it may be applied. Not only the carcases of animals, but their evacuations are rendered of little value by long expoure to the air.

Every moment of exposure robs them of some part of their fertility, as well as contaminates the atmosphere. It is equally as preposterous for a farmer to have his manare exposed to the scorching rays of the sun, rain. &c., as it is for him to have his hay exposed in like manner, beyond the period necessary for stacking or housing. When cattle have been yarded over night, it would be well to throw their evacuations into hongs or bods, and cover them, at least, with a quantity of earth to prevent fermentation, or absorb its products. This would cost but little labor, and would be next and healthy as well as economical. Our farmers in every direction cry out, had times! not money in circulation! poor crops! &c., at the same time, the nuscous perfures that arise from their abodes, at the approach of summer, for the want of a little labor in preventing the gases to escape in the air, or the fossil and liquid from descending to enrish the antipodes, indicates the want of economy in our farmers.

'Agricola' says, and so does every experienced farmer, "Earth is a powerful obsorber of all gases which tries from patriculation. The steach proceeding from the dissolution of organized matter, never rises through the ground to assail the nostrils, although it is autremely offeneire from bedies corrupting the air and water. A strongly menured field, offers being ploughed, sown, and harrowed, sends forth a healthy and refreshing annell, a strong proof that all patrid vapors, which otherwise would anney us, are absorbed and retained, for the autrition of crops. It is on the account, that the powers carth can be enriched, in a very high degree, by mere expanse to the gases of putrefection. Put a layer of common earth along the top of a fermenting dangshill, from tenleve to eighteen inches thick, and allow it to remain there while the process is going on whith activity, and afterwards separate it su

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

The Fairment [Va.] True Virginian says:—We are informed by Colonel Haymound and others, that a pertion of a regularly McAdamized read has been discoursed on the opposite side of the river from this place. We have not seen it ourselves, but learn, that it extends pretty much along the bank of the river. It withit is about 16 feet, and the track well-graded. The bed of stone accents to be about two incluse thick, and made precisely sider the plan of our McAdamized reads, the stone heing axed for our reads. The discovery was unade by the washing away of a hill nide which partially covered the road. When and by what race of people this road was made, is unknown at the present day, but it gives avidence of the saintence of a population; here at some former age of the world, as far advanced in civilination, or at least in the set of read-making, as ourselves. There was found in the lest of the consistence of michanes. He aread it upon alle, applied it twice a-weak.

read the stump of a chesnut tree, which was ascertained to be 150 years old at the least, and how much older, our informant could not tell, as the stump was hollow.

Here is food for thought. Who were the people that made this road—when did they make it—and what has become of them?

CHARLOTTETOWN, PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, TUESDAY, JULY 6, 1852.

An interesting discovery has recently been made in the neigh-bearhood of Civita Vecchia, where a meanic pavement has been brought to light, representing Orpheus surrounded by lious, tigers, and happoptami. From the style and colour of the work, the subject being developed merely in black and white, it is evidently of great antiquity.

BUSINESS NECESSITY.

The experience of all, demonstrates that a regular systematic business is essential to the health, happiness, contentment and use-fainess of man. Without it, he is unessy, unsettled, miserable and wretched. His desires have no fixed aim, his ambition no high and noble ends. He is the sport of visionary dreams and idle fancies—a looker-on where all are busy, a drone in the hive of industry; a moper in the field of industry and labour. If such were the fot of the feeble and helipless only, it were less to be deplored; but it is often the doom and carse of those who have the power to do, without the will to act, and who need that quality which makes so many others, but the want of which unpakes them—he quality of vigour and resolution. Business is the grand regulator of life.

SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES—Even in cities, smid the more busy husuns of men, on a Saturday evening we toust 'Sweet-hearts and Wives,' but nowhere is the custom so rigidly observed, nor is the piedge given with so much carneseness and endearing associations, as when we are 'far at sea.' This arcse out of the country courtings on the Saturday even. It was an ancient practice to cease from all servile labour at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and to attend evening prayers preparatory to the Sabath. This vigil afforded a convenient opportunity for courting, which castom continued after the religious observance ceased.—Acustical Standard.

THE MIRACLE OF LIFE.

NO. 1165.

