FRANCO, THE DICTATOR, LEAVES THE CABINET TO AVOID REBELLION

Portugal Remains Quiet, While Wholesale Arrests Are Made—New King Meets His Ministers. SILENCE OMINOUS?

PARIS, Feb. 4.—The paucity of advices from Lisbon continued up to 2.30 this morning, and on account of the relentless censorship there was no means of determining the real condition of affairs in Portugal. The most striking development was one from the Spanish frontier declaring that firing had been heard on Sunday night near the barracks in the western quarter of Lisbon, but no other reports filtered through to amplify this incident or tell whether violence disorders have broken out in the capital.

LISBON, Feb. 3.—Portugal to-day saw the establishment of a new regime. Premier Franco has resigned office, and within 48 hours of the assassination of King Carlos his dictatorship is at an end, at least for the present. Franco resigned for fear that his continuance in office would plunge the country into rebellion. A new cabinet has been formed under the presidency of Rear-Admiral Do Amaral, a member of the Progressive-Dissident party. Some of the new ministers have been notably opposed to the rule of Franco, but on the whole the present cabinet is Liberal, with monarchical tendencies. The opening session of the new council was held to-day, and King Manuel II. placed himself in the hands of his ministers. He appeared before them and in a voice shaking with emotion said:

"I am yet without experience either in science of politics. I place myself entirely in your hands, needing and believing in your patriotism and wisdom."

Arrests are being made by the wholesale in Lisbon and all suspicious persons at liberty are under police surveillance.

Up to this evening there had been no recurrence of disorders. The Portuguese frontier is being closely guarded to prevent the escape of suspects. Franco had to quit.

Francisco, the once dictator, was forced to resign the dictatorship under the pressure of the people against him, and the new cabinet will strive for the welfare of the fatherland under the presidency of Rear-Admiral Do Amaral. An official statement was given out that the president of the cabinet will be supported by all the groups of monarchists who have agreed to forget previous differences.

The situation for Premier Franco after the assassination of the king and crown prince became impossible. During the days which preceded the assassination and during the tumultuous manifestations on the streets, with the later discovery of vast stores of arms and some public opinion backed him in his efforts to maintain order, but the murders changed the entire complexion of the situation. He has not been seen on the streets since his meeting with the king immediately after the latter's arrival from Vila Viçosa, but all possible places where he might have been closely watched and guarded.

Deliberately Planned.
The investigations of the police show that the murders were carefully planned. On Saturday the assassins met secretly in the back room of a cafe and there laid out every step of the plot which they were enabled to do, as all the details relating to the home-coming of the king had been made public. To each was assigned a post in the work of shooting down the members of the royal family, but shots were drawn for the selection of such particular victims. Those who drew Queen Amelie and Prince Manuel failed to carry out their bloody task.

The chamber in the palace where repose the bodies of King Carlos and the crown prince has been draped in mourning and arranged to represent a chapel. The biers are surrounded by lighted candles, and Queen Amelie, widow of the king and the dowager queen, Maria Pia, his mother, watched continually at the side of their dead.

The body of the king is clad in the uniform of the commander of the army, while the prince wears a uniform of a captain of the Second Lancers. Several masses for the repose of the souls of the departed have been said in the mortuary chamber.

Funerals on Saturday.
The funerals will be held Feb. 8, and 15 of Crew of British Steamer Jump Into Ocean -- 35 Are Saved.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 3.—(Special)—News just received in this city by wireless that the British steamer St. Cathbert from Liverpool, Eng., for New York, is ashore off Yarmouth, N.S. No particulars.

LATER—Wireless says St. Cathbert is burning off Cape Sable. Fifteen of the crew jumped overboard and were drowned. Thirty-five stayed on board and were rescued by White Star Line Cyonic, passing vicinity at the time.

DEMENTED MAN KILLS HIS WIFE

Wanders in Scant Attire to Neighbor's and Breaks News.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 3.—(Special)—James Hartwick of Cobblehill, ten miles north of here, was brought to the city to-night, charged with the murder of his wife.

The tragedy was enacted sometime on Sunday, the alleged slayer being an old man who has resided in the district for some time and is considered weak mentally.

Some time on Sunday, when the storm was at its height, the family of Mr. Day, a neighbor, were surprised to see Hartwick enter their yard and shortly after appear at their door. He was attired only in an undershirt, trousers and pair of ragged socks.

After he got warm he was urged to go home but refused, saying: "I cannot go to bed because there is blood in it."

No attention was paid to this, but later it was thought well to investigate, and Constable Fairclough of Thorncliffe went to the house and found Mrs. Hartwick dead on the bed, her body frightfully slashed.

Lilly Macombe, who solicited subscriptions for newspapers without the right to do so, was yesterday sentenced to 60 days.

