BECOMES PRESIDENT AND MANAGER OF THE CANADIAN DRUG CO.

John Russell, Jr., Yesterday Severed His Connection With Telegraph and Times to Go Into Business for Himself.

Friday, June 3. At a meeting of The Telegraph and Times Publishing Company, held yesterday morning, John Russell, Jr., president and business manager, submitted his resignation, which was accepted and the directors by resolution expressed their thanks and warm appreciation of Mr. Russell's services to these companies during the many years of his association with them.

Mr. Russell becomes president and general manager of the Canadian Drug Company of this city, in which he has acquired an interest.

Mr. Russell has been connected with the Telegraph since 1899 in one capacity or another, beginning as managing director, and afterwards holding the position of president and general manager, which he has filled during the last eight years. He was foremost in the work of organizing The Times Publishing Co., when that newspaper succeeded the old Gazette. During his connection with the newspaper business his energy and straightforward business methods have won him many friends, and his associates on the Telegraph and Times, together with his acquaintances generally, will heartily wish for him every success in the new and important position which he is taking up.

Mr. Russell was formerly in the drug business and so has a complete grasp of all matters connected with that trade.

E. W. McCreedy, editor of The Telegraph, was, at yesterday's meeting, appointed to succeed Mr. Russell as president and general manager of The Telegraph and Times Companies.

Ottawa, June 6.—The eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains in Canada is now a reserve of forest, and will be held for the growth of timber and the conservation of the snow-holding areas which form the source of the streams leading to the prairies.

Already Canada has reserved a considerable area in the Rocky Mountain park, the Jasper forest park and the Waterton lakes park with an area of over 9,000 square miles. Now some 500 additional square miles have been added to the north, bringing the area under reservation up to 14,400 square miles.

ENGLISH AVIATOR WHO MADE RETURN TRIP ACROSS THE CHANNEL

Dover, England, June 4.—England is happy, as all the world's aviators must be, over the Hon. Charles Stewart Rolls, son of Lord Langatock, accomplishing the feat of flying across the English Channel from Dover to Calais and back without a single stop on French soil, thus making the first round trip ever accomplished.

The single journey made by Mons. Heriot last year and by Comte de Lesseps a fortnight ago were but flights from the French side to the British side of the channel.

The Hon. Mr. Rolls was in the air about one hour and a half, and it is estimated that he covered about fifty miles altogether. The greater part of his flight was at a height of one thousand feet.

In addition to the flight over the sea, Mr. Rolls manoeuvred over French soil for about ten minutes before directing the machine on the return trip, and on again reaching Dover he encircled Dover Castle before descending.

SCOTT ACT CASES FAIL AT FREDERICTON

It is said that the amount of liquor going into Marysville is much greater than usual today, some trouble was experienced there as a result of drinking. It is not known where the liquor comes from.

SIR ROBERT FINLAY OPENS BRITISH CASE AT THE HAGUE

Canadian Associated Press.

The Hague, June 6.—Sir Robert Finlay, in opening the British side of the fisheries dispute today, showed the matter for arbitration turns upon seven questions. Concerning the interpretation of the treaty of 1818 he argued that Britain could regulate these fisheries without the co-operation of the United States, could forbid the employment of non-American citizens on the fisheries, could collect customs and other duties on vessels, freely define what territorial waters formed a bay, forbid fishing in Newfoundland bay, and deprive fishing vessels of commercial privileges.

He gave a long historical review of the question, showing the United States itself, contrary to its present attitude, had considered as bays territorial waters the entrance to which was more than six nautical miles in width. He then quoted diplomatic documents rebutting the assertion that prior to the conclusion of the 1818 treaty Britain had already limited her jurisdiction to the three mile limit, including bays.

SPITZER WELL REWARDED BY SUGAR TRUST

New York, June 6.—Charles H. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, was on the stand nearly all day today seeking to clear his name of the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government by underweight of sugar. He continued his denial of any knowledge of the fraudulent weighing on the docks and sought to prove that there was no cheating in the Williamsburg refinery, because profits of that institution were generally lower than at the trusts' other refineries. Heike did not even have authority to sign checks.

Chester Woodward, a director of the Nassau Trust Company, Brooklyn, called by the defense, testified that Oliver Spitzer, the former dock superintendent, convicted, but pardoned, and now aiding the prosecution, deposited a total of $106,407 in the bank between May and November, 1907. He was then in the sugar company's employ.

