DEAL RAFT FOUND.
REXTON, N. B., Nov. 8.—The finding of a deal raft on the beach today, on which are six loops of rope, by which it is supposed six men of the crew of the bark Adeona have been ashed in an attempt to reach the shores, lead people to believe that all of the crew have perished. The deal in the raft have been recognized by Steverson A. Fraser as part of the ship's cargo. All attempts to reach the vessel have as yet been fruitless. There are no signs of life on board the wreck. The wind is still blowing a strong breeze from the north.

TEN MEN WERE DROWNED FROM FINNISH BARK

More Bodies Recovered Near Priest Pond Yesterday
— Last Man Had Miraculous Escape — Deal Raft Comes Ashore from Wrecked Bark Adeona — No Sign of Life There.

(Special to the Sun.)
CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Nov. 8.—Ten men were drowned from the Finnish bark Sovinto, wrecked on Tuesday night off Priest Pond. Four bodies have been recovered. Last night only six men had remained on board, four on the forward section and two on the after. The latter two were picked off by a dory from the shore last night. One of the four men, aged seventy, unable to endure the terrible exposure, leaped overboard and was drowned. The other two were washed overboard, but the fourth held on to the shore walking backward and forward holding on to a line. At nightfall he seized a plank, leaped into the raging breakers and by a miracle escaped destruction, being dashed on the shore by a huge wave and rescued by willing hands uninjured after sixty hours' exposure and without food for that time. The Stanley had left Charlottetown today for the rescue, but only got as far as Georgetown. A special train left Charlottetown with the Minto's life boat, but it will not be needed, as the last man has left the ship. Of twenty-two of a crew, eleven were rescued. They are nearly all natives of Raamo, Finland, where the ship belongs. The captain tells a most thrilling story. When the vessel struck on Tuesday night at nine o'clock three of her masts went by the board and she broke in two. He reached shore next day at noon, being one of the few who who left in the life boat which drifted, throwing seven out. One man got back to the wreck. The others landed safely.

BROWN BROTHERS THROW UP CONTRACT

Central Railway Commissioners Have Taken Over the Work—The Browns May Resume in the Spring

(From Friday's Daily Sun.)
Brown Brothers have thrown up their contract for re-laying the Central Railway and the commissioners, Senator King and George McAvity, have taken it over. They will finish up what ballasting is necessary in order to put the road in a safe condition for the winter. The contractors have had difficulty in getting sufficient men, and this together with the greater cost of doing the work in the winter time, caused them to ask to be relieved of their contract, until spring at least, when they may take it up again. The terms of the contract called for the completion of the work on the first of August last, but it is very little more than half finished at the present time. Mr. McAvity said last evening that since the commissioners had taken over the work they had experienced the same trouble in getting men that the

GRAVE FEARS FOR FARMER'S WIFE

Believed to Have Been the Victim of Robbers
Body Found in Pool of Blood—Police as Yet Have No Clue to the Murderer

(Special to the Sun.)
TOLLAND, Conn., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Carrie B. Williams, aged about 60 years, wife of a farmer, was murdered and lying in a pool of blood in her home, about two and a half miles south of Stafford Springs, this afternoon. Robbery is believed to have been the motive. The discovery was made by the Kulus murder in Somers, when a Polish boarding house keeper was done to death in a brutal manner and then her house robbed. The body of Mrs. Williams was found lying on the kitchen floor near the stove, her throat was cut, her head battered, and Zeisler had fired. He was absent all Tuesday and Wednesday. This morning his body was found. Zeisler was about 35 years of age, and was quite popular as a business man. Later he had been drinking, and it is supposed the criminal acts were done while intoxicated. His father was found drowned at Lake Ontario park several years ago. Zeisler began his career as a printer, which he followed until seven or eight years ago, when he went into insurance and real estate business. He was married, an Oddfellow, and a Forester.

