On the Transylvanian front, the statement says, Rumanian troops arrested the progress of superior Austro-German forces.

Santa Isabel is an advanced outpost and the garrison there has been attacked by a superior force of Villa's men, but is holding its own, pending the arrival of reinforcements.

COLOSSAL MACHINE OF HAIG PREPARED FOR WINTER DRIVE

Stupendous and Smooth Running Organization Backing Up Tommy Atkins—"Hammer the Huns and Hammer Them Unceasingly," Is the Army's Motto.

BY JOSEPH F. GRIGG.
[Canadian Press.]

British Headquarters on the Somme, Oct. 25.—Whatever may be the developments of the next few weeks, one thing which most impressed me in the four-days' visit which I have made to the British front is the complete readiness of the colossal British war machine in France to meet the rigors of a third winter there.

The Germans argue that cold weather will stem the Anglo-French attacks in the west, thus giving the Germans opportunity to "dig in" for the winter, but this is the furthest thing from the mind of anyone in the British army with whom I came in contact. The slogan of the army is "Hammer the Germans and hammer them unceasingly."

A Steady Hammering.

Bad weather may hinder certain operations, but the shell heaps in France indicate no decrease in the straing. There is an ominous steadiness about it. In the zone adjacent to the fighting line, especially in the Somme sector, it looks as if the British army had no idea of settling down now; they've got going, and the British soldier is absolutely convinced of the magnificent organization back of him. No one who has not seen the workings of the main arteries behind this fighting force can realize fully how Tommy Atkins has come to be known as the best equipped, best fed, best cared for soldier in this, the biggest of all wars.

Nothing Overlooked.

The critical winter of 1914 now is but a memory. There is sure to be mud aplenty in Flanders and France this winter, in the trenches and out of them, but there are more means of relieving distress than there were two years ago. This vast war machine takes all such things into account. The British fighting man is sure of being well clothed, fed and cared for and even his sense of amusement is catered to by better-developed forms of entertainment. Already lorry wheels are indicating muddy roads, and chalky clay adheres to boots with aggravating persistency. But the roads are under expert care, and so is Tommy.

At the Rest Camps.

I have visited several of those highly-developed base hospitals and rest camps. These latter institutions do incalculable good service. Thousands of men pass through them, especially in winter. The average stay is ten days, and then they are fit again for the fighting line. Especial attention is given to shell-shock cases, which are treated by baths. Some men have been through these institutions nine times during the war. These camps are to soldiers what the great repair shops of the army are to its mechanical transport. Patients are given a diagnosis which makes it possible to separate the really serious cases from the cases which can be cured at the rest bases.

"We must think of the next battle while taking care of the men already wounded," was the comment of one of those officers who care for and expedite the journey of the wounded.

I remarked to a high officer after four days of seeing the operations of the great organization behind the British front, which carried me frequently to places immediately adjacent to the fighting line, what marvellous results were being achieved. He replied:

"We've got our minds on war and mean to win it."

LOSS OF CONSTANZA WAS SERIOUS BLOW TO THE RUMANIANS

Berlin Critic Explains the Teutonic Offensive.

AN IMPORTANT CAPTURE

Occupation of Tchernavoda Turned Scale in Favor of the Invaders.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Oct. 26.—Via Sayville Wireless to the Associated Press:

"The capture of Tchernavoda by von Mackensen's army has definitely turned the military situation in Dobrudja in our favor," writes the military critic of the semi-official Overseas News Agency.

"The right wing of the combined Bulgarian, German and Turkish force marched on after the taking of Constanza, and in a powerful push advanced about 12 miles beyond that places. From that moment the capture of Medjidie was only a question of a few hours, as the town was threatened on the flank. The Russo-Rumanian position thus being rolled up from the east, the western point of support on the Danube, the town of Rasova, also had to be given up.

A Hasty Retreat.

"With this situation brought about, the attacking Teutonic allies stood before the strong Danube bridgehead of Tchernavoda, which then had to serve as a cover for the hasty retreat of the Russians and Rumanians. Today the railroad line from Constanza to Tchernavoda is completely in the hands of the victorious allies, constituting with the valuable material in locomotives and railroad cars taken with it, a first class base for strategic operations. All this material was abandoned by the Russians and Rumanians.

"The defeated army was separated into two parts. Those who did not remain on the battlefield or were not taken prisoner saved themselves by flight across the Tchernavoda bridge over the Danube or to the northward in Dobrudja.

An Important Capture.

"After the capture of Tchernavoda this famous Danube bridge was dominated by von Mackensen's guns. The bridge is the largest in all Europe. Its total length across both branches of the Danube and the Sakm being 17 kilometres. It was completed in 1896.

"With the loss of the Constanza-Tchernavoda line by Rumania the transport of provisions from Russia will have to be conducted over two minr and less efficiently equipped railway lines in Moldavia or by way of the Danube ports of Galatz and Ibraila, which are by no means comparable to Constanza. At the same time the most important route for artillery transportation, by way of the railway from Constanza to Bucharest, is virtually eliminated. All shipments must go by way of Ibraila and Ploesci.

"The military situation for the Rumanians during the past two days has become much more critical, especially as the Germans and Austro-Hungarians already have partially conquered the Carpathian passes."

RUMOR HAS CLARKE, OF DROWNING FAME, ON WAY TO ENGLAND

Wife May Ask Warrant For His Arrest.

NO WORD FROM BRANDON

But Report Has It He Is in Niagara Falls, Working.

Not since the disappearance of James Brandon of 320 Dundas street, one of the principals in the fake drowning in the Thames on the evening of Wednesday, October 4, has the "victim" been heard from, although it is understood that he is working in Niagara Falls.

His wife states that she has received no word from him yet, but still clings to the hope that he will communicate with her.

She is now living at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Kerr, 398 Rectory street.

A. J. Clarke, who managed and staged the "fake" and finally signed a written confession to that effect, departed for parts unknown on Monday, October 16. It has been reported that he has since communicated to someone in the city stating that he was about to leave for England.

He was ordered by Police Magistrate Judd some months ago to pay $28 a month to the support of his wife, whom he had left, and was haled into court on a charge of non-support. Unless he forwards the amount by the end of the month, Mrs. Clarke will ask for a warrant for his arrest charging desertion and non-support and will also ask the police to locate him.

"We successfully raided enemy trenches near Monchy, and also northeast of Arras. Considerable damage was done and prisoners were taken."

ELEVEN PERISH BY BURNING OF HOSPITAL AT FARNHAM

Six Adults and Five Children, Inmates of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Are Dead Through Destruction of Institution Last Night—Many of Fire-Trapped Obliged To Leap From Third Story To Pavement.

[Canadian Press.]

Farnham, Que., Oct. 26.—Six adults and five children at least lost their lives in a fire which destroyed St. Elizabeth Hospital last night. This morning the ruins were still blazing, and it was impossible to approach near them to make a search for missing patients, variously estimated at from fifteen to twenty-five.

The hospital is managed by Grey Nuns, and comprised two buildings, one devoted to accommodate sick, and another a school for children. About 300 people were in the two buildings when the fire broke out.

St. Elizabeth Hospital was built about twenty years ago. It was originally of three stories and of brik, but recently a new 4-story wing was added. A church and college connected with the institution was burned down in 1911. The hospital was entirely destroyed by the fire last night, only the ruins of the edifice standing this morning. The loss is estimated at $135,000. Only $35,000 insurance was carried on the premises.

Fanned by Gale.

Soon after the fire started a tremendous wind storm began. This fanned the flames which raced through the building like a flood. The work of getting out the inmates of the institution was expeditiously organized by the sisters in charge who rushed into the dormitories and carried out the patients and children. About ten minutes after the outbreak all the electric lights in the building went out. The sisters and lremen then had to work entirely in the dark, the only illumination being from the burning pile itself. Notwithstanding, the nuns continued their rescue work aided by citizens of Farnham who had joined the firemen, and dozens of aged people, invalids and children were brought out, wrapped in blankets and carried to nearby houses.

A Brave Sister.

One sister, heroically risking her life, entered the building and clambered to the third story. Here with the flames spurting out from windows all round her, she handed children to the firemen on ladders below her until no more victims were in sight.

A panic beggaring description ensued among the inmates when the lights went out. The cries of the children drove the workers into a frenzy. Fearful rumors that forty or fifty little boys and girls had been cut off and suffocated went around.

The work of estimating the dead was rendered most difficult by reason of the complete collapse of the walls and the fact that the survivors were taken to dozens of homes in the town.

Sectionman Killed.

At noon the sisters were busy trying to prepare a list of survivors. At that time no bodies had been found. The call for help last night brought the St. Johns, Que., fire department engines but unfortunately not much of the equipment was of much use, as a lot of it fell off the special train carrying it.

A sectionman on the C. P. R. named Daniel Murray, was killed while proceeding to the fire on a handcar. He fell off and a wheel of the car passed over his head.

Among the injured children who jumped from windows, are four girls who are considered seriously hurt, and who may die.

TWO NOTE CLAIMS.—Two writs were issued in the county court today. F. H. Wright has taken action against R. T. Robson to recover $275.45 claimed due on a promissory note. F. G. Rumball has taken out a writ against Gilpin Bros. claiming $240.89 as the amount of a note made by defendants in favor of the plaintiff.

Premier Asquith Says the Request Cannot Be Granted.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 26—4:20 p.m.—Laurence Ginnell, nationalist member of parliament for Northwest Meath, asked Premier Asquith in the House of Commons today whether in the interest of reconciliation the British Government would accede to the desire of the Irish people of all classes and allow the remains of the men executed last May at the time of the Dublin revolt to be removed from the places in which they now lie and be buried in consecrated ground. Premier Asquith said the Government was unable to accede to the request.

AMERICANS MAY BE ABOARD NORSE SHIP CAPTURED BY ENEMY

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 26.—It is now reported that the Norwegian mail steamship from Bergen for Newcastle, which, according to advices received yesterday, was stopped by a German warship, has been taken to a German port, although it had no cargo aboard. The Norwegian mail steamships form a connecting link between England and the Scandinavian countries and Russia. They carry many Americans and American mail, official and otherwise. Although several of the steamers have been searched, this is the first instance in which the actual seizure of one of them has been reported.

The villages occupied by the French are Golobrda and Laisitsa. The French also took the bridges at Zvezda.

Laisitsa is on the boundary between Greece and Albania; Golobrda and Zvezda are in Albania. Extension of the Allies' Macedonian front westward was indicated by the official announcement yesterday that these troops had effected a junction with Italian cavalry advancing eastward from Avlona.

HATE CAMPAIGN IS FINAL CARD OF THE ENEMY

To Annoy Allies, Knowing He Cannot Now Conquer.

WANT PEACE IN A YEAR

Hope by Losses and Peril To Make British Agree To Stop War.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 26.—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Stockholm sends the following under yesterday's date:

"The facts with regard to the official German attitude on the present position of the war, together with an outline of the course to be pursued, have been told to me by a distinguished neutral who is a resident in Berlin, and who for a few days has been visiting in Sweden. My informant speaks with the knowledge that he is not a casual foreigner in Berlin, but one whose business brings him in touch with public life and public men there, and who has special facilities for knowing the minds of political leaders. I present his narrative as nearly as I can in his own words:

Know War Is Lost.

"'I left Berlin about a week ago. It may be taken as quite definite that the authorities realize the war is lost. Two facts stand out quite clearly to Germans. The first is that while Germany still retains the power to manufacture munitions at a large and formidable rate, the output of the Allies is now in advance of the German output, and the significance of this is realized.

"'The second point is even more important. It is recognized that the reserves of man power are not sufficient to allow Germany to conduct the war to a victorious issue. The offensive on the Somme is a crucial thing. They have no illusions about this. They believe they can impede the Allies, hold them back for a long time, but they realize they cannot do it indefinitely. It is privately acknowledged that sooner or later the Allies must break through. More than this, the Germans have calculated the limit of time they can effectively withstand attacks on the western front at twelve months. They know, however, the Allies may get through before.

Want Peace Badly.

"'With this in mind they have framed their future course of action. They are seeking for a peace which shall not brand them as defeated, and to get it they will make considerable sacrifices. The whole of their new plans will be co-ordinated toward that end. Whatever may be their fears of the future, they have still at their command vast fighting forces of various kinds. They are going to use them to bring about this peace which they want so badly.

To Smash Rumania.

"'First of all they have made up their minds to smash Rumania completely, not only for the sake of the material advantages, but also for the moral effect on them. Then, they are going to throw discretion to the winds with reference to submarines. They are going to use undersea vessels to annoy and hurt Great Britain as much as possible. Thehy will be quite careless of the feelings of neutrals. The visit of Ambassador Gerard to America is undoubtedly connected with this coming submarine campaign.

Conquer by Annoyance.

"'The general idea is not to conquer but by annoyances, losses and perils, to increase the desire for peace which they are sure exists among some sections of the population already. The more hateful the war is made for Great Britain the more easily will she come into light with regard to peace proposals, and Germany must have peace by a year from now. The latter is not stated in so many words, but that is what the position comes to.'"

GALE ON THE LAKES SENDS ALL SHIPS SCURRYING TO PORT

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 26.—The Dominion Government will promote the building of merchant ships in Canada for Norway. A telegram received from Ottawa reports that H. H. Stevens, M. P., has stated that an order-in-council has been passed granting the necessary permission. Contracts for three vessels valued at three and one-half million dollars had already been signed with the Vancouver shipbuilding yards, and it only required the assurance of the Government that a transfer would be granted on completing the contracts to become effective. Orders for seven or eight other vessels will be given almost immediately, and the total value will reach not less than twenty million dollars.

GERMANY MAY DRIVE NORWECIANS TO WAR BY SUB ATROCITIES

Situation Between the Two Powers Very Serious.

NORWAY IS PRO-BRITISH

Entrance Into the Conflict Would Greatly Aid Allies.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 26.—The situation between Germany and Norway as the result of the numerous sinkings recently following the declaration of policy as to submarines issued by the Christiania Government, has become very serious.

The Times this morning says:

"It is reported that the Norwegian mail steamer, which left Bergen yesterday for Newcastle, was stopped by a German warship. This is the first time the Germans have taken such action in the case of these steamers, and in the existing circumstances the incident is regarded as one of some gravity."

Critical State.

The Daily Chronicle says editorially this morning:

"The relations between Norway and Germany are in a critical state, and the situation deserves attention.

"The present phase began with the declaration of the Norwegian Government that the navigation of its territorial waters would be forbidden to all foreign submarines of whatever nationality and whatever character. A similar declaration was made some months earlier by the Swedish Government, and was not resented by Germany.

A Near-Ultimatum.

"She chose, however, to resent violently the declaration by Norway, presumably because navigation through Norwegian territorial waters was of greater value to the German submarines attacking the Archangel trade, and perhaps of some value to those attempting to cross the Atlantic. Accordingly a very minatory German note, almost an ultimatum, was dispatched to the Norwegian Government, and pending the reply to it the German submarines have been running amuck among Norwegian trading vessels, sinking and capturing them practically as if Germany and Norway already were at war.

Is It a Bluff?

"This may be only a strong piece of bluff on Germany's part, for it is difficult to see why she should make a new enemy unnecessarily. But the risk of war does exist, and if it broke out it would be Great Britain's and not any other of the major allies, on whom the opportunity and the responsibility would fall. Norway is perhaps the most pro-British country on the continent, and we are bound to her by many ties of sentiment, commerce, and common interest. We ought to assure her, in the event of war, of prompt and effective protection. She would need it in naval matters, and would probably also require some supplies for her artillery and air services.

"These succors ought to be forthcoming without any delay if the case arose, and the British navy, which could then take very effective use of Norwegian ports and territorial waters, would have to throw an effective mantle over the Norwegian coast and shipping."

LOCAL TEMPERATURES.

Following were the highest and lowest temperatures recorded in London during the 24 hours previous to 8 o'clock last night: Highest, 59; lowest, 38.

The official temperatures for the 24 hours previous to 8 a.m. today were: Highest, 44; lowest, 38.

NEARLY 5,000 MEN NOW TRAINING IN LONDON DISTRICT

Two Battalions and Several Special Corps in London.

BATTERIES AT GUELPH

Will Remain There Until Authorized to Go Into Camp Here.

Parade states of the various units in No. 1 Military District show a total of approximately 4,800 men under arms in the district. In this total is included the active service details of the 7th Regiment, 133 men, but it does not include the active service details of the other militia regiments, most of which have at least a number of men on guard and other duties.

Six battalions have been quartered in this district for the winter, or until called upon to proceed overseas. These are the 118th Battalion in London, Lieut.-Col. W. M. O. Lougheed, O.C.; the 149th Battalion, also in London, Major MacVicar temporarily in command; the 122nd Battalion in Galt, Lieut.-Col. Grant in command; the 241st Battalion in Windsor, Lieut.-Col. McGregor, officer commanding.

Located at Guelph.

In addition to the infantry units the 63rd and 64th Batteries will be located in Guelph until such time as authority can be secured to bring the 63rd to London, which it is hoped will be done. Major K. Cameron is in command of the 63rd Battery, and Major Walker in command of the 64th.

In addition to these there are the Special Service Company attached to the 118th Battalion, into which these men of C. E. F. units who are medically unfit for overseas service, but who are desirous of helping out in war time are placed. This unit is under the command of Major Tanton, late of the 135th Battalion.

Major Bishop is in command of the Engineers, both home service company and overseas details. The home service company has a strength of 75 men, although more have been authorized. This unit is in winter quarters on Carling Heights. The A. S. C. is now located in Queen's Park, although supply offices with A. S. C. officers in command have been opened in all towns in which troops are stationed.

The Dental Corps.

The Army Dental Corps is in quarters in the A. D. C. buildings at Carling Heights. Major Frank Shaw has now four operators under his charge, although there were six during the summer.

The Veterinary Corps under Lieut. Dan Stewart is located in Queen's Park, and about sixty men drawn from battalions in training have been attached to the C. A. V. C. to assist him.

Major Talbot Hennessy is district signalling officer, but has practically no men taking courses at the present time.

Col. L. W. Shannon, district officer commanding, administers all training and other military activities in the district, and is assisted by a staff whose abilities are of such a calibre that two of the three overseas battalions left in this district after the great exodus to Camp Borden in July were chosen to go overseas before any of the units sent north.

The permanent sub staff handles all the detail of the district administration, and forms the pivot around which the business of the district centres.

SCOTS RESERVES ABSORB SOUTH WATERLOO UNIT

Men of the 111th Go Into the 17th Battalion.

Word has been received in the city that the 111th Battalion, which left the city last month, has been absorbed by the 17th Scottish Reserve Battalion at East Sandling Camp.

The 111th was essentially a Scottish unit, the great majority of the men being true Scots, so it is believed they will be gratified at being attached to the Scots.

All of the battalion, except Lieut.-Col. J. D. Clarke, Capt. H. W. DeGuerre, adjutant, Capt. E. H. Hughes, quartermaster, Battalion Sergt.-Major Evans, and Orderly Room Sergt. Walter Jardine, have been transferred to the 17th.

LIEUT. BIRD HONORED

Popular A. S. C. Officer Has Been Transferred to Toronto.

Lieut. A. I. Bird of Kingston, who has had charge of the A. S. C. details in the city since the movement of troops to Camp Borden in July, has been transferred to No. 2 District and will be located in Toronto for a time at least. His work here has been of a very high order and he has become very popular with officers and men alike.

Before leaving the men of the A. S. C. gathered in the orderly-room and presented Lieut. Bird with a silver cigarette case, suitably engraved, and expressed regret that he was leaving. Lieut. G. T. Evans has been placed in charge of the details and has already taken over the duties.

SOLDIERS ARE NEEDING

more Zam-Buk. They are asking for it in their letters home. They say that nothing takes the place of Zam-Buk for cuts, burns, blisters, sores, etc.

Pte. J. R. Smith of the "Princess Pats," writes: "Tell my friends, if they want to help me, to send some Zam-Buk. We find it very useful indeed, and we can't get too much of it."

Pte. Johnson, writing home, says: "Mrs. —— has offered to send me a rug. Ask her to send some Zam-Buk instead. It will be of more use here than all the rugs in creation."

Nothing ends pain and heals so quickly as Zam-Buk, and being germicidal, if applied to a wound as soon as sustained, prevents all danger of blood-poisoning. The soldier who carries a box of Zam-Buk in his pocket will be saved much needless suffering. Don't let your friends go without.

Sergt. J Barnhill Shocked by Shell; Sent to Hospital

Former Member of the Police Force Is Making Good Progress.

Word has been received here that Sergt. John Barnhill of the police force, who went to the front with Lieut.-Col. Wood Leonard's now famous 6th Battery, is in a hospital in England, suffering from shell shock.

Early in October, he was standing by his gun when a large shell came over. It blew him many feet in the air, but he landed without a broken bone or serious wounds. However, the shock was so intense that he had to be sent to a hospital. A letter has been received from his nurse, saying that he was making satisfactory progress, and would be able to write for himself in a few days.

Sergt. Barnhill has been on the firing line for almost two years, and has been decorated for bravery. He wears the Russian Cross of St. George, and other medals, for brilliant service.

Nearly all the original members of the battery have been wounded or killed.

SOLDIERS GRATEFUL FOR SOCKS SENT BY WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Suggest That Members Might Aid Recruiting Greatly.

MORE MEN ARE NEEDED

Official Thanks Are Tendered for Gifts Sent London's Own.

Writing to Mrs. A. J. Calder, president, a grateful acknowledgment of the socks sent the men of the 142nd Battalion by the Women's Auxiliary, "S. H.," a member of the stretcher-bearers, says:

"We would that it could be in your power to donate a pair of socks to all those still in the fair city of London who are numbered among the eligibles, that they might not further suffer from that terrible complaint known as 'cold feet.' There is still a call for men, more men, to come and help in this fight for truth and righteousness, against the ruthless enemy which confronts us. We are looking for men who will back us up, as we seek to support our comrades at the front, and believe no more effectual appeal can be made than by the women, and we trust these appeals will not be made in vain."

Boys Are Pleased.

