NOVA SCOTIA METHODIST CONFERENCE

Pass Resolutions on Temperance Legislation, Prize Fighting.—Condemn Action of Minister of Justice, in re Obscene Literature Prosecution.—Form Social Reform Council.

The Methodist Conference adjourned on the 21st inst. after a busy session. Rev. J. B. Heal presented the report of the Committee on the church work. There has been an increase of 1577 scholars in the Sunday schools, 450 of whom have joined the church. Closer pastoral oversight of the people was advised. It was strongly advised that in conducting Bible Classes and young people's societies care should be taken not to introduce speculative thoughts about the inspiration of the Scriptures.

A LADY MISSIONARY.

Miss DeWolf returned missionary from Japan was introduced and addressed the Conference at length on Mission work in Japan. She spoke of the need of Christian ethics in Japan.

Rev. James Hart, who has completed fifty years in the ministry was introduced and spoke briefly and appreciatively of the kindness of his brethren.

Dr. Jost, Dr. D. W. Johnson and Dr. Morton were appointed representatives on the Board of Mt. Allison University.

THE CHURCH PAPERS.

Dr. Jost presented the report of the Committee on The Wesleyan matters. This report recommended that the form and quality of material in the paper be changed, and that cheap advertisements be eliminated.

Rev. Wm. Brown presented a minority report seconded by Rev. Mr. Pentlow that The Wesleyan and Guardian be amalgamated and an Eastern editor be appointed on the Guardian.

The discussion grew animated, many ministers taking part including Dr. Huestis, Mr. Bell, Mr. Mosher, the Book Steward, Rev. W. G. Lane and the Editor. The discussion was proceeding when the Conference rose.

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

The following resolution on Provincial Temperance legislation was passed: "We recognize and heartily appreciate the advanced step taken by the Provincial Government in the enactment of legislation prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquor, and providing for a measure of Provincial enforcement. We regret, however, that any exception was made of the city of Halifax, and would urge upon our representatives in the House of Assembly to effect such amendments to the Act as will make it operative all over this Province. Further we trust that the citizens of Halifax will take measures as quickly as possible to fall into line with all other parts of the Province so that the present law will be of general application."

Whereas the personal use clause of the importation amendment of the C. T. Act is a recognized weakness; Therefore resolved that the Federal Government be petitioned to eliminate said clause making the said Act harmonize with the Nova Scotia Act.

BANS PRIZE FIGHT.

Resolutions were also adopted calling upon the authorities to suppress moving picture shows of prize fights and asking the newspapers to discontinue publication reports and pictures of "these demoralizing events; commending Mr. H. H. Miller's efforts in prize track gambling; protesting against the action of the Minister of Justice in the Skill and King case, which "argues an unfitness for office" and asking Sir Wilfrid Laurier to take such action as "will avert the danger now confronting us as Canadian people" enforcement of law resale of cigarettes to boys, the white slave traffic.

REFORM COUNCIL OF N. S.

The following members of the Conference were appointed to the Social Reform Council of Nova Scotia: Rev. Benj. Hills, W. I. Croft, W. H. Langille, A. S. Rogers, G. M. Young and Messrs. A. M. Bell, M. P. Crowell, Dr. A. J. Fuller, Jas. T. Burchill and R. B. Dakin.

The Conference memorialized the General Conference to add a department of Temperance and Moral Reform, and that the organization also be given authority to form Brotherhoods wherever such action is deemed advisable.

FOR THE CAMP MEETING.

It was recommended and adopted that Professor McLaughlin, of Victoria, be secured to give Bible lessons at Berwick. It will be remembered that Professor McLaughlin is one of the advanced teachers who have raised the suspicion of the ultra-conservatives as to his orthodoxy. The Camp Meeting will convene on the 10th of August.

DISTRICT CHAIRMEN.

The chairmen of the Districts were elected as follows: Halifax—Rev. Mr. McArthur. Windsor—Rev. Mr. Langille. Truro—Rev. Mr. Astbury. Cumberland—Rev. Mr. Donkin. Guysboro—Rev. Mr. Evans. Sydney—Rev. Mr. Coffin. Annapolis—Rev. I. Daniel. Liverpool—Rev. J. Craig. Yarmouth—Rev. R. Hills. Bermuda—Rev. Mr. Hale.

The Conference then adjourned.

County Rifle Matches

The annual matches of the Annapolis Co. Rifle Association were shot on the Bridgetown range on Friday the 24th inst. The attendance was small owing to the fact, that the government grant has been withdrawn of late years, so that there is nothing to draw marksmen together, but the love of the sport of shooting and the "Cups" belonging to the Association of which there are three—"The Pickup" donated by S. W. Pickup, M. P.; "The Vroom" donated by Capt. Vroom; the LeCain donated by Lt. Col. Funeral of Rev. J. B. Giles.

The funeral of the Rev. J. B. Giles took place on Wednesday afternoon last. The remains were conveyed from the home of S. W. Eagleson, where he had been cared for since the death of Mrs. Giles, to the Providence Methodist church, where he had for many years occupied the pulpit, bestowing kindly counsel and aid to spiritual progress. Many friends who were present to pay their last tribute to his memory were deeply touched by the memory of old associations and the sad circumstances connected with his later days.

Rev. Dr. Jost, Rev. N. A. McNeill, Rev. E. Underwood and Rev. Mr. Simpson occupied the platform with the pastor of the church, Rev. G. F. Johnson, who conducted the service. Appropriate and favorite hymns were rendered by the choir. The pall-bearers were L. R. Miller, Lansdale Pigott, J. E. Lloyd, J. R. DeWitt, S. W. Eagleson and the late J. Leander Marshall, whose own death and funeral is recorded elsewhere in this paper.

Sudden Death of John Leander Marshall

Bridgetown was shocked by the news heard early Saturday afternoon that John Leander Marshall had fallen dead, at the home of Charles Hicks, Carltons Corner. Mr. Marshall who had passed his three score years and ten, had not been in robust health for some years but he had lately returned from a visit to Boston and had remarked that he was feeling very well.

Mr. Marshall had taken dinner at the home of Malcolm Todd where he boarded. Washing to assist Mr. Todd in a piece of cultivating he went to Mr. Charles Hicks to get a horse. He brought the horse from the pasture to the barn and it being a rather spirited animal it had caused him to over-exert himself. He had barely entered the stable before he fell. Mr. Todd hurried to his assistance but he expired almost immediately.

Mr. Marshall was one of our most respected citizens of the elder generation. He formerly resided at Carltons Corner on the property now owned by J. B. Whitman, where he conducted a small farm. After the death of his wife he sold the farm and retired from active life. He was a valued member of the Liberal party and was highly esteemed by his associates.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the home of Mr. Hicks, who was an intimate friend of the deceased. Rev. G. F. Johnson of the Methodist church conducted the services assisted by Dr. Jost. A number of hymns were sung by the members of the Methodist choir.

Interment took place in the Ricketts burial ground, beside the remains of his wife. He leaves no family.

From the Middleton Outlook

The government ditching machine, which is expected to arrive next week is booked for the farms of Mr. Pte. G. H. Dixon, Mr. A. B. Gates, Mr. C. W. McGill. These farms are to furnish about fifteen hundred rods of ditching. There are several others who are likely to require the same.

Interment took place in the Ricketts burial ground, beside the remains of his wife. He leaves no family.

