

Newcastle Board of Trade.

There was but a small attendance at Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade. The question of reduction of fares across the river at Newcastle and Chatham was brought up and discussed. Also the trips of the steamer up the North West. The question of incorporation, after discussion, was postponed until next night of meeting.

Deamery Meeting.

The clergy of the Deamery of Chatham met here yesterday morning. The programme for to-day is—morning service at 9 a. m. Meeting of the Chapter at 10 a. m. Deamery Service at 7.30 p. m. Select preacher Rev. J. W. Street.

Results Tell the Story.

A vast mass of direct, unimpeachable testimony proves beyond any possibility of doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually cures perfectly and permanently the disease caused by impure blood. Its record cures are unequalled and these cures have been accomplished after all other preparations had failed.

Bay full of Ice.

On Monday the Bay was reported to be full of ice brought in by the easterly wind, and no vessels can get in or out. The boats were taken down to be placed in position, but owing to the quantity of ice floating in the mouth of the river no attempt has been made to lay them.

Appointed Harbor Masters.

M. Bilodeau has been appointed harbor master of Cocagne, Kent Co. Capt. M. L. Daley of Bathurst has been appointed harbor master at Bathurst.

Label Suit.

The libel trial of Laforet vs. Monitors Andrus was finished at Woodstock on Saturday. The jury, after three hours' deliberation, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for twenty-five cents. The matter of costs remains with the judge.

Lecture.

This evening in the Derby Methodist church, under the auspices of the Epworth League, Rev. James Crisp will deliver an illustrated lecture on the "Life and Times of John Bunyan," with special reference to the "Pilgrim's Progress." Collection at the close in aid of the Statistatone Fund.

Doctor of Divinity.

Rev. Nial McKay, of Chatham, has conferred upon him at the recent convocation of Dalhousie College the honorary degree of doctor of divinity, in recognition of valuable services to the church, extending over a period of 40 years. Our congratulations.

Sabbath Services.

Newcastle Methodist Church; Pastor James Crisp, 11 a. m. Preaching, subject, "Joy in heaven." 2.30 Sunday school and Bible classes; 6.30 preaching, subject, "The Lazarus serpent uplifted." Strangers are cordially invited. Secaucus United social service in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. McIntosh will address the meeting.

Purchasers.

One having their money refunded if after taking Holloway's Red Blood Syrup it does not do all that is claimed for it. For Pale, Weak, Nervous persons or those with a Consumptive tendency it has no equal. It purifies the blood and builds up the system at the same time. In the localities where Holloway's Syrup has been used the health of the community has improved and the death rate decreased in a remarkable degree. Mr. E. Lee Street, Druggist, has it for sale in Newcastle.

Blackville.

Rev. James Crisp will preach in the Methodist Church, Blackville, on Monday evening the 11th inst. Service to begin at 7.30 p. m. Collection at the close in aid of the Statistatone Fund.

The Drives.

There is good report from the drives. Saturday and Sunday a warm wind raised the water in the streams considerably and some drives have had good progress towards the boom. Monday's good progress helps to keep the water up.

North West Buoyed.

The steamer Bessie with the spar buoys alongside on a snow placed the spar buoys on the North West in position on Saturday last.

Nervine Tonic.

The South American Nervine Tonic for sale at E. Lee Street's drug store.

Proclamation.

The Sheriff has issued the proclamation for the general election, nomination June 16th, polling 23rd.

A Willful Provocateur.

The editor of the Chatham Herald still persists in willfully distorting what Mr. Anslow said at the recent convention. Mr. Gaynor evidently prefers misrepresentation to truth, and is striving to represent his Chatham contemporary the reputation it has for shunning the truth.

Recent Publications.

THE COMPAGNION Magazine for May, with beautiful illustrated cover is to hand. It contains—Cover, a Miniature; "Some Types of Artists' Models," Seattle, the Fair Art in Photography and Photographic Models; Hills in Scotland, a California Story, Mr. Cliff's Yacht; To an Old Sea-Dog; Typical Training at the University; The Danger of High Buildings; The Phoenix Park Tragedy; Covetous and Boastfulness; In Australia; In the World of Art and Letters; The Progress of Science; Some Examples of Recent Art; The "Compagnion" Company, Irvington on the Hudson, New York, at $1.00 per year.

A FAMOUS MAN!

What His Researches Have Done for the World.

All successful and distinguished men have imitators, and Dr. Chase's will. The author of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Chase's Catarrh Cure and Chase's Blood Purifier have many precursors and rivals, but none equals.

Long scientific Dr. Chase's researches produced Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Chase's Catarrh Cure, the first of a certain cure for all kidney, liver, stomach, bladder, and rheumatic troubles; the latter an absolute specific for chronic and offensive skin diseases. Among his other discoveries were Chase's Catarrh Cure and Chase's Blood Purifier for colds and bronchitis.