Boundless variety and perpetual change are exhibited in the living beings around us. Take the claus of insects alone: of these, net fewer than 100,000 distinct species are already known and described; and every day is adding to the catalogue. Wherever you penetrate, that life can be sustained, you find living beings to exist; in the depths of the ocean, in the arid desert, or at the key polar regions. The air teems with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth all round, is swarning with life. The soil which clothes the earth of with life, and is a supportant of the summand, is itself preyed upon by parasites peculiar to itself. So minute are living animalcules, that Etrenberg has computed, that not fewer than five hundred millions can subsist in a single drop of water, and each of these monads is endowed with its appropriate organs, possesses spontaneous power of motion, and enjoys an independent vitality.

In the very ocean deeps, insects, by the labor of agea, are embled to construct islands, and lay the foundations of future continents. The coral insect is the great architect of the southern ocean. First a reef is formed; seeds are wated to it, vegetation springs up; a verdant island exists; then man takes possession, and a colony is formed.

Dig down into the earth, and, from a hundred yards deep, throw up a portion of soil—cover it so that no communication can take place between that earth and the surrounding air. Soon you will observe vegetation springing up—perhaps new plants, altogether salike any thing heretofore grown in that neighborhood. During how many thing heretofore grown in that neighborhood. During h

COLONIAL REPASENTATION IN PARLAMENT.—The question of Colonial Representation, again, was one of very great importance and difficulty. (Hear, hear). If it could be achieved, more particularly since the great alteration in 1833, and the counsequent exclusion of our indirect colonial representation, it was one worthy of the consideration of the Government (hear) and it by any means such an amount of representation could be given to our colonies as should fairly representation could be given to our colonies as should fairly representation could be given to our colonies as should fairly representation could be given to our colonies as should fairly representation could be gained; it would be a great additional tie between the colonies and the mother country, and not an inferior advantage in the mind, perhaps some degree of control might be exercised over amateur colonial legislators (a laugh) who were not always the most discreet, if they were the most zealous advocates of the colonies to which they attached themselves. (Heer, hear.) But it was a question of extreme difficulty as to the number to be admitted, and the mode in which they should be returned by the different colonies, and the means by which, if returned, they would represent collectively or separately the interests of the colonies. He would, however, assure his noble friend that if in any alteratious that might hereafter be made,or any addition to the constituencies, means could be found of introducing the intelligence, education, and science of the country or the colonial interests into the representation, it would have his most serious consideration. The difficulty was to accomplish it; but, if it should be accomplished, it was a subject well worthy to be considered by heir lordships, for he thought it was deairable, if possible, to do something to neutralize that which appeared to be at present prevailing, a tendency to throw all power, not into the hands of the most intelligent and enlighteend, but of the most numerous, and he feared in many cases a COLONIAL REPRESENTATION IN PARLPAMENT.—The ques-interested with him in the patent. One or more of them design accompanying him to Europe. They set sail, probably, in June next, and perhaps, a mouth or six weeks subsequent to their sailing the patent or model will be exhibited in the United States. I can only say, if the invention proves to be what is claimed for it, the world up to this age has never seen its equal. We shall await patiently the wonderful development, and in doe time award the distinguished author full credit.

Advices from Para report, that the exiles on board one of the French transport ships revolted when near Cayenne, and took possession of the vessel. She was quacked by two other ships, and after a fight of six hours, she was recaptured.

A SHROULAR AND PARASING INCIDENT occurred a short time since been eashed before he had called about it. If the gold fields were limited in extent, and would only suffice for a certain number of fortunate diagers, or it they were in their nature exhaustible, I should say that the insfortunes of this place would be limited only to time—that it would be, in fact, only a question of time; but the fields are unlimited in extent and inexhaustible in their treasures. What hope is there that we shall have labour, good, wholesome, reasonable-priced labour, here? It is madness to suppose it. The prices of all things, necessaries as well as luxuries, will never go down again, and here we shall be living in the most expen-ive place in the world, in the midst of all the reckless vagabonds from all parts of the world. The merchant, the trader, wholesale and retail, will do very well, because he makes his profits commensurate with the state of things around him; but it is the man with a settled defined income who will suffer. However, time will make manifest all things, and in 12 months' time we shall see the result, or the probable result, of all this wonderful change. It will be the ruin of Adelaide. 1,200 people arrived here on Saturday and Subday from that place; eight ship-loads were on their way, and 12 more loading at the port. Sydney people are coming in shoals, and if a suppose Americans will be sending Yankees, revolvers, bowie-knives, and Lynch law. However, I do not hear that these latter gentlemen will meet with much sympathy here, for I believe, upon the whole, the diggers are well conducted."