TEMPORARY TRUCE IN TELEPHONE WAR

Matters in Moncton About as They Were—Another Scott Act Offender Fined

(Special to the Sun.)
MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 8.—The telephone situation has been somewhat changed, and a temporary truce arrived at whereby matters remain for the present about as they were. Mr. Hackett, general manager of the New Brunswick Telephone Co., accompanied by H. P. Robinson of Sussex, met with the President of the Board of Trade and Mayor Steves this afternoon. The result of the conference was that the agent who was canvassing the city, and who proved to be so offensive, was sent home. It is anticipated that an advance in rates would not be acceptable. A willingness was shown to remedy the difficulties, and possibly an improved local service will follow. The first of a batch of Scott Act cases came before Magistrate Kay this afternoon. Richard Hebert being found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars or go to jail for a month. There was more than the ordinary interest in the case, as it was anticipated by many that Magistrate Kay would impose an imprisonment sentence, the supreme court having recently upheld his right to do so. The defendant was represented by counsel, Geo. P. Thomas appearing, but no plea was entered. The evidence of the two police officers who raided the bar was taken. Magistrate Kay, in imposing the fine, took occasion to remark that it was not a question of what he himself was going to do, but what the liquor sellers of Moncton are going to do. Mr. Shannon, the new accountant and controller of the I. C. R., vice Thomas Williams, arrived here this morning.

DOMINION W. G. T. U. TO MEET IN FREDERICTON

Resolution Passed With This End in View at Fredericton Meeting—At Point of Death.

(Special to the Sun.)
FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 8.—At the afternoon session of the W. G. T. U., a resolution was passed to invite the Dominion union to meet in St. John next year. The usual votes were also adopted. At four o'clock Miss Byron addressed a large meeting of children at the Opera House, her subject being the evil of cigarettes. The convention closed this evening with a largely attended meeting at the Methodist church, at which the president, Mrs. Grey, presided. Miss Mahan gave a most excellent address on the object and working of the union. The silver medal given to the union for completing the best journalistic work during the year, it was announced, had been won by the Campbellton union, and the medal was presented by Mrs. Bullock to Mrs. Adams in a brief and appreciative address. The banner for the union getting the greatest number of new members was won by Fredericton and was presented to Mrs. Robinson by Mrs. Bullock. Perth union was the successful winner of the banner for obtaining the greatest number of Y. members. The meeting closed with the singing of God be With You. We Meet Again, and the Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. McConnell, pastor of the church.

ST. MARTINS, Nov. 8.—A very pretty wedding took place in Holy Trinity church, Wednesday evening at five o'clock, when Rev. W. O. Raymond of St. John united in marriage Samuel A. Morrow, formerly of this place but now of Hanfordville, Kings Co., to Sarah Agnes, the eldest daughter of James Tracy of Hanfordville Brook. The church was decorated for the occasion. The bride was attired in cream cashmere with silk and lace trimmings, and hat to match. Miss Thompson of St. John, another of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and was dressed in white organdy with silk trimmings, while John Tracy, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. The bride was given away by her eldest brother. After the ceremony the bridal party, together with the invited guests, drove to the bride's home at Hanfordville Brook, where supper was served.

KILLED HIMSELF TO AVOID ARREST

Kingston Insurance Agent Charged With Forgery
Was Popular as a Business Man—Had Been Drinking Hard—Member of Several Societies

(Special to the Sun.)
KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 8.—George Zeisler, insurance agent, took his life after having fled to prevent arrest for forgery. He was found this morning lying in a shed beside a house in Barfield with a revolver beside him. Two wounds were in his side. On Monday last he tried to discount a note endorsed by two leading citizens. They were asked if they had signed the note. They said it was a forgery. Then the discovery was made that the note previously discounted was a forgery. As he failed to rectify the matter, a warrant was issued, but Zeisler had fled. He was absent all Tuesday and Wednesday. This morning his body was found. Zeisler was about 35 years of age, and was quite popular as a business man. Later he had been drinking, and it is supposed the criminal acts were done while intoxicated. His father was found drowned at Lake Ontario park several years ago. COMMISSIONERS DISCUSSED QUESTION OF REBATES

Insurance Agents Ask for Legislation Making Rebating an Offense—All Agents Given Rebates, It is Claimed, in Order to Get New Business—Some Interesting Evidence Submitted.