Concerning the gifts of socks, "S. H." expresses the gratitude of himself and fellow-members of the battalion, as follows:

"It has come to the knowledge of the boys of our battalion that through the efforts of yourself and the members of the Women's Auxiliary, who have the welfare of the boys so much at heart, that the splendid gift of socks you have so kindly sent was made possible. We have no hesitation in saying that this gift has appealed more to the hearts of the men than anything else done on our behalf, and we feel grateful in acknowledging the same. Somehow, such a gift has a personal appeal to every man, and is a tangible expression of the love and good-will of the women folk we have left behind us in London.

"We wish to thank you personally for what you did in washing and pressing a large number of the socks.

Yours gratefully,

S. H.

Official Thanks.

The official thanks of the battalion has come to Mrs. Calder from the commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham, in this note:

Mrs. A. J. Calder, President Women's Auxiliary, 142nd Battalion:

Dear Madam,—On behalf of the officers, N. C. O.'s and men, I wish to extend to you, as the president of the Women's Auxiliary of the 142nd Battalion, our hearty thanks and appreciation for what you have done for us. We trust that you and the women who have taken such an active part in this work for us will bear us in mind, and assure you that any message from you will be looked forward to and received by the men of the battalion in the good spirit in which it is sent.

PREPARED TO DIE WITHOUT DREAD OR FEAR OF ETERNITY

Pte. Joseph Walsh's Last Letter Shows the Man.

WRITTEN IN THE SHADOW

Well-Spent Life Ends in Sacrifice For Humanity's Cause.

In a letter that has wrung the heart-strings of all his old friends who have read it, Pte. Joseph Walsh, who was killed in the fighting on the Somme, tells his parents that he was prepared to die. His letter was written in anticipation of giving his life in the great cause, and was entrusted to an old London friend, to be posted if Pte. Walsh did not return from the Canadian attack.

Pte. Walsh was with his brother, Leo, at the time a German shell ended his life. Leo was wounded, and is now about to be attached to one of the permanent units in England. He was only seventeen years old when he enlisted, but insisted on going. His brother, Joseph, was a salesman with the William McPhillips Music Company before enlisting and was endeared to all who met him.

His Last Words.

His letter in part is as follows:

Dear Mother:

I am writing this letter in case anything happens to me at the front. Remember that my last thoughts were of you and the only thing I can say is that you have been all that a mother could be to all us boys; that you have really done too much for us, but, mother dear, I know that the rest of the boys appreciate it more than we can say. I am really sorry for any time that my thoughtlessness caused you grief or pain.

Now I don't want you to worry about me, as I have never done anything that would cause offense to or hurt the feelings of anyone.

I don't fear death. What is death out here? Nothing compared to the life a fellow might come to lead at home.

He Had Tried.

I may not have always done right, mother, but I have tried and you know it is human to err, even a little.

I want you, dear mother, to do a few favors for me. One is to send six dollars to the Grand Trunk for a ride I had to Toronto and back at their expense one time.

I know you will forgive me for any time I was saucy to you or dad and thereby caused you grief or pain. Hoping you will say a little prayer for me once in a while, I will close trusting in God. Your affectionate son,

JOSEPH.

P. S.—I have entrusted this letter to Mr. Burt whose home is on Smith street, and he will mail it to you in case anything happens. He will not go to the front as he is medically unfit.

Pte. Walsh was known to his friends here as a young man of exemplary character, who was considerate of everyone, a loyal, devoted and clean-living son, and one whose business career had already given promise of much success.

INTERESTING PARIS PAPER OF 1870 SENT BY SOLDIER

Gunner Dalton Forwards French Publication Printed in the Former Great War.

Gunner F. C. Dalton, 3rd Canadian Division, French Howitzer Battery, sends to his father, John Dalton, 666 Lorne avenue, an interesting Parisian paper called Courrier De La Guerre, published during the war and siege of 1870.

On the front page of the four-page sheet is a map showing Verdun prominently and the German line near at hand. Across the top of the page, forerunner of the present-day eight-column lines, is a single line "Le Tombeau de la Prusse," the grave of the Prussian, covering a signed article by "H. Regnault."

The name of Gen. MacMahon figures repeatedly in the article, the writer fixing his hopes on the brilliancy of this leader.

The news items bear a peculiar resemblance to some of those printed today. One from Esch-sur-Alzette, says: "At 5 o'clock this morning one could hear the roar of the fusillade at the Audun wood."

Another says: "The prince imperial has returned to Mezieres; the emperor, it is said, is at Raucourt." Here is a difference: No emperor is leading the French now, but "Father Joffre" and his following is more united than that of the emperor in 1870.

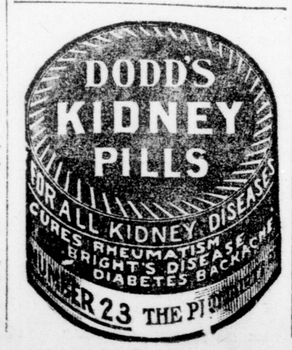

The paper was sold at 5 centimes in Paris and 6 centimes at outside points. The issue sent by Gunner Dalton was published on Wednesday, September 2.

MORE RETURNED SOLDIERS EXPECTED HERE SATURDAY

But No Definite Word of Time or Numbers Yet Received.

No definite word has been received by the local branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, as to when another party of returned soldiers will arrive here. It is thought that some may reach here by Saturday. Only the list of Western Ontario men has so far been received and as some of these men may be sent to other points to convalesce it is not known how many are to come here.

Pending word from Ottwa, no detailed plans for a reception have been made, but the men will be met by a band from one of the battalions stationed here and will be taken to the Tecumseh House before proceeding to the military hospital.

COSTLY JOY-RIDE ON SOLDIERS' LAST LEAVE

Ptes. Heyward and Miller, 161st, Brought From Borden for Trial.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

HENSALL, Oct. 25.—Pte. Heyward of the 161st, when on his last leave here, observed a garage left open by the veterinary surgeon here, and took out the car with some other lads of the town, and went for a joy-ride to Goderich. Coming home it is supposed that they had a blow-out, and put the car back, saying nothing to anyone. The police were notified, and the man was found at Camp Borden. He was brought back, and had his trial in Clinton, where Heyward and his companion, named Miller, were each fined $16.50 and costs and sent back to camp.

Three soldiers who took "French leave" were caught here in the town. Two of them attempted to get away. One is from Seaforth. They were put under guard and escorted back to Camp Borden today.

WERE STORING LIQUOR FOR FOURTEEN YEARS

Claim of Defendants in New Trial of Weber Liquor Case.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CLINTON, Oct. 25.—A second trial in connection with the now famous seizure of over three hundred gallons of whisky last month at the home of Joseph Weber of Seaforth, took place here today before Police Magistrate Andrews. Judgment was reserved.

The crown produced new evidence in the case by bringing into court the men who hauled the liquor from Stratford, and through the factor that one of these men lived twelve miles from Dublin, and the other five miles, and that the arrangements to deliver the consignment were made by Joseph Weber, a hotel-keeper of Dublin, and brother of the Seaforth man. The liveryman had also been chartered by Joseph Weber to take one load from Dublin to Seaforth by the light of the moon, and stated that he left Dublin at midnight, and arrived in Seaforth between 2 and 3 a.m.

The defendant gave about the same evidence as at the trial on the previous charge, stating that the liquor was for himself and his wife, and they were proposing to supply themselves for the next fourteen years. The defendant's wife was called, but refused to give evidence.

The magistrate announced he would give his decision one week from today. Messrs Thompson and Bert acted for Weber, and Crown Attorney Seager for Inspector Torrance.

New York Story States G. T. R. Is Interested in Deal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Sun this morning publishes a story on "high authority" that Sir Donald Mann and Sir William Mackenzie have completed negotiations for the purchase of the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad. The latter road, which runs from Watertown, South Dakota, to the Canadian border, was constructed by Edwin Hawley and his associates for the transportation of wheat and lumber to gulf ports and to bring back cotton, rice, sugar and other commodities not grown in Canada. Through a man closely associated in the negotiations, the Sun says, it was learned that the Grand Trunk Railway was also interested in the transaction.

HOLLWEG WILL REPLY TO VISCOUNT GREY

BERLIN, Oct. 25, via Sayville—General opinion in Berlin is that the recent speech of Viscount Grey, the British foreign secretary, will make little impression in Germany," says an Overseas News Agency statement today.

"Since, however," adds the agency, "Viscount Grey addressed his speech not to Germany, but to neutrals and to England's allies, it is expected in some quarters that Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg will deal in the Reichstag with the British foreign secretary's misrepresentation of facts.

A DEPARTMENT ALL FOR INFANTS' AND CHILDREN'S THINGS

So much is done for the big folks, and so much advertising every day in the newspapers about styles and fashions, we thought that you might be thinking you were being neglected. Not so. Deliveries of many lines of children's and infants' garments and underwear, shoes, etc., have been backward this season, but now we are ready with abundant new stocks of winter things for baby's comfort. Almost every mother in the city is acquainted with the Infants' Department on the second floor, where all babys' and children's things are assembled for convenient selection or inspection. It's so much nicer and easier to find what you want, and there are so many suggestions, things you never thought of for baby. We are making friends with the children, and little folks will receive first consideration in all things that minister to their comfort.

STEEL MILLS MAY CLOSE THROUGH COAL SHORTAGE

Lack of Labor and Lack of Cars Held Responsible.

[Canadian Press.]

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 26.—Steel mills as well as other manufacturing plants throughout the Pittsburg district face a serious situation today as a result of an advance of nearly 100 per cent within the last two weeks in the price of furnace coke together with a jump in the price of coal. If the cost of fuel goes much higher, it was declared possible that some furnaces would be banked for the present because the price of pig iron has not kept pace with the advance in coke.

Furnace coke, ten days ago, sold in the local market at from $3.50 to $4 a ton. This week it sold at $7.50 to $7.75 a ton and yesterday dealers demanded $8. for the best grade. Equally abnormal conditions prevail in the local coal market. Anthracite coal has been advanced to $8.50 a ton while bituminous sells from 2 to 3 cents more a bushel than one year ago. Scarcity of labor and car shortage is given as the cause for the advance in the price of coal and coke.

WOODMAN SPARE FINE CITY TREES, IS REQUEST MADE

W. E. Saunders Points to Destruction of Patriarchs.

100-YEAR GIANT FELLED

City's Largest Tree, a Carolina Poplar, May Become Victim.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

At the southeast corner of Toronto, where the houses are still being built in the woods, some trees came in the way of the sidewalk, but as they were fairly good ones, the sidewalk was made to curve around them. They were not particularly handsome trees, but just about the average as trees grow in the woods, and yet Toronto valued them too highly to cut them down for the sake of the sidewalk! I could not help contrasting these with some of our beautiful but unfortunate trees in London; for instance, that enormous old patriarch of an oak, about four feet in diameter, which was cut down about ten years ago to straighten the sidewalk on Wilson avenue, West London, and more recently that beautiful maple, which was perhaps the best hard maple in the city, and certainly one of the best which grew, not in the way of the sidewalk, but only of a curb, on Regina street.

Worth a Dozen Curbs.

That tree won the admiration of every person who saw it. Almost perfect in shape, and at the very pinnacle of health, it was worth more to the city than straight lines or a dozen curbs. It was perhaps a hundred years old, and was cut down by some unthinking person in the engineer's department, who was doubtless doing his duty to the best of his knowledge.

It seems as though there should be some provision made to prevent specially fine trees from being cut. For instance, if the council were to pass a by-law that no trees over a given diameter should be cut down until a committee from the Horticultural Society had seen it, errors of the kind mentioned above might be prevented.

Just north of the Thomas Alway Home there is what I believe to be the largest tree in the city. A Carolina poplar. Not an absolutely perfect tree, but very fine, and with the dignity and majesty that age gives to such things. Some day that street is going to be "improved," and someone will discover that a curb or a sidewalk or the grading of a road demands that that tree be cut down, and then we will lose it.

Cutting in the Park.

Trees are usually cut with insufficent consideration. For instance, last winter when some cutting was done in Victoria Park, the only group of evergreens belonging to the city was largely demolished; and out of three or four Austrian pines, one of them, harmless though not especially beautiful, was taken out, although almost all of the 200 soft maples were left, and it would have been an unquestionable advantage to the park if 20 or 30 of them had been taken out.

Of course, human management is never perfect, but these instances go to show the need of careful consideration when we are going to remove a tree it will take 30, 60 or 100 years to replace.

Yours truly, W. E. SAUNDERS.

DUKE OF YORK BAR CLOSED BY INSPECTOR

License Held By Former Proprietor Not Valid for Owner.

License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside has ordered the bar of the Duke of York Hotel, East London, closed, because the Ontario temperance act does not permit the operation even of a temperance bar unless the license is held by the proprietor.

The former proprietor, J. A. Cardy, left the city a few days before the act went into effect, and the owner, Frank McLean, put a bailiff in to recover the rent. The bailiff has since operated the hotel, but as the license is not in his name the bar was ordered closed by Inspector Keenleyside.

OFF TO FALL CEREMONIAL OF SALADIN TEMPLE, MICH.

London Shriners Leave for Grand Rapids—To Issue Invitation to London.

Dr. A. Roy Routledge, illustrious Potentate of Mocha Temple, and Noble W. H. Abbott, recorder, left at noon today, for Grand Rapids, Mich., where they will attend the fall ceremonial session of Saladin Temple, that city.

While there, they will extend an invitation to the patrol of Saladin Temple to visit London on December 6, when the winter ceremonial of Mocha Temple will be held. It is hoped that it will be accepted.

The Shriners will have a big time here in December. There are about 75 candidates ready for initiation, and prominent visitors from Buffalo, Detroit, Toronto and other places will be in attendance.

The program is now being prepared. This is the session at which officers are elected. Noble Capt. John L. Richmond, who is now at the front, is in line for the potentate's position, and is expected to be elected in spite of the fact that he is away.

Preparations will also be started for the Imperial Council meeting to be held in Minneapolis and St. Paul next summer.

DIPHTHERIA PREVALENT

Ten Cases Are Being Looked After by Health Department.

An unusually large number of cases of diphtheria have developed in the city, according to information furnished by the medical officer of health, Dr. H. W. Hill.

Ten cases are at present in isolation, and although not of the most virulent type, it has been breaking out in different sections of the city during the past two weeks.

The close resemblance between certain bad types of sore throat and diphtheria has led the medical officer of health to advise that parents not attempt to deal with children affected with sore throat, but to consult a physician.

Dr. Hill believes that many cases of diphtheria could be prevented if mothers would seek medical aid when the illness is first noticed, and not depend too much on home remedies.

DEEP WELLS SUNK AT REDMOND POND SHOW PURE WATER

Shallow Wells Have Colon Bacilli, Tests Prove.

COMMISSION WILL DRILL

If Source Is Struck, Flow of 1,500,000 Gallons Is Expected.

The water from the deep wells in the vicinity of Redmond pond is found to be pure, while water from shallow wells is shown to be contaminated by colon bacilli.

Some time ago, General Manager Buchanan had samples of all the well water in the vicinity taken in order to discover if it was pure. This was done in order to come to a decision as to drilling. If all the water had been found to be badly contaminated, it is probable that the commission would not have drilled for water.

However, the report is very satisfactory. The deep wells are pure, and the water of very fine quality, so wells will be drilled at once. The commission will put down some deep wells, hoping to tap the source of the big pond. If this is successful, it is expected, at least 1,500,000 gallons of water will be found. It can be taken to Springbank by gravity, the distance being only a few hundred yards.

The well in the east end is down about twenty feet, and the drills are still in hard pan. It will not be known for a week whether there is water there.

CANDIDATES SHOW NO GREAT ANXIETY TO DECLARE AIMS

Municipal Life Ambitions Seem To Be Scarce, Few Declaring Themselves.

Municipal elections matters are extremely quiet, and the candidate has not come up to see what the weather is going to be like, politically, about January 1.

It is usual at this time of the year to chronicle a large number of aspiring persons in the ready-to-serve column, but so far there is little to be said.

Mayor Stevenson and Controller W. W. Gammage are definitely in the field for the mayoralty. The names of E. R. Dennis and F. G. Mitchell are also mentioned. Neither will say a word.

For the utilities commission, F. G. Mitchell is the only possible candidate mentioned at this time. Commissioner T. W. McFarland has stated that he will not run again.

As far as the board of control is concerned, there will be a few faces missing. Controller Gammage, Controller White and Controller Rose have said that they will not run again. Controller John M. Moore may do so, although he is being urged to stand for the utilities commission.

Few of the aldermen will retire. Ald. Jones will quit. Ald. Burdick does not want any more of it, his friends say, although he may take another year. Ald. Webster will probably go to the board of control. Ald. Ashplant is mentioned prominently for the same position. Ald. Little, Ald. Wilson, Ald. Copp, Ald. Reynolds, Ald. Donahue, Ald. Dyer and Ald. Summers will probably run in their respective wards. Ald. Palmer is a candidate for the board of control. Ex-Ald. James Donnelly will take another chance in ward 4, and ex-Ald. Chas. G. Moorhead will run in the same ward, if Ald. Burdick retires.

However, there will be plenty of aspirants in the next few weeks. The election will probably be a keen one.

A. Y. P. A. WILL TAKE UP RED CROSS WORK

Proposal Meets With Hearty Approval —Officers Elected.

At the first meeting of the season of St. Luke's Anglican Young People's Association held this week the proposal was made to take up Red Cross work largely this year, the many present expressing hearty approval.

The attendance was large of both men and women, a good augury for the success of the season. Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, rector of the church, presided. An important feature of the evening's business was the election of new officers for the coming year, which resulted as follows:

President, Jos. Chapman; first vice-president, Edgar Chamberlain; second vice-president, Miss Lily Magee; secretary, Miss Irene Stockwell; treasurer, Miss Nagle; executive committee, Gordon Flannigan, J. Coyne and Mrs. E. Chamberlain.

A general meeting of the A. Y. P. A. will be held next Monday evening, to which the members of the Ladies' Aid are to be invited. Mrs. Donald McLean, president of the Women's Canadian Club, will be the speaker.

ENJOYED FOWL SUPPER

White Oak Congregation Celebrates Church Anniversary.

White Oak Methodist Church held its anniversary services and annual fowl supper this week, and, as usual, these proved very successful.

On Sunday morning, Rev. Walter Millson of St. Thomas preached and in the evening Rev. Mr. Crawford, Presbyterian minister of Westminster, conducted the service and brought with him his choir, which furnished the music.

On Tuesday evening came the supper and concert. About 275 people sat down to the tables, where roast chicken was the piece de resistance. The musical program was provided by the London mixed quartet, consisting of Misses Hicks and Straitch, Chris Fink and Percy King, while Joseph Ronan gave some readings.

The proceeds altogether amounted to $145.

TWILIGHT MUSICALES

Y. M. C. A. To Open Series for All Women November 1.

The Young Women's Christian Association is planning for this season a series of twilight musicales which will be given the first and third Wednesday of each month in the association parlors, 472 Park avenue. The first will take place Wednesday, November 1, at 4.15 o'clock. Miss Lola Stevens and Miss Ruth Keyes to take charge of the opening program. A cordial invitation is extended to all women of the city to attend.

The association rooms are centrally located, and the idea in holding the musicals is that women who are down town shopping or in answer to some of the many calls of duty of the present may enjoy dropping into the cosy association parlors for a rest and to enjoy good music.

FELL FROM TRAIN, LAY THREE HOURS WITH RIBS BROKEN

Fred Abel Returns Home After Accident Near Brampton.

Fred Abel, a news agent employed by the Canada Railway News Company, has just returned to the city after having fallen from the 12:30 express near Brampton on Monday last.

Mr. Abel went to the steps of the parlor car to expectorate, and as he leaned out of the car he overbalanced and went down a steep embankment. He lay unconscious for three hours and was picked up by a farmer, who took him to Brampton station and summoned a doctor. He was found to have four ribs fractured and was sent to his home here after a rest at Brampton. He is under a doctor's care, and is recovering.

Amalgamation of Conductors and Trainmen Likely

One of Expected Results of Threatened Strike—Obvious Advantages.

In union circles it is being now reported that one of the results of the threatened C. P. R. strike, settled yesterday, will be the amalgamation of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Trainmen's Union. For some time steps have been taken to consolidate the two unions, and it seems now as if the co-ordination exhibited by the different unions during the strike proceedings will result in the consummation of the long-looked-for union, say railway union representatives.

The Trainmen's Union or Brotherhood includes brakemen, passenger trainmen, switchmen, yardmen and baggagemen. The conductors' order includes only conductors. This means that there are about five members of the trainmen to every member of the conductors' order, with resulting high dues to the latter.

The amalgamated union would not only reduce union dues, but would at the same time mean a greater strength to the unions.

FOUR MORE CASES ENTERED ON LISTS FOR FALL ASSIZES

Bank Asks an Assignment Be Set Aside.

TRUST COMPANY SUED

Miss Shaw Claims Western Trusts, Ltd., Owes Her $2,500.

Four additional cases were entered for trial today at the non-jury sittings at the fall assizes to open on Monday next with Justice Lennox presiding.

The Imperial Bank of Canada has entered suit against the estate of the late William John Reid and Laura King Reid, wife of Col. Frank Reid, now on duty at Shorncliffe, England, asking that the court set aside an assignment made, and that money received be paid into court.

The plaintiff claims that fifty shares of Ontario Loan and Debenture stock owned by W. J. Reid, were transferred to Laura King Reid, while the defendant, W. J. Reid, was on the eve of insolvency.

The stock was sold, and as the bank held judgment against W. J. Reid, it is claimed that the money should be paid into court, and an order then be made paying it over to the bank.

The defence denies the allegations, and claims that the transfer of stock was made in a legitimate manner and not at a time when the defendant was bordering on insolvency.

Anna Shaw-Wood is suing the London and Western Trusts Company, Limited, to recover $2,500, which she claims has been held in trust by the company. She claims that the amount was bequeathed to her by her grandmother and that her father, the late Richard Shaw-Wood, had placed it in trust with the company. She asks that an order be made by the court instructing that the trust company pay over the amount.

The defence statement of claim is based upon the statute of limitations, which the company claims bars payment where a claim is insufficinetly proven as the company maintains it to be in the action brought by defendant.

George T. Ross has entered action against John and George Murray, claiming $1,927.50 damages, and asks an injunction to restrain the defendants from entering the premises occupied by plaintiff as soda water factory.

The plaintiff claims that the business was sold to him by defendants for $4,000, and that damaged goods and interference with his business had made up the amount of his claim.

