FRANCE MAY HAVE TO GO BEYOND CONVENTION'S ORDER
Artillery is Being Sent to Casablanca to Replace the Machine Guns Now There.
PARIS, Aug. 14.—Competent government circles decline to discuss the possibility of France eventually being compelled to overstep the limits of the terms of the Algeiras convention, but the following statements on Sunday from an authoritative quarter say: "Events may force our hands, but until they do we shall try in good faith to carry out the mandate which we hold from the powers."
It was officially explained this morning that the artillery being shipped to Casablanca from Oran is designed to replace the machine guns and other artillery landed from the warships which are not of sufficient range to reach the camps of the rebel Moors.

ROSEBERY OPPOSES SCOTTISH LEGISLATION
A Dramatic Speech, of No Weight, Sings the House of Lords—Conservatives Are Delighted.
LONDON, Aug. 14.—Lord Rosebery made another of his meteoric appearances in the House of Lords last night and delivered an able speech against the government. With great rhetorical brilliancy he denounced the government's Scottish small land owners' bill. The rumor had gone forth that Lord Rosebery was to speak and the House was filled to listen to a Liberal Peer castigate a Liberal cabinet. Lord Rosebery declared that he wished the government well, but he ridiculed its efforts to legislate for Scotland. His complaint was that the bill in question would "crochetize" the Scotchman.
In the most scathing manner and with an abundance of dramatic gesticulation, the speaker declared he would not be a party to the introduction into the health body politic of Scotland of the "poisonous bacillus of the Irish-Chandler."
The Conservative Peers were delighted and cheered Lord Rosebery to the echo. His speech was the event of the evening, but the Conservatives themselves doubt whether it will have much practical effect.

WANT ROOSEVELT TO WORK FOR SETTLEMENT
CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday asked the president of the Board of Trade to appeal to President Roosevelt to use his personal influence towards effecting a Conservative telegraph strike. President H. H. Sager sent the following telegram to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay: "The business of this country which is suffering such serious loss to the extent of millions of dollars each day on account of the strike is being threatened with a national catastrophe. In this great emergency we look to the chief executive of this country to take a personal hand."

THE STAR
Makes no boast when it claims to be St. John's most popular afternoon paper for today, as in the past, it is read by more people than any other evening contemporary. To the thoughtful advertiser the above statement is pertinent, for the advertiser wants that paper which "pulls" the business and the Star is the paper. Besides it is the home paper, the paper that the wife and children read; and the Star covers St. John like the Morning Sun.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE VISIT TO FREDERICTON.

ST. JOHN MEN LEAD FOR ASSOCIATION CUP
Two Ranges Were Shot Up Till Noon Today.
In the Shoot-off in the Tie for the Donville Cup, J. F. Emery Won from J. Downey.

SUSSEX, N. B., Aug. 14.—The second day of the P. R. A. rifle meet dawned bright and clear, and at eight this morning the shooting in the association cup contest commenced. The day is an ideal one for shooting, there being no wind on the range. Large crowds were present this morning, and it is expected that when the final scores have been made up, Sergeants Gladwin and Archibald will have good leads over the other competitors.
After the 500 yards had been shot off this morning, the tie made yesterday between Sergeants J. F. Emery and J. Downey, of St. John, in the Nursery cup contest was shot. The men led yesterday with 32 points. They again led this morning, and were obliged to shoot twice. In the last round Sergeant Downey made a magnum and Emery scored an inner, which won the Nursery cup and 410. Sergeant Downey won $8, the prize for second place.
The Sinclair Cup competition, open to teams of five members, is being shot for in connection with the Association Cup. The teams which are being delighted with the entertainment here are: 1st Regiment—1st team, James McAvity, Dr. Langstroth, Captain H. Perley, Capt. J. S. Frost and Sergeant J. Downey.
2nd Regiment—2nd team, Capt. E. K. McKay, Major O. W. Wetmore, P. H. Hart, J. Douman and J. P. Emery.
74th Regiment—J. Wetmore, Lieut. Magge, J. Freeze, W. Barlett and J. Chandler.
8th Hussars—Major J. H. McRobbie, Major Kinnear, Lieut. Arnold, J. Benson and Capt. Murray.
At noon when the 50 yards range was finished the 74th Regiment team was in the lead.

CRIMINAL WAS LOCATED BY HIS FINGER PRINTS
Black Hand Blackmailer Located by New Jersey Police by the Bertillon System.
ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 14.—Traced by finger prints discernible in an ink impression of a black hand signed to a letter received by Father Peretti, St. Anthony's Roman Catholic, in which the priest is threatened with death unless he turns over $300 by Sept. 1. Michael Vento, an Italian barber, was arrested as the writer of the letter. The police rounded up several Italians and ink impressions of their fingers. Edward Schwartz, who is at the head of the Bertillon bureau in Newark, declared that the impression in the letter corresponded with the impression of Vento's fingers taken by the police, and on this evidence a conviction is hoped for.

BIGGS-RODD MARRIAGE AT AMHERST TODAY
AMHERST, N. S., Aug. 14.—A very quiet home wedding took place this morning when Margaret Rodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodd, was united in marriage to Douglas Biggs, the well known traveller from Fredericton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Crosswell, rector of Christ church. The bride was becomingly dressed in a tailored made gown of brown broadcloth and carried a handsome bouquet of white roses. Only immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present. The presents were numerous and costly, embracing a handsome cheque from the bride's father.
A dainty luncheon was served immediately after the ceremony, and the young couple left on the C. P. R. for an extended trip through Prince Edward Island. Both the bride and groom are well known throughout the Maritime Provinces, and their many friends will join in extending to them best wishes for future success.

