MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 14.

The Falling Leaf.
The surly winds of October howl through the forest, and the withered leaves descend in clouds to the earth. Soon will the stately monarchs of the forest stand again denuded while the storms of another winter sweep through their naked boughs. A few short months, nay, a few short weeks ago and the woods were decked with a bright and beautiful green; now all looks like withered desolation and decay. In the opening spring the leaves burst forth in verdant loveliness, summer but added health to their color, and the appearance of strength to their form, and who then would have imagined had not repeated observation convinced him, that all this bright foliage must soon be seared and shrivelled, and swept unrelentingly to the humid earth, there to rot and be lost sight of forever? To be lost sight of, but like every other particle of matter in nature, not to be lost. Their usefulness is not yet gone, for in their decomposition will be found nourishment for other leaves, which during a succeeding spring and summer will deck the forest with as bright a green.

How often has human life been likened to the bud, the expansion, and the fall of the leaf, and old though the simile be its truth remains unimpaired. Who can look on the innocence and thoughtlessness of childhood without interest, who can watch it in its gambols, and not consider it to be, in the fullest extent, what metaphysicians call a "glorious possibility"? Who can predict its expansion, who can foretell how soon that life may terminate, how long it may continue, or what it may accomplish? As the balmy breeze of summer delights to linger among the leaves, and play fantastic tricks with the chequered shadows that they cast upon the ground, so does the breath of hope linger in the bosom of youth, and lead to dreamy and bewildering speculations on what it is possible or probable the energies of a young life may achieve. Even less are we prone to anticipate the sorrowful picture of human dissolution when health and strength are in their zenith, then we are to look forward to the fall of the leaves at the time when they delight us by the beauty of their verdure. But in these gay ornaments of the wood we may find not only youth, maturity and age symbolized, but we might point to their relative positions as being somewhat analogous to the various ranks and gradations of men. The sunshine wraps in a golden mantle those that flout and flutter where they can be seen but not approached, and even the philosophic eye will wander from the more lowly position of their perhaps more useful fellows to admire the beauty of the unattainable, and to endow them with increased grandeur, the fictitious creation of his own imagination. Tell us not that natural talent, tell us not that usefulness, or even virtue itself, can and will find their proper position in this world. Nor will they until human nature has undergone a revolution, for vain conceit is still triumphant, and empty pagant is more highly prized than a real good. But the storm sweeps amain through the forest, and the storm king in his dread swoop stops not to make distinctions. Large and small, high and low among the foliage of the woods acknowledge the ruthless force of his blast, and all alike succumb. Those that the sunshine early kissed, those among which the wild bee hummed, and beautiful birds warbled, lie levelled, undistinguishable from others less favored; their fall was greater and the same unheeding foot treads indifferently upon them all.

And is such not the variable end of human existence. Death beats with an equal foot at the huts of paupers and the towers of kings, as the old Latin adage has it—and then comes a general leveling. The rich and poor, the gay and humble, the admired and despised fall like the leaf and lie side by side, and like the leaf their remains are undistinguished. But the leaf is not symbolical alone of man, for time itself shall fade into eternity, the heavens shall pass away as a scroll, the elements shall melt, and all nature, as we now see it, shall be dissolved.

A writer suggests that the county councils of Ontario be dispensed with, and their business managed by the legislature. He asks:—"Why should there be perpetuated the absurdity of so many various laws of counties and townships, all of which ought to be alike? To wit, the tax on auctioneers, pedlars, taverns, &c., laws respecting fences, cattle running at large, preservation of public morals, pound-keepers, &c., &c. Surely a concession line should not constitute such a difference of administration in the Province, now that we are confederated?"

The celebrated Canadian horse, Melton, has made such splendid time in the United States that now the owners have difficulty in getting a match for two miles and repeat against him. A few years ago Melton was offered for sale in Canada at $2000, but found no purchaser.

Local News.

HOME AGAIN.—Mr. E. Morris, Manager of the Guelph Branch of the Ontario Bank, arrived home on Saturday, after a pleasant sojourn in Britain.

The friends of the Temperance Cause organized a Temple in connection with the Independent Order of Good Templars, at Stewarttown, on Wednesday evening, the 2nd inst.

NEW POST OFFICE.—A new post Office has been opened in Garafra. It is called Hereford and is situated at the junction of lots 15 and 16 on the 9th concession. Mr. J. Mann, Merchant, is Postmaster.

Dr. Waldren, whose name was connected some time ago with an abortion case in Belleville, and who is well known as having resided some time in Guelph, was indicted for manslaughter in the court of Queen's Bench, but the grand jury after investigating the case, returned "no bill."