The defendant denies the statements made by plaintiff, and counter-claim money for wages yet unpaid.

Coat of Hot Tar Placed on Street a Trap to Unwary

City Works Department Earns "Blessing" of Cyclists and Motorists.

Some slippery work was done by London's public works department today when a coat of hot tar was placed on the west side of Wellington street between Dundas street and Queen's avenue.

The street was not barricaded and several bicyclists and one motor car did some fancy skidding through the greasy stuff. At this point the customers of the Bicycle and Motor Sales Company are always in evidence, and the proprietor, G. A. Wenige, declared that the work was typical of the carelessness that existed in the city engineer's department, and might have caused a serious accident.

"Everybody was all gummed up with the tar in a few minutes," said Mr. Wenige. "The laying of it was stopped after about twenty complaints went to the city engineer. They might as well have started to smear the whole of Dundas streets with tar without making any provision for the traffic."

CAR FERRY AGROUND.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, Oct. 26.—The Canadian Government car ferry steamer Leonard, plying between Quebec and Levis, was shoved aground on the Levis side of the river shortly after ten o'clock this morning, by a high gale. She had a number of freight cars aboard.

She is lying on a rocky bottom, and it is feared she was seriously damaged. Efforts are being made to float her.

TO UNDERGO OPERATION.—Arch Screaton, auditor for the utilities commission, has gone to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, to undergo an operation. His health has not been good of late.

NOT YET ARRIVED.—No word has yet been received of the arrival in Canada of Lieut.-Col. H. Milligan, who was supposed to sail from London, Eng. on October 15. His friends think he must have left on a slow boat, possibly a freighter.

TO DISCUSS BYLAW.—There will be a session of the board of control, and No. 3 committee on Friday evening to discuss the building bylaw. This is a matter of form, as the bylaw has been approved by building trades, architects and others.

NO LOCAL RISES.—The plan of the American Ford Company to pay all girl employees at least $5 a day does not affect the employees of the Canadian Company, so far as is known at the local assembling plant. No notice of such increase has been received.

BEGINS DOUBLE TRACK. — The London Street Railway Company has commenced the construction of a double track across the Grand Trunk at Richmond street. The Dominion Railway Commission promulgated the necessary order some time ago, and the street railway company is now doing the work.

SPOKE FOR RED CROSS.—Rev. Dr. Silcox, pastor of the First Congregational Church here, addressed a patriotic meeting in Dorchester last evening on British Red Cross work. He was requested to do this by the local Patriotic Association. Ald. Adam Palmer took him out, and a large crowd was in attendance. A canvass for funds for the British Red Cross has been undertaken.

VISITOR WILL PREACH.—Rev. Dr. Meldrum of Cleveland, whose fame as a preacher is well known in London and throughout Western Ontario, is to be a week-end visitor in the city and will conduct the anniversary services on Sunday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Dr. Meldrum is a Canadian and spends his summers in Goderich, where his mother makes her home.

WANT MORE BICYCLE ROOMS.—Proper accommodation for bicycles ridden by collegiate and public school pupils is being demanded now. In the new Lord Roberts' School a bicycle room was installed, and the wheels of students there have protection that was formerly impossible. At the collegiate several hundred wheels are stacked outside during the day. It has been suggested that sheds be built to properly house them.

CARRIED WIRES DOWN.—Snapping off of a tree on Windsor avenue, near Ridout street, during the windstorm of Wednesday afternoon, carried down the hydro wires on that street, and cut off a South London lighting circuit for some time. The tree trunk snapped at a level with the hydro lines and carried down three house services in addition to the feeder wires. Several hours' work by a repair gang was necessary to straighten out the tangle.

FORMAL OPENING. — The formal opening for the season of the Women's Catholic Club will take place in St. Peter's Parish Hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. An address will be delivered by His Lordship Bishop Fallon, and in addition a good program of vocal and instrumental numbers has been arranged. At the close refreshments will be served by the ladies of the club. All interested are cordially invited to attend, men as well as women.

WANT CROSSING FIXED.—Demands for an immediate improvement of the Talbot street crossing of the London and Port Stanley Railway are being made. The spur line of the L. and P. S. which has never been completed, necessitated the ripping up of the asphalt pavement on Bathurst street, and a series of bumps were left when the track was put across Talbot street. Broken auto and vehicle springs are being recorded almost daily.

MISS BURKE TO SPEAK. — The Women's Canadian Club will meet for the second time this season on Friday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock in the Normal School, when the speaker of the occasion will be Miss Kathleen Burke. Miss Burke, who is the honorary secretary of the Women's Scottish Hospitals for the Allies, will tell of what is being done through these institutions to alleviate the sufferings of wounded and sick soldiers of the Allies in Belgium, France and Serbia.

ENGAGE EXPERT TO DECIDE AMOUNT OF WATER, IS SCHEME

Commission To Discuss Idea For Macgregor Wells.

SOLICITOR GIVES ADVICE

Says This Is Proper Procedure Before Beginning Expropriation Proceedings.

That an expert be engaged to go over the Macgregor wells scheme and report as to whether there is water sufficient on the property to justify the city in expropriating it, the cost, etc., will be a motion to be submitted to the utilities commission this afternoon. It will probably be agreed to by the members, in order to clear the atmosphere.

Last evening, Chairman Philip Pocock, Commissioners Dennis and Mitchell interviewed City Solicitor Meredith as to the best methods of proceeding to bring the matter fairly before the people. He explained to them that it was necessary to have a report from an engineer as to the quantity of the water, its purity, the price the property was worth, and the amount it would take to bring the water to the pumping station. When this was settled, then expropriation proceedings could be taken.

This course will be followed to the letter. It is expected that either Willis Chipman or R. O. Wynne-Roberts, Toronto, will be selected to test the field and make a report. When he has made his report, the city council will be asked to provide the money needed for the work. Then a bylaw can be passed.

The utilities commission will discuss this matter this afternoon. Commissioners Dennis and Mitchell are in favor of this proposition. The report will show definitely what is there, and whether or not it will be good business to buy the property.

"That is my attitude," said Commissioner Mitchell. "Let the experts settle it. I am willing to abide by their decision."

Many other important matters will be discussed.

SUES CHIROPRACTOR FOR ALLEGED HURT RATHER THAN CURE

Mrs. Janes Enters Action Against Samuel Jones.

ASKS $2,000 DAMAGES

Says Treatment Too Violent and Not Suitable For Ailment.

Claiming that the treatment administered to her by Samuel Jones, a chiropractor, of 550 Colborne street, had aggravated her physical condition instead of improving it, Mrs. Ida Janes, a dressmaker, has entered action against Jones for $2,000 damages, the case to be heard at the fall assizes, commencing on Monday.

Mrs. Janes, in her statement of claim, alleges that she was treated by Jones, who claimed to cure diseases without the use of drugs, practicing manipulation instead.

The plaintiff further claims that the manipulator was too violent and not suitable for her ailment, and as a result she was made worse instead of better.

She alleges that the treatment was not administered in a skillful manner, as Jones claimed to be able to do, and that she had become partly paralyzed as a result. She further states she has been forced to take to her bed as a result of the treatment, and has been unable to follow her occupation as a dressmaker.

The defendant, Samuel Jones, denies the allegations that he had administered treatment unskillfully, and claims that he had treated the defendant properly. He further claims that the action was not entered until a year after the statement of claim was made, and takes also as his defence chapter 161 of the Ontario medical act, revised statutes, which, he states, justifies his claim for defence.

WEDDING BELLS

BUCHANAN—CLARK.

The marriage was quietly solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Shea Apartments, Central avenue, of Anna Eloise Clark, daughter of the late Fire Chief Lawrence Clark, 365 Princess avenue, to E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the utilities commission. Rev. H. H. Bingham of Talbot Street Baptist Church officiated. The bride, who was unattended, looked charming in a smart tailored traveling suit of navy blue, with a grey velvet hat. She carried a shower bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Clark, mother of the bride, was gowned becomingly in black and white silk, and Miss Catherine Buchanan, sister of the groom, wore a modish brown costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan left on the Detroiter, over the Michigan Central, for a honeymoon trip to New York and Atlantic City. The bride was for some time assistant in the offices of the utilities commission, of which her husband has been manager for a year or more. On their return they will reside in the Shea Apartments on Central avenue.

NEW PACIFIC LINERS.

[Canadian Press.]

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—The China Mail Steamship Company, which began transpacific operations a year ago with the liner China, purchased from the Pacific Mail Company, has bought two big ocean steamers under construction at the Wallace Shipyard, Vancouver, B. C., it was announced here today.

The China Mail Company, according to reports here, has agreed to pay $2,500,000 each for the liners, delivery to be made within ten months. It also is said tentative arrangements for two other liners have been made giving the company a fleet of five vessels.

HUNS CHARGE ATROCITIES.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Oct. 26—Via London, 12:38 p.m. —The Austro-Hungarian foreign office has published a Red Book dealing with 116 cases which are termed violations of international laws and committed by countries at war with Austria-Hungary.

Much space is devoted in the official documents to alleged atrocious treatment of Austro-Hungarian prisoners by the Serbians. It is stated that of a total number of 63,000 Austro-Hungarian prisoners in the hands of the Serbians from 35,000 to 40,000 died in captivity.

TEMPORARY EMPLOYEES OF POST OFFICES FIT FOR ARMY LIKELY TO LOSE POSITIONS

All Receive Notice That Unless They Have Seen Active Service or Are Unfit or Exempt, Their Places Will Probably Be Filled by Returned Men.

Every employee of the London postoffice with a temporary appointment received word this morning in the form of a circular and notice that unless he has given military service or been rejected as medically unfit or is exempted on the ground that his services are of value to the state, he may expect to have his place filled by a returned soldier.

Fifteen employees of the postoffice, who work inside, and a number of letter-carriers are affected by the ruling.

Each employee to whom the new regulations apply received a form, asking a number of questions which must be filled out and returned at once to the secretary of the civil service commission at Ottawa.

Preferred Classes.

An order-in-council inclosed with the questions sets forth that preference is to be given to those who have served in His Majesty's forces during the present war, and who have been honorably discharged. The age for examination for the civil service is reduced from 18 to 16 years. No man who has seen service or has been rejected or is specially exempted, shall be refused a place, because his age is greater than 35 years. During the war no appointments are to be made to the civil service except from the classes specified.

Civil service examinations, scheduled for November and December, are postponed and are all set for December from the 19th to the 22nd. Full information regarding vacancies may be secured from the secretary. Applications must be filed before December 1, 1916.

The Questions.

The questions ask each temporary employee: (1) Have you served with His Majesty's forces and been honorably discharged? (2) Have you offered yourself for active service in the present war and been rejected? (3) Have you desired to enlist and been refused on the ground that your services are of more value to the state in the employment in which you are engaged than if you enlisted for active service? In case of rejection or discharge certificates, these must be attached to the questions. The employee is also asked to furnish proof of physical disability if he has been rejected.

Most Are Willing.

Almost all of the employees to be affected by the orders are young married men who have just been taken into service within a year or two. It is said that most of those to whom the notice applies are willing to enlist or to offer themselves. At any rate their places are to be filled with returned soldiers if the latter are able to pass examinations.

The examination fees posted by temporary employees will be refunded. None of those who received the notice have yet passed their examinations. They will not have to try now.

Other branches of the service, such as customs and inland revenue, will have the same rulings applied to their temporary employees, of whom there is a considerable number.

HOTEL CONDITIONS ARE SATISFACTORY, SAYS INSPECTOR

All Are Being Operated Under Now Standard Licenses.

SOME MAY CLOSE SOON

Will Have To, Declare Proprietors, Unless Business Is Better.

All the hotels of the city are conducting their places of business as the standard hotel licenses provide, and conditions in this respect are satisfactory, according to a statement made by Inspector J. B. Keenleyside to The Advertiser yesterday.

Since the Ontario temperance act became effective it has not been necessary to even warn a hotelman in the city, and the conduct of the hotels in other respects has been fully within the rules laid down by the standard hotel licenses.

Throughout the country the hotelmen have been obeying the law to the letter, and Inspector Keenleyside has not found it necessary to lay any informations for infractions of the act.

Practically every hotel in the city is operating under increased rates made necessary, the hotelmen claim, because of decreased receipts due to the closing out of the licensed bar. The "soft goods" bar, the hotelmen claim, is not paying, and many maintain that it never will.

Several claim they will close their hotels in a few months unless the trade shows an improvement.

M. McMURRAY DEAD

Sudden Demise of Well-Known Hotelman of Ingersoll.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Oct. 26.—Marshall McMurray, for many years proprietor of the McMurray House, and who since local option went into effect over three years ago had carried on a pool, billiard and tobacco business in the same stand, was found dead in bed about 10:30 o'clock this morning. Death was evidently due to heart failure. Mr. McMurray was 56 years of age, and came to Ingersoll when a boy with his parents. He was born in Delaware. His father, the late William McMurray, conducted the McMurray House for a number of year. Marshall McMurray was a warm friend of amateur sports particularly baseball and hockey, and an admirer of good horses. He had not been feeling well since Monday, but his condition was not thought to be alarming. He has a wife and two sons, Robert in England with the Canadian troops, and Bailey at home.

METHODIST MINISTER KILLED IN ACTION

[Canadian Press.]

Hamilton, Oct. 26.—Word has been received this morning that Lieut. Hubert J. Fenton, a well-known young Methodist minister, has been killed in action. He was a graduate of Victoria University and had been engaged in missionary work in the north when war broke out. He qualified for the rank of major, but went overseas as a lieutenant with the 84th.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, Oct. 26.—Dealings on the stock exchange today were generally restricted by the Rumanian war news, and there was a further slight setback in gilt-edged securities. Brazilian issues were firm exceptions on the semi-official statement that cash payments will be renewed, and the funding scheme discontinued next year. American securities were irregular. High-priced shares were easy, but Erie, Denver and Rio Grande and Missouri, Kansas and Texas were firm. The latter was quite active.

Money was in shorter supply and discount rates were steady.

ATTEMPT MADE TO SINK MAURETANIA, CARRYING SOLDIERS

Stop Cocks Opened To Let In Water.

DANGER WAS IMMINENT

But Crew Saved Vessel—Man Who Jumped Overboard Was Suspected.

That an attempt was made by German agents to sink the Mauretania, the big White Star liner, now in the transport service, as she was sailing from Liverpool to Halifax, with hundreds of Canadian soldiers, is the story told by those aboard.

An officer, who does not wish his name used, is sponsor for the story. It seems that they were sailing along quietly, when a man jumped overboard in mid-ocean, with the sea as calm as a pond. While some of the crew were attempting to rescue him, it was noticed that the big steamer was listing considerably. An investigation followed, and it was discovered that some person had opened the stopcocks, and the hold was rapidly filling with water.

Feared Submarine.

The pumps were got to work, and after a great deal of work, the valves were closed and the boat pumped out. The Mauretania, while this was in progress, had to remain stationary from 8 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night. In a dead calm sea, she would have been a mark for a submarine. As the U-53 was operating off the Atlantic coast it was feared that she would torpedo the vessel. However, the underseas boat made no appearance, and after the ship had been pumped out, she started for Halifax.

Lighting Tampered With.

Later it was discovered that something was wrong with the electrical system and that it was impossible to put the lights out. Wires had to be cut to put the steamer in darkness during the night, and they were in that condition when the boat entered the harbor.

Passengers were of the opinion that the man who jumped overboard was a German spy, who thought the vessel was going down, and jumped before it did. Some suspected that another man fixed the electrical equipment, but he was not discovered.

On the way to Halifax, the Mauretania steered a zig-zag course, sometimes listing considerably with the sharpness of the turns.

No submarine was sighted, but every precaution was taken to prevent any accident to the big liner.

It was on this boat that Major Muir, Windsor, formerly of the 33rd Battalion, and several other Western Ontario officers and men sailed into Halifax.

BRAKEMAN TELLS OF DISAPPEARANCE AFTER BOWL GAME

Remembers Nothing of "Accident" in Motor Car.

WENT FOR RIDE IN AUTO

Declares Farmer Picked Him Up and Brought Him To City Wednesday.

Brakeman W. A. L. McDonald of the Grand Trunk, who left his home at 105 Elm street on Tuesday, October 17th, and caused much anxiety to his wife and other relatives by disappearing for a whole week, was seen today by an Advertiser reporter.

Mr. McDonald was in his cosy home recovering from the effects of whatever accident befell him the night of his disappearance. Seated on his knee arms around his neck, was the small boy, not yet three years old, who is the image of his daddy.

As he clasped the little fellow close in his arms, "I've had my lesson this time," the young father said. "This is the last time anything of the kind will get a chance to happen. When I started out in the morning I hadn't the least idea in the world of anything of the kind. Some of the other railroad men were going over to Stratford to meet the pay car and I thought I would go along."

"I didn't want you to go," reminded his wife.

Intentions Good.

"I know that," he said, "but when I started I fully intended to come right home. I was to go out that night at 9:40. Another fellow and I got back to the city at 5:25 p.m., and we decided to go together to Dr. Clegg to pass the examination for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. The other fellow had something else he wanted to do and told me to wait for him.

"I went into the National Bowling Alley and got into conversation with a couple of traveling men whom I knew before slightly. They asked me to join them in a game and, as the other railway man didn't come back, we had two or three, as nearly as I can remember. After a while we had a drink."

"How did you get it in prohibition time?"

Friend Had Flask.

"One of the men had a flask in his pocket, which he pulled out, and we had a drink all round. I have done a good many things in my time that I know I shouldn't have done, but I am not much given to using intoxicating drinks. When a fellow hasn't been drinking, he gets knocked over by it pretty easily. There may have been dope in it. I don't say there was, because I'm not sure. There were some other fellows there the men I was playing with seemed to know, and we all went out together and walked along Dundas street to Richmond. There they were getting into an automobile and asked me to come along. I thought I might as well have a ride, and I certainly wouldn't have gone if I hadn't known the two fellows before with whom I was playing. I am not going to give any names. I don't want to involve anyone else in this."

"It is bad enough for me to be in it. There were eight of us in the car. We went out the stone road towards Springbank and I remember passing Woodland Cemetery and a little farther on, but nothing after that until I wakened up in a farmer's house feeling pretty sore.

Knows of No Accident.

"I don't know anything about the automobile accident any more than the fact that it was telephoned in during the night to the Advertiser and the Grand Trunk. If there was one, the rest evidently got away with the car all right. In any case, something had happened to me. The farmer said when he found me on the road I was unconscious and my clothes looked as if I had been tramped all over. I couldn't speak at first and I couldn't keep anything on my stomach, my side gave me the worst troube.

"My watch and most of my money were gone, but my watch card was in my pocket and that is how the farmer found out my name."

Saw Advertiser.

"I hardly knew what day it was, but I got hold of the Advertiser and there I saw my picture and the story about my disappearance, how my wife was worrying and about the 'accident' supposed to have happened to me. I cut it out of the paper because I didn't want the farmer to see it. He wouldn't likely have recognized the picture. I didn't myself, at first. It was taken once with another fellow when I was out west. I was pretty stiff and sore, but as soon as I saw that in the paper, I made up my mind I had to get home soon as possible. I got the farmer to drive me into the city and I went straight to report to the Grand Trunk, then came home. That was Tuesday. The Grand Trunk doctor was in to see me yesterday and says I will be able to go back to work in a few days."

"Going back on the Grand Trunk."

"I hope to," he replied.

As the reporter left, "We feel grateful to the Advertiser for helping us as it has done," said Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

SUPERINTENDENT ADMITS CHILD BURNED IN HOSPITAL

Was Placed Too Close to Hot Radiator He Says.

Superintendent Heard of Victoria Hospital confirms the story of the accidental burning of the 4-year-old daughter of Russell Eyre, 8 Johnston street, as told in Wednesday's Advertiser.

The accident, he says, was the result of the baby being placed too close to a steam radiator. Mr. Heard does not think the limb will have to be amputated.

WONDERFUL WORK OF DENTAL CORPS HARDLY REALIZED

Over 31,000 Operations Here in Eight Months.

IMPORTANCE OF TEETH

Much Sickness Avoided Among Troops by Attention To the Month.

It took the British army authorities a great many years to realize the importance to the soldiers of good, strong, healthy teeth. It took a good many more years to create a Dental Corps which was all eficient. It was finally accomplished, however, and the Canadian army was not long in following suit.

Although a young unit, the C. A. D. C. has done wonderful work among Canada's soldiers both at home, in England, and on the continent. Defective teeth, it is claimed, are the sources of many maladies which for years defied the efforts of the best diagnosticians to trace to their cause. Many stomach and skin troubles haev been definitely traced to old roots, and it is claimed that a soldier's effeiency is considerably increased if his teeth are given proper and scientific treatment.

30,000 Operations.

The number of operations performed by a clinic even so small as the local branch of the Army Dental Corps, where six operators are the most ever working on the staff at any one time, surprises the average layman. In the past eight months from February to September inclusive, no fewer than 31,277 operations have been performed by the officers under Major Frank Shaw. This is an average of more than 3,534 per month.

During the month of August, when the full staff was employed, a total of 5,431 operations were performed. This is more than during the time when the camp was at its greatest strength, which is an indication of the excellent system devised and put into operation by the A. D. D. S. Only so many men can be handled, no matter what the number of men requiring treatment.

If the number happens tobe large only the urgent cases can be handled, the time is necessarily more split up and while more men may come under the care of the operators the number of operations is reduced. When the applicants for treatment are limited, more care can be exercised on the individual cases and more work done. Many a soldier has had all his old teeth removed and a complete new set installed.

Plans for Winter.

Extensive plans have been made for the coming winter. A clinic will be established in each town where troops are quartered. Lieut. McMillan, an officer recently attached, will be sent to Guelph. Capt. J. N. Dunning goes to Windsor and Capt. J. M. Deans to Galt. Other officers will be sent to Chatham and St. Thomas, but they are not yet chosen. In addition, a special clinic will be established, possibly at the Central Military Hospital, to treat the returned wounded and invalided soldiers.

A central laboratory will be maintained in London, where all laboratory work will be done. Supplies and quartermasters' stores will be shipped to the various clinics from London. It is intended that when the troops move out next spring every man will have teeth as perfect as dentistry can make them.

