Battle Continues With No Change Today Is Report From Paris

Cavalry Fighting North Of Lille and of Labasse

Only Minor Actions in The Centre—That Pace Tells on Germans is Paris Reading of Determined Attack Made on Antwerp

Paris, Oct. 9.—The following official announcement was given out this afternoon:— The general situation has undergone no change. On our left wing the two opposing bodies of cavalry are still operating to the north of Lille and of Labasse, and the battle continues along the line marked by the regions of Lens, Arras, Bray-Somme, Chaulnes, Roye and Laiguy.

On the centre of the Oise and on the Meuse, only actions of minor importance have been reported. On our right, in the Woëvre district, there has been an artillery contest along the entire front.

In Lorraine, in the Vosges and in Alsace, there has been no change. In Bosnia, Montenegro troops have continued their advance in the direction of Sarajevo as far as the fortified line, which protects the city at a distance of eight kilometres from it.

ALLIES NUMBERS WILL TELL Paris, Oct. 9.—The suggestion is made in Paris this morning, by some observers, that the Germans are holding out with the idea of taking Antwerp first, and then retreating to a line of defense prepared in Belgium, as it is not possible for them to find reinforcements to counterbalance the fresh troops constantly coming to strengthen the allies.

Even the fall of Antwerp will scarcely shake French confidence in the success of the efforts of the allies to push the Germans back over the frontier.

BERLIN REPORT AUSTRIAN SAID London, Oct. 9.—The official communication of the German general staff, given out at Berlin last evening says: "From the western scene of war no facts of decisive importance can be mentioned. Small progress has been made near St. Mihiel in the Argonne."

Before Antwerp, Fort Breendonk (to the south of Antwerp) has been taken and the attack on the inner fort line has begun therewith. The bombardment of the quarters of the town lying behind was begun after the declaration (by the commander of the stronghold) that he took the responsibility.

The shipyard at Dusseldorf has been hit by a bomb thrown by a bomber aviator. The roof of the hall was pierced and the cover of an airship in the hall was demolished.

On the eastern Russian column is marching from Lomsa (Russian Poland) and has reached Lyck (in East Prussia) just beyond the frontier and almost directly west from Augustow.

More German Outrages Paris, Oct. 9.—The Figaro prints a "lory of the actions of the Germans when they passed through Lorraine and as told by a refugee from that country who has arrived in Paris. This man says the Germans made the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg a prisoner and placed her in a castle at Nuremberg. He also declares that the Germans shot the commander of the Grand Duchy and took the 250 men composing it to Germany.

The refugee says that factories and villages were razed and the population left in a starving condition. Ostden to Fight to Last London, Oct. 9.—The communal council of Ostden has passed unanimously a declaration that the town is ready for every sacrifice in order to resist the German advance to the last moment.

German Plan Nearly Frustrated. London, Oct. 9.—The Antwerp correspondent of the Central News under Thursday's date sends the following: "The German effort towards north France with a view of fixing a wedge between Antwerp and the allies has been nearly destroyed. Fierce fighting is occurring around Lille and south of Ghent."

"Prisoners have been taken to Dunkirk and Ostden and a German aeroplane has been destroyed."

Phelix and Pheasant WEATHER BULLETIN Issued by authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, R. F. Stewart, director of meteorological service.

Synopsis—The weather continues warm throughout the Dominion. Rain has fallen in Northern Ontario, eastern Quebec, Manitoba and in parts of Saskatchewan. Winds are light on the lakes and also along the Atlantic coast.

Mostly Fair. Maritime—Light to moderate winds; some local showers, but mostly fair and warm today and on Saturday.

New England—Unsettled tonight and Saturday, probably showers on Saturday, gentle to moderate shifting winds, becoming east.

ANTWERP AFIRE IN FOUR PLACES

Germans Carry on a Terrific Bombardment—King Said to Have Left

London, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp has been terrible, says an Ostden despatch to Reuter under date of Thursday.

"The Germans threw incendiary bombs," the despatch adds, "with the result that many parts of the town between the railway station at the south and Palace of Justice are in flames. It is rumored here that the Germans have been repulsed on the left bank of the River Scheldt."

"On the Tante an aeroplane flew over Ostden at four o'clock this afternoon."

London, Oct. 9.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Ostden, dated Thursday, says: "The Germans have occupied the southeast semi-circle of the third fortified lines of Antwerp. The Belgians have made several sorties on the right bank of the Scheldt. The Belgian government is completely installed at Ostden."

Alire in Four Places The Hague, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts and the outlying parts of the city, started at 12:30 on Thursday morning. At noon the city was burning in four places. It is reported that inner forts Numbers 4 and 6 have been silenced. The exodus of the Antwerp strikers people of Antwerp continues. It is reported that the dykes have been opened.

London, Oct. 9.—Borghout, a suburb of Antwerp, is burning, according to a despatch from Amsterdam to Reuter's Telegram Company.

London, Oct. 9.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Ostden, dated Thursday evening, says: "Severe fighting is progressing outside of Antwerp. I am informed that sharp fighting was bitter and determined in Fontaine street, breaking many windows. In Turnhout and its vicinity many houses have been destroyed. It is reported here that the Germans have been compelled to retreat for a short distance."

Convent Hospital Destroyed Several Ursuline nuns have arrived at Breda, Holland, from Londerseer, near Malmédy, where their convent was destroyed by the Germans here, although they were nursing there, it is said, hundreds of wounded. The women were courageously rescued by Belgian soldiers, who dashed through the flames to get them out.

Germans in Force London, Oct. 9.—The Times' Belgian correspondent, in a despatch dated Wednesday, says "That the Germans are in strong force in the vicinity of their fierce offensive along the river Scheldt, which resulted in their crossing of the river at three points. I watched dense clouds of smoke rising from the naphtha works at Schoonarde, which were fired by the Germans. The bombardment of the city was bitter and determined, and both sides suffered heavily. The German losses especially must be important, but they held the bridge over the Scheldt close to the entrenched Belgians and the mitrailleurs were in constant use."

"In southern Belgium the small town of Warneton, close to Ypres, has been razed to the ground by the enemy. The damage done by the bombardment in Schoonarde was very great. Today's fighting was bitter and determined, and both sides suffered heavily. The German losses especially must be important, but they held the bridge over the Scheldt close to the entrenched Belgians and the mitrailleurs were in constant use."

Bombardment Carefully Planned London, Oct. 9.—Telegraphing from Ostden, the Daily Express correspondent says: "The German plan for the reduction of Antwerp has carefully developed for many weeks. The serious bombardment has been begun only when, in the opinion of the commander, he is in a position to take the city with little delay. The bombardment of the big guns have been carefully constructed at most advantageous points. These guns were brought from Namur and Antwerp. The Germans have a large number of them at their disposal."

King Leaves Antwerp London, Oct. 9.—An Amsterdam despatch to Reuter, dated Friday, quotes the News Van Der Dag, of Ghent, as saying that King Albert left Antwerp this morning, and has arrived at Selzetta, a village near the Dutch frontier.

Reports from France. London, Oct. 9.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Dunkirk, France, dated Wednesday says: "Beginning at dawn and continuing until six o'clock this evening, heavy cannonading has been heard in the direction of Bethune, seventeen miles north of Arras."

"The railway company managed to get a train through to Lille during the night, but a second attempt failed owing to the presence of German cavalry patrols all along the line. German cavalry is reported near Dixmude."

Allies' Airmen Again Raid Cologne and Dusseldorf

London, Oct. 9.—According to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam, another aerial raid has been made by the allies on Cologne and Dusseldorf, both important German Zeppelin airship bases. The telegram follows: "A despatch from Cologne states that hostile aeroplanes threw bombs at the Zeppelin hangers at Cologne and Dusseldorf on Thursday afternoon. The former was uninjured but damage was inflicted at Dusseldorf."

A previous aerial raid on Cologne and Dusseldorf was made by British naval airmen from Belgium on September 23.