A new Gospel Mission hall has been opened and is doing a good work at 28 East King-street, under the direction of Evangelist R. Howell.

EXTEND I. C. R. ON TO ONTARIO CENTRES

Hon. H. R. Emmerson Says God Hates All Cowards—Gov't Should Go Ahead.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—(Special)—Hon. H. R. Emmerson spoke to the house to-night, when he urged the extension of the Intercolonial Railway by the acquisition of branch lines that would serve as feeders, and the construction of the main line to industrial centres in Ontario and west. His successor from New Brunswick, Mr. Pugsley, showed him the courtesy of sitting in the front row of the government side through his speech, and one or two ministerialists dropped in occasionally, but they took slight interest in the important discussion.

Mr. Emmerson said that while there was much to be said in favor of public utilities being controlled by private companies there were also arguments for government ownership and control. The railway had been of great benefit to the maritime provinces, and also to the other provinces, and if the rates charged had been equal to those of corporation-owned roads there would have been a surplus instead of a deficit.

Says Feeders Are Needed.
Mr. Emmerson pointed out the need of feed lines. There were many short lines in the maritime provinces which were not affording adequate accommodation to the public. These branch lines, the ex-minister claimed, could be added to the government system without adding one dollar to the debt of Canada, and his proposal was to acquire these roads by leasehold. It would be a good business proposition to secure the coal lines in the maritime provinces.

Mr. Blain asked what had been the history of these branch lines. Some, replied Mr. Emmerson, had been a success where the management had been business-like. There was one road which was burdened with an over-bond issue. This road was sold by the bondholders and had since proven a success. Under the present management of two or more freights it is impossible to get manufacturers to go into certain districts.

The acquisition of branch lines by the I.C.R. would, the speaker believed, give an impetus to industrial activity in these districts.

Mr. Emmerson said he admired the splendid optimism of Sir Charles Tupper, who had a prophetic vision of what the I.C.R. should be. "God hates a coward," cried Mr. Emmerson in a burst of enthusiasm. The government should have courage to go forward. "We are here as leaders, not as time-servers and opportunists," the ex-minister said.

Mr. Emmerson's Resolution.
He closed by moving this resolution: "That in the opinion of this house it is desirable in furtherance of the transportation interests of Canada, that the sphere of influence of the Intercolonial Railway as a government-operated railway should be widened and extended by securing by lease or otherwise such of the branch lines of railways now connecting with the Intercolonial as will serve as direct and proper feeders to the traffic of the said railway, and by providing for the extension of the government operation of said railway to industrial centres of Western Canada, and to a point or points on the great lakes of Canada."

FIRE IN MONTREAL CAUSED $150,000 LOSS
One Hundred Thousand Bags of Flour Destroyed.

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—(Special)—Damage variously estimated up to $150,000 was caused to-day by a fire which broke out in the Molson warehouse half an hour after noon. The portion in which the fire originated is that used as the Canadian Pacific Railway storage, in which was contained flour, the property of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. and the Oliver Milling Co.

In the portion of the building destroyed by fire there were stored 100,000 bags of flour, and it is estimated that the greater part, if, indeed, not all, will be a total loss, being either burned or wet to such an extent as being beyond all hope of salvage.

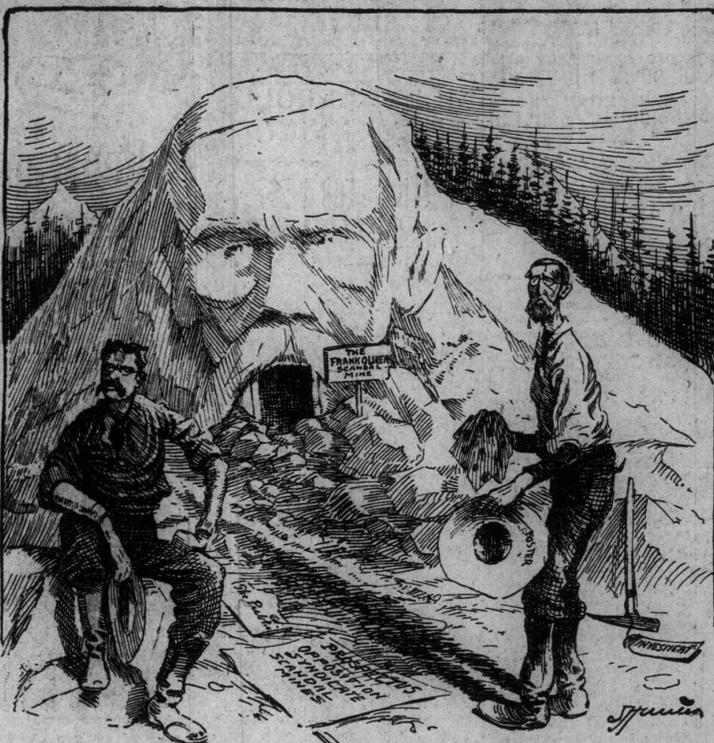

The burned portion is rather more than a third of the whole block, and the approximate loss is $25,000. The buildings are more than a hundred years old, and were built by John H. R. Molson. The whole is covered by insurance.

