BRITISH PAPERS DISCUSS THE SELECTION OF AN AMBASSADOR

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Perhaps never before in the history of British journalism have American topics and news taken up so much space as at present. Just now the leading subject of discussion in the English press is the selection of a successor to Sir Mortimer Durand as British Ambassador at Washington.

While lauding James Bryce's accomplishments, the paper says it believes his selection to fill the Washington post would be "Nothing less than a disaster at the present phase of Anglo-American relations."

Incidentally the Outlook declares that President Roosevelt's personality is a dominating influence upon the American nation and that Unit will remain dominant even if he is not chosen for a third term.

Lively Discussion Over the Loose Methods of Conducting Public Business—Scott Act Matters Again

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 24.—The city last night held a session which lasted until midnight and at which a great variety of matters were considered. The project of placing the police in the hands of a commission did not make any material advancement, the motion being voted down by the police committee and was presented to the council as a minority report.

The looseness with which city business is conducted was once more the subject of consideration, especially so in connection with the street department. A motion that Street Commissioner Howard Scott be dismissed was defeated and another motion to suspend him was disposed of in the same way.

The Scott Act was also considered, a motion being made that the police marshal and officers be instructed to close all bars and if they do not carry out such instructions to be dismissed in thirty days.

President of Mormon Church Gets Maximum Fine

Makes Earnest Address to the Court Defending His Position Throughout and Asks for Lenient Sentence

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 23.—Joseph Smith, president of the Mormon church, this afternoon appeared in the district court before Judge Ritchie, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful cohabitation and a fine of $300 was imposed.

The charge under which the Mormon prophet was arrested and fined was based on the recent birth to President Smith's fifth wife of his forty-third child.

Early today counsel for President Smith procured a transfer of the case from Judge Armstrong's division of the criminal court to Judge Ritchie's. After the noon recess, when the court room was deserted, President Smith went before Judge Ritchie, offered his plea, and the fine was imposed.

MR. HOPPER REPLIES TO CITIZEN'S LETTER

St. John, N. B., Nov. 23, 1906. To the Editor of the Star, Sir: Citizen writes a long letter to you in connection with the recent street lighting contract entered into by the city with the St. John Railway Company.

remarks regarding Messrs. Ross and Holgate's report, that report dealt wholly with the cost of a lighting station at Thompson's slip the site selected by the aldermen. So far as the reference to the cost of coal the price given by me was what it would cost in the street. No contract was completed as it was supposed that the coal could be landed alongside the wharf in barges.

If citizen wishes any further information I will do my best to supply it provided the enquiries are signed in his own name.

Yours truly, H. M. HOPPER, Sec.-Treas., The Saint John Railway Co.

THE PRICE OF BREAD.

To the Editor of the Star: Dear Sir—My attention has been drawn to an editorial in Saturday's Star under the caption "The Price of Bread," which, owing probably to insufficient information on the part of the writer, is liable to produce erroneous impressions upon the mind of the public which reflect unjustly upon the members of a respectable trade who for the most part work hard without getting wealthy.

PEASANTS MADE ATTACK ON FRENCH MILITIA

Troops Fired Over Their Heads—Disturbances Continue Over Church Affairs.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—There remain very few church inventories still to be taken. Inventories in six departments were completed today. At Issarts, in the department of Ardèche, a critical situation developed. Five hundred parishioners, armed with clubs, scythes, bludgeons and pitchforks, threw stones at the soldiers, whereupon the Adjutant in command ordered his men to fire over the heads of the demonstrators and the crowd fled. The doors of the church were then broken in. The church itself was crowded with women and children, who thronged around the officials in an unprovoked effort to prevent the taking of the inventory.

GUIDE SENT TO JAIL FOR NEGLIGENCE OF DUTY

Failed to Properly Protect a Party of Tourists in the Alps.

VIENNA, Nov. 24.—A guide named Johan Gunnisman has just been tried in Salzburg in connection with the death of Herr Wiesdorff, an Austrian tourist, who fell into the crevasse of a glacier in the Grosser Venediger last August.

The guide neglected to rope together a party of four, in disregard of the rules as to roping on that mountain issued by the German Alpine Club, under whose jurisdiction he acted.

The evidence showed that roping was proposed to the guide, who said it was not necessary. Gunnisman, who is well known as a guide and is fifty-four years of age, has been sentenced to three weeks' imprisonment. This is the first sentence ever passed on an

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOV., 24, 1906.

TEMPERANCE

Mr. E. Fenwick Smith has been
St. John for a week, and during that time has by his addresses caused a little of comment, much of it of a favorable nature, much otherwise. One result has been that he has extensively anticipated the fact that a temperance campaign is being carried on. The very fact that this movement is kept prominently before the people of the province will result in a certain amount of good which can only be counterbalanced by the introduction of inadvisable methods of address. Mr.
Smith's remarks, however open and critical they may be, and his general bearing, will scarcely destroy the effectiveness of his words
and equally clear to the understanding
He is an able speaker, educated, forcful, well posted in his subject, and a times eloquent, though it is to be feared that he does not always display the calmness and personal dignity which entire respect. His method of address indeed is such that he has been openly criticized even by some few of those who are warm advocates of the principles which he represents. It is easily seen that Mr. Smith may have gained a high reputation in England
and equally clear to the understanding that we Canadians labor under different ideals and are not always impressed by the same style of eloquence as are the people of the old country. Thus while Mr. Smith's plan of campaign is an original one suited perhaps to British audiences, it has not been received in its entirety with the same appreciation here. We may not know how temperance principles should be expounded, and there is always the possibility that Mr. Smith is showing us the proper tactics in the war against intemperance. But at the same time many of us will hold to our former ideals and continue to criticize.