PLANK AGAINST RUDOLPH IN OPENING GAME OF THE SERIES

The World Championship—Accident to Smith a Handicap to Braves, Writes Joe Page to Times—Connie Mack's Illuminating Comment

Philadelphia, Pa. Oct. 9.—Weather conditions this morning were favorable for the opening game between the Boston Nationals and the Philadelphia Athletics for the baseball championship of the world. The day was partly cloudy with occasional bursts of sunshine. The temperature was just right for baseball.

The probable batting order for today's game follows: Athletics—Murphy, r. f.; Oldring, l. f.; Collins, 2b; Baker, 3b; McInnes, 1b; Strunk, c. f.; Barry, ss; Schang, c. Bender, p.

Boston—Moran, r. f.; Evers, 2b; Conolly, l. f.; Whitted, c. f.; Schmidt, 1b; Deal, 3b; Maranville, ss; Gowdy, c. Rupploh, p.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—Notwithstanding the accident to Red Smith, the sacker of the Boston Braves, Manager George Stallings and his entire crew are going into the series full of confidence and determination to pull off the great feat in base ball—the world's championship.

As a result of the accident to Smith the betting today is ten to six on the Athletics with the Braves' backers holding for odds of five to one. The odds are a great handicap to the Braves, but they are not without a chance of being able to cover.

BRITISH VICTORY ON THE AISNE IS COMPLETE, SAYS LONDON CORRESPONDENT

London, Oct. 9.—The Times correspondent south of the Aisne says: "At one centre—and that the most important—the British victory on the river Aisne is now complete. The Germans have evacuated their trenches, leaving in some of them many soldiers who died from a severe visitation of typhoid. They left two of their heaviest guns in the quarries, heavily camouflaged in place."

Two salient events marked the part of the fighting of which Soissons was the centre, first the allies' capture of Fort Conde after a siege of sixteen days, and second, the remarkable slaughter by the British in the last of a series of German attacks.

"It is agreed that wherever the Germans have dealt severe havoc to the allies around this position their success was due wholly to a spy system. The allies soon found out that the Germans were able to diagnose their movements readily and they instituted a systematic search for officers. They captured seven spies, one of them a woman, who used electric flash-light signals from a window."

"It is not altogether true to say that the battle of the Aisne is over even now, but in the last few days considerable areas have been deserted by the Germans, and great wedges of the allies' forces thrown forward."

CARDS OF THANKS. Mrs. George A. Noble, Jr., and members of the family wish to thank their many friends for kindness and sympathy shown in their recent bereavement.

THE LAST WORD

German heavy artillery is pounding Antwerp, the last remaining stronghold of the Belgian army, while German armies to the west continue the decisive struggle with the French and British allies.

Beyond this little is known of today's developments in Belgium and France. Reports coming through London from the front are of a very gloomy nature.

King Albert is variously reported as leading a part of the Belgian army out of the city with the intention of effecting a junction with the French and British forces. They report that the German guns already have done much damage in the city.

The most recent statement by the German war office was that the Germans had crossed the flooded Meuse along the River, and continued to make progress.

The general situation in the west has undergone no change, says a French official statement at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE TURRET FORTS OF ANTWERP

The nature of the peculiar turret-backed forts that constitute an important feature of the defence of Antwerp is not generally understood, but they are explained in an interesting manner by Major Florowski, an expert representative of the Krupp, the great gunmakers of Germany, in an article specially written for the war.

Major Florowski, who is an expert in the art of warfare, is explained by this military expert in the special war.

It may happen that when fighting commences along a front many miles, some troops may be more successful than others, and thus gain ground much in advance of the general line.

It is frequently clear, and is explained by a military expert in the special war, that the success of the advance of the line is not dependent on isolated advantages of individual units, but on the successful advance of the entire line, the several units (divisions, army corps, or field armies) supporting each other in the forward movement.

The general supervision of the commander-in-chief. Therefore, it may be said that the success of the advance of the line is not dependent on isolated advantages of individual units, but on the successful advance of the entire line, the several units (divisions, army corps, or field armies) supporting each other in the forward movement.

The line or lines of trenches are not necessarily continuous. They usually form irregular groups of intrenchments distributed along the front of the position, the firing trenches facing the enemy's lines or the avenues of approach.

It would be well to note at this point that this advanced part of the line, while still a factor in the general offensive movement, is not the main line of the offensive, and that is the only form of defense that can secure positive results.

ANOTHER WHACK AT HIGH COST OF LIVING

Perhaps you were planning to buy your rug in a little while, which fortunately is not expensive and brighten up the faded floor coverings. To do this successfully you must first scrub the rug and then rinse it. Mix the dye and keep it well stirred in the vessel, so that the color will be even.

For a cotton rug which turns a dirty white use such colors as dark green, mahogany, red and soft blue. Dye rugs with warm water and allow it to soak for several hours. Dilute the liquid and wipe the carpet off with it. It makes a lather and should be rinsed off with clear water.

THE BEST QUALITY AT A REASONABLE PRICE

Your Efficiency.

Depends in a large measure on favorable conditions, and these favorable conditions are obtained with your own body health and the things which immediately surround the body.

You can't get 100 per cent. efficiency if you use glasses and don't wear them.

You can't get 100 per cent. efficiency out of glasses that aren't ground especially for your eyes—grounded with absolute mathematical accuracy, and fitted to your face with extreme care by an expert optometrist.

If you don't need glasses, the fact that these experts say you don't will increase your efficiency, and that positive knowledge. And if you do, the glasses you get here will be the most efficient glasses possible for you to obtain.

HOW GREAT ARMIES ADVANCE

The apparent inaction at some points on the great army lines in the European conflict, as reported in the daily dispatches, is apt to be confusing to the general citizen, but to the student of the art of warfare the reason for this is frequently clear, and is explained by a military expert in the special war.

It may happen that when fighting commences along a front many miles, some troops may be more successful than others, and thus gain ground much in advance of the general line.

It is frequently clear, and is explained by a military expert in the special war, that the success of the advance of the line is not dependent on isolated advantages of individual units, but on the successful advance of the entire line, the several units (divisions, army corps, or field armies) supporting each other in the forward movement.

COLONEL BURLAND DIES SUDDENLY IN LONDON

Was in Charge of Work of Red Cross Society of Canada

Montreal, Que., Oct. 8.—Lieut. Colonel Jeffrey Hale Burland, who left Montreal on September 29 to look after the work of the Red Cross Society of Canada, in London, and at the front, died last night in London. The end came unexpectedly. So far the only word that has been received is that he died of angina pectoris.

Colonel Burland was nominated to look after the work of the Red Cross Society of Canada in London. He arrived in London on Tuesday of this week. At the time of his appointment he was also made a Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, by the king.

Colonel Burland was in his 57th year. He was married in 1896 to Isabel May, a daughter of Henry Meggery, of Lunenburg, N.S.

MANY EAGER TO GO WITH SECOND CONTINGENT

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 8.—Although the formal acceptance of Canada's offer of a second contingent has not been received, so many offers have been received already by the militia department from all over Canada from men who desire to fight that there is every indication that the contingent will be kept to the limit of 22,000.

The contingent will be by divisional districts and will be in charge of Col. R. W. Rutherford of Halifax, Col. J. A. Denison of Montreal, Col. P. D. R. Hemming of Kingston, Major General F. G. Leonard of Toronto, Col. W. E. Hodgins of London, Col. H. B. Cruikshank of St. John's, and Col. J. A. Denison of Montreal.

CONSTABLE REPORTED

Constable George Blair has been reported by Policeman McLennan for standing at the corner of Charlotte and North Market streets and not moving when he was asked to do so.

Constable Blair says that he saw the policeman approach and he was standing in the street, not even on the sidewalk, and could hold a sign for the policeman. He stepped up and told the patrolman that he could not arrest the men and that if he had any complaint should take it to the station. The policeman asked his name and reported him, he says, instead of the other.

THE COUNTY VALUATORS.