WHY HUNGARY CANNOT CONDOLE.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 3.—The Hungarian Chamber of Deputies to-day refused to vote a motion condoling with the royal family of Portugal in the death of King Carlos. The majority in the chamber, however, voted for a substitute as follows:

"The views of the Hungarian Parliament on freedom are such that the house could not dedicate a posthumous resolution to a king who had abolished constitutional government and instituted a dictatorship."

The Importance of Shipbuilding

The resumption of work at the Collingwood shipbuilding yards draws attention to this important industry in a notable way, and the recent visit of the minister of public works to the Georgian Bay port, and the appeal made to him on behalf of a bounty per ton on the tonnage of vessels built in Canada, renders the whole situation one of immediate public interest. The prospect of steady employment for several thousands of skilled mechanics is one that appeals to the labor world, and the development of such a valuable industry, so natural to Canada, and such a factor in the commercial stability of any nation as shipbuilding is, appeals to citizens in general. There are three shipbuilding yards in Ontario, so that the province has a direct interest in the matter. One of these is in Toronto—the Polson's important yard; one at Bridgeport, and the other the Collingwood concern. This last is one of the best-equipped yards of its size in America, it is said, having slips for four large and one medium-sized vessels. Were the four large slips occupied, employment would be furnished steadily to 3000 men, with a payroll of $120,000 a month.

Thomas Long, vice-president of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co., is a Jarvis-street resident of Toronto, and furnished The World with details of the extensive interests affected. With an intimate knowledge of the shipping business, as well as of shipbuilding, he is as well qualified as any man in the country to understand their importance to the country, as well as to the interests directly concerned.

In the first place, the shipping business is one of the most lucrative in the world. A ship of modern construction is an investment good for 50 or 60 years, or longer, with repairs. The Chicago, for instance, was a blockade runner in the early sixties, and afterwards ran on the upper lakes, and is still making money. England demonstrates that ships are owned where ships are built, and the cultivation of the building trade would lead to more widespread ship-owning.

A bounty of say $6 a ton on the government on building would be the means of enabling the yards now equipped in Canada to carry on operations, and might be the means of encouraging others to come into existence.

"In the absence of a bounty, or else a duty on British-built ships equivalent to a bounty, it is utterly impossible to carry on shipbuilding in Canada at present, and make it pay," said Mr. Long.

"That there is a field for business is undeniable, and it is getting larger year by year, only requiring to be developed. From 1902 till 1906, there were 78 British vessels imported and entered on the Canadian register. In 1907 orders were given for 19 ships, at a cost of about $3,000,000, $2,000,000 of which was wages. If these vessels were built in Canada, the four steel shipbuilding yards in Ontario would have received the work, and when the business got going, more would be built. There were 300 old steam vessels brought over from the United States in the last ten years, besides 170 sailing vessels. Steady work would develop more and more highly skilled labor; yet with only 13 Canadian-built and owned steel vessels on the lakes, they are far superior in style, utility and workmanship to any imported vessel.

"Old country vessels are built with very thin plating—half to three-quarters of an inch, and are not suitable to the heavy weather of the lakes, and the frequent entering and leaving port, and consequent bumping up against docks. Canadian vessels are built of inch plating, and of very strong iron construction, and need no heavy repair work, such as the British ships do. They may be all right for salt water, but the lake traffic is different.

"Most of the vessels on the Great Lakes are freighters, and they are all paying well. The vessels partly passenger and partly freight are also paying. The Northern Navigation Co. paid 8 per cent. last year. So there is a good field for building.

"Another point in connection with the shipyards that Mr. Long dwelt on was the tariff on repairs exacted by the States. Should any American vessel on the Great Lakes get into trouble and require repairs, she is only permitted to get as much done as would be barely sufficient to float her to the nearest United States repair yard, and meagre as the repairs may be in such cases, 50 per cent. duty is exacted upon them.

"We want to have a duty of 50 per cent. imposed on Canadian or British vessels engaged in the lake trade. They receive all the care that

SOME TEACHERS TO GET THEIR INCREASE

Finance Committee Begin on Their Recommendations—Higher Minimum for Women.