During 1895 the Canadian manufacturers, Edmondson, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto, gave away free 500,000 samples of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and 100,000 samples of Chase's Catarrh Cure. The return they brought proved how much they were worth. The same free distribution of samples will be continued during 1896. Those at a distance should enclose a 5-cent stamp and also receive a sheet of the latest results in return.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, in old manhood, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been afflicted by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Man, an Ungrateful Animal.

As a race we succeed in showing a good deal of dissatisfaction with the weather, and grumbled a great deal about it. In summer we're too hot, in winter, too cold, and during bright spring days we complain that it won't last long. The great secret for doing away with all complaint is to dress appropriately. In summer, don't dress, wear a negligee suit and watch your neighbor who'll be cooler than if you worked yourself. But in winter, that's different, indulge in all the active work you can find, but instead of burdening yourself with a number of garments, have your outer coats interlined with Fibre Chamotte. It will keep out all wind, rain and frost and yet is inexpensive and so light in weight that you must feel its presence.

A DOUBLE RESCUE.

TWO YOUNG LADIES BROUGHT BACK TO HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

One Was Threatened With Consumption Following an Attack of Pneumonia—The Other Was in an Advanced Stage of Anemia—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restore Health After Other Medicines Fail.

From the LITTON, N. S. News.

Among the residents of Truro there are two ladies known to have been nearly choked to death by a severe attack of pneumonia. One of them, Mrs. J. A. Turner, is now an elderly lady, and the other, Mrs. J. A. Turner, is a young lady. Both ladies are known to have been nearly choked to death by a severe attack of pneumonia. One of them, Mrs. J. A. Turner, is now an elderly lady, and the other, Mrs. J. A. Turner, is a young lady.

decided on making the experiment. It induced a Chicagoan sick with consumption to undergo the treatment, and the first test was made by Dr. Pratt and Whigham Saturday night. It will take two weeks before the condition of the patient will show the effect of the Roentgen rays. The patient will be submitted to the operation of the new force three times a week for six weeks.

HOW FREE TRADE WORKED.

Today the Globe argues that it would be a good thing for Canada if it were to be made a slaughter-market for the overproducts of Yankee factories. Last week it was saying that the Liberal policy is calculated to stimulate manufacturing industries in Canada. It appears then, that our factories are to be stimulated by flooding the country with cheap goods from across the line! This stimulant has been tried. But it did not stimulate. It killed.—Hamilton Spectator.

WORK TILL THE END.

The Hamilton Spectator has this advice to give: "Gentlemen of the Conservative party: Go into the campaign with the idea of working hard and faithfully until the last vote is polled. Take nothing for granted. Be sure. Let the Grits indulge in their customary ante-election cockiness. It is their blessed privilege to win elections up to the time that the votes are counted. Let them have their fun before election day, and take your own advantage of the last laugh is a good deal better than the first one."

A man who believed the old saying,
"See a pick up, and all the day you'll have good luck," saw a pin in front of the post office the other day, and when stooping to capture it his hat fell off and rolled into the middle of the street. He braced his way, his collar split open, and his false teeth, which cost him $3 when new, fell out and broke on the pavement. He picked up the pin, however.

The reputation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as a blood medicine, is maintained by daily cures.
A Political economy is a ticklish subject. A man has to be wide awake to understand all about it. For instance, the very ideas of capital and labor.
B—Look here! that is simple enough.
Supposing I borrow 20 marks from you; that would represent capital. A—To be sure. B—Then after a while you would be trying to get your money back. That would be labor.—Zigzag.

Bad Blood Between Them.
The ever slaying farmer's wife, her delicate sister in the city, suffer more than they care to tell. The dark rings round the eyes, headache, distaste, palpitation or rheumatic twinges, become a run-down system. The blood in the veins is a bar to enjoyment of life.
Scott's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, strengthens and vitalizes the system, and speedily restores the bloom of health to the cheeks. It cures when all others fail. Sold by E. Lee Street.

AN EVERY-DAY STORY.
'You aren't going to try to arrange that cupboard yourself, are you, mamma? You look tired.
Close the doors, and let's forget its existence.'