The work of the board of valuers in the county has been completed, except for some office work, after three months of hard work. The members are now engaged in supplementing their field work with information for which they have to look to owners and agents in the city. This work is nearly finished and the way is about cleared for the start on the valuation within the city limits.

THE COUNTY VALUATORS.

This will be commenced at the first of the week and will take at least a month, if not more, time than the outside work of the board, referring to the work of the board, which is limited entirely to the business arrangements of the valuers.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dayton of St. Mary's, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Winnie Dayton, to Gilbert Prince, B. Sc., of British Columbia, the wedding to take place the 28th of this month.

How We Help The Retailer

Every time this newspaper prints the advertising of a standard article it is helping the retailer who handles that product. It is to the interest of retailers that a newspaper should increase its general advertising—because it stimulates business at their stores.

People like to see the goods they read about in the newspapers. If price and quality suits them they will buy. Every sale means a customer and a profit to the retailer. Retailers help their home newspapers and help themselves when they push these goods. It is co-operation profitable alike to the dealer, the manufacturer, the newspaper, and the consumer.

LOCAL RECRUITING

Thirty recruits were signed last night by the 2nd Regt. Canadian Artillery. Drilling is to be continued two nights each week, until such time as orders are received for permanent drill for those who have enlisted for the foreign service will be taken for training on Hartfield Island. The answer to the call for the second contingent of Canadian volunteers is a ready one.

Col. J. L. McAvity, O. C. the 62nd Regiment, St. John's Fusiliers returned home last night. He was interviewed by the members of the government relative to promotion of a New Brunswick regiment for duty in overseas service. He spoke at length upon the project, and gave a very attentive hearing. No action was taken owing to the absence of the acting premier. No further instructions towards local recruiting for another expeditionary force have thus far been received by any of the local officers except Armstrong, who got them while in Ottawa.

THE CAVALRY DEPOT

In order to clear up a misunderstanding arising from the reports in the local papers, Captain Parker of the British recruitment commission, has written to the Times explaining the difference between himself and Captain A. Grepe, the other member of the commission located here. He says that he is not the man that he had made the arrangements prior to the inspection by General Sir Frederick Benson, is erroneous, as all the preliminary arrangements were carried out by Captain Grepe, who is acting as the general's deputy, and who will continue to handle the business arrangements of the recruitment depot. Captain Parker's department is limited entirely to the management of the horses.

THE WAR NEWS.

The chief interest in the war news today attaches to the German attack upon the splendid city of Antwerp. Already great damage has been done by the heavy German artillery, and it is claimed that some of the outer fortifications have been occupied.

ELECTION TALK.

Most people still refuse to believe that the Borden government would plunge this country into the heat and turmoil and bitterness of an election campaign, at a time when it should be the duty of the government to appeal to the common patriotism of all the people, and keep the minds of the public centered upon the preservation of the Empire.

The Toronto Telegram, also a Conservative journal, has an Ottawa despatch giving the names of a group of Ontario members who have arrived, and tells of others coming and going, and says that the talk of a general election this fall is quite persistent.

CAVALRY SONG.

(By Edmund Clarence Stedman.) In the "Cavalry Song" from "Alice of Monmouth," the wild clamor of battle fields finds an expressive echo:

Our good steeds snuff the evening air, Our pulses with their purpose tingle; The foe's man's feet are twinkling there; He leaps to hear our sabres jingle.

A Reverse. "I hear that Rogers has met with reverses since his marriage." "One reverse, any way. He married his stepmother and now instead of his dictating to her, she dictates to him."

Called to the Colors. The Groom—Well, Bill, you won't see the gov-nor's horse any more; they've taken him for the army.

Waste of Time. "Goin' ashore for yer leave 's'evenin' mate?" "Yes." "Woller? You're a bloomin' teetotaler, ain't yer?"—The Teller.

ELECTION PROBLEM WORRIES LEADERS OF GOVERNMENT PARTY

There is still a possibility that the Dominion government, afraid to face its future, will endeavor to secure a snap verdict in its favor by calling a general election this fall.

SAYS PATRICIA REGIMENT DID NOT LEAVE WEEKS AGO

Editor "Times":—In the news report in the "Times" of the eighth inst. in which it is stated that some of the Canadian troops have been in England for two weeks or more, this impression was created from the fact that the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry embarked at Montreal on the S. S. Megantic which was duly called by England.

underskirt and a basque tunic. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 44-inch material to develop this model, with the cape, or 4 1/2 yards of satin without the cape. Crepe de Chine is equally as desirable as satin and, perhaps, more serviceable. Two yards of 36-inch material will be needed for waist and skirt lining.

After cutting the pattern from a fold of the material begin to make the outside first. Underface front from front edge to double "notch" perforations. Gather front and back between double "T" perforations. Close under-arm seam as notched and adjust a tape 1/4 inch wide and 12 inches long underneath seam, regulating fullness. Close shoulder seam. Sew directoire collar and cape to neck edge as notched; roll front as illustrated to form revers. Center front indicated by single small "notch" perforations. Arrange on lining, centers even; stitch armhole edges together, notches even.

Gather sleeves between double "T" perforations. Close seam as notched, drawing in gathers to fit. Close cuff seam as notched, sew to short sleeve, double "notch" perforation at sleeve seam. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched, sewing any fullness.

Now join the tunic sections as notched, leaving left side seam free above large "O" perforation in front section for opening. If desired with open front slash down fold at center-front and turn under front edge on small "notch" perforations. Gather upper edge between double "T" perforations. Sew to lower edge of center front and back centers even, seam at under-arm seam.

Size: No. 5215. Sizes 21, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 waist. Price, 15 cents.

Patterns published in this series may be obtained by sending price of pattern in cash or stamps to The Evening Times Pattern Department, 23 Center-bury Street, St. John. As a rule, patterns are made to order and delivered to the buyer. These sending money must be careful (1) to write the number of the pattern plainly (2) to write their name and post office address clearly, and (3) to enclose the price.

IT-GOL LOWTHER'S WOUND IS NOT A SERIOUS ONE

Writes of Almost Continual and Wasteful Shell-firing by Germans

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—Lieut.-Col. H. C. Lowther, formerly military secretary to the Duke of Connaught, who was wounded in the fighting in France, has written to a friend in Ottawa, in part as follows:

"I am glad to say my wound is not very serious. If the bit of shell had gone straight in it would have been all up with H. C. L., but it had the tact to travel six inches under the skin and was resting on my breast bone, whence it was comfortably extracted three days later. I rather fancy there may still be something in there, as it doesn't heal in a hurry.

"This has been the biggest battle in the world's history I should judge, both as to extent and as to numbers engaged. It began on the 18th of September and the shelling has been pretty well continuous ever since. I don't know where the Germans get their supply of shell, but they shoot continuously at everything and at nothing. They bombarded three miles of a road we were not using throughout the whole of one night. It is very gratifying to find that man for man, our soldiers are infinitely better than the Germans. I wish we had 500,000 of them, the war would soon be over."

PRESBYTERY DISAPPROVES OF RIFLE SHOOTING ON SUNDAY

(Toronto World.)

The Toronto Presbytery yesterday protested against the militia using the Sabbath Day as a time to practice target shooting and manoeuvring and passed this resolution:

"It has been reported that such military manoeuvres as reviews and target shooting have been held on the Sabbath Day, and as in the judgment of the presbytery there is nothing in the present situation to warrant such manoeuvres, this presbytery would respectfully desire to utter its protest."

Doctor Robertson moved the resolution and Principal Gandler seconded it. Special attention was drawn to the sham battle held by the Queen's Own last Sunday at Cedarvale and the shooting on Sundays at Long Branch.

Doctor W. T. Herridge, moderator of the general assembly, and Doctor A. S. Grant in discussing the budget said that it was a time to advance, not to retrench. The share of the Toronto Presbytery will be about $240,000.

A resolution regarding the making of Thanksgiving Day into a holiday instead of a holy day was referred to the general assembly.

