit the net with a high shot and scored the fourth goal of the game and the third for Scotland. The wretches of the Thistle continued strong and came out easy winners. England were the best team during the first half of the game, but Scotland had all the play in the second half.

The superior English forwards failed in their combination, and the forceful tactics of the Scots' half-backs were very punishing and took the sting completely out of England's attack. The Scotch inside forwards played a masterly combination.

The Englishmen showed great speed and dash, but failed to blend and could not get away. The halves played well, but the backs were not up to the standard of Scotland's defence. England had lots of hard luck in the first half, but Scotland won a creditable victory in the keenest international game ever seen in Glasgow. The English team seemed to go under entirely after Scotland's third goal and only had occasional rallies towards the close of the game.

The line-up:

Scotland—Brownlee (Third Lanark), McNair and Dods (Celtic), Gordon (Rangers), Thomson, Sunderland, Hay (Newcastle), Donaldson (Bolton Wanderers), McMenemy (Celtic), Reid, (Rangers), Croal (Falkirk), Donachie (Oldham).
England—Hardy (Aston), Crompton (Blackburn), Pennington (West Bromwich), Sturgess (Sheffield United).

ted), McCall (Preston), McNeal (West Bromwich), Walden (Tottenham), Fleming (Swindon), Hampton (Aston), Smith (Bolton), Moss crop (Burnley).
The goal scorers were: McMenemy 2, and Fleming and Thompson.

Derby Surprise Manchester

Derby County gave Manchester United a bad beating at Derby Saturday, much to the surprise of the Lancashire men who predicted an easy win for their favorites. The Hyde Road aggregation however relieved the situation and gave the Oldham team a beating at Manchester this evening things up a little.

Sheffield United gave the cup finalists a five to nothing whitewashing at Sheffield. It looks as if Burnley are holding themselves in readiness for the final at the Palace with Liverpool. It must be a lucky day for Sheffield to-day as while the United were piling up a score at home the Wednesday were defeating Sunderland at Sunderland. The poor "Villans" got it bad again, beaten at Birmingham by their old rivals, Newcastle United. They must now say good-bye to their chances of getting the league championship for the season.

Tailenders Make Tall Score.

Glossop, the tailenders of the Second Division, put it all over the clock at Lincoln Saturday and the score sheet read 5 to 1 in favor of the visitors when the whistle blew for time. Only two of the home teams in the Second Division managed to win and these were Notts Forest and Fulham. The former downed "Peacocks" from Leeds, and the latter just got one goal ahead of the Wolves from Wolverhampton. Notts County maintained their hold on the leadership by getting a narrow decision over Burnley.

Only Seven Games in Scottish.

Only seven league games were played in Scotland on account of the great interest taken in the international game at Glasgow. Hearts and Raith Rovers divided the honor of high scores for the day, both eleven

"Our Mutual Girl" Meets An International Hero

COMMANDER EVANS—OUR MUTUAL GIRL

Margaret, "Our Mutual Girl", never enjoyed a day quite so much nor saw so many interesting sights in the metropolis. Before she left the house the footman brought to her a present from an admirer, a handsome pedigreed Boston Bull terrier.

Then "Our Mutual Girl" and her aunt started out in the big limousine for a trip around the city. They saw Grant's Tomb and admired the big white marble mausoleum. Going along Riverside Drive they saw the famous Soldiers' and Sailors' monument. Driving downtown the party passed the Tombs, the New York City prison, and the Bridge of Sighs, as the covered bridge leading from the upper story to the Criminal Court building is called. Way down town, where Wall Street joins Broadway, they saw the famous old Trinity Church, dwarfed by the skyscrapers which surround the most notable landmark remaining of New York as it was fifty years ago. They got a good impression of the church as it looked on week days with the busy business crowd passing, and as it looks on Sundays with the worshippers coming out.

From there "Our Mutual Girl" visited the Emperor, the largest passenger steamship in the world, and bade a friend "good-bye". After a short trip home "Our Mutual Girl" again started out, this time to the Grand Central palace, where the Sportsmen's Show was being held. On the roof she saw the champion women trap shooters of the world, among them Mrs. Vogel and Mrs. Thorpe shooting clay pigeons.