When a man goes overseas his unit takes along a chart showing the exact amount and character of work done on his teeth. This chart, it is claimed, has been put to a curious use. More than one man who has been killed at the front has been identified by reference to the chart. Ie is an almost infallible means of identification and has proved of use in criminal cases. Even when some of the teeth have been lost the work on the remainder is a sufficient means of identification.

A complete record is kept by Major Shaw of the work done and is tabulated in nineteen classes. These are amalgams, cements, silicates, root fillings, pulp caps, devitalizing, part upper, part lower, repairs, prophylaxis, extractions, putrescent pulps, full uppers, full lowers, pyhorrhea, impressions, bites, try-ins and re-cements.

Major Frank Shaw's work as assistant- director of dental services earned him his majority. In proportion to the number of operators the equipment supplied, his unit performed more operations than that of any other district in the country. In Camp Borden, with a very much larger staff the amount of work done was much smaller relatively. The quality of the work also has brought expressions of satisfaction from many men.

REGINA TRENCH IS SPLENDID TROPHY OF CANADIAN BOYS

Defiant Stronghold Captured in Ten Minutes.

FOURTH ATTEMPT MADE

Success Comes With the Big British Advance of October 21.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Sam Hughes has received the following report from the Canadian war records officer:

CANADIAN CORPS HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Oct. 22, via London, Oct. 25.—The mystery of the Regina trench is solved. The resistance of the Germans at this point has been finally broken and the British are now in possession of a line to which the enemy attached considerable tactical importance. Three times the Canadians had attacked this position. Each time they had successfully broken into the trenches and had inflicted heavy losses upon the enemy, but each time strong hostile counter-attacks had driven them out again.

The German defences had indeed been so organized that almost an air of mystery and of sinister-hidden danger had come to be attached to the Regina trench. It was known to be strongly built with many deep dug-outs, and to be protected by heavy wire entanglements, but the line ran for the greater part below the crest of the intervening ground, and could be reconnoitered only by night.

Germans Behind Trench.

Wounded men who returned claimed that the enemy rifle and machine gun fire came from behind the trench, and that in counter-attacking the Germans appeared to spring from a concealed position immediately in the rear.

In the big advance of October 21, which carried the British line forward on a frontage of five thousand yards, and to an average depth of 500 yards, the Canadians with other troops advanced to the attack of Regina trench. They were successful. Profiting by the former experiences their artillery maintained a continuous bombardment of their objectives until the wire entanglements were all completely blown away, and no longer presented an obstruction to the infantry advance.

Canadians' Task Important.

In the general assault the task of the Canadians was a minor but a very important one. Their actual objective was only a length of six hundred yards of the Regina trench immediately to the north of the village of Courcelette. But this formed the right flank of the attack, and the Canadian troops were obliged not only to secure this proper objective, but also to connect the right of the captured position with their original line in such a manner as to make a defensive flank to the east.

For this purpose the troops from Western Canada and Montreal were employed. An Ontario battalion was also to advance in close support.

Trenches Are Soggy.

During the night of October 20-21 the assaulting troops took up their position. The night was clear and frosty. The trenches, dug in heavy soil, were half filled with mud and water, for there had been much rain during the previous days. The ground about was in a difficult condition, churned and beaten into a sticky pulp by the long bombardments. The morning sun could do little to dry the water-soaked earth.

Shortly before noon, the enemy, suspecting perhaps the imminence of an attack, began a heavy artillery fire upon our front lines. About noon our own guns opened with the full fury of their massed batteries. The concentration was terrific, and the hail of heavy shells and shrapnel descended with deadly force and accuracy.

Captured in Ten Minutes.

The infantry advance began. The infantrymen clambered out of their trenches, and in long lines dashed forward, close under the barrage, advancing as rapidly as the state of the ground would permit. In ten minutes the 500 yards of open ground had been crossed, and Regina trench was ours.

On the right a tragic incident for a moment threatened the success of the assault. Lieut. Scott, son of Canon Scott of Quebec, was advancing at the head of his men and was directing their progress, in accordance with the artillery barrage. As the men threw themselves down to await the momentary lift of the guns, Lieut. Scott was shot and instantly killed. His death was not at first remarked and his men still waited for the signal to advance. Not until the barrage had passed beyond the German trench did the men realize the situation. Then with a fierce, impetuous rush, which nothing could arrest, they dashed for the German trench, eager to avenge the death of their gallant young officer.

Germans Surrender Eagerly.

In the meantime, however, the enemy had been able to man his parapet and had opened a rapid fire at this point. We therefore suffered some casualties, but the result was the same. Our men went in with the bayonet and there was short shrift for the Germans. At some points the enemy, consisting of Prussians, brought recently from the Ypres salient, were eager to surrender. They jumped out of their trenches and advanced to meet our men, holding their hands above. Altogether, 163 prisoners were taken and between 75 and 100 dead Germans were counted in the trench. Among those who surrendered were two or three machine gun crews, who abandoned their guns.

One of the prisoners, a sergeant taken by a Montreal battalion, was a German who was actually living in Montreal at the time the war broke out. He had been there for a year and a half, employed as a moulder. He stated that in June, 1914, he had applied for a passport to the United States, but it had been refused to him on the ground that a war was imminent and that he would have to hold himself in readiness to return to Germany at a moment's notice.

Lines Linked Up.

Not only was the whole of our immediate objective secured and the flank protected in the manner intended, but strong parties pushed well out beyond and established posts in certain tactical positions. The operation was entirely successful. Consolidation was proceeded with and during the following night communication trenches were rapidly constructed, linking up the old line with the new.

Attempts by the enemy to counter-attack were promptly dispersed by our artillery. At 1:30 p.m. several hundred Germans came out from the village of Pys and deploying in the open advanced with the evident intention of attacking. This wave was blotted out by a heavy burst of shrapnel fire. Only about sixty were seen to reach a forward trench, which was under our direct observation. Here high explosives shells were fired and the trench severely damaged. Several Germans were seen to be hurled into the air.

Enemy Wiped Out.

Again, at 2:12, the enemy came out of a trench in considerable numbers and attempted to make their way down the communication trenches. Our guns were brought to bear with great effect and the Germans were seen to fall literally in groups.

During the afternoon reinforcements in small parties continued to press forward to man certain support trenches. As these were all now visible targets our bursts of fire caused them severe casualties. Every effort of the enemy to organize a counter-attack was thus frustrated and our men remained in undisputed possession.

Hostile aeroplanes attempted to come over the lines after the asssault, but they were driven back. Another German gun, a 5.9 howitzer, had been added to the list of our captures in Courcelette. This gun had been cleverly concealed in the village by means of folding doors, which covered the emplacement. Recently it was discovered quite by accident and the gun found to be almost uninjured, only one of its wheels being slightly damaged.

STEAMER CREAM CITY WAS NEARLY LOST IN GALE ON LAKE HURON

Barge She Was Towing Had Cargo Washed Overboard.

WIND 50 MILES AN HOUR

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ALPENA, Mich., Oct. 25.—Caught by the sweep of a 50-mile gale from southeast of Middle Island today, the steamer Cream City, towing the barges Halstead and N. C. Holland, narrowly escaped destruction. The three vessels slipped into the shelter of Presque Isle harbor late this afternoon in a bad condition, and with the Halstead's deckload of pulpwood washed away. The Cream City listed badly. Meanwhile the wind shifted so that the harbor afforded the storm-tossed craft but little shelter. There seemed grave danger that the boats would be thrown on the beach and the coastguard crew from the Middle Island life-saving station, stood ready to give assistance. Danger for the three ships will be relieved by the passing of the gale, which has abated somewhat tonight, although it is still blowing between 30 and 40 miles an hour. The Cream City is bound from Detroit to Buffalo. The Halstead appears to be in a worse condition than other boats.

Severe Headaches and Pains in the Back

Resulted From Deranged Kidneys and Constipation of the Bowels.

It is in vain to try to regulate and restore the healthful action of the kidneys until the liver and bowels are set right.

And just here is where so many kidney medicines fail. Kidney derangements almost invariably begin with constipation and torpidity of the liver. The whole work of filtering the blood is thrown on the kidneys, and in time they fail to stand the strain. The poison in the system gives rise to severe headaches, pains in the back and tired, depressed feelings.

Because they act directly on the liver and bowels, as well as on the kidneys, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are eminently successful in the treatment of kidney derangements.

Mr. William Loney, Marysville, N. B., writes: "I am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anybody who is suffering from kidney trouble or constipation. I suffered for a long time from kidney disease and pains in the back, but have found that by using one pill a week the kidneys and bowels are kept in good order, and I do not have any more pains in the back or head like I used to have. I was also a great sufferer from piles, and could get no relief until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. This ailment is entirely cured now, but we always keep both the pills and the ointment in the house for use when they are needed."

This statement is indorsed by Mr. F. Saunders, town marshal, who writes that Mr. Loney's letter is true and correct.

GERMANS PROPOSED TO USE WILLEHAD TO DIRECT SUBS

Intercepted Letters Disclose Plot to the British.

WAS "SPECIAL MISSION"

North German Lloyd Boat Was To Be a Telegraph Station.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The following two letters, intercepted on their way to Germany, were made public here today. The first one from Max——, 461 East Eighth street, South Boston, addressed to his brother, said:

"Dear Gustav,—The Willehad sailed today. I am to stay here till the end of the war. The Willehad will act within the American three-mile limit as a telegraph station for submarines. She has four months' provisions aboard."

The second letter was from the captain of the Willehad, named Jachens, who wrote from New London to his sister in Germany, saying:

"I rejoice I am now here as captain of the Willehad. The Koln still lies at Boston. I am here with the Willehad on a special mission.

"Later you will hear more from me. I rejoice that I have done something for the fatherland and that I still have more to do."

JACHENS' ONLY COMMENT.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 25.—Capt. Jachens of the steamer Willehad, which has been tied up here since last August, denied late today any knowledge of the letters intercepted by the British on their way to Germany, referring to the movements of the Willehad.

Capt. Jachens' only answer to all questions was: "I don't know anything about it."

WILLEHAD AT NEW LONDON.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The North German Lloyd steamer Willehad, which took refuge in Boston soon after the beginning of the war, was taken to New London on August 25 last, under command of Capt. Jachens, and was tied up at the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Company, the American agents for the German submarine merchantmen. The Willehad was said to carry a full crew of German sailors, some of whom were declared at the time to have been recruited from other ships. The wireless on the Willehad, as well as on all other German and belligerent vessels in American ports, was dismantled and sealed by customs officers soon after the beginning of the war.

The steamship Koln, also owned by the North German Lloyd, reached Boston from Bremen on August 11, 1914, after eluding British cruisers in the Atlantic. The Koln is still tied up at Boston.

Closely Guarded.

The Willehad at New London was taken to a prepared dock, on which the Eastern Forwarding Company had erected, under rush orders, after the arrival of the submersible Deutschland at Baltimore, a corrugated iron shed about 400 feet long by 25 feet wide, with the end of the pier inclosed by a high fence joined on to the office of the company. Capt. Hinsch, former master of the North German Lloyd liner Neckar was brought from Baltimore and placed in charge of the property.

The Willehad as she now lies is made fast to cluster piling, fifty feet away from the dock, her stern hard against the bank of the Thames River. Her wireless is sealed. Between the ship and the dock is space of about fifty feet, intended for the reception of the expected Bremen, or other ships of the submarine merchant fleet. To shut out possible view or interruption of the loading and unloading process of the merchant submarines, a floating gate thirty feet high has been constructed, made fast to piling at the bow of the Willehad, and so designed that when closed the space between the ship and the dock is completely closed in.

Protected By Wires.

The piling under the pier on which the shed is built, as well as the piling to which the Willehad is made fast, is said to have been wired under the water to prevent, it was explained, possible damage to a submarine by boats coming up to the dock. The wires are electrically connected with a gong in the office of the company.

The crew of the Willehad is doing all the work around the docks and piers of the Eastern Forwarding Company, including that of watchmen. It is also said in New London that the sailors will be used to discharge and load cargo of any merchant submarines which may arrive in the future.

CROWN PRINCE CAN'T REGAIN LOST GROUND ON VERDUN SECTOR

Series of Counter-Attacks Have Failed.

PRISONERS EXCEED 4,500

PARIS, via London, Oct. 25.—Three successive counter-attacks by the Germans north of Verdun, in the region of Haudromont and Douaumont, were repulsed by the French today, says the bulletin issued by the war office tonight.

The prisoners taken by the French now exceed 4,500.

The text reads:

"North of Verdun the enemy delivered three successive counter-attacks in the region of Haudromont and Douaumont. None succeeded and our front was maintained intact.

"East of Fumin wood and north of Chenois, we continued to make progress during the day.

"The number of unwounded prisoners actually counted exceeds 4,500.

"On the remainder of the front there was nothing of importance."

The text of the French statement issued this afternoon shows that two previous counter-attacks failed.

"North of Verdun the Germans delivered two counter-attacks against the wings on our new front. One attack yesterday evening directed against the Haudromont quarry was repulsed. The other delivered at 5 o'clock this morning against the Damloup battery similarly failed. All the ground conquered has been maintained in its entirety.

"The clearing out of Fort Douaumont was completed during the night. The commander of the fort, who was in a dugout, was taken prisoner."

GERMAN WARSHIP STOPS NORWEGIAN MAIL BOAT

First Action of Kind Reported—More Vessels Sunk.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Central News learns that a German warship stopped a Norwegian mail steamer, which left Bergen Monday for Newcastle. This is the first action of the kind.

Lloyds reports that the Norwegian steamer Anna Gurine, from Glasgow for Nantes, has been sunk. The crew was landed at Plymouth. A Reuter dispatch from Christiania reports the sinking of the Norwegian steamers Garibaldi and Ravn (previously reported). This dispatch says the crew of the Ravn was saved.

The Norwegian Bark Randi has been burned by a German submarine.

The Norwegian steamer Edam, which was previously reported to have been captured, is now said to have been sunk, and the crew taken to Emden.

Another vessel, the sinking of which was announced today, was the Danish steamer Hebe of 775 tons gross.

SWEDISH BOATS DESTROYED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Lloyds reports forwarded to the state department from London records the destruction by German submarines of the Swedish steamers Svartik and Willhelm, and the British steamer Ethel Duncan.

NOT DOUBT ALLIES WILL BREAK DOWN HUN LINE IN WEST

Statement Made by Haig's Right-Hand Man.

ENEMY ALREADY WEAKER

British Army at Zenith of Its Power Next Spring or Summer.

BY FREDERICK PALMER.
[Copyright By the Associated Press, 1916.]

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, via London, Oct. 25.—"Can the German line on the western front be broken?"

Next to Sir Douglas Haig, few British soldiers are in a better position to judge than Gen. Sir Henry Rawlinson, Gen. Haig's right-hand man in the Somme offensive. Rawlinson is to Haig what Sherman was to Grant, and Jackson was to Lee.

"Undoubtedly it can," was Gen Rawlinson's reply to the question which the whole world is asking.

"Rawley," as he is known, has been for nearly four months directing the sledge-hammer blows of one of the armies under Sir Douglas Haig's command. The character of each commander being impressed upon his surroundings, Gen. Rawlinson's headquarters might be recognized by the smartness of the sentries, the neatness of the grounds, and the look and sharp manner of his subordinates. He is hardly the accepted phlegmatic English type, except in s bulldog tenacity, and he has all the spirit that he had as a young guardsman, when he was noted for his abundant vitality, his love of sports, and his professional zeal.

Action His Atmosphere.

Wherever young Rawlinson appeared there was bound to be action. He is still equal to putting in most of the night and all of the morning directing a big operation, and then finding relaxation from the strain in a game of tennis.

In the big staff rooms on the lower floor of a chateau, which he occupies as headquarters, there is an alertness among the junior officers which is communicated from a little room upstairs, where a raised map is set on a standard by the window, and the man who receives a visitor has lost none of the dapperness which distinguished him in his youth. In that little room Gen. Haig and Gen. Rawlinson have held many conferences, and the result of them seems to be invariably to attack again.

Companions In Play and Battle.

The commander-in-chief is 55, and the army commander 52. Officers of the same generation in the old British regular army, they have known each other for nearly thirty years. They have played polo together, and fought together in India, Egypt and South Africa. Now they are directing multitudes of men in the greatest battle of all time.

There is the same good-fellowship and accord that there was when they were junior officers. Both came to France at the outset of the great war, Rawlinson as commander of a division, Haig commander of a corps.

Planned Last March,

"It was last March," said General Rawlinson to The Associated Press correspondent, "that the present offensive was planned. Sir Douglas and myself looked over the ground, and I received orders to prepare the men and materials for my part of the enterprise. Instead of undertaking a premature offensive with our unready army, it was decided to take over more front from the French. The decision was most fortunate, and a tribute to the judgment of the French that they could hold the Germans at Verdun. Not only could they hold the Germans, but they were able, after giving the enemy the severest handling he had had so far in this war, to join us in the Somme offensive, with results which we all know."

When Germans Failed.

"They say that the Germans hoped to force you to attack prematurely last February," the correspondent suggested.

"Nothing could better have suited their purpose," was the reply, "than to have induced us to attack before we were ready. They had thinned their lines in the east and massed their reserves in the west. Happily, owing to the French tenacity, and pluck, we were given time to wait for new guns which were beginning to arrive from England in gratifying numbers, and for munition factories to start the big flow of shells. Roads and light railways had been built for bringing up the immense quantities of munitions and supplies of all kinds requisite for the attack on the fortified lines which the Germans had been nearly two years in building, and for continuing the offensive once it had started.

"The wastage of life and material in so titanic a struggle must be foreseen and calculated, and arrangements made for renewal. Our machine must be so organized that no contingency could throw it out of gear, and that we should have everything required in abundance for the complicated business of modern war, which should enable us to press many advantages gained."

"Are you satisfied with the results?"

Satisfied With Results.

"Yes; we have taken position after position, and 30,000 prisoners. For nearly four months this new army has kept on attacking; it has asserted its mastery over the enemy who had 40 years of preparation. The dogged, heroic gallantry and tenacity of our infantry have been proved. Despite their desperate counter-attacks how few prisoners the Germans have taken.

"When in their eagerness our battalions have advanced too far because the resistance was comparatively light, and the Germans closed in with superior numbers, our men either held their ground successfully or died fighting, rather than yield. This is the spirit which we have to work with in our future plans. Our young officers, who knew nothing of war two years ago, have had a schooling of battle. The places of those who have fallen are being filled by chosen men from the ranks, as well as from the schools at home and in France."

"You have been fighting the Germans for two years now, general. Have they depreciated?" asked the correspondent.

Germans Are Tired.

"Decidedly. They are still a brave and skillful army, but a tired army. For the first time they have known what it was to face superior artillery fire and armies which know their lessons as well as they do. The French and ourselves fight as one army. If either develops any improvement it is shared with the other. So similar have our systems become that I never consider whether I have a British or a French army alongside of me.

"The Germans, too, are quick to adopt any new wrinkles from us. We are all learners, even after two years of war.

"After some of our attacks, confusion in the German lines and a breakdown of the German staff organization were evident from the haste with which ill-assorted units were rushed haphazard into the front lines. There was lack of cohesion on their part and even of maps of the area to which they were sent, and this induced confusion, which sometimes cost them heavier casualties on the defence than were cost to ourselves on the offensive.

Teuton Morale Gone.

"General Skobeleff once said that in every hundred men there was a small proportion who were naturally brave, a larger proportion who would respond to leadership and training, and again a small proportion who were funks. A small proportion of the Germans have shown tenacious and defiant courage, particularly in their defence of machine gun positions. The great majority have ceased to respond to leadership with their old ardor. As for the funks, who are disciplined into courage, they are the ones who have been following their natural instincts of self-preservation and holding up their hands when our men approach in their charges."

"Can the line be broken?"

"Undoubtedly it can, and it will be sooner or later. All that is necessary is to keep on hammering.

"One Day He Will Break."

"In this war, as in every other war, victory must come as the result of moral and physical superiority continued for a sufficient time at a decisive point. The first step is to force the enemy to defense; then superior shell fire, superior man power, and relentless pressure in attack must so depreciate his organization and morale that one day he will break.

"The Allies, in close sympathy and co-operation, will keep on pressing simultaneously on all fronts, until at some point the enemy gives way. It is difficult to say what the result of a break in the line might be, but it will seriously weaken his whole system of defense.

"Our army has not yet reached the zenith of its power, nor will it have done so until next spring, or possibly next summer. I think we have reached the top of the hill but there is an undulating tableland to cross before we really get on to the down-grade portion beyond. This may be steep, it may be quite a gentle slope, but it will be down hill work, and comparatively easy."

BURNING MATTRESSES HOLD FIREMEN BACK

Blaze in Store of McIntyre Company Proves Hard to Fight.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

INGERSOLL, Oct. 25.—Fire was discovered about 4 o'clock this afternoon on the third floor of the store of the McIntyre House Furnishing Company. The department contained a large stock of mattresses, which burned fiercely and made the fire difficult to cope with for some time. It was impossible to reach the fire from inside the building, and as soon as the water was poured in the dense volumes of smoke interfered with efforts to fight it through the windows.

The store being located in the centre of an east side Thames street block and a high wind blowing, grave fears were entertained of a disastrous conflagration, but after almost an hour's heroic work the firemen subdued the fire sufficiently to enter the building. Over 150 mattresses, many burned and all damaged, were thrown on to the street, and the progress of the fire checked.

Heavy damage was caused by water and smoke, while L. Stone's store, directly underneath, also suffered severely from smoke and water. It is difficult to estimate the loss in either case, which will be heavy, and partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

IN TROPICAL COUNTRIES LIVER CHILL VERY COMMON

In northern latitudes also the liver is a very unruly organ and requires careful watching. The concentrated vegetable juices in Dr. Hamilton's Pills act directly upon the liver and stimulate its action to a normal basis. The blood is purified, the skin grows clear, headaches disappear and robust health is firmly established. No medicine for the stomach, liver or kidneys can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c box, at all dealers.

Early Morning Fire Burns Seven Stores at Aylmer, Ontario

Fifteen Thousand Dollars Damage Done in the Business Section of Town.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Aylmer, Oct. 26.—About 1:15 o'clock this morning the persistent ringing of the fire bell announced to the people of this town that a fire of more than usual seriousness had broken out, and citizens hurried from their beds to the scene of the blaze, easily located by the glare, which lighted up the sky. Before the fire had been brought under control, seven business buildings had been destroyed, with a loss of about $15,000. Most of the buildings burned were frame and had been erected many years.

