There was a striking episode of collective mania. Three hundred workmen were about to enter a factory. They stayed outside and this was saved, but their amazement at the principal view of the factory called their names over until tomorrow.

MR. SPENCE MET THE ALDERMEN

Ex-Controller of Toronto, Talks to Civic Heads of Government by Board of Control.

The mayor and members of the common council met in the mayor's office this morning and had an informal discussion with F. S. Spence, ex-controller of Toronto, on the system of civic government by board of control.

While the meeting was practically nothing more than an informal one, no resolutions being passed, except a vote of thanks to Mr. Spence, those present were given a very clear insight into the idea of a board of control and it is possible that the reorganization committee at its meeting tonight may evolve some changes in the arrangements of the civic government.

His Worship the mayor, who has advocated the board of control system here for some time past, in speaking of the meeting said he had been much impressed with the scheme as outlined by Mr. Spence and he thought it could be worked out very advantageously in St. John.

Following the Canadian club banquet last evening, Dr. T. D. Walker, president, entertained Mr. Spence and a few friends at his home on Princess street.

THE WEAPONS OF MYSTERY
BY JOSEPH HOCKING.

Author of "All Men are Liars," "Fields of Fair Renown," etc., etc.

My heart began to beat violently now, for I felt I was near the time when my labors would be rewarded by success, or I should have to give up my search in despair.

"Are they all Europeans?"

"No. There was one Turk, one Frenchman, two Italians, and one Egyptian. My heart gave a great bound. Surely I had been guided aright; I should find him at last."

"Are they at home during the day?"

"No," was the reply; "they are mostly but not all at home during the day."

"But they come home at night, all except one?"

"Which was he?"

"The Egyptian."

"Did he stay at home during the day?"

"He really could not say. He only came a little more than two days ago, and his habits seemed uncertain."

"Did he in the Egyptian at home now?"

"No," said the man, eyeing me keenly. "Might I ask when he will be home?"

I asked eagerly.

"I do not think it right to answer questions about my lodgers," said the man sharply. "You have asked a great many. I must know your reasons for so doing before I answer any more."

I began to chide myself for my folly. I had raised suspicions and now I might not be able to get the information I wanted. "I did not intend to be offensive," I said. "If I mistake not, this Egyptian gentleman is acquainted with a man in England whom I know, and I have a message of great importance to convey."

"To Mr. Kaffar's advantage?" asked the Italian, eagerly.

No words can express what I felt as the man unthinkingly uttered Kaffar's name. I had not come on a false report. The Egyptian gentleman's name was the key to the mystery. "He can turn it to his advantage," I replied.

"Mr. Kaffar is not in Turin at present," he said confidently.

"Could you tell me where he is?" I asked, with beating heart.

"I cannot. You see—," and the Italian put his face close to mine. "Well, I ask if you are somewhat of a—well, a gentleman fond of play?"

"I did not reply."

"Ah, I thought so," said he, cunningly. "At first I was afraid you were a detective fellow, but I see now that you are not. I hope you know that Mr. Kaffar is a very accomplished gentleman, and he left yesterday afternoon for a little tour—where I don't know. Another accomplished gentleman went with him. We have a jolly house, and you Englishmen would enjoy a few nights here. You can come up to-night and see out of our Italian good."

"When will Mr. Kaffar be back?"

"He said he might be back on Monday night—on Tuesday evening at latest."

"I don't care to come and play till he comes," I said. "Will he let you know when he is coming back?"

"Yes," he said, he'd telegraph."

"Would you mind letting me know the train?" I asked, standing at the Hotel Trombetta.

"Yes, yes, I shall be delighted; and then, when he comes, well—But what name shall I write on my message?"

"Herod Voltaire," I said.

I went away then, and began to think I had found the man, and yet I had not. Nothing was certain yet. It was now Saturday, and he would not return until Monday night. On Tuesday morning, and I must be in London by Wednesday at midnight, or all was lost. Say he came back on Tuesday by noon, then there would be only thirty-six hours left in which to get to London. Thirty-six hours, and many hundreds of dreary, weary miles between. Or if he should not come at all! If the Italian were deceiving me!

I shall not try and relate what happened the next two days, except to say that I set Simon to watch every train that came into Turin station, while I did all I could to discover whether he was hiding in Turin.

Neither of us saw Kaffar, nor did we hear anything of him.

Monday night came. I had received no message from the lodging-house keeper, neither had I heard any news. The suspense was becoming terrible.

Six o'clock. Seven o'clock, and no news!

"Simon," I said, "go to the lodging-house and ask whether any message has been received."

The willing fellow, still with a smile on his face and a shrewd look, started to do my bidding. I do not know how I should have borne up during those two terrible days, but for my faithful friend.

He had not been gone above half an

EVENING FROCK, WITH EMBROIDERED NET TRIMMINGS.