THEIR PICTURES IN SALOONS, KEEP MEN FROM DRINKING
PONDULAC, Wis., Aug. 14.—As a result of Pondulac's Unique "Jag" ordinance requiring that the portraits of habitual drunkards shall be posted in all saloons of the city, together with notices of saloon keepers to sell them no liquor under penalty of losing their license, the Galaxy of "Blaze" celebrities is interesting. The common council ordered E. A. Simon "posted." Mat Dengel made the unusual request that his own photograph be included in the list, as this was the only way he could get sobered up and return to a decent life. The only photograph to adorn the Saloon Gallery previously was that of Mat Farro, a substantial property owner and taxpayer.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 14.—The Federal National Bank last night went into the hands of a liquidator of financiers headed by John Worthington, of Kansas City. Isaac N. Perry and his associates transferred their entire interests to the new owners and passed completely out of the life of the bank.
Rev. G. W. Troop, who has since been in charge of St. Martin's church, of which his father, Rev. G. Osborne Troop is rector, will leave this city at the end of the month to go to Washington, D. C., where he has been appointed to the curacy of St. John's church. Rev. Mr. Troop has made for himself many friends in Montreal church-going circles, and his early departure will be learned with regret.—Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—It is announced that cable communication with Tokio, Osaka, Kobe and Yokohama, was cut off today. The cause of the interruption has not been explained.

Earl Grey Before the Canadian Club Speaks Hopefully of the Future of the Maritime Provinces and of St. John --- More Modern Ideas Should Prevail.
The dinner given by the Canadian Club in honor of His Excellency today was quite an elaborate affair.
Over 200 guests were assembled. The York Assembly rooms had been tastefully decorated and flowers were spread in profusion over the tables.
The vice-regal party arrived at 1.30 o'clock. The other guests of the club who had been waiting in the anti-room were then introduced to His Excellency after which the party repaired to the main dining room where the members of the club were gathered in readiness.
Upon his arrival His Excellency was received with prolonged cheers.
Dr. Bayard was among the guests, and, assisted by His Worship, the Mayor proceeded to his place at table.
Before luncheon was served Rev. Wm. Kilgaring pronounced grace.
President Earle, of the Canadian Club, conferred the honorary membership of the club on one of the oldest citizens of this city, Dr. Bayard. He paid an eloquent tribute to the worth of Dr. Bayard who is a noble exponent of all that is good and worthy.
President Earle spoke of the feeling predominating among friends from the homeland and from across the border. The President said His Excellency was not present as Governor General, but as an honorary member of the Canadian Club of Winnipeg. He then proposed a toast to "Our fellow member from Winnipeg, our guest of the evening."
Upon rising, Earl Grey received with loud cheers. He said he greatly appreciated the honor paid him in being received not only as governor general but as a member of the Winnipeg Club. He spoke in a strong voice, his enunciation was clear, and his anecdotes were very apt.
He was always glad to accept an invitation from a Canadian Club. He had been asked by an American who was Canada's contribution to the Empire. He said he regarded the institution of Canadian Clubs as a distinct acquisition to British supremacy. The cordial influence which hurried down republic in the past was local and party feeling. The Canadian Club cannot be regarded as an open window through which the white light from outside could shine inside.
He said that one day Canada might be the controlling influence in the Empire, and the Canadian Club was a great influence for good. It overthrew the reign of boodles when such was rampant.
The visit to St. John completed his official tour, and he said that "you are the last province, you are certainly not the least of the great provinces I have visited." The prosperity of a nation depended on its soil, and that of Canada could be seen in the provinces where the spirit of the United Empire Loyalists still exists. The city of St. John, which was built on solid foundations of loyalty, is a shining example of the industries and situation of the city, which is so greatly endowed by nature. He felt a great future was in store for St. John.
It is the maritime provinces of the world which have been the centre of culture and advancement. The Phoenicians, Dutch and English provide examples of this. The history of Holland should always be a warning and incentive to the people of New Brunswick. Holland became a world power. The fishing industry laid the foundation of the greatness of the Dutch. He thought the people of this province clung to crude methods of catching and curing fish and they should advance in this matter so as to advance along the whole line. The fate of Holland shows what happens if local and individual interests are allowed to spread their influence over national interests.
He said he had not, as reported in Halifax, asked that Canada should immediately contribute to the support of the British navy. It is obviously impossible for the population of the United Kingdom to maintain the navy necessary for the defence of the empire. He never suggested that the time had come for Canada to take up its burden of imperial defence, which she will have to do at some time.
He believed there are other directions in which Canada should expend her present wealth. The Empire and Canada's energies should therefore be concentrated on what would increase her strength.
Upon the conclusion of His Excellency's address Premier Robinson moved that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to him. After prolonged cheering the party broke up.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hartshorn of Newwood, Mass., arrived on the Yale yesterday morning, and are the guests of Mrs. Harrison's sister, Mrs. Mansford Kincaid.

SENECA WINS THIRD RACE FOR CANADA'S CUP

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Three straight for Seneca. The Hershey boat, built for the Rochester Yacht Club to defend Canada's cup against Adele of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, won the third and decisive race of the series today, crossing the finish line at 2:35.50, official time, and more than a mile ahead of the challenger. The result was not a surprise to yachtsmen who watched the two previous races, for Seneca had proven herself faster in practically all kinds of weather.

ISAACS' CIGAR FACTORY ON FIRE

Damage to Stock $3,000 and to Building $700
Fire Caught Underneath Stove on Third Floor, But Was Soon Put Out—Loss Covered by Insurance

At a quarter to ten o'clock last evening fire broke out in the rear of the cigar factory of A. S. Isaacs on Princess street, near Germain. The blaze was put out by the firemen after about an hour's work. Damage to the building was slight, amounting to about $700. The damage to the stock is not definitely known, as neither of the Messrs. Isaacs are in the city. It was caused mainly by water and smoke and would probably amount to two or three thousand dollars.