Despite the fact that the board of education has for the past two years striven ardently to strike some equitable basis of remuneration for teachers in order that salaries may advance proportionately each year in each department until adequate maximums are reached, and in order that each employee shall be paid commensurate with the respective duties, the finance committee experienced considerable worry yesterday in furthering this end, and will be compelled to sit for several hours this afternoon ere a report can be sent on for consideration by the board.

In many instances salaries were boosted beyond the ratio of natural increase as provided for in last year's regulations, and, if approved by the board, the expense voucher for salaries which will be presented to the board of control next month will amount to something more than a song.

The women teachers received only one concession, an advance from $400 to $500 in the minimum salary, with the maximum remaining at $800.

In recognition of the fact that several women teachers are acting in the capacity of principals of public schools, it was decided to create new offices, or the equivalent, whereby these should receive $50 each over and above their allotment, according to the fixed schedule. This was adopted as an inducement to encourage ladies to seek after higher classes and develop executive ability, it being pointed out that usually they are too willing to rest on their oars and gain the maximum by the promised advance of $50 per year.

Specialists Get More.
No fixed ratio of increase had been decided upon for the supervisors of music, penmanship, manual training, and domestic science. It will in the future be the same as for principals, namely, $100 yearly, with a minimum of $1000, while the schedule for assistants was fixed at a $500 minimum and $900 maximum, with $200 annual increase.

A deputation of public school principals presented themselves, claiming that their minimum salary of $2500 maximum should be advanced at once accordingly, which would mean a total increase in this department of $2500. The committee will consider this question either later or tomorrow.

No change was made in the schedule of collegiate institute and technical high school principals. The salary of $2500 minimum and $3000 maximum, with $1000 annual increase.

The maximum of specialists in these institutions was raised from $2000 to $2200.

The advances in the salaries for assistant principals in these schools will aggregate as follows: Jarvis, $1500; Jamieson, $1200; Harbord, $2100; Riverside, $450; technical high school, $1500.

Assistant teachers in the domestic departments will receive: Miss Delaport, $750; Miss M. McMillan, $800; Miss M. Davidson, $1400, a 20 per cent. increase.

Bonus For Principals.
Principal Eldon of the technical high school was granted a bonus of $300 in addition to his salary of $5000 for extra duties in connection with the night classes, while J. L. Banks (wood carving and clay modeling) and J. A. McKenzie (architecture) were advanced $500 each for night duties in this institution.

A considerable saving may be effected on account of a change in the system of paying evening assistants in the technical high school, instead of allowing them $100 each they will receive $2 per night of actual service, taking effect after Oct. 1.

Senior Principal Dr. L. E. Embree will be allowed the usual $500 bonus for extra services rendered the board. The principals of James-avenue and Harbord-street colleges, appointed July, 1906, will rank and be paid as third year principals.

To the salaries of accountants, clerks and stenographers in the departments of buildings, inspector and secretary, $1225 was added, including $400 to a new employee in C. H. Bishop's office.

Male assistant principals in public schools receive an advance on minimum salaries from $1000 to $1100, with maximums from $1200 to $1300.

The minimum for kindergarten directors was raised from $400 to $475, with maximums from $600 to $650; assistants, from $300 to $350 (minimum), and $400 to $450 (maximum), reached in five years.

Fifty-six caretakers, receiving salaries ranging from $138 to $170, were accorded a general increase of 7 per cent.

WILL CONSIDER STATE AID FOR AGED

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Accepts Resolution of R. A. Pringle for a Careful Investigation.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—(Special)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier this afternoon accepted a resolution of R. A. Pringle (Con. Stormont), asking for the appointment of a select committee of nine to consider a scheme of state aid for making provision for the aged and deserving poor.

Mr. Pringle referred to the several committees and the commission which had looked into the old age pension scheme in Great Britain, pointing out that it was the committee of Mr. Chapin, which had evolved the scheme which was now regarded as the only practical proposal. In New Zealand the scheme of old age pensions had given every satisfaction, thanks to the efforts of Premier Seddon. Canada could well afford a pension scheme, he did not believe in the universal scheme, which provided that every man at the age of 65 should be pensioned, but in the chapin's scheme, which proposed the pensioning of every British male subject of 60 years of age or over on from 5 to 10 shillings a week, provided the person to be pensioned had never been sentenced to prison without the option of a fine, had not received poor relief and was not in receipt of an income of 10 shillings a week and providing also that he could prove that he had made an honest effort to provide for his old age.

After an exceedingly exhaustive discussion of various schemes Mr. Pringle strongly attacked the schemes of high financiers which had taken millions of dollars out of pockets of people of Canada, and he intimated that during the discussion of the insurance bill the house would hear more of frenzied finance that had taken place in the Dominion.