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY

(Montreal Gazette)

Born in Milwaukee on October 6, 1858, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy received many congratulations yesterday upon the recurrence of his natal day. The president of the C. P. R. has more than once hinted at family gatherings of the officials that the day was not far distant when those who were presently entrusted with the control of the company must give place to younger men; but Sir Thomas, strong and alert and young of heart and mind, looks fit for many years of commanding and influential service.

It was in 1869 that Sir Thomas began his railway career in the purchasing department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, being, from January, 1879 to October, 1882, general storekeeper on the system. It was in that year that Sir Thomas joined the C. P. R. whose headquarters were in the old Imperial Building next the Bank of Montreal, as purchasing agent. In that office, though it did not rank significantly, Sir Thomas brought to bear upon his duties the qualities and capacities which have given distinction and power, and mastery to his incumbency of the supreme position—alertness, quick decision, foresight and unflinching courage and optimism.

These qualities and gifts could not be hidden in the small office, and in 1884 he was appointed assistant to the general manager, who was then Sir William Van Horne. He rose successively to be assistant general manager, assistant president, director and vice-president and in 1899 president of the system.

The vigor and success which have marked his administration are too well known to need notice. His administration has been distinguished by the precision, the large outlook, the energy and courage which have marked it. Perhaps it might be said that the chief distinction of the head of the executive is that he has given to the company the benefit of a kindling imagination, tempered by great prudence and practical shrewdness. At the right, or, as many say, the psychological moment, he has done the notable thing. Every large act, involving radical departure from routine, or the accomplishment of a new and large task has been justified by experience.

While those who know him superficially would see, possibly only the eminently able but intensely practical railway president, Sir Thomas has shown himself as an enthusiast of the day at the unveiling of the monument to King Edward—that his mind is rich in spiritual apprehension. That Sir Thomas may be spared many years to direct the destinies of a system which has done much to make so vast and powerful, is the wish of many outside railway circles.

Hopper Recognized.
"Even animals show their feelings," remarked Dr. Wolf Hopper, the comedian, to a friend. "Only yesterday an animal showed me gratitude. I was wandering along a stream in the country when I met a cow in great distress. Her calf was drowning. I plunged into the water and rescued the calf and the grateful cow licked my hand."
"That wasn't gratitude," replied the friend. "The cow thought she had twins."

INDIA'S LOYALTY
Miss Clarke, Baptist Missionary, Writes to Moncton Friends.

Moncton, Oct. 9.—Miss Flora Clarke, formerly of Charlevoix, N.B., who is now stationed at Vidyaagram, India, in the Baptist mission field, writes to her friends here describing conditions in India since the outbreak of the war. Her letter was read at a meeting of the First Baptist Missionary Aid Society.

"The people of India are showing a fine spirit of loyalty," she writes. "We are indeed grateful. Had they so desired, they could easily have taken advantage of the war to raise a rebellion and strike for their own independence, but throughout the length and breadth of this great land they seem united in trying to see what they can do to help the British, Rajahs and Maharajahs are coming forward and offering themselves and their gold; patriotic meetings are being held and the people seem unanimous in their loyalty."

Miss Clarke says that after the war broke out stone-keepers in India started to raise all their prices, but the magistrates quietly informed them that that would not work, and requested them to put the prices of local articles as they were before the war. Of course imported articles will be higher.

Dr. C. A. Murray of this city and his brother, Dr. H. W. Murray of Shelburne, left yesterday for God's to attend the funeral of their mother, James Murray of St. John is a son. One daughter, Mrs. Menie, also survives.

GERMAN CRUELTY

Striking Appeal For Belgians By Consul in Edinburgh

London, Oct. 9.—Dr. Charles Sarolea, Belgian consul in Edinburgh, war correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle, and editor of "Everyman," who recently witnessed and described the bombardment of Antwerp by a Zeppelin, has issued an appeal to the people of Great Britain and America for aid for his stricken country.

"After 350 years the memory still survives in the Netherlands of the Spanish Terror," says Dr. Sarolea. "Henceforth the memory of the 'German terror,' the 'Furore Teutonico' will live, and will even the crimes of Alva and the Spanish Inquisition. After sifting all the exaggerations, there remain countless authenticated deeds of inhuman and callous cruelty and there are only two reasons explaining these deeds.

"In the first place the Germans were taken unaware by the heroic resistance of the little Belgian army. They vented on the defenseless inhabitants their disappointment at the failure of their plans and they tried to succeed by terrorization where they had failed by force of arms. In the second place, the German soldiery, being quartered in the chateaux of the nobility and in the mansions of the well-to-do burghers and being allowed to sack their well-stocked cellars, gave themselves over to the orgies of drunkenness. In the third place, the Belgian campaign, almost from the beginning, took the form of guerrilla warfare, the most cruel and most relentless form of war. Almost from the beginning the Germans scattered in small bands and removed from the presence of superior officers, raided a territory dependent of troops and sacked and burned the countryside with impunity.

A Nation of Out-of-Works
 "Other belligerent nations may suffer from unemployment, but in Belgium there has been created a whole nation of unemployed. It is literally true to say that a whole people have taken to the road. Day after day, in every region, mile after mile, I met those melancholy processions of fugitives of every age, of every class, who, huddled in carts, old women and infants trundled in wheelbarrows. Because the Germans have reverted to the nomadic stage, there is this difference between the nomadic Belgians and their ancestors, that their ancestors were shepherds, while the Belgians are nomads at the mercy of a relentless foe.

"A few days ago King Albert of Belgium, in an interview, was dilating on the recent barbarities committed by the enemy. I pointed out to His Majesty that retribution was coming, and that victory was near at hand. His Majesty's confidence in the final issue was as complete as my own, but no anticipation of a final victory could comfort him in the present universal distress of his subjects and the appalling ravages of the war.

"When victory comes to our arms," he said, "what will remain of my miserable people?"

Doctor Sarolea points out that the £700,000 so far subscribed to the Belgian Relief Fund would mean but three shillings each for more than a million sufferers in Belgium.

Interesting Chart at War Office Shows How Englishmen Rose to Occasion

London, Oct. 9.—At the headquarters of the London recruiting offices the authorities have compiled a chart which throws an interesting light on the psychology of recruiting. It covers a period between August 11 and September 8, when 51,094 men enlisted in London. It shows how recruiting remained at a daily average of 1,200 while the news from the front was not disquieting; how it rose when the news was not so satisfactory, and how it went up with a rush when heavy casualties were announced.

On Monday, August 24, the news was "German advance all along the line." There were 1,461 recruits. On Tuesday there was a further advance and the recruits went up to 1,647. On Wednesday, when it was announced there were 2,000 casualties at Mons, the figures rose to 1,861. On Thursday, with reports of the further retirement of the British troops, 2,000 recruits were added to the roll.

By Saturday, the 29th, when the news was "British fight against tremendous odds," the total was 2,000 for the day, and even on Sunday, August 31, when photographs of the first British wounded were printed, recruits responded with a rush and 4,001 men enlisted.

Now that the War Office has had a chance to deal with the first 600,000 recruits for the new army, it is anticipated that before long the standard will be put back to the old level. At the London recruiting headquarters the names and addresses are being taken of thousands of men just under five feet six inches and they are being told to settle down for a few weeks and wait until they receive a telegram. An official said that it was not that the army did not want the five feet three inch men, but recruiting had to be dampened down somehow to give the War Office a chance to deal with the men, and it was decided that the simplest way was to raise the standard.

QUOTE PRICES ON MILITARY ORDERS

Canadian Woollen and Textile Mills May Secure Profitable Business

A fresh impetus to the business of Canadian woollen and textile manufacturers is likely to be given soon by the placing of some important orders for winter clothing for the troops by the British and French governments. It is known that prices have been quoted by some of the large Canadian mills for considerable quantities of blankets, underwear, knitted goods, etc., and if present negotiations are successful, the mills are promised some very desirable business.

That the need for goods of this description is urgent is indicated by the action of the British government in insisting that the War Office must be given first call on the output of home mills.