LACROSSE EQUIPMENTS.—Full equipments, such as balls, bats &c., for this game, which is about to become the national game of Canada may be found at Mr. John McNeill's Boot & Shoe Store. Attention is directed to the advertisement.

DINNER TO MR. DALGLISH.—A complimentary dinner was given on Thursday last, at Hanover, to Robert Dalglish, Esq. It was largely attended by his numerous friends and supporters who were desirous to do honour to one who nobly contested the Riding, and who will yet be its representative, if justice be done.

GUELPH MERCURY.—The weekly edition of the Mercury has now entered on its fifteenth volume. It is the best country weekly published in Canada, and is not one whit behind any of the metropolitan weeklies in general news, editorials, &c. We wish the proprietors continued success.—Brantford Expressor.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY.—From the accounts of this Company for the half-year ended July 31, the Board has decided upon recommending a dividend at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, free of income tax, reserving £1,000 for the redemption of ferry steamers, and carrying forward to the current half-year £1,681.

MR. KENNEDY.—The renowned Scottish vocalist, Mr. Kennedy, is announced to give three Concerts in Toronto, the first to come off this evening. Mr. Kennedy received a most enthusiastic reception in Guelph on the occasion of his first visit about a year ago. We hope he will not fall to visit us again in the course of his present tour, and give us another "two nights in Scotland."

LONDON SOCIETY.—Messrs Chetwett & Co. of Toronto, have sent us the October number of this highly popular magazine. The present number is fully equal to any of its predecessors in the rich collection of reading matter, and the illustrations are beautiful, or piquant, as necessity requires. For sale at the bookstores of Messrs Shewan and Day.

ELUDED CAPTURE.—The thief who stole the money from Mr. Copp, of this office, has thus far eluded capture. Besides that the young man, who met him on the railway track, on the night of the theft related, nothing has been heard of him since. The Chief Constable and Mr. Copp, however, learned a little of his history in Toronto, where he is "wanted" for having stolen some money and breaking out of the lock-up when he was imprisoned for the crime.

MR. R. W. SEAGER.—"The sweet singer" of Cleveland, Ohio, who had charge of the singing at the recent Sunday School Convention just closed at Toronto, is soon to visit Hamilton and other cities in Canada to awaken a more general interest in Sunday School music. [Would it not be advisable for some of our Sabbath School teachers to endeavor to attract him to Guelph? The awakening of a "more general interest" in this particular is as requisite here as elsewhere we imagine.]

FOX HUNT.—The regular weekly meet of the Wellington hounds took place on Saturday last. As on the previous occasion they threw off on the farm of Mr. Wm. Hood. There was a novelty in this run, that is, the ladies instead of remaining quietly in their carriages and witnessing as much as they could of the sport, resolved to see it all, and in full hunting costume, mounted their couriers and took the country. The run was the best of the season, and is spoken of in the most rapturous terms by all who took part in it. Mr. J. W. Hall claims he was the first in at the death, and Mr. F. Gauhan second, but etiquette entitled Mrs. Pooley to the brush, as she was the foremost among the ladies.

Police Court.
Before T. W. Saunders Esq., Police Magistrate.
MONDAY 14th.—Edward Smith was charged with having stolen a pair of boots from the front of Mr. McNeill's shop on Thursday last. The prisoner seems less a boy than a young man of dwarfed growth. He manifested the utmost indifference while he stood in the box, and even went so far as to whistle a tune in a low tone. Mr. McNeill swore to his property, a boy who with Smith swore to having seen him take the boots, and the prisoner was committed to jail for two months at hard labor.

ANOTHER BANQUET.—It is announced that a reform banquet will be given in Sarnia on the 15th inst., in honour of McKenzie and Pradex, and the anti-coalition victory in Lambton. The Reformers of Lambton have reason to rejoice. Every possible influence that could be brought to bear against the members who have been returned was exerted unspareingly, and not a few of the members

CLIFFORD UNION FALL SHOW.

From our Correspondent.

The second annual exhibition of the Clifford Union Agricultural Society, was held at Clifford, on Thursday, the 3rd inst. The farmers of Minto, Normanby, Carrick and Howick, accompanied by their wives and daughters turned out in full force. The show was the best yet held in that section. A great improvement was observable in the stock, and the grain, roots, and other articles shown were as good of their kind as could be seen in any other part of the Province.