Nickel Audiences Sang Chorus

Chorus singing in connection with illustrated songs is by no means a new diversion, but the manner in which it was done at the Nickel's new lyric baritone, led the audiences last evening was a source of additional entertainment to the many people present at each show. Mr. Brown's gentlemanly manner was highly acceptable to the people, and they joined in the choruses of 'I Can't Find a Girl Like You in any style. In a word Mr. Brown made a distinct hit, both as a vocalist of merit and a leader. He is a very valuable adjunct to the Nickel's intelligent staff of entertainers. In the afternoon Miss Felix sweetly sang that song story of a dear old couple, 'The Picture, showing a lighthouse romance and tragedy of the British coast, which high class and salient, the comedy film acting as a heart-easing foil to the somewhat dramatic and sad ending of the first mentioned subject. The pictures, houses favored the singers every performance.

TROUBLE OVER RIGHT OF WAY

Trouble which has been brewing between two residents of the North End for several years caused considerable excitement yesterday, when an open rupture occurred between them. The people referred to are Dr. Gilchrist, who resides at 5 Elm street, and Frank Watson, who runs a grocery store on the corner of Main and Elm streets, in partnership with James Watson. It appears that the Watsons have a right of way in connection with the street to the rear end of the store to Elm street. The grocers have been in the habit, according to Dr. Gilchrist, of throwing waste material in the space enclosed between the house and the doctor claims belongs to him, subject to the right of way already referred to. This space is built up about level with the doctor's dining room, and he said that this waste material was at times very offensive. The doctor said that he spoke quietly to the grocers concerning it, but without result. As soon as the refuse matter was placed there Dr. Gilchrist would throw it in a vacant space facing on the street.

JAPAN'S FURRY

LITTLE MASCOT

God Daruma Seen Everywhere in Island Kingdom.

Used as Tobacconist's Sign or Child's Toy — Is Ornamental or Grotesque.

Many and fascinating are the legends that cluster about the Japanese god Daruma, whose red-robed figure is seen everywhere in the Island Empire. From his place on the household god shelf he looks down on the family, and as a toy he is the playmate and familiar of the children. The gods of Japan are treated by their followers with an affectionate friendliness, and a lack of reverence not in keeping with their high estate from the point of view of a foreigner—and the slight of Daruma doing duty as a tobacconist's sign is something of a shock to our preconceived ideas of what is due to a deity. But from the huge sign of the tobacconist to the tiny toy of the children, he runs the gamut of uses and abuses, and is ornamental or grotesque, according to the whim of the artist or the artisan. One may sit at a table and season his food with salt shaken from perforations in this sacred head, or light a pipe with matches drawn from the open mouth of his distorted countenance, and the limit of familiarity is reached when his image is used in a game similar to one seen at rural fairs in our own country, where he is a target for balls, thrown by contesting youths to knock him over.

Occasionally he is seen in a full length figure, but that represents him in his original state, before the great change came upon him which so endeared him to the popular fancy. Daruma, he it is known, was a Buddhist priest and missionary, and, as tradition affirms, was the first to bring the doctrine of the great religion from India, by way of China and Korea—as so many things came to Japan. Emulating the Great Master, Siddhartha, he sought enlightenment and holiness by long periods of contemplation, silently communing with the Infinite. On one such occasion he sat cross-legged on the ground for nine years, and during that time his legs dropped off, for lack of their usual exercise. So he is generally represented as a legless body, folded in a red mantle, the hood of which is drawn up over his head. The face is heavily whiskered, the eyes dark and soft under heavy brows, and the visage altogether East Indian in type.

One must not forget to mention another mischance that befell Daruma during the period of this meditation, a mischance of world-wide significance, judging from the results. According to a vow he had taken, he was to remain awake during a certain period, that might lose no moment in which enlightenment might befall, and as this was a large contract it is not to be wondered at that on one occasion he took a little nap. But personally he did not view this lapse with consternation. In fact, he was so disgusted that he immediately cut off his eyelids, that they might never again droop over his tired eyes. As he cut them from him in a rage—lo, a miracle! They took root where they fell, and from them a graceful shrub sprang into life.

When his disciples discovered what had happened, they gathered the leaves of the shrub and made from them an infusion which they believed would have miraculous properties. And so it proved, for when they drank of it they lost all desire for sleep. This came into existence what we know today as the tea plant. No wonder a representation of Daruma usually graces the tea rooms of the country! The little figure of Daruma with which the children play are weighted, so they will right themselves when thrown down, and from this fact has grown many sayings and proverbs. He is called "The getting up little priest," and one is advised to right himself like Daruma, when he has been cast down by circumstances. "The wee ones of Japan" tumble the toy about, and shout, "Ever the little red-headed Daruma headless sits up again!" In some parts of Japan the Darumas are made without eyes, and are called blind Darumas. Eyes are eventually given them by way of reward, when they have brought good luck to their possessors. Then a paint brush supplies the deficiency. It is believed that the eyes are much desired, and that the little god will work hard to earn them by bringing some special good fortune to the owner.

A prank of mischievous children is to set a few of the eyeless ones in a row, and, selecting one of them, give him several eyes, not only in their proper place, but painting them also on his forehead, chin, and cheeks. This is supposed to be very aggravating to the sighted gods, so earthly overlooked while their companion is loaded with favors—Sunday Magazine.

FRANK ROCKEFELLER

THREATENS HIS BROTHER

Can Tell Enough to Drive John D. Out of the Country But Will Keep Quiet for a While.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The World published an interview with Frank Rockefeller, brother of John D., in which the former denounces the multimillionaire. The interview was secured eighteen months ago, but was held back under agreement.

According to it, the aged father of the Rockefeller is still alive, but his whereabouts is being kept a mystery.

"My father is alive and well," said Mr. Rockefeller. "He is dependent upon no man. He would scorn the proffer of financial aid from John D., and would not take it from me."