Considerable business in winter equipment is already on hand in connection with supplying the needs of the Canadian overseas contingent, but this business will be materially increased if the mills here are successful in their initial tenders for supplies to the British and French governments. If the goods and the prices are satisfactory, orders received now should result in repeat orders, promising work for a long way ahead.

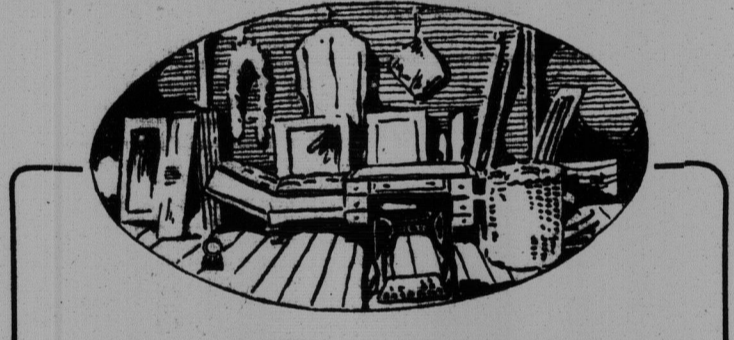

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The attention of Canadian manufacturers has been called to the presence in New York of British commissioners sent over to purchase supplies, principally clothing for the British expeditionary force. The Canadian manufacturers are anxious to get all such orders in Canada and feel that they are well able to supply the goods required, they should be given an opportunity to fill the orders. The matter is being brought to the notice of the government, with a view of having the British purchasing commissioners visit the Dominion.

Government Provides Seed and Fuel as Loan

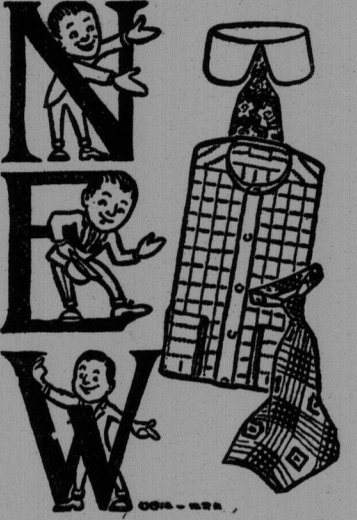

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 10.—At the Irrigation Congress, J. Bruce Walker, head of the Government Immigration Bureau at Winnipeg, announced that the federal government was providing fuel, food, seed, grain and other necessities required by farmers in these districts which had suffered unduly from drought this year. This was not done as charity, but the government was charging the cost of the supplies up as a loan, and fixing no date for re-payments, with no interest charged for the first year.

Asserting that the greatest thing the people of Canada could do for the empire in the present great crisis was to go about their avocations as though nothing was the matter, bringing stability to business, and particularly mindful of the agricultural development, Hon. Duncan Marshall stirred the gathering of 5,000 people at the evening session to a high pitch of enthusiasm, when he declared that when the war was over, the settlement effected should be upon the basis on which the century-long peace between the United States and the empire rested.

GERMANS MEETING STRONG RESISTANCE AT ANTWERP FORTS

Special Correspondent Regards Capture of City as Practical Impossibility

BELGIANS IN EXCELLENT FIGHTING SPIRITS

Photographer Sees Nothing Dramatic in Bursting of Shell or Death of Bullet—He Prefers Central Africa to Belgium Just Now—Gardens Under Fire Now Elaze of Eloum.

London, Oct. 8.—Sir Alfred Sharpe, at St. Nicholas, near Antwerp, sends the following despatch to the Chronicle under Wednesday's date:

"I visited today the western position of the present scene of operations in Belgium, that is, the western end of the line of attack on Antwerp. The strength of the town lies in the extremely strong line which the defending force holds, the line of the Rupel and Nethe rivers with the intervening flat country. It is difficult after seeing the western portion of this line to suppose it possible for an attacking army to force its way through. The natural conditions are most favorable to the defenders and these have been added to and improved in such a manner as to make the taking of Antwerp appear almost an impossibility. The spirit of the Belgian troops is excellent.

The Germans appear at present to be concentrating their efforts on the more easterly side of the circle in the direction of Liege, the leading of the trenches to the west of the Belgian western forts and batteries are drawing very little reply. It was not easy to see what the result there was from Belgian fire which was shrapnel intended for the German trenches. All that could be seen was small clouds of smoke which arose among the distant trees where shells exploded. On the battery itself one sees nothing. It is of course concealed in whatever way possible by the best way. It is only by getting to higher ground that one is enabled to get a general idea of what is going on.

While we watched the batteries there were occasional spurts of rifle fire between the opposing trenches which might be a mile or two distant. Meanwhile the field telephones are at work and orders come and batteries as to range and matters, all of which is interesting when seen for the first time.

This morning I passed through the towns of Lokeren and St. Nicholas with many intervening villages. This part of Belgium must be one of the most thickly populated districts in Europe and all the inhabitants were out in the streets watching the traffic passing by. The flight of a number of aeroplanes was an unusual sight for the people who under ordinary conditions pay no doubt the most hum-drum lives with nothing of startling interest or excitement.

BELGIAN GARDENS BLAZE OF BLOOD

"One of the industries of the country is the growth of flowers and roots for the English market. At this moment their gardens are a blaze of blooms. Nothing could exceed the kindness shown everywhere by all. It is enough to ask one's way to have a cut a dozen guides who would be hurt at any idea of recompense. We met parties of country people here and there who had been compelled to evacuate their farms, gardens and cottages, owing to their actually coming under fire. The poor souls had such of their belongings as they could collect in remembrances, hand carts and small carts drawn by dogs. St. Nicholas, the nearest town of any size west of Antwerp, is full of cars, ambulances, wagons and every form of vehicle dashing in about in one direction or another. Under normal conditions it is a sleepy old world town with its vast open market places, atrociously paved streets, its old church and the low hills. It was to the last named I had to go to interview the burgomaster in order to procure a "laissez passer". The entrance to the building was thronged by crowds of country people, many of them refugees, others requiring passes, to enable them to travel on the roads.

NOTHING DRAMATIC IN BULLET'S MESSAGE

London, Oct. 8.—The Antwerp correspondent of the Daily News gives, under Wednesday's date, details of an interview with Cherry Kerton, describing one of the latter's experiences in photographing war scenes.

Mr. Kerton was in Alost during the German bombardment. "I tried to get pictures of shells exploding," he said, "but it was next to useless, for they hardly show on the film. In the trenches too, it is useless, and rather brutal, it seems to me, to try to get pictures. For instance we, who have seen men die from bullets and shrapnel, know quite well they simply slip forward a little and the whole thing is finished. They do not fling their rifles in the air and die in a posture, and pictures that show that may be known at once as fakes."

"By the time I had finished trying to get pictures of shells exploding among the houses I thought it was time to get out. So I started off down the street with a Belgian. One thing was interesting, a dog and a cat followed us down the street, and as the shells burst they went dodging about from one side of the road to the other, but the cat never turned a hair. It walked along beside us as if we were cat's meat men. The dog made me nervous, but I was reassured.

SHELLS FOLLOWED BELGIAN RETREAT

"Further down the whistle of shells came following us along again, trying to pick up the Belgian retreat, but before watching the shells I managed to break in the door of a shop and get inside. It is surprising what one will do in emergencies like that. Fortunately for the cat and dog, it was a butcher shop, and I thought they might as well have some meat as the Germans, so I handed them down a leg of veal and left them to it. Then I came out. "When the war is over, I know a nice quiet place in Central Africa, and I am going back. This job is too difficult, and it is not very satisfactory working a moving picture machine when you would work a mitrailleuse."

Italian Submarine Located

Leghorn, Italy, Oct. 8, via Paris, 2.50 m.—The cruise of the Italian built submarine which disappeared from the Gulf of Spezia some days ago, and later turned up at Ajaccio, Corsica, has come to an end. The French authorities of Ajaccio, who took possession of the vessel, asked Paris what disposition they should make of her. The submarine was Paris communicated with Rome, Italy, to send a destroyer to get the submarine, and there is reason to believe that she is now on her way home under this convey.