At the close of the show, the judges and over 50 gentlemen sat down to an excellent dinner at Brown's Hotel, Mr. Milligan, the President, in the chair, and Mr. Bullock, vice chairman. Mr. Drew, the newly elected member for the Commons, was among the company, and spoke in response to the toast of his health. Other toasts common to such occasions were proposed, and speech and song followed each other in rapid succession. The company spent a most pleasant evening and broke up at a late hour. The following is the

OF TO-DAY.

The Fenian Alarm still continues.

SERIOUS ASPECT OF AFFAIRS IN ITALY.

Repulse of the Invaders.

ALLEGED COMPLICITY OF VICTOR EMMANUEL WITH GEN. GARIBALDI!

(MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.)

London, Oct. 11 (midnight).—Despatches have been received this evening from Paris which state that affairs in Italy are very grave. It is the general belief that the whole nation will follow Gen. Garibaldi in his patriotic effort to restore Rome to Italy. King Victor Emmanuel will soon pass the Roman frontier and proclaim Rome as a part of the Kingdom.

Paris, Oct. 11 (evening).—It is announced that the Emperor will return here from Biarritz on Tuesday.

The Fenian alarm still continues. The police to-day made a descent on an establishment which was used as headquarters of the Fenian brotherhood in this city, and arrested six persons accused of Fenianism.

A rising was feared at Limerick but the precautions taken by the Government prevented it.

London, Oct. 12 (noon).—The Times in a leading article, denies that Earl Derby has resigned his position as the head of the ministry, or that he contemplates doing so.

Berlin, Oct. 12 (noon).—The North German Gazette a semi-official organ in this city, and which is believed to reflect in some degree the views of Bismarck, says it is fully convinced of the sincerity of the French Emperor's desire for peace.

Liverpool, Oct. 12.—Cotton quiet and steady; uplands 84 Orleans 84 Breadstuffs active and firm; prices unchanged.

(To-day's Despatches.)

Liverpool, Oct. 12.—Cotton active, and prices advanced 1/4d.

London, Oct. 13th.—Much fault is found with the selecting by the foreign office of Mr. Edward Thornton, now minister to Brazil, to represent Great Britain at Washington. The opinion is expressed that none but a diplomatist of the highest rank should be sent to the U. S. to fill the post occupied by the late Sir Fredk. Bruce.

Dublin, Oct. 13.—The apprehensions of another Fenian landing, caused reports that suspicious vessels had been seen hovering off the coast of Kerry and other parts of Ireland, are subsiding. The war vessels of Ireland for some time past have named his son, Menotti, Generalissimo of the revolutionary forces engaged in the movement on Rome. The reports from the south are unfavorable to the "party of action." They state that the bands of invaders have been driven over the frontier by the Papal forces, and have been compelled to give up their arms to the national troops.

MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 14.

Extensive Counterfeiting of Seventy Bonds.

There seems to be in the United States, at the present time, an arduous struggle among a certain class of people to endeavor to reach the climax of villany. The revenue of the government is looked upon as legitimate plunder, and he is a laggard and a fool who does not get as much as his neighbour of the good things going. Such at least is apparently the case if we consider that whiskey frauds and tobacco frauds have cheated the public exchequer out of millions of dollars, which have gone to enrich private individuals, and that the last detected piece of rascality is the counterfeit of the $1000 seven-thirty bonds, and their extensive circulation. There was consternation in Wall street when it was discovered that these forgeries were in circulation and passing from hand to hand as readily as the genuine notes themselves. Microscopic inspection at the Sub-Treasury could detect but little difference between the true notes and the false, with the exception that the red seal in the latter was larger than that of the former. No definite idea can be formed of the amount of these spurious bonds now in circulation, but it is believed that the principal brokers in the street have dealt more or less in them. It is thought that they came from the West, and were put in the market about the 24th ult., and from that time until they were detected, a sufficient period had elapsed to allow a very large number of them to get afloat. Over $60,000 have been sent to the Treasury Department, but the government in this instance lose nothing as they give no credit for the counterfeits, so that probably the secondary object of the makers (to rob the Government) has failed, although they have succeeded in the main one, which was to rob somebody. New York detectives, aided by a detective from Washington are endeavoring to "work up the case," but their prospects of success are very far from being bright.

Dark Prospects in the South.