St. James' Church Sunday School Entertainment

The parents and friends must have been proud, and the children of the above school highly pleased at the success of the entertainment given last Wednesday evening under the able tutelage of Miss Alice DeWitt and Miss Henrietta Bishop. A delightful one hour programme had been prepared by the scholars, and one and all acquitted themselves well.

The school-room, the stage of which had been draped with handsome green curtains and decorated with wild flowers, was well filled. Home-made candy was sold at intervals as a result the children now have $12.40 toward their new library.

Below is the programme: Marching chorus.—The school. Recitation.—Allison FitzRandolph. Gipsy-Maid song.—Eva Troop. Recitation.—Ethel Daniels.

Song.—Rock-a-by-baby. Ethel Craig, A. FitzRandolph, M. and H. Troop. Song.—"Silly Billy" Muriel Troop. Recitation.—Mildred Lockett. Gipsy-Maid chorus. The school. Song.—"Pretty Maiden" (in character) Muriel Troop and Clyde Everett.

KINSLEY-STEVENS

Valley Farmers at Truro

The farmers' excursion to the Agricultural College, Bible Hill, on Friday from points along the D. A. R. was a grand success. The special train arrived at Truro one o'clock, having on board six hundred and twenty-five passengers. The early morning train also brought to town over two hundred visitors from along the Midland section of the D. A. R.

The Truro Citizen says:—At 2.30 the various herds of cattle were brought out and exhibited on the green in front of the college building. Prof. Archibald explained the very technical points and answered questions asked relative to the merits and other features of the various exhibits. Prof. Standish superintended the display of the horses, and interestingly talked to the farmers assembled with the exhibitors as object lessons. Mr. Woodworth, of Berwick, who is himself a representative orchardist, made an excellent speech, urging the advantages of Nova Scotia as compared with the West for the younger generations of farmers, and his many good points were heartily appreciated. Mr. J. M. Baillie M. L. A., made a brief address, but the approach of the famous ditching machine drowned Mr. Baillie's voice entirely and he had to discontinue his remarks.

The day was cool and a strong north-west wind made sheltered points much appreciated in the late afternoon. The excursionists were a prosperous looking lot and were evidently pleased with the Government Farm and its managers.

The report of the Committee on Sunday Schools was prepared by Rev. P. C. Read of Bridgewater. It was really an interesting report of the World's Sunday School Convention recently held in Washington, D. C., which Mr. Read had attended.

The Educational Meeting on Saturday evening was addressed by Revs. N. A. McNeill and H. T. DeWolf, D. D. These splendid addresses were listened to by about 500 people.

ASSOCIATION SERMON

On Sunday Rev. A. J. Archibald Digby preached the Association sermon. It was a splendid sample of the strong pulpit work now being done by our broadly educated young men. The afternoon session, in the interests of Sunday Schools, was addressed by Revs. L. F. Wallace and E. H. Howe. The presence of the large Sunday School of the Freeport Church was an inspiration to all.

At the evening session about 600 people crowded the church to listen to the stirring addresses on Missions given by Miss Helena Blackadder, who has spent nine years in service in India. Her thrilling story of conditions in India created a profound impression. The other speaker was Rev. D. E. Hatt who has just returned from six years service in the Canadian West. His story was of the mighty things being done in the mightiest West.

The Art of Killing Interest

There is very high authority for the phrase, "killing interest." It is Professor Adams of the University of London. But he refers to the clashing interest in young minds, where one must be made to give way to the other in anything to be accomplished in the right direction.

Here is mother, ready to study the Sunday School lesson with the children. But they are not ready. John wants to know something about a queer bug that he found in the garden, and Mary is deeply interested in the contents of a box she has just discovered on mother's table. Mother begins the lesson, but the children's wandering thoughts do not come at her call. There are conflicting interests. There is something that each child wants to know, and the more vigorous it grows, the more the clamor is repressed, the more the subject put aside as soon as possible, but something satisfying must be given. Then this interest which grows contrarily will die a natural death. If, while it is expiring, the mother can use something in connection to draw attention to some thing in the lesson, it will be well. Call the lesson a worder box and say, "Let us see what is in it." Or let some sign of God's hand in nature lead to a word about what He is doing all the time, and how good He is. It is not wasted time when it is spent in preparation. Therefore, study the art of killing an interest that divides a child's attention by satisfying it and making it a stepping stone to the end sought.—Julia H. Johnston.

Alexandria, Ont.
Feb. 8th, 1910.

I take pleasure in giving my testimonial in the Empire Lintner for it will do what it claims. I have used it on a very bad case of sore throat in the evening and one in the morning made a complete cure. I have had my children use it for colds and when settled on the chest and the quiet relief is wonderful. When you want a liniment you make no mistake in taking Empire.

GEO. BOUGIER,
Merchant.

The new immigration regulations already press heavily on some very worthy people. One case has special interest, as it may be typical. A Mr. Woolmer, a young mechanic, came to Canada over a year ago and has been in steady employment ever since. During that time he has been maintaining his wife and four children in Greenwich, and when it was made possible for them to join him through a pecuniary loan from a relief organization admission to Canada was refused. The publication of the facts of the case in The Westminster Gazette brought the necessary relief in such a way as to satisfy the Canadian officials, and there will be by the middle of July a family reunion. It is worth while considering whether discretion in the enforcement of the regulation should not be allowed under certain conditions.—Toronto Globe.

"PROCESS" EXHIBITS AT ST. JOHN FAIR.

The management of the Dominion Exhibition to be held in St. John, N. B., September 5th to 15th, have been successful in arranging with some of the most important manufacturers in Canada to demonstrate the making of their wares in Machinery Hall. There will be a woolen mill's loom in full operation, knitting machines at work, nail and tack making machines, foundry activities, printing processes, wood working novelties, boot and shoe manufacturing, electrical mechanics, motor boat demonstration etc., not to mention the mouth watering process involved in the making of candies, fancy confectionery and baking. In order to accommodate numerous applicants for space and power in the mechanical department of the approaching big show, the Exhibition Executive have been forced to make arrangements for increased facilities, and those who visit St. John next September will spend a great deal of their time with Exhibition gates watching these "process" exhibits.

Joker's Corner

HAD TO SWEAR.

(New York World.)
Mrs. Luhaona Spitzer of No. 910, Columbus avenue and her husband, Karl, were going north in an Eighth avenue car recently when William Delling, colored, of No. 339 East Fifty-fourth street, got on.

The negro stepped on Mrs. Spitzer's toes several times. Her husband told him to behave himself. Delling retorted by swearing and paying his respects to the social status of the Spitzers. He was arrested at Columbus Circle on complaint of Mrs. Spitzer.

In the Night Court Mrs. Spitzer was about to give her testimony as a complainant.

"Do I have to swear, Judge?" she asked Magistrate Krotel.

"Yes, madam."

"You must. Every witness makes oath before testifying. The law requires it."

"Well, if I must, I must, I guess. But I don't like to."

"Well, damn."

Delling was sent to the workhouse for five days.

HEROIC RESCUE

Three-year-old Montague and two-year-old Harold were having a bath together in the big tub.

Mother left them a moment while she went into the next room. Suddenly a series of agonizing shrieks recalled her. Two dripping, terror-stricken little figures stood, clasped in each other's arms, in the middle of the bathroom floor.

