$11,911.91 Now Represents Sum Total of Funds Not Well Accounted For in Connection With the Nineteenth Regiment

Evidence Also Demonstrates That Another Hand Signed Major Trail's Name to the Pay Roll For $155; Col. Burleigh is Closely Questioned on the Stand.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the military enquiry the commanding officer of the 19th Regiment, W. Burleigh, was called. He was questioned closely by the court on points in the evidence.

With reference to the Bradley account for rationing the men, President Cruikshank asked:

"Who do you account for forwarding an account for 75 cents per man on the agreement was only for 40 cents?"

"Well, I may have been under the impression that the amount was 75 cents all through the piece," was the answer.

Burleigh said Bradley's were to be as well as food, cups, plates, etc. to the men.

"What became of the dishes?" he asked. "I guess they were taken back, as I didn't keep them, I think the ration supplied were all cooked."

"What if the food was well cooked and satisfactory, Colonel Burleigh thought it was."

Colonel Burleigh explained that he was so busy on other matters that he could not attend to details, in answer to General Cruikshank's criticism that he should have had a copy of everything going on under command.

You had your instructions as to what to do from the A.D.S. and T. at Toronto," said the president.

Colonel Burleigh told of forwarding an account for $1200 for feeding men the first five and a half days asking Colonel Forbes why it had not been paid.

"That's just what I want to get remarked the president. "Was account $1233?"

"I scarcely know, because I thought was hardly that. It was not an authorized account but a straight sum amount $1200 to my best recollection."

Did you report to Major Bell there was a contract to feed the men at 75 cents a day?"

"No, because I didn't know such a contract had been made."

"Wasn't your duty to?"

"Yes, I presume it was."

The president read a letter written by Colonel Burleigh to headquarters, which he said Greenwood had told the contract was forty cents a day.

Burleigh said he no doubt had written the letter.

"Why was this bill for $1200 made which made the daily allowance 75 cents instead of 40?" queried the president.

"Why didn't he know?"

"Why should a false bill be sent in this way?"

"I have not the faintest idea," said the witness.

Questioned further, Burleigh said he had been that the daily allowance per man was not to exceed 40 cents a day.

Questioned as to a Bradley account of $11,911.91, the witness exclaimed: "That's all right, it was to pay only the subsistence of the men for the first five and a half days."

Asked as to where the rations were stored, Burleigh said the rations were dumped down at headquarters at Queenston street.

"Were you not aware of the fact that these rations were to be delivered to within a radius of six miles and that a member of the firm has told us this?"

Burleigh said he called Capt. Wilson of the Army Service Corps and was told to make the best of it. So he hired a horse and rig and had the rations delivered.

"You heard Colonel Cohoe state that transportation was provided for all points along the canal—transportation provided and paid for?" asked the president.

"Yes, I heard him."

Colonel Burleigh went on to explain that there was a complaint by the men of rations not being properly cooked. The officers of the different sections held a conference and it was decided to hold back the ten cents a day per man so buy utensils, stoves, etc. The men were asked to see their men about it, and they did so, and the men agreed to the deduction of ten cents a day. Greenwood bought the extras and utensils, etc., and delivered them to the men.

"How were these things paid for?" asked the general.

"Out of the general fund."

"But you had no general fund at first?"

"Oh, the bills would be paid at the end of the month."

Burleigh was shown a cheque made out in his favor for $821.

He explained that Greenwood had brought this cheque to him and asked him to get it cashed as he needed the money.

Burleigh said he got his bookkeeper to cash the cheque, it being after banking hours.

The transportation of rations came up and Greenwood offered to get a horse and rig at $2 a day. Burleigh told him to go ahead and do it.

"Greenwood bought the horse and rig?"

"I believe so. This was about August 15th."

"Was his bill presented regularly?"

"Yes, he paid himself with the money in his hands."

"Then you made a contract for this purpose with one of your officers?"

"Yes."

Burleigh admitted an account of $810 for the services of the horse and rig. He said the horse died a few days after the contract closed. The horse was used for all kinds of duties.

"Were the men told that if they refused to allow the ten cents a day they would have to pay for the delivery of their own rations?"

"Not by me, sir."

"Would Greenwood make such a statement?"

"I hardly think he would lie."

"But he told you what was untrue, you say, about the rations, a difference of 75 cents a day and 40 cents a day," the president reminded the witness. "If what he said was untrue in one thing, don't you think he could do so in connection with other things?"

Burleigh admitted the logic of this argument.

PREMIER MAY BE OPPOSED BUT DOHERTY SURE OF SEAT

Milton, Jan. 22.—Judging from talk by Liberals and Conservatives, there is sure to be opposition to Premier Drury in Halton. The candidate to oppose the Premier is likely to be Charles Readhead of Nelson, ex-Warden of the county, and a Liberal.

Chatham, Jan. 21.—Much general satisfaction is felt throughout the riding over the announcement that Hon. Manning Doherty has been assigned to East Kent. Practically all U. F. O. clubs in the riding have been canvassed during the past few weeks, and, with two exceptions, all endorsed his candidature.

J. B. Clark's action in making way for the Minister is highly commended in U. F. O. ranks and by prominent Liberals. "West end of the riding is practically unanimous in favor of Doherty being opposed," was the statement of a man who knows to The Globe. It is not considered probable that the Conservatives will nominate a candidate.

'Polite' Woman Bandit Makes Off With $7,000

And It Wasn't Wife Who Rifled Pittsburg's Man's Pocket.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—Covered by a brave woman bandit's nerve and gun, Adam Eidenmuller, secretary of a building and loan association, was held up and robbed of seven thousand dollars in cash and checks and a gold watch, late last night, almost within sight of his home.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the woman, as she bumped into Eidenmuller. The latter hastened to reply; but as he glanced down he saw a small pistol menacing him. Keeping the pistol in position she drew from Eidenmuller's hip pocket his wallet containing the money and checks he had taken in at a meeting of the loan association. Then, with a smile, she started a conversation concerning the funny weather Pittsburg had been having, keeping the tiny, shining revolver pressed to his side. Eidenmuller was forced to join in the conversation, he said, and after several pedestrians had passed, the woman reached into his vest pocket and removed his gold watch.

"You just keep going," she warned Eidenmuller after she had slipped the watch and wallet into a large muff.

The victim reported the robbery to the police immediately.

Ford Resigned Solely to Give Drury a Seat

Ex-Member For Halton County Does Not Expect Registrarship.

MILTON, Jan. 22.—Why Premier Drury and not Mr. Ranney or Manning Doherty will seek election in Halton county was made evident today in a statement from John F. Ford, the U.F.O. member who resigned to open this riding.

Mr. Ford stated that his resignation was signed upon condition, namely, that Premier Drury should be the member of the government who would look for reelection here. "Except for that stipulation there were no conditions to my resignation," stated Mr. Ford. "It was clearly understood before I resigned that the Premier would run in Halton."

Chas. Redhead Of Nelson May Oppose Drury

Liberals and Conservative Political Officials Say There Will Be a Contest.

MILTON, Jan. 22.—The announcement that John F. Ford, U.F.O. member for Halton, has resigned and that Premier Drury will be the Government candidate in this constituency next month, has created the keenest interest in political circles here.

It is stated that Conservatives and Liberals may oppose the Premier. Both parties are agreeing upon Chas. Readhead, a farmer of Nelson township, a life-long Liberal, and in 1917 a supporter of Union Government as the anti-U.F.O. standard-bearer. It is expected that he will receive the Liberal nomination and will be supported by both parties. There has even been some talk of calling him the Unionist candidate.

A meeting of the executive of the Halton Liberal Association has been called for Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. It is expected that, owing to the short interval before the elections, a candidate will be chosen without a convention. The Conservatives are expecting to meet early next week. It is understood that a joint committee will be evolved from these two caucuses.