There are serious apprehensions that the shipment of the great bulk of the cotton crop will be retarded by the want of capital. The receipts at Charleston have reached a thousand bales a day, but money is wanted to export it. The Internal Revenue Law is onerous, and the bank rate of discount is no less than eighteen per cent, besides the banking capital of Charleston has been reduced from fourteen millions in gold before the war, to the insignificant sum of half a million currency at present. It is the universal belief, that along the seaboard general bankruptcy must ensue during the coming winter, unless creditors should prove much more lenient with their debtors than they usually are. Nearly every plantation is more or less mortgaged, and should foreclosures be insisted upon, the best lands in this State will change hands at a ruinous sacrifice. The lawyers are preparing to reap a rich harvest out of cases under the new Bankrupt Law, for there will probably be no portion of the Union that will contain as large a number of insolvents, in proportion to the population as South Carolina. This condition of affairs is due in a large measure to the mania which prevailed before the war, among the landholders, for buying slaves upon long credits, giving a bond for the purchase money, secured by a mortgage of the slave. The validity of such bonds, in view of the cessation of Slavery, has been an interesting question, occupying much of the attention of the State and Federal Courts during the last twelve months; nor will the contest be settled until the United States Supreme Court shall have pronounced final judgment in the matter.

CANADIAN RAILWAYS.—A meeting of the Grand Trunk Company is to take place in London for the purpose of considering and approving an agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada and the Western Railway of Canada. Herpath's Railway Journal briefly refers to the position of the two great Canadian railways, and expresses the opinion that the two companies cannot do better than come to some understanding which will tend to save working expenses and prevent constant and useless competition. Herpath says very truly:—"Railway competition in Canada is absurd. The country is not rich enough for it. The best railway property in that country is the Great Western of Canada, which, for a Canadian railway is particularly good, but even the Great Western Stocks are not a premium."

It is stated at Ottawa, that the Federal Government claims the right to appoint a magistrate of the country, and would be a beginning of encroachment on the Local Governments, and the fact is feared that there will be frequent conflicts of authority.

The fortress of Luxemburg, about a fortnight ago, was last spring, almost on the point of going to war, was finally taken by the Prussians on September 23rd, and the provisions of the garrison were exhausted. The militia which is now neutral territory.

The Recognition of the South.

WHO FIRST RECOGNIZED ITS STATUS AS A BELLIGERENT POWER?

The Pall Mall Gazette says:—"The question of our recognition of the Southern States as a belligerent should ever be raised in the American Congress, it is to be hoped, that the aged leader of the House of Representatives, Mr. Thaddeus Stevens, may be present to repeat the following bit of testimony recently taken down from his lips and printed with his consent: 'When the rebellion first commenced I was in favor of treating it as a rebellion, and the participants in it as traitors to the Government of the United States, liable to punishment for treason. It was so understood in Congress, and I supposed it was so understood by President Lincoln and his Cabinet. After the adjournment of the first session of Congress during Mr. Lincoln's term, shortly after my return to my home, I saw, to my surprise, a proclamation declaring a blockade of all the rebel ports. This was a great blunder and absurdity. If the rebel States were still in the Union, and only in treasonable revolt against the Government, we were blockading ourselves—blockading the ports of the United States. I attributed this at once to the incompetent statesmanship of Mr. Seward, and went to Washington to see and talk with President Lincoln on the subject. I laid my views before him, and told him that the blockade was a stultification of the former position of the Government in relation to the rebel States; that the ports instead of being blockaded, should have been closed, and a sufficient number of armed revenue vessels sent out on the seas to prevent smuggling. I pointed out to him the fact that by the act of blockade we recognized the rebel States as an independent belligerent, and should thenceforth be compelled to conduct the war, not as if we were suppressing a revolt in our own States, but in accordance with the law of nations. 'Well,' said Mr. Lincoln, when he had heard my remarks, 'that's a fact. I see the point now, but I don't know anything about the law of nations, and I thought it was all right.' As a lawyer, Mr. Lincoln, I remarked, 'I should have supposed you would have seen the difficulty at once.' 'Oh, well,' replied Mr. Lincoln, 'I'm a good enough lawyer in a Western law court, I suppose, but we don't practise the law of nations up there, and I left it to him. But it's done now and can't be helped, so we must get along as well as we can.' In this Mr. Lincoln was right. The blunder had been committed, and the rebel States were thenceforth an independent belligerent, not an independent nation, of course, but an independent belligerent, to be dealt with in accordance with the law of nations."

Clyde Woollen Mills, Lanark.

We take the following from the Journal of Commerce.—The above Mills have been only recently put in operation and are owned and run by Messrs. Caldwell & Watchorn. They are located in the Village of Lanark situated on the River Clyde, from which they derive their name. The size of the main building, which is three stories high, is 130 feet long by 40 feet wide. It is capable of holding three sets, but at present contains only two sets of machinery, all of the most improved American make, and in all respects suitable to the manufacture of the finest and best grades of Tweed and Cassimeres that are at present produced in this country. The buildings are heated throughout, the dyeing done, and the motive power supplied by steam, the boiler and engine for which were made at the machine-shop of Messrs. Goldie, McCulloch & Co., Galt. The Clyde Mills employ upwards of forty hands, consume about 120,000 lbs. of wool in the year, and at present are turning out, weekly, about 2,000 yards of superior heavy Tweeds.