"Oh, mother!" gasped Montague. "I got him out! I saved him! The mother's country and the over-seas dominions."

THE PUDDING STRING

As a train was approaching a station the other day it passed in the middle, and, of course, the communication cord snapped, the end of it striking an old lady on the bonnet.

"What is the matter?" she exclaimed.

"Oh, the train is broken in two," replied a gentleman who sat opposite.

"I should think so, too," responded the old lady, looking at the broken cord. "Did they think a bit of pudding string like that would hold a train together?"

HOW HE EXPRESSED IT.

Every small boy—the right kind, anyhow—thinks his own mother the symbol of all perfection. Few, however, have the ability to express their admiration as prettily as the little hero of the following anecdote.

Richard's mother was putting him to bed, and as she kissed him good night, she said: "Do you know you are the whole world to mama?"

"Am I?" he answered, quickly. "Well, then, you're heaven and the north pole to me!"

King George is credited with a natural ambition to strike out in a new line for himself, and he known as a great imperialist, as his father won recognition as diplomatist and peace-maker. His journeys to India and the groups of independent colonies have made him the champion of the interests of greater Britain, and he is likely to make his reign conspicuous by comprehensive policies for promoting closer relations between the mother's country and the over-seas dominions.

Chignecto Mines Explosion

Amherst, N. S. June 29—A serious explosion took place in the Maritime Coal Railway & Power Company's mines at Chignecto this morning and it is feared it will result in two fatalities. It is impossible as yet to estimate the damage.

The examiner William Stevens, and a young lad named Tom Wood, son of Burton Wood, went into the mines to examine it as usual previous to the men going to work. An explosion of considerable force occurred while they were still in the mine and the presence of gas has prevented all efforts to reach them. The company and men are making every effort to clear the mine from the deadly fire damp and to reach the two entombed men. It is feared, however, that the explosion was attended with fatal results to both.

It is fortunate that no fire followed the explosion and it is expected that before the afternoon is over the men will be able to enter the mine and the extent of the damage can be ascertained.

HORRIBLY MANGLED
BY FREIGHT TRAIN.

Truro, June 19—Frank, the only son of Mrs. Elizabeth Haley, aged about twenty-two, was so seriously injured while trying to make his way to Moncton on last night's freight train that he died in the local hospital this morning. When the train was pulling out of Onslow siding a companion of Haley notified the conductor that the young man had been run over. The train hands searched for him, and found one of his legs several car lengths away, and further search revealed him on the track under the forward part of the train, with an arm severed. By some means he had retained a hold on the running gear, until the train stopped at Onslow.

"A Kingly Gift"
EARL GREY'S APPEAL
On behalf of Needy Consumptives
Strong words of Canada's Governor-General

At the official opening of the King Edward Sanatorium for Consumptives, near Toronto, His Excellency delivered an address that must have an important bearing on the future of the sanatorium movement in Canada. We quote:—

"The proceedings this afternoon commenced with a beautiful and reverent prayer from your old friend, Dr. Potts. He prayed that the light of the Lord might shine upon us. That prayer is abundantly answered. He also prayed that the White Plague might be removed. Well, whether that prayer will be answered or not depends upon yourselves."

"Is it not a standing shame and reproach to the governments and individuals that there is not more care taken by the people of Canada to protect themselves against the curse of consumption?"

On his way out to the King Edward Sanatorium,—so named by permission of His Majesty King Edward VII.—the Governor-General's car was stopped in its progress outside the Canada Cycle & Motor Co. by a large crowd of its employees. A contribution of one hundred dollars was handed the Governor-General, a donation to the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives.

"'Twas a kingly gift" said His Excellency in making acknowledgment. "I will tell the King."

Addressing the large audience that attended these opening exercises, referring to this event, Earl Grey said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, when the workingmen of Canada are setting an example of this character, I hope you will not be slow to follow, and I trust that the example of the Canada Cycle & Motor Co. may be followed, as I am sure it will, in every factory and manufacturing industry throughout the land."

We carry these words to the people of Canada in our appeal to-day on behalf of the

Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives

An institution that has never refused a single applicant admission, because of his or her inability to pay.

Seventy-five patients can be cared for to-day. Accommodation could be provided for three hundred if the required money were forthcoming.

To make this possible, our appeal is for $50,000, to be used in extension of buildings and maintenance of patients.

Where will your money do more good?
Every community and every individual is interested.

His Excellency Earl Grey has shown his interest and sympathy in the work at Muskoka for needy consumptives, by accepting the position of Honorary President of the National Sanitarium Association.

Contributions may be sent to Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Kt., Chief Justice, Osbrooke Hall, Toronto; W. J. Gage, Esq., 84 Spadina Ave., or J. S. Robertson, Sec'y-Treas., National Sanitarium Association, 347 King Street West, Toronto, Canada.

THEY ACTUALLY CURE RHEUMATISM

Gin Pills Prove It
It is one thing to claim to cure Rheumatism. It is quite another to do it. Gin Pills beat out every claim we make for they are not a "favorite prescription" or a "marvellous discovery" or a "wonderful secret preparation."
They are simply a common-sense, scientific combination of medicines that have proved their value in Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, and Disorders of the Liver.
Ogden, N. S., July 1st, 1909.
"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and advised me to go to the hospital but all of no good until a friend told me to try Gin Pills. I did so and after using a few boxes, I am perfectly cured. I am recommending Gin Pills."
D. J. LAWLER.
There is no reason why Mr. Lawler's case should be any different from yours. He took Gin Pills and cured himself of Rheumatism. Why don't you take them and cure yourself?
We will let you test them free. A sample of Gin Pills will be sent you, absolutely free, if you write the National Drug & Chem. Co. Limited Dept. N. S., Toronto.

CANADA'S PROSPECTS

Earl Grey, interviewed on his arrival in London spoke with great enthusiasm of the development of the Dominion of Canada, and her prospects.
"Canada," he said, "is going ahead as fast as she can go. The Maritime Provinces are as good for immigration as the Northwest, and prospects were never brighter. Why don't you come and see the country? You cannot understand it till you see it and visit it. When you have visited it once you won't be happy until you have seen it a dozen times." Earl Grey added that Canadians were pleased with the present class of immigrants.
Asked about the Imperial spirit in Canada, he replied: "The Imperial spirit is all right in Canada. Why, they are more Imperial than you are. I wish you would come to Toronto and see an Empire Day celebration as I saw it, then you would know what I mean. The people of Canada believe in themselves and their future is part of the Empire."

Lame Back

To have a lame back or painful aches, means disordered Kidneys, and the sooner you have the Kidneys and Bladder in a perfectly healthy condition, the sooner you will enjoy life. As far as we know there is only one remedy that is guaranteed to cure you, and that is FIG PILLS. If they don't make you a strong, healthy person in two weeks your money will be refunded. 25c. a box at all leading drug stores. WARREN'S Drug store, special agents.

NO ELECTION FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

Ottawa, June 19—A proclamation in the Canada Gazette dispenses with any revision of the electoral lists in Manitoba and in the unorganized districts of Ontario during 1910. These are the only lists subject to inspection by the Dominion government, and then only for the purposes of a Dominion election. The issuance of this proclamation, indicates that the government has no intention of going into the country for another year at least.