The Government lost no time in making the announcement that the Premier would contest this riding in a bye-election. The decision to permit Mr. Ford to resign in favor of the premier was only made at a meeting of the county executive of the U.F.O. Tuesday afternoon.

"There isn't a registrarship or anything else like that in view for you?" Mr. Ford was asked.

"Absolutely not," he replied. "I was never overly anxious for the U.F.O. nomination. I took it solely for the benefit of the movement, and gave up my seat for exactly the same reason."

"Will you be the U.F.O. candidate for the Dominion House?"

"I haven't decided yet," Mr. Ford answered. "I am not sure that I would be given the nomination if I wanted it."

Mr. Ford is a well-to-do Trafalgar farmer, and it is generally believed (Continued on Page 3.)

Britain Warned To Be Prepared For War Again

SIR LOUIS JACKSON, URGES A CLOSE STUDY OF ALL LESSONS OF RECENT CONFLICT.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—In a paper on "The Possibilities of the Next War," read at the Royal United Service Institution recently, Major General Sir Louis Jackson suggested that there would be a return to open warfare. "The London Times." Mechanical transport would influence most deeply the tactics of the future. Gases which killed painlessly might be used. Air fighting would be enormously developed. The long rifle would be succeeded by a short carbine, and artillery would be much more mobile.

Lord Peel Under Secretary for War, presiding and among those present were Field Marshal Lord Methuen, Lieutenant General Sir Herbert Miles, Major General Sir Francis Bond, Major General E. D. Swinton, Major General Sir W. H. Hirkbeck, Sir R. H. Brade, Major General E. C. Donald and Colonel F. C. Stone.

General Jackson said his object was really to arouse controversy on certain points. It was quite clear that we were on the eve of the most extensive modifications in the art of war known to history, and the changes made in the recent war were only the beginning. It was necessary to develop new arms with the knowledge that the nation which best did so would have a great advantage in the next war. There were people who were crying for a reduction of armaments and who declared that another war was an impossibility just as six years ago, they declared war with Germany was an impossibility. In future wars we should be exposed to much greater dangers than in the recent war. And Germany had not refrained from saying that she hoped for revenge some day.

Sees End of Tanks

He believed that one of the greatest developments in the art of war would be brought about in mechanical transport. The tank was a tank which had been called into existence by exceptional circumstances, which were not likely to recur, and which if they did recur could be dealt with by other means. The outstanding feature of the tanks had been that they had made mechanical transport independent of the roads. That was (Continued on Page 3.)

NIAGARA FRONTIER CLOSED TO FREIGHT FROM CANADA

Railway Board Notified That Embargo Affects Canadian Goods Moving Into Eastern States and Shipments to Europe

MONTREAL, Jan. 22.—Serious results for Canadian shippers, both exporters and importers, are foreshadowed by the announcement of an embargo on all freight moving east from Canada to the United States by way of the Niagara frontier. The embargo has been placed by the United States Railway Administration. Bad weather conditions in the United States are given for the reason for the embargo.

Attention of Canadian shippers is being called to this important embargo by the Railway Association of Canada (Railway War Board). It will affect not only Canadian goods moving into the eastern United States, either for shipment to Europe or for United States consumption, but it will close off the eastern movement of the United States freight which usually crosses Canada from Detroit to the Niagara frontier. It is suggested that Canadian importers may also be affected by the possible delay of supplies coming from the United States by way of Niagara. The Railway Association points out that the same congestion which compels the United States to place this embargo is obviously to have a corresponding effect on the import movement into Canada through the Niagara frontier.

ASPIRIN HABIT MAY BECOME REAL MENACE

Drug in Common Use and For All Kinds of Ailments—Physicians View General Use of Depressants With Alarm.

Great stuff, aspirin! Popular as it was as a simple little home remedy before the "flu," the prevalence of that epidemic boosted the much-used pellets to a favor which has now reached the stage which may rightly be termed dangerous. The aspirin gulp, in short, has become fully as much a vogue as is the hip-pocket snack in certain circles; and shake their heads as they may, and point out the menace of its indiscriminate use, the habit grows apace. Everybody's eating it, that is, who does not concur in the familiar adage that the patient who prescribes for himself has a feel for a physician. And that's a large number of people, apparently.

Ask any drug clerk how much of the drug is sold over the counter in his store, and the figure will astonish you. Inquire of the man behind the counter what they use it for, and he'll surprise you by the recital of novel symptoms and ills which the excellent Bayer never dreamed of associating with his product. But do not ask the drug store man why he does not instruct the public as to the drug, because he may tell you—and quite rightly, too—that his job is not to prescribe medicine.

A Regular Panacea!

It doesn't take a medical man or yet a drug salesman to realize that this drug, so valuable when properly used, is being employed for ills for which it never was intended, and by people ignorant as to its dangers and its indications. Heaps of folks simply don't feel right should they wander, by mistake, very far from home without a generous supply of the modern panacea. You might meet the aspirin devotees almost anywhere—in the home, at business, or in the giddy pursuit of pleasure. It's the commonest incident in the world to happen on some weedy prince of the house of hangover, the day after a wonderful night, "cooking up" at some down-town drug store, and washing down a couple of the handy tablets with his beverage. The source of the headache is immaterial to the sad reveller—aspirin will fix it up!

Then there is the butterfly girl who drops into the tea dancet after a hard battle at the bargain counters, and feels so wonderfully perturbed after conveying an odd tablet or so of the magic drug from her vanity case to her fox-bud mouth that she joins the fox-trotters, and shakes a lively foot for the next hour and a half. Such energy is entirely commendable, of course; and though the dancing lady, with the handicapped heart will doubtless make an interesting corpse some of these fine days, it's a bit tough on the proprietor having to have coroners and things messing about his place on account of a patron's artless handling of a powerful drug.

In restaurants it's not an uncommon sight to view a portly diner, gorged to the gills, ingesting five or ten grains of the universal medicine. Of course he is entirely unaware that his standby, instead of giving him succor from the pangs that follow hunger too well satisfied, will seriously interfere with the digestive processes, and finally transform his stomach into a receptacle which he couldn't trade for the dattered organ of a confirmed dyspeptic.

It's Just Great for Swoons.

There are even a few incidents related of the employment of aspirin by enthusiastic but uninformed prescribers in fainting cases. The remedy, being used by would-be friends on the swooner, naturally didn't help any to bolster up an effluviated heart; but several people received a needed lesson in the handling of depressant drugs which the swill long remember.

Physicians Comment on the Habit

"Have I noticed the prevalence of the aspirin habit?" echoed a local physician the other day, in reply to queries as to its use in this city. "I should rather say I have. It's become a regular fad. It was used recklessly enough before the influenza epidemic, but its vogue has enormously increased since. Unless something is done, as in the United States, where such drugs as aspirin, acetanilid, phenacetin and other depressants are not to be obtained unless on prescription of a physician, the thing will become a menace. People who are quite ignorant as to the dangers appear to be using it for anything from a tired feeling to the pain in a bunion."

Enemy of Heart and Digestion

The cheery information that the habit, if followed up, would ultimately ruin digestion and paralyze the heart, was also elicited from the medico.

That aspirin is a drug of value when rightly employed was admitted. For relieving the pains of rheumatism it is in much favor, for its potency as a pain-reliever, by depressing perception, is considerable. In colds, its sweat-producing characteristics make it useful.

The reason for giving very large doses in certain very painful conditions was also made clear, the physician explaining that drugs of the analgesic character of aspirin expend themselves in neutralizing the chemicals produced in the blood by pain, instead of acting as the active poisons they would otherwise be.

"The public should not be allowed to purchase it indiscriminately, and steps should certainly be taken to safeguard those who will not be warned. Otherwise—well, the way the habit is growing would almost remind one of the celebrated remark of Carlyle about the large proportion of fools in England, and we could localize that remark without doing a large number of citizens any injustice."