These figures caused a stir in the court room. Spitzer testified that his salary was only $45 a week and that he was the scapegoat of the under-weighing frauds.

Counsel for both sides will probably sum up tomorrow, and it is said the case will reach the jury on Wednesday.

SWAM AFTER $218 HEAVED INTO RIVER

Man's Throw Short from Pier to Woman on Board of Liner Leaving New York—Part Recovered.

New York, June 5.—Passengers on the White Star liner Arabie, which left port yesterday, and those who were on the pier to wish them bon voyage, witnessed an exciting swimming race between a member of the ship's crew and a longshoreman to reach $218 in bills that floated near the steamer.

The bills had been taken in a roll. They were thrown by Joseph M. Cosgrove, of No. 83 Broadway, to a woman relative, who stood on the deck of the liner. The aim was poor. The roll fell several feet short of the deck and into the North river.

Cosgrove did not appear at the White line pier until the hawsemen from the Arabie had been let go and the liner was being backed out into the stream. Seeing the woman for whom the money was intended, he called to her, he told her that he would throw her the roll of bills and tied them together with a piece of cord.

A number of longshoremen and sailors saw the bills thrown and fell into the water. Hardly had they struck when William Rolson, a longshoreman, dived from the dock. He had barely touched the water when Sidney Williams, a sailor, dived from the upper deck of the Arabie.

When the roll of bills struck the water the string which bound them together broke. The money began to float in all directions. The two swimmers gathered $118, but the rest had either sunk or floated away. Then they swam back to the pier. After the money was counted it was placed in an envelope and sealed. Williams was then put on board one of the White Star tugs and instructed to board the Arabie and give the envelope to the woman for whom the money was intended. Mr. Cosgrove refused to make public the name of the woman.

FROM ALL OVER THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Saturday, June 4.
 Were it not that every tree and shrub shows a verdure not to be seen at any other time of the year, one might be led to disbelieve the almanacs which declare that summer dates from the first week in June. However, there is much to be thankful for inasmuch as we have been spared the snowstorms that have prevailed in Michigan and the Canadian northwest. OUR UNIVERSITIES

Yesterday the old and honored University of New Brunswick happily graduated the largest class in its history. Mount Allison University, the great Methodist educational centre, has just completed a highly successful year and is also sending a large squad of its graduates out into the world.

This is the growing time in educational matters, as well as in point of material progress here in the east. The Telegraph has given large space, during the last few days, to the interesting record of these Maritime colleges, and has been glad to report in each instance substantial evidence of marked success during the last year, together with convincing proof of coming expansion in the near future.

HON. MR. ROBINSON'S MODERATION The esteemed Globe, after a characteristic step at former Liberal local governments in New Brunswick, says of Hon. C. W. Robinson:

"As leader of the Opposition, with important duties to perform, he has set an example of dignity, moderation, and reasonableness which might be copied by others with advantage."

True, and when one recalls some of the things Mr. Robinson has said about the Hazen government during the last two years, still retaining that dignity and exercising that moderation and reasonableness to which the Globe refers, one is persuaded, as the country is, that Mr. Hazen's official existence should not, and will not, be prolonged.

DEVELOPMENT

Recent visitors to the natural gas field in Albert county, a few miles from Moncton, are convinced that a very great development is to result in that part of New Brunswick, following the exploitation of the oil and gas resources of Albert and Westmorland counties. In the city of Moncton particularly, it is now confidently expected that the piping of the gas across the Petitcodiac river will result in placing cheap power at the door of every manufacturer who needs it, and will induce the establishment there of new industries attracted by this cheap natural fuel, and the fine transportation facilities which Moncton has to offer.

themselves very strongly to the average observer. Thus, as to the location. The province of British Columbia, which is about to establish a university which promises to reflect the greatest credit upon that fine region, has several cities (not so many, perhaps, as claimed Homer, but near by) each of which feels that it is entitled to become the home of the new college. But a commission has been appointed, consisting of presidents of other Canadian universities, to select the site needed, and this commission will be guided, not by the ambitions or prejudices of any community, but by the needs and requirements of the situation itself.

It is interesting to note, in this connection, that there is today a theory held by a not a few New Brunswickers that the oil sands extend from Westmorland down to Kings county, at least as far as Sussex and perhaps farther. At a meeting of New Brunswick newspaper men, held here under the auspices of the Board of Trade a few months ago, mention was made of indications of natural gas observed at Sussex where boring operations for water were being carried on.