(Special to the Sun.)
OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—The insurance agents were before the insurance commissioners today at their own request. They asked for legislation making rebating an offense, but asked that the Dominion should go slow in copying the experimental legislation of the state of New York. They did not think that rebating should be placed upon the expenses of a company in obtaining new business; there should be no limit on the amount paid agents' commissions, and there should be no further limit on the company in the matter of investments. The greatest publicity should be given to the expenses and other business of companies. The safety of the policyholders could be guaranteed by publicity better than by legislation. The agents asked for a board to examine candidates to become insurance agents and grant certificates as accountants are now granted. H. C. Cox, agent of the Canada Life east of Toronto, stated that in his company commissions ran from 75 per cent of the first premium on first class policies down to two or two and a half per cent. On a single premium policy the ordinary renewal rate was paid. In eastern Ontario, where the company did its largest business, the agent's commissions ran from forty-eight to fifty per cent. Eight hundred dollars a year would be the average earnings of a man agent. To write a hundred thousand dollars a year would mean traveling expenses and hotel bills, and the agent would not be able to template rebates. They were not high.

PROVINCIAL NORMAL SCHOOL WILL HAVE BETTER ACCOMMODATIONS

Committee Appointed to Look Into the Matter—Irregularities Interfered

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 8.—A meeting of the Board of Education was held this afternoon. The number of students was considered of arranging for better accommodations for Normal School students at the school. The matter came before the Board on presentation from the Principal Bridges. The number of students this year exceeds that of former years and there is lack of room. The Board appointed Hon. Mr. LaPlante, Hon. Mr. Sweeney, with the chief superintendent to inquire into the matter and make arrangements. It was also decided to appoint a temporary teacher at the school to take the place of Dr. Creel, who is confined to the house through illness. The evening Government met in regular session. They had before them the consideration of both the Perth and St. Leonard's incorporation, and in each case decided against issuing a proclamation being the Act into force, on account of irregularities. The Government will remain here all day tomorrow but no business outside of routine is expected to be dealt with.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT GRAND FALLS

GRAND FALLS, N. B., Nov. 5.—The most disastrous fire of the season occurred this morning and entailed in less than three hours a property loss of $20,000.

At 10.30 a. m. smoke was seen issuing from the roof of the Victoria restaurant on Broadway owned by Joseph McCormick and it was discovered that the attic was on fire.

Every person who owned a team worked hard hauling barrels of water to the scene and men with pails were stationed on the roofs of all nearby buildings.

A line of hose and lead pipe was stretched across the street from George M. Taylor's cellar where there was a force hand pump, and soon a small stream of water was playing on the adjoining McCormick building.

The men on the post office, which was distant only a few feet from the burning building, worked heroically keeping the roof and sides saturated with water and spreading wet blankets thereon, and contrary to all expectations succeeded in saving the building.

The McCormick building occupied by the owner as a restaurant and hotel and the barns and outbuildings in the rear were totally destroyed.

At one time the roof of A. J. Martin's residence, house occupied by Wm. Manup McCleuskey, Florent St. Thomas House, Thomas Bradley's residence, and the post office, besides several barns, were on fire, and were extinguished only after the most strenuous efforts.

Burning eiders and shingles were carried by high winds to the Roman Catholic church which was distant more than 600 yards from the fire and about noon the cry was heard that the church was on fire.

The church was a large and handsome structure of which the people were justly proud and was erected at a cost exceeding $50,000.

Great excitement prevailed during the fire and the citizens turned out en masse to watch the flames.

Late in the afternoon the ruins are still burning but all further danger was past when the church was destroyed.

HECHLER-HERRBERT. E. W. Hechler of the Bank of Montreal and Mrs. Laura Herbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Herbert, were married in the Roman Catholic church in Edmundston, N. B., by Rev. L. C. Damour, on Thursday last.

"Have you lost your mother?" "It's-it's the best I can do," she followed a moment later.

"Oh, is that a relief?" "I shall soon be up with a will," she said.

"You are probably not so well as you look," Mrs. Bowser said.

Ottario Man Says Animals are Allowed to Suffer With the Cold—His Impressions of Farms Here

BATHURST, N. B., Nov. 5.—F. E. Sharp of Midland, N. B., and C. M. MacRae of Ottawa spent Sunday in town and left on the accommodation this morning for Kent county, where they are to address a number of farmers' institute meetings.