CHAR. DICKENS AND THE PROOF READERS.—Chas. Dickens, while presiding, on Sept. 17, at a meeting of the Printers' Readers' Association, held in London, paid a graceful tribute to the value of the services of correctors of the press. In addition to the ordinary qualifications of a printer, there were required, Mr. Dickens said, natural intelligence, superadded cultivation, readiness of reference, quickness of resource, an excellent memory, and a clear understanding. He had never received the sheets of any of his writings without having been presented by the correctors of the press with something he had overlooked, with some inconsistency into which he had fallen, with some mistake he had made. There was always an unquestionable indication that he had been followed by a patient and a trained mind. The intellectual qualifications of such a class of men are not less important to the comfort of the reader for amusement or instruction than the writer himself, and the public acknowledgment of their services by so distinguished an author as Dickens is praise in which proof-readers may take an honest pride.

SERVANTISM.—A girl lately applied for a situation as 'maid of all work' in a family in a neighboring city. Everything was satisfactory on both sides except on the subject of "company," the applicant being told that she could see her boss once a week. That she said would be often enough, but added: "My father lives in the country, and when he comes we have a good deal to talk about, and when we get through I spect the taverns will be shut up." Being told that it was not proposed to furnish lodgings for her "feller," she declined to take the situation, saying that "if her feller couldn't stay, she wouldn't."

THE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.—The Medical Association met again on Thursday morning, the president, the Hon. Dr. Tupper, in the chair. Committees were appointed for the following objects: To frame a constitution, by-laws, &c.; on preliminary education; on medical education; on the formation of a uniform system of granting licenses; on medical statistics; on medical registration; on hygiene; and on medical ethics. The above committees are to submit their reports at the next meeting to be held at Montreal on the first Wednesday in September, 1867.

THE EXPEDITION IN SEARCH OF DR. LIVINGSTON.—Sir Roderick Murchison has heard from Mr. Young, who commands the Livingston Search Expedition. On the 20th of July the party had been conveyed to the Kongohi, mouth of the river Cambesi, in her Majesty's ship Peterel, Commander Gordon, and were about to cross the bar in their steel boat on the following day. They had been abundantly supplied with all necessaries by the naval authorities at the cape. The expedition had been strengthened by the addition of two Kroonen and an English stoker from the Peterel, Mr. Young who brought from the cape two negro youths who had been formerly liberated from slavery by Livingston, and who, it was believed, would be of good use as interpreters.

The czar of Russia has been completely unsettled in mind since Berezowski's attempt on his life, and stalks through his palace "pale and harassed." He is a Hamilton as a Wholesale Depot.

The Hamilton Times urges upon wholesale merchants the advisability of selecting that city as their place of business, instead of Montreal or Toronto. The Times lays claim to advantage in position in the following manner:—"We have here the headquarters of the finest and best conducted Railway in the world, not only in Canada, but that would be an insult to the Management of the Great Western Road; but equal, at least, to any in America. It can do what no other road in the world can do. It can convey over it, and in one train drawn by one engine, cars of widely different gauges. It connects Hamilton with Toronto, with the Suspension Bridge, with Detroit; it has various contributing side lines,—in fact it connects Hamilton with every railway in Canada and with every railway in the United States. It can without transhipment, convey goods and passengers from St. Louis to Boston or New York city. The Great Western, or its branches, meet the Grand Trunk at numerous points, and in a short time it will be in direct connection with a line of railway extending through Galt, Guelph, and all the towns and villages of the great counties of Wellington, Grey and Bruce, in the North West. It already runs trains to Guelph; and the line from Guelph, extending through Wellington, Grey and Bruce, has been commenced. It connects either by rail, Macadamized plank or gravel road, with almost every town, village and hamlet in the Western Peninsula, and has its central pivot in the city of Hamilton, with more than a mile of wharfrage on Burlington Bay. Does any other city in Canada possess facilities so varied, so immense, so important for carrying on great business enterprises as Hamilton? We know of none. It is the Queen City of the Lakes; and must ultimately become the most populous and wealthy city in the Province of Ontario. It will only be a work of time. The climate is salubrious; her people are enterprising, full of vigor, assiduous and possessing commercial and manufacturing genius in a high degree. Within a circle of thirty-four miles radius, drawn around the city of Hamilton, is the garden of Canada—the wealthiest, best cultivated, most productive and populous district of equal area to be found north of the American lines. Within that circle are situated numerous flourishing towns and incorporated villages. Among the former are Oakville, Dundas (the head of navigation on the Desjardine's Canal) Guelph, Galt, Paris, Brantford, Caledonia, Milton, Cayuga, St. Catharines, Niagara, and Thorold; and among the latter Brant, Wellington Square, Waterdown, Georgetown, Ancaster, Preston, Hespeler, Grimsby, and Beamsville. Where, then, can the Montreal merchant, who leaves that city to drive his Western business, find a more congenial and convenient spot in which to fix his residence than in Hamilton?"

