HOT FIGHTING.

Americans Capture Santa Cruz, a Filipino Stronghold.

One of the Most Interesting and Most Important Battles of the War.

The Advance Was Made With a Rush—Something Like the Old Fashioned Frontier Style of Shooting.

MANILA, April 10, 7.10 p. m.—Santa Cruz was the Filipinos' stronghold on Laka Laguna de Bay, and it fell into the hands of Gen. Lawton's expedition after some sharp, quick fighting, forming one of the most interesting and important battles of the war.

The plans of the commanders worked perfectly, with the exception that the progress of the expedition was delayed by difficult navigation of the river. About 1,500 picked men composed the expedition, which was under the personal command of Gen. Lawton, on account of the illness of Gen. King. These troops partly surrounded the city, while the gunboats Laguna de Bay, Napitan and Oropesa under the command of Capt. Grant of the Utah battery, shelled the city and outlying trenches.

Gen. Lawton and his staff accompanied the expedition, leading charges in Indian fighting tactics, which eventually resulted in the complete rout of the rebels, with the smallest amount of damage to the city and slight loss to the Americans. The expedition started from San Pedro Macati at dusk on Saturday, intending to capture Santa Cruz by assault at daybreak. But in navigating the shallow, tortuous river, perhaps through the cunning of the native pilots, who were not anxious to see the Americans successful, several boats grounded, and it was nearly dawn when the troops reached the lake.

The expedition then streamed cautiously forward, the Napitan and the Oropesa a mile ahead, and the Laguna de Bay guarding the rear. Rebel signal fires, however, were lighted on the mountain tops, giving warning of the approach of the troops. It was noon before the white church towers of the city appeared in the shadow of the great volcanic mountain on a marshy plain, dotted with occasional palm trees. At Casco, a square ended, flat bottomed boat, with a force of two hundred picked sharpshooters, under Major Weisenberger, mostly belonging to the First Washington regiment, was run into a shallow inlet about five miles south of the city.

A few shells were sent towards the encampments of the rebels at the edge of the woods, sending the enemy scampering inland. Then a number of Americans jumped into the water and wading for about a hundred yards crept forward and formed in line, covering the landing of the remainder, which finished about 5 o'clock. The three troops of the Fourth cavalry, unmounted, were sent ashore on a dangerous marshy point, directly south of the city, under fire from the enemy's trenches.

Meanwhile in the town itself there was utter silence and not a sign of life. Gen. Lawton, desiring to make an inspection and to give the inhabitants an opportunity to surrender, went on board the Laguna de Bay, and, accompanied by the Associated Press launch, which was tied to the dock, the whole fleet watching anxiously. When it was discovered by the glasses that the trenches and stone buildings were swarming with white clad soldiers the two boats withdrew, remaining in line on the trenches thrown up in the marshy plain north of the city.

The flotilla anchored in compact formation for the night, ready to recall any surprises from the rebel gunboats supposed to be in the lake. At sunrise today (Monday) the assault commenced. The American line south of the city stretched two miles inland, and with its left sweeping the shore, it moved north, while the Fourth cavalry men advanced toward the city, pouring volleys upon the trenches. Simultaneously the gunboats hovered along the shore, shelling the woods ahead of the troops and driving the Filipinos inland. The gatlings cleared several trenches.

The whole brigade was divided into squads of twelve, and the fighting was carried on in the old time frontier fashion, from behind trees, crawling through bushes or running across the open. The trenches that were not cleared by the gunboats gave considerable resistance when the line was near the city, and the Laguna de Bay and Oropesa bombarded for an hour in the hope of making them too warm for occupation, but did not succeed in clearing them entirely.

Gen. Lawton, with the 14th Infantry battalions, approached a narrow iron bridge across a creek on the south border of the town. Here a company of Filipinos was entrenched across the stream and behind a stone barrier cade at the entrance to the bridge. The Americans rushed forward in single file, in the face of a galling fire, demolishing the barricade with their hands, and drove the enemy from the trenches, killing a dozen.