The embroidered bandings which are sold by the yard make very rich trimmings for satin evening frocks. Such a trimming is used most effectively on this charming costume of pastel rose color. The neckline is a soft rose tint and is embroidered with silver threads and silk of rose shades in light and medium tones. Across the shoulders go bands of more silk in a rose shade, somewhat darker than the rest of the frock, and at one side of the corsage are two artificial blossoms in rose and American beauty color. The simple lines of this model are very beautiful, the apron drapery sweeping downward to the point of the train. The hem at the bottom is set in by hand and is heavily weighted to make the skirt drag on the floor.

ITS A MATTER OF THE MEN MORE THAN THE METHODS

Ex-Controller Spence, of Toronto, Addressing the Canadian Club Upon Civic Government by Board of Control Points to This Truism—Says Fifty Good Men Can Bring Reform—An Excellent Address.

From the nature of the subject—civic government by board of control—the address given by R. S. Spence, of Toronto, before the Canadian Club last evening, struck a note of greater personal interest for the members than has been touched by the long array of able speakers since the club was founded.

From the fact that only recently Mr. Spence himself ceased to be a controller on the Toronto board, he was able to present the subject with a knowledge born of experience. He showed the changes which had been made since the system was adopted ten years ago, indicating some of the weaknesses and emphasizing the features which made for good administration.

Dealing with the problems of civic government in general, Mr. Spence laid stress on the importance of men rather than methods and condemned the indifference of citizens in the choice of candidates. He pointed out that the board of control, practically every constituency in the domain.

He made an appeal that politics should be treated in the broadest sense as part of every man's religion. "I have no patience," he said, "with the man who goes to a prayer meeting, and lets the business of the city go to the devil and whines that it is not better."

There was a large attendance, and the address was listened to with the closest attention. Before closing, Mr. Spence answered questions put to him by the members.

By invitation of the executive several members of the board of control and aldermen who were not members of the club were present.

The election of a nominating committee to select officers for the ensuing year resulted in a lively discussion, some of the points being raised by Mr. Spence.

A committee of five, which was the original number put in nomination, four of whom were added by the meeting. The committee consisted of: Mr. Spence, Mr. J. H. Heyman, Mr. H. Heyman, Mr. H. Heyman, and Mr. H. Heyman.

"Don't Neglect a Cough or Cold."

It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It is without an equal as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop a cough, soothe the throat and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing properties of the Norway Pine Tree will proclaim its great virtue by promptly eradicating the bad effects, and a persistent use of the remedy cannot fail to bring about a complete cure.

Do not be humbugged into buying so-called Norway Pine Syrups, but be sure and insist on having Dr. Wood's. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

Mrs. A. Ellis, Innisfail, Alta., writes: "Last spring I had Typhoid fever and Bronchitis, which left me with a terrible cough. I tried doctor's medicine but got no relief until my husband got me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before I had finished it my cough was cured. My husband also used it whenever he has a cough. I would not be without it."

The executive and judiciary elective and independent. The trend was disastrous. Frequent cases could be called to mind in which localities elected officials not to the law, but to the law in accordance with the local prejudices which prevailed.

In drawing up the system in Toronto, the best British and United States municipal principles were incorporated. The council was elective, every member being responsible to the people. The board of control or municipal cabinet, which consisted of four members besides the mayor, had seats in the council. Reports of all the board were submitted to the council which criticized and had the right of veto.

The board of control was, in effect, the government; the council, which was composed of eighteen members—three from each of the six wards—was the opposition. Every recommendation of the government was sure to be handled pretty severely. At first the board of control was elected by the council. This was not found to work well. There was wide pulling by men who wanted to be chairman of committees, and it was not found to be a good thing which went on the board was taken out of the council's hands and the mayor and the four controllers were elected by the people.

There had formerly been a wise provision that to be eligible for a seat at the board of control a man must serve two years as alderman. This qualification, however, had been taken away and men who had not previously sat in the council were admitted.

When the board was first organized every citizen had four votes which could be cast in favor of one man, with the result that there was minority representation. This had since been changed. Every citizen still had four votes but only one could be given to each candidate.

The English system of administration had been tried, but it was found that good men had not the time, so the United States system by executive concentration, or board of control, was adopted.

The board of control met every morning except Monday and Saturday at 11 o'clock. As a result every citizen who had business to transact could get it done at once. There was continuous supervision over every department of the city.

While the board of control was largely executive, it also considered questions of legislation. A committee of the council, first to the board of control and as a result nothing went to the council in a raw state, and the aldermen and the public were prepared by reports in the press. The board of control also acted as financial committee, and the public was kept advised of the city's financial condition by reports in the press.