Mr. Pringle Congratulated.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier congratulated Mr. Pringle upon his persistence and upon the manner in which he had brought the subject to the attention of the house. He did not think a better presentment could have been made. The government accepted the resolution. It was not convinced, but would approach the subject with another mind. Whatever view might be expressed Sir Wilfrid was of the opinion that the assistance suggested should not be given as a matter of charity, but as compensation. He did not favor pensions for millionaires, although the members for Nanaimo (Mr. Smith) did not think there should be any discrimination, and his views were entitled to respect. What Sir Wilfrid thought was that the law should come to the rescue of those persons who were not able to provide for their old age. Under present conditions it would be impossible for many to contribute a portion of their wages.

The view that there should be no contributions was wrong, as in the

Split Meats on the Ottawa Ice Unfinished Races on Opening Day

Central Canada Association's Winter Meeting is Auspiciously Opened—Good Track and Large Crowd.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—(Special).—The Central Canada Racing Association ice races commenced to-day, having been postponed from Saturday on account of the severe storm. The weather was all that could be desired, being bright and sunny, just an ideal winter day.

GOVERNOR HUGHES' PRESIDENTIAL PLATFORM.

Governor Hughes' address to the Republican Club of New York was worthy in all respects the occasion and the man. It was the strong, clear and deliberate pronouncement of an independent student of public affairs, sincerely attached to the political party of his choice, prepared to render a reason for his judgment regarding the important questions of the hour, and to declare the nature and scope of the remedies which, in his opinion, the situation required. There was an undoubted note of sincerity pervading the address, and the certain important respects it may indicate too rigid a limitation of the functions of the lawmaker, the conservatism it implies is due quite as much to the natural quality of the governor's mind as to the acquired bias of his profession.

It is said that President Roosevelt does not regard Governor Hughes with any too friendly an eye, and the estrangement has been attributed rather to malicious intermediaries than to real divergence in political aims and ideals. Certainly no trace of personal animosity was apparent in the generous tribute accorded by Mr. Hughes to the present chief of the state. The country, he said, is under lasting obligation to President Roosevelt for his vigorous opposition to abuses and for the strong impulse he has given to movements for their correction. And if the governor hinted that procedure difference of opinion might be found regarding the best means of solving some of the extremely difficult problems that are presented he went on to declare that in the next campaign the party would have a notable advantage ground gained through the general admiration of the president's strong personality and the popular appreciation of the righteous conduct of affairs and the welfare of his fellowmen.

To Governor Hughes history unfolds the impressive revelation of a wide-spread struggle against every form of oppression and exploitation. Altho the watchword of the United States is, to his mind, equality of opportunity and the freest possible scope for the exercise of individual powers, he also recognizes that the liberty of the people must be protected. Wherever he declared, in order to maintain civil rights, to secure the public from aggression, or to compel the performance of public obligation, the action of the government as the organ of the popular will is necessary, there its influence is not to be ineffectually and impartially exercised. And dealing later in his speech with corporate offenses he expressed himself as not in favor of punishment by fine, except in minor cases. The burden of these fines, he pointed out, is either transferred to the public or is borne by stockholders, the innocent as well as the guilty. His remedy is imprisonment of the offenders, thus limiting the legal fiction that treats the company as a separate person. In this he is right. The enforcement of personal responsibility upon the men who control corporation action is the only effectual remedy for, and preventive of, illegal practices. Only thus can that twist of conscience be corrected which enables a high official to do for and by a corporation what would never be done by his proper person as a responsible individual.

Governor Hughes has a high conception of the purpose and function of representative government, and is a sworn foe of every attempt to make it the instrument of selfish purposes. On the all-important subject of public services, he affirmed that every franchise granted by the public is a privilege justified only by considerations of the public welfare and that the conditions of its exercise should be such as to insure the performance of public obligation. There must, he pointedly declared, be no encroachment on the common right for the purpose of serving the interests of the few at the expense of the many, and the conditions underlying grants of public franchises must be enforced. Repeating his view of the railroad situation, Governor Hughes looks for the protection of the people, not to government ownership, but to government regulation, and insists that supervision must be both thorough and just. On other public questions he takes a broad and sane position, strongly supporting the right of each state to look after its own particular affairs, and admitting the value of local powers and responsibilities in the development of public spirit and capacity of self-government. The address will certainly increase Governor Hughes' reputation as a straight-forward, capable and disinterested man of affairs.

PRESERVE THE OLD FORT.

"If you can show us a better route which will answer our purposes just as well, we will throw this one overboard," said Controller Spence.

CANADIAN RAILWAY BOARD.

Editor World: In his address to the Canadian Club at Ottawa, the Hon. Dr. Mills gave some interesting information regarding the work of the board of railway commissioners for Canada; information which proves conclusively the necessity for a re-adjustment of the work of that board if it is to be made an effective instrument for the general advantage of Canada.