The Filipino soldiers in the town, secreted in various buildings and firing from the windows, gave the invaders an interesting hour. There was a regular nest of them in the stone jail, which is wedged in by a wall. This was a veritable pepper pot. The Americans, singly and in pairs, entered the houses, and many warriors were taken prisoners. A considerable body of Filipinos fled northward, crossing the open marshes, but the gatlings poured upon them a deadly fire until they disappeared in the woods, slaying dozens.

Major Weisenberger deployed the sharpshooters along the shore, and they crept steadily forward, aiding the gatlings. Finally a large body was sent against the enemy in the woods, driving them, toward the mountains.

Gen. Lawton established headquarters at the elegant palace of the governor, and a guard was immediately placed in the church, as the sacred edifices are always the first objective of the looters. Within an hour the town was patrolled and all looting rigidly prevented.

Almost all the inhabitants had fled during the two preceding nights, and only a few Chinese shopkeepers have emerged from hiding and resumed business. On the marshes north of the town were found forty dead Filipinos, some terribly torn by shells and many others wounded, to whom the Americans offered their canteens, as though they were comrades. A surgeon who traversed the field counted eighty killed, and Gen. Lawton will report at least sixty-eight.

One Filipino, attempting to make his escape, slashed viciously at Major Weisenberger, who shot and killed him. Yesterday the insurgents captured two men of the Fourteenth Infantry, while unarméd, but the Americans stole the guns of their captors, clubbed and returned this morning.

The gunboats this afternoon have been searching the Santa Cruz river for shipping. Tomorrow the expedition will push forward, the Americans having destroyed miles of telegraph lines, cutting off insurgent communication east and west.

OTTAWA, April 9.—The government was interviewed Saturday by a large delegation of Ontario men, urging the imposition of an export duty on lumber. The ministers are non-committal. It is understood that Colonel McLean and McLacran, while here, strongly insisted that the Canada Eastern railway be taken over, and that straight away.

The colonial cruiser Flora was ordered to proceed to the west coast to investigate the recent destruction of the French lobster factory there. The incident created a great sensation and the governor, Sir Hugh MacCallum, is in constant cable correspondence with the colonial officers in London upon the subject.

Ganong Condemns Government for Duplicity Regarding Prohibition.

Powell Criticizes Attitude of Ministers in Regard to their Pledges.

St. John and Halifax Subsidized Gigs Make a Big Pull on the Public Treasury.

OTTAWA, April 11.—The debate on the address was resumed today by Mr. Henderson of Halifax. He said the government speaker followed, and Mr. Ganong took the floor. The member for Charlotte, after referring to the duplicity of the government on the tariff question and on the independence of parliament, condemned their deception in regard to prohibition. It would seem now, in fact, it was now a matter of certainty, that the government never meant to give effect to the people's will if it were expressed in favor of prohibition. If the majority had been six hundred thousand the government would have dealt with it as it is now doing.

He wanted to inform the government that the 27,000 men who voted for prohibition were the best citizens of this country. They represented more than themselves. They represented four millions of Canadian people. Neither this government nor any other could afford to disregard the wishes of these people. Personally he would like to see a dissolution of parliament in order that the temperance people could have a chance to express their views as to this question. Mr. Ganong spoke of the three or four colleagues of Mr. Laurier who took the stump against prohibition in Quebec. He then read a number of letters and resolutions by ministers of the gospel, temperance organizations and other temperance people, expressing their condemnation of the government for breaking its pledges. Mr. Ganong also showed that the course of the government was in flat violation of the promises made by the premier and Hon. Mr. Fisher. He then referred to the prohibition bills and resolutions introduced by Mr. Flint of Yarmouth. Mr. Flint had excused himself from bringing in the bill or motion last year on the ground that the government had a prohibition bill of their own for that session. Mr. Flint would now perceive what the government prohibition bill amounted to. There was nothing new in the way of Mr. Flint's bill, but he (Ganong) would introduce it this year a place would probably be found for him on the bench.