Not only Mr. Smith's methods but his arguments have been met by different opinions. Prohibition, which he earnestly advocates, is a beautiful dream and will remain in this condition long after Mr. Smith's grandchildren have passed to their reward. It is a most desirable but altogether visionary state, and no man may say that it will ever be reached. We are not, as a race, drunken. Two hundred years ago the majority of our grandfathers went to sleep under the tables. Drinking to excess became so common that it finally grew disgusting and the natural reaction followed. Now we seek prohibition, but at the same time our bodies and our minds turn in other directions for enjoyment, and for stimulation. We patronize all places of amusement to an extent never before known, and we are just as intemperate in this regard as our grandfathers were in the use of liquor. Again we eat too much, and there is not the least doubt that more people die from over-eating than from over indulgence in liquors, that more suffering is caused and nearly as much money spent.
What the world needs, and what has never yet had, is temperance, the proper use of everything that has been provided for man. Liquor is beneficial in certain cases; it is a great evil in the majority of instances. When we learn to regard alcohol not as a beverage but as a drug, when we realize that food is given to maintain strength and not for stuffing, when we see that gold is a circulating medium and not always to be sought for the purpose of hoarding up, we will be temperate.

AMONG THE MISSING.
Among the interesting features in the elections recently held in the United States may be considered the disappearance from public life of many men whose names have for some years been almost household words. There are among the defeated candidates several who had by some special act or the pursuit of a particular policy attained a prominence which it seemed would assure their continued success.
Among these is Upton Sinclair, the Socialistic candidate for congress in New Jersey. His highly colored book,
"The Jungle," dealing with the Chicago packing houses made him a more than ordinary picturesque figure. But Sinclair was in spite of the advertising which he received, fairly snowed under.
His highly colored book, "The Jungle," will drop out of public life next spring. "Gas" Addicks, of Delaware, also found that his influence in the state had almost entirely disappeared.
Among those who have in the last two years been actively engaged in municipal or state affairs and who have attained much notoriety are John B.
Moran, of Boston, and Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia. They have vanished and their places shall know them no more.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

"WHITE SLAVES."

I have heard somewhere sometime statement that "Britons never ever can be slaves" and that a slave feeling from slavery to freedom, as soon as he touches English soil becomes free.
In view of the race riots "way down in the Swanne river," and other Southern rivers, and the sweat shops, rum shops and child labor, the statement sounds rather apocryphal when Great Britain and the United States boast of their freedom. "But that is another story."
It may not be generally known, however, and I certainly take no pleasure at a great deal of shame in the telling of it, that there are many places in New Brunswick where men and women and sometimes children are sold to public auction. They are sold to the highest but to the lowest bidder.
In countries where there are no alms houses each parish has to care for the orphan and the overseers of the poor
at up in conspicuous places notice is at on such a date the poor in the Irish will be sold.
"Even as you said I" to become a Irish charge, there are always some mischievous taxpayers who will try to get the paper in embryo to move cross the parish boundary, for he it is, (and govern yourselves accordingly, impecunious reader) you must side in a parish at least a year before you can become the charge of that parish.
In a country not far from Carleton
in old man and his wife who had resided for many years in the parish of St. John, and who were likely to become orphaned taxpayers, were taken out and moved into the adjoining parish. Their parish moved them out, and so back and forth that poor old couple were moved until the case went into the courts, and was settled for money enough had been spent by those parishes to have kept the two people in luxury for fifty years.
Imagine if you can the selling of supers. The better class of people are shamed of the system and stay away from the sale. But the rougher and less scrupulous, who are very
un. No good man cares to be auctioneer, and the overseer, who is very heavily disgraced with his whole proceedings, asks for an auctioneer, and then some heartless, coarse and unscrupulous man, who is a local reputation as a wit is pushed forward and the selling commences.
"How much am I warranted for this old man, warranted gentle, and has a good appetite, cost next to nothing to keep him, and his work will pay for his keep, how much, gentlemen, how much for the old man?" And so it goes until some man nearby says to the auctioneer, "I'll take him for $1000, and dollars out of it for the poor old man with his 'poor appetite' will not eat much, and his stomach will rebel at
the food."
"How much for this old woman, can sew and wash and feed the pigs and clean out the stables, how much, gentlemen, how much for this old woman who will earn more than her keep."
"I'll take her for $1000, and dollars out of it for the poor old man with his 'poor appetite' will not eat
much, and his stomach will rebel at
the food."
And the saddest part of this story is that not a warrant was given for the essential truth of it.
And this is the 20th century, and the students adopted a resolution that the poor, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." But here the poor are "paupers, who nobody ever their bones over the stones."
THADDEUS.

the turbines were unable to stop quick-

The question of expense had also to be considered, as most turbine engines were eighty per cent more costly than piston engines.

GABINET DISCUSSED
THE FISHERY QUESTION

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., Nov. 23.—The fisheries question was discussed at length at the cabinet meeting of last night and it was decided to await the outcome of the negotiations now progressing with the Imperial Government before taking further drastic steps. The appeal before the supreme court of the cases of the fishermen who were fined last week for violating the latter act probably will not be ready for argument before the January sitting, by which time the herring fishery for the present season will be over.
The Halifax Herald of yesterday has
the following:
"At eleven o'clock this morning the Empress of Ireland was abeam of Cape Sable, half way to St. John from Halifax. She should arrive in St. John some time before midnight, but the tides may detain her. She will, however, have the assistance of the new tug, and may be able to land her passengers before daylight."
Contrary to the Echo's expectations, the pressurers from the Empress were not only landed in St. John before daylight, but arrived in Montreal four hours before there was light enough to read a newspaper.
I believe very fully in the advantages that good advertising can bring to a good business. If backed up with proper management—J. O. Powers in the Ad Book.

CRITICIZED MORALS
OF GERMAN WOMEN

American Speaker Was Mobbbed in Berlin
By a Justly Indignant Audience Who Resented Her Remarks—A Panic in the Club Room.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—Some time ago American ladies in Berlin founded a women's club where no distinctions of nationality were to be observed. The other evening Miss Hay, the club secretary, made a speech which caused a split among the Berlin club women. She violently attacked the morality of the German women, and suggested that they should take as a model the American sisters. She also implied all American women living in Germany to devote their energies to raising the moral standard of German women. She concluded, "We must raise them from the slough of immorality in which they live."

TOURIST SEASON IN

Modern Travelling Facilities Where Only a Few Years Ago Camels Were Used.