Going home "Our Mutual Girl" met a very real celebrity, Commander Evans of the British Navy, the hero of the ill-fated Captain Scott, South polar expedition. Commander Evans presented "Our Mutual Girl" with his autographed photograph. After he left Margaret called for her new pet, the dog, and taking him with her, dropped off to sleep, a tired but happy girl.

Western Ontario Cricket Association Schedule

Annual Meeting Held at Galt Saturday Elects Lieutenant-Colonel White, of Guelph, President.

GALT, April 6.—The annual meeting of the Western Ontario Cricket Association was held here Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. and it was one of the best meetings the association has ever held.

The report of Secretary-Treasurer J. Simpson, of Galt, showed a credit balance. Six teams will comprise the league this year, Guelph, Twin City, Brantford, Paris Stratford and Galt.

One of the most important additions to the rules adopted is that the league this year will use eight balls instead of six to the over. The batsman and bowler having the best average during the year in the league will receive a prize bat, but to be in this competition the players must take part in 60 per cent. of the games. The following officers were then elected for the year:

Honorary presidents, R. C. McCulloch, Galt; Dr. Creelman, of Guelph; J. E. Seagram, of Waterloo; J. H. Fisher, M. P., of Paris; A. O. Forbes, of Hespeler; H. B. Morphy, M. P. of Listowel and M. C. Boddy of Brantford.

President—Lieutenant-Colonel White of Guelph.

Vice-Presidents, J. Cook of Berlin; D. Hewitt, sr., Guelph and J. F. Westbrook M. L. A., of Paris.

Secretary-treasurer, Jack Simpson, of Galt.

Executive, L. W. Drake of Paris; T. W. Seagram of Waterloo; J. Boyd of Galt, T. Wigglesworth, of Stratford; E. H. L. Hockin of Guelph and J. F. VanLane, Brantford.

June 6—Guelph at Galt.
June 13—Galt at Twin City.
June 20—Stratford at Guelph.

WATERLOO, April 6.—The Twin City Cricket club held its annual meeting Friday night at the Hotel Lewis, with a fair attendance of the members. The officers elected were: Honorary president, J. E. Seagram; J. Hespeler, John Cook, President—E. F. Seagram. First vice-president, G. H. Bowley. Second vice-president, M. M. Brickner. Captain, T. W. Seagram. Secretary-treasurer, W. G. F. Dougherty. Executive committee, E. F. Seagram, T. W. Seagram, W. Chivers. Delegates to W. O. C. League, F. Snyder and T. W. Seagram. The season will likely open about the end of May and previous to that time practice games will be played between teams representing the two towns.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe That Anybody Can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or ured was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wye's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant. Agent T. George Bowles.

Purple and Cerise in Model Poiret Gowns

By MADGE MARVEL

DEEP violet, which approaches the royal purple in tone, is used in combination with cerise in one of the latest Poiret models to reach this side. The material's charm is the skirt of violet is made without a slash, and is so long that there is a slight train. The tunic, also of the violet, is long in the back and reaches just above the knees in front, but there is no abrupt slope and no distention at the edges.

It topped an evening gown that was as dainty and simple as a water lily, which some way it seemed to suggest. The skirt of pale green charmeuse was in the shade we once knew as Nile green. It was draped and short, and gave the idea of being but a lengthened overskirt worn over a petticoat of lace which was quite transparent. The bodice was of shaded chiffon velvet in a deeper green. It was plain, tight-fitting and sleeveless.

There was a tiny fold of tulle to soften the effect in front of the corsage. The tunic of tulle was pleated and full, quite like a ballet skirt. About the waist were pearl ornaments, forming a deep ceinture. From each ornament, hanging loose over the tulle tunic, was a strand of green beads ending in a tassel of pearls. White gloves reached just above the elbow, and were very much wrinkled at the wrist, and the slippers were heelless and of white kid.