THE HOME

TO GET THIN.
An exchange says:—One of our readers writes and says she is rather stout and desires to get thin and wants a diet or some such thing recommended.
If I knew any royal road to losing flesh I should speedily become a millionaire. Everyone is trying to get thin these days and the few who are not, are trying to get stout. Was there ever a woman quite satisfied with her figure? My own experience in losing weight is that it depends almost altogether on exercise and food. These are two simple and inexpensive remedies and can be practiced without any outside aid. As regards exercise there is nothing better than walking. The woman who wants to lose weight should walk least five miles a day. Light housework is also excellent exercise and the woman who does much in the house does not need to take these long walks. There are various other simple exercises such as lying flat on the back with the feet braced against a bureau or something and then raising to a sitting position without any aid for reducing the hips. Another good old exercise is bending and touching the floor with the tips of the fingers without bending the knees. An excellent exercise for everybody is to stand with back against a wall and breathe very slowly and deeply for a number of times. Roughly the thing is not to eat too much, to eat at regular intervals and avoid bites between meals such as candy, puddings and ice cream; avoid pastry and starchy foods.

HOW TO GET FRIENDS AND BETTER STILL, HOW TO KEEP THEM

Keep your friends—
By being friendly.
By giving more than you get in the way of return.
By remembering they are human.
By enlarging on their good points.
By forgiving their little weaknesses.
By listening to them once in a while.
By standing up for them.
By going out of your way for them.
By picking good ones.
By having a sense of humor.
By trusting them.
By taking them into your confidence.
By giving them the best of your thought.
By being sympathetic.
By doing the little things for them.
By giving them assistance in their time of need.
By regarding them as a necessity to your life.
By regarding a service for them as an opportunity.
By throwing open the doors of your heart to them.
By thinking of them.
By advertising their good qualities.
By giving them encouragement in their hope and ambition.
By encouraging them to have hope and ambition.
By commending them while they are still in human form.

Every girl who has read "The Water Babies" remembers the description of dear old Mrs. Doneywouldbedoneby. "When any one looks at the pretty lady they cannot tell what the color of her hair is or of her eyes. All they can think of is that she has the sweetest, kindest, tenderest, fondest, merriest face they ever saw, or ever want to see." Not a bit like her ugly sister, Mrs. Doneywouldbedoneby, who was "all gnarly and horny and scaly and prickly." If ever two characters were drawn from life, these two old ladies are Mrs. Doneywouldbedoneby, to whose visits all the children looked forward with such glee, and Mrs. Doneywouldbedoneby, whom no one ever wanted to see and whose coming was expected with dread. The world today can be divided up into two sorts of people, those who go upon the principle that they must pay back in the coin which they were given and the happier one who never pay back, but are always giving out in a spirit in which they would like to be rewarded if they took the return at all into consideration.

"It is vinegar to the eyes," says Emerson, "to deal with men of loose and imperfect perceptions."
That means exaggeration and inaccuracy among other things.
Train your children to accuracy of thought and observation and statement, and you will have given them an equipment that will prove most valuable in all the relations of life.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold on a guarantee that if you are not satisfied after using two-thirds of a bottle according to directions, your money will be refunded. It is up to you to try. Sold by all dealers.

UP TO THE MINUTE STYLES.

Flounced Skirts Are Very Fashionable.
The Russian Blouse.
In both afternoon and evening frocks the new skirt suggesting the shaped blouse model is seen. This model is a pretty one both for a long and a short skirt, and two kinds of materials are frequently combined.
Doige and black is a combination that the Parisian dressmaker is employing with artistic results.

of chatilly lace are a fashion of the hour.
There is a good deal of talk about the Russian blouse in fine lawn blouses, but whether this fashion will ripen or not it is too early to say.
A costume coat that we are destined to hear much of is arranged with a so-called corset blouse mounted on a body part disposed on thin lines and leaving a distinct Y hiatus back and front, the accompanying blouse of this three piece suit being relied upon to fill in the gaps.
Not one of the smartest materials for blouses this season, and the pretty waist illustrated is made over a tubular lining of this silk. The trim is of silk and the trimming of soutache. The sleeves are new and fashionable, but they can be varied in a number of ways.

FADS FOR THE FAIR.
An Up to Date Spring Coat For the Small Maiden.
Nothing is smaller in spring wraps for small maidens than the box coat of black and white striped's plaid. The fashioning of these simple styles is within the skill of the home dress-maker, and two and one-half yards of goods forty-four inches wide costing $1 a yard will be sufficient for the garment.
Coarse cotton embroidery appears in terminated with many of the tried designs upon heavy linen frocks. Any little open space in the braiding may be thus filled in with solid work or a color matching either the background or braid, and it will add to the richness of the general effect.

The short coat of the season is frequently embellished with an embroidered plastron or with cords that fasten across the front in jaunty military fashion.
Linen makes the pretty little frock illustrated, and the edges are scalloped with an embroidered dot in the center. Colored materials with white embroidery make smart dresses in this model. The main portion of the dress and the sleeves are cut in one, and consequently it is easily put together.

DOINGS IN WAISTDOM.

New Materials and Styles That Prevail in the Smartest Tub-Blouses.
Crash Valenciennes, a coarse cotton groundie weave of unbleached tone, makes some of the smartest new waists. The waists close in the front, with the buttoned edges embroidered in self color and finished with Valenciennes lace. At the sides there are three Gibson tucks, and the long sleeves are also tucked.
Fancy cotton groundie or net of diamond weave in unbleached tone or colors to match any suit is also new for waists. These models are hand made and hand embroidered.
White cotton marquisette waists with fine tucks across the front and Natural shantung waists open in the front under a scalloped plait that is embroidered in braid pattern with a color to match any suit have side frills.

The well fitting corset cover contributes largely to the success of the blouse or the gown. Here are two, both of which are desirable models. The tucked one will appeal to the woman who likes perfect smoothness above the waist line, while the gathered one is desirable for slender figures.

FASHIONS ON THE WING
Study the Lines of Your Head Before Wearing the New Coiffure.
Every one knows or ought to know that the present coiffure effects are not becoming to the majority of faces. But few women pause to consider this fact before adopting the new fashion. Lines of the face should be considered more carefully than those of the body, and to build out the hair in the present style when the style is unbecoming is a fault with an element of vulgarity in it.
Hand bags of velvet and satin embroidered and mounted in silver or gold are now worn in colors to match the costume. They are carried by

M. K. PIPER PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, 1910.

Suggested by editorial comment and correspondence appearing in former issues of the Monitor another letter has reached us from a farmer reader, giving his views on the subject of the mill-order business. This correspondent admits that he patronizes the mail order houses and gives his reasons for doing so. We cannot publish his letter in full, but give space to the following suggestions for the consideration of our merchants who we believe will be glad of an opportunity for a better understanding of the view point of their farmer patrons.

There would be better farming and more produce raised in Annapolis valley today if we were given a preference in price for our produce over that coming from outside, since our limited areas make it more expensive to raise produce than the larger farms of Ontario. Can these merchants expect preference if they give us none?

1st. Let the local merchant help us market our produce to the best advantage and if they handle that produce in return for goods let them be content with a profit on their goods only giving us as much for our produce as they can realize for it. For instance, it is only an unenterprising clothier who will put up with 18c. to 20c. for his button from the local merchant when he can realize 25c. cash for it in Halifax.