Another critic is being written about Canada in these days. Canadians should be able to read with patience and equanimity the occasional criticisms that find its way into the English press. The complaints are frequently without foundation, but in some of them our complacency is likely to receive a shock and some are so written as perhaps to set us to wondering if there is not some truth behind them.

Mr. Louis Coote intimates, in an interview which appears in this issue, that the vision of optimistic citizens of St. John concerning the possibilities of harbor development and increased trade have not been so foolish as some other persons have declared them to be.

Telephone Rates The Telegraph a week ago reviewed the provisions of the Public Utilities Act, and observed that a test of its efficiency was needed.

Terminal Facilities In an interview in New York last week, Mr. James J. Hill said: "What the railroads need at the present time far more than extensions or better equipment is increased terminal facilities for handling the vast volume of business offered."

THE COST OF POWDER In a striking article on the cost of war the Toronto Star deals with actual conflict and the expense of preparation for it, or against it. To the initial expenditure upon ships, guns, equipment, and the provisioning of troops, the Star points out, must be added the cost of replacing the ships, guns, and equipment even in time of peace, for these soon become obsolete, and the big guns are injured by every shot which is fired from them.

War of the Revolution (estimate) 70,000,000 War of 1812 (service pension) 45,797,398 Indian wars (service pension) 9,985,609 War with Mexico (service pension) 42,482,754 Civil war 3,884,681,840 War with Spain and Philippines 26,383,805 Regular establishment 15,907,028 Unclassified 16,484,049

Canada's national debt, the Star says in summing up, could be wiped out eight times over by the cost, in pensions alone, of the wars of the United States.

MR. COSTE'S OBSERVATIONS Mr. Louis Coote intimates, in an interview which appears in this issue, that the vision of optimistic citizens of St. John concerning the possibilities of harbor development and increased trade have not been so foolish as some other persons have declared them to be.

NOTE AND COMMENT The startling statement is made by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek (Mich.), that "the increasing use of tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol, spells the end of a sane human race." This indictment ap interest in the matter was too small to make their expenditure of time and effort a business investment. Mr. Harvey and those who acted with him on the committee, with those at whose request the committee was appointed, seem to have taken up this matter seriously and so conducted it to the present stage.

The Standard, however, does disagree with Mr. Harvey's views regarding the possibility of securing redress by an appeal to the Public Utilities Commission. That journal believes the matter should be placed before the commission, and that it need not, of necessity, involve the board in any heavy expenditure.

"GOOD ROADS" CAMPBELL The announcement that Deputy Minister Campbell will address the Canadian Club on Wednesday evening of this week, is one of more than ordinary interest, not only to members of the club but to the citizens generally.

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION The Public Utilities Commission of the province of Quebec appears to be considerably more than an ornament. It will hold its third sitting in Quebec city this week, and quite a number of cases await a hearing.

SAYS ST. JOHN DOES NOT SEEM TO CARE FOR HER BIG OPPORTUNITY

Louis Coste Thinks We Are Not Fully Alive to Possibilities of Harbor Development—Borings in Courtenay Bay in Connection With Dry Dock Plans.

Another stage in the plans for the construction of a dry dock and shipbuilding plant within the limits of Courtenay Bay will be entered upon today. H. M. Davy...

On this account the government engineers will turn his attention to a location below the Municipal Home, an altogether different location from that at first examined.

Louis Coste, consulting engineer of the public works department, left for Detroit last evening. Before his departure, however, he had something to say of St. John. His criticism was to the effect that St. John is pathetically slow in realizing the immense effort which the development of a better harbor would exercise upon its destinies.

would be no limit to your advance. Yet you do not seem to care. Just as an example of your lethargy, look at your tardiness in the completion of the transfer of those vest side lots to the C. P. R. There will be a great harbor here yet, however, in spite of this backward spirit.

"A harbor means everything to a city situated as St. John is. There is the city of Buenos Ayres. The immense improvements made to its harbor have built it into one of the greatest cities in the world. Buenos Ayres had a population of 200,000 in 1866. Its citizens spent $50,000,000 to build a harbor. That step has meant the increase of the city's population to 1,200,000. The people believe in a good harbor now. They have decided immediately to expend $60,000,000 more in further work. That will make $110,000,000 in all."

"Courtenay Bay can be transformed into an absolutely first class harbor for $30,000,000. That amount would cover not only the digging of a channel, but the raising of at least half the harbor completely.