Another Poiret model for the spring is built on the lines of the straight blouse, which Mme. Poiret wore so beautifully in New York recently, but which would be trying to the average mature American figure, though for the young and slender girl it is charming. It illustrates a manner in which striped and plain fabrics are to be used.

The skirt, long and plain, is of dark blue serge. At the side there is a peculiar line, which gives a panel effect, with the edges piped with red, and on a line with the knees, at the side seams, there are three red bone buttons. The blouse, of blue and red-striped serge, is perfectly plain and straight, and reaches red duvetyne applied like a cuff. The sleeves are of the plain serge to match the skirt. There is a vest of cream muslin with a remarkable collar, which reaches up on the back of the neck, and so high and turns away in deep points just at the ears.

On each of the points are tiny tassels which make a cascade effect at the lower edge and allow the lining of cerise to show. The sleeves are of the cerise, and down each side of the tunic on the hips is a

KEEPING LENT :: :: By Michelson

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Photo Service, Great Britain, United States.

A GREAT many foolish things have been said about Lent, but no one has denied that for some persons it follows a strenuous winter and precedes a strenuous spring. No one has denied that it is a good time in which to reflect upon one's failings and to make good resolutions.

There are a great many ways of keeping it, and the luckiest people are those who have a choice—unless it may be those who know just how to THINK they are keeping it.

It is a wonderful art, this keeping Lent—denying one's self comfortably, getting the most out of resignation, softening the asperities of deprivation, snuggling down into the lap of hardship with a sweet willingness.

EVERY ONE cannot keep Lent the same way. Of course not. It all DEPENDS, doesn't it?

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as Judges.

"The 'Girl in the Case,' about whom Miss Dalrymple has written candidly and conscientiously, even though her analyses may have seemed harsh at times, has apparently come to a realization that, as a series of duties which should not be shirked. This may be said to mark the first step in her development in the most-ers married arrangement.

The thousand and one questions which arise in the everyday household—namely as a matter of course—come up now for the decision of Mary and Peter. As the series of Miss Dalrymple develops, these will be dealt with as frankly as the initial steps in the working out of such a "sample case" as this has been studied and chronicled.

Woman's Sense of Values XXXIX. OUT of much toll and tribulation Mary and I have at last settled down into a certain system of keeping it. It is a thing. Thanks to Mary's visionary home-training, which taught her French and Strauss waltzes instead of bread-making and similar essentials, it's been a difficult job.

As things stand now, I still suffer considerably from my wife's wilful, spoiled girlhood. I get my own breakfast regularly, and contribute considerable gray matter to household problems, but Mary has at last learned to keep her house in order, and that is a great relief.

For months after our wedding I remember our library was stacked high with wedding presents because Mary couldn't find a place to put them or time to find the place. Now she has evolved a sort of system, and we're getting along a lot better. When a woman honestly makes up her mind to do a thing, I notice, she usually finds a way. The trouble is she has so much difficulty making up her mind.

I find, however, now that Mary does keep her house in order, she talks a great deal in the bromidic fashion of women about the terrible monotony of housework and the terrific amount of work she is daily obliged to do.

"I work and work," Peter," she exclaimed wearily, "and I'm never through."

Then she quoted that old couplet behind which women have hidden from time immemorial: Man works from sun to sun, But woman's work is never done.

Most women, I fear, are extremists. I do not think the woman who is slovenly at all is excessively slovenly, and the woman who is orderly details her family mad by a passion for detail. Mary was not, I am sure, slovenly by nature. She merely didn't know the things about a house that she should have known.

Now, for a while, Mary had a way of gliding away from the dining room table at night and leaving it just as it was—dishes and all—until morning. Her reason for this was that she could do housework when I wasn't around, but that it was a waste of time when we were together.

"Oh, no, Peter," she said carelessly, "I can do them in the morning. I shrugged, but I could not help recalling that the first eye to encounter this dreary outlay of china and food from the night before was invariably my own. We adjourned to the library, and Mary took up her sewing.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Your Adam's Apple Is a Nest for "Liquid Nerves"

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins), Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirschberg.