2nd. Let them advertise the prices of the goods they sell. If I go into a store and have to price an article, in nine out of ten cases I buy that article whether I am suited or not. On the other hand in many cases where a priced article would be bought, the feeling of diffidence about asking the price precludes its purchase and we turn to the catalogue, where we know what we are getting. Two or three of the most enterprising merchants in Bridgetown give prices in detail and their custom is increasing every year; and I would like to surmise that X. Y. Z., who wrote the very moderate and sensible article in your last issue, is one of these merchants.

3rd. Let the local merchants combine to cut down their prices. The credit system is an unnecessary curse to this fair country and the local merchant is largely responsible for it. If the merchants of a town would only combine to sell only for cash, to do away with commercial agents and to buy for cash they would be able to sell much cheaper than now under the expensive system of bank credit and high salaried drummers.

FARMER. This correspondent sends us also a clipping describing a plan adopted by one of the small towns of New York State, which if adopted here, would, he believes, establish better trade relations between our merchants and their farmer constituency. This scheme is briefly as follows:—A business men's association was founded. To bring the farmers to town it was decided to hold a free auction. Any farmer could bring any thing he wanted to sell. The business men would catalogue it, advertise it, pay for an auctioneer to sell it and turn over the proceeds without any expense to the farmer. On the same day the different merchants arranged for bargain sales on special lines of goods. The first auction was a decided success and has been repeated with variations twice. The business men contribute each one dollar a month and the auctions are held monthly. It has been found profitable to both farmer and merchants. An article fully describing the plan will be published in next issue.

Lacking a live board of trade a business men's association would be the best thing that could happen for Bridgetown.

Obituary.

CHAS. H. SARGENT

After several years of failing health and recurring illnesses, Chas. H. Sargent passed away at his home in Round Hill on Thursday, 23rd inst. of heart failure.

He was formerly of Lynn, Mass., where his son resides. For years he was an engineer in that city and when failing health compelled him to retire from active service his wages were continued until his death as a mark of appreciation of his long service and fidelity to duty. Latterly he has resided at Round Hill where he married his second wife, Miss Armstrong, who with his daughter, Gladys, was with him at the time of his death.

He was esteemed by all who knew him because of his genial disposition and strict integrity.

Brother Sargent was an enthusiastic Oddfellow, always ready with a word of praise for the order. The funeral was conducted by Rev. G. F. Johnson under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. the under bearers being Bros. Peters, Walker and Reed of Crescent Lodge and Bro. I. Whitman of Western Star Lodge.

The body was taken to Lynn for interment, accompanied by Bros. Reed and Walker.

They were met at Boston by members of Bay State Lodge of which Bro. Sargent was a member.

Supreme Court

Following was the docket:—Chas. W. Peters vs Isalal Dodge, W. G. Parsons for plaintiff, A. L. Davison for defence. Case of trespass. Judgment for plaintiff $20 and costs.

A. W. Allen & Sons vs Maurice G. Phinney, seconding or absent debtor, Parsons for plaintiff.

King vs Oscar Bent and John O'Brien, J. Irvin, K. C. for prosecution, J. J. Ritchie, K. C. for defence. Case of assault occasioning bodily harm. O'Brien was convicted of charge and fined $20.00 and sentenced to a month in jail. Bent was convicted for common assault and sentenced to a month in jail.

King vs McLaughlin and White, Irvin for prosecution, Roscoe for defence. Cases for perjury. Discharged on the ground of a technicality.

Uncle Dave Holcomb

William Lawrence, better known as Billy Bohmer of Annapolis, N. S., will appear at the Court House Monday, July 4th in his latest success "Uncle Dave Holcomb."

The play is entirely new and original in plot and different in conception from anything heretofore offered by this popular star. Mr. Lawrence will never be forgotten for the Uncle Josh, he gave us in "The Old Homestead," succeeding Benham Thompson for the past five seasons in that play. "Uncle Dave Holcomb" is now in the first year, comparatively new in the public, but wherever it has happened the public sentiment has run high in its favor. Nothing has been overlooked to make the play a veritable country outing, in fact you can almost smell the fragrance of the meadow and hear the babbling of the brook as the curtain ascends on this masterpiece of rustic offering.

Lawrence as "Uncle Dave," the god-natured, easy-going, old, honest farmer is a Chinese puzzle. You can never tell when he is going to make you laugh, and you never suspect when he is going to make you cry. It is the best part he has had in his entire starring career and fits him more admirably than Uncle Josh in "The Old Homestead." The play will be seen here in its entirety exactly as presented this season in Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and other big cities. Popular prices 25c., 50c. and 50c.

THE DAMAGE IS ENORMOUS

Pittsburg and Surrounding Country Swept by Terrific Weather.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 20.—Reports received today from the districts cut off from communication by storms of Saturday, indicate that the damage done in the stricken sections will amount to a much larger sum than was at first reported.

At Point Marion, Pa., millions of feet of lumber and hundreds of logs are being carried out of the Cheat River, which is nearing flood stage. The river was still rising with a stage of thirty feet at ten o'clock this morning. If the water rises an additional five feet, Point Marion, a town of six hundred persons, will be inundated. Another storm of the proportions of a cloudburst visited the district early today followed by fire. Several residences burned to the ground.

At Brownsville the country authorities total the damage to property in districts at $100,000. The Monongahela river there now stages thirty-five feet and is rising. The Monongahela railway is entirely out of commission the valley through which it runs being a roaring torrent.

AN ATHLETE BARRISTER.

"Pat" Manning of Winnipeg is Veteran of Three Linns of Sport.

Mr. R. A. C. Manning, a well-known Winnipeg barrister, has been selected Chairman of the Manitoba Beef Commission which has been appointed to investigate the whole problem of the establishment of a municipal abattoir and public market for the west. Mr. Manning, who has been solicitor for the Western Live Stock Association for several years, has been a prominent figure in western sports and politics.

"Mr. Manning, as he is better known in Winnipeg, is a 'rara avis' in the Manitoba capital—a native-born. During his younger days—he is now barely thirty—he was one of the best known athletes in the west. He has an enviable record, for there are few men who have figured in three championship teams. As a hockey player, he was one of the best of the west ever produced, and figured in the lineup of the famous Victorias, holders of the Stanley cup in the days before the arrival of professional hockey. He was also an enthusiastic and brilliant oarsman, one of the best members of the Winnipeg Rowing Club's championship crews, and time and again figured in the eastern trips of the western crews. Not content with these two sports, he also took up with vigor rugby and had much to do with the founding of the game in the west. He was captain for several years of the Winnipeg Rowing Club's Rugby team. Mr. Manning has always been an ardent supporter of amateur sport in every form.

A few years ago "Pat" entered municipal politics and was elected alderman for his ward, serving two years. A year ago he was elected Mayor of the City of Winnipeg. He has been a prominent supporter of the Conservatives in elections and has been even spoken of as a possible candidate.

THE FIRE RANGER.

Time is Coming For Him to Resume His Woodland Shack.