AVOIDING RESPONSIBILITY

Those persons who are familiar with procedure will doubt the right of the Drury Government to bring in, as it has announced its intention of doing, the bills of the Government by private members in order to avoid being defeated on division. In other words, it is the intention, it would seem, of the new administration to try out theories regardless of what are constitutional usages and customs. This may suggest itself to novices as being shrewd and workable, but time will show that the laws of procedure which the decades have established cannot be whimsically set aside in legislatures and parliaments.

If the Government does not take the responsibility of introducing bills as Government measures, for fear of being defeated on a vote, it is not a Government that can hope to last long. Any administration which does not have strength enough to stand as a Government in legislative enactments, has not strength enough to stand the acid test of public opinion.

There is no reason yet to believe that Hon. Mr. Drury and his colleagues have not enough good ideas and sound principles to commend them to the public for a fair chance. The Journal believes that they should be given such an opportunity, but at the same time, it holds that being a Government it should stand on its feet four-square and face the winds just as other Governments have had to do.

The United Farmers and the Labor Party must not forget that before being elected to office they were constant critics and fault finders. They must expect now that they are in office that the electors of Ontario will demand that they carry out their pre-election theories or forfeit public esteem.

WHAT EVIDENCE SHOWS

What has transpired in St. Catharines would seem to bear out the opinions of medical men that vaccination prevents the spread of smallpox. According to the evidence the first number of cases of the pox that broke out in this city were among youths. Now the cases are among adults mostly. Nearly all children have been vaccinated and the disease is not displaying itself amongst them. The medical men say that if the adults of the city had all been vaccinated when the first cases of the pox broke out here the epidemic would have disappeared by now. Not only does their experience as practitioners seem to sound but the actual events in this city bear out their contentions, even though one may be reluctant to grant that vaccination is necessary.

FROM OTHER PENS

AN INTERRUPTED JOURNEY

Toronto Star.—The recall of Admiral Jellicoe to England when he was about to sail for South Africa—with Sir Robert Borden along to secure the benefits of the sea voyage—has caused a good deal of conjecture as to the reasons for it.

In some circles it is assumed that a rekindling of the fires of war is threatened, and that the naval and military authorities are in important conference in Paris. In other quarters it is surmised that the susceptibilities of South Africa were ruffled by the idea that the Prime Minister of Canada had been picked up by Admiral Jellicoe and would accompany him on his mission to that country.

There may be nothing in this latter surmise. It is pretty well understood at Ottawa that Sir Robert Borden's health is his supreme concern just now, and that the invitation to travel on the flagship attracted him because of the completeness with which it would isolate him from the cares of office. There was nothing in the nature of a mission in his journey.

But it may be well that in South Africa the news of his coming with Admiral Jellicoe would take on an aspect of intention and political purpose. Jellicoe, as a naval expert, was making a round of visits to the overseas Dominions on the invitation of the representatives at the Imperial conference to give them such naval advice as they might solicit of him. The news that after visiting Australia and Canada he was coming to South Africa accompanied by the Prime Minister of Canada might change the complexion of the affair—might make it appear not that a naval official was coming to give advice as it might be required by the South African Government, but that naval propagandists were coming to apply persuasion and pressure.

The overseas nation inclined what General Smuts calls the British Commonwealth, not Empire, have a certain amount of reason to be on guard against pressure. The statesmen of Great Britain are aware of the sturdy determination of the different Dominions to deal with their own affairs, but London is alive with organizations and groups of persons who are forever busy saving the Empire from what they regard as the incompetence of all its Governments at home and abroad.

be condemned by the medical authorities. The new Board of Health has a strong case to lay before the Council for enough money to make the hospital habitable, not only for more patients, should an epidemic require, but for the help that has to look after the sick. The conditions as they are today is no credit to St. Catharines.

$11,911.91 is Now Unaccounted For

"I think," said Burleigh, "I asked him about that and he said he did not remember seeing any."

Burleigh stated that two horses were used on the water wagon.

"Why, then was only one set of harness drawn from ordnance?"

"I don't know."

Burleigh said Greenwood bought his own harness.

With reference to the rent paid for stoves, Burleigh said he knew of no stove rent for the 19th paid by the department.

Burleigh said Greenwood brought a great batch of bills to him and asked him if he should keep them. "I said I didn't suppose he needed to. They totalled $821." He knew because they had been checked up by the orderly room sergeant.

Questioned about the car, Burleigh said the purchase of it might have originated from one of the other officers. He said he had subsequently sold the car to Greenwood.

"Whose property was it?"

"I don't know. It wasn't mine. I put the money in my safe in 1916, an' it's there it is today."

"Why didn't you report this before?"

"I didn't know who the money belonged to."

President Cruikshank reminded Burleigh that Greenwood in his evidence had said he knew nothing about the car, except what he had heard that morning in evidence.

"Well, he used it enough himself," said Burleigh, "and surely must have known it came from somewhere."

Burleigh made the comment that Greenwood fell down wonderfully in giving his evidence.

"Perhaps others did, too," commented the president.

Questioned closely as to why he needed a car, Colonel Burleigh said it was necessary to get around quickly.

"Couldn't you have used the trolley car?"

"Not very well—I could have walked to better advantage."

"But you had a horse?"

"No, sir."

"How about this horse allowance, then?"

"I used that in transportation, sir." A letter written by Col Burleigh to Colonel Ptolemy was read by the president. The letter was dated November, 1914. In it he said he had brought a horse down on August 9, 1914, and it had been on duty ever since. This was in reply to a report that he was drawing horse allowance and had no horse.

Burleigh said he undoubtedly meant Greenwood's horse.

Captain D. V. Currey, M. D., was attached to the 19th till 1916, and used his own car in all cases. He drew horse allowance because he was using his own car. He had taken it up with some officers and was told he could not draw auto allowance. The expense of running the car was more than he was being paid.

"Was there any arrangement made that you could draw horse allowance in lieu of auto allowance?" asked the president.

"I don't know of any—I simply went on drawing the horse allowance. My auto was simply put in instead of a horse," said Dr. Currey.

"Was this sanctioned?"

"I can't say."

Colonel Burleigh Recalled
 Last night after Dr. Currey had concluded his evidence, Colonel Burleigh was recalled and further questioned.

He said he had received no other cheques from Captain McKinley for accounts. He recalled McKinley telling him several times that Lt. Greenwood was spending more money than he should.

Asked how he knew this when no accounts were kept, Burleigh said McKinley evidently knew.

President Cruikshank asked how he got funds to pay the bills for the $821; an account at Bradley's for $633, and $620 for the motor car.

He said he didn't know there was an account at Bradley's.

"Even when you say Bradley's were pressing for payment?"

"No."

"Is it a fact Greenwood started to get extras about the last of September?"

"The extras were started August 11th."

"How do you know?"

"I am sure of it."

He was asked how he could tell at any time that there would be funds available for the extras, and he could not say; neither did he know if there were funds to meet all expenditures.

"This cheque of $821 given you—what became of it?" asked the president.

"I gave it to Greenwood. My own bookkeeper cashed it."

"Why didn't you endorse it to Greenwood?"

"I was coming up town and he asked me to get it cashed."

"What expenditures had been contracted up to that time for such an amount?"

He was unable to say, but there was a stack of bills.

"Were there any other accounts besides Bradley's?" asked the general.

Burleigh replied that he didn't think so, but he didn't know that Bradley's had an account.

"Was not Bradley's account made out at your instance?" demanded the president. "Did you not want to draw 75 cents and put the balance between that and 40 cents to the fund to pay for these extras?"

"Absolutely no," replied Burleigh.

He said Captain McKinley asked him if he would like some money for the regimental fund and handed him $900, saying it was left over from overseas quotas. Then a few days later he gave Burleigh $200 more.

"I deposited it in the regimental fund, under 'Sale of Badges and Rent of chairs,'" said the witness.