RIGHTS' RIGHT AND FAIR'S FAIR.

Editor World: The passionate eastern character, like all weak ones, found (and finds) it easier than temperance, religious thought more pleasant than godly action. We are as a growing and health-laden people of "Catharhozo" cured the worst of coughs, colds and catarrh—does it in a pleasant, simple way.

board have almost entirely neglected these features of the transportation question, and that their time is taken up with questions which are of very little interest to the public at large, matters which should be dealt with by the local authorities or by subordinated agencies, and which are beneath the dignity of a board such as the railway commission. Dr. Mills has given us an illustration of some of the duties devolving upon the board of railway commissioners. They are as follows:

1. No railway company in any part of Canada can construct a branch, spur or siding which will cross or run along any street or highway, or touch any property other than that of the railway company, without an order from the railway commission.

2. No company or individual in any part of Canada can carry a telegraph wire, a telephone wire, an electric light wire, or an electric power wire over the right of way and track of a railway company, without an order from the railway commission.

3. No city, town, village or rural municipality in any part of Canada can construct a street, or lay a pipe of any size or description under a railway, without an order from the railway commission.

4. It is the duty of the board of railway commissioners to deal with questions of the nature of those mentioned above, and yet these are some of the duties which are devolved upon the Dominion Government. We are almost tempted to believe that the government has desired to be placed in a position to perform these duties upon the railway commission as to make it impossible for them to deal effectively with the important vital questions arising in connection with transportation matters.

CANADA PERMANENT MORTGAGE CORPORATION.

When a mortgage company over a series of years steadily increases its profits and not only preserves but increases its command of public money, the only conclusion to be drawn is that its policy and management are sound and efficient. Such is the record of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Company, when at the annual meeting of its shareholders yesterday the Directors presented another statement of its affairs—the fifty-third of the Canada Permanent and the eighth since its consolidation with the other companies. Since 1901 the percentage net profit has steadily grown from 6.40 to 11.43, and they now stand at the splendid figure of 18.82, as against 18.91, 19.33 for the year preceding. After paying two half-yearly dividends of 3 per cent. on the capital stock, and 100,000 to reserve and writing $24,628.57 of office buildings, there remains a balance of $7,110.02, carried forward to credit of Profit and Loss Account.

A WORD FOR THE FIREMEN.

Editor World: I notice a small article in this morning's issue of your most excellent paper, saying of the men of the city who receive their winter caps and that they are still waiting for their gloves. I think they will be glad to hear that the men are treated.

In a large city like Toronto these men are given wages enough to correspond with the cost of living. There is no finer body of men in the country to-day than the firemen.

its interests from time to time to arbitrate, adjudicate, resolve upon affairs, manage in fact, to make it the rapid of would-be money-makers, preachers, grovelers, timeservers that beset it.

Temperance, as all men know, is but an old-time theme, "meden asan," too old for repetition. Yet who disdains to repeat it? Who country can maintain that it is civilized unless it has evolved a legal system, incorruptible and unyielding? The first element of a Platonic and echoed by Carlyle, of human beings massed, was protection of persons and property. Cain and Abel are but an outworn reminiscence of things that are no more. But here in this our city a certain state that could perpetrate outrageous robbery, protected doubtless by the influence of the church, violate the rights of individuals, outrage the public vote delivered little later than a year ago with no uncertain voice, seize the property, the personal property, of a fellow citizen and throw it in the lake, after having kindly warned them that they must spend more money on their horses than they could have done from their own pocket.

This council, despite the public vote delivered to it by a proposition of reduction of the city license, has the audacity to circumscribe by a catchword the question that there is not a child but knows how near the citizens of Mitylene escaped their doom. They must have known that now glad they were that every city was not governed by a Cleon. Their lives depended on it, so do ours. Is this our city now to be placed such a multiplicity of duties upon the railway commission as to make it impossible for them to deal effectively with the important vital questions arising in connection with transportation matters.

The whole plan was fully explained in the propositions submitted to Mayor Coatsworth, and, if Messrs. Ryerson, Biggar, Thorn and Collins, representing the historical societies, will insist upon a thorough consideration of the plan they may find it possible to convince Controller Spence that there is a route available which will make it quite unnecessary to interfere with the old in any way, and in every way better for "our purposes" than that proposed by way of Front-street.

If it is possible for the Cataract Power Company to build an elevated line in Toronto (and the board of control appear willing to allow them to do so without protest) it is equally feasible for the street railway company to build an elevated line to relieve the pressure of traffic to and from the exhibition.

WHO WILL GO?