SIR;

Among the many pressing subjects which have engaged the attention of Her Majesty's Ministers since their assumption of office, tew have been more important, in their estimation, than the questions relating to the protection solicited for the Fisheries on the coasts of British North America.

Her Majesty's Government have taken into serious consideration the representations upon this subject contained in your Despatches, noted in the margin, and have not tailed to observe, that whilst active measures have been taken by certain Colonies for the purpose of emouraging the Fisheries, and of repelling the intrusion of Foreign Vessels, it has been a subject of complaint in New Branswick, that importiments should have been offered by the policy of the Imperial Government, to the enactment of Boutsies, considered by the Local Legislature essential for the protection of its trade—Her Majesty's Ministers are desirous to remova all ground of complaint on the part of the Colonies, in consequence offithe corroachment of the fishing ressels of the United States upon these waters, from which they are exclusively the terms of the Convention of 1818, and they therefore intend to despatch, as soon as possible, a small anval force of Steamers, or other small vessels, to enforce the observance of the Constitute.

These vessels will of cutters be confided to the performance of the of Stramers, or other small vessels, to enforce the observance of that Convention.

These vessels will, of course, be confided to the performance of the duties with which they are specially charged, and the Commanders will be espicial to exercise a careful discretion in the very delicate office of interfering with vessels belonging to foreign and friendly powers.

With regard to the question of promoting the Fisheries of the British Colonies by the means of Bounties, Her Majesty's Government, although desirous not to sanction any unnecessary deviation from that policy which regulates the Commerce of this country, are still disinclined to prevent those Colonies, by the interposition of Imperial authority, and especially pending the negociations with the United States of America for the settlement of the principles on which the Commerce with the British North Amgrican Colonies is hereafter to be carried on, from adopting the policy which they may deem most conducive to their own welfare and prosperity. Entertaining these views, it is the intention of Her Majesty's Government, to advise the Queen to give Her assent to an Act passed by the Legislature of Prince Edward Island in the Session of 1851, for the promotion of its deep-see Fisheries, and they will be prepared to give favorable consideration to any Acts for a similar purpose which may be passed by the Legislatures of the North American Provinces.

Somether New and Importary, 19 True.—We extract the following from a letter from Baltimore to the Washington Telegraph.—

A young man named Force has been residing partly in Washington for some months past. He is originally from Bt. Louis, but more recently from Texas; I learn, upon what may be deemed good authority, that he is about to become distinguished as a mechanical genius. He is said to have invented and patented a new mairee power which bids fair to supersed both steam and waster. It is stated, that a model of the machine is already in axistence, and that it has been mituated with an injunction to secree for a certain time. Be cautions has be been to avoid infringement, that he had one part of the machinery necessary for the completion of his engine made in New Orleans, another part in Baltimore, nother in Philadelphia, and another in N.York. The separate parts the constructed, were in due time, collected in Baltimore, and put together by the inventor himself in a room, into which no person has been permitted to enter.

It is asserted that the machine worked to the full satisfaction and beyond the expectations of those most deeply interested in it. I have hed an introduction to, and some enteraction with, the inventor. The only idea I coald glean in wagard to his invention was, that it brought the atmosphere into use 8 as powerful motive again, amounting almost to independent cell-scains. It is asserted—and the trath of the assertion, of course, will be established or falsifed when the invention is made public—that this momentum can be sincressed as to propel the largest ocean steamers, or brought down and sained to the delicate movement of a watch. Nothing will be found to bear the slightest comparison to it in point of attity and another propositions made in the capacity of the contractors have agreed to construct a Lranch line to increase of the contractors and propel fine and the trath of the assertion, of course, will be established or falsifed when the invention is made public—that this momentum

HASZARD'S GAZETTE. TUESDAY, JULY 6, 1852.

Mr. Geo. R. Young will perceive, that, in compliance with his wish, we this day republish his letter to the Editor of the Gazette. When we saw a Nova Scotia Barrister rise on the first day of the Term, and announce that he van specially retained in a case which the Crown Officers had declined being concerned in, we naturally concluded, that he had been purposely sent for. In coming to that gone the learned gentleman himself, and erred, as it seems, in confinent with many around us. We had no wish whatever to mislead, and we are happy to correct our error. With regard to the Indictments, the manner of putting them before the Grand Jury, and its proceedings thereon, we will treat more at large at an early day. It is the first time, that a Bill of Indictment for Libel has been preferred without the intervention of the Crown Officers, and it shall not be our fault, if it is not the last, and this not from any political motives, but because we abhor, the system. The liberty of the press is estained to the liberty of the people, and, though both the one and the other may at times degenerate into licentioneness, we must take care, that, in "estraining the last, we do not injure or curtail the first.