Mr. MacRae is an Ontario man from the Ottawa valley. Though he has been in the Maritime Provinces before, this is his first institute work in New Brunswick.

Mr. Sharp is one of our own province men, has been this way on two other occasions during his life.

It was recalled that the settlement of the Myers loss be placed in the hands of Edgar H. Fairweather, and that of the Ungar's Laundry, Dyeing and Carpet Cleaning Works in the hands of Ed. H. Fairweather, A. Gordon Leavitt and Leonard W. Peters.

chinery which was a matter much neglected by many. The many new farm houses erected, which indicated prosperity and tended so much to increase the pleasures and comforts of farm life and also he believed would do much to keep our young people on the farms. While in town these gentlemen stopped at the White House, the general proprietor of which they speak of in the highest terms.

At 8 o'clock Mrs. Bowser was found dead in her house. She was 65 years old and had been ill for some time.

"Have you lost your mother?" "It's-it's the best I can do," she followed a moment later.

"Oh, is that a relief?" "I shall soon be up with a will," she said.

The Only Perfect Emulsion

Any well made emulsion of good Cod Liver Oil is good as far as it goes, but if it lacks Iron it is not a perfect emulsion, because Iron is even more necessary and more valuable than the oil.

SONTINUOUS PERFORMERS

BOWSER'S TOOTHACHE.

IT IS LAID TO MRS. BOWSER, OF COURSE.

At 8 o'clock the other afternoon Mrs. Bowser was given a start to see Mr. Bowser come walking into the house. She went down the hall to meet him and ask if anything was wrong, but he passed her without a word and entered the sitting-room and threw himself down on the lounge with a groan.

"Will you tell what on earth is the matter with you?" she demanded as she crossed the hall.

"Have you lost all your money? Are you ill? Is there any bad news from mother?"

"It isn't the toothache," he muttered after a minute.

"Oh, is that all?" she said as she heaved a sigh of relief and mentally thanked Heaven. "I didn't know—"

"Is that all?" he shouted as he sat up with a wild look on his face.

"You are probably disappointed because I was not brought home dead. I shall soon be a corpse, however. I have been in mortal agony over since I left the house this morning. How I ever managed to get home I can't say. I tried to get the ambulance but couldn't."

Mrs. Bowser recalled three different occasions within the year when she had suffered with toothache, and when he had called her a booby for even mentioning it. He had said that no one ever had toothache except from gross carelessness, and that she was glad to see her laughing around. She didn't call these things up, however. On the contrary, she called him poor fellow and expressed her sympathy and started away to make a mustard poultice for his cheek. Her time was occupied for the next ten minutes and during the interval—

Mr. Bowser groaned one hundred groans, being ten groans to the minute or one every three seconds.

"He ejaculated, 'Oh, my soul!' twenty times, being one every thirty seconds."

He called to Mrs. Bowser five times being one call for every two minutes.

"Now, then," said Mrs. Bowser as she returned with the poultice, and tied it fast to his cheek, "a few minutes to draw the pain out in this few minutes. Why didn't you come home sooner?"

"Can a man in the agonies of death and squirming around on the floor stop the performance and come home?" he demanded.

"You poor, poor man, but was it as bad as that? How I pity you! The pain will soon be gone, however. Shut your eyes and try to go to sleep."

Mr. Bowser shut his eyes for one minute.

them closed so long that she began to wonder if his soul had taken its flight, but there was no occasion for a scare. Mr. Bowser was only thinking.

He was thinking of how he had liberally sat in a draught for half an hour the day previous, but how he would lay all his pain and suffering to Mrs. Bowser.

He would say that it was his getting up in the night at her instance that he had caught the cold.

He would charge her with a deliberate intent to wipe him off the face of the earth and benefit by his life insurance.

She hadn't exactly tried to poison him, but from thanks on he would address her as Lucretia Borgia.

He was thinking up other schemes to get even when some of the whisky trickled down his throat and choked him and brought him round again.

Then groans from Mr. Bowser to show that the end was near.