The early departure of winter and the premature coming of the warm winds and sunshine mean early work for the Government fire-ranger in those vast forest reserves of northern Ontario. The green color which is now beginning to creep over the woods and plains of old Ontario as a result of the rejuvenating force of the springtime is absent in the new land to the north. There the mosses and ferns undergo their winter rest, and the ground is still covered with snow. The fire-ranger will soon be busy and hard work will be required to find his prey among such inflammable material. Later than ever will be the force of rangers this season to go as fire-fighters, and as protectors of the country's valuable heritage in New Ontario. These worthy officials will begin to seek their lodgings in the wilderness of lake and forest this month, and will remain there until the frost and snow come again in the late autumn. The pair of youths on the job patrol the particular route which is their chief care during their months of office. They carry all personal and household effects with them in their canoes, and, being lightly burdened, they travel quickly, preserving the peace of the forest land. Amongst the American tourists who infest the Ontario reserves, the representative of the Government is known as "that ubiquitous fire-ranger." The life of the ranger is one of mingled pleasure and pain, and, on the whole, is very agreeable. Hardship and dangers which are incident to a lonely existence in the wilds are more than counteracted by the joys derived from a perfectly natural life amidst surroundings that have none of the touches of the "strenuous life" of towns and cities.

The Heckler Won.

At the Canadian Club in Toronto the other day Rev. Dr. J. A. Macdonald told a story which he heard from Hamar Greenwood at the banquet to Premier Aquith in England last summer. Greenwood had been heckled beyond endurance at a meeting by a professional who had been arrested in the accustomed way. A sympathizer in the audience finally called out to Greenwood: "Don't mind him. It's no good. Let it be wif go the work 'as tody." "The drunken heckler was equal to the occasion. 'Don't you blame me, guv'nor, till you see the missus.' Dr. Macdonald declared that the last question was at the root of all Britain's economic troubles. With the land so limited and the people so many it would require the utmost wisdom in economics to divide it fairly, instead of wisdom there had been folly colossal for centuries past.

An Engineer in a Studio.

Of Sir Edward Popner, to whom the King is giving another sitting for his Academy portrait, a good story is told. While painting his first success, "Israel in Egypt," which represents a crowd of Israelites dragging a huge statue of a sphinx across a desert, Sir John Hawkshaw, the famous engineer, looked in and, after puzzling Sir Edward considerably by dotting down figures on a scrap of paper, exclaimed, "My dear fellow, this will never do; the weight of the sphinx is so much, but your Israelites are not developing nearly enough horse-power to drag it. You must double the number of your Jews." And so he did.

Daughter of India's Viceroy.

Lady Charles Fitzmaurice, who is well remembered in Canada, was Lady Violet Elliot, youngest daughter of Lord Minto. Her marriage, which took place in India, was a very grand affair. Her husband, Lord Charles Fitzmaurice, is a son of Lord Lansdowne, and has also resided in the Dominion. Lady Charles has a little daughter whose christening took place the other day in London when several important people stood as sponsors.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURS PAIN

St. John Out for Empress Calls

St. John, June 20.—Returning to Montreal after his inspection trip over the D.A.R., Sir Thomas Shaughnessy president of the C.P.R. passed through the city on Saturday evening about ten o'clock. In reply to a question by a Standard reporter Sir Thomas said he had made a hurried run over the D. A. R. and the general result was satisfactory. Beyond that there was nothing to be said.

It was pointed out to the president that it was currently reported that the Empress steamers would not call at St. John next season, and he was asked if he would make any definite statement.

"It is not yet finally decided," was his reply. "It is a hazardous trip from Halifax round to St. John and a waste of twelve hours. If we could come direct to St. John without having to call at Halifax it would be another matter."

It was suggested by Sir Thomas that the loss of the Empresses would be regarded as a blow to the port for which there was no compensation.

"Well," he replied, "I think you will get something else." Before this subject could be pursued Sir Thomas was on his private car and the special was on the move. So the "something else" St. John is to receive must for the present remain a mystery.

"KISS NOT" PLEDGE BEING PASSED ROUND.

Health Organization in Chicago Circulating it for School Children to sign.

The world's health organization has made a descent on the Chicago public schools with a pledge to "kiss not." This is the pledge.

"In order to encourage good health and lessen the spread of consumption I hereby pledge myself to discourage the custom of kissing on the lips whenever it is in my power."

The Board of Education is in receipt of "kiss not" circulars, with an appeal that the children of the schools be allowed to take the pledge.

The circulars say "kissing is pernicious and unhealthy. Not only is kissing the medium for the transfer of tuberculosis, but diphtheria, pneumonia and many other diseases." The board has the matter under advisement.

"HONESTLY BELIEVE 'FRUIT-A-TIVES'"

The Greatest Cure For Rheumatism In The World"

KNOXVILLE, QUE., Oct. 12th, 1909.

"For many years, I suffered from severe Rheumatism, and the attacks were very distressing and prevented me from doing my ordinary work. I tried many remedies and physicians' treatments, but nothing seemed to do me much good, and I was becoming very anxious for fear I would become a permanent cripple from the disease.

I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this medicine has entirely cured me and I honestly believe it is the greatest Rheumatism cure in the world. E. E. MILLS.

Such a statement could not be bought from a man like Mr. Mills. He thinks too much of his good name, to sell it or sign it to an untruth. Mr. Mills tried "Fruit-a-tives" after all other treatment failed—and "Fruit-a-tives" cured him of Rheumatism. In the goodness of his heart, he wrote the above letter in order that sufferers in all parts of Canada would know that there is one remedy that actually does cure Rheumatism. This testimonial was entirely unsolicited on our part. We did not know that Mr. Mills was taking "Fruit-a-tives" until we received the above letter.

It is a case like Mr. Mills' that proves the marvellous powers of "Fruit-a-tives" in arresting and curing disease. It may be stated, without fear of contradiction, that "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure Rheumatism when properly used. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices and is the greatest Rheumatism cure known to modern science. See a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 2c. Looks Serious for Hattie LeBlanc, the Young Nova Scotia Girl

Cambridge, June 24—After District-Attorney Higgins had stated in his closing address that he had never suspected that any of the defendants were in any way connected with the crime for which they were indicted, Judge Stevens late today ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the case of Mrs. Lillian Glover and six other persons charged with being accessories after the fact to the murder of Mrs. Glover's husband, Clarence F. Glover.

JURYMEN DID NOT LEAVE THEIR SEATS

Without leaving their seats the jurymen complied with the instructions.

Besides Mrs. Glover the defendants were her attorneys, Samuel D. Elmore and A. F. Tupper; Glover's brother, Seymour Glover, and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Freeman, friends of the Glover family. The specific charge against them was that they had assisted Hattie LeBlanc, now under indictment, charged with the murder of Glover in his laundry, November 29, 1909, to conceal herself for three days after Glover's death.

The young Nova Scotian girl, who had been employed as a domestic in the Glover family, was found hiding under a bed in the Glover house after two or three previous searches had failed to reveal any trace of her in the house. In the long drawn out probate hearing on the Glover will, which made the widow and Seymour Glover the principal beneficiaries, attorneys for the four brothers of the murdered man made frequent intimations that Mrs. Glover and others knew prior to Hattie LeBlanc's arrest where she was hiding.

SAID HE DID NOT SUSPECT DEFENDANTS.

It was merely to clear the seven persons involved from such suspicions, the district-attorney announced, that he secured their indictment and trial. After brief evidence had been completed today District Attorney Higgins stated that he had never suspected that the defendants were in any way connected with the murder.

Amherst is to have a publicity bureau and the business men are asked to dip their hands into their pockets in aid of the movement. The best and most effective publicity bureau, however, for the business men of any place is a liberal advertising patronage of their local newspaper. There are people sometimes who spend dollars to advertise away from home, and begrudge a cent to develop the market right at their door through their local mediums which are unquestionably the best for cultivating the local field.—Moncton Transcript.