CAIRO, Nov. 24.—The river season is opening. Messrs Cook & Son are advertising their first tourist steamer and the boats, magnificent and new, of the Hamburg Anglo-American Company are very much in evidence. Hotels in Assuan and Luxor will be ready to welcome guests by the first of December, but it is not expected that the new hostelry at Luxor, the Luxor Winter Palace, will be finished before the new year.

FRANCE TO ABOLISH
THE DEATH PENALTY

Heads of Criminal Departments Favor the Bill.
They Find That Offenders are Careless About This Form of Punishment but Dread Confinement.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—A bill for the abolition of the death penalty just signed by the President is being laid before the parliament. Such a step is quite in accordance with the theories of the average Frenchman as has been demonstrated by the extreme tenderness shown to the worst criminals by countless juries. As a matter of fact capital punishment in France has been nullified in Paris since Poincaré was executed in 1899—that is to say in the last century—and during the same period very few heads have been chopped off in the provinces. Public opinion has unmistakably set its face against the death penalty and this in spite of the fact that murders and murderous assaults have been growing alarmingly frequent. It is noteworthy that men like M. Goron who was for some time head of the Criminal Detective Department, and M. Jaume, who was its chief inspector, are not opposed to the step which the government is taking. M. Jaume frankly says that murderers make as light of the guillotine as their victims. They invariably speculate on the indulgence of the assize courts, and if the worst comes to the worst—well, it is all over in three minutes. Criminals are being transported to New Caledonia, and it is to solitary confinement and to transportation that the authorities appear to be turning.

HER SON'S DEATH MADE KNOWN BY TELEGRAPHY

Woman in Milan Knew of the Affair Just When it Occurred.

MILAN, Nov. 24.—A strange case of telegraphy in connection with a murder is arousing much interest here. A woman named Lazzaroni awoke suddenly at three o'clock on Sunday morning and calling her son John, who lives in her house, told him that his younger brother, Leopold, living in the outskirts of the town, was dead. The mother was deeply affected, but John tried to comfort her by ascribing her fears to a bad dream. At dawn, however, Leopold Lazzaroni, a handsome, strong young man, the owner of a diary, was found dead at a spot some distance from his dwelling. After having made an examination of the body the doctors affirmed that Leopold had been murdered at three o'clock in the morning. The culprits have since been arrested. The facts which have been duly authenticated have been the subject of endless discussion.

HOW THEY BUILD A SUBWAY IN PARIS;
WORK IS CHIEFLY DONE FROM THE SURFACE

PARIS, Nov. 24.—In building the new subway in this city a method entirely different from that in vogue in America has been used. In the Place St. Michael a huge metal box fills the space between the houses, as shown in this picture. This is to form a section of the underground railroad. All the work so far has been done above ground, and the contractors are now at work hollowing out the ground beneath the mass of metal and lowering it into position at the proper level.

UNITED STATES EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM
CONTRASTED WITH THAT OF ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Despite the constant shifting of the kaleidoscope of English politics it is beginning to be recognized everywhere that Mr. Asquith did make a momentous announcement when he stated that the government would not give way to the house of lords on the Education Bill, and would not do so if they could. Efforts are everywhere being made to minimize the influence attaching to Mr. Asquith's words, but as a general thing ministers of Mr. Asquith's great influence and position do not make statements like this without the full consent of their colleagues. Mr. Asquith's announcement bears the imprint of official sanction. But it begins to appear as though the government must either drop the bill for this session or appeal to the country. And this, too, in spite of the gossip to the contrary, and the various plays which have lately been made for parliamentary position. And everywhere it is being argued that the government is not inclined to drop the Education Bill for this session.

It is difficult to see how he can escape the notoriety which has been thrust upon him. Speaking of education in America, Mr. Reid said that in a country controlled by popular suffrage and among a people passionately convinced of the success of their Government, the success of their Government depended upon the widest diffusion of intelligence. It was evident that a system of free public schools supported by public taxation would inevitably become there a fixed feature of public policy. With two systems in force it would be obvious that the one where tuition was free would grow the faster; and therefore it was equally obvious that those who paid for their own and were taxed for the other would wish to limit as far as possible the scope and consequently the cost of the one they didn't use. Two rival theories as to the taxing everybody for the education of the rising generation would thus develop; one that such taxation was only necessary and justifiable far enough to fit them for the common duties of citizenship; and the other that it was also to be public interest to fit them for anything. Heavy taxpayers would naturally lead in the first; those who felt less the burden of taxation or paid no taxes in the second. Thus could be easily foreseen a struggle between those who wished to limit the free public school to primary education and those who wished to carry it through secondary schools to colleges and universities. Two centuries of educational evolution in the United States seemed to be ending in a system ranging from the alphabet to the classics, the modern languages, literature, history, civics, the higher mathematics and science with a strong leaning to practical applications of learning in all fields of art and industry, sustained absolutely at the public expense and free to all with every grade opened to the poorest and the most friendless pupil in the grade below, on the single requirement that his standard there fitted him for it. This system has grown in the early years of the present century into a total enrolment of 15,700,000 pupils of whom 15,127,000 were in public institutions supported by taxation. When the enrollment for certain special interests, evening schools, Indian schools, schools for deaf, dumb and blind, feeble minded, etc., were added the grand total was reached of 18,137,000. Nearly one-fourth of the total population was at school in a population of eighty millions. One of the richest and most independent of the new universities, that of Chicago, endowed by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, had just determined to discontinue only male students hereafter. A final peculiarity of the American system might be noted—the extraordinary readiness of rich men to found colleges and universities to endow chairs in them, or to make them gifts of libraries and museums, or to help on the lower schools in a multitude of ways. In ten years the gifts to universities, colleges and schools of technology in the United States amounted to $115,000,000. The tide was steadily rising for in the three years 1902, the gifts to such institutions amounted to $15,500,000.