HAVE you ever noticed a toad swallow? This is no riddle such as: "Have you ever seen a horse fly?" You are not expected to "chatter" or to be "foat."

When a frog swallows you see a big lump come into his throat. There sits your frog on a toadstool, perhaps. He looks blandly and almost imploringly toward heaven as he gulps down, not tears, but air.

If you were a cruel vivisectionist, you would prop open the frog's jaw with a cork. The dentist does this to you with some annoyance, but no danger. When you thus torment a frog the creature dies.

The beseeching brilliancy of the hop-toad's eyes, with his head held skyward as he swallows, is due to the life-giving air which he drinks in.

A frog breathes by swallowing. If his mouth is kept open, he dries of suffocation. No air can enter his lungs and windpipe. This has very little to do with a goitre. It draws your attention to the big, bulging lump seen outside the frog's white throat. This bulb, bubble or swelling of the frog's under-throat is where you look for a goitre in men and women.

Goitres are called Derbyshire necks in that part of England. In Switzerland, the Alps and certain other European and American neighborhoods, goitres reach the size of large pear-shaped pumpkins. Indeed, they often resemble these Frenchhorn-shaped pumpkins.

Many people, particularly of the tender sex, have little goitres without knowing it. Moreover, the preoccupied physician often overlooks these flat, saucer-shaped, convex swellings in the neck.

Glands Most Important. You know where your Adam's apple lies. It is the little, semi-rigid windpipe or band around your throat. The Adam's apple is made of stiff but slightly elastic cartilage. Sometimes it is a bit bony in texture. Perhaps its firm structure explains Hood's verse:

When Eve upon the first of men The apple pressed with spectral cast, Oh, what a thousand pites she cast! That Adam was not adamant.

Just below your Adam's apple is a delicate, grass-like efflorescence. This structure is called the "thyroid gland," and it plays a most vital part in your life.

From this nether convexity of your Adam's apple issues forth into your inner ravines of lymph, blood and chyle certain thyroid-made juices.

The juices made with particularity from each little specialized group of living units in man and other animals are called "internal fluids," or "hormones."

The thyroid gland, or tongue-of-flesh, about your windpipe, has no canals. It manufactures its special juice, or "hormone," and literally squeezes it into the cob-web of veins, arteries and tissue spaces which ramify in its core.

Therefore, the goitre-making thyroid (textile is numbered with other "hormone" makers, such as the spleen, the bone-marrow, the near kidney glands—"adrenals," the "pituitary" or non-like body beneath the brain, and others as "ductless" glands.

Regulates Your Emotions. All thyroids, luckily, do not become goitres. Any disordered thyroid, let it be remembered, is apt to be a type of goitre. Even infants have goitres, although in many Phrynes, Dianas and Pandoras the goitre begins with bud-womanhood, around 15 or so.

The hormone or fluid which your thyroid pours into your venous rivulet of life is actually a liquid "nerve." Just as there are fluid crystals, there are, as

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care of this office.

Answers to Health Questions C. B. Philadelphia—Is eczema a skin disease or a blood disease? Are internal or external remedies necessary?

"Eczema" is another ancient name which covers a legion of skin ailments. While it is true there are really local troubles, just as cancer and leprosy are local when they begin, after a time the virus of "eczema" spreads around and requires additional general treatment.

MR. ROY N. Petrolia, Ont.—Is the person who "hears voices" has the irritation in the auditory nerve or in the brain, as your article excellently stated, what can be done? I will gladly pay for your advice.

I accept no pay, but am always most happy to advise the ill in every way I can. The condition you describe can only be remedied by a rare operation upon the brain. This I cannot, at this experimental stage, sanction.

MISTER SQUIREL pricked up his ears and listened. The children were upstairs in bed talking out loud. "I wish our father could tell stories like Brer Rabbit," he heard Sammy Squirel say.

"Yes," began Sallie Squirel. "When father goes to tell us a story it's awfully dry. We all go to sleep, but when Brer Rabbit tells us a story we grow wider awake all the time."