Soon One May Wear A Tree For a Dress

Frenchman Discovers a Process for Making "Cotton" Goods from Wood of the Spruce.

It is scientific experiments in textile fibres know what they are talking about, the millions of cords of spruce wood that are now ground into pulp for paper making may be manufactured into cotton cloth—and better cotton cloth than can be made from the product of the fields of Dixie, Egypt and India. In a few years we may be wearing clothing made from trees that are now decorating the landscape along the east and west branches of the Alleghani, and instead of other spruce-producing regions will be dotted with spruce-cotton mills.

At a session of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers in Boston last week, James Hope, of Rohen, France, told about a new process of making a substitute for cotton from spruce pulp. He showed samples of the spruce substitute for cotton in yarn in the plain cotton form and with a worsted combination.

The process is the work of a French inventor, Mr. Hope said that arrangements are being made to have it manufactured extensively in England, where there is a demand for a substitute for cotton for certain purposes to make the British less dependent upon the United States for cotton. Plans are also going forward for making the substitute in other parts of Europe, and it may become one of the great industries in the spruce forests of Canada and Russia.

In regard to its adaptability Mr. Hope said:

"It takes on dye, bleaching and finishing more brilliantly than the cotton fibre. It will resist boiling in water or caustic potash solution in some minutes without change, and its combustion is certainly no more rapid than that of cotton. The cost of its manufacture is much lower than the market price of cotton. The strength of the yarn apparently exceeds that of cotton."

CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N. S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would ever free me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.

Voice Production

In the matter of voice production, Mr. Taylor, whose book on vocal instruction has been widely read, thus expressed himself to a representative of Musical America:

"The voice needs no guidance other than that of a well-trained musical ear, and the attempt to control the operation of the vocal organs by the direct influence of the will results only in an interfering stiffness upon the muscles of the entire mechanism. This doctrine has been accepted in theory by the most influential writers on musical topics but teachers are, as a rule unable to see how the idea can be practically applied in working lessons."

"The only voice rule needed," said Mr. Taylor, "is to avoid those practices which cause throat stiffness and sing in a way that prevents undue muscle tension!"

"What practice induce throat stiffness?" Mr. Taylor was asked.

"Anything sung mechanically or unmusically will, in the course of time, lead to muscular tension. So does the widespread custom of trying to open the throat or to bring the tone forward in the mouth. Trying to feel the upper notes in the head leads usually to an objectionable nasal quality, while the attempt consciously to control the breath renders a natural use of the voice impossible. As every form of wrong or undue muscle tension of the vocal organs is indicated in the sound of the tones, there is never any difficulty in knowing whether throat stiffness is being caused."

"To break down a condition of habitual stiffness of the throat muscles is simply a matter of throat relaxing exercises. All wrong tension having been removed, a student is ready and easily taught to sing correctly."

"It is necessary first of all to abandon the generally accepted belief that the voice must be handled in some special way. It is not necessary for you to know how you produce your tones. If you do nothing to interfere, the vocal organs will take care of themselves and produce exactly the kind of tone your ear demands."

Mr. Taylor told the conditions under which the voice will steadily improve by singing half an hour every day, until the pupil reaches the point where songs and airs can be mastered.

"This may be accomplished," said Mr. Taylor, "provided several conditions are observed. Suppose that you are a pupil. First, you must never think of your vocal cords, palate, tongue, breath or throat. Second your teacher must keep a constant before your mind the idea of a pure and correct vocal tone. You must learn to hear with the most minute distinctness the peculiar characteristics of the perfect vocal tone. As you gradually acquire this delicacy of hearing your tones will improve in equal measure. Third, in every phrase you sing you must strive for the highest degree of tonal sweetness and melodic beauty. Fourth, you must get a fair training in the artistic side of music, only a cultured musician can be a really great singer. The teacher, on his side, must have an ear delicate enough to hear the slightest fault of intonation and to detect every indication of throat tension of muscular stiffening."

Same shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and yields quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment is not only prompt and effective, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by all dealers.

NEW ELECTRIC APPLICATION Berlin Invents Anatomic Devices for Local Treatment of Disorders—No Detrimental Consequences. A despatch from Berlin says that an eminent firm of electricians has invented an apparatus by which an electric current, of the character used for the purpose of healing internal disorders, may be applied locally. The inventors say that while the current produces no detrimental consequences to the patient in other respects it may be applied to a diseased organ with good results. It is alleged further, on its behalf, that the current, directed to any part of the body on which it is intended to operate, would produce sterilization and thus prevent blood poisoning.

Graham Bell Full of Hope

Nova Scotia Inventor Speaks in New York.

Alexander Graham Bell talked about flying machines at the Hotel Lorraine, in this city. He was modest about his own experiments, as long whenever he mentioned J. A. D. McCurdy and E. W. Baldwin, who have been associated with him since the formation of the Aerial Experimentation Association about two years ago. The association disbanded last spring.

According to Dr. Bell, Mr. McCurdy was the first body to break away from the thrall of the light engine for aeronautic work and to try successfully an automobile engine in a flying machine. At Dr. Bell's summer home, Beinn Breagh, near Baddeck, N. S., McCurdy and Baldwin have recently flown for twenty-one and a half minutes in machines modeled after the June Bug, using an automobile engine weighing four hundred pounds.

Their success, he said, had encouraged him to hope for good results at a test of an aeroplane of his own design with the same engine finished an aerodrome having six tetrahedral cells, that he expects will be a combination of the good points of the June Bug and the Cygnet No. 2. He calls it the Olenos type, after the bird of the Greeks. The machine will measure thirty feet from tip to tip and will be light, possess unusual sustaining power and stability because of its horizontal and oblique surfaces. He will try the new aerodrome over the ice of Lake Bras d'Or, using the automobile engine above mentioned, manufactured at Bath, N. Y., and also testing a Corliss engine of fifty horsepower.

Five flying machines will be tested at Baddeck in less than a month, said Dr. Bell. Gardner Hubbard, of Boston, has ordered a monoplane of the type used by Latham from the Canadian Aerodrome company at Baddeck. There will also be tried out the Baddeck No. 1 and No. 2, similar to the June Bug. Dr. Bell's tetrahedral kite, Cygnet No. 2, and his latest aerodrome.

Dr. Bell says that he is not interested commercially in aerodromes, but only from a scientific point of view. Baldwin and McCurdy, he said, have formed the Canadian Aerodrome company, and with other aviators trained by them to operate machines, they hope to interest the Canadian government next month.

"We have made a verb of 'drome' in Canada," he added. "We speak of a man droming from one point to another. 'Aerodromes' originated with a professor of Greek at Johns Hopkins university, and comes from a Greek word meaning air-runner. We call our machines 'dromes'—much simpler and more correct than to speak of them as aeroplanes. The verb and adverb are used in the aerodromes of today make a misnomer. I think we shall all come to calling them 'dromes.'"

The Wright brothers, he said, were doing their duty to themselves to test their patents in the courts. He added that he believed the courts would place a broad construction on the claims of the Wright brothers.

DOES FARMING PAY? It does pay—never so richly as today, says the Herald.