SIR;

In Mr. Haszard's paper of vesterday, which I have just seen, in the notice given of the decision of the Grand Jury, relative to the two Indicates ments prepared by me against Mr. Duncan Maclean and Mr. John Ings, for the Libels published by them against the Hon. May I beg the favor of your inserting this Note in the Gangtie of to-merrow. Upon what authority Mr. Haszard has ventured to make this statement I know not; but the fact is, that I had no retainer from Mr. Coles, or his counsel, before I came here—that Mr. Coles was wholly ignorant of my intention to visit the Island till I sarrived—that I had no previous notice of these prosecutions—and that the management of them was not finally decided upon till I had been consultationally the control of the company of the control of the company of the control of the control of the company of the control of the control of the company of the control of the company of the control of the control of the company of the control of the contr

The Queen vs. Patrick Mannigan, for stealing from the store of Mr. Robert Longworth, pleaded guilty.

Notwithstanding all that has been said in reference to Public Nuisances, the worst of all. in my opinion, exists still. I refer to Horned Cattle, Horse- Pigs. Geese, &c., which are, by Law prohibited from going at large. Why then should not Couss also be prohibited? They stalk into our yards, force their way into our porches, stables, &c., &c. to the great annoyance of families. Nor is this all; our children, not unfrequently, receive injuries from them. No later than this morning, I saw a Cow toss a child of about three years old, several feet from its own door step where it was sitting amusing itself.

Surely, Sir, this matter ought to be seriously looked into, and a stop put to Horned Cattle going at large. When will the time come?

Obituary.—It is our painful duty to record the death of W.R. A. LAMONT, Esq., A. C. tieneral, from an attack of Yellow Fever, in the West Indies. The decessed was well known and deservedly respected by all classes of this community. He resided here in charge of the Commissariat Department for five years, and during the whole of this time, nuch of his leisure was devoted to visiting the sick, and to works of charity and benevolence; indeed we may say, with truth, that no one could pass from our midst with a more unblemished reputation, and with a fairer character for Christian worth and integrity, than Mr. Lamont. By conviction, an attached member of the Episcopal Church, he loved and honored all who believed in the Lord Jesus, without respect of persons; and sught, in his daily intercourse with the poor, to bring them to Christ, and not to the narrow circle of any denomination. There are circumstances connected with his conversion to God, deserving of mention, and likely to be useful to others, but we are afraid to draw from the stores of an imperfect memory, a narrative which may have been recorded by his own hand, and may eventually be published.

MY EARLY GOME.

Back on the noisty track of time, In memory's flickering light, I see the scenes of other days, Like meteors in the night. The garden with its low built fence, With stakes and withes to tie it; That rade log-hut—my early home— And one wild maple by it.

Rare were the sports round that wild home.

When little hands were twined—
And echoing woods swept back the joy,
Like voices in the wind.
And there, gay birds on bending spray,
Their wild-wood songs have given;
The robin sang at dawn of day,
And white-noor-will at even.

But leaves are scattered not more mild. mn winds up-h By autumn wirds up-hurled—
Than all that group of faces bright,
Upon this wide, wide world!
But still on memory's page, in light
When time cannot destroy—
Stand out those genes—the house, a
A lost, but sucred joy! —the house, and tree—

THE PLEASURE OF KNOWLEDGE.

I appeal to the experience of any man who is in the habit of exercising his mad vigorously and well, whether there is not a satisfaction in it which tells him he has been acting to one of the great objects of his existence? The end of nature has been answered: his faculties have done that which they were created to do—not languidly occupied upon trifles—not enervated by sensual gratification, but exercised in that toil which his proposality to this pattern. vated by sensual gratification, but exercised in that toil which is a congenial to their nature, and so worthy of their strength. It life of knowledge is not often a life of injury and crime. When does such ambition oppress? With whose happiness does he interfere? Whom does his ambition destroy, and whom does his fraud deceive? In the pursuit of science he injures no man, and in the acquisition he does good to all. A man who dedicates his life to knowledge, becomes habituated to pleasure which carries with it no reproach; and there is no security that he will over love that pleasure which is paid for by the anguish of heart—his pleasures are all cheap, all dignified, and all innocent: and as far as any human being can expect permanence in this changing scene, he has secured a happiness which no malignity of fortune can ever take away, but which must cleave to him while he lives, ameliorating every good, and white no mangerty of fortune can ever take away, or trust cleave to him while he lives, ameliorating every good, and diminishing every evil of his existence.—Sydney Smith.