Editor World: I have noticed in several of the daily papers and especially in The Globe of yesterday, strong comments in regard to the continuing of hotels in the residential districts of the city, and, judging from the thoughtful and well-considered arguments advanced for the closing of the hotels in the residential portion of the city, it is quite probable that the city council will have had occasion to accept the hospitality of these same hotels. It must be well known that there are hundreds of hotels in the city, and that the hotels, and why should they be compelled to reside in a less desirable portion of the city than these critics would prefer to reside in themselves. It is quite safe to say that the majority of the hotels in the so-called residential districts are conducted and managed in a most orderly and business-like manner, and that the guests, but also for the residents of their immediate neighborhood. This is a strikingly noticeable feature of the hotel industry, situated in the residential district in the northeast part of the city, at Parliament and Winchester-streets. I challenge anyone to find a finer equipped and more beautifully furnished house in any part of the city, and the quiet and orderly manner in which the house is managed is not only the favorable comment of all the guests, but also of the residents of the particular vicinity. Surely, then, the best interests of the citizens can be served by respecting the rights of the hotelier, and by not interfering with the statement made by some of these critics—that hotels can be maintained up to the front of houses, and that the best interests of the city are served by the closing of the hotels in the residential portion of the city.

Set Aside the Election. William Patterson, restaurant-keeper, Sudbury, Ontario, has brought a motion for judgment to set aside the election of Charles Cartwright a flat for leave to serve notice of motion in the nature of a quo warranto to void the election of the action brought for the construction of the senator's will. After hearing argument, the court reserved judgment.

Local Option Election Trick. Charging conspiracy in the recent municipal elections at Midland, legal proceedings have been commenced by the crown on behalf of H. S. Roby, candidate for mayor, to unseat the mayor-elect, Edwin Leterby, and several members of the council on the ground that over one hundred ratepayers, who had failed to pay their taxes by Dec. 14, were prevented from voting because of ignorance of the fact that they were eligible of the enactment passed by the council last year. The claim is that these votes would have elected the Ruby ticket.

GOVERNOR HUGHES' PRESIDENTIAL PLATFORM.

Governor Hughes' address to the Republican Club of New York was worthy in all respects the occasion and the man. It was the strong, clear and deliberate pronouncement of an independent student of public affairs, sincerely attached to the political party of his choice, prepared to render a reason for his judgment regarding the important questions of the hour, and to declare the nature and scope of the remedies which, in his opinion, the situation required. There was an undoubted note of sincerity pervading the address, and the certain important respects it may indicate too rigid a limitation of the functions of the lawmaker, the conservatism it implies is due quite as much to the natural quality of the governor's mind as to the acquired bias of his profession.

THAW'S FIRST SUNDAY WITH QUEER COMRADES

Crazy Chinaman Welcomes a New Recruit—Prisoner Hopes for Freedom Soon.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Evelyn Thaw, Josiah Thaw and Dan O'Reilly, the lawyer, to-day visited Harry Thaw at Matteawan Asylum.

Thaw is absolutely confident that he will not have to remain longer than a week in the asylum, and is eager to have his attorneys hurry the proceedings which he believes will result in his liberation. His mother is insistent that no time shall be lost, and it was at her urgent request that alienists visited her son yesterday.

To-day a brief examination and observation of Harry K. Thaw was conducted by Dr. Allan W. Ferriss, president of the New York State lunacy commission, who came down from Albany, and Dr. Lamb, superintendent of the institution. The examination was of preliminary character, Thaw and the physician talking casually together for about half an hour. After the examination, Dr. Ferriss said it was too early to give an opinion on Thaw's mental condition.

When Thaw was awakened Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock by an attendant in the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane he shuddered as his glance fell on the yellow, wrinkled face of Quimbo Appo in the cot next to his own, and so close that he could have touched the old Chinese by reaching out his hand.

Almost as close to him were fifty-six other unfortunates, most of them hopelessly insane. Only a few feet away a negro was yawning and helplessly protesting against leaving his warm bed. Huddled with the other inmates of the institution, Thaw was directed to the lavatory, where he was to do his duty. There was a shivering moment under the shower and then a hard rubbing with a coarse towel. He donned the same

Will Not Reintroduce Irish Council Bill

Landlords Prefer to Sell Their Lands to the Tenants, But Ask High Prices.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—All doubt that the government is planning the introduction of legislation looking to home rule for Ireland in the present session of parliament was set at rest today when Herbert T. Asquith, chancellor of the exchequer, declared on behalf of the premier that the government had no intention of re-introducing the Irish council bill.

The Earl of Dudley, Conservative, who was lord lieutenant of Ireland in 1905, created somewhat of a sensation among the Unionist benches of the house of lords this evening by dissociating himself entirely with the policy of coercion in Ireland.

INDICATIONS OF EASIER MONEY RATES.

World Office. Monday Evening, Feb. 3.