Detained on Her Way

London, Oct. 8, 4.10 p. m.—The steamer Nieuw Amsterdam of the Holland-American line, arrived at Plymouth today. The Nieuw Amsterdam sailed from New York Sept. 29, her destination being Rotterdam. The fact that she is at Plymouth indicates that she has been diverted from her course by British authorities and sent in to Plymouth. Other steamers of this line which left New York for Holland have been diverted to English ports, notably the Potsdam, the Ryndam, the Rotterdam and Noordam.

JAPAN GIVES NO OFFENCE TO U. S.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Satisfactory assurances have been received from Japan regarding her intentions in the war against Germany, according to statements made by President Wilson to callers today. The president said he had not followed the details of the Japanese explanations of the recent attack on German positions in the Pacific. He indicated, however, that nothing had occurred liable to cause concern on the part of the United States government.

Frontal Attacks Deferred

Berlin, Oct. 8, via London, Oct. 8.—According to the latest despatches received here from—(name deleted by censor) but probably some place in France frontal attacks have proved costly in lives to both sides that they have been referred. The antagonists are awaiting the results of flanking movements which promise greater effect with fewer casualties. The German soldiers on the center of the line (in France) live in their trenches. The only warm meal they get is served in the night. It is impossible to kindle a fire in the day time, as the smoke would divulge their position. Otherwise the men live on cold meats, fruits and bread.

TRAITORS AT HOME

(Amherst News.) There have been some complaints regarding shoddy boots furnished to the Canadian volunteers. It is unfortunate that we have men so absolutely soulless that even when the empire is in danger their first thought is of the almighty dollar and graft, blind to the fact that shoddy productions may mean the very lives of their fellow countrymen. We are glad to be able to say that such boots were not "made in Amherst." From a half dozen of the men at the front we have received words of high praise for the boots manufactured in this town. The contemptible cur who thinks only of the profit should be pitch-forked over to the mercy of the Germans.

HOW TO SAVE THE APPLE CROP.

(Boston Globe.) The European war has so curtailed the apple market that, with the crop this year the largest for many years, American orchardists are unable to dispose of their product at any price, and barrels upon barrels of choice fruit will go to waste unless there be adequate preventive action. The Massachusetts Board of Agriculture is making commendable moves to aid the growers of this Commonwealth and other New England States.

But it has remained for Canada, confronted by a similar situation, to solve the problem, so far as it is capable of solution, by the application of regular business methods. Our neighbors to the north usually have exported 1,500,000 barrels of apples a year to the United Kingdom and 75 per cent of their evaporated apple product to Continental Europe. Hostilities ended the sales across the sea. Whereupon the Department of Trade and Commerce of the Dominion adopted a newspaper display advertising campaign, such as any enterprising merchant would use under the same circumstances, to create new sources of domestic demand.

That campaign is now in progress and promises, according to all reports, to prove a complete success. If our Federal and State governments and the American apple growers themselves would take the tip and follow suit, we too could save an abundant apple crop. Few persons read circulares nowadays. Everybody reads the advertising columns of the newspapers. NOT LIKE ST. JOHN. Judge Sheehan in the domestic relations session of the Boston Municipal Court Wednesday morning, convicted Edward J. White on a charge of deriving support from the earnings of his wife. Judge Sheehan sentenced him to the House of Correction for a year.

SHEEP RAISING.

Somerset County, Maine, to Ask Legislature to Create State Instructor's Office.

Skowhegan, Me., Oct. 9.—About 100 sheep raisers in this county and their representatives, have started a campaign which will culminate before the Maine legislature this winter where they will demand some law to help the farmers of Maine in sheep raising. The first thing that is being considered is to have a sheep instructor similar to the dairy instructor. Every farmer that raises sheep claims that it pays a good profit. What is needed is something that will teach other farmers how to raise sheep. The movement for something to increase the interest in this branch of farming has been started by the Hiltons of Anson and Starke, who have raised sheep for more than twenty-five years and who say that there is more money in this kind of farming than any other for the same amount of labor. They believe that the farmers will raise sheep if the state department of agriculture will encourage it and assist in the instruction.

CHILDREN NEGLECTED

Humane societies for the care of children have decreased in number during the last year from 318 to 307, while societies devoted to the protection of animals have increased from 180 to 191, according to reports submitted at the opening of the annual convention of the American Humane Association. The number of children cared for by the societies last year was 191,664, as compared to 177,747 during the previous year. The number of animals that received attention by the societies devoted to them increased from 2,589,186 to 3,348,707. G. A. Scott, secretary of the Illinois Humane Society, deplored the fact that many organizations for the welfare of children are inactive, while those that specialize in the protection of animals are energetic in securing the enforcement of the laws.

The annual opening night of the St. Alphonsus Association of Roxbury, Mass., was held Tuesday night. Michael J. Dwyer gave an interesting talk on the experiences in the European war.

Mr. Dwyer sang the battle song of the Allies, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," and all of the 500 members joined in the chorus.

at the Top of your Thanksgiving Grocery List

For the luscious, ruby-ripe and mellow-sweet Canadian apple, we should truly give thanks. Of all the harvest it is the most beautiful, the most healthful and nourishing fruit. Within its carmine-tinted skin is all the goodness and bounty of Mother Earth.

How many Canadians realize that there is no fruit in the world so luscious, so beautiful, so economical and so health-giving? The Canadian Apple—envied of all nations to such an extent that heretofore, until the war prevented their getting them, the wealthy foreigners have bid so high that the cream of our crop has gone to Europe! Which means that heretofore Canada—the home of the apple—has known only "seconds" and inferior imported fruit.

CHEERY NEWS FROM WEST

Very Large Wheat Acreage Next Season—Resumption of Railway Work

(Montreal Gazette.) "The people in the west are optimistic and are preparing for a very large wheat acreage next season—an increase, in fact, of about 25 per cent." was one of the marks made by E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, upon his return from his western trip.

"The crop, though not so large as was expected, has been harvested at least three weeks earlier than usual, so that a very large amount of fall ploughing has been done, and this will be a great benefit to the crop of 1915, which I think is ahead of anything we have ever had in the Northwest."

Sir William Mackenzie returned after his western trip, says that there will be marked increase in the wheat acreage for the crop of 1915. As for the share of the Canadian Northern in the wheat moving business his company had handled about 20,000,000 bushels this far in the season and had been delivering at Port Arthur an average of 400 cars per day. "We have handled about 80 per cent of the grain," said the president of the Canadian Northern. The west, Sir William said, was getting new and well come money from its hog and cattle raising industries, which were developing fast and most profitably. There should be a considerable revival in railway traffic, which was in a decidedly character, which everyone is expecting soon in the war zone, take place.

"A resumption of railway work on a large scale by the C. P. R. in all parts of the west," says the Calgary Herald, "is one of the good items of news of the day. Incidentally it furnished a splendid example for other large employers of labor both east and west."

"The ballasting work which the railway is undertaking may not be immediately necessary, but sooner or later it will have to be done. Doing it now is merely a further recognition by the C. P. R. of a patriotic duty."

He stated that the building inspector had given him to understand that he could put in walls of a certain size that afterwards were objected to. The point was as to the regulations of the fire protection.

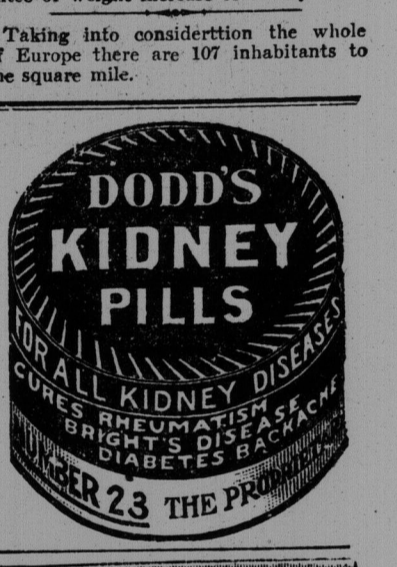

Com. McLellan mentioned that while he thought the matter was one for adjournment he would oppose anything that would be later cited as a precedent in the making of fire screens. He added that the department would soon bring up a proposal for new fire by-laws.