"Was that true? It was a false statement, meant to deceive?"

"Yes."

"Who?"

"The junior officers," said Burleigh.

He said he believed the money was left over after paying the contractors' bills.

"The same game as played in the first five and a half days?" commented the president.

"Yes, but I didn't know anything about that."

Burleigh explained that McKinley had given him $928.03 in all, part of which was represented in a receipted bill of Frank Taylor, Niagara Falls, for $328.60. He had also paid another bill of $200 which probably came from the same source.

"Yesterday," remarked the General "a recapitulation was made, showing a profit of $166.16 on Capt. Gander's draft alone. That deposit and these bills could be easily covered in the profit of that draft alone."

In the regimental account book on April 12th, 1915, there appeared another entry, which would nearly make up the balance of that account, but Burleigh said he couldn't remember where the funds came from, or whether Captain McKinley had given him any more money.

He said these things were done to save the Militia Department, in explaining why he had made an effort to get repayment of money spent for coal, oil, candles, picks, shovels, brooms, etc.

Witness was asked why Colgate's were paid with Government cheques. He produced one cheque for $60.

Burleigh suggested it might have been a 4th Regiment account.

"The bill was presented by you?" said the president.

Asked about a number of cheques of the Welland Canal Protective Force, Burleigh said they represented the rent of stoves and he thought the Department paid the accounts.

Mr. Hodgins could find no record of such cheques being drawn on the bank account of the 19th paymaster.

The General read a letter from Engineers Headquarters discontinuing the renting of stoves by the Welland Canal Protective Force, and a second from the D.A.G., asking for a checking of accounts for renting stoves.

The New Electorate The Women of Canada

CHANGING conditions have given the Dominion a new electorate—the women of Canada.

Canadian womanhood, to take full advantage of its prerogatives, to take its proper place in the management of Canadian affairs, must keep informed on the questions of the hour—must have the knowledge of events that will be the foundation of definite opinions on public questions.

Women Must Read the Daily Newspaper

The extension of the franchise to women was the fulfillment of a policy consistently advocated by The Globe in season and out of season.

But this is only the beginning. Womanhood must serve as well as vote. They must advocate reforms that are badly needed.

There must be legislation for the aged, as well as for the young, pensions for mothers, educational improvements, unemployment and sickness insurance.

These are some of the questions on which the womanhood of Canada will now have to take sides. Therefore, in this respect, The Globe has a special appeal for progressive, right thinking Canadian women.

The Globe is not a political organ. It never has submitted to outside dictation. It supports progressive liberalism, because it believes that true liberalism draws its inspiration from the needs of the people.

Its daily Women's Department and Thursday's Women's Section have a special interest for womanhood in the home. It was the first Toronto paper to establish a Women's department, edited for all Canadian homemakers.

The Globe is first and last a Great Family Newspaper. It serves the women in the home, in public life, in business, in the professions and in industry.

What The Globe has been in the past is its guarantee of what it will be in the future. The aim of its publishers and its Editor is to take advantage of the tremendous facilities at its disposal—to make it even more worthy of a place in every Canadian home.

GIRL, DEAF MUTE, HEADED BAND OF PARIS THIEVES

PARIS, Jan. 21.—A slender young girl, named Loisy headed a band of deaf mutes which perpetrated a number of the most clever burglaries that ever came to the attention of the Paris police until the entire gang was rounded up and sent to prison this week.

For several weeks the police received reports of daring apartment house robberies. On many occasions bedrooms were robbed while the occupants were at dinner in adjoining rooms, but not a sound was heard.

The police took finger-prints and by reason of other clues arrested four men named Barny, Pierret, Maurer and Ritter, all deaf mutes. They confessed that their leader was the Loisy girl, also a deaf mute. The girl told the police that the band worked so successfully because they carried on none of the whispered conversations that so often reveal the presence of burglars, but principally because they reveal no secrets to outsiders.

BRITAIN WARNED TO BE PREPARED FOR WAR AGAIN

(Continued from page 1) going to influence most deeply the tactics of the future. If the whole of the transport of an army was carried by vehicles with caterpillar wheels it would be independent of the roads.

There would be no long column of transport, but it would advance in open order on a broad front carrying guns, munitions, supplies and men. At the same time fast cars and motor-cycles would be useful for sudden blows at long distances.

For Better Liaison Dealing with the liaison service he pointed out that there was much room for simplification, and the open warfare of 1918 had led to the elimination of some forms of communication which had been used previously. Wireless telegraphy would be the principal means of communicating with aircraft and a development of the electrical listening posts used in trench warfare, a ground wireless system would become the standard means of communication between advanced infantry and the headquarters controlling them.

There had never been a war in which such an extreme variety of weapon had been employed. The long rifle had seen its day and should be replaced by a short carbine which would be accurate up to 500 yards. Each man should also carry a good dagger which might be attached to the carbine like a bayonet.

With regard to the use of gas in future wars, he said that there was no more reason to forbid its use than to forbid the use of rifles. There were gases which killed painlessly and it was easy to conceive cases in which it would be more humane to use gas than explosive shells.

FORD RESIGNED TO GIVE PREMIER DRURY A SEAT

(Continued from page one) that he had very few political aspirations. This fact, coupled with the illness of his wife, is believed to have resulted in the offering of his seat to the Premier.

It will not be decided definitely until Saturday whether or not the Liberals will bring out a candidate to oppose Premier Drury. The Conservatives by agreement are waiting for the Dewarites to take the initiative. There is only one thing certain about the political situation in Halton, that is, that there will be no three-cornered fight such as resulted in the election of J. F. Ford with a majority of over eight hundred. Both parties are agreed that the Premier shall have the seat by acclamation or else face the combined forces of the Liberals and Conservatives. Just at present the odds are heavily in favor of the latter.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediments, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally, to keep the kidneys clean and active.

Hospital for Sick Children TORONTO

Upkeep of Big Charity Requires Fifty Cents a Minute.

The 44th annual report of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, shows a notable advance in every department of its service to the suffering and crippled youngsters of this province. The ward accommodation has been taxed to its capacity, and the summer annex, the Lakeside Home, was opened for the first time since the outbreak of war.

The daily average of out patients has increased during the year from 122 to 223, including children from practically every county in Ontario. Even had the cost of supplies and labor remained stationary, the substantial increase in the number of patients would alone account for the addition to the charity's debt, which at the close of the fiscal year was $109,000. This debt has become an embarrassing burden. Further increase must threaten impairment of an enviable efficiency.

The Hospital is in the forefront of all institutions upon this continent devoted to the care of sick children. Its cost, $335,369 to maintain last year. This great sum not only puts at the service of the children of Ontario all the resources of medical science, but, in addition, provides for a training school for 120 nurses and for unsurpassed clinical facilities for the University students who are preparing to engage in their profession throughout the province.

The income which must be forthcoming to finance this absolutely essential work figures out at seven hundred dollars a day; and as there is no endowment fund, all but a fraction of that amount has to be derived from individual benevolence. Therefore the Trustees are making a Christmas appeal to every lover of children to foot the bills for some period of time, no matter how short it may be. A minute of mercy costs fifty cents.

For churches, societies, lodges, etc., who have more ample funds wherewith to assist the youngsters to a fair start in life, the naming of cots is suggested. A number of memorial cots have been thus dedicated in honor of the overseas service of fellow-members. This privilege is extended in recognition of gifts of $2,000 to the Main Hospital or $500 to the Lakeside Home, which can be paid in annual instalments if so desired.