As an example look at Prince Edward Island—called the million acre farm. Within a few years forty-five cheese and butter factories have been established there, selling a product valued at $200,000. A condensed milk factory at Charlottetown uses five tons of milk daily. In seven months it has sold $90,000 of canned goods. The exports of horses, sheep, beef and other products is making Prince Edward Island one of the richest parts of Canada.

SLAVERY IN CANADA

FOR MANY YEARS NEGROES WERE BOUGHT AND SOLD.

The institution never gained the hold here, however, that it did in the United States, and finally Britain's Stand in the Matter Settled It For Good—Canada Was the Promised Land For the Blacks.

Less than a mile from the International Boundary, and close to one of the ways that run northward from Vermont into Missisquoi County, Quebec, rises a huge black pile of moss-covered stone, lying only in one respect from many other projecting ledges common throughout this hilly, limestone country. The offering consists in its name, for this huge pile of stone is known as "Nigger Rock," because at its base are buried the little mounds of the bones of men and women who lived and died on Canadian territory in what was practically a mild, almost a paternal, form of slavery. Almost one hundred years have passed since the grave closed over the last of those who were taken of exile. The graves have been obliterated, and the bones themselves are making way to be buried in the soil of the spot at which the pilgrims of these days still come to an end.

This part of Missisquoi County, the old parish of St. Armand, was largely settled by Hessians who, in the War of the American Revolution, formed a considerable part of that nation's military force. The Hessians, in the winter of 1780, were taken to Saratoga. After the release of the Hessians from the new country, they came to Canada, and a large number took up land in the frontier wilderness. In this part of the new country, the Hessians are still living, but distinguished from the other elements of the population only by their German names. In the frontier wilderness they were joined by U. E. Loyalists from the old Dutch settlements along the Hudson River. The latter, who were of various means, trained to farming, and they soon hewed out of themselves homes and farms, and when they ended their days as British subjects beneath the flag under which they had fought, they were buried in their native land. In their Hudson River settlements they had owned negro slaves, and the number of these accompanied them on their northern migration, desiring to follow the Hessians to the new land in the north. They helped to fell the trees and build the log house and barn, to set in the stumps, and to make the land fertile. Their masters, their families and themselves as comfortable as possible. They lived out their days with their masters, and when life ended, were buried on the farms their labor had helped to build.

In like manner a considerable number of negro slaves accompanied their masters to Nova Scotia and Upper Canada, and to the latter provinces there was a small negro slave population in Canada. But slavery never flourished in Canada, and early in our history the unchristian institution was abolished. The first step was taken by the British Parliament in 1807, when it passed an act which prohibited the importation of slaves into the British Empire. The act provided that any slave who was brought into the country should be free. The act was a landmark in the history of the world, and it was a great step towards the abolition of slavery.

The earliest recorded case of a slave being brought into the province of Nova Scotia was in 1782, only twenty years after Champlain had founded Quebec, the oldest city in the province. At that time, it is recorded, King Kirk sold a negro boy from Madagascar for fifty half-pence. But there was slavery in Canada before that time. Indians held in bondage a number of the members of the crew of the ship, King Louis XIV, in 1683, by royal mandate imported negro slaves, and a number were brought from the West India Islands. These were a few of the slaves in the colony when in 1706 it was surrendered to the British Crown.

That there were slaves in Halifax shortly after the fall of the city in English in 1759, is clearly shown by an advertisement which appeared in a newspaper known as The Evening Post, and published in Boston, Mass., then, of course, a British city. The advertisement appeared in September, 1751, only two years after Halifax was founded, and it stated: "Just arrived from Halifax, and to be sold, ten strong, hearty negro men, mostly tradesmen, such as shoemakers, carpenters, sailmakers and ropemakers. Any person wishing to purchase may enquire of Benjamin Halowell, of Boston."

In the Nova Scotia Gazette of Halifax, of May 30, 1762, appeared a lengthy advertisement offering for sale a number of negro slaves, among them being "a very likely negro woman of about 35 years of age, a Creole born, has been brought up in a gentleman's family, capable of doing all sorts of work belonging thereto, as needle-work of all sorts and in the best manner." Besides the "very likely woman" there were offered for sale two boys and three men.

And here is another advertisement published in Halifax on Nov. 1, 1763, which shows that the selling of slaves was to some extent at least carried on there. It reads: "To be sold at public auction on Monday, the 3rd of November, at the house of Mr. John Byler, two slaves, viz., a boy and girl, about eleven years old; likewise a puncheon of choice cherry brandy, with sundry other articles."

In Upper Canada slavery encountered a determined and powerful opponent in Simcoe, the first Lieutenant-Governor of the province. In 1793, at the second session of his Legislature which met at Newark, now Niagara, Simcoe secured the passing of an act which provided that thereafter no one could be held in slavery.

VETERAN GRAND RECORDER.

Of the A.O.U.W. Has Held That Important Position 31 Years.

M. D. Currier, the veteran grand recorder of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, who was recently elected to that important position, is a citizen of the United States, and his name is a household word among those thousands of A.O.U.W. members in this country. As an able financial manager his reputation extends beyond the confines of the Dominion and wherever his great fraternal order operates. He has been connected with the office in Ottawa for some 32 years and has become a power in the co-operative beneficiary fraternal society world, where sound financial management and with rare calculation and foresight for loved ones at moderate cost and with rates calculated to meet all obligations in the future. His untiring labors, it is generally conceded, have done much to promote the interests of the Canadian A.O.U.W. and keep it off the rocks which poor management and unwise investments brought to other jurisdictions in the United States and elsewhere. Year after year the Grand Lodge of Canada has recognized in Mr. Currier a man absolutely devoted to duty, and his ability and service are great assets of the order in this country. He can pride with pride over the long and successful career he has followed with the good work of the order and with confidence in the future of the new era of splendid prosperity seems to be before the A.O.U.W. in this country.

Grand Recorder Marshall Dixon Currier was born in the village of Otterville, Oxford county, province of Ontario, and is the youngest son of the late Dr. George Washington Currier, who emigrated to Canada in 1836 from New York State. He received a common school education in the village of his birth, and attended Eastman's Business College in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the winter of 1859 and 1860. He spent three years in a counting room as clerk and bookkeeper, and then entered the employ of the Canadian Southern Railway Co. at St. Thomas, Ont., in 1854, where he remained until 1860, when he was transferred to the office of the purchasing department. He was one of 27 charter members of the first lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, which was organized in April, 1877, and in 1878, at the organization of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, Ont., he was elected grand recorder of the lodge, and held that position until 1880, when he was elected grand recorder of the province of Ontario, and held that position until 1881, when he was elected grand recorder of the Dominion of Canada.

In any age or by any race Tecumseh would be considered great. Of all American Indians there perhaps is no more patriotic figure. He loved truth and fought against everything mean and sordid. In intelligence and humanity he was superior to his people. He fought against the United States, but he fought as a brave man. No charge of barbarity or of cruelty against the United States, he was a noble in spirit and in deed, he was a magnificent example to all. He was the last of the great chiefs of the Indians. He had the imagination of a poet, the courage of a hero, the patience and fortitude of a saint. His dream, like that of Pontiac, was to see the scattered tribes united in one great confederation which would drive the whites or prevent them from encroaching upon the lands of the Indians. He knew their weakness, their jealousies and their contentions, and he tried to bring them out of the book of the mission and into the path of the true religion. For years he labored to nationalize the Indians.