Mr. Ganong in the evening dwelt upon the treatment of the fishermen by the government, showing that nothing had been done in their interest while new burdens had been laid upon them. Mr. Powell followed, criticizing the speech of Mr. Flint at the address, disputing in order every claim made by the premier in regard to the achievements of his ministry. He argued that Mr. Mulock had accomplished nothing useful, that the preferential policy was a sham, the plebiscite a fraud, and the reduction of freight rates on the ground that the government had a prohibition bill of their own for that session. Mr. Powell would now perceive what the government prohibition bill amounted to. There was nothing new in the way of Mr. Flint's bill, but he (Ganong) would introduce it this year a place would probably be found for him on the bench.

To Be a Successful Farmer

Nowadays calls for as much thought and brains as to be a successful merchant or professional man. To gain the best results of a farm calls for close attention to business and a careful study of the markets. Just as in any other calling, successful farming depends on the RIGHT application of brain and muscle. GOOD farming for the West meant POOR farming for the East; profitable advice to the Ohio and Ontario farmer might mean ruin to the farmers of this country; a crop raised at a profit by them might not pay the cost of tillage here. They are things every man should take into consideration when subscribing for a farm paper. To get agricultural information especially applicable to the Maritime Provinces take THE CO-OPERATIVE FARMER. From 16 to 20 pages every number; issued twice a month, nicely printed and frequently illustrated; $1.00 a year. Don't delay. Subscribe at once.

READ WHAT SUCCESSFUL FARMERS HAVE TO SAY ABOUT IT:

L. Fuller, manager of the Provincial Farm at Truro, N. S., says: "I am glad to say that the CO-OPERATIVE FARMER, as applying to the Maritime Provinces is the best agricultural paper in the Dominion of Canada. As a medium for advertising it has no equal. It deserves the patronage of every intelligent farmer in the Maritime Provinces." J. C. Dwyer, of Truro, writes: "I enclosed $1.00 for renewal of my subscription to the CO-OPERATIVE FARMER, which expires some time in April. I think I would not be without the FARMER for twice that amount. Would you also please send me the last issue of the paper, as I have some questions answered in it which you would forward to me." David Irvine, of Knoxford, Car. Co., N. B., says: "When paying for his subscription up to March, 1900: 'Please excuse my tardiness in renewing. Your paper is worth paying for.'" W. W. Black, the well-known Hereford breeder of Amherst, N. S., has this to say when sending $1.00 for his subscription: "I have been without your paper for two or three months and have missed it very much, as it is both interesting and instructive. If each farmer and breeder interested in the advancement of agriculture would send in to the editor anything of interest or any profitable experiences he has had in farming or breeding the paper could be made still more useful. I sold out everything in the shape of stock last fall, and I can say thanks to the CO-OPERATIVE FARMER for helping me do so." Enclosed you will find $2.00 for subscription and an encouragement in your laudable work of helping make two blades of grass grow where there is only one," writes John Troop of Bear River, N. S. Says Isaac Wark, of Andover, Victoria Co., N. B.: "I want to tell you that I like the CO-OPERATIVE FARMER better than ever and gather a lot of useful information from its pages. I think every Maritime farmer should take it, and I wish you every success." John A. Shea, of Grafton, N. B., says: "I think the FARMER the best agricultural paper for the farmers of this province. I like it best and I have taken a great number of other agricultural papers."

was surprised that the paper of Ross Robertson, who professed to be an independent member, should have charged this government with having perpetrated a "raid" on the public in the matter of the preferential tariff. He admitted that the general rate of duty had been increased before the present reduction had been made and that there had been a large reduction on goods imported from the United States and not from Great Britain, but claimed that on the whole the schedule taken together had a tendency to be more liberal than the greater. Mr. Patterson contended that the reductions in the tariff to all countries saved the taxpayers some two millions, and that the amount would be larger during the current year.

WASTING TIME.

The Government Has Not Yet Introduced Any Legislation.

Mr. Emerson Will Not Tell What He is Paying Per Pound for Steel Bridges.