The matter was referred to the recorder and the commissioner of public safety.

"The Spy"

(Copyright, 1914, By The Newspaper Enterprise Magazine)

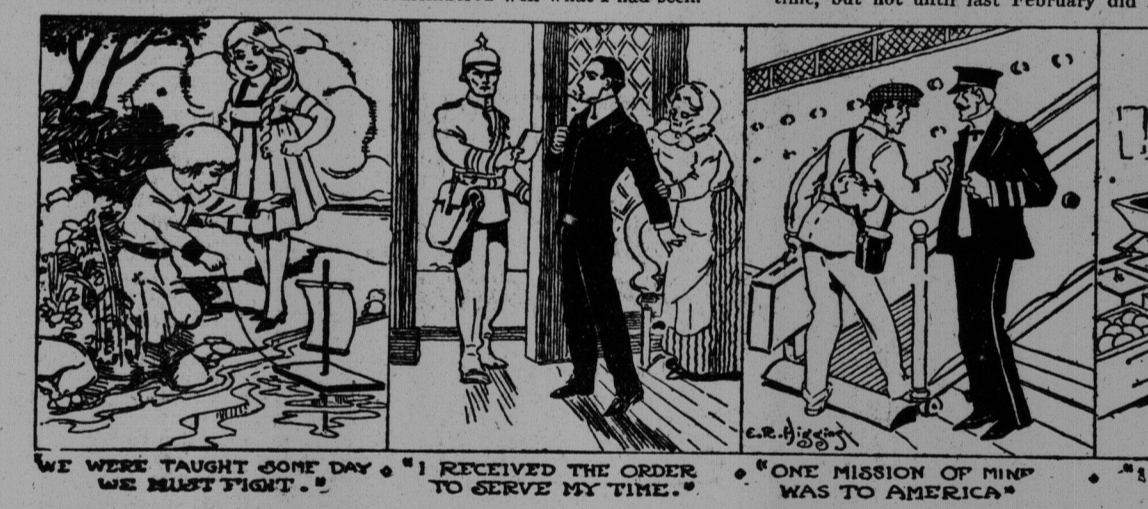

(This spy fled to America to escape the governments of two nations. He knows that secret agents are watching him still. This story was secured from him in a village in Pennsylvania. His story lacks literary qualities, but it is filled with interesting and first-hand information regarding the early developments of the European war.)

PART I.

I was born at Insterberg in East Prussia. My father had served in the Franco-Prussian war and received a medal of the second class for bravery. He was wounded twice.

Although very proud of his own military record he opposed militarism and I believe held strong socialistic tendencies before his death. Mother hated warfare and desired when I was a child that we go to the United States that I and my older brother might not have to serve.

Until I was fifteen we lived at Inster-berg, which is a small city with a large trade, and is located in Eastern Prussia on the Pregel river. I was educated there. I suppose the location of the city had much to do with my life. It is near the Russian border, and in what we call "The Land of All Tongues."

Most of the merchants speak German, Russian, Polish, Bohemian and many speak French.

Being a border city we heard much of the "terror of the Russ," which nation we hated as children. The fear of Russia always was with us and from our crabs we were taught that some day we must fight them. Each rumor of intrigue and plotting was brought home to us strongly. I was interested in intrigue from the time I can remember and we children played "Russian spy" or "English spy" for our games.

Then he asked me would I prefer that I should serve my time in the secret service rather than with the colors. I told him yes, because it was that which had been in my mind since a boy. So I was sent to Berlin to learn.

It was thus that I became a spy.

High Officials Involved.

Of the fourteen years I have served I more or less important missions were entrusted to me. Of the war with the Russ we and constantly until it seemed as far off as when I was a boy at Insterberg. Yet, Germany always was ready. Several times we have been near war but it passed. Once, a year ago, we were very near.

I was then in Belgrade and in Vienna. It was a plot of Servians against Austria. Our reports were that at least three Russian high officials were in it. Twice I have been in England on service duty—each time to learn what preparations the English were making against us.

We were ready during all the war in the Balkan states—expecting to be forced into war with Russia. Some day the story of Russia's part of the last two years in the Balkans shall be told.

Of the murder plot that finally brought on the present war I know nothing. But it was only the last straw. Had it not been that, then something else, for Russia and Germany were ready. England, I think, was duped by false representations by Russia. France, I think, was too trustful, and suffers for it.

All of the nations, save France, expected the war. This war has been fought, although there was little of tangible difference makes it what was the immediate cause—or excuse?

But to my personal knowledge: Like all others I knew war must come sometime, but not until last February did I see that it was to be soon. One mission of mine was in America. I came to learn how many Swedes and Norwegians were returning to their colors. We knew Sweden thought Russia's blow was to be at her—and had summoned home all reserves. Even then Russia was concentrating troops under various excuses.

On my return to Berlin in April, I again was in Belgrade—on a matter entirely foreign to war, and in Paris, where I examined their reported defenses against air attacks, finding little new.

In May the activity of our department indicated that the war feeling was growing, although there was little of tangible cause for the feeling. Both the military and secret officers were extremely busy and very much worried.

On the nineteenth of May I was sent to get a report on the alleged strength-ing of the defenses at Namur. This was a surprise, as we possessed detail maps of Namur's forts and works and knew the exact strength of its defenses and defenders even to the ranges for our field guns at certain positions. We possessed the same information concerning practically all the border defenses of France, Belgium, Holland and Russia, and knew through our system that no considerable change or addition could be made without our knowledge.

I went to Paris, where I was handed a passport made out to one of our agents at Rochester, N. Y., and proceeded as an American tourist northward to Namur. There was no evidence of increased activity of the French, although an army corps was engaged in some work at Amiens, where I stopped.

Meets Russian Spy!

At Namur I found little change. Some minor changes had been made in the concrete work on the defenses on the Sambre side of the town. I learned the one thing of importance to report was that both British and French engineers had inspected the works within the fortnight. What this portended I left my chiefs to discover.

Returning after ten days at Namur I reached Cologne, and forwarded my report, waited and received a brief command to repeat the moves at Mons, Antwerp and Liege. I found little change or activity either at Mons or Antwerp. The people were not talking of war and the officers of the Belgian army were not concerned or did not seem to be.

My own fears were lulled. One Belgian officer with whom I held conversation shrugged his shoulders when I broached the subject of the murder of the Austrian Prince and said the poverty would find a way to avoid troubles that they did not want it.

At Antwerp I encountered a member of the Russian secret service who recognized me.

Seeing I was known I quickly saluted him and we spent the evening together discussing the chances of war. He pretended he was merely loitering after completing an errand in France and I growled that I was always being dispatched on wild goose chases. Neither of us deceived the other.

This encounter made it necessary for me to drop my pose as an American tourist. The night I left Antwerp a code message informed me that the situation was critical. That was the evening of July 25. I reached Liege the next afternoon, showed my American passport, secured a room at the Hotel de Suede, carefully concealed my American passport, and my money.

The following morning I rode into Liege on a cart filled with vegetables, and dressed as a truck farmer went to the market. I had purchased the cart from a German who was fleeing with his family to escape the coming storm.

Even then I could not believe that what I had expected so long was at hand. I recalled that my Russian friend of the secret service had, when we parted at Antwerp, drunk "to the Great War." It had been a jest with us of the service on the continent for many years. I am wondering whether he knew or whether he, like myself, thought the war cloud would blow over!

Halifax, Oct. 8.—Yesterday's sessions of the Maritime Synod of the Presbyterian Church were never to be forgotten by any of those present notably the evening address when Rev. Dr. Herridge, moderator of the general assembly and Miss Ratte, superintendent of the rescue work of the church, delivered excellent addresses, and Principal MacKinnon, amid echoing applause, presented the finest report of Pine Hill College in his whole history.