Mr. Spence was given a very hearty reception. He would be glad, he said, if he could be of any assistance in solving the civic problem of St. John. He regarded the subject on which he was to speak was not more interesting or attractive, to the plan of government by commission and instead Galveston, where, he said, the plan first adopted went to pieces almost at once because two members were elected by the citizens and three by the government. The government men, being in the majority, ran the business. At the present time all the members were elected by the people for a two years' term. The result was that, once elected, no one could get at the head of the business office. He contended that administration must be conducted under some body which could criticize it.

STARTLING STATEMENT

Mr. H. Heyman, 132 Colborne street, Kingston, Ont., says: "Mio-na is worth its weight in gold as a remedy for indigestion, constipation, and all ailments of the stomach. For years I had suffered with my stomach, and could find no cure nor even a temporary relief. I was weak and nervous, and would sour and form gas on my stomach, and could find no relief. I was unable to sleep for this and there was nothing to relieve my miserable condition. I was weak and languid and would feel as tired in the morning as on going to bed, and perspiration would break out all over my body. I would be so weak from vomiting that I would fall to my knees. My head would ache and spells of dizziness would leave me unable to see. Doctors had termed the trouble gastritis, but failed to benefit me. I tried Mio-na, which I procured at Chas. Watson's, 100 King street, on advice of a friend, which has cured me when all else failed. I am sound and well, and feel grateful to Mio-na for my present health."

It's the known results obtained by Mio-na that place it far and away above all other remedies and cures. Chas. Watson, 100 King street in offering to refund the money if Mio-na fails to cure stomach trouble, 50 cents a box. Relief in twenty-four hours.

Playgrounds at the public schools of Jersey City, N. J., have proved so successful that the Board of Education will go into the work more extensively next year.

Both houses of the city council of Kansas City, Mo., have passed an ordinance which provides playgrounds for the children of the North End. There will be separate playgrounds for the negroes and whites.

Mrs. T. M. Scruggs was made president of the Memphis, Tenn., Playgrounds Association on August 18th. Mrs. Scruggs stated that it was the object of the association to establish swimming pools, shower baths and industrial schools as well as outdoor gymnasiums.

The city of Alameda, Cal., has just purchased a 13-acre tract costing $40,000, and a sea beach park costing $45,000. Arrangements are also being made to purchase another tract in the central part of the city. Playgrounds will be established in all three.

R. E. Cavin, of Buffalo, N. Y., has established a sort of neighborhood club, and playground for the boys. The playground is well equipped.

DISEASED KIDNEYS

Made Sound and Strong Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"Two doctors told me that I was incurable, but thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I am a well woman to-day." This strong statement was made by Mrs. Ed. Rose, of St. Catherine, to a reporter, who heard of her remarkable cure called to see her. "A few years ago while living in Hamilton," continued Mrs. Rose, "I was attacked with kidney trouble. The doctor lulled me into a state of false security, while the disease continued to make inroads. Finding that I was not getting better I consulted a specialist, who told me that the trouble had developed into Bright's disease and that I was incurable. I had driven out of a mere shadow and suffered from pain in the back, and often a difficulty in breathing. Insomnia next came to add to my tortures and I passed dreary, sleepless nights, and felt that I had not long to live. In this despairing condition my husband urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and to please him I began to take them. After using several boxes, I felt the pills were helping me and I continued taking them until I had again restored to perfect health, and every symptom of the disease had disappeared. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills certainly brought me back from the shadow of the grave, and I have since enjoyed the best of health."

Every drop of blood in the body is filtered by the kidneys. If the blood is weak and the kidneys have no strength for their work and leave the blood unfiltered and foul. Then the kidneys get clogged with poisonous impurities, which bring aching backs and deadly Bright's disease. The only hope is to strike without delay at the root of the trouble in the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new blood. They flush the kidneys clean, head their inflammation and give them strength for their work. Common kidney pills only touch the symptoms—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the cause. That is why they cure for good, and it is the same time improve the health in every other way. But you must get the genuine pills with the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

KICKERS IN CONGRESS WANT RULES AMENDED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—Definite action was taken today by the House "kickers" in their fight against the existing rules of the lower branch of congress.

At a caucus attended by twenty-four members, two principles were agreed upon—first, the house and not the speaker should select all committees, including the committee on rules; second, that there should be a call of the committees at least one day a week.

A committee consisting of representatives Gardner, of Massachusetts, chairman; Madison, of Kansas, and Cooper, of Wisconsin, was appointed to so revise the house rules as to conform to these principles and report next Monday night, when another caucus will be held.

"That you will come back to England with me at once."

"I cannot; I dare not. He has promised to take life-long if I do."

"No harm shall happen to you. I promise."

"You will not allow him to touch me?"

"He shall not."

"Then I will go."

My point was gained. The man had promised to accompany me willingly, while I had expected a difficult matter in getting him to England.