Literature, illustrative of all branches of the past year's work, together with any other information desired, will be gladly furnished on application to the Secretary of the Hospital for Sick Children, College street, Toronto. Contributions should also be addressed to the secretary.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for babies. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food, giving healthy and natural sleep. EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF CANADA. THE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF CANADA. THE PROFESSIONAL and BUSINESS SECTION has been established to assist professional, business and technical men and women. Many officers, soldiers, sailors and war workers, who sacrificed their positions during the war, now desire to secure employment in the occupations for which they have been specially trained. Employers should not wait until increasing business forces them to employ anybody they can obtain, but should look ahead and avail themselves of this unusual opportunity to enlist the services of highly trained workers, ordinarily secured only with difficulty. On application there can be referred to you, for example: ENGINEERS, ARCHITECTS, BUSINESS EXECUTIVES, ACCOUNTANTS, SECRETARIES, TEACHERS, LAW CLERKS, COMMERCIAL ARTISTS, SALES MANAGERS, TRAVELLING SALESMEN, CHEMISTS, YOUNG COLLEGE GRADUATES. These workers are returning to civil occupations with increased initiative, a broader view of life, and a greater capacity for work.

RUB YOUR BACK! STOPS LUMBAGO

Don't drug kidneys! Rub the pain right out with old "St. Jacobs Liniment"

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now, listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin. Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years. Stop drug-ging kidneys! They don't cause backache, because they have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain.

have been paid by the Department. Colonel Young took the witness and asked him about the Bradley contract and Burleigh said he had not gone to Bradley's or spoken to Major Bradley about it. Greenwood told him he had made arrangements with Bradley's.

His recollection was that the agreement was made outside of a back shanty in the presence of a number of officers. The Bradley firm were to send in a bill for the provisions ordered by Greenwood not to exceed 75 cents per man.

Burleigh said he thought Major Moors had suggested deducting the 10 cents a day.

"Another dead man," commented the General.

"Surrounded by ghosts," was Colonel Young's observation.

Burleigh said Greenwood ran his own department and made his own purchases, so he could not say if Bradley's bill for $653.43 for extras for August and September was included in the $821.

He thought Major Traill was on duty only one half day—the afternoon of the first day. He did not know if he was on the pay list. He did not examine the payrolls, though he signed them.

Payrolls were produced and Major Traill's name appeared as having drawn $155.

Letters exchanged between Burleigh and Traill were produced and it showed a cheque sent Traill for $100.00.

Colonel Young wanted to know why Traill was paid $100 from the regimental fund when he had drawn $155 from the Government according to the payrolls.

Burleigh said the $100 was sent to Traill for services at a provisional school in the armouries. He didn't think Traill had ever drawn the Government pay.

Burleigh said he thought Major Bradley was mistaken when he said he had had a conversation with him regarding the Bradley contract for the 81st rations.

Colonel Young read a copy of a letter written by Colonel Burleigh in 1915, stating that he had had a contract with Bradley and Sons to supply the 81st draft with rations at 75 cents per man, and also a letter from Colonel J. S. Campbell to Colonel Burleigh, saying that Bradley's were to keep 40 cents and return 35 cents to the regiment.

Burleigh demanded the originals of the letters in order to examine the signatures and was told they had been sent for from Ottawa.

Burleigh said he knew nothing about the letters.

$11,911.91 Unaccounted. When the court resumed last night Colonel Burleigh's examination was continued. Colonel Young continued the questioning with reference to the 81st Battalion's quota. An account on Bradley's billheads for $912.75 was produced on a basis of 75 cents per man. He denied ever seeing it before.

"Would you say everything that Major Bradley says is untrue?" he was asked.

"I say I have no recollection at all of this account. I am on my oath and am telling the truth to the best of my knowledge."

He said his mind was a complete blank about it all.

Asked why he had not bought a horse and rig instead of hiring one from Lt. Greenwood, Colonel Burleigh said he didn't think the war was going to last long enough to warrant it.

"Yes, I thought it a wise move because we needed it."

Asked once more about Major Traill's pay, Burleigh said, when he was shown a cheque endorsed by Traill, that the signature on the pay sheets was not in the same writing, in his opinion.

He said he could not clear the atmosphere regarding Traill's pay. Whether he got the $155 or not he could not say.

Asked as to what sums he had deposited to the regimental funds, Burleigh said the three items $200, $400 and $341 covered the whole thing.

Being questioned again regarding the 81st Battalion quota, Burleigh was positive his mind was a blank and Colonel Campbell, Major Begy, Major Bradley and Captain McKinley must have got it mixed up with Maj. Smythe's draft. He thought Colonel Campbell's investigation was into Smythe's draft. Smythe made arrangements with Bradley and Son, and he understood they were to get 40 cents per man.

He knew that the overseas quotas were being fed for 45 cents per man or less and that the paymaster was holding the balance.

Another investigation of the payroll disclosed that the signature on the August, 1914 payroll for Captain W. A. Stevens was not his signature, and that both his and Traill's names were written by the same person as drew up the payroll.

Gen. Cruikshank figured the whole have been at least $1,000 surplus when Captain McKinley gave up the paymastership. Captain Rothwell said these monies were never paid over to him.

"Will you say the money was paid over to anyone else?" "I wouldn't say so."

General Cruikshank up as the whole amount which has disappeared or is unaccounted for at $11,911.91.

Against this substantial sum are offsets consisting of the $250 Greenwood paid for the famous auto, also various sums paid for accounts of which there are no records.

Sergt-Major Arthur Howes, W.O. C.P.A.S.C., was called with reference to a record of bills incurred by the units called out for the Welland Canal Force for items which were not authorized, but which were paid by the Department.

When the enquiry resumed this morning at the armouries, Colonel Burleigh was again put on the stand and questioned by the court. He was asked about a cheque for $500 for recruiting purposes, which Major Traill had deposited. The cheques were from the Ontario Government.

Burleigh said he thought the recruiting expenses had been paid by Capt. McKinley before the cheque was received.

Colonel Young asked if concurrently with bills he paid, were bills sent to the Department for similar items and were repaid by the Government.

He could not remember any and was shown accounts paid by Government. Then he admitted that several bills had been paid by the Department.

Colonel Young wished to know if Burleigh realized that the stoppage of the 10 cents a day was irregular.

Burleigh said he did not know, as he had spoken to General Lessard and he approved, and he said they were doing the same thing in Toronto. He also spoke to Colonel Campbell about it.

"But did you make it plain that the full consent of all the men had not been obtained?" "No, I thought my officers told me the truth about it and had seen the men."

"Did you realize that your pay lists were misleading when you charged for horse allowance and had no horse?" "We always did that and put the

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at our drug store for a bottle of "Wyleth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Under questioning General Cruikshank, finally by allowing for money actually expended got the sum total of the unaccounted-for funds tentatively down to $8,916.81 from the $11,911.91 as it developed in yesterday's evidence.

Questioned about a number of women being on the pay list, Burleigh said the cooks employed as batmen and yeeks—holding a dual position.

Burleigh said he felt sure no money from the men's 10 cents was used for buying supplies for the officers' mess.

"But we know this was actually done at the Falls. There did not seem to be that nice sense of honor that we could naturally expect," remarked the General.

DOCTOR WARD, The Specialist

SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT OF NERVOUS CONDITIONS, NERVE EXHAUSTION, BACKACHE, LUMBAGO, RHEUMATISM, STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES, ACNE, SKIN DISEASES, CATARRH, ASTHMA, RECTAL TROUBLES, PILES, FISTULA AND BLOOD CONDITIONS. The knowledge gained from many years' experience in treating diseases just like yours is of much benefit to you and assures the ailing man of prompt relief. When a man knows that he is again feeling well—the burden of his ailment—he feels that a heavy load has been lifted from his shoulders. I give every patient the benefit of the knowledge acquired through the long experience of a graduated, licensed and registered specialist, in order to bring about the most satisfactory results in the shortest possible time.

NERVE EXHAUSTION A CONDITION AFFECTING MANY MEN—THE GREAT AMERICAN DISEASE—IT IS BROUGHT ON BY OUR MANNER OF LIVING—OUR WORRY AND HURRY—AMERICANS EXHAUST MORE NERVOUS ENERGY THAN ANY OTHER RACE OF PEOPLE.