"No one yet knows that I am writing the story, the real history of John D.'s life."

"I finished it secretly here in my office several months ago, but there were imperfections in it and I am doing it all over again."

"Rest assured that it will be right this time."

"Yes," he continued in a bitter tone, "when I make John D.'s true life history public, and explain the facts about father, this country will be too warm for his richest citizen."

"Do ask John D. where our father is; tell him that I sent you and that I dare him to answer."

"But the time will soon come when I can safely speak. Then it will not be safe for John D. to appear upon the streets of any American city. He would be stoned by the people."

"Nothing but flight from the country to some foreign land will save his life when the whole monstrous truth is known."

"John D. is not a human being. He is a monster; merciless in his greed; pitiless in his cold inhuman passions."

"My wife is a God-fearing, God-serving woman, and a few years ago, she withdrew herself and children from her father's influence."

"That is John D.'s church. That is John D.'s religion. That is John D.'s God."

"My wife worshipped there as a girl and loves the old place, but she did not dare to kneel in prayer under the same roof with a man who knew to be a monster."

"Mr. Rockefeller's mood changed again, and he laughed scornfully."

"I have been vastly amused," said he, "by what you told me of your hard search for my father in Cedar Valley. Let me tell you a fact: 'I have reason to know that John D. himself inspired the false tip that took you to Iowa. From private sources of information I learn that he has started several other misleading clues in father's case.'"

"Why does he do it? Because he is mad for publicity as for money. He knows that father is absolutely safe from discovery and he takes malicious pleasure in playing with the public."

"Behind his mask of piety and kindness he laughs at all humanity. He is literally a madman who believes that he is a god who cannot sin."

"This is absolutely true," said Mr. Rockefeller in closing the interview, "and the world will find it out. With the malice of a fiend he has wrecked my business career again and again."

"But I have ferreted out every secret of his terrible life and his end is not far off. Once exposed he must literally flee the country."

The World asserts that for eighteen months it has endeavored to locate the elder Rockefeller, but without success, and that none of his children will tell where he is.

A COFFINED MADMAN.

A Grim and Ghastly Story from Russia

Lunatic Tore Corpse From Coffin in Church and Took Its Place Himself.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A curious story comes from St. Petersburg.

In a village church in the Ed-Koule district of Russia, a dead man's body lay awaiting the last rites.

A madman entered the building, dragged the body out of the coffin, locked it up in a vestment chest, himself took the place of the dead man, and went to sleep.

Three hours later the priest and mourners arrived and the touching orthodox service for the departed began.

The chanting of the priest and the choir, the aromatic perfumes of the incense and the movement around him roused the madman, who suddenly sat up in the coffin.

The priest fell down dead with fright and the congregation fled from the church, followed by the madman.

The noble and cruel attracted a deacon to the place, who overcame with grief at seeing the priest dead, desired to offer prayers for the repose of his soul.

He went to the vestment chest to get his robe, and as he unlocked the door the corpse placed there by the madman fell on him, and he sank down in a swoon.

A few members of the congregation, who had returned, again fled with cries of horror.

SAYS SIBERIAN ROUTE IS FASTEST TO THE EAST

Only Eighteen Days Now by Russian Railway From Kobe to Glasgow, and Improvements Will Cut That Time Six Days.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Canada's trade agent at Yokohama, Alexander MacLean, has submitted to the department mail routes via the Suez canal and via report on the advantage in point of time of the transportation route between the far east and Europe via the Siberian route and via the C. P. R. and Suez route.

According to Mr. MacLean's report the Siberian railway bids fair to be a most important and successful competitor to the present chief eastern trade route via the Suez canal and via the C. P. R.

Recently a traveler from Kobe, Japan made the trip to Glasgow by the Russian route in 13-14 days and this time, it is stated, may be cut down to twelve days with improved service and prompt connections.

The British ambassador at Tokio is also said to have recently made the trip from London to Tokio across Russia in twelve days, although three days were lost between Vladivostok and Soeruga. The time now taken by the C. P. R. route is 23 days.

The entire far East mail carrying from Europe, says Mr. MacLean, to big Tokio and Hong Kong as objective points, will probably come under the Russian route influence.

It is current news that negotiations for a through mail service from Japan to Europe via Siberia, have been in progress for some time past. The Japanese postal authorities are very anxious to utilize this rapid means of communication with Europe.

The agreement with Russia is now under discussion and the department hopes to reach a settlement at an early date.

BAND CONCERTS. A band concert was given last evening on Kings street east, and was enjoyed by a very large number of residents. Why cannot there be two or three such concerts each week during the summer months? St. John is one of the few cities in the east which utterly fails to provide any such form of entertainment for its citizens, and it is remembered that this city possesses four or five bands, some of which are really splendid musical organizations.

HOW TO OBTAIN MORE SUNLIGHT. Proposal to Change the Hands of the Clock. Advance of Twenty Minutes on Four Sundays in April and Recession During September.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—An interesting discussion has arisen in the English and French press as to how a man can make more use of the available hours of daylight. William Willett has just published a pamphlet on the subject. He writes: "For nearly half a year the sun shines for several hours each day while we are asleep and is rapidly nearing the horizon when we reach home after the work of the day is over. Under the most favorable circumstances there then remains only a brief spell of declining daylight in which to spend the short leisure at our disposal."

Another method. "Another means of arriving approximately at the same end would be to alter the clock thirty minutes on six Sundays, the last three in April, the first three in September. We lose nothing and gain most substantially. Having made up our minds to be satisfied on four occasions with a standard of twenty-three hours and forty minutes long, or twenty-three hours and thirty minutes long on three occasions, the advantages aimed at will follow automatically without any trouble whatever."