NORAH CUSHALEEN

HAUNTED CASTLE.

'Arrah thin but that's mighty queer, he muttered. A young and purty colleen on the mountain at this time in mornin'.

And getting rather uneasy at this thought, Mike turned round and walked hastily down the path, casting occasionally furtive glances behind him.

As he went down the mountain, the light increased, and Mike's confidence and courage revived. By the time he reached his cabin on the moor he had quite forgot his encounter with the strange female figure in that solitary place among the hills.

The cabin was empty; but Mike seemed to expect this, for when a careless glance revealed to him that his sons were all out, he hung up his game bag in a corner, placed his gun beneath it, and throwing off his hat and coat, flung himself upon the rickety of rags which served for a bed, and was almost immediately fast asleep.

From his very deep slumber he was aroused by some one shaking him in a rough impatient manner, and, looking up he beheld Malv'n Blantire standing by his couch.

Mike rubbed his eyes and regarded him with a look of unmitigated wonder, for hitherto the Squire had passed him without recognition when they chanced to meet. It was therefore extraordinary to find him in his own cabin, and evidently there on urgent business.

'Get up, Mike,' said Malv'n. 'Get up, man; I have work for you.'

'Then bad luck to me for keepin' yer honour waitin', exclaimed Mike springing to the floor.

'You must go with me to the mountains,' Mike turned quickly round at this, and gazed rather apprehensively.

'Yer honour doesn't mean to be after going to Captain Jack's cave,' he said in an alarmed whisper.

'In that direction, certainly,' answered Malv'n; 'but I hope we shan't go too far. The fact is Miss Keudal has fled, and I strongly suspect she has gone with the mad idea of seeing that scoundrel Hargreave. Her absence was discovered only this morning, but she must have left the castle last night, and will no doubt be far among the mountains now. But she can know nothing of the paths, and her tender feet won't allow her to walk fast, so that she may easily be overtaken by one who knows every turn among the hills. You are the very man to accompany me in the pursuit, and I'll make it worth your while to go.'

While Malv'n was speaking, Mike's eyes twinkled—a sure sign to those who knew him that he was possessed of intelligence; and so he was, for no sooner had he learned that Mary Kendal had fled than he concluded that she it was whom he had met on the hill at dawn.

'Throth, and yer honour's righter than you think when you say that I'm the man to go,' he observed. 'It's not many hours since I met Miss Mary at the turn o' Kilmore, wid her purty face set for Skerryvoe.'

'What!—you met her?' exclaimed Malv'n.

'It's myself that did, just after the sun came out of its bed in the say.'

'And you did not seize her?—did not bring her back?'

'Is it seize her, yer honour said? Be-dad and I didn't, for two raisins at that. One was because I didn't know her, for there weren't much light, and she was disguised like a colleen, wid a white and grey shawl over her head to hide her swate face; and the other raisin was because I wasn't sure but it might be a ghout, for she hadn't wid her the ways of a common colleen.'

'Then we haven't a moment to lose,' cried Malv'n. 'This chance encounter was fortunate, because it gives certainty to my suspicion, and puts us on the right track. Come on, then. My horse is tied outside, and we'll get one for you from O'Brady.'

'Soft and aisy, Squire,' observed Mike composedly. 'You want the girl; I don't. You go for—love, in coorse; but what am I to go for?'

'For ten pounds,' replied Malv'n.

'Long life to yer honour's honour,' cried Mike, flinging on his coat. 'Sure it's yerself that's a gintleman born, and yer just the husband for Miss Mary. If the smooth-speaking English painter hadn't bewitched her she wouldn't have stood in the way of her own good luck.'

'She'll know her own mind better by and by,' said Malv'n. 'But the foolish girl must be prevented from continuing her mad journey. Come on. If you are ready, let us mount and away.'

Mike went to a recess, and stuffed his pockets with bread and meat, then declaring that he was quite ready to set out they quitted the cabin, and struck across the common, towards the farm-buildings of Jacob O'Brady.