Flames Got Good Start.

The flames were first noticed by Carl Thayer as he was motoring into town. They showed between D. G. Howse's implement warehouse and Milton Wright's auto repair shop. Thayer hurriedly called out the fire brigade and assisted in getting out the hose reel. By this time the blaze had gained considerable headway and there was no chance to save either of the buildings mentioned.

Word was sent to St. Thomas, and motor apparatus was dispatched from the city to aid in the fight against the flames, which were beginning to lick around the printing office of the East Elgin Reformer. Owing to the resistance offered by a thick brick wall, and the efforts of the firemen the office was not damaged. On the west, the blaze was checked at Leeman Parker's paint-shop, and by 2:30 o'clock it was out, only smoldering ruins remaining to show what had occurred.

The Burned Buildings.

Among the buildings damaged or destroyed were John Cline's implement shop, Jones' repair shop, Robert Karn's blacksmith shop, the central gas office, Leeman J. Parker's shop and the Howse implement warehouse.

Mr. Cline's loss is estimated at $4,500, with insurance of about $3,000; W. H. Finch and G. W. Howse, who own the D. G. Howse warehouse and blacksmith shop, lost about $2,500, and L. G. Parker about $600, with $200 insurance.

A month ago fire of mysterious origin was discovered in Howse's shop, but was extinguished in time. There have been many rumors of a firebug here as a result of four big fires this summer.

MORE TOLERATION.

A DISPATCH from Clinton states that the "entente cordiale" has had the effect of changing the opinion of Mr. W. Brydone, B. A., regarding the people of Quebec. After having made the trip described by Mr. J. K. H. Pope to the members of the Rotary Club on Monday last, Mr. Brydone stated in an address made to the young people of the Wesley Methodist Church, Clinton, that "he had, in common with many others of our citizens, a somewhat hostile feeling toward Quebec when he started on this trip, and acknowledged that his viewpoint had materially changed after meeting some of the best classes of French citizens in that province. He remarked that if Canada was to be a great nation all classes must be united, and it was absolutely necessary for our future prosperity that these two great provinces should work harmoniously together."

There are some citizens, and not a few editors among them, who would be prone to prevent such excursions as the one recently made to Quebec. They would see thereby the shattering of bigotries on which they feed. Yet Viscount Grey at this time is calling for "a family of civilized mankind," not only for the British Empire but for the whole world.

Rev. Canon Tucker, who has recently returned from Quebec, in an interview given The Advertiser on recruiting problems, declared that he believed the people of Quebec are just as courageous as those in any part of the Empire. It was not lack of courage, he said, but a lack of conditions which had prevented the French from enlisting. The true knowledge of conditions had not been brought home to them.

Canon Tucker gave five reasons for the attitude of Quebec: (1) The isolation of the people from the rest of the world for generations; (2) the fact that the population is largely rural; (3) the lack of effort to bring the real issues before the people; (4) the influence of Bourassa through his paper and on the platform, and (5) the quiet opposition of the priest.

The speaker qualified his statement as to clerical influence by stating that the higher officials of the Catholic Church, such as Archbishop Bruchesi, have come out strongly, urging it to be a duty to support the Allies in the fight against the German aggressors.

The influence of the statements made by Canon Tucker and by Messrs. Brydone and Pope is certain to be far-reaching. They place the question above bigotry and intolerance, and give the Government a lead in dealing with the question. The responsibility for failure to cope with the recruiting stagnation in the sister province would appear to rest upon the ministers of the crown.

THE DANGER PAST.

FROM coast to coast of the Dominion the news that the threatened strike of C. P. R. trainmen had been averted brought quiet rejoicing as it was flashed to every point on the great system. No one looked forward to the walkout with pleasure; employers, employees and the nation at large believed that it would be disastrous.

Now that the questions at issue are settled, or at least so far answered that both sides are agreed no strike will result, we may be excused some curiosity as to the causes of the settlement.

At once one is struck by the small part the minister of labor and his department were able to play. It would not be unjust to say that the only thing achieved by Hon. T. Crothers was the annoyance of other railwaymen and the further endangering of amicable relations. From the happy ending of the dispute the Government can draw but little credit.

The men stood firm. With the justice of their stand there is no need to deal; that is a question which can only be answered intelligently by those who have more facts and figures than the public possesses. The employees, perhaps, contributed to the solution by their firmness, when shilly-shallying would have left the employers with the idea that the threat of a strike was merely bluff.

To the high officials of the C. P. R. must be given a good deal of credit. They made concessions when concessions were required. Whether justice of the men's demands, patriotism or policy dictated these, outsiders cannot say.

But one fact is prominent in the negotiations. Firm as were the men in their demands, there was a loyal and earnest effort to make the strike, if it did come, as little injurious to the great national cause as possible. Trains for military purposes, whether carrying men or munitions, were to be run as required by permission of the union. There was no need for the Government to take action to bring about this proviso; the men themselves were too patriotic to require any compulsion.

When it is considered that the holding up of military supplies was one of the strongest cards the employees had to play, in one sense, their spontaneous throwing of it away is significant. Of course, to use it would have alienated the sympathy of the people, but it would, perhaps, have affected the company fully as much as the men, even in this particular.

The Empire came first, and the wages question second. That is something to which the nation may point with pride.

EXTREME AGES OF RECRUITS.

MEN TOO OLD and men too young are being recruited in the Canadian army. Almost every day, examples of the results of excessive recruiting zeal are evident. A man over 50 years has been signed on, or a boy who has not reached the legal years, has been trained for months at the expense of the country, with the result that both are weeded out when they are sifted through the finer mesh of more careful procedure, as the day of battle comes closer.

It is not always possible for officers to verify the ages stated by applicants. To secure birth certificates would involve endless delay, and as a matter of fact the authorities are justified in accepting men who appear to be old or young enough, provided they measure up to physical standards and have stated their ages. But in some cases which have been brought to public attention it is known that boys who should not be out of school have been trained for many months, and, in some instances, have succeeded in getting to the front-line trenches. The Advertiser knows of several youths who have been wounded or killed who never should have been engaged in active warfare. As drummer boys or behind the lines they might have performed good service, but it was not just to the boys themselves or to the country to stand them up as fighting men. All of us know that the boys of Germany are fighting many of the kaiser's battles. The youth of those long lines of Somme prisoners may explain the falling away of legions that were supposed to be unmovable. But Canada does not wish to send her schoolboys to the firing line, and precaution should be taken to prevent the immature lads from being put up against such a test. They will do their best, it need not be doubted, but there is something terribly pitiful in the spectacle of mere babies being turned into soldiers.

The old man is too often accepted and trained at the country's expense for a few months. The Advertiser knows of one patriarch of 62 years, who was beardless and wily. He applied to join a battalion, saying his age was 43. He was accepted and had he not been "betrayed," as he called it, might have got to the firing line.

When recruiting lags, it is scarcely to be wondered that recruiting officers stretch a point occasionally. But the enlistment of the too youthful and too aged only makes matters worse, and does an injustice to the ineligible recruits and to the country.

THE WEEKLY EDITOR

IN THE CURRENT ISSUE of Printer and Publisher, Editor Herity of the Belleville Ontario laments the decline of the editorial column in the weekly newspapers. He believes that each community would be enriched by the discussion of local affairs by the weekly editors as in the past, and holds out to the rural publisher the promise of broad influence and usefulness in his community.

Mr. Herity's remarks will find echo among those newspapermen in daily positions who in the past found pleasurable and profitable reading in the editorial columns which are now filled with advertisements, tax notices or editorials clipped from other papers. Every country newspaper editor should be the philosopher of his district, and, if he fits the part, may cast a spell over his community that will be reflected in the opinion of outside observers. He is much closer to his readers than the editor of a daily newspaper, and he can transmit the very pulse-beats of the village and countryside to his editorial columns if he has the working brain and the wholesome heart.

There are many weekly papers which do not vegetate, and their influence is felt in provincial affairs. The St. Marys papers are both excellent examples of live weekly journals, and their pages give evidence of the fact that they flourish in a progressive community. The Simcoe Reformer and the Ridgetown Plaindealer are other examples, while Amherstburg, Strathroy and Essex papers and many others maintain the best traditions of weekly journalism.

One cause of the decline of individuality in the weekly press may be that the big city daily has been brought to the door of the country home. The farmer finds his daily paper in his mail box and becomes informed of events long before his weekly paper reaches him. But if the country publisher would realize the fact, there is no cleavage between the daily and the weekly newspaper. The one is a product of the day, a thing of vast interests and organized hurry; the weekly paper is a more leisurely, less time-slaved journal, which can act as a mirror rather than as a searchlight. The joys and sorrows, the quainter things of life, the mellowness of country things and the daily round of events fall into the natural scope of the weekly editor. A daily newspaper hasn't any space to wish the bereaved family "the heartfelt sympathy of the community in the loss of a faithful father," but a weekly newspaper with good grace can enter the bereaved home as a friend of the family. In all its relations it may be the friendly counsellor and critic of its parish. It is to be hoped that rural journalism will become more typical of its surroundings and more powerful because of the first-hand thought its editors may give the country, than which there is nothing more quickly seized by wideawake editors of the daily press. Why not give us a chance to quote you a bit, country cousins?

England's Weekly News Budget.

From hamlet small and wide-spread shire,
And cities old and grey,
Throughout Old England, far and near,
This news is told today:

* * *

In every station of police
In London's area wide,
The lists of new rules now include
"Lights must not shine outside."
From Coalville, down in Leicestershire,
Comes this for all to see:
Those men exempted for two months
Must join the V. T. C.
A line recalls the Jutland fray,
Where many a hero fell:
"For plucky action Boy Scouts plan
A Cross for Jack Cornwell."
From Portsmouth Town we get this word:
"Our Councilmen doff work,
And name the same old Mayor again—
His Honor Sir John Corke."
The railway men and Mersey quay
"Scotch" Government's delays
In cutting food cost—and demand
Vacations in relays.
Another leader reads: "Lord Mayor
Of Old Newcastle Town
Rewards Lieutenant Robinson
For bringing zeppelin down."
The Duffield District Councilmen
Are flush again, we hear;
Ten thousand saved on county roads
Gone unrepaired this year.
To offset which the Blackburn Squires
Have these kind words to say:
"The Annual Food Bill has increased
Two thousands pounds since May."
There's Edward Wright, the old town clerk,
Of Lewisham, we find,
Who, after forty years of toil,
Has recently resigned.
Lord Newton now has full control
As head director for Department of Publicity
Of Prisoners of War.
To those brave boys on furloughs' leave,
Here's Recreation's wish:
"The River Severn's been restocked
With forty thousand fish."
On down we read the Government
To news now lends its aid—
Tells of a zepp's deserving fate
In th' latest air-fleet raid.
Thus started, does officialdom
Voice its communique vague—
The War and all that's happened since
The Peace meet at The Hague.
The correspondent's full-page tale
The censor cuts and hews
To just four lines, which amplifies
His idea of "the news":
"THE BRITISH GAIN AT WARLENCOURT—"
"THE FRENCH STILL HOLD VERDUN—"
"NEWSPAPERS URGE REPRISALS FOR ATROCITIES OF HUN."

* * *

On the censor's reports must reporters depend—
On his pencil their tales stand or fall;
All is grist, simply grist, that goes into his mill,
And his grinding is exceeding small.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Spunky Norway is standing up to the Hun bully.

By the way, what has become of the Ontario Government?

Joffre's team stole several bases on the kaiser's crowd at Verdun Tuesday.

Constantine is again spouting honeyed words at the Allies. More Greek gifts.

We knew that some London boy would figure in the "tank" drive—and what finer lad than Eric Reid!

The batteries of union and anti-union threatened to take up cement bases in the battlefield of the press.

The Advertiser was able to assure its readers in all editions of yesterday morning that there would be no strike on the Canadian Pacific. News of the settlement was received with general rejoicing.

Sir Sam Hughes issues a denial that brother James spoke lightly of Lloyd George. Could any reporter dare perpetrate such a "fake" when scores might rise up to give him the lie?

The casualties continue to show that Courcelette was by no means a summer day's sport for the Canadian boys. What a meagre report of such an engagement the Canadian eyewitness gave to the country.

The dependence of Canada upon its national railways, C. P. R., G. T. R., or C. N. R., was to some extent shown by the strike just averted. No matter what may be said as to the wisdom of railway policy in Canada, each of these roads is of sufficient importance to cause serious concern, and in the order as they are placed herewith.

The Grand Trunk having paid many thousands of dollars as a result of the death and injury of city firemen may now see the wisdom of having subways or other agencies of public safety. The amount settled upon victims of the accident to the city fire truck would have paid interest on the cost of a subway at Rideau street, and much more than the railway's share.

As the Moon Rose

BY MELITABEL PUTNAM.

Howard Yale's heart leaped as he peered cautiously around a group of rhododendrons and caught a glimpse of white in the shadow of the hemlocks. To his excited fancy, it seemed almost phosphorescent in the deepening dusk. It dazzled his eyes and dazed his brain, already sick with suspense.

Then the tension snapped and he sank limply into a garden chair. She had meant it after all! He had feared another evasion. He had not liked the glint in her eyes as she said:

"If it really is important, meet me under the hemlocks as the moon rises. Mind, now! Not an instant sooner, not an instant later. It's my lucky hour. Luna is my patron saint, you know. And be very careful what you say. Don't dare speak my name. The moon maids don't like to be called by name. It breaks the spell."

Impish she had looked and impishly she had laughed; but she had meant it after all. The chase was ended. With all her frivolity, Madge was honest and kind at heart. Not once before had she seemed to yield in the least, and she would not lead him on now if she meant him harm, he was sure.

Yes, the chase was ended. The thing was as good as done. He drew out a cigar and, chewing it nervously, settled himself to await the appointed hour with what stoicism he could muster. His thoughts, so long bound to one narrow track, were suddenly released, and fluttered about aimlessly, like long-caged birds unexpectedly set free.

Perpetual puzzle, he mused, that one bit of fantastic femininity should so fluster a man long immune to the rest of the fascinating sisterhood. In this case, there positively was no accounting for it. He was perfectly able to reason about his infatuation. He admitted frankly that Madge was not so beautiful, not so charming, not so good, not in any way so desirable as—well, for instance, Marian Elting.

A subtle change crept over his haggard face. Strange that at this juncture, when his whole being was centred on another, Marian's serene face should rise like a star over the turbulent sea of passion. Even in that solitude, in the growing darkness, his eyes grew chivalrous at thought of her. Will-o'-the-wisp Madge had led him a dance, and even yet he was merely hopeful for the first time; but the instant their eyes had met he had instinctively feared for Marian.

Odd that so rare a creature should set her heart on any one man, and on him of all men. So far as he knew, no other woman ever had singled him out from the rank and file of men, and she could choose from the pick of them if she wished. Had he not already been under a spell—well, who could say? She was the sort of girl who would make any man an ideal wife. His mother, his sisters, all his friends would approve her as heartily as they would object to Madge.

Did this thought shake his iron purpose? He asked himself candidly, and the answer was swift and sure. Not for the infinitesimal part of an instant! It was rank folly, he knew—little better than lunacy—pure midsummer madness—but that shimmer of white there under the trees was more to him than all the rest of creation, and for once in his life he would obey the impulse of his heart, come what might. The sudden surge of feeling lifted him to his feet; but obediently he sat down again, with a fuming glance at the darkening sky.

At any rate, he had been scrupulously careful. He had nothing to reproach himself with. If by word or look, if ever so unwittingly, he had given Marian cause to feel that he was interested in her, there would be but one thing to do. He had not entirely lost his sense of proportion. His chance with freakish Madge had always been slender; he was sure of Marian; and no man of sense or feeling would dirappoint an eligible woman for a forlorn hope.

However, he had been unfailingly circumspect, and his wooing of Madge had not been done in a corner. It had been spectacular. Some day Marian would find a man more worthy of her adoration; and yet—he frowned uneasily. He knew people—and it was his life work to study them—and he was aware that Marian was just the sort, in the circumstances, to go unmated to the end—to be a sort of old maid aunt to his and Madge's children.

He smiled wryly. A second mother, rather, and they would need one. It was difficult to picture Madge a mother. Yet such girls often did settle down; and more than once in an emergency he had known her to show extraordinary sense and initiative—an almost superhuman shrewdness and insight. He was pinning his faith to that. It would rise to meet added responsibilities and become habitual.

At any rate, he was glad Madge had a friend like Marian. He had watched that attachment spring up, grow and blossom like a lovely plant; and he had rejoiced in it, although it had interfered with his already difficult courtship. The two girls had become almost inseparable. He had scarcely seen Madge alone for days. One outside their immediate circle might well have doubted which girl he was pursuing.

He glanced at the sky again and started alertly. Along the horizon's edge the gloom was fading a trifle. He drew a deep breath. The crisis of his life was at hand. His feverish gaze flew back to that statue-like figure under the trees. How motionless it was. He had not supposed any living woman could be still so long. Surely this boded well for his suit. Already butterfly Madge was folding her wings.

The faint gleam slowly brightened and broadened. Presently, a pale gold crescent appeared, tiara-wise, on the brow of the hill. Howard watched it grow with gaze solemnly intent. Just what phrase should he use? Well, the greater the occasion the simpler and plainer speech should be.

As the moon rose clear of its moorings and floated above the distant tree tops, he sprang up and strode stealthily across the grass. Madge, facing the moon, did not see him, and evidently did not hear him until he bent over her winningly and whispered, "Moon maid, will you be my wife?"

Then the girl stood up and turned astounded, delighted, assenting eyes.

I—I—thought——" she began, broke off with a half sob and sank into his waiting arms.

All his life Howard was increasingly glad each time he remembered that his own crestfallen countenance had been in the shadow; for the wondering, radiant face that was revealed to him by the light of the mocking moon was the face of Marian Elting!

Far back in the shrubbery there was a faint ripple of sound. It might have been the twitter of a drowsy bird—but it was more like an elfish chuckle.

Witch-wise Madge! For it was precisely as he would have had it at that blissful moment.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Cost of Church Union.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Misleading statements have been given wide circulation through the public press this week regarding the church union committee of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, as to the personnel of the committee, the cost of its administrative work, and the legality of the expenditure incurred,

The committee was appointed in St. John, N.B., in 1904 (see minutes, 1904, page 56). It consisted of sixty members, thirty of whom were pastors, twenty were elders and the remainder represented the great missionary, educational and benevolent departments of the church. When the committee was appointed the assembly resolved: "That the expenses of the committee be paid, and that they be levied pro rata upon the various schemes of the church, according to the receipts of the year 1903-4, east and west."

The committee was appointed with absolute unanimity, and the resolution regarding the payment of expenses also. From that day to this, no man on the floor of the assembly has ever challenged the legality of the payment of the committee's expenses, as they were reported from year to year by the treasurers, east and west. The audited accounts shew that no expenses incurred by either majority or minority of the union committee in their propaganda were ever paid out of mission funds.

The total amount paid from the inception of the work in 1904 until the present time has been $17,519.43. The men on the committee represented the church from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The traveling expenses of all the members, both of those who voted in the majority of the committee and those in the minority, were paid. During those years, 1904 to 1916, two votes of the whole church were taken. This involved the printing of ballots and sending out the Basis of Union, a pamphlet of thirty-two pages, to every family, communicant and adherent of the church. The last vote taken required sixteen tons of paper to print the documents. Annually the report of the committee was made to the assembly, and for a number of years the minority report of those who dissented from the committee was also made, and these were charged pro rata, as the reports of other committees were. These expenses were levied on the various schemes, and so the expenditure was made in strict accord with instructions of the General Assembly, and was published in the treasurer's statements from year to year. When statements are made that the cost was $40,000, and even more, and that the majority of the committee used the mission funds of the church illegally, they are therefore not only misleading, but false. It was the General Assembly, which represents the whole church and acting for the whole church, which incurred the expenditure, and not the majority in the union committee. The minority was a party to this expenditure just as surely as was the majority.

Does Church Union Mean a Giving Up of the Rights of the Congregation to Call or Keep a Minister?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

When church union comes, will the old calling system disappear, or will present relationships between minister and congregations be interrupted?

Both will be conserved. The utmost care will be taken in every department of the work to retain the practices now prevailing in the different denominations.

What is the arrangement proposed? Congregations or ministers desiring change apply, through the Presbytery, to the settlement committee. The changes sought will ordinarily be made at the end of the church or conference year.

In anticipation of a vacancy at the end of the year a congregation may call or invite any minister of the church, and may submit other names, if their first request cannot be granted.

If it is found impossible to issue the matter at the end of the year, a further period not yet fixed will be allowed during which a call may be issued.

But to guard against long and injurious vacancies, if a congregation fails to take action at the end of this further period, the settlement committee is empowered to make an appointment. But as, at the end of any year, application may be made for change, this appointment, if unsatisfactory to either party, may then come up for review.

If on account of death or some other emergency, a vacancy occurs during the year, Presbytery shall confer with the charge and may thereafter arrange a supply to the end of the year.

It is important to remember that existing arrangements will not be interfered with. Though a way of making such changes as are necessary is provided, it is expressly stated that there is to be no time limit to the pastorate.

The whole arrangement is thoroughly democratic. The settlement committee is the servant of ministers and congregations desiring readjustments of relationship, and is expressly enjoined to comply as far as possible with the wishes of all parties concerned.

The ideal that is contemplated in the basis of union is the continuous supply of every pastoral charge, and the continuous employment of every effective minister. Pastoral relationship will continue as long as they are mutually satisfactory.

General Hughes.

That's once we were mistaken in staying home from kirk,
When Honorary Colonel Jim spoke of Sir Sam's great work,
And told of how that man of war consigned to the blue flames
All departmental data interfering with his aims.

And how Lloyd George, repentant, since talking with Sir Sam,
Was going to cut out all red tape, and not take things so calm;
And now we're waiting, anxious, till the English send us news
Whether Lloyd George shows improvement since he got tips from Hughes.

O Canada! My Country! Nowhere has life such worth!
Though sorrow's shadow falls on us we must give way to mirth;
We won't die of indigestion—no one need be afraid—
While we're kept laughing by Sir Sam and some colonels he has made.