WIDOW POISONED. DOG DIES AT SIDE. Faithful Animal Licks Deadly Liquid From Owner's Lips as She Lies Dying.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 13.—Mrs. Lena Mason, a widow, thirty-five years old, committed suicide today by swallowing poison in her flat. Her pet dog licked the poison sprayed lips of his mistress and died at her side. The woman left behind her a pathetic letter to her mother in which she mentioned a sweetheart. The police are searching for him to get an explanation. The discovery of the suicide was made by a woman who lives across the hall from Mrs. Mason's apartment. The neighbor entered the flat with the intention of making a call. As she opened the door she became aware of strange fumes, and on further investigation, found Mrs. Mason dead in bed. A tiny fox terrier crawled across the bed as the visitor approached the couch and fell at her feet. After a few pitiful gasps the dog also was dead. It was discovered that the faithful animal had leaped upon the bed, probably as the result of the groans of his mistress, and licked her face. The poison clinging to the lips of the dying woman had been transferred to the animal's tongue. A letter to the dead woman's mother was found on the bureau. It was addressed to Mrs. Catherine Nicholson, of Yates City, Ill., and reads: "Dear Mother—When you read this I will be in another world. Forgive me for what I have done. It was for the man I love that I have done this, but do not blame him. Goodbye." LENA.

FACTS ABOUT OUR GREAT SALE OF SHOES. A Shoe Sale with us doesn't mean an offering of heaps of any old factory's refuse of alluring priced "gone by" styles and "use-to-be" shapes. We don't conduct our business on that basis. Sometimes conditions enable us to give you our good shoes at less than usual price. Then we have a sale—such is the case now. We want to close out our present stock and get ready for Fall Trade—we want to convert our shoes into money, even if we have to meet a loss in order to do so. But we don't buy up job lots or odds and ends simply to make a great show of "cheapness." CHANGES PROPOSED IN INSURANCE LAW. Draft Insurance Bill Based on Insurance Report is Being Distributed. OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—The draft insurance bill, a single copy of which accompanied the report of the Insurance Commission, was sent out on Saturday to the newspapers, etc. The long delay attending the general distribution of the bill has excited a great deal of interest in insurance circles. It was reported that it had been decided to discard the bill and that the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth and Mr. Shepley had drafted a different measure. There would appear to be no truth in this report and the bill which accompanied the findings of the Commission will doubtless be introduced in its present form next session. It will probably be referred to a special committee to the House for preliminary consideration.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES. Never fill a lamp quite full, or when it is brought into a warm room the expansion of the oil will cause it to overflow, and the result will be decidedly unpleasant. Soda used in the laundry should be dissolved before the garments to be washed are placed in the tub. Yellow stains, which soon form holes, are caused by soda touching wet linen. Saucers should be kept clean on the outside as well as inside. To prevent the smoke from sticking rub the outside of a new saucerpan with fat before placing it on the stove. Wash with soda if you suffer from indigestion with hot water and soda. If possible leave a wet umbrella open to dry so that the silk will not rot or crease. If it cannot be left open, turn it upside down, so that the moisture will not collect in the ferrule end and so rot the silk while evaporating. The colored frock or blouse that has become faded with frequent laundering, or from wear in the sun may be bleached to a clear white by boiling in cream of tartar water. The correct quantity to be used to make the garment a pure white is a teaspoonful of the powder to a quart of water.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES SAY THAT NO. 6 COAL IS GOOD

Judge in the Sydney Case Grows Tired of the Long Drawn Out Evidence—Nothing of an Exciting Nature Today

SYDNEY, Aug. 14.—The court opened at ten o'clock with rather a small attendance. Among the witnesses present in court was Hon. Robert Drummond.
The first witness was James Blair, who was examined by E. M. MacDonald. He was assistant foreman of the round house at Stellarton. He had in his experience with locomotives used the different Pictou and Cumberland and Cape Breton coals. On the 11th of August he was on No. 56 engine on which the test was made, referred to by the previous witnesses. He could safely say that the coal used on the engine was good coal. It compared favorably with other coals used on the mainland. Cross-examined by W. M. A. Ritchie. He did not know anything about the effect of high sulphur coal on locomotive engines.

John Gratton, examined by E. M. MacDonald—He had been an I. C. P. locomotive engineer for twenty-three years. He corroborated what Messrs. Mitchell and Rand said regarding the taking of coal from No. 6 for use on the locomotive for tests and described by previous witnesses. He described the test as sufficient to demonstrate that the coal was good for locomotive purposes. He would attribute grate burning to careless handling.

Cross-examined by Mr. W. B. A. Ritchie—Mr. Gratton asked Mr. Ritchie, "Can you tell me how many of Mr. MacDonald's constituents came up here to give evidence on the 11th?" "Well, I must say," said Mr. Ritchie, "it is becoming a serious question to me how many more are coming forward to give evidence on the 11th? How many men were on the engine or on the train? Why not let us have them all?"

"Well," observed Mr. MacDonald, "for the comfort of Mr. Ritchie I may assure him that this is the last one of my constituents to be called to give evidence in this case."
Cross-examined by Mr. W. B. A. Ritchie—He had never studied the question of the coal.
Lorne Webster, examined by E. M. MacDonald, said he did business in Quebec in coal. He has been about twenty years purchasing and selling coal on the St. Lawrence. He was familiar with the commercial value of coal going up the St. Lawrence. The coal from No. 6, of the Dominion Coal Company which he saw yesterday was as good in appearance as any he has handled. The analysis of Port Hood coal was 8 1-2 per cent. of sulphur and 17 per cent. ash. He regarded this as good merchantable coal.