ANOTHER FENIAN SENSATION.—It is reported that several car loads of arms have been discharged at Potadam or Malone, for the use of the Fenians, and that they have been conveyed into the country bordering on the St. Lawrence, and secreted, to be ready when required, by the brotherhood. The report seems hardly worthy of credence, considering the bankrupt state of the order; but it is believed by respectable people at Prescott and other points down the river.

Business Education!

THE importance of a thorough Business Education is revealing itself upon the attention of commercial circles more and more every day, and its advantages are perhaps more emphatically shown by nothing more than by the vantage ground on which it places the fully trained clerk above the imperfectly trained one, when looking for a situation.

THE BRITISH AMERICAN COMMERCIAL COLLEGE has in full operation a course of instruction to give its practical fitness to the work proposed. An important characteristic of this Institution is its naturally organized actual business system, whereby the College is made a type or model not only of an extensive business house, but even of a large trading community. Another distinctive feature of this College is that it attempts no extraneous teaching. Its work is cast, and to the accomplishment of that work every effort is directed. Just as the University and Grammar Schools must be separate institutions, so the Commercial College and the Elementary School must be distinct. Common sense and experience alike show that such a combination is not compatible with efficiency.

The time required to complete the full course varies considerably, according to the attendance, attention and ability of each student. Young men however are earnestly cautioned against the injurious practice of hurrying through the course from the mistaken idea that they will thus be gainers by the saving of money in the item of board. Infinitely more advantageous would it be to the student, since his full course of tuition is already paid for, to incur the comparatively small additional expense of a few weeks board in order to make himself completely master of the course; and thus, by a small present outlay, qualify himself for some lucrative situation. The crudeness that such haste entails is highly detrimental, not only to the student himself, but also to the College where he graduates; and, besides, it brings opportunity on Commercial Colleges generally. The common practice, therefore, of holding out this crowding system as an inducement to students is most deceptive and highly reprehensible.

We were again awarded the First Prize at the late Provincial Exhibition, Kingston, for the best specimen of Business Penmanship, and an Extra Prize for our system of WRITING.

'Long life to yer honour's honour,' cried Mike, flinging on his coat. 'Sure it's yerself that's a gintleman born, and yer just the husband for Miss Mary. If the smooth-speaking English painter hadn't bewitched her she wouldn't have stood in the way of her own good luck.'

'She'll know her own mind better by and by,' said Malv'n. 'But the foolish girl must be prevented from continuing her mad journey. Come on. If you are ready, let us mount and away.'

Mike went to a recess, and stuffed his pockets with bread and meat, then declaring that he was quite ready to set out they quitted the cabin, and struck across the common, towards the farm-buildings of Jacob O'Brady.

RUSSELL WATCH!

A FEW REASONS THAT MAKE IT SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS.

1st—It proves itself a reliable time-keeper beyond all question.

2nd—The RUSSELL WATCH being made on correct and scientific principles, it must follow as a natural consequence that it will keep time.

3rd—Each part of the RUSSELL WATCH is composed of a reflex of the perfect machine which, under skillful direction, it is produced.

4th—Truth is the essential of each part.

5th—Uniformity and conformity must therefore characterize the several parts in fulfilling the purpose for which they are made and brought together.

6th—Reproduction, as regards watch work, is simply an application of the principle that "things which are equal to the same things are equal to one another," and if there is any merit, the RUSSELL WATCH possesses that merit to a demonstration.

7th—The greatest variety of price, quality and size, that confidence and perfection will admit, afforded by the RUSSELL WATCH.

8th—The RUSSELL WATCH stands pre-eminently above all competitors for public favor and patronage.

9th—Proofs of the foregoing—the universal testimony of all Watchmakers who have sold, and the positive statements of the thousands in Europe, the United States and Canada, who have worn the RUSSELL WATCH.

TESTIMONIAL.

To Robert Cuthbert, Watchmaker, Wyndham Street, Guelph.

If Society was as perfect in its organization, and was as obedient to the dictates of truth as the RUSSELL WATCH I bought from you is in indicating time, evil would be swallowed up in good, and happiness would become monotonous.

Special Notices.

WHAT a glorious country is the East, where they have no such chilling winds, and cold stormy blasts, to sweep the constitution. But Nature has kindly endowed mankind with the conquering power of wielding an all-sufficient weapon against the enemy Disease. Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive Organs, &c., are here most prevalent, and for their cure we have nothing to compete with the great Shoshonee Remedy.