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 11.—Last week was a very dull one in the legislature, no interest being taken in the proceedings before the house. The galleries are utterly destitute of spectators except occasionally for a short time in the afternoon, when a few normal school students availed themselves of the privilege of visiting the provincial parliament. There has yet been no important or interesting legislation before the house. A number of private bills have been passed and some local bills introduced. The government has not as yet initiated any legislation except the amendment to the game law introduced on the day of opening. Lack of interest in the proceedings is very manifest to a visitor to the house in the hushed and unconcerned manner of the members. Only a few seem at all interested in the affairs before the house, the great majority being engaged in letter writing and newspaper reading when engaged at all.

As will be seen by the official report, Mr. Humphrey tried on Saturday afternoon to elicit some information from the chief commissioner regarding the building of the Kingston bridge. The replies from Hon. Mr. Emerson to Mr. Humphrey's inquiries were very vague, but enough was learned to show that the bridge is still being built by the Record Foundry Co. of Moncton, practically without tender or competition. The astounding statement was made by Mr. Emerson that he did not know how much per pound he is paying for the Kingston bridge, consequently he does not know whether he is paying a big or a little price for the structure. Mr. Humphrey was not satisfied and the country cannot be satisfied with the meagre information vouchsafed by the chief commissioner. Mr. Humphrey has given notice of further inquiries. The Women's Christian Temperance Union of this city is supporting a petition now before the house for the Woman's Suffrage bill, by circulating among the members printed matter setting forth some of the advantages of granting suffrage to women. It is not yet announced when the provincial secretary will make his budget speech and the house go into supply, though it is supposed it will be about Friday.

NOTES.

John Charlton gives notice of a resolution in favor of imposing a limit on the length of speeches in the house. When the speaker took the chair Col. Dumville rose to a question of privilege, reading an article from the Toronto Mail in reference to an interview with Col. Dumville published in a Pacific coast paper. In this Col. Dumville was represented as having condemned the officials in the Yukon, and especially the conduct of Administrator Walsh. Today, Col. Dumville declared that he never used the language attributed to him in this interview. He had nothing to say against the administration of the Yukon, and declared that any man who charged Major Walsh with drunkenness was a base slanderer.

the general's report. Those present were: Messrs. Robertson, chairman; Tweedie, Barnes, Whitehead, Glasier, Humphrey and Osman. The committee had Auditor General Beck called before them.

At the suggestion of more correctness, at the instance of Mr. Humphrey, a different system of passing accounts has been adopted this year from that practiced in former years. It has been customary to take up the auditor general's report page by page in regular succession. If a particular inquiry was wanted upon any item or items upon that page, they were indicated for future reference, and the rest of the page agreed to. When the report had been gone through the items previously held over were taken up.

When page 1 of the auditor general's report was taken up this morning on the second item of the general statement of debt which reads: "Lunatic asylum, over-expenditure, $2,290.50." Mr. Humphrey wished to know how this over-expenditure was made up. Some members of the committee objected to going into that account now, as being contrary to precedent in committee, and suggested that the item be allowed to stand for future consideration. Mr. Humphrey could not see why the account could not be investigated at once, as well as later on, and firmly urged his views, and after Mr. Tweedie expressed himself willing to adopt Mr. Humphrey's plan the committee yielded, and the lunatic asylum accounts were sent for.

They were then taken up somewhat in detail, though the only members of the committee who seemed at all interested in them were Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Glasier, the opposition members of the committee.

The grocery bill of James Watson was first examined. Hon. Mr. Tweedie stated that all staple supplies for the institution are purchased by tender and contract, but that the bill of Mr. Watson was for fancy groceries, which could not be tendered for. After a cursory examination of the account Mr. Humphrey stated that retail prices, and good bill retail prices, were charged by Mr. Watson, prices which were considerably higher than other groceries got for the goods.

After several accounts had been hurriedly gone over, a bill of McAvity & Sons for hardware to the amount of $342.91 was produced. A feature of this account which was remarked upon was that it was for goods supplied in May, June and July, 1897, nearly two years ago, and no explanation was vouchsafed as to why it did not appear last year. Mr. Humphrey said that he was not acquainted with hardware prices, and could not tell whether or not those of Messrs. McAvity were overcharged or not. He, however, noticed lubricating oil was charged at 18 cents a gallon, when the jobbing price of the best oil is 30 and 35 cents.