There are a great many men who need treatment for their nervous system. These men do not know what is the reason they don't feel right—why they can't work like they used to—why they tire so easily and why they are irritable, nervous, despondent, weak, pale and lack ambition. These conditions require the expert knowledge and treatment of a specialist who has had many years' experience in just such ailments. A specialist learns by experience to know just the right treatment at the right time so that the patient can be dismissed at the earliest possible time. Men affected with nervous exhaustion have no endurance—no ambition—everything they attempt is an effort. Life to them appears as a long, gloomy future. Their appetite is poor and variable—they become irritable, cross and discouraged. They have pains and aches in various parts of the body and there is often indigestion and pains in the stomach. Sleepless, wakeful and restless nights follow.

RHEUMATIC AILMENTS SCIATICA AND OTHER FORMS OF RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, PAINS IN BACK, SWELLING, ACHING, PAINFUL CONDITIONS IN ANY PART OF THE BODY—INFLAMED AND SWOLLEN JOINTS OF LEGS AND ARMS—MANY OTHER SYMPTOMS.

Hundreds of men are suffering with some form of Rheumatism. Many of these men go from day to day suffering untold agonies thinking they cannot be cured. They have tried liniments, rubbing, massage, salts and other treatments without experiencing any relief, and they are now going through life thinking they are martyrs to that burden called Rheumatism. If these men could only know how easy it is to get rid of many rheumatic conditions I know they would not suffer another single day. Then all sufferers of rheumatism would be strong and healthy if they could get rid of the condition. Rheumatic patients are nearly all strong and robust before being attacked by this ailment, and therefore it is so hard for the man to understand why he should suffer the agonies of such a condition. When a man gets rid of such a condition he feels that a heavy burden has been lifted from his life, and he starts right out to make up for lost time both in money and pleasure. When a man comes to my office suffering with the above condition he is given a most careful examination, and he is given treatment that he feels is giving him great benefit.

OUR NATIONAL ECONOMIC PROBLEM.

The following interesting extract from an article by Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the C. P. R. appeared recently in the Montreal Gazette:—"So much of the nation's transportation machinery of the country is carrying out its obligations to the Canadian people in other aspects of the transportation problem are less satisfactory. There are many people who look upon Canadian Railways as custodians of public fortunes which cannot be exploited. That bookkeeping should be as simple and unvarnished profits of the railway as it may be to a corner store, is to these people utterly unacceptable. It apparently is more important than to the Canadian public that the good reputation of the railway securities in the world market and investment should be carefully guarded. To those, however, who understand these things clearly, it is not the matter from the standpoint of broad public interest as once appeared. The Canadian public pays a very low rate for an equal time is rapidly approaching, if Canadian railway securities are not to be made less desirable. The shareholders of such companies will either have to go up or down. Operating costs go down, the shareholders of such companies are in a very low net earnings compared to the actual cash invested in the industry—but because in the eyes of the shareholders of such companies they are to be discouraged persons willing to supply the means for constructive enterprises in which no one but themselves had faith, and because the shareholders have been skilled, successful and loyal business men assisted by staffs filled with the spirit of pride and devotion to the work. This, indeed, is the only way in which the Canadian Railways to function successfully during the war without making anything like the demands that foreign roads—less efficient in service, less well managed, yet carrying the same rates and paying the same wages—have made up their backs. I do not believe that this tendency to weaken the general reputation of Canadian Railways securities should continue. The servant, after all, is worthy of his hire and railway capital is not less worthy a servant than other forms of capital whose earnings have been so consistently depressed. "The net earnings during the war years of those companies which showed net earnings, would have been lower had the Canadian Railroads been making expenditure or maintenance which circumstances would have justified. These conditions prevented during the war period. These arrears have now to be made up. During the Canadian Pacific laid 70,000 tons of steel rail. In place of, say, 200,000 tons, worth 44c in 1913, Canadian Pacific laid 433,000 tons at 85c per ton. The sensational advance in the rate of railway was well known. Further advance may be necessary within the year, as indicated by discussions in the United States. The price of coal for locomotives was $3.09 in 1913. Now it is $4.77. The cost of hauling an average train (fresh passenger) one mile has risen to $1,604 in 1913, to $2,494 in 1918, is higher to-day. The operating expenses of one mile of line in 1913 were $4,152; in 1918, $7,046, and they are even greater. On the other hand, railway rates, taking classes of revenue together, have advanced scarcely 25 per cent. To be sure to say no other industry in Dominion can show such moderation."

OUR NATIONAL ECONOMIC PROBLEM.

"So much for the manner in which the transportation machinery of the country is carrying out its obligations to the Canadian producer. Other aspects of the transportation problem are less satisfactory. There are many people who look upon Canadian railways as custodians of magic fortunes which cannot be exhausted. That bookkeeping should be as simple and accurate in its statement of losses and vanished profits to a railway as it may be to a corner grocery, is to these people unthinkable. It apparently does not occur to them that to the Canadian public the railway is more important than the gold reputation of its securities in the world of investment.

To those, however, who understand these things clearly and who view the matter from the point of broad public interest, it is at once apparent that the Canadian public pays a very low rate for the quality of service rendered, and that a time is rapidly approaching when Canadian railway securities will not be made less desirable to investors than almost any other kind of industrial security, railway or otherwise. If the railway operating costs go down, the net earnings will be correspondingly higher. The situation of the railways is as easy one that certain companies have been able to show net earnings very low net earnings compared to the actual cash invested in the industry—but because in the past the shareholders of such companies have been, as they are to-day, conceited persons willing to supply the means for constructive enterprises in which no one but themselves had faith, and because, too, their officers have been skilled, resourceful and loyal business men, assisted by staffs, filled with the spirit of pride and devotion to their work. This, indeed, is the thing which has made it possible for Canada's railroads to function successfully during the war without making anything like the demands that foreign roads—less efficient in serving their community, yet earning the same rates and paying the same wages—have made up their public checkbooks. I do not believe that this strain upon the railways and this tendency to weaken the general reputation of Canadian Railway securities should continue. The servant, after all, is worthy of his hire, and railway capital is not less worthy a servant than other forms of capital whose earnings have not been so consistently depressed.

The net earnings during the war years of those companies which showed net earnings, would have been much lower had the Canadian railroads been making expenditures for maintenance which circumstances would have justified, but which conditions prevented during that period. Those arrears have now to be made up. During 1919 the Canadian Pacific laid 70,000 tons of steel rail. In place of, say, 2,000,000 ties, worth 4c in 1914, the Canadian Pacific laid 4,394,000 ties at 85c per tie. The sensational advance in the rate of railway wages is well known. Further advance may be necessary within the very near future, as indicated by discussions in the United States. The price of coal for locomotives was $3.00 in 1913. Now it is $4.77. The cost of hauling an average train (freight or passenger) one mile has risen from $1,604 in 1913, to $2,494 in 1918. It is higher to-day. The operating expenses of one mile of line in 1915 were $4,152; in 1918, $7,046, and to-day they are even greater. On the other hand, railway rates, taking all classes of revenue together, have advanced scarcely 25 per cent. I venture to say no other industry in the Dominion can show such moderation."

Religion Is Patriotism

It is the Root of Personal Righteousness, the Mainstay of Social Order, the Bulwark of International Peace

The Makers of Canada The earliest settlers in Canada were roused by the Call of the Church to develop a noble and useful citizenship. Young and old were invited to turn their eyes from material things, and to regard the splendor of unseen realities. Knowing that Religion is the only true safeguard of stability in the State, they built Churches, Schools and Colleges, to train men for the Christian Ministry, and to spread abroad in the land the benefits of education. This they did in their poverty, and thus directed the course of history in Canada to this day.