"Yes," answered Sammy Squirel, "when he told us about those Indian—" At the word "Indian" Mister Squirel sat up with a jump.

"You children go to sleep and stop talking about Indians!" he shouted. "We can't go to sleep unless you tell us a story," answered Sammy Squirel.

Mister Squirel ran up stairs as fast as he could and, seating himself on the stairs where all the children could hear, he asked "What do you want me to tell you about?"

"Tell us about Indians," said Sallie Squirel. "No, don't," said Sammy. "You don't know anything about Indians." Mister Squirel jumped.

"Tell us a funny story, then," said Sallie, "and don't begin it 'once upon a time.' We hate that."

Then Mister Squirel began: "Day before tomorrow there lived a little boy at the foot of the top of a mountain and—"

"How could a little boy live at the foot of the top of a mountain?" laughed Sammy. "Keep still!" said Mister Squirel. He continued: "He had two eyes, two ears and two feet. He—"

"The mountain top had one foot and the boy two," interrupted Sammy. "Keep still or I will stop," said his father. "The boy's name was Bobalino," continued Mister Squirel.

"How do you spell it?" asked Sallie. "Never mind how I spell it—just listen to the story. It is very funny. As I was saying, Bobalino started down the mountain one day to get some ears of corn and—"

"I thought he had two ears already," laughed Sammy. "You don't know how to tell a story anyway," added Sallie Squirel. Mister Squirel went down stairs without answering and when he got started in his chair the children began to laugh.

"What are you laughing at?" asked Mister Squirel. "At Bobalino!" shouted all the children at once.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I've a friend who says that no lady would go anywhere with mended gloves on. She says she'd stay at home all her life before she'd do it. What do you think?

MIDDLEST POVERTY. I THINK your friend is the queen of the Amalgamated Order of Gooses Girls. Let her stay in the order—that's where she belongs.

Put on your mended gloves and your neat little hat and your best shoes and go anywhere you want to go, and forget that such people as your friend, the goose girl, are alive at all. That's the best way.

Dear Annie Laurie: I go to business college, and there's a girl who sits just to go, and she borrows every last thing I've got. She does not want to offend her, but it is getting to be a perfect nuisance. What shall I do about it?

COURTEOUS. THERE are so many ways to do dear child, and it all depends upon you and upon the other girl as to which is the best. What sort of girl is she? A bright, clever, irresponsible sort of creature with brains enough to see a point—when you make one? If she is, just laugh the next time she tries to borrow anything, and say good-humoredly, "Not today, little sister, I need that myself, and besides, I think its about time you get some of your own things for your own self."

If you don't want to do that, start in borrowing yourself. Begin before she gets a chance. Borrow every thing she has—and forget to return it. If she hasn't anything to lend she'll soon wake up and get something. It is all very well to be good-humored, but it is all very ill to be imposed upon.

Dear Annie Laurie: Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her-care-this office

Can't Be Prevented: Bless—You would not let a man hug you unless you were engaged to him. Would you? Marie—How can you expect me to be engaged to every man I jammed in next to me in the subway?

Tarzan of The Apes

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1914, by the Frank A. Munsey Company.

CHAPTER XIV. The Call of the Primitive.

“What happened?” questioned Clayton. “The Miss Porter? What happened?”

“The Miss Porter?” Clayton asked Esmeralda, sitting up with wronced cheeks for one of her best looks. “O Lawd, now Ah members! It done must have looked her away.” The negro commenced to sob and wail her lamentations.

“What took her away?” cried Professor Porter.

“A great big g'nt all covered with hair.”

“A gorilla, Esmeralda?” questioned Mr. Philander, and the three men scarcely breathed as he voiced the horrible thought.

Clayton immediately began to look about for tracks, but he could find nothing save a confusion of trampled grasses in the close vicinity, and his woodcraft was too meager for the transmission of what he did see.

All the balance of the day they sought through the jungle, but as night drew on they were forced to give up in despair and hopelessness, for they did not even know in what direction the thing had borne Jane Porter.