Mr. McAvity had charged the asylum 91-2 cents per pound for Macalla soap, when the market price at that date was 83-3 cents. Hon. Mr. Tweedie thought that it might be well to have Mr. Marshall, who keeps the asylum accounts, present at the committee meetings to explain any items not understood, and said that Mr. Marshall would be sent for if the committee so desired.

The committee will meet again at ten o'clock tomorrow.

THE FARM.

Some Influences Which Affect the Fertility of the Soil.

Address By Prof. F. F. Shutt, Experimental Farm Chemist, Before the N. B. F. and D. A.

Prof. Shutt on arising secured a warm greeting from a crowded house. In opening his subject he remarked that it was a very common thing to hear farmers say that they are losing money and that they can't make farming pay. I suppose we will all admit that there is just here and there an odd man who is making it pay.

Factors—1st, the man, his industry, intelligence and skill? 2nd, the soil, its mechanical condition and its richness in plant food? 3rd, the climate, including rainfall and warmth.

The soil has much to do with the farmer's success. It may be rich in all the essentials necessary for production of crops, similar perhaps to the conditions existing in our great western country, or it may want some of those important elements to make it productive.

11th or mechanical condition is an important factor in a soil's productivity. A good till includes retentiveness of moisture, of warmth and of soluble fertilizing material permeability to air and water, freedom of root extension with stability and strength and friability.

Organic Constituents.—Humus or semi-decayed vegetable matter, though not in itself direct plant food, is important in soils. When present in right proportions, the physical conditions of a soil is improved as it regulates its temperature and moisture.

Nitrogen.—An element of great agricultural value. Contained largely in the humus, but not in a condition immediately available for plant use. The conversion of nitrogen into soluble form is brought about by the agency of micro-organisms, known as bacteria, ferns, etc.

is between .2 and .5 per cent; richer soils contain .5 and 1.0 per cent. Since nitrogen is the most expensive of all plant foods, the knowledge of the amount of this element added to the soil per acre by manuring with clover will prove of interest. Assuming that a fair crop of clover will gather from the air 75 lbs. of nitrogen, and its value, 15 cents per pound. We have $11.25 worth of ready assimilable nitrogen from this acre.

The chief features of green manuring are: Addition of humus to the soil. Increasing the retentive power of light soils for moisture, regulating as far as possible extremes of soil temperature; improving the tilth of heavy soils.

NEW YORK FIRE.

In Which Twelve Lives Were Lost and Many Injured.

The List of the Dead and Injured in the Conflagration.

The Residence of Wallace C. Andrews Destroyed by Fire Yesterday Morning.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Fire this morning destroyed the residence of Wallace C. Andrews, the president of the New York Steam Heating Co., at No. 2 East 67th street, and twelve persons, about the entire household, were burned or suffocated to death.

The dead—Wallace C. Andrews, president of the New York Steam Heating Co., owner of the house burned; Mrs. Andrews, his wife; Mrs. Georgianna Boyden St. John, wife of Mrs. Andrews' brother, Gamaliel C. St. John, an official of the New York Steam Heating Co.; Orson St. John, aged 7 years; Frederick St. John, aged 13 months; Nellie Boland, servant; Mary Flanagan, servant; Eva Peterson, servant; Kate Downing, servant; Marie Roth, servant; Annie Neary, servant.

At the present hour this is the total number of victims of the fire, although two servants are in a serious condition in the Presbyterian hospital, and one may die. These two, Alice White, cook, and Jennie Burns, laundress, were the only inmates of the Andrews house who escaped alive.

The list of injured at the Andrews fire is: Mrs. Isabelle Adams, wife of Albert J. Adams, spine injured, burns, suffering from shock. Taken to Presbyterian hospital and afterward to house of friends; Nellie Quinn, servant, jumped from fourth floor to an extension, severe bruises, taken to Presbyterian hospital; Evelyn Adams, burns, shock, Presbyterian hospital; Minnie Bogue, servant, sprained ankle and bruises, Presbyterian hospital; Jerry Blazina, fireman engine house, concussion of back, Presbyterian hospital and home; Mary Mallory, leg fractured, shock, Presbyterian hospital; Wm. Stephenson, bruises and contusions, Presbyterian hospital.