Then more groans, tapering off into mournful sighs, to show that he hated to leave this world just as the price of ice was becoming cheaper.

Mrs. Bowser was about to prepare the bag of hot ashes, whether or not, when the family doctor came driving up on the gallop. The door was no sooner opened to him than he rushed in and up to Mr. Bowser and asked what was the matter.

"The doctor," he shouted as he motioned to the telephone.

"But the doctor can't help you," he roared.

He rolled off the lounge on the floor and scrambled up and went to the telephone and called up the central. The central replied that he must wait a minute.

"Not a second," he replied. "This is a case of life or death."

At the end of two minutes he got the doctor's office to find that the doctor was out.

"What in thunder is he out for?" he demanded of the doctor's wife.

"He has gone to a sick lady."

"He had no business to. The woman signed himself 'Deliverer,' to the effect that he was coming on here to remove us from this world of turmoil and trouble. We threw the card into the basket with a dozen others, and gave it no further thought, but on Wednesday as we sat in our sanctum writing an editorial on the political situation in the far West, an individual whose name has been ascertained to be Henry White, entered the room, drew two guns, and seating himself opposite us announced: 'Mr. Hello, I have come to shoot you!'

"Isn't it rather sudden?" we asked in reply.

"I gave you notice two weeks ago. Besides, all good things happen suddenly."

"Are you following out any particular idea?"

"No. I propose to remove you on general principles. You have become the head of the funeral procession in each and every one of the eighteen cases we have been obliged to shoot dead to save our own life, and had been honorably acquitted by a Coroner's jury."

In each and every case, also, we paid all funeral expenses and rode at the head of the funeral procession in the carriage with the minister.

Each of the eighteen mounds has its own marble headstone. We could have substituted wood and thereby saved a considerable sum of money, but we did not stop at expense to procure the silent sleepers the best that could be turned out. Aside from the names, dates, etc., most of the stones bear such sayings as: 'Gone up lighter,' 'He sleeps well,' and 'Our loss is his gain.'

The plants, bushes and trees we have placed in the enclosure give it the appearance of a public park, and as a matter of fact it is so made use of by our citizens. We have often sat there as the Summer sun went to rest and reflected on the instability of life, and as our eyes dwelt on mound after mound we have wondered how it was with the sleepers in the great Beyond.

We are not a holy terror. We are not a Bad Man with two guns.

We were not born at the headquarters of Fighting Creek.

On the contrary, we are a humble-looking case of humble spirit, asking nothing so much as to be let alone to do our humble work on earth as we best we can.

We have taken to our heels rather than shoot. We have taken a cold bluff when other men would have pulled a gun.

In no one instance since we were out of knee-pants have we thirsted for human life.

Reports to the effect that we are a savage and on the shoot are base canards, having their foundation in the jealous hearts of contemporaries. We must be crowded to the wall before we shoot, and then we shoot as gently as we can. After being acquitted by the Coroner we sit down and feel real bad for several hours.

Two weeks ago we received a postal card from some one at Wolf Creek man had no business to be sick! You tell him that there is a dying man here, and that he wants to get around without the loss of another minute.

"But it's only the toothache," protested Mrs. Bowser, "and if you would let me try a bad of hot ashes—"

"Only the toothache!" howled Mr. Bowser as he jumped up and down. "Only! Only! Great Heavens, but hear the woman talk!"

"Will you let me look at the toothache?" she asked as he climbed back on the lounge. "If it is hollow I can put some cotton in."

No reply.

"If it's a loose tooth it should be drawn. You can't suffer this way, you know."

Awful silence, broken at last by a chuckle from the cat as he crawled under the piano.

Having traveled along for two miles further, the King came to a permission tree by the roadside loaded with green fruit.

"Now, what honest, considerable subjects I have!" he exclaimed as he gazed at the fruit. "Here is a tree loaded with fruit and standing on the public highway, and yet no man has robbed it. It is because the yield belongs to the Crown and no man would rob me. Those are the kind of people it makes a man proud to rule over."

"I have had enough to do to keep my eyes open for the King's tax collectors, but had there been any such bird around and sure that I should have noticed it. The bird don't sing, eh?"