"It would not be necessary to utilize the entire area of Courtenay Bay as deep water. One half of it could be turned into land and there would still be plenty of room for the vessels. The erection of sea walls to dry up both sides of the upper end of the bay would be a practical move, for the shore space would be necessary for the erection of the shipbuilding plant and the terminal facilities of the railways."

Soon after visiting Detroit Mr. Coste will leave for Prince Rupert.

WHAT SEED SELECTION DID FOR WISCONSIN IN ONE YEAR

(Montreal Witness.) There are indications of a certain amount of awakened interest in the province to the need of improved methods of agriculture, and as this becomes more pronounced the value of such institutions as Macdonald College and the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa can hardly fail to be more thoroughly appreciated.

Macdonald College. These short courses, lasting in most cases, about two weeks, cover such subjects as livestock, cereal husbandry, dairying, poultry raising and horticulture. The whole resources of the institution are put under contribution to make these courses practical in the highest degree, instructive and interesting; and many farmers should find to their advantage to spare a couple of weeks in one year at least for this purpose.

THE DEATH OF DOLLARD

(Written for the celebration held on Place d'Armes, Montreal, May 29, 1910, in commemoration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the heroic deed of Dollard and his companions by which Montreal was saved.)

On swift feet the years have sped, Each after each with hastening tread, Since 'neath the brightening beams of May,

With gallant front, in scant array, A band of youthful heroes bled, Whose deeds, famed from the days of old, As brightly shine today.

Knowing no craver-fear of death, But sworn to fight till their last breath, And never more the sword to sheath, On that fair morn' o'er virgin heath, Marched on their fateful way!

Beneath the Royal mountain's shade, Deep in primeval forest glade, By warrior bands its ramparts laid, The infant city stood.

There Maisonneuve still held his post Against the lurking savage host, Target for many a ruthless band, Whose weapons were the knife and brand, Who in their dire, vindictive hate, Had doomed the town to cruel fate, The Iroquois brotherhood.

What hope to save the little town— For who would tempt the martyr's crown, Then up rose Dollard, soldier brave, And took an oath the town to save.

And sixteen comrades brave and true, Strong in their faith, though all so few, Shared in their leader's fiery zeal, And vowed to serve the common weal, Though death should their devotion seal, And with him boldly go.

Blessed by the church with solemn rite, As warriors in a righteous fight, Upon the river's mighty stream, Where rays of splendor brightly gleam, They launch their frail canoes;

No pomp of war, no martial tunes, As laden are arms and muskets, As bade the last adieu; Softly o'er river and lake they glide Till they have reached the Ottawa's side, And there where downward sweeps the Sault.

Where turbulent waters swiftly flow, They find a battered barricade, And camped within the palisade, They wait the coming foe.

Lo, eager to join the fateful fray, Nor ever pausing on their way, A band of Hurons speed! Two score in numbers aid they brought, And with devotion boldly sought Their allies in their need; Their chief was one of valiant mien, Who staunch in aid had ever been. Royal in nature, though untaught, By deeds of prowess rightly famed, In counsel sage, in conflict brave, Who quarter neither sought nor gave, Anahontas named.

Soon, swiftly gliding down the Sault, Is seen the war craft of the foe— The vanguard of the band; From out the fort a volley speeds, Tossed are the boats like fragile reeds— And driven to the land.

Into the woods the redmen flee, And circling fast from tree to tree Summon the savage host. Quickly is told the tale of woe, How wait before the pale-faced foe, Then warwhoops rend the forest air And round the savage in his lair With sanguinary boast.

With frantic shout and savage yell, Like demons from the depths of hell, From far and near speed now the foe, And carmine is ever on the shore. They glide from tree to tree; Now nearer and nearer to the post; Where scarce three score defy their host; From twenty loopholes rains the fire, Dampening the redmen's murderous ire.

What miracle they see! As rocks are hurled by the storm, Stayed are the fiends in human form, They halt, they break, they flee.

Soon couriers speed upon their way To summon to the desperate fray

GLASSVILLE NEWS

Glassville, N. B., June 4—Murdoch McKenzie and wife are moving for the summer to their camp on the Miramichi. Mr. McKenzie is making improvements in his camp and building a new one in anticipation of a large sporting patronage. Last summer he had more American applicants than he could accommodate. This summer he will have as his assistant Jas. Hovey, of Argyle, one of the best guides in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. John McIntosh and Mr. Peter Millie visited Woodstock this week. Dr. H. Lamont attended a good roads meeting in Woodstock recently when an association was formed. The roads in the county need a great deal of repair the present season.