The rumors that the Canadian money markets would rule easier after the first of the month were partly verified by reports from Montreal to-day, at which point it was stated that loans are now available at 6 per cent. Locally, there are no general signs that money is more readily available, but there are indications that such is likely to be the case.

The Toronto stock market was irregular to-day, and it could not be construed from the transactions that any actual improvement was in effect. There was very little feature to the market, but such strength as was exhibited in the speculative stocks was confined to the foreign securities. The buying of these is said to be for London; this may be so, or it may not be. The investment section of the market was quite firm, and offerings were not quite equal to the demand.

DIFFICULTIES OF APPEALS.

D. B. MacLennan of Cornwall Speaks on Law Reform.

D. B. MacLennan, K.C., of Cornwall, put the appeal question in a nutshell in speaking of law reform to the Canadian Club yesterday.

The appeal, he said, was a grotesque anomaly, as it operated at present. The judge that tried the case was the man who did the greatest work of all. He paid a compliment to the Ontario judges as being as good and able men as could be found in all the gradations of the legal system up to the privy council.

The first mistake was in having two appeal courts in Ontario instead of one only. If a plaintiff won before the first judge and the case was appealed, it went to the divisional court and he won again with three judges. Going to the court of appeal the defendant might win with three judges there against two. This would make six judges for the plaintiff and three for the defendant, yet the plaintiff loses his case.

These minority judgments ought not to exist," declared Mr. MacLennan. They should be done away with by having one court of appeal in Ontario composed of the 17 judges of the province.

With the supreme court at Ottawa, there was the difficulty of two French judges trained in French law, the foundation of which is civil law, while English practice is based on common law.

In the privy council there was a difference of atmosphere of business and law. The Englishman was brave, courageous and energetic, but he had some of the characteristics of the Englishman who was in his chair and did not believe anything existed outside the United Kingdom.

INDIAN HOME RULE.

Urged in House of Commons by Rutherford.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—John Morley, secretary of state for India, replied to the house of commons to-day to criticism of the Indian government. He said the great mass of perplexing problems in India must be regarded on a common sense plan and that it was the province of the government to be ready, when occasion offered, to consider the inclusion of India in the victor's council.

The debate arose on an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, proposed by Mr. Rutherford, Conservative, who declared that the present state of affairs in India demanded the serious attention of the government, that the present proposals were inadequate to allay the existing and the growing discontent, and that measures of reform in the direction of giving the Indians control of their own affairs were necessary.

600 BUGS TITLES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—A revision of the College of Heraldry of Georgia, Transcaucasia, has resulted in the discovery of monster forgeries of princely titles.

Among two thousand registered hereditary coats of arms, six hundred have been found to be bogus.

La Grippe, Pneumonia, Etc.

Rather than take chances of the above, extreme weather finds many men going to the Land of Flowers, Fruit and Sunshine, viz., California, Mexico and the Sunny South. Travel is an education, and to mingle with successful, happy people, found en route, via the Grand Trunk and its connecting lines, is delightful.

A round trip to California, covering 6,000 miles, costs only $120.00, and to Mexico and the south still less.

Remember, it pays to take a vacation. Consult C. E. Horning, city passenger and ticket agent for the Grand Trunk, corner King and Yonge-streets.

Russian-Persian Railway.

TIFLIS, Transcaucasia, Feb. 2.—TRIFLIS has been opened over the Julia Railway, connecting Russia and Persia. This line clinches Russian possession of the North Persian provinces and will facilitate military intervention in Transcaucasia, where recently there has been trouble culminating in bloodshed, owing to the occupation of Persian territory by Turkish troops.

MARKETS ARE STAGNANT UNCHANGED PRICES

Usual Weekly Ore Returns Are Delayed—Money Tightness is Against Speculation.

World Office, Monday Evening, Feb. 3.

The shipments from Cobalt for last week were not available to-day, and any stimulus to the local mining markets if this would provide it was therefore wanting. Transactions were smaller than they have been and brokers reported almost an entire absence of either selling or buying orders.

Nipissing was fractionally higher as those who are inclined to the market as a whole are present debarred from lack of funds. Bullish sentiment, but the immediate offerings prevent any advance in quotations. The former stagnant condition of the market is thereby confirmed.

Test Shipment From Larder.

The first shipment of gold ore from the Larder Lake region to reach the railroad en route for New York arrived at Boston last week from the Algonquin Mining Company's property at the head of Beaver Lake. It is a test shipment containing some 700 pounds, which is quite sufficient for the purpose of a thorough test. It is the intention of the company to find out just what return it will get in an ordinary mine run. If it be sufficient to ensure a paying investment in development, a stamp mill will be installed without delay, and actual mining will commence in earnest.