"The feller said not. He said it was a bird that nested in the grass and made other fellers do the singing. He didn't talk like a liar."

"I can't possibly imagine," replied the peasant, and then a grin spread over his face and he continued: "That's what I think."

"This feller say anything about the bird biting?"

"He said they would have to be handled carefully."

"I think I know what he meant. I think you will find a flock of those very birds in that patch of grass over in the meadow. Just kick around lively when you get there and you will see 'em a plenty."

The King proceeded to the spot designated and began to stir up the grass at a great rate. When he had been at it about two minutes fifty bumble bees rose up and demanded any. Some men might have shot him so that he would have been on the suffering and dying list for several days, but we are quite certain that he would have been shot.

When he was lifted up the smile he had worn in life was still on his face, and his parted lips seemed about to tell us that time was up.

The King was at once sent for and proceeded to impale a man on the facts were at hand. Mr. White had told several people on the street of his philanthropic intentions, and our taxman was a witness of his efforts. The verdict of a justifiable homicide was reached in ten minutes. Then we sent for the undertaker and ordered him to spare no expense, and the grave-digger was told not to do any skimping.

As near as we have been able to ascertain, Mr. White has no relatives in the West, and there will be no one to claim his body, consisting of fifty cents in cash and two guns. He had been hanging around Wolf Creek for a month or so, seeming to have something on his mind, but nobody can tell where he came from beyond there. He was a man of middle age, with an intelligent face and likely fairly educated and had turned his attention to killing off the heads of Trusts he would undoubtedly have been gathered to his fathers in first-class shape. He was buried on Friday in a casket that cost $75, and we paid as much more for the carriages in the funeral procession. His grave is in one of the prettiest corners of the yard, and while it is not large in the season now to do more than erect a headstone with a lamb on top, when the Spring comes a pile of flowers will be placed on the grave to trail over the sods which cover him. Requisite in pace, which means may sleep in peace for a thousand years and never once wake up and try to figure out why he didn't plant us instead.

ACCORDING TO THE NEW.

"You were drunk and disturbing the peace," said His Honor to the third prisoner brought out on Friday.

"It was all on account of this new way of spelling, may it please Your Worship!" was the reply.

"Well, what did the new way have to do with it?"

"Just this, sir, I met Pat Hansey in a saloon and he puts on air over me. I asks him whyfore, and he says he's spelling according to the new way and I's a month ahead of me. I asks him if spelling whiskey a new way was going to make it any cheaper or better for us, and he says I'm a progress and hails off and beats me one. I'd had no drink at all, Your Honor, and when I was struck I had to defend meself."

"The new way has also struck this Court, prisoner," said the Judge.

"As how, if you please?"

"9-ty days for you!"

THE KING AND THE WINE.

The King was one day giving audience when Jones the grape-grower crowded himself forward and said: "O King, a most loyal subject demands justice at your hands. I did grow and press and barrel seven barrels of wine of this best Tokay wine—and they were sold to Brown the wine merchant. He set up the plea that the wine is not as sweet as I guaranteed it and refuses to pay."

"How about it, Brown?" asked the King.

"He has correctly stated the case, O Ruler. The wine is off ten points in its sweetness."

"Not one single point, Your Majesty."

"At least ten, O Ruler."

The King sent the disputants away to see if they could come to an understanding. In an hour they returned and reported the affair amicably arranged, and he replied: "Tis well. I have had the wine removed and stored in my cellars, and each and every time I drink of it I shall recall that each of you wanted only what was right. Six months hence you may send a dray up and divide the empty barrels between you."

PERSIAN TALES.

HIS NIBBS GOES OUT AND LEARNS A FEW THINGS.

Once upon a time His Royal Nibbs of Persia, who had been told so often and by so many that he owned the earth and could run the sun, moon and stars to suit his own convenience, left the palace by the back door soon after breakfast and took a walk out into the country to see what he could see. There was a dim idea in his mind that while he had the greatest things on wheels he had skipped a few things that might be business. As he had donned a business suit and looked like an American drummer in the hardware trade, no one recognized him, and after an hour he found himself five miles from town and close upon a peasant who was working by the roadside.