Cross-examined by Mr. Nesbitt—He would not say that coal over four per cent. in sulphur and eight per cent. ash was the best coal. It had been sold at these percentages, not necessarily to that coal with sulphur and ash as described was marketable in Canada.
Roderick McLeod, examined by Mr. J. E. Ritchie. He was the fireman on No. 55 engine the time the test was made. He had no difficulty in getting up and keeping up steam with No. 6 coal. Cross-examined by W. B. A. Ritchie—He never heard of anybody complaining about No. 6 coal. He used the ordinary ordinary method of firing in his engine.
Daniel McKenzie, examined by J. J. Ritchie—He had been an engine driver on the S. L. Railway for eleven years. Previous to the test referred to he had used No. 6 in his engine. That was in 1896. No. 6 coal was about the same as other coals used in the engine. He would just as soon use it as any other. Robert Lofters, examined by J. J. Ritchie—Was a fireman at the Steel Company in 1906. He used No. 6 coal. It was extremely good for steam purposes and as good as any in Cape Breton. He did not see coke briars used with coal. He would be useless to do so, as it would deaden the fire.

Coal No. 6—It's 'n'k 't'it'ah.
Cross-examined by W. B. A. Ritchie—In July and August he noticed the coal being used was marked No. 6. That was the only time he was prepared to speak about this coal. He used about fifteen tons a day. Nearly every day he looked at the ticket and found nothing but No. 6. He had seen breaker coal used. He never noticed any sulphur in the coal when feeding the furnaces. It could readily be noticed when feeding the furnace if it was present.
Joseph McInnis examined by Mr. J. J. Ritchie—He was employed as fireman at the Steel Company. He had used No. 6 coal in the boilers and had used it by itself. He compared it favorably with other Cape Breton coal.
Cross-examined by W. B. A. Ritchie—Has not been with the Steel Company since last April. He was fireman at the beginning of 1906 between January and August in the blooming mill and coke oven boilers. On three or four different days he noticed that No. 6 run of mine was used under the blooming mill boilers. He had used breaker coal which was better.
A bomb was exploded in Lord Ashdown's residence at Clonmel, Ireland, this morning. Lord Ashdown was not hurt.
Mrs. Geo. G. Robinson, who has been visiting relatives on Prince Edward Island, returned to the city yesterday.

MADE NO ATTEMPT TO RESCUE THEO. GALLEY

NEWCASTLE, N. B., Aug. 14.—The investigation into the drowning of Theophilus Galley commenced this morning here, before Coroner Benson. Clerk of the Peace Butler appeared for the crown, Davidson for the Miramichi Steam Navigation Company, and Lawyer for Captain Nowlan.
Frank Galley, brother of the deceased, the first witness, identified the body which the jury viewed. He saw deceased on the boat on the excursion night but was not speaking to him. When the boat was going down the river Carrievore, with whom the deceased kept company, told him the boat was overboard. He told the captain. The captain said it was too late and too dark to stop or to attempt to save the boat, and kept on down river several miles, then turned up. He did not stop. No life preservers were thrown over, nor small boat lowered. There was no attempt at rescue. He did not tell anyone his brother could not swim. Deceased did not appear to be drinking. The boat reached the captain. He was five or six minutes in reaching him.
John Russell—Knew deceased was on a steamer July thirtieth. When below Middle Island he saw Galley walk across the boat, step on a bench and then apparently fall over board. Someone called "man overboard." He started for the boat but was blocked by the crowd. He asked some one to tell the captain and someone said, "yes." A general alarm was raised but the boat did not stop. He was forced away to the wheelhouse and cried "man overboard." A voice therein said, "I heard that a few minutes ago but cannot stop."
The night was very dark and I saw nobody throw a line or a life preserver. Bertha Johnson, sworn, said she was on the steamer on July 13th but was not acquainted with the deceased. She saw a man come past pushing his way to the side. Then she heard a splash. A girl came looking for him and witness told her that he was overboard. She understood her to call him Galley. The girl returned again and wanted to jump overboard. Some boys refused her. I told the boys to tell the captain. The boat was crowded. An orchestra was present and there was dancing during the evening. The hearing was adjourned till this afternoon.

BASS ARE REAL CUTE.

It is related for a fact that the reason bass jump—and it is common practice of the fish—is because they wish to acquire grace and strength in testing their ability against that of fishermen.
Several men who say they know what they are talking about point out that bass do most of their jumping during the spring and are especially active just before the open season begins.
At this time they may be seen doing long distance jumps, somersaults and side stepping.
One bass expert goes so far as to say that he spent an entire afternoon watching a three pound bass dragging a long willow sapling through the water and acting as if it were caught on a hook.
Leaping into the air, it would turn in a half circle as if to disgorge the barb, and there it would swim backward in an endeavor to snap the barb.

This fisherman asserts that what jumping the bass do during the summer is merely to keep in practice and not get stale. Philadelphia North American.

ARISTOCRATIC SERVANT GIRLS.

In many parts of the Continent the father's title is inherited by all his children, and there are several villages in Austria, Poland and Russia in which all the peasants are legitimately descended from some princely ancestor. They are legally described as "princes" in all official documents, and on leaving their homes many of these peasant princes find themselves sadly hampered by the burden of a high-sounding title.
They cannot get rid of the titles, however, as they are purely personal ones, and not marketable commodities, like so many in Italy and Portugal, and by the police regulations no employe can be engaged without showing his papers, in which his rank, age, and occupation are stated. Needless to say, few people are willing to engage a workman of legally far higher rank than themselves.

The newly-married French wife of a wealthy Russian noble was about to engage a Russian maid at St. Petersburg when, on seeing the papers, she discovered that the girl was a princess and a member of a well-known but ruined family. The girl had been vainly seeking employment for months but the lady declined to engage her.
On reaching her country seat, however, the lady discovered to her amazement, that the housekeeper was a countess and the housewife a princess, while the farm bailiff, blacksmith and coachman were possessed of titles equally imposing. As their homes were situated in the vicinity of the rich woman's estate, their real social position as little farmers and peasants was well known.