The Testing of Canada Because of such sacrifices, there arose in Canada a public spirit hostile towards all injustice, dishonesty and cruelty. The War tested the moral fibre of the Canadians of a later day. Would they choose material ease and wealth, or would they risk all in defence of freedom and the rights of the weak?

Over 400,000 men voluntarily offered their lives, and endured hardness as good soldiers for the defence of equity and fair dealing in all human relationships, and for the vindication of public right. Nor were the people at home less steadfast. Besides bearing the national cost of the War, they gave voluntarily for the help of the soldiers more than $90,000,000. Canada nobly stood the great trial.

The Menace of To-day That conflict is ended. Now comes another test. Not only in Canada, but all over the world, sectional and class struggles for material rewards and for mastery threaten the present basis of Society. The vision of spiritual values gained in the War is in peril of being forgotten. The supremacy of sacrifice, the nobility of service, the reality and glory of the Unseen and Eternal, the promises of Christ; these were the things by which we lived during the War. Now there is great danger that they may fade from view, giving place to selfishness and the love of ease.

The great non-Christian peoples of the world comprise two-thirds of the human race. They are mastering our modern scientific knowledge, and if they remain Pagan may yet turn it to our destruction. Paganism stands for the supremacy of Might, the very ideal we fought and conquered in more than four years of war.

Victory only through Christ How can we retain the heavenly vision? How can the world be guarded against another attempt to establish the Pagan ideal? Only through the Church of Jesus Christ. There is no other agency or society that has any possibility or hope of bringing about a full realization of the brotherhood of all mankind, and the reign of the Prince of Peace.

What the Church Has Done All the progress of humanity in Civilization for the last 2000 years has been inspired, directly or indirectly, by the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It has ended slavery, protected life, ennobled women, educated the children and safeguarded their lives, sanctified the home, established schools, missions and charities.

The Coming Era Victory places upon the shoulders of the Allied Nations the responsibility for directing new conditions to right ends. Canada must do her share.

The Church must prepare to meet the needs of the new day. Old standards of life with old habits of thinking and of giving will be wholly inadequate. We must do in our day what our fathers did in theirs. The hope of the world is bound up with the strengthening and extension of the Church of Jesus Christ.

The World's Need is Spiritual

I speak as one standing upon the watch-tower, and know what the need of the land is. It is not material, it is spiritual. Get the spiritual, and the material will follow. The wounds of the world are bleeding, and material things will never heal them. And that is why I hail any movement which brings the great spirit of brotherhood. The one need of England and France today is the healing and the brotherhood of the Cross of Christ.

—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George.
Before the Brotherhood Convention, London, September, 1919.

Fight the Good Fight

The Forward Movements

FIVE Christian Communion, Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, and Presbyterian, are convinced that the time has come to rouse all Christians to a clearer understanding of their calling and stewardship in Christ, their King. They believe that the Church should be equipped adequately with men and money to enable it to meet the needs and opportunities of the New Day.

These five separate Communion are of one mind as to their belief in God, the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, and in Jesus Christ, His Son, Our Lord. They now declare to their respective constituencies, and also unitedly, to the Canadian people, that the only effective method of making good citizens is by urging men to a more faithful practice of Christianity, by inculcating personal faith in Jesus Christ. They insist that there is no other dependable way of correcting evil tendencies in individual and national life. They call the people to repentance. To all Christians their message is, "Awake, Arise. Fight the Good Fight, For Canada and For the World."

Each of the Communion named is in the midst of a Forward Movement. Each is seeking by prayer and by earnest effort to accept all its responsibilities. Each is striving to extend its activities in Canada and in Foreign Lands.

Your Church needs your help, but, far more, you need the help of your Church to learn the difficult art of living wisely and well.

Consult your Clergyman. He serves you and your children. Ask him how and when you can serve in this day of national emergency. Give yourself to the task. Say: "Here am I, send me."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Say backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates; thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life-saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

PIGS IS FIGS, EH? THIS ONE'S A VAG

BRANTFORD, Jan. 22.—"Grant grunt" came from the police cells. Investigation showed the 180 pound pig had been found wandering around the city streets at a late hour last night and P. C. Gillen promptly effected an arrest, the charge being posted on the sheet as "vagrancy." A remand was granted until the porter's relations could be ascertained.

Many Missing Girls In Chicago Alarming

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—NAN epidemic of missing girls has hit Chicago and the authorities have awakened to the seriousness of the situation. Girls are disappearing at the rate of one a day. The case of Jennie DeKay, who walked out of Hull house more than two weeks ago, and of whom not the slightest trace has been had, has just about dropped from public attention.

Interest now centres in the case of Hazel Brown, eleven, and Vera Magness, thirteen years of age, who disappeared ten days ago under sinister circumstances. At the same time a negro janitor at a motion picture house, who seemed to exert a mysterious influence over the children, disappeared, and the parents now fear he is holding the two little girls as prisoners.

Five young girls have been reported missing in the last forty-eight hours. One of them is believed to be trying to get to an aunt in Baltimore, another is supposed to be on her way to California to break into the motion picture game, and the third may have been kidnapped by her father, who was last heard from in Minneapolis.

Short Hours and High Wages Cost Farmers Millions, Says Grange

GOSHEN, Ind. Jan. 22.—About fifteen hundred persons who attended the opening session of the forty-ninth Indiana State grange at Napanee, near here, heard L. H. Wright, the grange master, deliver an address in which he declared that "the hysteria for high wages, shorter hours and greater profit to the middleman is costing the farmer millions of dollars."

In the course of his address Wright said: "We are facing today class domination, or, if you please, Bolshevism, and it must be met and defeated." The grange master said that, although there were more farm owners in the United States than there are members of the American Federation of Labor, the American Federation of Labor practically dominates and controls the Government.

Two of the five probably have been lured from their home by white slaves, or seized on the street, thrust into waiting automobiles and are being held prisoner at some spot in the city.

Home-Made Pie Saves Her From Death Wound

PLEASANTON, Cal., Jan. 22.—A pie saved the life, or at least serious injury, of Mrs. Mary Waterhouse of this city. She was carrying the pie to a window sill, where it was too cool, when a bullet, piercing the glass, tore into the pie, struck the pie tin and glanced aside.

The bullet had been fired by Henry Moore, who explained he had been blasting stumps from some property—he would stand at a distance from the dynamic charge, setting it off with a shot from his rifle.

The scheme worked perfectly on two occasions, but the third bullet went wrong and crashed through the window in to the pie.

Enjoying the Winter in Old Quebec

(1) Chateau Frontenac, Quebec. (2) Toboggan Slide, Citadel Hill, Quebec.

Mayor Lavigne of Quebec has announced that the official opening of the Winter Sport Season in that City will open on Tuesday, January 20th, with a grand parade of the Snowshoe and Kindred Clubs. The season will last a month, and an attractive programme of work and races and sports has been arranged, ending with a grand carnival from February 14th to 17th.

Since winter sports have become as popular as those of summer, there is no need for anyone to dread the dreariness of December, January and February. To skate rhythmically upon an open-air rink; to tramp on the snow-shoes over fields which are impassable for the ordinary pedestrian; to jump from an immense height and yet to land upright and graceful, on one's skis; to toboggan at the rate of an express train and, most fascinating of all, perhaps, to slide on the Swiss bob-sleighs which are still a novelty on this side of the Atlantic—all this and more does winter offer to her devotees.