Mrs. Jordan smiled; the suggestion was so like Bettie.
'No, dear, it ought to be done at once. I can't bear to have such a disorderly crowd about the house.
I'm sure I don't know when Susan will be back, and I don't much care.
She never does anything thoroughly.'
'Then let me do it, mamma.' Bettie spoke more cheerfully than she felt. She had mapped out a different plan for these Saturday morning hours.
'You dear child! It would be such a relief, but I don't like to put it on your shoulders.'
'Oh, nonsense!' laughed Bettie.
'My shoulders are stronger than you think, mamma. What do you suppose all my physical culture lessons have been good for?'
So Mrs. Jordan was cajoled out of the room, and Bettie, perched on the baby's high chair, attacked the upper shelves. It was a pleasant sight to Aunt Lydia, sitting by the fireplace, under whose deft fingers a little sock was taking form and shape. Her needles never slackened, even while her eyes were fixed on the slender, girlish figure. How unselfish Bettie was growing!
What was the reason? Was the little silver cross, with its three suggestive letters, in the secret?
As the work progressed, Aunt Lydia felt a slight uneasiness.
Would Bettie prove faithful, she wondered, when she reached the lowest shelf? You see the day before, Aunt Lydia had gone to this same shelf in search of some article, and had come across a box away at the further end. In the one swift glance she gave it as she raised the cover she had a glimpse of Tom's top, some tattered tissue-paper flowers, tattered embroidery silks, and sundry old gloves and ribbons, while there were indications of equally interesting developments beneath. Evidently Susan had made it a sort of dumping ground for 'odds and ends.' And now Aunt Lydia wondered if this might prove too much for Bettie's good resolutions.
'Behold!' said the unconscious Bettie, at this juncture, with a flourish that imperilled her standing on the high chair. 'The top shelves are in a state of precision that it would do your heart good to see.' And then she descended to give Aunt Lydia a great hug, and prepare for an attack on the lower shelves. 'Do you know,' she went on confidentially, 'I have turned over a new leaf? I detest work of this kind, but I make myself do it. It's a discipline for the mind, as Miss Brownlee says on motive, but that isn't my motive, in either.' And with a kiss that suddenly serious. 'I made up my mind that I must improve or I should feel as if I were dishonoring
him.'

A minute later, Mrs. Jordan put
her head in at the door.
'Can you leave that awhile, dear,
and take this letter to the postoffice?' It ought to go in the next mail.
'Of course I can,' said Bettie,
promptly; 'and glad of the chance.
I'll be ready in just two minutes.'
Left alone in the dining-room, Aunt Lydia laid down her knitting and vanished up the stairs. She was back at her place, however, and knitting as placidly as ever, when Bettie returned with her girlish face glowing from exercise and contact with the crisp, frosty air.
'It's delicious outdoors, Auntie.
I was tempted not to come back till time for luncheon.' And Bettie shook her fist menacingly at the unfashioned work. 'But then, I'm nearly through. Only two more shelves to do, and they're easy.'
Evidently she was in blissful ignorance of the miscellaneous collection in that neat-looking pasteboard box.
Aunt Lydia watched her pretty niece when the last shelf was cleared and the discovery made. Bettie always sang over her work; and she was in the midst of,
God make my life a little lighter, when a sudden impulse led her to open the white paper. The song ceased abruptly. Another minute, and the cover was replaced —the box pushed back to the end of the shelf. Bettie's voice piped up again; but it was constrained now, and not so clear as before.

'All through, dear?' said Mrs.
Jordan, entering just as Bettie was closing the cupboard doors. 'Yes, I see you are. How beautifully you have arranged everything! What would we ever do without our helpful Bettie, Aunt Lydia? You don't know what a relief it is, Bettie, to know that everything is in order here.' And with a kiss that suddenly serious. 'I made up my mind that I must improve or I should feel as if I were dishonoring
him.'

A minute later, Mrs. Jordan put
her head in at the door.
'Can you leave that awhile, dear,
and take this letter to the postoffice?' It ought to go in the next
mail.
'Of course I can,' said Bettie,
promptly; 'and glad of the chance.

till time for luncheon.' And Bettie shook her fist menacingly at the
unfashioned work. 'But then, I'm nearly through. Only two more
shelves to do, and they're easy.'

Of course, Bettie flew to her room for her warmest wrappings; and the result was a long, blissful ride through city and country roads, to the music of jingling sleigh-bells.
It was not till evening that she thought again of the slightest box.
She felt uncomfortable when she joined the group around the fire place in the library.
'Let's have anagrams,' suggested Tom, running for the box of letters.
'You give me a word, Bet, and I'll give you one.'
'Well, but Bettie's voice was somewhat reluctant. She was bright and quick however, and guessed her words too easily for Tom's satisfaction.
'Say, now, he protested; 'you guess them too fast. I haven't made out the one you gave me yet.
Here's another word for you, though. It isn't very long, but it puzzled me the other day.'
Tom shook the letters vigorously in his two hands and delivered them over to Bettie.
'That isn't hard,' she announced almost immediately. 'It's a daughter.'
'Well, now, aren't you smart?'
And Tom looked disgusted. 'You can wait awhile for the next one.
I shan't bother with you till I guess my own.'
'That suits me,' said Bettie.
'I'm going downstairs, anyway.
There's something I want to do there.'
No one but Aunt Lydia suspected what the business was, and she did not guess the cause of the sudden decision.
It was that last anagram on Tom.
Bettie's conscience was in a sensitive state that evening, which made it an easy transition from the