A HELPFUL ADDRESS It was an inspiring and hopeful spectacle to see Keith's Assembly rooms filled with citizens last evening, listening with eager and sustained interest to the message on civic government which Mr. F. S. Spence has brought from the city of Toronto. It may be accepted as an evidence that people are thinking earnestly upon the subject discussed so clearly and so admirably by the ex-controller from the Queen City of Ontario.

Mr. Spence did much more than describe the system of government by which the city of Toronto is governed. He went into the theory of government, contrasting the Canadian and American, and English and American systems, and showed how in his opinion Toronto had improved upon both English and American municipal systems by combining features of both.

YOU

My heart full of love, my lips are scant of speech. It is you, you, it is the each to each! It is happy words of dawn that blow the world awake. It is sunrise, leaving sunlight on the rippled-crested lake. Oh, the fancies of memory when my glad spirits drink! Night and morn' and rippled corn, harvest-burdened hill. And it is sunset at twilight when the earth Oh, love, love of years that floods my mind anew. And back of all and in all just you, you.

IN LIGHTER VEIN WAYS AND MEANS.

"It takes a heap of determination, son," said Uncle Eben, "to have your own way in this life, and 'heap o' bread' to know what to do with it after you git it."—Washington Star.

AN ADEPT.

"Could you do the landlord in 'The Lady of Lyons' asked the character of a secretary. "Well, I should think I might; I have done a good many landlords in my time."

AS THE TWIG IS BENT.

"I hope you were a good little boy while at your aunt's and didn't tell any stories," replied the young hunter to a boy. "Only the one you put me up to, 'ma,' re-plied the character to say.

JOLLY HIM A LITTLE.

If you run across a fellow with a wrinkle in his eye, jolly him a little! Don't preach a sermon to him 'bout his wrinkles from grace, grip. If you see the sunshine streaming in, jolly him a little. An' jolly him a little. —Los Angeles Express.

PROSPECTUS.

Oh, I shall write a rural play. My zeal shall write a rural play. Of heroes old who as they fight, say "Gosh!" "Gosh!" and "Zounds!" "I awan!" likewise "By gosh."

HE WON.

The officers' mess was discussing rifle shooting. "But any one here," said one young lieutenant, "that I can fire twenty shots at a target without waiting for the marker, I'll get a new rig." "Done," cried a major.

HE WON.

"What are you trying to do?" protested the major. "I'm not shooting for the target at all. I'm trying for those cigars." And he got them. —Everybody's Magazine.

THE SCIENCE OF DRINKING

Conditions in Germany and the United States Twenty Years Ago Contrasted.

As a contribution to the discussion of the drink habit and its evil effects, a reader of the Times has handed to this paper the following, which appeared in the St. John Globe Nov. 6th, 1886, or more than 22 years ago.

SCIENCE OF DRINKING.

How it is done in Germany—The American Drinker Too Anxious to Take it All at Once. Washington, Oct. 31. Consul Tanner, of Chemnitz, Saxony, in a recent report to the State Department, presents some novel and interesting statements about beer and beer drinking in Germany, and also gives us an insight into the "science of drinking" as known and practiced in that country. Mr. Tanner has been in Europe for some time, and evidently writes from wide observation. He puts out his conclusions about intemperance in the United States and his criticisms of the blind, irrational and suicidal manner of drinking in the United States, confidently and fearlessly going on to describe the manner of drinking in Germany and contrasting it with the manner in vogue in the United States.

A MASONIC BANQUET

Chatham, N. B., Jan. 18.—Miramichi Lodge, No. 18, P. & A. M., successfully celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the lodge this evening with a grand banquet at the Hotel Touraine. Representatives of different lodges throughout the province, including a contingent from St. John, attended. The evening was spent in degree work at the Masonic Hall, followed by a banquet. The dining room and tables were prettily decorated and the repast served up in Host Archer's best style.

The Office Chair

Many office workers like to appropriate the softest chairs or stools that can be found in the belief that the fatigue of sitting is lessened by a well-cushioned seat. This is a mistake. Nature has provided man with a ready-made and portable cushion of fat and muscle. When we sit on a smooth and hard surface the weight of the body is borne by three main points, but when we rest on something soft and yielding the muscles of the thighs also bear a large proportion of the weight, and being thus subjected to pressure, the circulation within these muscles is much retarded.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throbbing. "After taking three bottles of your wonderful medicine, our baby was entirely well and needed no more medicine. At sixteen months of age she weighed thirty pounds. She had cried eight months, night and day, and nothing did her good until we tried Scott's Emulsion."

Scott's Emulsion

probably saved this child's life. Four doctors had been tried. Scott's Emulsion seemed to be just the thing needed, and it is just the thing needed by thousands of other children. It is so easily digested, so pure and harmless, yet most powerful in building up the most delicate child or adult.