FATHER IS SEARCHING FOR HIS DAUGHTER

Girl Took a Notion to Come to America
And Her Father, Who Followed, Was Not Allowed to Land When He Arrived on This Side.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—"Dear Father—I have gone to America. Good-bye." A Manchester operative named Williamson on returning home from work about three weeks ago, found this message, hastily scrawled on a piece of paper, left for him by his sixteen year old daughter an attractive looking mill girl. Naturally he was thunder-struck by the note. Taking the train at once for Liverpool he found after inquiries that his daughter had sailed for the United States. Unfortunately the steamer did not call at Queenstown, and doing what he thought was for the best under the circumstances the father hurriedly raised enough to pay for a third class passage to New York. He took the first steamer out in order if possible to overtake and bring back the fugitive, as to whose ultimate fate he had the gravest fears. At New York, however, the officers of the immigration depot discovered that he had a weak heart, aggravated no doubt by the anxieties incident to the trip. In spite of his appeals and protests he was refused permission to land. After being detained for several days in the depot at Ellis Island in an agony of dismay he learned that he was to be sent back as physically unfit. His story that he was in search of his daughter was treated as a fable. In a state of despair the unhappy man returned to Manchester and hid his case before the Manchester branch of the British Women's Emigration

POWERS TO LAND
FORCE IN MOROCCO

Spain and France Will Quell the Disorders.
Troops to be Concentrated at Cadiz and France Will Send 5,000 Men.

MADRID, Nov. 23.—The continued disorders in Morocco, the despatch of the battleship Pelayo, the cruiser Infanta Isabel and the gunboat Maria de Molina to Tangier, and the reported intention to concentrate 5,000 troops at Cadiz to reinforce Ceuta and Melilla if necessary, are causing increased anxiety to the public, a majority of whom dread being involved in a costly and inglorious enterprise. Senor Alvarado, Minister of Marine, announced in the Chamber of Deputies today, that the warships already at Tangier would be withdrawn when the Infanta Isabel, Pelayo and Maria de Molina arrived there. Moreover they were only sent to ensure the carrying out of the Algeiras agreement. Despite this statement, the anxiety is not allayed. The warships carry 600 troops, and it is stated that 500 more will shortly follow. It is also reported that France is preparing to despatch 5,000 troops to co-operate with the Spanish forces. The Liberal newspapers attack the Government. They argue prudently handling the Moroccan question. The Imperial covertly accuses "a certain powerful person in Europe," doubtless meaning Emperor William, of backing Tangier in fomenting disturbances in Morocco. El Liberal exclaims, "May the providence which watches over drunkards and lunatics protect us in this enterprise."

TRIAL BY COURT MARTIAL
ABOLISHED IN FRANCE

General Piquart and His Colleagues Completing Their Plans for a New System.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—General Piquart is engaged on a scheme for the abolition of courts-martial, and his colleagues are devoting a great deal of attention to his project at the council. Some of the suggestions of the new Minister of War have been modified, and he is to draw up a definite text on lines accepted by the cabinet at large. The drift of the whole matter seems to be that serious cases will be tried by the civil courts, and that ordinary professional shortcomings will be left to "conseils de discipline." As might be imagined M. Joseph Reinach, who was one of the most ardent defenders of Dreyfus is well pleased at the turn affairs are taking. He has just explained in an interesting conversation that he is in favor of the suppression of courts-martial except for offences of discipline which will be tried by the "conseils." These courts may remain as they are or may be altered. M. Reinach quotes the opinion expressed by the First Napoleon that "on the Continental territory of the Republic every man was a citizen before being a soldier, and argues that this is the condemnation of the application of special jurisdiction to infringements of the common law by officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers.

Association, and that society of which the Queen is the patroness is now doing its best to trace the girl throughout the United States.

It is a remarkable coincidence that about the time of the girl's disappearance other young women operatives from Oldham and from other places near Manchester gave up their employment to emigrate to the United States on a promise of employment in mills just built in North Carolina. Promises of permanent work at splendid pay, and under good conditions are said to have been held out to them by an individual representing himself as the immigration agent for the State of North Carolina, though it is well known among those posted in such matters that such encagements are contrary to the general emigration laws of the United States, and that the States have no official emigration agents authorized to scour European countries in search of laborers.

"Mrs. Conross, president of the Manchester branch of the Women's Emigration Association interviewed upon this subject said: "We know from experience that such so-called agents take good care to keep their movements a secret from us if it is possible to do so. They go to work as quietly as possible. But we do know that from time to time the mill towns are visited by just such men calling themselves agents, and they often exhibit credentials manufactured for the express purpose of deceiving the unwary. These labor agents endeavor to persuade young girls to emigrate to America, and we have had cases of girls who have gone to the United States on promises of just such work at good wages finding when they got there that the work did not exist. Often it is the cruel form of swindling—the girls being induced to emigrate simply to make a profit on the tickets sold for the transportation, and the exorbitant rates charged in the boarding houses upon their arrival. When their money is gone these young women are turned out—thrown upon their own resources. Often they are expressly invited to meet a worse fate, and complaints that we have received show that their ultimate destination is the worst of the dens in New York City and other cities of the United States."

BIG GERMAN CANAL
TO BE WIDENED

KIEL, Nov. 24.—It has now been definitely decided to widen the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal in order to enable the largest warships to pass through it. Two side canals will also be constructed, one opening into Eckhorn Bay, and the other opening into the mouth of the River Schiel. The canal will thus have three outlets, a very great advantage in case of a hostile blockade of Kiel and its large bay. The widening of the canal will cost about $5,000,000.

SYSTEM OF MISSION WORK IN CHINA HAS CHANGED GREATLY IN THE PAST FEW YEARS.

