It was Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who first advocated the extended use of some of our native roots, such as: Golden seal and Oregon grape root, mandrake and queen's root, black chercybark. These are the chief ingredients in Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has been so well and favorably known for nearly half a century. in History. HOUSE Of ASSEMBLY

Yesterday's Sitting.

When the House opened yesterday several petitions were presented. Mr. Downey read one from the inhabititants of St. George's, the general tenor of which was a request for the bridging of the rivers in that locality and for the planking of rallway bridges so that they might be used by the industrious people of that important agricultural section. This departure would confer a great and beneficial favour upon the petitioners and Mr. Downey heartily supported their request.

of the petition, showed that bridges were an absolute necessity over the wide and deep waters, hoped that instead of defraying the cost out of the railway grant that some special provision he made as this was the grant. railway grant that some special provision be made as this was the greatest agricultural district in the country and no unnecessary delay should occur in providing such utilties where they were required. Though heartly in accord with the idea of building new bridges and repairing old, in the matter of opening up railway bridges for general traffic he thought the Government should go slow as there was leading to the farms in that settlernment should go slow as there was leading to the farms in that settle-reat risk to life and limb from such ment. Mr. Clift strongly supported the prayer of the petition and asked that In view of the sensational reports of the American press about the batt concessions which are alleged to have been offered the Booth Fisheries Company, by the Government of Sir Edward Morris, it appears to be high time for the Government to let the people know exactly the terms of the agreement, particularly in regard to bait. When the House closes next month, there will be no further opportunity of questioning the Government ment effectively on the matter. Moreover the only way to dissipate all doubt and suspicion, if there is nothing in the reports which appeared in the American papers is to table the agreement, so that the public can see for themselves what the Government propose doing.

The report which appeared in the Evening Herald on Monday night that Sir Robert Bond was in hospital in London, appears to be absolutely without foundation. Letters received from him by the Tobasco show that he is staying at a hotel, and the tenor of his letters negatives any suggestion that he contemplated going to a hospital.

his recommendations would receive proper consideration and believed that interference by other medical men would tend to create friction and re-tard the work. He thought as he did ast session that establishing so many Sanitoria in one place was a mis-take. They should be placed around the country in accordance with the population, and in that matter he would be willing to be guided by Dr. Rendell. If he thought one was necessary for each district, then he (Mr. Clift) would be satisfied. It appeared to him, however, that placing one in each district was not conducting the campaign in the proper way. They should be established without regard to districts or their political boundaries and in the most suitable places. They should be erected where they would serve the greater number and without reference to the several districts as such. Dr. Rendell should have carte blanche in this matter in stead of compelling him to place a Sanitorium in each district. Such an arrangement would mean five Sanitoria in Conception Bay and only one n some of the other bays. Regard hould also be had, he held, to the percentage of people who would suffer from the disease in the various centres throughout the Colony. In some centres it might be found that the malady did not exist to the extent that it did in others. These were all matters to be considered before defi-alte locations were determined upon. When the vote for Marine and risheries came up, Mr. Kent in speech of more than an hour's duration made a slashing, ef tive and convincing address overnmental methods, in which he

Hon. Minister of Agriculture and Mines (Mr. Blandford), presented s

Cove, for $40 for a road there, and also had a number of petitions like those presented by Mr. Clift, a few monstrated that the fisheries are yet the backbone of the country, supported five-sixths of its population and showed the importance of the Fisheries Department as a means of their conservation. He then reviewed the Report of the Marine and Fishries Department, in an exhaustive nanner, showed that the annual catch namer, showed that the annual catch ad decreased, but had realized more in cash. He pointed out that in the Labrador fishery there was a great falling off in men and vessels. In 1912 there were 5,468 men engaged as compared with 9,798 in 1911, a falling off in one year of 4,000 men. off in one year of 4,000 men. There were 827 schooners, 723 floaters and were 827 schooners, 723 floaters and 04 freighters as compared with 900 in 911. The falling off since 1907 was 192 vessels and over 7,000 men, a serious matter indeed. Main people, these men, when the roads were finished would be practical railroaders and would leave the ountry to give their services to other rporations. They would not go back ifficulty of getting men for the Bank fishery and then scored the Govrnmnt mercilessly on its failure to en-force the Bait Act last year, and on the taking off of the Fiona for a pic-nicing trip for Governor Williams (so that he might study the conditions of life of the Newfoundland fishermen and then insult them by saying how dirty they were.) He dwelt on the protest of the Board of Trade over his matter, showed how bait was this matter, showed how bait was brought to St. Pierre, while the Fiona was off, the evasion of the Bait Act by Canadians who place bait in Cold Storage to export to the French. He also spoke of the damage done by the cullers, culling, pickling and handling of our products and on the matter of lighthouses, demonstrated that the Liberal Government, under Sir Robert Bond, had built and equipped more lighthouses than any other. The present Government had claimed they built 77 lighthouses and fog alarms, since coming into power, but he showed that most of these had been erected by the preceding Bond Government, and that the present Government with intent to mislead the public, had placed harbor and wharflights in the list as lighthouses. He also showed that the grant for lighthouses was wasted by the employment of unnecessary officials and in other ways and gave the Government generally, a most uncomfortable sitting. Both the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Minister of Finance and Customs replied, the latter in a very impassioned manner. He denied in toto Mr. Kent's allegations, said they were enumerated for the Opposition rought to St. Pierre, while the Fiona

After recess, Mr. Cashin continued. In answer to a question by Mr. Kent as to bait depots, the Premier said the Government were attending to this. The Booth people would, if conditions were as they hoped on the West Coast, operate on a large scale. Ways and Means will occupy the House on Monday. Adjournment was taken at 10.30.

Tobias arrived at Beverton early in he morning, and had a good look ound before the sale commenced. In the pleasure-fair many of the showmen were still occupied in the rection of their booths; quack-me dicine vendors were unpacking their wares; the big tent of the wild-beast show resembled a partially-inflated balloon; and the ladies of the shoot ng-galleries, with hair in curling pins, were busily polishing their antiquated rifles in preparation for the expected crowds.

In the horse-fair grounds things were looking brisker.