It was long after dark ere they reached the cabin, and a grief stricken party it was that sat silently within the little structure.

Professor Porter finally broke the silence, his tones were no longer those of the erudite pedant theorizing upon the abstract and the unknown, but those of the man of action, determined, but tinged by a note of indescribable hopelessness and grief which wrung an answering pang from Clayton's heart.

“I shall lie down now,” said the old man, “and try to sleep. Early tomorrow, so soon as it is light, I shall take what food I can carry and continue the search until I have found Jane. I will not return without her.”

Clayton rose and laid his hand gently upon Professor Porter's bent old shoulder.

“I shall go with you, of course,” he said. “Do not tell me that I need even have said so.”

“I knew that you would offer—that you would wish to go, Mr. Clayton, but you must not. Jane is beyond human assistance now. I simply go that I may face my Maker with her and know, too, that what was once my dear girl does not lie all alone and friendless in the jungle.”

“I shall go with you,” said Clayton simply.

The old man looked up, regarding the strong, handsome face of William Cecil Clayton intently. Perhaps he read there the love that lay in the heart beneath—the love for his daughter.

“As you wish,” he said.

“You may count on me also,” said Mr. Philander.

“No, my dear old friend,” said Professor Porter. “We may not all go. It would be cruelly wicked to leave poor Esmeralda here alone. Come—let us try to sleep a little.”

From the time Tarzan left the tribe of great antropoloids in which he had been raised it was torn by continual strife and discord. Terkoz proved a cruel and capricious king, so that, one by one, many of the older and weaker apes, upon whom he was particularly prone to vent his brutish nature, took their families and sought the quiet and safety of the far interior.

But at last those who remained were driven to desperation by the continued treachery of Terkoz, and it so happened that one of them recalled the parting admonition of Tarzan: “If you have a chief who is cruel, do not as the other apes do and attempt, any one of you, to pit yourself against him alone. But, instead, let

LOCAL PAPER AS HOME CHAMPION

Great Aid in Fighting Mail Order Business — The Power of the Press.

In former days superstitious rites were used to exercise evil spirits, but in our times the same effect is attained and beyond comparison more effectively by the newspapers. Before the talisman ghosts, vampires, witches and all their kindred tribes are driven from the land, never to return. Nothing is so intolerable to them as the smell of printing ink.

New Element of Power. What gunpowder did for war the printing press can do for the local merchants who are competing with the retail mail order houses, but the first step toward enlisting the aid and friendship of the editor is to understand that he is ready to boost his home town all the time and that every dollar expended with him for advertising will return a dollar's worth of benefit or more. He asks no favors of any one; he has a dollar's worth to sell, and he can deliver the goods every time.

The invention of printing added a new element of power to the race. From that hour the brain and not the arm, the thinker and not the soldier, books and not kings, were to rule the world; the weapons forged in the mind, keen edged and brighter than the sunbeam, were to supplant the sword and the battles.

Power of the Press. The press is not only free; it is powerful. That power is ours. It is the greatest that man can enjoy. It was not granted by monarchs; it was not gained for us by aristocrats, but it sprang from the people, and with no immortal instinct it has always worked for the people.

Not infrequently are the editors themselves to blame for the general impression that the chief value of a local paper is an evidence that the town is fully alive and fully up to date.

White Space His Stock In Trade. The publisher's stock in trade is the white space in his paper which he has to sell, the value of which the merchant can determine by his efforts to make good use of it, not by a little four or six inch ad, once a month, but by a good, large, well prepared ad, running week after week.

The local merchants and townspeople who are fighting the retail mail order houses can find no more valuable aid than the local editor.

The local merchant can do business on a smaller margin of profit than the mail order house, as his expenses are less. He does not need to carry such a large stock, as he knows his people and their desires, and he knows and can prove that he can sell better goods for the money than the other fellow.

How to Get Results. No doubt the principle reason why a few merchants say that advertising in local papers does not pay is because they themselves make small use of the space they buy. This is the day of bargains, and consequently the space in the paper attracts attention. Give a little time and thought to the preparation of your ads. The merchant who will do this will get results and will no longer have to complain of the local press being no good as a drawing medium.