PEKING, Nov. 24.--The tea and silk trades of China are in a bad way, and there is no use on the part of the government to longer attempt to disguise this fact. In 1884 the silk represented 23 per cent. of the exports of the empire. Now they account for only 45 per cent. The commissioner of customs at Canton is authority for the statement that the tea industry seems doomed.
The London customs in 1904 registered 6,000 chests of tea adulterated with fillings and sand, hence it may be inferred that the tea consumers alone are not to blame. This shifting of the tea trade can best be shown by the fact that in 1904 the United Kingdom consumed 16,537,720 pounds of China tea as against 240,236,925 pounds from India and Ceylon, and in 1905 only 6,600,000 pounds. Other countries will show an even greater percentage of loss though the statistics are not as well kept as in the case of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.
British and American commercial agents are at last moving in China, which swarms with Japanese agents, traders and pedlars. The modernizing of China is proceeding rapidly. The railways are heavily patronized. Peking is plastered with posters showing great commercial activity along the most approved Yankoo lines. One single thing will give the outsider an idea of how the modern Peking is improving along modern lines. Though it will hardly be believed, it is nevertheless the truth that the best equipped of steam rollers are used in flattening the streets.
The latest statistics would make it appear as though the boycott of American goods in China is proving futile. It is stated that the latest statistics bearing upon the subject show an increase from $21,000,000 in 1904 to $28,000,000 in 1905.
A great deal of discussion is going on in the Chinese newspapers just at present as to the work of the missionaries in China. Perhaps nothing could show the difference between the old China and the new like a simple statement of the fact that Chinese editors even dare to print arguments in favor of the missionaries, without shivering and trembling for fear that their offices may be mobbed by the indignant natives. It appears to be the consensus of the opinions of the editors of the various publications that in order to learn the truth about the missionary movement inquiries must be made not at the treaty ports but in the interior of the country. As may be readily understood a missionary is no more of a novelty at the treaty ports than is a clergyman a novelty in the streets of New York and San Francisco. The treaty port trader--his mind's eye fixed on trade rather than upon religious subjects--knows little about the matter. He is quite likely to argue against the missionaries, more so than any of the educated Chinamen. If arguments will not suffice the treaty port trader can generally be relied upon to dig up one or two stories of "rice" Christians familiar to the early-comers.

One thing may be taken for granted. It is as absurd to argue from old facts either in America or China. A generation ago there was no doubt some grounds for suspecting that many so-called converts adopted Christianity for what they could get. The policy of making "rice Christians," to use the expressive phrase in the old days, was even upheld by the wisest of missionaries. It has since been definitely abandoned. A generation ago men were often sent out as missionaries in the Orient because they were not clever to work at home. It is claimed that this has all been changed and that the Orient now secures for the missionary field the pick of the Scottish and American colleges. Certain it is that many of these men were tested by fire and blood during the recent Boer uprising and that they stood the test.
"When I first came to China," said one of the most famous of the living missionaries, "I saw the odd side of missions. I wrote accordingly. But since I have lived and travelled in the land and have come to understand the people I have commenced to consider the more serious phases of the work. Then, too, I suppose that something may be said for the fact that I am older now than then."
There are today over three thousand Protestant missionaries at work in China, nearly all of them English or American. Most of these are young people in the prime of life. They have knowingly and willingly placed themselves in positions where any outbreak of national passion means death. In the most terrible in Korea, a young child knows that the salaries are not so large that they can be accused of going abroad for the money.

Perhaps the most remarkable of the missionary movements going on in the Orient today can be found in North-eastern China and in Korea. There communities are being turned almost wholesale to Christianity. Four or five young Americans settled at Sun-chon five years ago. Today they have in their district eighty churches and twelve thousand adherents. It is doubtful whether the history of any land or any time will show so great a change in so short a period of time, unless the conversions have been conversions forced at the point of the sword. That there is nothing forced about this particular movement is demonstrated by the fact that the converts build and pay for their own churches, and pay for their own ministers. Towns in the historic "no man's land"--the bandit region between Korea and Manchuria--are being outwardly transformed, schools are arising and even the women are coming from a life of subservience to a life of comradeship with their husbands.
The wisdom of sending to China the pick of the brains of the Christian countries is demonstrated by the fact that in China the missionaries have to deal with the most astute brains, and with officials who have made the thoroughness of their training their glory. The semi-efficient man it is said may scrape through his work in America or Europe, especially if he is backed up by friendly influences. But he can do nothing more than fail in China. The missionaries who have succeeded in China have been men who have reflected the character of the countries in which they have resided. They have been men who would have succeeded in any walk in life to which they might have been called.
One of the most striking things in the missionary position is the manner in which the confidence of the officials has been won. After the great battle at Liao Yang, between the Russians and the Japanese, it was found that the chief Chinese magistrate had handed the work or relieving the distress over to the well-known missionary, Dr. Westover, upon the ground that the Chinese would keep the money if allowed to handle it.

DEATH WAS DECREED BY SECRET SOCIETY

Body of a Young Man Found Just Outside the Gates of Moscow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 24. -- The discovery of the dead body of a young man just outside the gates of Moscow is still causing no end of gossip in that city. At first the cause of the man's death was a complete mystery, but investigations revealed the fact that he had been shot, and undoubtedly by the sentence of some secret tribunal. The body was that of a young man, aged about twenty, dressed in civil clothes, but wearing a student's cap, and was ultimately identified as a student of Moscow University named Karavayoff. There were no outward marks of violence, all of the clothing being clean and unstained with blood, but a parcel of clothes with blood-stained linen was found a little distance away, the unfortunate young man's clothes having evidently been changed after his murder. All the circumstances support the belief that he was tied to a tree and then shot.

ANOTHER MAN JUMPS INTO A VOLCANO

KOBE, Nov. 24.--The third volcanic suicide within an ont's as just taken place at Kuumamoto.
Harapina Takuji, a youth of twenty, ascended the Aso volcano accompanied by a guide. For some time he sat on the edge of the crater, smoking a cigar, without giving any indication of mental distress. He suddenly got up and said the guide, and while the latter was expressing his thanks leaped into the smoking abyss with a shout of "Farewell!"
Takuji left a letter stating that his suicide was due to anxiety as to his future, and that he preferred death to poverty.