Whether the fire started from an explosion of a lamp or of gas has not yet been determined, but when it was first discovered at 2 o'clock this morning the flames seemed to burst from all parts of the house at once.

A policeman heard an explosion and saw the glare of flames in 67th street. He ran to the spot and found tongues of fire leaping from the upper windows of the Andrews house and half way across the street.

He tried to break in the door and arouse the inmates of the house, but was driven back by the flames. Not waiting to arouse the family of Rothschilds in the adjoining house, number 4, he sent in an alarm.

When the firemen arrived they saw it was impossible to gain an entrance to the Andrews house by the front door, and they then made an attempt through the Rothschild house.

Three firemen managed to get in the rear of the house and there they found Mrs. St. John and her three year old son Wallace on the floor. Their night clothes almost burned off. They were quickly taken into the Rothschild house. Mrs. St. John died within a few minutes. Her child died in the fireman's arms.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS. These Pills do not purge and weaken like other medicines. They make rich red blood, build up the nerves, and make weak, depressed and easily tired people cheerful, active and strong.

LIVERPOOL, April 7.—At the town hall here this afternoon the Lord mayor of Liverpool presented to the captain, officers and crew of the Cunard line steamer PAVONIA, an illuminated address and medals in recognition of their devotion to duty, in behalf of the Mercantile Marine Service Association and Lloyds.

SPRING MEDICINE. In the springtime the blood needs attention. The change of the year produces in every one, whether conscious of it or not, some heating of the blood. Some people have pimples, a little eczema, or irritation of the skin; others feel easily tired and have a poor appetite. A tonic is needed. The best tonic—the best of all spring medicines for man, woman or child is

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS. No other medicine in the world has offered such undoubted proof of merit. What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for others they will do for you, if given a fair trial.

RULE THE WAVES.

Gallant Captain, Officers and Crew of the PAVONIA.

Presented With An Illuminated Address and Medals at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, April 7.—At the town hall here this afternoon the Lord mayor of Liverpool presented to the captain, officers and crew of the Cunard line steamer PAVONIA, an illuminated address and medals in recognition of their devotion to duty, in behalf of the Mercantile Marine Service Association and Lloyds.

The Cunard line steamer PAVONIA, Capt. Atkins, which left Liverpool on January 24th for Boston, was towed into St. Michael's Azore Islands, on Feb. 18th by the British steamer Wolferton in a disabled condition. The PAVONIA had encountered a terrible gale on Jan. 29 and for three days the engines were slowed, while heavy seas tossed the steamer about. Eventually her boilers began to move in their cradles and to bump against each other; but the engineers, after most arduous labors, secured the boilers with ropes and chains and succeeded in holding them in place. It was found, however, that the steam-boilers were broken.

During the storm three boats were lost, part of the port rail and the galley were carried away, the bake-house was stove in and altogether the PAVONIA was in a greatly damaged condition. On March 11th she arrived at Liverpool in tow of two tugs.

The crew, it appears, never lost heart, though they asserted that the vessel rolled so tremendously that it would have been possible sometimes to walk on her inner sides.

JUDGE FIELD'S DEAD.

A United States Justice of the Supreme Court, and a Well Known Man.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Justice Stephen J. Field, of the United States supreme court, retired, died at his home in this city at 6:30 o'clock this evening, of kidney complications. About his bedside were his wife and her sister, Mrs. J. Condit Smith, Mr. Justice David J. Brewer, his nephew, Mrs. Edgerton of California, Mr. Linton, his private secretary; the Rev. Edward M. Mott, rector of the Church of the Advent, and the family servants. He had been unconscious since Saturday morning and death came painlessly. Ever since Justice Field's retirement from the supreme court on Dec. 1, 1897, he has enjoyed comparatively good health, and being relieved from the responsibilities which he had borne for so many years, he became more cheerful than formerly and seemed to enjoy the society of his friends and acquaintances more than ever before.