RED CROSS AND C.W.C.A.

"WELL DONE, LONDON!"

The work that London and vicinity do for the Red Cross and C. W. C. A. has again had special mention. Mrs. McLaren Brown, honorary secretary of the C. W. C. A., writing from London, England, says:

"I am glad to say everything arrived in excellent condition, and as is usual with consignments from London, consisted of articles of a high standard and a most useful kind."

So, as the old Scotch toast has it: "Here's to oor ainsels. Wha's like us?" But, indeed, the honest pride in work well done is a worthy emotion. London may well be proud of her shipments, and having set herself so high a standard, her workers must see to it that they keep it at its highest. The best we can do is none too good for our boys. We owe them our greatest efforts.

THE SILENT KNITTERS.

It is the women one never hears about that are helping to give London a name for excellent work, above her companions. There is a certain society of women, in a certain place, who send to Hyman Hall absolutely perfect work. Their socks are the joy of the committee and the ambition of all other societies. And it is the wonder of all beholders how there could be gathered together in one society so many faultless knitters. But there is a deep and deadly secret here, and you must never tell if I tell you. There are two dear ladies in that faultless society who determined that only work of the highest order should be sent out in their name. So they gather together all the socks that are lumpy and ridgy and knotty, and in the dead hours of the night when the rest of the society is sleeping peacefully, dreaming of all the good work they have done, these two silent knitters rip and re-knit the same good work. And for fear of hurting anyone's feelings they have never whispered one single solitary syllabic to anyone about it!

There's endurance and heroism for you! I don't dare to tell who they are, but you had better watch—they may be in your society!

Yes, and word has just come from a country branch that they have opened a sock hospital of their own, where expert attention is to be given the patients. More perfect work from London!

SOCKS! SOCKS! SOCKS!

More knitters, and more knitters, and still more knitters! That is the cry. We have twice as many boys to knit for this winter as we had last, and there are not even as many socks coming in. Everybody must get her needles. And be sure when you do get them that you knit the right sort of article. There was a report going about the other day of a young woman expert knitter who was knitting a fancy sweater—a Christmas present for a friend! One does not like to believe stories like that. Surely she wasn't. At least, if she were, she surely wasn't a Canadian. It must have been an American visitor, who was misusing that most useful talent. It is as though one of our most expert military men should take a pea-shooter and go out to the woods to amuse the children until someone else won the war. These are great and terrible times we are living in, and no woman can afford to make Christmas presents for anyone outside the trenches.

"We have no time to sport away the hours,
All, all must be solemn in a world like ours."

THE CHRISTMAS DELUGE.

Perhaps the reason there was a strike threatened on the railroads is that the men heard the Christmas stockings were about to be shipped and knew they could never handle them. There have been 2,300 shipped already, and they are not all gone yet.

And now there are still some days left in which to remember the prisoners' Christmas. A parcel left at Mr. Bruce Wallace's drug store, Richmond street, will help make the Christmas of some boy in a German detention camp more bearable. And money sent to Miss Gunn, 136 Kent street, will do even more good.

"Worried,"—I have thought carefully about your problem, and believe it might be best all round if you were to take the training now. There is just one drawback to the plan (and this you may have settled already)—who is to look after your father in the meantime? If he is a busy man—say on a farm, where help is so scarce—it is possible he could hardly spare you. But otherwise, since he is desirous of it himself, I believe you are wise to fit yourself for earning a livelihood, and now is the time, not ten years hence. If my opinion is the least bit of help, I shall be glad. Did you see that I've a letter for you? (under your other non-de-plume). Am not just sure of full address. Let me know how you decide.

A Song Wanted.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could anyone supply me with the balance of a song that the first verse and chorus are as follows:

One night in a gay crowded ball-room,
Mid waving palms and owers,
A man with his wife was pleading,
Come home and cheer baby's last hours,
She told him their pathways had parted.
He turned and went home with a sigh,
And knelt by the side of his baby,
And wept as he heard its sad cry;
Chorus—
"I want my mamma, where can she be?
Angel faces round me everywhere I see,
And if they take me tell her not to cry,
For some day up in heaven we'll meet bye and bye."

Please don't say anything louder than thunder about this writing or you might shock the office force!

BOTHERSOME.

Ans.—Quite likely one of our many songsters can send you the words. Wrappers will be mailed you, and you are very welcome to them.

Sends Two Blocks.

Dear Miss Grey,—Am sending these blocks for "Aunt Nannie's" quilt, if they will do. Would you publish this poetry: "The Face on the Barroom Floor"? If you cannot publish, return it in the envelope.

2. Ask the readers if any have a black shoe polish recipe. MAY FLOWER.

Ans.—The blocks certainly look nice to me. It was quite an original idea putting the battalion number on one. The poetry has appeared on our page once or twice already, and just now when advertising matter is crowding our space so, I think it is best to return your copy. I have another clipping of the verses, and will gladly print at some future time. Seeds have been sent, as desired.

He's a Farmer.

Dear Miss Grey,—I come to ask your advice on a serious problem. My profession is teaching. I have looked forward to the time when I should marry a professional man, but at present I am keeping company with a prosperous young farmer. We have become greatly attached to each other and sparation I think would be impossible. He feels the same way about separating as I do. I have had experience on a farm, and know what hard work it is, and that is the only objection I have against marrying a farmer. Looking for advice through the Mail-Box,

A BROWN-EYED BETTY.

Ans.—Well, "Betty," this is the great decision of a girl's life ,and I'm not sure I do right to offer advice. There's not many of us, married or single, but have to work hard in one capacity or other. The lot of a farmer's wife (as many of our readers can testify) is no path of ease, but it has its compensations, especially when "love lightens the load." If you love your farmer and he you, and if you are possessed of ordinary health and strength, I would deem you foolish to wait for the "professional" man who may never come.

Tillicum Forgot.

Dear Miss Grey,—Am sending 25c for prisoners' of war fund. Could you send me names of Canadian prisoners' of war? Am inclosing address, if you could do me the favor. Best wish to the Mail-Box. TILLICUM.

Ans.—You must have forgotten the address, friend, for I failed to find it anyway. If you write to Miss D. Gunn, 136 Kent street, London, she will furnish you with information re prisoners-of-war fund, or names if you desire. Thanks for the quarter.

Agrees With F. R.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am inclosing a song which "Blenheimite" asked for, "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me." Agree with "F. R." re the prohibition. Could I please have some of the quilt patterns "F. R." sent in? Will send back as soon as I can copy them, so someone else can have them, too. Thanks in advance, W. R. S.

P.S.—"Henrietta" should use peroxide for tartar on teeth.

Ans.—Shall publish the song some day, as I haven't "Blenheimite's" address. Have mailed you the quilt designs; no haste for their return.

Good Luck at "Kisses."

Dear Miss Grey,—May I call? I hope you can find room for me. Find inclosed a stamped, addressed envelope for the lonely Camp Borden soldier's name. I would love to send him goodies. I wrote you last week concerning "Country Lad," but I guess my letter must have found a home in the W. P. B. I did not see it in print. I am sending a recipe for kisses. They are just grand. At least, I always have good luck.

Kisses—One egg, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon cream tartar, ½ teaspoon soda, flour to make a stiff dough; drop on greased tins and sprinkle with powdered sugar or cocoanut.

I would like very much to get the song, "Good Luck to the Boys of the Allies," also "Keep the Home Fires Burning." WITCH HAZEL.

Ans.—Your former letter was in print all right (October 18). Our space has been so limited of late, that letters are necessarily delayed in printing. I answered your letter as well as I could, but know little of the wages received, or nature of the work. Probably four or five dollars would be the weekly wage if you seemed capable. For the winter you should have a heavy coat and stout shoes, as you may walk quite a bit, and should be well protected after working in the warm room. As you'll note elsewhere on the page, I haven't any soldier-names left.

Our Neighbors' Cares.

Dear Miss Grey and All the Boxites.—Please may I hop into your corner again and have my little say? I am glad the soldiers' wives are getting a rest; each time I read the page while the controversy was going on the following lines came into my mind:

If we knew the cares and crosses, crowded 'round our neighbors' way,
If we knew the little losses, sorely grievous day by day,
Would we then so often chide him for his lack of strength and gain?
Leaving on our hearts a stain.

Well like most everyone, I have a "want," and it is this: Would someone that received cosmos seed from "Aunt Nannie" last spring please save me some? I would like quite a lot, and would send postage. Where is "Mrs. Gay" and the rest of the "old 'uns"? They never call any more. Speak up, folks, and let us know you are alive. I think I hear "be brief," so I'll fly away, as ever, MRS. ORIOLE.

"Bonnie" to "Roderick."

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please inform me where I could obtain the address of one of our lads who is a prisoner in Germany, one that I could send a parcel to once a month.

"Roderick," "a soldier's couch and a soldier's fare" is to be your lot; ye have chosen well. But laddies, I dinna ken ye. I hope to see ye "when the lads come marching hame."

If the reader who was inquiring for readings, patriotic drills, plays and motion songs for children, will forward her address, I will mail them to her. BONNIE DUNDEE.

Ans.—You can obtain all such information from the Red Cross Prisoners' Club, by writing Miss D. Gunn, 136 Kent street, London.

Flags and Jelly.

Dear Miss Grey,—No doubt the flags have arrived, and you will be wondering from whom! A reader and admirer of your column, one who gleaned that a mother was short of the flannelette flags, which I mailed. Regarding the much discussed grape jelly, if your admirers will try one-half cup of sugar to one of liquid better results will follow. Sincerely,

MATER.

Ans.—Your kindness is sincerely appreciated, and I trust you'll visit us again.

She's Still Trying.

Dear Miss Grey,—Am still trying to get some comic recitations; they seem so hard to get. I would gladly pay for them if I could get them good. Would "Rusty" copy those she asks for if she gets them? I wonder if "Just Nobody" would exchange. Hope she sends you some for me.

Will "56th Girl" please let me know where I can get "Down Our Way." I think that is the book.

Here is a nice recipe for a strawberry cake.—Two eggs, half cup butter, one cup sugar, half nutmeg, half teaspoon cinnamon, one cup strawberries, 2 1-4 cups flour with teaspoon soda sifted in it. Bake in layers and put strawberry jam between; ice top with white icing.

Should voile curtains be starched when washed? RUBY.

Ans. — Recitation-hunters, please speak up. It's a matter of preference whether these filmy curtains are starched or not, but they hang nicer, I think, if starched slightly at least.

For Baby's Coat.

Dear Miss Grey,—I would like to make "Aunt Nannie" a blue block, but don't know what size to make it. Here is 10 cents for her, and I will try to send more next time.

1. I have a baby boy 15 months old. What would be nice and not too expensive to make him a coat?

2. What color would be nice for him, as he is very fair?

3. A tried recipe for butter tarts?

A YOUNG FARMER'S WIFE.

Ans.—The blocks for "Aunt Nannie" are ten inches square, if you still wish to make one. Thank you for the dime. Some of our mother-readers will be better qualified than to give advice about the coat. The stores sell special coating for babies in nice shades of fawn, blue and red, if you prefer colored to white.

Here is a contributor's recipe for butter tarts: One cup currants, 1 dessertspoonful of cornstarch, mixed with currants, a piece of butter the size of an egg, 1 egg, 1 cup of sugar. Mix all together in a bowl, and set in a pan of hot water to thicken. Put in tart shells and bake in a moderate oven

Two Cakes to Make.

Dear Miss Grey,—I thought I would write a few lines as there were so many writing regarding the soldiers and their wives. I think the new song, "Every Soldier Is My Sweetheart" is just my opinion of them all But I have one soldier who is my very sweetheart, that is, my dear husband. So, therefore, I think every soldier's wife is very brave to stay at home with the children and fight one awful battle, which is to raise a family. I have two dear little boys, aged three years and one and half, and really it seems to take all the money I get to keep the house and my boys going, and then you know we must pack a box once in a while for our brave soldiers who must be awfully lonesome without their little boys and girls and wives. Now for a little information.

1. Will you print a recipe for Christmas cake, one with lemon juice instead of sour milk; you printed one last year but I have lost it.

Please print as soon as possible, as I have two Christmas cakes to make this year, one to send to France.

A LONESOME SOLDIER-WIFE.

Ans.—I have two recipes (one sent in last year by "Thirty Years' Married") which calls for lemon juice, so shall gladly print them in the Cook-Book for you. Good luck to your cake.

She Has Travelled.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is long over a year since I wrote to you. I have been taking The Advertiser for years, and four years ago when I was in Alberta, started reading you little corner, which I see has grown to be nearly a whole page. Since living in Alberta, I have lived in Minnesota, North Dakota, Michigan, Ontario, and now Wisconsin. We take half a dozen other papers, but none like The Advertiser, and I am sure your page has no equal. May it continue to grow.

I was always interested in "Kentucky Nell's" letters and "Mrs. Homebird's."

Will these crochet patterns be of any value?

Now, Miss Grey, will you kindly censor my writing.

Another question I would like to ask is, if you can find out what year the explosion was that took place on the Port Stanley track and M. C. R.? I think a boiler exploded when the train was wrecked, but quite a number killed. One man was killed by the name of Sponsford. I forgot to say this took place in St. Thomas, either in the fall of 1886 or 1887. Would like to know which year it was. It was some time in October, I think.

Well, I must close. With love and a dime for "Aunt Nannie."

MRS. F. W. P.

Ans.—You are quite a wanderer, but I'm glad you have remained a "Tizerite" through it all. Am in hopes some of our Railroad City readers may supply the information you seek. The designs you send will come in very good, indeed.

"Snow Donn" asks for the recipe of "Italian Balm," a preparation for the face and hands, to be made at home. Sorry I cannot supply it, but I am in hopes someone else can.

The six daily studies for this week constitute the International S. S. Lesson for next Sunday. Read the Bible Story on which this study is based, as you ponder the following questions:

"The Voyage." Acts, xxvii., 1-38.

Golden Text—"Commit thy way unto Jehovah; trust also in him, and he will bring it to pass." Psalm, xxxvii., 5.

11. Verses 12-13—When, if ever, is the voice of God in our souls to be depended upon, rather than the seeming evidence of our outward senses?

12. What special danger are we in, "when the south wind blows softly," and we are inclined to go with it, and against our inward religious convictions?

13. When the wrong road is strewn with roses and the birds sing enchantingly, and when the path of duty is stony, and lonesome; what must we do so as never to be led astray?

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

A Smart But Simple Gown.

The sleeve may be finished in wrist length, or in elbow length, with a pointed cuff. The pattern is cut in six sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 7¼ yards of 36-inch material for a 36-inch size. The skirt measures about 2 1-3 yards at the foot.

VERSE--New and Old

THE STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS.

[Sent by Friend of Mail-Box.]

Where relics of the good old times repose,
Grandmother's keepsakes, little odds and ends

It is a quaint collection! Faded scraps
Of wedding gowns, of baby frocks, lie loose—
"Quilt pieces," she declares; ah! yes, perhaps—

Dull with disuse; a pair of tiny shoes,

No moving picture phantasy can cope,
By aid of man's most intricate machines,
With the rare charm of that old stereoscope.

Nor any seasons like those springs of old—
"Beside Still Waters," "Epic of the Plough,"
"A Day of Rest," "When Wintry Winds Blow Cold."

"A Country Road," rare vista of the past,
Inviting empire of the Golden West.

"The Village Street," modest and calm and clean,
Its guileless shops with simple wares arrayed,
Unmoved by "booms," by panics undismayed,

And in the distance looms the village church,
Solemn and stately, with its godly spire,
Religion's finger, stern, that bade men search
Beyond earth's treasures for the heart's desire.

The village church! and through the stereoscope
The olden glamor wavers once again,
And gleams the halo of that peace and hope
That clothed the village as a mantle then.

A city street, today, where men, forsooth,
Grope vainly for the faith forever lost.

* * *

Grandmother's keepsakes! Gently put them by!
There are no feet to fit the tiny shoes,
Nor any scenes like those beneath the sky—
Put by the tear-stained stereoscopic views!

—E. O. Laughlin.

HIS TROUBLE.

A gentleman in khaki, just back from France, rambled into a restaurant. After glancing over the bill of fare, he looked around the room for a waiter.

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, sliding over in response to his call with a glass of water and a napkin.

"Tell me, waiter," remarked the soldier, "have you got frogs' legs?"

"No, sir," was the rather unexpected answer, "it is rheumatism that makes me walk like this!"

"CLOWN" PRINCE FULLY EARNS HIS TITLE

Acts the Buffoon at Home, Says English Ex-Governess.

Interesting glimpses of family life in the Prussian crown prince's home are given in a volume, "In the Eyrie of the Hohenzollern Eagle," recently published in England by Miss E. I. Brimble, who, prior to the war, was English governess to the crown prince's children.

According to Miss Brimble's story, life in the prince's family is not an existence of stagnation. The sons of the household are "handful" enough, but perhaps the antics of their father, known in the home as the "High Papa," proved more confusing still to the English governess.

"He loved to romp with the boys just as they were safely tucked into bed for the night," she writes, "and his particular form of romping generally consisted in a rough-and-tumble fight between them and the dogs; the beds got unmade, and in the greatest disorder, the room like a bear garden, and the boys shrieking and rushing wildly about, while a perfect pandemonium reigned.

"The final act usually consisted in the crown prince seizing one of the bedroom jugs from the washstand and emptying its contents over Prince Lulu in bed, the latter prince being of a more fiery temper than the gentle Prince Wilhelm, and consequently proving better sport for his august father's teasing. As soon as he had made his son and the bed thoroughly wet and miserable, out he would go with his dogs, with a guffaw of amusement, leaving order to be restored."

Acts the Buffoon.

But we have a still worse picture of the "High Papa" and his actions at lunch, from Miss Brimble's pen. "We stood politely, while our lunch got colder and colder, and the crown prince acted the buffoon, seizing a spoonful of potato puree and smearing it all over the boys' heads, or pouring asparagus sauce on their hair, laughing immoderately meanwhile. Often he would pour cups of cocoa over them, or a glass of water down their backs, or rub the whipped cream from a sweet dish all over their faces."

Miss Brimble's charges in themselves were "boy" enough to render her task no easy one. "Sometimes my two princes would start an argument about something which would result in blows, and as they sat one on each side of me in the carriage, matters would get lively; and before now, the command to 'halt' being given, the tall footman on the box would spring down, and with a look of inquiry, open the door for the two boys to be turned out and while the coachman held the horses, the kaiser's two eldest grandsons would finish their fight on the grass. After they had rolled about and incidentally got horribly muddy, they seemed to feel better, and would return to their places amid interested comments from the two younger princes."

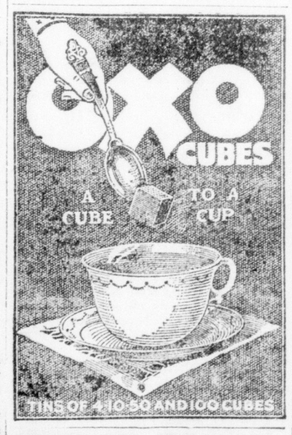

Miss Brimble fortunately happened to be absent on vacation at the time war was declared, and has since resided in England. Her entire account of the "Clown Prince" in his own home is anything but flattering.

INSTEAD OF ICE.

"I always keep a few cucumbers in the refrigerator for the benefit of the other vegetables."

"Why cucumbers?"

"They are said to be cool."

KINGSWOOD AND WORTMAN OUT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Both Backed by Supporters for Mel Brock Shield at Western University Field Day Held This Afternoon in Tecumseh Park.

Providing that weepy Jupiter Pluvius does not butt in and spoil things, the Western University field day, to be held this afternoon in Tecumseh Park, should be one of the best ever held by that institution of learning, as the entries for the various events are numerous.

Not Superstitious.

"How many events are you going to pull off, doctor?" was the question put to Dr. Neville, acting secretary-treasurer of the Athletic Association, last night.

"Twelve events and the relay," replied Dr. Neville, cautiously.

"Don't you call the relay race an event?" was asked.

"Well, last week we announced that there would be thirteen events and that the sports would be held on Friday, and look at the weather we got. We're not taking any chances this time. The sports will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, if it is not raining. We can hardly postpone them any longer. No, I am not superstitious, only I don't care for the number thirteen."

Much Speculation.

There is much speculation around the Medical College as to who will win the Brock shield, donated by Capt. Mel Brock, former director of athletics at the university, and who is now overseas with the Western U. hospital unit. Charlie Wortman, who won the championship two years ago, has been training faithfully, and is looked upon by many as the logical man to grab the shield this year.

Roy Won Last Year.

Roy Kingswood added the trophy to his already long list last year, and his friends state that he will repeat again this year under wraps. However, both are good men, and it looks like a merry battle for the top of the list. With Brickenden of the Arts, Wortman and Kingswood are entered for all events. Dr. Neville stated last night that there would be in the neighborhood of twelve entries for every event on the list.

Providing the sports are concluded before even draws nigh, a rugby match will be staged between the rugby artists of the university and collegiate team. Western did not hold a practice last night, as many of the men are entered in the sports.

SPORT COMPETITION IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS CERTAIN TO BE KEEN

Entries For Every Event On Friday Numerous.

ALL COVET THE SHIELD

One Mile Relay Race For Canadian Club Cup a Feature.

With favorable weather the annual public school field day to be held on Friday afternoon promises to be one of the best in years. Entries for every event are numerous, nearly every school being represented.

Competition is keen for the main events. Last year the representatives of St. George's School carried off the shield offered by A. E. Silverwood for the school making the greatest number of points, and they intend to put up a big fight for it this year. Another keen competition will be the one-mile relay race for the Canadian Club Cup, which Rectory Street School carried off last season. A team from each of the public schools and the separate schools will compete for this.

Medals will be offered for other boys' events, such as running and jumping.

Girls' indoor baseball teams from Alexandra and Chesley Avenue schools will stage an interesting match, and the basketball championship of the city will be decided by girls' teams from the Pottersburg and Empress Avenue schools.

The sports are to be held in Tecumseh Park. The pupils from all the schools east of the river will assemble at the market square about 1 o'clock and, headed by the 7th Regiment Band, march to the park. Pupils from schools west of the river will assemble at the grounds.

Marconis vs. St. Peter's tonight.