The Bar is fast losing its attractions to the young men of The Bar is fast losing its attractions to the young men of this city. There are now thirty young gentlemen, that have received liberal educations, who are serving their "time" as ship-wrights, architects, carpenters, &c. In a few years the United States will have the most accomplished mechanics in the world. A new class is springing up, who will put the present race of mechanics in the shade. The union of a substantial education with mechanical skill will effect this. Indeed, aircady we could name some mechanics, who are excellent mathematicians, acquainted with French and German, and able to study books in those languages connected with their vocations. Heretofore, fond fathers were wont to educate their sons as doctors or lawyers, to ensure their reswith their vocations. Heretofore, fond fathers were wont to educate their sons as doctors or lawyers, to ensure their respectibility and success. That day is past. Mechanics will now take the lead, and, in a few years, will supply the larger portion of the State and Federal Governments.—New York Mirror.

TRIFLES NOT TO BE Described—The nerve of a tooth, not so large as the finest cambric needle, will sometimes drive a strong man to distraction. A mosquito can make an elephant absolutely mad. The coral rock, which causes a navy to founder, is the work of worms. The warrior that withstood death in a thousand forms may be killed by an insect.

Nature requires five, Custom gives seven,
Laziness take nine,
And wickedness eleven.

You rarely, if ever, see a politician with smooth hair—a great scholar with fine hair—an artist with red hair—a fop with coarse hair—a minister with long hair—or an editor whose hair is earefully adjusted.

REVERIES OF AN OLD MAID.—In the course of a book lately published at New York, entitled the "Reveries of an Old Maid," we are told, that the weapons to subdue man are not to be found in the library, but in the kitchen! "The weakest part of an alligator: his stomach. Man is an alligator. Let the young wife fascinate her husband with the teapor! Let her, so to speak, only bring him into habits of intoxication with that sweet charmer, and make honey suckle clamber up his chairback, and grow ab at the legs of the table—let the hearth rug be a bod of heart's ease for the silken slippers, and the wickedness of the hateral enemy must die within him." What excellent wives some of these old mains who write books would make.

ECONOMY OF TIME -The Chanceller D'Aguesau, finding that his wife always kept him waiting a quarter of an hour after the dinner beil had rung, resolved to devote the time to writing a work on Jurisprudence. He put this project in execution, and in the course of time produced a quarto work of PAUSE BEFORE YOU FOLLOW EXAMPLE.—A mule laded with sait, and an ass laded with wool, went over a brook together. By chance the mule's pack became wetted, the salt melted, and his burden became lighter.—After they had passed the mule told his good fortune to the ass, who thinking to speed as well, wetted his pack at the next water; but his load became the heavier, and he broke down under it. Nicone Damus.—A Negro preacher, very recently, selected the visit of Nicodemus, as the foundation of his observations.

"My bred'ren," said he, "dere was in old times a great many preachers on de 'erth, who went about among de people. Many of dom white preachers, such as Peter, James, and John preachers on de 'erth, who went about among de people. Many of dom white preachers, such as *Peter. Jumes, and John Dere was also a great many coloured preschers, and de great eat among dom all was the Nigger Demus!"

BERT SUDAR IN UTAR.—Mesars. J. W. Coward, Collinson and Russell, who have recently emigrated from England to Utsh, have taken with them machinery for the manufacture of beet-tool Sugar on the largest scale. They are wealthy men, and have invested $ 250,000 in this enterprise alone.

CALIFORNIA FORTURES.—It is calculated that out of every hundred persons who have gone to California, fifty have been ruined, forty are no better than they would have been had they emained at home, five a little batter, four something better still and one has made a fortune.

A New Parry.—Water lime (hydraulic cement), mixed in an earner way with oil as Blake's Ohio paint, or any of the secral mineral paints lately brought into use, has lately been acovered to be equal to any other substance ever used for inting walls, roofs, floors, fences, or any other work, while point of economy, it is one to eight or ten. The discovery has accelentally made by Mr. John Herald, of Humpstead, ong Island.—The Plough.