SPAIN PUTS A DUTY ON AMERICAN FLOUR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The state department is informed by cablegram by the American legation at Madrid that the Spanish government has ordered the removal of the tax on importations of American flour. Hereafter the rate will be the minimum tariff duty paid on flour from countries receiving the most favored nation clause and it is expected that the result will be a large increase in the export flour trade with Spain as there is believed to be a considerable shortage in the cereal crop in that country this year.

YOUNG LAD LURED AWAY BY STRANGER

Portland, Me., Boy Visiting Grandfather in Gibson Has Strange Experience—How He Escaped

GIBSON, N. B., Aug. 13.—The home of Frederick Hardinge was much perturbed by reason of the sudden and unaccountable disappearance of his grandson, Jeremiah, shortly before 11 o'clock Sunday morning and not returning until noon today. His story, as given to your correspondent, is as follows: Being ready for church before the other members of the family, he strolled round the corner near the engine house. A well-dressed man with a Panama hat and new leather boots, a fair complexion with light mustache, of less than 25 years of age and about five feet nine inches in height, driving a black horse of medium size, in a covered buggy, who asked him if he had not better go to church, he proceeded to St. Mary's ferry, where the boy said, "I'll get out."

SAY FISHERY QUESTION WILL SOON BE SETTLED

British and American Governments Trying to Reach a Compromise.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 13.—Important despatches are passing between the Colonial and Imperial cabinets respecting the renewal of last year's Anglo-American fishery agreement, known as the modern vivid, with additional clauses. The American government urges an early agreement as to the details, so that the Gloucester fishing vessel owners can prepare for the herring fishing season which will open in about a month. An attempt is being made by the British and American governments to arrange a compromise, but the Newfoundland cabinet does not agree as to the details.

EXPENSIVE HOMES OF OLD ENGLAND

Estates That it Takes Fortunes to Maintain.

It is a pathetic fact that there are several men in the United Kingdom who would consider themselves on the brink of bankruptcy if they were reduced, says the London Times, by any evil stroke of fate to a mere pittance of £1,000 a year. It is not only the simple millionaires, which would be barely sufficient in some cases to pay the expenses of the lordly pleasure houses which they have inherited from their ancestors.

REQUIRE HUGE STAFFS.

It is said that there are at least sixty country homes in the United Kingdom which require a staff of from 250 to 500 servants running up to £30,000, and in many of them the gardens alone account for more than £5,000 a year. How large are the numbers of servants employed in connection with these houses and estates is shown by the following examples: that of a relatively modest establishment in Suffolk. The total number of servants employed is 112, and of these the home, farm and stables require fifty-four and the gardens forty; indoor servants number seventeen; keepers and night men sixteen; the parks and lakes employ ten; the brick kilns nine, while there are seven carpenters, four bricklayers, four warblers, three lodgekeepers, three painters and half a dozen engineers, blacksmiths and wheelwrights.

TOWN HOUSES.

Expensive as country seats are to maintain, with a few exceptions such as those mentioned, they are little more costly than town houses. For a tiny house in Park Lane, such as would be procurable in a London suburb for

SOPHY OF KRAVONIA

A Novel, by Anthony Hope Author of "Prisoner of Zenda," "The Intrusions Peggy," Etc.

ing often, silent often, always together in thought as in bodily presence—was not this enough? "If I were to die in a month, I should owe life a tremendous debt already—that was her summing up; it is pleasant to remember. It would always be enough to say—love, enough with a nature ardent as hers. Yet, with love much else conspired. There was the thought of what she had done, of the things of which she was a party; there was a sense of power, the satisfaction of ambition, a promise of more things; there was the applause of Volenti as well as the devotion of the Prince; there was, too, it persisted all through her life—the funny half-childish, and (to a severe eye) urchin-like pleasure in the feeling that these were fine things for Sophie Grouch, of Morningham (sic) "Fancy me!" is the indefinably primitive form in which this delight shows in one of the few letters bearing date from the Castle of Krakovia. Yet it is possible to find this simple, gracious surprise at Fortune's fancies worthy of love. Her own countenance, seen to have been always unassuming and instinctive. These she never hid, or even begins to analyze. Of her love for the Prince she speaks once or twice—and one in reference to what she had felt for Casimir, "I loved him most when he left me," she writes, "I love him not less now because I love Moneigneur. But I can love Moneigneur more for having loved Casimir. God bade the dear dead die, but He bade me live and death helped to teach me how to do it." Again she writes, "How wonderfully everything is worth while—even sorrow!" Following with reflection in the same line (she is writing to Julia Holman) comes the naive outburst: "I look just splendid in my sheepskin tunic—and he's given me the sweetest toy of a revolver, and I shall wear it every day and charge and try to cut me up behind our guns!" She is laughing at herself, but the laugh is charged with infectious enjoyment. She lived, loved and laughed through those unequalled days, trying to soothe Marie Zerkovitch, bantering Max von Holtbrand, giving her masculine mind and her feminine soul wholly to her Prince. "She was like a singularly able and energetic sunbeam," Max says quietly, himself obviously not untouched by her attractions. The Prince's mind was simple. He was quite sincere about his guns; he had no wish to go on his travels until they had arrived, and he could not deliver them into the safe custody of his trained and trusty Volensians, and of Lukovitch, their captain. Less than that was not safety—safety in quality, not in quantity. Marie Zerkovitch was at the capital. But Marie Zerkovitch was right, too, even though over-exacting. As Max had told her. The letter to her held but half the truth, and that half not the more significant. He could not even go from Sophie's side to the wife. The desire of his heart and the delight of his eyes—she was here in Prasko. Marie was not only for his heart and eyes, her fascination not solely for his passion; on his intellect also she laid her powerful hold, opening the narrow confines of his mind to broader views and softening the rigor of his ideals. He had seen himself only as a stern master, the just chastiser of a stubborn capital and an unruly soldiery. But what he could not achieve, his pride—may his obstinacy—forbade the first step. But what his sensitive nature rejected for himself, he could see her sunny graciousness accomplish without loss of self-respect, naturally and spontaneously. He was a soldier; hers were the powers of peace, of that instinctive statesmanship of the emotions by which hearts are won and kingdoms knit together by a stronger bond than the sword. Because in his mind's eye he saw her doing this, the idea of which men in the Palace had smiled, and which even Marie Zerkovitch would have accepted as the lesser evil, never came into his head. In the future years she was to be openly at his side, doing these things for him and for the land of his love and labor. A better partner than some stranger, to whom he must go cap in hand, to whom his country would be a place of exile and his countrymen seem half-barbarians, whose life with him would be a long tale of forced and unwilling concession? A pride more subtle than his father's rose in revolt. If he could make the King see that there stood the difficulty. Right in the way of his darling hope was the one thing on which the King insisted, pride of family—the great alliance—the single point whereon the easy King was an obstacle so formidable! Yet had he despaired, he would have been no such lover as he was. His answer had gone to the King; there was no news of its reception yet. But on the next day, in the evening, great tidings came from Slavna, forwarded by Zerkovitch, who was in charge of the Prince's affairs there. The Prince burst eagerly into the dining-room in the tower of Prasko, where Sophie sat waiting. He seemed full of triumphant excitement, almost boyish in his glee. It is at such moments that hesitations are forgotten and the last reserves broken down. "My guns!" he cried. "My guns! They're started on their way. They're due in Slavna in a month! " "In a month!" she murmured softly. "Ah, then—" "Our company will be ready too, we'll march down to Slavna—and meet the guns!" He laughed. "Oh, I'll be very pleasant to Slavna now—just as you advise me. We'll meet them with smiles on our faces." He came up to her and laid his hand on hers. "You've done this for me," he said, smiling still, yet growing more grave. To be Continued.