A good game of bowling was witnessed by one of the biggest crowds this year, when the Brunswicks took two games out of three from the Blue Labels. The first two games were not won till the last man had bowled. The Blue Labels seemed to bowl a good game, but their opponents made a strong finish in both games. In the last game the Blue Labels trimmed the Brunswicks by 139 pins.

Tom Crawford of the Brunswicks took the honors of the night when he rolled the highest total score with 553, and the highest individual with 208. E. McCullaugh of the Blue Labels rolled a score of 552, and "Bobby" Yohn of the same team rolled an individual of 207.

THREE LOCAL TEAMS PLAY IN O. R. F. U. INTERMEDIATE

Western U., 149th and 118th Battalions Form City Group.

As Sarnia has not been able to scare up an intermediate rugby club, the Western University, the 118th Battalion and the 149th Battalion will form an intermediate group here of the O.R.F.U. A meeting will be held today to draw up a schedule.

As Tecumseh Park will be engaged for the next two Saturdays, some of the games will have to be played off during the week. Sarnia will play the local collegiate here on Saturday, while the Guelph O. A. C. boys come to London for their return game with Western a week from Saturday.

EDDIE SCHUMAKER BACK AFTER BEING AT FRONT

Former Hockey Star Presented With Gold Watch in Home Town of Parkhill.

Eddie Schumaker, former star hockey player of this city and who has been at the front for the past twenty months, arrived in London yesterday afternoon from his home in Parkhill, where a reception was held Monday afternoon in his honor. Eddie was presented with a gold watch and fob by his admiring fellow-townsmen, and was paraded all over town at the head of the band. As he stated Wednesday afternoon, it was "some" reception.

The presentation was made in the park, the speakers being Rev. Mr. Lloyd, W. H. Bartram and Sergt. Jerry McCall of the 241st Scottish Borderers. Rev. Mr. Farney read the address and Mayor Finn made the presentation.

May Go to Toronto.

Eddie, who was one of the stars of the Western University hockey team, champions of the N. H. L. in 1912, stated that he would probably spend the winter in Toronto. If he does he should nail a place on any of the fast teams there. It is more than likely though that there will be an effort made to keep him here for the hockey season, as he would be a tower of strength on any of the local clubs.

Sergt. Gordon Thompson, who was with Schumaker on the D. A. P. in France, was at the station to grasp his hand, as was Sergt. Jerry McCall, who is here recruiting for the 241st. Jerry expects to play hockey in Detroit this winter and would like to take Eddie along with him to the Michigan city.

BAN JOHNSON AND DAVE FULTZ AGREE

Consent of the Club Owners Is Necessary To Play Exhibition Ball.

BAN SHOWS CONTRACT

Players Will Have To Fall Back On Ping-Pong For Exercise.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—Major League baseball players will not only be barred from engaging in exhibition baseball games, but are forbidden to increase their income after the regular season is over by indoor baseball, basketball or football. This was the answer today of President B. B. Johnson of the American League, to the protests of David I. Fultz, president of the Ball Players' Fraternity, against fines imposed on members for engaging in post-season games. The section of the players' contract covering the points mentioned was exhibited by President Johnson, and he said that it has been approved by Mr. Fultz. It forbids participation in "any exhibition game, indoor baseball, basketball or football, unless the written consent of the club has first been given."

"We decided not to permit the exhibition games because the hippodrome features could not be divorced from them," Johnson said.

Scalpers Scalped

Weird tales are being told by some of the baseball fans who attended the world's series in Brooklyn. The ticket scalpers had looked upon Brooklyn with gluttonous eyes, for they figured Gotham as soft picking for high-priced seats, especially with the small capacity of Ebbets Field, as compared to other parks round the circuit. The scalpers doubled their efforts to get seats at the Brooklyn park and were successful. The first game at Brooklyn offered a very good example of how the scalpers were taken into camp. All along Broadway were lines of scalpers with hundreds of tickets. But the public failed to fall for the advance in price. Half an hour before game time the scalpers hiked to Flatbush and openly offered the tickets for sale at cost price. Yet they could not get rid of them. In most instances tickets were sold by scalpers at below cost. It was easy to purchase a $3 admission ticket for $2. Even then there were thousands of vacant seats in the stands on both days the teams played at Brooklyn. The scalpers could not get rid of tickets at any price. All the vacant seats were paid for, and when it is considered that on the second day more than 9,000 seats, at $3 and $5 each, were paid for by scalpers who failed to again sell the tickets, the loss falls directly on the fellows who had looked for a rich harvest. The ball players got their share, the magnates theirs, and the commission its split. The only loss was to the scalpers. Had it not been for these scalpers offering tickets at reduced prices, Ebbets Field would not have been half filled on either day the club played there.

M'KENZIE AND WEST HAVE FAST WORKOUT

BILLY IS SOME MIXER

Shows Fine Footwork in Mill With West—Baker Arrives Tonight From Buffalo.

Billie McKenzie, who fights Sammy Baker of Buffalo, at the Masonic Temple tomorrow night, looks as if he deserved the title of the "Battling Nelson of Canada," wished on him by his admirers in the Canadian West. McKenzie worked out yesterday afternoon at the S. P. A. rooms with Billie West who will take on Wainwright in the second preliminary bout tomorrow night. McKenzie showed a whole lot of speed and is some shifty boy. He is quick on his feet and seemed perfectly willing to mix it on all occasions. Billie is the possessor of smooth muscles and a knockout punch in either mitt. Mr. Baker will have to step some if he intends to trim William.

Billie West Fast.

Earl Wrainwright will have no leadpipe cinch with Billie West. The latter showed that he is some pumpkins in the roped arena by the way in which he went after McKenzie yesterday. He is a smart lad and one of the best that ever boxed around Cleveland.

Earl in Condition.

Wrainwright went five fast rounds with Trudell last night, and Zoccano says that his sparring partner is in the pink of condition.

"You can take it from me," said Tony, "that the fight between Wrainwright and West will be on a par with the scrap between McKenzie and Baker. Earl and West are well matched and I can promise the fans a real treat tomorrow night."

Cookson and a youth named Everitt, whom Tony has discovered, will put on the first bout of the evening. Zoccano claims that his "find" is a real one, and that he will make the fair-headed Y.M.C.A. lad walk right along is an assured fact.

Baker Arrives Tonight.

Baker will arrive in London tonight. His manager telegraphed Zoccano that Sammy is in great condition and ready to take the starch out of the famous Billie. Tony announced last night that final arrangements had been made to match the winner of the McKenzie—Baker scrap with Jerry Dalton, the Deroit lightweight, in Sarnia, on November 2.

MAJOR FRANK ROBINSON LIKELY TO LEAD N. H. A.

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Latest advices from Quebec state that it is more than possible now that Major Frank Robinson, former owner of the Toronto Hockey Club, will be president of the National Hockey Association this season, honorary president in fact. This in a measure would be carrying out the idea of having a person who is sufficiently interested in hockey to take the position without remuneration and has experience in the professional game, and who at the same time has experience in ruling men. It is understood that Quebec, the two Toronto clubs, and the Canadiens, are heartily in favor of trying to get him to accept the post.

Should he allow his name to be proposed for the honorary position, it is hoped that Harvey Pulford can be prevailed upon to again accept the position of principal referee.

SARNIA-PETROLEA RUGBY MATCH AS POSTPONED

SARNIA, Oct. 25.—Sarnia and Petrolea collegiates did not play their scheduled game of football here this afternoon owing to the sudden death of ex-Mayor Henderson. His son, Stewart, is one of the mainstays of the local collegiate fourteen. Sarnia will not play Petrolea until the end of the season, but will journey to London Saturday in an endeavor to put the London team out of the running for the junior O. R. F.U. championship. The return game will be played here a week from Saturday. The Sarnia crew is practicing hard and will give the London boys a stiff game. The back division is especially fast, while the line is a heavy one.

National "Comish" Blamed For High Cost of Baseball

Sets Prices for Tickets of World Series Games—Fans Sore, But Paid Up—Boston and Brooklyn Not to Blame.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The chase after the almighty dollar and the ultimate end of this chase—the death of the goose that lays the golden egg—never had a more forceful bunch of evidence against its practice than in the world's series between Boston and Brooklyn.

Charles H. Ebbets isn't to blame, nor is Joseph Lannin. The fault is with the august National Commission, the supposed protector of organized baseball.

Commission Plans.

When the races in the American and National Leagues reached a critical point early in October, the commission made its plans for the big event, instructing all clubs which had a chance to have tickets printed and prepare them for sale. They fixed a scale of prices which skidded from 50 cents for a bleacher seat in Boston and $1 in Brooklyn to $5 for the best box seats.

Fans Wail.

There was gnashing of teeth and bitter wailing by the fans, but they, having become baseball fans, were determined to see the thing through, and they turned out well. There were vacancies in the Brooklyn park, but they did a big business in Boston.

Just the same, the wail of the fans is certainly going to be heard. If the National Commission attempts to stage another world's series with such prices in vogue, critics everywhere are confidently predicting the rulers of the game will get the shock of their dignified lives when they count the resultant kale.

Money to Blame.

It was the mad, dashing blood-struggle for money that put the curse on horse racing, and the same thing almost has done it to boxing. The National Commission is flirting with obscurity when it casts everything but the commercial side of the game to the dogs.

The success of football, the great college sport, run exclusively from a sporting standpoint, is a hint Garry Herrmann, et al., should not overlook.

LATEST CHANGES IN MANAGERS

It is being intimated on apparently very good authority that important changes involving Pittsburg and Chicago National League clubs are about to be made. These rumors are to the effect that when the 1917 season begins Jimmy Callahan, now manager of the Pirates, will be at the helm for the Chicago Cubs, and Joe Tinker, present manager of the Cubs, will be without a job. It is well-known in baseball circles that Callahan and Barney Dreyfuss almost reached the parting point last summer through an act of Callahan's, and that Dreyfuss is pretty certain to be looking for a new manager. It is not believed Callahan is on the Pittsburg reserve list, although his contract is said to call for another year of service in Pittsburg. Callahan had a fairly good year in Pittsburg, and has improved the Pirates to some extent, but his differences with Dreyfuss, it is said, are sufficient to cause the owner of the club to seek Callahan's release. Most men intimate with the affairs of the Pirates believe Fred Clarke will head the team next year. The former manager of the Pirates has not said anything in regard to the rumor. He repeatedly has stated that he is through with the game. He has a large farm in Kansas, and it takes all his time to look after it. Chick Fraser, veteran scout for the Pirates and old-time pitcher, has also been mentioned as a probable successor to Callahan, and Bill Clymer, the former Toronto manager, last year with Louisville, is also on the list of eligibles.

CARPENTIER IS LOGICAL OPPONENT FOR WILLARD

Will Be Rich Man if German Bullet Doesn't Get Him.

Jess Willard may fight before the big war in Europe is over, but that fact is too close up in the picture for Jack Curley, one of the champion's directors, to pay any attention to just now. Jack is looking forward to the day when what he thinks will be a real big match takes place.

Listen To This.

"There is an opponent who, if God spares him, will draw a gate with Willard that will make all previous crowds dim into insignificance," writes Curley. "Crowned heads will occupy ringside seats and cheer for his success with the common people. Multitudes, masses, and more multitudes will throng and pack every inch of space. Generals and field marshals of armies will mingle with privates, and the elite of society will clap their gloved hands for this fighter.

"The opponent of Willard will be a national, yea, an international, hero. Now I will stop all suspense. You have already guessed his name—none other than George Carpentier, the French soldier at $10 per month, whose $1,000,000 earning power will vanish if a piece of German shrapnel comes his way. But we must be optimistic and hope for the best.

Jess Won't Wait.

"However, Jess Willard is not going to insist on a wait for Carpentier. Willard will keep himself occupied while waiting for the big plum and will not let his whiskers grow in idleness. If Fulton decisively defeats Moran in New York, we hope to answer the call of the public.

"Jess weighs just 262 pounds," continued Curley, "and that's only about 10 pounds above his fighting weight. He'll be in even better shape when he begins his training for his next fight than he was when he started to prepare for the bout with Frank Moran. It strikes me that Fulton will be the logical contender at this time, and while I think the middle west will get the bout I would like to see it take place in New York."

SPORT NEWS SCARCE AT FRONT, SAYS SID RANKIN

Ernest Heard of this city, whom most of London's sporting fraternity at the front keep in touch with, has received a letter from Sergt. Sid Rankin, who is well known throughout Western Ontario as being one of the best hockey players that ever handled a stick. Sid is one of the famous Rankin brothers of Stratford who kept that town on the senior hockey map for many seasons. He has handled the bell in many O.H.A. games in London, and has a host of friends in this city. He left the city in the spring and went overseas with the C.M.R. from Hamilton, later transferring to a pioneer battalion.

"Now that we are at the front," writes Sid, "we sure miss our lacrosse and baseball, which flourished in England. Therefore, our sport news does not show up very well. However, we manage to keep our time fairly well filled up, and everything is going well."

NEW CONSTITUTION OF A. A. V. AT LAST READY

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 26.—The recodification committee of the Amateur Athletic Union has finished its work, and its recommendation for sweeping changes in the constitution will be submitted to the annual convention on November 20. The most striking changes will be in the definition of what constitutes an amateur.

S. A. Simons of Los Angeles is chairman of the recodification committee, and he and his associates have been at work on the new constitution for nearly two years. Although many of the proposed changes will be radical, Secretary Rubien of the A. A. U., predicts that the new code will be adopted virtually without opposition.

HAMILTON SORE ON SAM MANSON.

CAMP BORDEN, Oct. 25.—Major Sam Manson of the 173rd Hamilton Highlanders left here yesterday with his battalion for an eastern point en route overseas. It is understood that since Manson played in Ottawa with the 207th Battalion football team, enthusiasts of the Ambitious City have been extremely hot with Sam, and when it looked as though he would play against his own team-mates in Hamilton, the Mountain City called Sam a "traitor." Nothing is known as to whether Sam can return to Ottawa, but it would not be surprising to see him playing against his home town. When the 205th Hamilton Tiger team was formed, Sam was not even asked to turn out, but later was forced to attend the musketry course in Ottawa, and while there played with Ottawa, which has caused Hamilton much worry.

With the Trotters and Pacers

BY J. H. F.

The season is dying hard. The twice-around boys are still gathering in a few shekels for oats and hay.

Birdie Welsh, a Canadian wiggler, owned in Detroit, is considered a handy pacer, and if she works right, may be sent after some of the big money.

Allentown, Pa., will have $2,500 purses next year. This is a record for the half-mile game, and some of the big stables will be down for a piece of that change.

Bonington, Pop Geers' trotter, finally won a race. The Old Man had a hard time with this bird, but finally got him behaving when the large purses had all been disposed of. He may hold him over for the big time in 1917.

The Royal Knight, which trialed close to 2:05, will be in the big trots next year. Ben White will do the teaming, the Pastime Stable having bought the horse for $10,000.

Tommy Murphy will depend, it is said, on Royal Mack and Chenault, two good trotters, that have stepped in 2:05 and better for him this fall. However, he will pick up a flock more, just to be sure.

Wilkesbrewer, the best trotter on the half-mile rings last summer, will be saved for the stakes next year. This one is a race mare, and the rest of the gang will have to be up and doing to beat her out.

Peter Scott, the great trotter of 1915, did not show much this year, not being able to beat 2:05. Sharps figured that he would touch two minutes.

Fletcher of Indianapolis, who bought Peter the Great for $50,000, and won the C. of C. stake at Detroit with Miss Harris M., has Peter Look, 2:03, the 3-year-old champion, and will have him for the C. of C. Stake in 1917. Lively bird, this.

Mabel Trask, the best trotter of 1916, won 13 races, and $33,590. St. Frisco took down $24,075 for Geers; Volga, $16,620; The Real Lady, $13,050, and Expressive Lou, $10,687. Quite a bundle of pay dirt.

Miss Harris M., winner of most of the pacing stakes, was the big money-getter among the wigglers, annexing $9,932. Single G. and Roan Hal grabbed over $6,000.

Murphy, Cox, Geers, McDonald, Valentine and White were the money drivers of the Big Line in that order this year.

Walter Cox has been paying fancy prices for a flock of yearlings by San Francisco. He expects to pay regular dividends on the money, too.

Royal Mack's last half of a mile in a trifle better than a minute gives Murphy quite a pull for the big trotting stakes in the winter lineup. However, the bookies do not pay off in January.

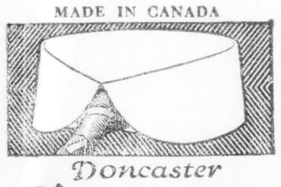

KNOCKED OUT IN TEN ROUNDS.

CANTON, Ohio., Oct. 25.—Sam Robideau of Philadelphia put Al Doty, Canton welterweight, to sleep in ten rounds of a scheduled twelve-round go here last night.

MORAN FINED FOR SPEEDING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Frank Moran, heavyweight pugilist, was fined $50 for speeding by Magistrate House in the traffic court. The fine was placed at $50, it was said, because it was Moran's second offence. Accompanying Moran at the time of his arrest was Pearl White, a motion-picture actress.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF DOMINION A.Y.P.A. WAS HELD AT GUELPH

Clarence Bell of Toronto Is New President.

LONDONER IS SECRETARY

Rural Dean Appleyard, Now Overseas, Honored at Session.

GUELPH, Oct. 25.—The Dominion Anglican Young People's Association held their annual conference today in St. George's Church.

Representatives from outside A. Y. P. A.'s commenced arriving this morning, and reception committee conducted arrivals on a tour through the city until the time of the first session, namely holy communion at 11 o'clock. Those taking part in this service were Right Rev. Wm. Clarke, D.D., D.C.L., M.A., Lord Bishop of Niagara, Ven. Archdeacon Davidson, M.A., and Rev. P. Mayes. The bishop preached the sermon, in which he made an impassioned appeal for a more virile Christianity, claiming that never again must the church admit a self-centered religion, and stating that the war had done much to bring men face to face with the realities of life. His address was based on the words "He went about doing good."

At the afternoon session letters and cables were received from several workers, including one from the Bishop of Toronto, who sent his blessing and best wishes. The speakers were Rev. Riley of Dundas, Mr. Claude Walker of Newmarket, and Ven. Rev. Dean Owen of Hamilton. In the evening, Rev. Arthur Carlisle of Windsor, who went to the front as chaplain with the C. E. F., was the principal speaker. R. E. Jones of Toronto, head of the Aura Lee Bible class, was the other speaker. The convention concluded this evening.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Hon. president, Canon A. Brown, B.A.; past president, A. W. Langmuir, Toronto; president, Clarence Bell, Toronto; first vice-president, Rev. W. G. Davis, H.D., Stoney Creek; second vice-president, Laura M. Ryder, Kingston; secretary, Rural Dean E. Appleyard, London; assistant, G. Spencer Bate, Toronto; treasurer, Miss M. J. Woodhouse, Hamilton.

A SICKLY WIFE NO FIT MATE FOR ANY MAN

Girls and Women Should Look Well to Their Health and Strength.

Never before was physical health and vigor so highly esteemed and so eagerly sought for as today.

No man finds happiness in a sickly wife, and the woman who wishes to enjoy the pleasures of life should spare no effort to maintain perfect health.

Is your daughter growing up strong and ruddy? Has she strength to drink in greedily all the pleasures that youth so zealously seeks—or is she compelled to use the street car instead of enjoying the delightful exercise of walking—does she after the ball arise refreshed and vigorous, or is she exhausted, indifferent and perhaps irritable?

When strength and vigor can be so easily maintained by Ferrozone, when the glow of health is so quickly brought to the cheeks and elasticity to the step, it is plainly a mother's duty to see that Ferrozone is on hand to assist her daughter back to health.

Upon the wake of Ferrozone quickly follows a stream of rich, nourishing blood which imparts that power and surplus energy so earnestly desired by those in ill-health.

Stop and think what this means for your daughter—certainly a great deal, and it can be accomplished by Ferrozone.

Every growing girl and young woman derives enormous benefit in many ways from this nutritive, vitalizing tonic.

It is specially suited for young women, and is a guarantee of health and regularity as long as it is used.

Ferrozone is free from alcohol, and perfectly safe to use. Prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet, and sold in 50c boxes, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system daily an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnance each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

Allies Are Taking Measures to Help the Rumanians

LONDON, Oct. 25. — In reply to a question in the House of Commons today regarding the situation in Rumania, David Lloyd George said:

"We and our allies are working in concert, and everything that is possible is being done to help Rumania. It is obviously undesirable to detail more exactly the measures that are being taken."

STUBBORN BRITISH, INSOLENT FRENCH EXASPERATE KAISER

Urges Men on the Somme to Keep on Fighting.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Via London.—Emperor William on his recent visit to the troops on the Somme front in France made the following speech, according to the correspondent of the Tageblatt:

"Comrades,—Following an impulse of the heart, I have hurried to you from the east front to bring you the greetings of your comrades there and the thanks of the fatherland for the four months' hard struggles of the Somme and for the heroic manner in which you have fought. The world's history knows no parallel for the struggles in which you are participating and for the greatness of your deeds. For centuries these battles of the Somme will stand as a blazing model for the conquering will of a united people.

"It is in you that Germany will find expression under whatever circumstances to prevent the enemy from prostrating us to the ground and to stand firm against French insolence and British stubbornness.

"From all German regions you stand like a metal wall of German sense of duty and self-devoted valor, fighting to the last breath.

"On all sides the German people stand in a tenacious struggle against half the world and against the manifold superiority of numbers. Even though it continues hard and endures long, yet the Lord of Hosts is with you. Those at home have besought Him and He has inspired you with strength and courage. Trust in God bravely, feeling that you are fighting in a just cause.

"Thus, I greet you, comrades. Hold out, the Lord will give His blessing to the end."

A BRILLIANT SUCCESS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY AT VERDUN, Oct. 24.—By a staff correspondent of the Associated Press—(Delayed).—The French today recaptured from the German Crown Prince in six hours and twenty minutes territory northeast of Verdun which it had cost the Germans five months of the hardest fighting, and a half million men to take earlier this year.

The effect of the victory was to give the French freedom of movement around Verdun, permitting them to prepare for a further advance when the opportunity is ripe, at the same time dealing a stunning blow when the Germans thought the French striking force was entirely assembled in the Somme region. The victory also leaves Fort Vaux, now in German hands, perilously open to attack.