At the afternoon session Rev. Mr. Sutherland presented recommendations with respect to the foreign mission work. He read a memorial from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society asking that, in the event of amalgamation of the funds, the society's constitution and status will be conserved.

Judge Forbes presented a report on the church and manse building fund.

The report of the committee on standing committees followed, after which Mr. Hamilton proceeded with his address on the value of leadership. He was heard with closest attention as he mentioned instances within his own knowledge where the introduction of special methods based on a systematic campaign of inspiration had resulted in greatly increasing giving to the schemes of the church. ## SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

GOLF

Stetson Day.

The golf season was closed yesterday on the local links, when Stetson Day was held and enjoyed by a large field with splendid weather for the sport. Chief interest yesterday centered in the Stetson handicap between W. W. Bruce and P. S. Nibbet in which the latter won. At noon after a morning devoted to ladies' singles, the members of the club had luncheon together, and in the afternoon there was a programme of mixed foursomes, besides the leading handicap event. Then followed the presentation of prizes, at which ceremonies the president of the club, J. U. Thomas presided, and assisting in the presentation of the cups and other prizes were Chief Justice Barker, Senator Thorne, Mayor Frank, Mrs. George McLeod, Jas. G. Harrison, and others. This was probably the last time that the club members would be together on the local links owing to the organization of the Riverside Golf and Country Club.

The list of prize winners for the season is as follows:
Ladies' championship—Won by Miss Frances Stetson.
Men's championship—Won by F. A. Peters.
Ladies' Cups.
Riley Cup—Won by Miss Frances Stetson.

BORROW FROM CITY COFFERS

Holders of Small Mortgages Will Be Tided Through Crisis

(Toronto World)
Within two weeks any honest, law-abiding citizen of Toronto, who needs it can borrow money at a nominal rate of interest. Comptroller McCarthy, after the Municipal Loan Association of the Industrial Association had met yesterday reported to this effect. It is part of the scheme to help persons in needy circumstances.

He explained that persons, without the usual form of security now demanded, found themselves hard pressed to make ends meet. The proposal was originated to help the small mortgagor, not to finance big concerns. "There are many people in Toronto," said Comptroller McCarthy, "who for years have paid their taxes and their debts, who at this crucial time are finding it hard to meet their obligations. Everyone agrees they should not lose the savings of years because of this misfortune. So we intended to help them."

Arrangements for securing the money are now being made by the committee, and they expect within two weeks to be able to advance money on security not accepted by the banks and loan companies.

LITTLE BOY WITH A BUSY DAD

His Pa is always busy getting rich. He's always tired when he gets home at night.

With one who can tell him which is right. It's not his fault he mixes wrong with right.

He never takes his youngster on his knee. And tells him what is good and what is bad.

I'm sorry for the little chap, for he is one of those who have a busy dad.

His Pa is in his office every day. He's thinking of his business all the time. He's putting many dollar bills away.

There is a look that's solemn-like and sad. But somehow in the little fellow's face.

And if I were to diagnose his case, It's just because he's got a busy dad.

He'd like to have his father by his side. He'd like to walk along and hold his hand.

Upon his shoulders broad he'd like to ride. And ask him things he doesn't understand.

If he could tell, as all his playmates do His troubles to his father, he'd be glad.

How pitiful his case is, through and through. The little boy with such a busy dad.

—Edgar A. Guest, in the Detroit Free Press.

The Victim.
It was a wisened little man who appeared before the judge and charged his wife with cruel and abusive treatment. His better-half was a big, square-jawed woman, with a determined eye.

"In the first place, where did you meet this woman who has treated you so dreadfully?" asked the judge.

"Well," replied the little man, making a brave attempt to glare defiantly at his wife. "I never did meet her. She just kind of overtook me."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

There are mighty few people who can see the other side of a case as clearly as their own.

C. D. HOWARD RETURNS
 Playgrounds Director Has Hope of Beneficial Use of Group and Club System For Boys and Girls in St. John This Winter

C. D. Howard, superintendent of Playgrounds and Social Centre work, has returned to St. John with many new ideas for the winter's work.

Mr. Howard, while on his holidays to the States, spent a week in New York, where he visited all departments pertaining to playground and social centre work.

He made the Playground and Recreation Association of America (International) his headquarters. Through an officer of this association he secured an interview with Dr. Edward Shilt, who has charge of social centre work in New York city, which was most inspiring and helpful. This work is carried on in the public school buildings.

The classes are held in the evenings, through the group and club system, and work consists of educational, social and physical class work with games, dancing and other forms of recreation properly chaperoned and supervised. Each town or city may not have all forms of this work, but such as are best adapted to their needs and for which they can provide the proper facilities are selected. Thus the playground work of the summer is carried on and extended during the winter. This is of more vital importance than the public is apt to realize, until it is demonstrated to them. A story of one of our own playground children will help to illustrate its need.

The superintendent last summer had occasion to visit the homes of several children.

One home in particular, a very squalid tenement in which some of the finest and brightest children of a certain playground lived, was found to contain not one element to encourage the child to clean moral life, but all the environment which would go to drag a child to a low criminal existence, both parents habitual drunkards. It was a case of street life, with its vile, degrading influence and intelligence, who could in countless ways influence the child for good. The playground was as free as the street and the child chose it.

The winter is approaching, that squalid flat will not be properly heated, and will likely be the scene of many a death. Where the child goes to escape it—into the cold street or to some place of bad influence?

It is for last such reasons that the St. John Playground Association is to try to provide social centers for the children of this city.

Through the courtesy of Roy F. Parsons, one of the directors of the Big Brother Movement in New York city, Mr. Howard was made familiar with the system of this grand movement in which over 700 men are acting as Big Brothers to the boys of New York. He spent a day in the juvenile court, in which he saw over 100 boys and girls awaiting trial for minor offences and crimes. The agents of the Big Brother Movement, and also the Big Sister Movement which has lately been inaugurated, attend this court, and many of these children on suspended sentence are put in charge of these agents, who appoint a Big Brother or Big Sister, whose duty it is to keep in touch with them, becoming their constant and adviser, helping them to find employment and bettering their physical, social and moral welfare, thus helping them to be self-respecting citizens and saving them from

FAIRVILLE NEWS
 Belgian Relief—Business Change—The Pink Case

Mr. Allan, manager of the Fairville Drug Co., reports that about a team load of food and clothing has been received thus far at his store for the Belgian relief fund. Contributions are still coming in and it looks as though this section is alive to the good cause though much more can be handled than has as yet been sent in.

Meanwhile there is activity in another quarter. The Fairville Tennis Club acting in co-operation with the management of the Gaiety Theatre intend holding a concert in aid of the fund within the next ten days. The Gaiety typographers have turned over the use of the theatre for the evening and will also provide moving picture entertainments. The balance of the programme to be secured by the club. Ads are being taken by the local merchants in a programme to be issued and profits accruing from this source will also go to the general fund.

J. E. Bryant has sold his grocery business to Frank Allingham and Walter C. Ross who will continue at the old stand.

Wm. A. Fox and wife returned after their honeymoon trip yesterday and were greeted by the ladies of the village last evening. A large bon fire testified to the success of the young couple. Apples rewarded them.

The fine of $20 and costs imposed by magistrate Allingham on Wm. Pink last evening has not closed the incident though further effort will be made to effect an amicable settlement so that appeal to a higher court may be unnecessary. It is understood that the highway board will meet within a few days and consideration will then be given to the arrangement of matters satisfactory to both sides without further legal action or undue publicity.

City teams this morning are hauling gravel from the pit near Cushing's, across the bridge to where the car line stops in Douglas Avenue. The gravel is taken up by the city automobile truck which transports three team loads at one time into town. It is said the heavy truck, which weighs 6000 pounds cannot be taken across the suspension bridge in safety when loaded and so the teams have to do the work part of the way.