Purify the Blood.—If the blood be pure the body which is formed from it, and by the blood cannot be diseased. But there be in any part of the body any affection, such as a boil or ulcer, even a bruise, the blood circulates through that part takes up impure matters from the local affection and carries it to the general system. This is the cause often of sudden death to persons of full habit afflicted with boils and ulcers, and who use no medicine; the matter gets into the circulating system and chokes up the fine blood vessels which supply the brain with vitality, and life ceases as if Beaufit by Lightning.

Now, this can be remedied.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS take all impure matter from the circulation, and save the general health, soon curing local affections also. Brandreth's Pills protect from tedious times of sickness and often save life. It is sold by all druggists. Oct 3.-1m

STOP AND SEE!

THE following remarks on Testimonials of the most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are strong, undeniable and uncontested facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the Great Shoshonee Remedy!

For Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, we hold it to be that this Great Remedy has never been equalled. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Strong of Brighton, C. W., of Consumption; or that of Peter C. V. MILLER, of Earnestown, C. W., of Consumption, or that of Andrew Wilson of Concession, C. W., of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, or that of J. H. HOSBY of Nanpoco, C. W., of Rheumatism, who had actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Scores of such cases might be mentioned had we space.

Great Cure of Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia in Canada.

Concession, Prince Edward Co., C. W.
March, 1867.

Messrs. Young & Chamberlain, Sirs—Having proved within my own person that there is at least a medicine that will indeed cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, I am induced to make this statement, under oath, which is to certify that I have been sorely afflicted for the last three years, according to the Doctors' statements with Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia. I had a feeling of sinking and vague uneasiness about the stomach, occasional pain, eructations of wind, excessive pain, drowsiness, constipation, uneasiness in the right side, headache, poor appetite, &c., and was greatly reduced in strength. Hearing your new Indian medicine, the Great Shoshonee Remedy, spoken of so highly, I tried a bottle with you Pills, from these I must say I found but little change, but I took another and then found my health improving. I continued it until I have taken about ten bottles, using the Pills, and I find that I have quite recovered. I eat hearty without pain or uneasiness. I am well and have pleasure in attending to my business. The doctor's remark to me I was looking much better. I told him that the Great Shoshonee Remedy was doing it. I have recommended the Remedy in several cases, and it has invariably given good satisfaction, and I would strongly recommend it to all afflicted as I was.

Sworn before me at Concession, C. W., this 2nd day of March, 1867.

PROOFS OF THE SUPERIOR QUALITY OF THE AMERICAN WATCH

MADE AT WALTHAM, MASS.

Referring to their advertisement in a previous issue of this paper, the American Watch Company, of Waltham, Mass., respectfully submit that their Watches are cheaper, more accurate, less complex, more durable, better adapted for general use, and more easily kept in order and repaired than any other watches in the market.

They are simpler in structure, and therefore stronger, and less likely to be injured than the majority of foreign watches. They are composed of from 125 to 300 pieces, while in an old English watch there are more than 700 parts.

How they run under the hardest trial watches can be seen, as shown by the following letters:

PENN. RAILROAD COMPANY,
Office of the General Superintendent,
Allentown, Pa., 15th Dec., 1866.

GENTLEMEN:—I have no hesitation in saying that I believe the great majority of Locomotive Engines have found by experience that "Waltham Watches are the most satisfactory of any for their uses. They run with the greatest accuracy and steadiness, notwithstanding the rough riding of an engine, and as I have never known one to wear out, they must be durable. I hope to see the time when Railway Companies will generally adopt your watches, and furnish them to all engines and conductors. In my opinion it would greatly tend to promote regularity and safety.

Yours respectfully,
CHAS. WILSON, G. Chief Engineer,
Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.
American Watch Co., Waltham, Mass.

We now make five different grades of watches, named respectively as follows:

Appleton, Tracy & Co., Waltham, Mass.
Waltham Watch Co., Waltham, Mass.
P. S. Bardlett, Waltham, Mass.
Wm. Ellery, Boston, Mass.
Home Watch Company, Boston, Mass.

All of these, with the exception of the Home Watch Company, are warranted by the American Watch Company to be of the best material, on the most approved improved principle, and to possess every requisite for a reliable time-keeper. Every clearer selling these watches is provided with the Company's printed card of guarantee, which should accompany each watch sold, so that buyers may feel sure that they are purchasing the genuine article. There are numerous counterfeiters and imitations of our watches sold throughout the country, and we would caution purchasers to be on their guard against imposition.

Any grades of Waltham Watches may be purchased of watch dealers.

Testimonials can be obtained on application from many persons in Canada who have worn the watches with the greatest satisfaction.