The potato acreage hereabouts will be as large as last year, notwithstanding present low prices. Bert Lyons and George Allan have been running their planters every available day and a number are still awaiting their seed.

Pigs throughout the county are selling quickly at $3 each. Beef is high and buyers are numerous. Eggs are plentiful at 15 cents per dozen. Butter is 20 cents per lb. and pastures are excellent.

James Brown lost a valuable horse last week through colic. The past winter had been severe on horses, and many have died. The demand is excellent and a large number of colts are in the country, but they are picked up at two years of age, making work teams scarce.

John McIntosh has engaged all the lambs in the vicinity for the American market.

Alfred Ball, of Argyle, who bought the Fleming farm a mile below Woodstock, will move there at an early date. His son Edward will go with him, having sold his own farm. Mr. Ball will be much missed, as himself and family have been excellent citizens in everything pertaining to the public welfare.

Mrs. Robert McIntosh is in Woodstock for medical treatment, having been ill some time. Her son from British Columbia, and daughter from Massachusetts, have been home for some time.

A public agricultural meeting is to be held in the village June 15. A number of outside experts will give addresses.

A BALLAD. The following poem is said to have been founded on a romance in the life of the late Queen Victoria. The authorship, according to the literary supplement of the New York Times, is unknown:

I'll hang my harp on a willow tree, With a diadem on my brow; My peaceful home has no charm for me, The battlefield no pain; The lady I love will soon be a bride, With a diadem on her brow; Oh! why did she flatter my boyish pride? She's going to leave me now.

I'll hang my harp on a willow tree, With a diadem on my brow; My peaceful home has no charm for me, The battlefield no pain;

The lady I love will soon be a bride, With a diadem on her brow; Oh! why did she flatter my boyish pride? She's going to leave me now.

She took me away from my warlike lord, And gave me a silken suit; I thought no more of my master's sword, Who played on my master's lute; She seemed to think me a boy above her, Her pages of low degree; Oh! had I but lov'd with a boyish love, It would have been better for me.

Then, I'll hide in my breast every selfish care, I'll flush my pale cheeks with wine; When smiles awake the bridal pair, I'll hasten to give them mine; I'll laugh and I'll sing 'tho' my heart may twine.

And I'll walk in the festive train, And if I survive it'll mount my steed, And I'll off the wars again.

But one golden tress of her hair I'll have, In my helmet's sable plume, And then on the field of Palestine I'll seek my early doom; And if by the Sarcen's hand I fall, 'Mid the noble and the brave, A tear from my eyelids, low as all I ask, for the warrior's grave.

Nothing is better for poultry houses from a sanitary point of view than a good coat of whitewash.

CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO EXTORT MONEY

F. H. McNair Held for Trial by Hampton Justice at Instance of G. G. Scovell.

Hampton, N. B., June 6—(Special)—A preliminary enquiry was held at the county court house, Hampton, on Saturday afternoon, before stipendiary Magistrate John March, into a charge, made by Geo. G. Scovell, dominion superintendent of dredges at St. John, against Francis H. McNair, of the parish of Norton, of an intent to extort money by threatening to accuse him of an offence unless certain matters were adjusted by June 4; and that if this were not done, he would send the whole proceedings to the press and ask the general public how it was that G. G. Scovell could sell and lease a post office and if he had not in the past received revenue therefrom; with a further intimation that the services of Dr. Daniel M.P.P., of St. John, might be utilized to bring the case up for trial at the next assizes in parliament about the same matter.

The evidence showed that the defendant McNair was the author of the letters of March 29 and May 17, in which the offence was charged and threatened.

The magistrate allowed a lease made in the name of Scovell and McNair to be put in evidence as showing the nature of the matters referred to in McNair's letters, as well as a store account showing a credit for the amount of rental due in the lease, which provided that if he was removed from the office of postmaster at Belle Isle Station, located in the store leased from Scovell to McNair, and formerly in charge of Scovell's daughter, the rent should be reduced from $200 to $100. McNair was not removed, but resigned because the income was greatly reduced, and he removed to Norton.

Scovell resists the claim to reduce and holds McNair to the terms of the lease. The stipendiary found sufficient evidence to send the case up for trial at the next term of the Kings County Court, and bound all over to appear. F. M. Sproul appeared for the complainant, and W. B. Jonah for the defendant.