JEALOUSY AS A LOVE POTION IS ONLY A DRAUGHT OF POISON

(By Winifred Black in Boston American.)
A Chicago woman, whose husband is divorcing her, declares (poor, hysterical, over-wrought creature), that she never was the least bit in love with the man whom the husband has named in his suit, but that she threw her good name away deliberately because she wanted to make her husband jealous.
I wonder why. I wonder what women, who try to make their husbands jealous, imagine they are going to gain by that jealousy.
A man who has to be egged on to a semblance of love by being made jealous isn't worth worrying over for five minutes.
That silly, old fallacy about making your husband jealous to make him love you has caused more trouble than even the first-love-is-best myth.
There is no real love without jealousy; of course, but there is a great deal of real jealousy without the slightest particle of real love.
A man marries a woman because he loves her, and the one thing he loves and admires most in her is her truth and her fidelity.
You do not pick out a friend because you can't be sure of him, do you? Then why should any man who is worth bothering about care more for a woman whose fidelity is questionable than he would for one he knows is absolutely faithful?
A man loves his wife in a thousand different ways, and in a thousand different moods he shows that love.
A foolish little flirtation can be helped into a semblance of love reality by this jealousy fad, but you might as well try to control a spirited horse with a feather as to hold an honest man's love by making him jealous.
Marriage is a partnership; two persons stand together--together against the world. And the one thing that makes marriage a refuge from the world is the knowledge of absolute and complete and unquestioned questionable fidelity.
If I wanted to get a fool of a boy to imagine himself enough in love with me to threaten to commit suicide if I didn't elope with him I'd do my best to make him jealous.
If I wanted to be the one reality in a real man's heart, the one human thing that he absolutely loved and be-

MISS MILDRED BIGELOW, WHO IS WED

This young woman, the second daughter of Peay Bigelow, has spent much of her life abroad, but is well known in New York society.

Heved in, I would labor night and day to make him understand that nothing on earth could ever swerve my heart from his as long as there was a drop of blood in my body.
A man is a good deal of a looking glass. Smile at him and he'll smile back at you. Be stern and let him know that you are true a real man will prize that fidelity anything else on earth.
Jealousy as a sign of keeping love--why, I'd just-soon put carbolic acid in a cup of k to keep it sweet as to make my husband jealous to get him to love me.

VILLAGE OF GIRLS IN ENGLISH COUNTRY.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—The rural village of Toppenish, in North Essex, has become prominent on account of a remarkable phenomenon in the births that are recorded there.
During the last decade the birth rate has been noticed, and at the present moment the scholars attending the village school comprise ninety-three girls, but only eleven boys. In consequence of this, the country education authority is contemplating the substitution of a schoolmistress for the present schoolmaster.
But among those belonging to the place the present state of affairs has aroused considerable concern, and the question is being asked where the farm laborers of the future are to come from if matters do not change. The medical officer for the district has been consulted, but he can ascribe no cause for the greater number of girls. A well-known Essex doctor, whose advice has been sought, has suggested that the village water supply may have something to do with the question.

FORTUNE DRIVES MAN MAD.

Sudden Accession Leads to the Suicide of Beneficiary.
PARIS, Nov. 24.—An old man of 72, named Thomasset, who unexpectedly inherited a large fortune, lost his reason and committed suicide.
Thomasset, who was very poor all his life, worked as night watchman in the Boulevard de la Villette. Recently he heard that his brother had died in America, leaving him all his property. The old man seemed changed in his behavior after receiving the news, but insisted on going about his work as usual.
Last night terrible yells were heard in the house where he was employed. On entering the building the police found him demolishing the furniture. Before he could be arrested he fractured his skull by dashing his head against the wall.

DEATH PENALTY DOOMED.

French Cabinet Approves a Bill For Its Abolition.
PARIS, Nov. 24.—The cabinet today approved the bill prepared by the minister of justice for the abolition of capital punishment. The measure is to be introduced in the chamber next Monday.
The formal abolition has been anticipated ever since the budget committee stopped the salary of the late executioner, M. Debler, last July. Since then France has had no executioner to carry out the death sentence.
The late executioner received $5000 a year for his services, but public opinion in France has long been adverse to the death penalty that his services were very rarely called for. Indeed, Debler's salary worked out at about $5000 for every criminal he dispatched.

TRAIN WRECKER KILLED.

Robbers Make Mistake Which Ends Fatally For One.
PARIS, Nov. 24.—An attempt to wreck a mail train from Marseilles for the purpose of robbing the passengers and mails was made last night on the line between Orléans and Besiers, by a band of armed men and mechanics. But they miscalculated the time, and the first train to come along was a special goods train, which was derailed. The robbers made off, but one of them was struck and fatally injured by one of the wrecked vans. He recovered sufficiently to confess that it was the intention of himself and his companions to wreck and rob the mail train.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP TRAIN.

Tourists Escape Terrible Death Plotted by Anarchists.
GENEVA, Nov. 24.—An attempt was made to blow up the Simplon express, bound for Lausanne, near Villeneuve, yesterday. A railway mechanic named Raymond discovered a bomb containing thirteen dynamite cartridges, with a fuse attached, lying on the metals where the line runs over a bridge.
Had the bomb not been found in time, the bridge must have been wrecked, and the express, which was crowded with tourists, chiefly of English nationality, destroyed. It is believed that the outrage is the work of anarchists, and vigorous inquiries are being made.

THE CIRCULAR EVIL

By Anna Katherine Green.

EVIL. (Continued.) ENTRY XIX. Mr. Polndexter is better, but our eyes will have to tell us whether he is really better or not.

ENTRY XX. We have decided to be married in New York. Mr. Polndexter needs the change, and Eva and I are delighted at the prospect of a private wedding.

ENTRY XXI. Married! She is mine, and now to confront Felix with my determination to hold on to my happiness.

ENTRY XXII. "I thought I saw in one of my dark hours that I had consequently in my grave to curse me, Oh! he might curse me if I had."

FELIX. Meanwhile there was another secret struggle going on in the depth of a more calm and more collected mind.

"Madness!" I have seen Eva Polndexter again, she has been to hell here, contending for me ever since. Eva! Eva! the girl I thought of only as my prey.

"I have had a great surprise. The startling, which has been taught to murder Eva's name, and consequently to my bosom. But I did not, I am still a man."

MORE LAND IN THE FAR NORTH

Capt. Bernier Takes Possession of 14 Islands

Awaiting Arrival of Sealers to Collect Customs Dues Upon Their Trading Supplies

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 23.—Canada is now the official possessor of a lot more land in the far north. A report has been received from Capt. Bernier, in which he announces he has taken possession of fourteen Arctic islands in the name of the British king and the Canadian government.