Was Unexpected.

Such a brilliant success in so short a time was not expected even by the most optimistic when the order for the offensive was given at 11:30 o'clock this morning. For a couple of days the artillery preparation by the French batteries had been of the most extreme severity. Monday the Germans opened with every available battery, believing a French attack was about to be delivered. Not a single Frenchman stirred.

Tuesday at dawn a fresh tornado of fire by the French brought only a feeble reply, the Germans apparently regarding the bombardment as a mere demonstration. The French infantry, meanwhile, stood at arms, awaiting the order to spring forward. Many of them had participated in the defense of Verdun from the opening of the great German attack in February. All of them were most cheerful at the prospect of giving a blow, instead of continually receiving one.

Early in the day evidence came of the awfulness of the French artillery fire, in the shape of sixty German deserters, including two officers, who, unable to stand the torrents of shells, walked out and surrendered before the infantry struggle began

Curtain Lifted.

The Associated Press correspondent watched the progress of the fight from a position commanding a panoramic view of the whole battlefield. Suddenly about 11:30 o'clock the curtain of French shells which had pounded the German trenches into flatness, was lifted slightly, and dropped again with the utmost precision just behind the German line.

Officers waited, watches in hand, for the chosen moment. Then the French infantry, covered with mud and sand and soaked to the skin, went over the top of their position. Despite the ooziness of the uneven ground, they rapidly gained the German lines, where they found and killed and wounded hundreds of Germans, who half-dazed, mostly surrendered after slight resistance.

Quarries Captured.

The first work thus taken was the Haudromont quarries, from which the French were able to push onward with an unexpected sweep. Thiaumont fell early, and the Faussecote ravines were taken. Then the attacking waves rolled irresistibly forward and round the village and fort of Douaumont, which were encircled just at dusk, fell at six o'clock in the evening and their garrisons were taken prisoner.

Nightfall brought only a slight cessation from the artillery, whose flashes lighted up the now clear sky. Along the field tracks, pitted with shell holes, great batches of prisoners were escorted to the rear. Constant additions are being made hourly to the total of captured, which comprises a hundred officers. Many were found cowering in shell holes until detachments of the French cleared up the battlefield.

Gen. Joffre witnessed the opening of the attack, but as soon as he saw everything progressing well he hurried away.

GOODS WILL NOT SELL THEMSELVES· SAYS MR. O'HARA

Deputy Trade Minister Tells of Business Chances.

STATES IS AN ADVERTISER

Would Have British Commissioners Stationed Throughout the Country.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Suggestions for improving Canada's trade with the other parts of the Empire and outside countries were made by F. C. T. O'Hara, deputy minister of trade and commerce, to the Dominion's royal commission today.

Mr. O'Hara said British manufacturers did not get after the Canadian trade like the American manufacturers. "The goods won't sell themselves," he said, "and it needs someone to sell them."

Merchants in Canada could order their goods overnight from New York and often they had to procure English products in that way.

"With all due reference to the energy and ability displayed by the present British board of trade commissioner in Montreal," he continued, "I think Canada should be subdivided into areas within which additional British commissioners should be appointed, reported to and being directly responsible to the board of trade in London."

He suggested that such commissioners be appointed in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax.

United States Advertises.

"The United States leaves nothing undone to secure Canadian trade. There are some hundred consuls of the United States here, and thousands, I might say millions, of advertising circulars are sent into this country every year. There are also the innumerable trade and other magazines which carry advertisements of American goods which all swell the trade."

The deputy minister of trade and commerce also recommended that the various overseas dominions have representatives in Canada.

Toy Exhibit Interests.

The recent Canadian Government made-in-Canada toy exhibit at Toronto Exhibition, greatly interested the royal commissioners. Both Sir George Foster and Mr. O'Hara said that it had done much good to interest manufacturers and give an impetus to trade. Hon J. H. Sinclair, New Zealand, wanted to know if the showing of German goods did not overexercise the latter, but Mr. O'Hara said the opposite was the fact. It gave Canadian makers fresh ideas.

R. H. Campbell, Dominion director of forestry, in answer to questions that the supply of timber had not materially decreased here. When the high price of paper was mentioned, Mr. Campbell was asked if the cost of labor in pulp manufacture had gone up. He said it was not within his knowledge.

APPLES LIGHT YIELD IN EXETER DISTRICT

EXETER, Oct. 25.—The farmers are busy picking apples and getting up their roots. Apples are not very plentiful, and there are new No. 1. The windstorm last week blew down a great many, which will be fit only for cider or the evaporator. The recent rains have helped the farmers, however, with regard to fall plowing, as the ground was previously very hard and dry.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Try this! Your hair appears glossy, abundant, wavy and beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

The LONDON ADVERTISER presents the greatest news picture of the century—the official film of the Imperial Government, taken to record the Battle of the Somme, July 1, when the initiative was assumed by the British on the western front.

These pictures, while they show the grim realities of modern war, show more of heroism than horror. They are an object lesson both for those who stay home and for those who are training for the front. "See that these pictures reach everybody," said Mr. Lloyd George, and millions saw them in Great Britain. New records for attendance made in Toronto and Montreal.

See these wonderful pictures, as in no other way can you form a conception upon which to base adequate "honor and glory of the living and the dead."

"Herald the deeds of our brave men to the ends of the earth," said Lloyd George. "This is your duty."

CANADA'S DAY WILL COME AFTER WAR, SAYS SHAUGHNESSY

Predicts a Greater Country, Industrially and Politically.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Baron Shaughnessy, in an interview granted a representative of the Canadian Press, as he was about to board the steamer Kroonland today en route to Europe, predicted a greater Canada, industrially and politically, when peace is declared.

"Though bleeding with sacrifices and bending with effort in behalf of the great Empire of which she is an integral part," he said, "Canada's biggest role in the play of nations is not now, but in the future. The history of the Dominion," he said, "showed that what mistakes have had to be rectified have been due to short vision, and that the deeds most criticized had been of over-anticipation. As between those two, Canada would after the war steer a middle course of steady development.

"Canada is an empire in itself," continued Baron Shaughnessy. "Its population is not a fraction of what it should be, of what it is capable of becoming, or of what it will be after the war. We are now taking steps to prepare for the future, and are anticipating an immigration that should be unprecedented in Canadian history."

CARRANZA IS AFTER GEN. VILLA AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Gen. Carranza had started a new military campaign against Villa bandits in northern Chihuahua, according to information furnished the American forces beyond the border. The war department gave out today the following summary of Gen. Pershing's report:

"Gen. Pershing reports that Carranza officials state that a column of de facto troops is moving north from Parral against Villa. Nothing definite as regards the recent action between de facto troops and Villistas at San Ysabel is known."

NEW WAR BY VILLA KEEPS U. S. ON GUARD

Situation in Northern Mexico Again Considered Very Grave.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, Oct. 26.—Villistas' activity near Chihuahua had the effect today of convincing officials here that no thought should be given soon to removal of guardsmen from border patrol duty or withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's column from Mexico. Fear was felt that if Villa should succeed in his apparent movement to capture Chihuahua, he might find it easy to get control later of nearly all Northern Mexico. The entire Mexican situation was regarded as more serious than for many months.

Conditions at Chihuahua were the subject of greatly conflicting reports. Mexican Ambassador Arredondo received from Consul Garcia at El Paso a denial of Gen. Trevino, Carranza commander at Chihuahua, that he was short of ammunition or intended to evacuate the city. Carranza losses in the fighting with Villa troops at Santa Ysabel had been slight, he said, and eight thousand troops had arrived to reinforce the garrison. War department reports, however, were that Villa was encamped five miles from Chihuahua with a considerable force, after having defeated Carranza troops severely, and that Trevino was ready to abandon the city.

MILK DEALERS MEETING TO DISCUSS PRICE RISE

Some in Favor of Charging Nine Cents to Consumers, Others Object.

The retail milk dealers of the city will meet at the city hall this evening for the purpose of reaching a decision on a contemplated rise in the price of milk. The retailers are receiving 8 cents a quart now and have under advisement an advance to 9 cents a quart, the rise to become effective on November 1. The wholesalers raised their price at a meeting on Tuesday evening from 4½ cents a quart to 5 cents, the change to take eeffct on Monday next. They further provided for an advance of an extra half cent to the retailer if the retailer raised the price this evening to 9 cents.

The retailers maintain that their profits are not sufficient and will decide this evening as to whether it would be advisable to raise the price and take the chance of a reduction in the number or customers.

Inquiry from several of the dealers showed that a difference of opinion prevailed among the retailers in this regard.

Some thought to make an advance would mean a loss in orders, and others believed the opposite, and the matter will be definitely decided this evening.

COLLEGE BOYS ARRANGING TO HAVE NEW SONG BOOK

"Yells" Will Be Included and Many Original Compositions.

What's the good of having a rooters' club if the boys have nothing to yell or sing? This was the argument put up by Mel Platt and Bern McDougall, both sophomores of the Medical School, at a meeting held early in the season. Get some, was the order, and at the present time the best book of college songs and yells that ever blew out of the Western University is drawing rapidly to a finish.

Mel Platt, who is well known in musical circles, has composed the lyrics of a number of new songs, the words being written by Bern McDougall. The feature number will be the Western University Song, which will be submitted to the faculty for adoption as the official college song.

dred songs, over 50 per cent being original. It is expected that it will be published in the course of three weeks.

HAS PROUD RECORD

Only Man in London Twice Arrested as Drunk Since September 16.

One lone drunk, possessing the volubility of a sideshow spieler and an endless variety of alibis for getting "tanked," pleaded guilty after he had exhausted his supply of reasons.

He had been in police court on the same charge two weeks ago, and bears the distinction of being the only citizen in the city who has twice pleaded guilty to being drunk since prohibition became effective.

A fine of $15 and costs was imposed, or, in default of payment, six weeks in jail.

He was in possession of two large quart bottles of whisky when arrested. These were confiscated and will be destroyed by the police.

PTE. G. PENNINGTON KILLED IN ACTION, IS WORD TO SISTER

Resident of London For Several Years—Pte. Belcher in Hospital.

Pte. George Pennington of this city has paid the great price in giving his life for his country. Official notification that he had been killed in action was received by his sister, and only living near relative, Miss Dorothy Pennington, today.

Pte. Pennington and his sister boarded with Joseph Davies at 253 Egerton street, the former having been there for several years. Born in England, he came to this country when a boy, and drove a milk rig for a dealer several years, later acquiring a route of his own.

He heard the call to arms, and joined the 70th Battalion, being later transferred to another battalion in England. He was only a short time in the field before meeting his death.

Mrs. Rose Belcher of 576 William street received official word that Pte. Cecil R. Belcher, previously reported as missing, was in No. 5 Stationary Hospital, Abbeville.

Among the lists of those wounded there appears the name of H. R. Lismore, 211 Ridout street.

FRENCH FOLLOW UP GRAND SWEEP MADE OF GERMAN LINES

Are Now Within 500 Yards of Fort Vaux—Much Booty Taken.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Oct. 26—5:45 a.m.—The French troops at Verdun are following up as fast as they can the advantage gained by their sudden forward sweep on Tuesday and, according to the latest information, have closed in to within less than five hundred yards of Vaux fort. Announcement of the capture is momentarily expected here, thus completely restoring the French line held on February 25.

The German forces at Verdun are reacting so slowly and with such apparent lack of strength that, in the opinion of French military men, they no longer possess a general reserve, but are obliged to withdraw men from one section of the front to reinforce another section in case of need.

French Losses Light.

Reports of the casualties which are now in hand show the French losses were very light indeed, considerably less than the numbers of prisoners taken and a large proportion of them was of cases in which the men were slightly wounded.

Considerable material was captured. The Germans had massed guns of all calibres in the "Ravine of Death," all of which fell into the hands of the French. The three lieutenant-generals, who, under the command of Gen. Mangin, led the attacking divisions, were all lieutenant-colonels at the outbreak of the war, and had been singled out by Gen. Joffre for promotion on account of their technical ability, energy and initiative.

THE DIARY OF MARS.

The situation of the Russo-Rumanian army in Dobrudja appears slightly less critical in the light of today's official report from Petrograd, which describes the pressure of Field Marshal von Mackensen's armies as somewhat weakened. Dispatches from Berlin report that the Entente forces were split in two parts with the fall of Tchernavoda, some of the troops escaping over the great bridge across the Danube, while the others fled northward in Dobrudja. Apparently the sections remaining in the Black Sea province have finally been able to make something of a stand against the onrush of the Bulgarians, Germans and Turks north of the Constanza-Tchernavoda line.

Petrograd asserts that the Teutonic pressure has been arrested in the Transylvania border regions. Further north in the Carpathians, near Capul Mountain, the Russians report the repulse of a Teutonic attack.

On the western front the Germans are reported by Paris to have ceased their counter-attacks at Verdun, following the French success in Tuesday's drive, which resulted in the recapture of Fort Douaumont and the advance of the French lines along a wide front in this sector. The new French positions, which are declared to have been held intact, are still under German artillery fire, however. French military writers declare that the position of Fort Vaux is such that its capture by the French is momentarily expected.

In Macedonia new Entente advances are reported. French cavalry has occupied the villages of Golobrda and Laisitsa, in the vicinity of the Greco-Albanian border, while the Serbs have driven the Bulgars and Germans further back in the region of Cerna River, southeast of Monastir, according to Paris. The British report carrying out successful naval aeroplane attacks on the railway station at Buk and Drama, on the Constantinople-Saloniki railway.

ALL C. P. R. MEN HERE PLEASED BY SETTLEMENT

Were Ready to Walk Out If Strike Called, But Heard in Time.

All C. P. R. employees who would have walked out Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock had an agreement not been reached by the men and the company were notified in ample time that the difficulty had been adjusted, and as a result nothing unusual was noted. The men who would have been affected, the conductors, trainmen, yardmen, and maintenance-of-way employees, were prepared to quit at 6 o'clock, and would have done so, had instructions not been received informing them to act differently.

Several of the employees, when spoken to regarding the situation, expressed their satisfaction that the strike had been averted, but at the same time stated they would have certainly walked out had the company declined to grant their concessions.

The situation is again normal today, and all C. P. R. men pleased with the result.

The lowest price paid was $12. Straw was firm at $8.50 to $9.25. Oats were scarce with a good demand at $1.90 to $2 a cwt for old, and $1.55 to $1.80 a cwt. for new. Wheat brought $1.55 a bushel for new and $1.45 a bushel for old. Little barley has been offered during the past two months. The price paid for the last lot was $1.35 a cwt, but dealers state that as much as $1.75 a cwt. will be paid for the next lot.

There was still a good demand for apples, and the price was firm at 50c to $1.00 a bushel. Pears were offered at $1 to $1.25 a bushel. Peaches brought a higher price, selling at 35c to 65c a basket. Grapes, too, were higher at 25c to 30c a basket.

Dairy produce was steady, creamery butter retailing for 43c a pound, and dairy butter in rolls for 40c to 42c a pound. Eggs sold for 42c a dozen. The retail price for chickens was 90c to $1.40 a pair, and for ducks 75c to $1 each.

Live hogs were firm at $10.60 a cwt., but dressed hogs jumped to $15 a cwt. Beef sold for $9 to $11.50 a cwt.

Hides and wool were firm, but fluctuations in price are looked for at the end of the month.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—Wheat closed ½c to ⅞c lower, with a break of 4¾c from the high of October, 5⅜c from the top figures for November, and 4⅝c from the best price on December. October oats were ⅛c higher, December ¼c lower, and May ⅛c lower. Barley closed 1¼c to 2¼c higher, and flax 4⅜c to 6c higher.

It was an exciting day in wheat. After displaying great strength at the opening to take prices up 5c over the previous close, a heavy profit-taking campaign caused prices to slump. Strong cables from the United Kingdom, following upon the big export business and additional bad weather news from Argentina, were the chief bullish arguments.

Low grades of cash wheat were in good demand for the local millers. Top grades could not be sold. Oats were fair. Except No. 1 Canadian western, barley sold at the highest prices on record.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Rains in Argentina gave an advantage today to the bears in wheat. Although the consequent break in prices was the signal for renewed buying, which caused a sharp upturn in the market, the strength failed to last. It did not appear that a general ending of the drought had taken place in Argentina, but the fact that some moisture had been supplied seemed to diminish greatly the speculative buying in the pit.

Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1⅜c lower, with December and May both at $1 79@1 80, were followed by a little further sag, then a temporary bulge with a subsequent fresh setback.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 26—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Recessions of 1 to 3 points in some of the low-priced rails and specialties which figured so extensively in the operations of the previous session, imparted some heaviness to today's early trading. Rock Island and Denver and Rio Grande preferred were under the pressure resulting from profit-taking and short selling, with substantial declines in Canadian Pacific and Norfolk and Western. Crucible Steel and the leather group were reactionary, with more moderate losses in metals and equipments. Advances were limited to sugars and papers, the usual market leaders showing slight changes either way.

Noon.—A large proportion of the morning's dealings was again restricted to obscure rails. Missouri Pacific issues, new and old, Missouri, Kansas and Texas common and preferred, Chicago Great Western preferred, Lake Erie and Western preferred, Seaboard Air Line preferred, and more dormant stocks of the same group succeed, such as Rock Island and Denver and Rio Grande, in speculative favor at appreciable gains. High-grade rails were sensibly lower, and other leaders, including United States Steel and war and semi-war stocks, were increasingly heavy. At midday rallies set in under the lead of the copper stocks. Bonds were irregular, with further heavy offerings of the international list.

1:30 p.m.—The rise in coppers, Utah gaining 3 points, stimulated interest elsewhere, various steel shares, Marines and other favorites gaining material fractions. Texas Pacific and Wheeling and Lake Erie later joined the active and strong rails.

STEADY FLOW OF GOLD FROM ENGLAND TO U. S.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 25.—Bankers here expect that the British treasury will continue to export gold to this country as fast as the Government mints can handle it. Since Monday of last week gold valued at $26,000,000 has entered the local assay office. Since May 10 the total value of British gold sent to the United States has reached $350,000,000.

It was said today that several Canadian cities will ship gold to New York, in addition to exports direct from London. The assay office, it is understood, stand ready to receive $15,000,000 a week for an indefinite period.

The British Government, according to bankers, wishes to pay cash for goods bought here. While the proceeds of the various loans have gone further to meet this requirement than the actual gold, still the British officials want to supplement the loans constantly with more and more gold.

S. S. SIDMOUTH SUNK.

[Canadian Press.]

The Cincinnati Northern Railroad Company also held its annual stockholders' meeting here, the directors being elected for a period of three years: William A. Newman, Harry A. Worcher, George Eldon, Alfred Smith and Leonard J. Hackney.

WEAVERS' STRIKE SETTLED.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 26.—A Journal of Commerce dispatch from London says an agreement finally has been reached on the weavers' wages. The employers have granted an advance of 5 per cent beginning on the first pay day in January. The previous 5 per cent war bonus had been made to apply as ordinary wages without terminable period. The new advance is not applicable to the Oldham velvet or hard waste trades.

ANOTHER GONE.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Reuter's Vodso correspondent says the Norwegian steamer Dag has been torpedoed by a German submarine. The crew were saved.

What Is A Guarantee?

The London Life Insurance Company Talketh Like A Dictionary

The word "guarantee" has been misused until it has lost its meaning. Dishonest people have been "guarantee"ing all sorts of things from pills to political platforms until most men think that a "guarantee" is only a bluff.

In spite of this a guarantee is a legal undertaking and when given by a responsible firm or person is a contract collectable by law. Here is the true definition of a guarantee:

"To guarantee any subject of a business transaction is to make one's self legally answerable for its being exactly as represented."

It is in the full legal sense of the word that we guarantee the various features of our policies.

We guarantee the Cash Values endorsed on policies.

We guarantee the Paid-up Policy Values endorsed on policies.

We guarantee, after three years' premiums are paid, to advance the premiums necessary to continue the policy in force for the Extended Insurance term.

Put on one of our policies and you can guarantee to those dependent on you whatever protection the policy calls for.

PLEASURE ONLY THOUGHT OF TOO MANY LONDONERS

Canon Tucker Urges Attention to More Serious Things.

Canon Tucker of St. Paul's Cathedral, speaking at the special anniversary services held in the Christian Church last night, made a strong plea for both national and individual repentance. Discussing the war he declared that it is being characterized by the greatest slaughter in history, it being estimated that there will be twenty million casualties, most of them the finest young men of the nations. Germany's course has been marked by the most barbarous atrocities.

Canon Tucker deplored the material tendencies of the age. Money and pleasure occupy the greatest place in the thoughts of men and women. "Make a million is the one ambition of many men," he said. "It is their god. London people are almost wholly occupied with pleasure. Our streets are dark with people leaving pleasure halls. One of the most humiliating things I know of in connection with London life is that at the end of the year, in hours when men's thoughts should be serious, 2,000 people were at a dance, and the boast was made that they danced the old year out and the new year in. In this mad race for money and pleasure morality and spiritual things must go."

Canon Tucker pointed out that in days of old whenever the Israelites fell into ungodly ways, they were visited by wars and troubles, and expressed the view that the nations today are suffering chastisement and will until the people repent and return to God.

RARE BUTTERFLIES ARE ON EXHIBITION

Fine Collection is Being Shown at the Public Library.

The third exhibit of rare tropical butterflies placed on view in the public library by Mr. R. V. Smith, the parks superintendent, is of a most interesting nature, consisting of specimens of the cabbage butterfly from a score of countries, illustrating the variations that take place in this species so familiar in Canada. The tropical specimens are gorgeous in color, but show a most interesting variation in size.

The largest varieties come from China, Ceylon and Assam, and the most gorgeous are those from the Andaman Islands. Assam and the Khaysia Hills of India. The Sierra Leone variety is black and white on the upper wing, and black and yellow below. The variety that comes from the Celebes is deep rose, with sharp angular wings. The Ceylon specimens are orange, red and black.

The larger portion of Mr. Smith's collections are in England, but he has been bringing out selections during the last few months that have been much admired by local collectors who have seen them. The exhibits that have been placed from time to time in the public library have been a part of these, and have been viewed by a large number of people. Other selections from Mr. Smith's collection will be placed on exhibition from time to time.