FARL GREY RECEIVES WARM WELCOME FROM LOYAL ST. JOHN

Earl Grey

Their Excellencies Earl and Lady Grey, yesterday as the representatives of the crown were given a loyal welcome to St. John. Leaving Digby at 11.30, the Curlew made very good time across the bay and arrived shortly after four which was much earlier than was anticipated in account of the very foggy weather. By the time the evening papers were out on the streets it was generally understood that it would be at least four before the Curlew would arrive, and when it was stated that the government steamer had not left Digby much before noon it was expected that with the dense fog in the bay it would be seven o'clock before the Curlew arrived. The Curlew on the other hand made very good time on the 42 mile trip, and the ceremony of landing was all over before the arrival of the Prince Rupert, at whose wharf the Curlew docked. By four o'clock the wharf was thronged with spectators. Every available point of view was secured, the Curlew lying at the adjoining wharf, proved one of the most attractive places of observation.

CURLEW'S ARRIVAL

At last the Curlew was seen coming from the harbor, and in bunting. The visitors pressed forward and the camera lenses innumerable made ready to get in their work. The Curlew docked under the direction of Harbor Master Ferris. As the steamer came to the wharf side the spectators had a splendid opportunity to see Lady Sybil and Lady Evelyn, who were on deck. Earl and Lady Grey did not get on deck until the Curlew had docked. The ceremony of welcoming the visitors was quite as short as possible. Lieut. Governor Tweedie, Mayor Sears and then the members of the government went on board and returned in the Curlew. When Lieut. Gov. Tweedie left the steamer he was followed by the vice-regal party, which consisted of the Earl and Lady Grey, Lieut. Gov. Tweedie and Mayor Sears. The second carriage contained Lady Sybil and Lady Evelyn, Capt. Newton, and the ladies were the first to arrive on the platform and these included Mrs. Tweedie, Mrs. C. W. Robinson, Mrs. Sears, Mrs. Bullock and Miss Jones, daughter of the solicitor general. The gentlemen on the platform included the following: Lieut. Gov. Tweedie and staff, Mayor Sears, Hon. C. W. SHILOH'S MISSING GIRL FINDS A HOME

Miss Blanche Hope, Who Deserted Sanford's Colony

Says She is Happy and Will Not Return—Sole Desire at Present is to Forget Her Past.

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 12.—Miss Blanche Hope, who mysteriously disappeared from Shiloh a few days ago, and who, it was reported, had committed suicide, has been located by The Boston Herald. Miss Hope is now employed by a good family and is contented and happy. She is about 22 years of age, modest and well educated. She came from her New Brunswick home about five years ago and the most of the time since she has been in Shiloh.

Miss Hope is very reticent and does not care to talk for publication about her life in the institution. She told the reporter of The Herald that she had friends who aided her and she at once found her way to a place of safety and in a home where she has work and good surroundings.

"Have you any wish to return to Shiloh?" asked the reporter.

"No," answered Miss Hope, "not at present at least. I am well satisfied where I am and intend to remain here."

"My mother was with me at Shiloh a part of the time, but she is not now there. I have sent word to her that I am safe and contented. The people at Shiloh, so far as I know, do not know where I am."

Asked if she knew that the Shiloh people had made a search for her, Miss Hope replied that she had been told that they had made some inquiries; "but," said she, "if they find me they cannot induce me to return."

The woman with whom Miss Hope is staying said:

"Miss Hope can stay in our family just as long as she wishes. We like her very much. She is just the kind of a girl we have been looking for, and we are glad to pay her for her services in the family."

Miss Hope would not say anything for publication which would reflect upon Shiloh or its management. She only cares to forget the past.

The people at Shiloh are again reported to be short of rations. They have two meals a day. In the morning they are given a half-cupful of milk with some corn meal, which is called "mush." Their other meal during the day consists of corn meal. This bill of fare is varied a little by vegetables raised on the Shiloh farms. On the Shiloh menu is what the younger people there call "chicken feed," green peas boiled in salted water.