CAPT. BERNIER.

Captain Bernier reported from Pond's Bay, Baffin's Bay, on Sept. 23. He was awaiting the annual arrival of the sealers to serve upon them the notice that Canada was the proprietor of the north land and to collect customs dues upon their trading supplies.

A SHARP DEBATE DRESS A FIGHTING SESSION

Foster in His Old Place as Borden's Lieutenant Attacks Hyman and Demands Insurance Report

London Election Keptnote of Opposition Speeches — Hyman Defended by Sir Wilfrid, Who Says Resignation of Public Works Portfolio Has Not Been Accepted — Tariff Revision Promised for Friday

Next—Bourassa Will Speak Monday.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—The second day of the session induced some electric sparks from the parliamentary atmosphere. The prophecy of a fighting session is likely to be realized, more likely than the hope of the Prime Minister that the members and the robins will arrive at home together.

MR. HYMAN COMMENDED

Speaking of Mr. Hyman, Mr. Pardee said he had done the honest and straightforward thing in tendering his resignation. From the nature of the man he could not have done otherwise.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER

R. L. Borden congratulated the movers upon the eloquence they had shown in their speeches.

MR. HYMAN'S RESIGNATION

"With regard to the London election, I may say a word of good cheer to the farmer, as it built up a domestic market."

INDISCRIMINATE ATTACKS CENSURED

If he had been a Conservative he would hardly have mentioned the Queens-Shelburne election. It was hardly creditable on the part of the Conservatives to fasten upon Mr. Fielding an offence he had never committed.

FIELDING ATTACKED

Mr. Borden said he had not made in campaigns any statements concerning electoral corruption in Hon. Mr. Fielding's election which the evidence had not justified.

THE EVENING SESSION

During the evening session Mr. Malden, of North York launched into the London election case without delay.

LOWER MORALS, SAID DR. SPROULE

Dr. Sproule declared that transactions in Western lands and the disclosures in the London election case indicated a lowering of the morals of the country.

PATERSON'S COUGH DROPS

They will cure a cough, whether it be a cold, whooping cough, or any other kind of cough.

INFORMATION WANTED ABOUT LAND DEALS

Mr. Borden wanted to know about 100,000 acres of land that had been apparently sold to the Southern Alberta Irrigation Co. The gentlemen interested seemed to have no prospect of making a very good thing out of these lands so the country would get the benefit of the investment.

THE PREMIER SPEAKS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he could not agree with the leader of the opposition, but he could heartily join with him in congratulating the mover and seconder of the address.

HYMAN UNFIT FOR MINISTRY, HE SAYS

The London election had been referred to by both the mover of the address and the Prime Minister.

ON THE TARIFF

Mr. Foster said that the tariff which the Finance Minister would bring in would be a masterpiece of the importance to Canada.

MR. FOSTER TO THE FRONT

Hon. Geo. E. Foster followed. He complained that parliament should have been called at the beginning instead of the end of the month.

LOCAL NEWS.

The next social of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H., will be held in their rooms, King street, Monday, Nov. 26th.

George Kierstead, a divinity student from North End, will occupy the pulpit in Ludlow street Baptist church tomorrow.

A special meeting of York Lodge, No. 2, I. O. L., will be held in the Orange Hall, German street, on Tuesday evening next, at which all members are requested to be present.

Thirteen deaths occurred in the city during the past week, resulting from the following causes: Old age, 2; meningitis, 2; consumption, 2; cancer, 1; pneumonia, 1; heart disease, 1; chronic bronchitis, 1; cerebral effusion, 1; whooping cough, 1; tubercular meningitis, 1.

In the police court this morning there was one lonely drunk, Wm. McInerney by name. William was called by the magistrate and he pleaded guilty to being drunk yesterday on King street. He said that he had paid a four dollar fine yesterday morning, "I'll try and save you from counsel," said the magistrate, and McInerney was sent into jail to get clear of the liquor and make up his mind to straighten up.

TWO STILL ALARMS.

Kitchen of Dr. A. W. Macrae's House Was Badly Damaged—A Tar Pot Boiled Over.

There were two still alarms this morning and Chief Kerr and some of the men were kept on the jump. Shortly after 10 o'clock fire was discovered in the kitchen of Dr. A. W. Macrae's house on Coburg street. The fire caught under a large kitchen range and considerable damage had to be done to the floor before the blaze could be extinguished. The loss is covered by insurance.

No. 1 chemical with No. 2 hose responded to the still alarm and No. 1 Salvage Corps wagon and No. 1 ladder truck also responded. About eleven o'clock while the chemical was finishing with the Coburg street fire No. 2 hose and No. 3 Salvage Corps wagon and No. 1 ladder truck responded to another still alarm caused by a tar pot's contents burning down the floor of a house in the corner of King street east and Pitt street. The damage was over before the chief or the chemical reached the scene.

THE MAGISTRATE WAS NOT PRESENT

It was some minutes before ten o'clock this morning that Magistrate R. J. Ritchie entered court. He picked up the Daily Telegraph of this morning and looked surprised. He then spoke aloud with the following sentences: "I notice in the Telegraph this morning a report of a temperance meeting last night, and it is quoted that the lecturer said, 'For every drunkard fined or jailed in St. John there ought, he said, to be a saloon keeper in the opposite cell.'"

"The Telegraph," he says, "says that Judge Ritchie was in the audience and here interjected: 'That wouldn't do. There are not enough cells in the jail to hold all the saloon keepers that would be needed.'"

"I wish to state that I made no such interjection, and further more to say that I was not at the meeting to say it."

The magistrate did not say any more on the matter, but did not seem at all pleased with the advertising he received.

FIZZLED OUT.

A few days ago there was published an article about a little girl being assaulted by a number of boys off Frederick street. As a result four boys were called before the police magistrate this morning to answer what was thought to be a serious charge. The little girl said that one of the boys had asked her when she was going to return to school.

The boys claimed that the girl knocked off the hat of one fellow and they chased her, she fell and that was all.

The girl said that nothing naughty had been said to her and that she was not injured by the fall. They were all told to be good children and were sent home.