Skating and skiing require some practice before one is an adept, but sliding and snowshoeing are perfectly simple; all one needs is "the will to do, the soul to dare." Where winter's icy mantle covers the waters and spreads a blanket of snow over the land—there winter sports are at their best. In Canada, "Our Lady of the Snows", every type of winter pastime flourishes; and in Quebec, Canada's oldest City, the outdoor life takes on a new character. Situated on the St. Lawrence River, easily accessible by train, Quebec offers to her guests an unfeigned welcome. At the Chateau Frontenac, the huge hotel which the C.P.R. has built on Dufferin Terrace, the winter guest will find that his indoor comfort and outdoor sport have alike been considered. Two rinks, one in the courtyard for the skaters, the other in the summer cafe for the tobogganers; a toboggan slide built on Dufferin Terrace, and, perhaps, the greatest attraction of all, the Swiss bob-sleighs—these are but a few of the inducements offered to those who love an outdoor life. The little which surround the city make it ideal for skiing, and the broad countryside is as easy to traverse on snowshoes today, as when the Indians swept over it three hundred long winters ago. After a day out of doors, one is ready to return to the hotel for an evening of dancing and other allied amusements. The Chateau Frontenac is the centre of Quebec's social life, the magnet which draws to it all that is vivacious and charming of her people. No one who has been present at her New Year's Dance in the Chateau Frontenac can ever forget it; and this season the social life in the Ancient Capital bids fair to eclipse even its own brilliant past. To the guest, the "Chambres Canadiennes" are sure to make a strong appeal. They form one of the several Period Suites in the hotel, and, as the name implies, are typically French-Canadian. In naming them after Jacques Cartier, Champlain, and Montcalm, the all the company has spent a effort to make them represent in the manor of a French-Canadian seigneur.—J. I. G.

Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before

Not since the pre-Confederation days has the political life of Canada been surcharged with so much uncertainty. Great events in Canadian politics are about to take place. The reorganizing and rehabilitating of great political parties is in progress. New leaders are appearing. The order is changing. All things are becoming new.

THE next two years will be a momentous period in the political life of the country. Reconstruction is a greater task than Confederation.

How will you take your place in the affairs of the nation? What opinions will you form? How will you cast your ballot intelligently if you do not keep in touch and inform yourself on the great questions of the day by reading a daily newspaper national in viewpoint and international in scope?

This is the task and responsibility of The Globe—to give all the news, progressive views, and space for opposing opinions. Such was the threefold purpose of George Brown. His ideal was a Great Family Newspaper with a place in every home. That is The Globe's ideal to-day.

It is not a party organ, but a medium for the development of public opinion and an advocate of reform. It is the servant of the people from whose needs it draws its inspiration.

To be informed of the progress of events, you should avail yourself of The Globe's great news gathering organization. For an analysis of these developments, and clear, sober thought upon them, read its editorial discussions from day to day. They are written by close students of economics, politics, industry, commerce, social reform and religion.

And further, what The Globe has been in the past is a sure guarantee of what it will be in the future. The personality and ambitions of its founder ever dominate the activities of its publishers.

Therefore, nothing will be left undone to make The Globe the newspaper that George Brown would have it be and to earn a place for it in every Canadian home.

FOUND INFANT IN BAG EXCHANGED AT STATION

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Jan. 20.—After bringing home a black leather bag not his own, Robert F. Roiland, arriving from New York city today, found in it an eight-weeks-old infant, two bottles of milk and a package of talcum powder. As Mr. Roiland rode in the smoking car, he believes that an exchange of black bags was made in the Grand Central Station. The infant suffered no ill-effects from the trip.

FLU REACHES PEAK? CHICAGO HOPES SO

But Death Toll in Last 24 Hours Highest of Epidemic of Health Commissioner Robertson that the influenza epidemic had reached its peak yesterday were borne out when the number of new cases reported showed a slight decrease.

The death toll during the last 24 hours, however, was the heaviest since the disease assumed epidemic proportions. Thirty-five influenza deaths and 47 from pneumonia were recorded.

New cases of influenza during the past 24 hours numbered 7,725 as compared with 2,514 during the previous 24 hour period.

Pyorrhea is one of the most dreaded diseases of the teeth, and unless it is given careful treatment in the early stages it causes very serious disorders of the entire body.

We may safely assume that nine out of ten people who have defective teeth have Pyorrhea in various degrees of development.

Do not wait until this disease infects the gums, loosens the teeth and spreads its poison throughout the system.

We are successfully treating many stubborn cases and are accomplishing really wonderful results.

We urge you to accept our offer of free consultation and thus assure yourself that if this serious ailment is present that you will give it prompt treatment.

AN INSIDE BATH MAKES YOU LOOK AND FEEL FRESH

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, declaring this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illhealth, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do. Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous days indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleaning, sweetening and purifying the alimentary canal before eating any food.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who have bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to show the value of inside bathing.

Seeking Voice Of His Mother

Son of Jessie Bartlett Davis Searching U.S. For Phonograph Records of Her Singing "Oh, Promise Me."

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—A son is on search throughout the United States for his dead mother's voice.

Will J. Davis, Jr., president of a manufacturing company, is the son, and the mother, whose voice moved thousands of a former generation of theatre-goers, was Jessie Bartlett Davis.

Of all the songs that she sang, "Oh Promise Me," was the best loved. She sang it first in Robin Hood, Reginald DeKoven's best light opera. Then no concert programme of hers was complete without it, and such was the appeal of her voice in this song that few heard her sing it through with dry eyes.

She was one of the first singers to make phonograph records of her best songs and thousands of records were made and distributed by the pioneer company. A complete set of these records were owned by Davis. Time passed and his mother died. The records gained a double value. He could put one of the records on his machine and with lights turned out could envision his childhood memories of his mother as her voice filled the room.

Constant use, however, told on the records, and he was obliged to play them less frequently. Then came a fire that destroyed the records and left him only recollections and regret.

Now he is searching everywhere for some of the records. He believes that some still exist and he is willing to pay well for them. The master records were lost after the old company merged with another. None is carried in stock and he is turning to elderly music lovers, some of those who still tell of the glories of the old Bostonians, to satisfy a son's longing.

Large advertisement on the right side of the page, partially cut off, mentioning '$5,145 to Offer' and 'Court of Inquiry'.

The military enquiry into the case last night after lasting about an hour. Gen. Cruikshank, Major and Col. Elkins and Major and Col. Burleigh had not scruple to run over the details of the night sessions. A corps of expert stenographers worked constantly at work taking and stenographers worked in relays, returning to the outer room millions of words were taken. The previous day's evidence taken form, for the use of the court. Last night some rebuttal evidence was given. Two witnesses before Col. Burleigh's credit to officers' credit to the officers' mess. As things stood at adjournment Col. Burleigh's credit to officers' credit to the officers' mess. Besides the $5,000 odd, even any things were purchased for the court. At the conclusion of the evidence and consider what was made. If Col. Burleigh had any could be reopened to admit the Colonel Panet went on the staff yesterday afternoon at the military enquiry into the 19th Regiment's finances, and gave evidence to the effect that departmental organization purchases of supplies locally could be obtained. He said the regular equipment of supplies to units called out for active service, like the 19th, was, in his opinion, very inadequate. Major Sidney Stott, on special duty as stock-taking officer attached to the staff of the D.E.O.S., stated that he first inspected the 19th on November, 26, 1916. The quartermaster was Lieut. R. Greenwood. His mission was to compare vouchers with the entries. His books were well kept and his vouchers were filed. "I considered him a very capable quartermaster, and he used an elaborate system of checking off ratios at the various posts," said Major Stott. "I would expect he would usually methodical and exact in reference to his financial transactions as in his other duties." Sgt.-Major Charles Yaxley, quartermaster of the 19th, there was very little camp equipment on hand. There was not a change except a lot of oil stoves, a set of scales, some knives, forks and some dishes and more there are about eight gas ranges being to the engineers. Colonel Burleigh was recalled to the stand again on accounts of the examination. An account of $320.00 was shown him. He could not state definitely whether the goods were used for fifteen, but he was quite certain they had not been used for the officers' mess. J. H. Sandham's account was $2.59. He identified it. "I think that Colonel Burleigh should state that he presents accounts as a set-off against the total of the amount charged against him," suggested the General. Colgate's account was $5.00 against this account were 15 departmental cheques totalling