How many of them employ modern, up to date methods in the conduct of their business? Do they advertise intelligently and consistently, telling the public what they have for sale and at what price? When there is a slight business depression in their town do they increase their advertising or do they hurry to the local newspaper and cut out their ad?

He Wouldn't Advertise. By constant and liberal use of the advertising columns of the local press the merchants encourage the editors to greater effort in providing more and better local reading matter, and in this way the advertising worth of the paper materially increased, as the arrival of a paper worth while is always awaited in the homes of your consumers.

And when you come to the end of life's journey do not be in a position to have the following inscribed upon your tombstone:

And when he dies go plant him deep That naught may break his dreamless sleep. Where no rude clamor may dispel The quiet that he loved so well. And when the world may know his loss Place on his grave a wreath of moss And on the stone above, “Here lies A chump who wouldn't advertise.”

CHINESE BOY A MURDERER

Tragedy in Vancouver in Which Wife of a Well-known Traveller is Victim.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 4.—Hounds tracing human bloodstains from the dining-room to the furnace in the home of Mrs. Charles J. Millard, 1650 Pendrill street, Vancouver, yesterday picked up ashes in their teeth—ashes which the police believe are the remains of the woman who was the wife of Charles J. Millard, chief ticket agent of the C.P.R. here.

The murder has created a tremendous sensation, for the Millards were well known socially. There is no direct clue to the murderer, but suspicion rests upon a Chinaman employed by the Millards who is now in custody. The Celestial absolutely refuses to make a statement.

It is recognized as the most brutal and most heinous crime ever perpetrated in this city and there was great public wrath when the facts leaked out.

Burglars rifled the Millard house about two weeks ago and took about $200 worth of jewelry. The Chinaman now under arrest is alleged to have stated that burglars must have committed the murder, but there is a theory in police circles that the Celestial was concerned in the theft and, being discovered, killed his mistress. The bloodstains in the dining-room seem to indicate that the woman was either clubbed or stabbed.

When the police were called in after Mr. Millard had been unable to solve the mystery of his wife's disappearance during his brief absence in Victoria they discovered blood stains on the dining room floor. Hounds were immediately requisitioned. With detectives on all fours tracing the stains, dogs followed up the trail. One of them whined, then SCOUT NOTES. The Trinity Troops, Boy Scouts, have received a challenge from the Paris troop to defend Brantford against an invasion on their part. The Scoutmaster, Mr. A. T. Crumplin at 23 Edward St. will be glad if other Scoutmasters in the neighborhood would take up this matter with him. There is on this summer's program a Spring Rally to be held in the neighborhood, and the Grand Rally at Toronto in September. Scouts preparing for the coming season and in doubt as to where their kit can be procured, should write to Miller Manufacturing Co. Toronto, for catalogue.

This was not all. Searching further the detectives opened the furnace door, and a sickening sight met their eyes. Bones and human flesh, smoked and partly burnt, were found. Discoveries left no doubt that Mrs. Millard had been murdered and her body concealed in the furnace, where by fire had been made to destroy it by fire. A police official said that after the dogs had sniffed the dining room carpet, examination of the carpet was made, and it was found to be saturated with soap and water. The carpet was taken up and blood stains were found underneath. It was apparent that an attempt had been made to wash it.

Minister of Finance Brings Down Tar Which A Canadian Industry

No Upheaval Drastic Change Optimistic Sp of Hon. W. W.

OTTAWA, April 7.—Assuming that the iron and steel industry is a cut in one class of agricultural implements, and slight increases in building stone, cast iron and brass were important factors in the tariff changes announced yesterday.

There will be no “free” bounties on iron, and after 1 next, the bringing in of cigarettes, osprey plumes and other articles will be prohibited.

The changes made in the tariff are of the most important, as they affect the steel industry, one of the chief Canadian industries. The aid to the steel industry variety of forms. There is, in fact, authority given for an increase in duties on heavy structural steel.