The magistrate said that the matter had apparently been magnified and it was a pity for all that it had been so.

DID NOTHING.

The ferry committee met at City Hall this morning. Those present were Ald. Lockhart (chairman), Holder, Rowan and common clerk Wardroper.

The meeting was to have been held on Monday, but a mistake was made in the announcement, and the aldermen turned up this morning. As the required number were present it was decided to hold the meeting.

No business of any importance was transacted. Several positions for increases in pay were read. The press was not admitted to the meeting.

FINED FOR STRIKING THE GATE-KEEPER.

A couple of evenings ago Ferry Gate-keeper Burley had a hard time with two men named Craft, who were raising a disturbance in the East Side ferry house. This morning, as a result of the gate-keeper's testimony Richard Craft was fined $20 for striking Burley, and Otto Craft $5 for using profane language.

As the winter port season has commenced and the ferry docks on board the steamers are liable to be the same as in former seasons, so that it is hardly safe for people to get clear of insulting words and actions of tongue, it has been suggested that a policeman be appointed for the ferry work, or that the gatemen and deck hands be instructed to carry out the regulations and make arrests.

THE RUN TO MONTREAL.

I. C. R. Flyer Went at 43 Miles per Hour, and C. P. R. at 45 Miles—The Time of Arrival.

The C. P. R. liner Empress of Ireland docked at Sand Point at five o'clock yesterday afternoon. The mails were at once landed and placed on board the special train which left West St. John at 5:25 p. m. This train arrived at McAdam Junction, a distance of 88 miles, at 9:06 p. m., left Mattawamkeag at 9:46, left Brownville at 10:38 and arrived at Megantic, 207 miles, at 1:21 a. m. Allowing for change of locomotive and for taking on water, the train made splendid time from there on, reaching Montreal at 6 this morning. Thus the certain time from St. John to Montreal, a distance of 481 miles, was made in 10 hours, 37 minutes, an average of, roughly 45 miles per hour.

The I. C. R. express which left Halifax at 12:45 on Thursday night arrived in Montreal at 7:15 p. m., or eight hours and forty-five minutes ahead of the C. P. R. The latter company, however, lost considerable time by having to go out of their course to land mails at Halifax. The I. C. R. express covered the 457 miles in 19 hours, 30 minutes, or at an average speed for the entire distance of 45 miles per hour.

MONCTON, Nov. 24.—Nineteen hours and fifty-three minutes was the time made by the I. C. R. mail special from Halifax to Montreal which left the former city Thursday night 24:42 o'clock and arrived in Montreal at 19:15 yesterday evening. This time includes stops and is regarded as a highly creditable performance. The actual running time of the train was very little over nineteen hours, as forty-four minutes was occupied by stops on the road.

GOOD HUNTING GROUNDS AROUND ST. JOHN

An Englishman Who Carries on the Streets Conclusive Evidence of What Can Be Done

St. John is being amused nowadays with the spectacular actions of a rather odd Englishman who possesses one of those painfully commonplace hyphenated surnames. His moods are as changeable as the weather, and he and his dog some new story crops up that beats the one of the day previous. A few days ago he possibly not "exactly aristocrat" bought a brace of partridges in the market, and hastening to his home procured a fowling piece from "his-box-dontcherknow," and paraded the principal streets with the birds dangling at the end of the barrel slung over his shoulder. He certainly made one kind of an impression, though possibly not exactly the hit he expected to create.

Another day—it was a Sunday—Mr. Men from across donned a silken tie, a red carnation, frock coat, and with fierce moustaches and a big walking stick, stalked forth into the park. Evidently he ran across some more feathered game, for bystanders relate they saw him hasten back about an hour later with a gun—regardless of the day, place, or his well apparel.

Such advertising as St. John got a few summers ago, when live moose wandered through out streets, and wildcats as dogs, flitters on the back steps, is now bearing fruit apparently. The news has reached the parent isle, and some of our blavest "antennae" are reaching St. John's civic game preserves. Fortunately enough the trees and the squares and graveyards are quite bare now, else some home-going pedestrian might be banged at as a moose or a wildcat in the half daylight of these afternoons.

AN EYE OPENER.

If the ordinary school teacher would take charge of the system of manufacturing used by very large manufacturing concerns, for testing each workman's earning capacity, he should have his Currie Business University, for training its three hundred students to the limit of their earning capacity. The system of pushing its pupils to the limit of intuitive practice for their personal benefit. Instead of pushing some high sounding system of shorthand and business, in text-book form, for the purpose of pushing business, has placed the Currie Business University, with its splendidly equipped employment bureau, on the list with business houses, when reliable office help is required. This school employs high salaries to experts to superintend its inner workings and obtains its instruction from the law office and business house district.

NATIONALIZATION.

The sub-committee of the treasury board and the Board of Trade met last evening to discuss the plans for nationalizing the port. Mayor Sears was under the impression today that the meeting should not have been held until other interested parties were notified.

It was learned from one of those who were present, that last evening's meeting had only been called for the purpose of enquiring into several points which the members of the committee were not acquainted with.

The Douglas mill was bid in by Jarvis Wilson, Jr., for $8,000. Shares in the Bank of New Brunswick and the Central Telephone Co. were put up for sale but were withdrawn for private sales.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MEASLES PATIENTS?

Two on Board the Empress Do Not Seem to be Wanted by Anyone.

There is considerable trouble over two cases of measles that were on board the C. P. R. liner Empress of Ireland yesterday. The ship had the patients on board when she arrived at Halifax. The Halifax quarantine officer visited the ship, and as she was in such a rush to leave that port gave her a clean bill of health. She then changed from a foreign to a coastwise vessel and steamed into the harbor yesterday afternoon without flying the quarantine flag. As there were no stops until the dock was reached, Dr. March, the local quarantine officer, did not board the ship. An endeavor was made to have the two patients sent to the General Public Hospital, but the authorities at the hospital referred the matter to the board of health, and they refused to have anything to do with the cases, as they claimed that it was a matter to be handled by the quarantine officers. The patients are yet on board the ship, and it has been questioned whether the ship should discharge passengers before being given a clean bill of health here.