"My good man," said the King after they had passed the time of day. "I walk with whom I was playing poker a few evenings ago and told me that there was a curious kind of bird around this season, and I thought I would come out into the country and take a look for myself."

"I have noticed no strange bird about this year," replied the peasant. "What did he say of it?"

"It was a small bird, to begin with. According to what he said I should say it was no longer than half my thumb. He said the color was black, with yellow spots, and that it made a droning noise when it flew. Have you kept your eyes open for such a bird?"

"I have had enough to do to keep my eyes open for the King's tax collectors, but had there been any such bird around and sure that I should have noticed it. The bird don't sing, eh?"

what he was at, and before he could do so explaining they hopped on to him and gave him the red-hot time of his life. Not until he had reached the peasant's cottage and had his nineteen "bites" played there had he given away his identity. Then he said:

"Cattif, know ye not that I am your King?"

"Bless my soul!" replied the peasant, and then he bowed low.

"Aye, your King I am, and for this little joke I can make you a hand shorter. Nineteen bites have been inflicted on my sacred person and these call for nineteen human lives."

"But I took you for a guy, O blessed Ruler."

"And that's why your head will continue to rest on your shoulders. The feller who told me about the birds took me for a guy; in turn, I took you for one; you butted in and thought I was fair game and stacked me up against a bumble bee."

"For trifling with the dignity of your King I sentence you to death; for being a joker I remit the sentence. I may also add that after this I shall know the difference between a bumble bee and a bird. I will now toddle along and see what else I can tangle across."

Mr. White had told several people on the street of his philanthropic intentions, and our taxman was a witness of his efforts. The verdict of a justifiable homicide was reached in ten minutes. Then we sent for the undertaker and ordered him to spare no expense, and the grave-digger was told not to do any skimping.

As near as we have been able to ascertain, Mr. White has no relatives in the West, and there will be no one to claim his body, consisting of fifty cents in cash and two guns. He had been hanging around Wolf Creek for a month or so, seeming to have something on his mind, but nobody can tell where he came from beyond there. He was a man of middle age, with an intelligent face and likely fairly educated and had turned his attention to killing off the heads of Trusts he would undoubtedly have been gathered to his fathers in first-class shape. He was buried on Friday in a casket that cost $75, and we paid as much more for the carriages in the funeral procession. His grave is in one of the prettiest corners of the yard, and while it is not large in the season now to do more than erect a headstone with a lamb on top, when the Spring comes a pile of flowers will be placed on the grave to trail over the sods which cover him. Requisite in pace, which means may sleep in peace for a thousand years and never once wake up and try to figure out why he didn't plant us instead.

ACCORDING TO THE NEW.

"You were drunk and disturbing the peace," said His Honor to the third prisoner brought out on Friday.

"It was all on account of this new way of spelling, may it please Your Worship!" was the reply.

"Well, what did the new way have to do with it?"

"Just this, sir, I met Pat Hansey in a saloon and he puts on air over me. I asks him whyfore, and he says he's spelling according to the new way and I's a month ahead of me. I asks him if spelling whiskey a new way was going to make it any cheaper or better for us, and he says I'm a progress and hails off and beats me one. I'd had no drink at all, Your Honor, and when I was struck I had to defend meself."

"The new way has also struck this Court, prisoner," said the Judge.

"As how, if you please?"

"9-ty days for you!"

THE HEARST MOVEMENT.

The late Mr. Hearst has been considerably behind the rest of the Democratic ticket in New York State has little significance with regard to the danger which many believe, threatens the nation from the movement of which he is the expression.

Hearst's support was personal, not partisan. Through he had the regular Democratic nomination, it was secured in such a corrupt and shameless way that the majority of good Democrats repudiated it.

The Hearst movement has nothing to do with the established parties. In fact, one of his most emphatic declarations is that he will smash the machines of both parties.

Mr. Arthur Brisbane, Hearst's first lieutenant, and by many considered the brains of the Hearst movement, says of his employer: "He has been the greatest creator of intelligent dissatisfaction, the basis of improvement, in this country has ever seen."

THE DUTY OF A NEWSPAPER.

Contradicting the reports that La Presse was to be other than an independent newspaper under the revised management of Mr. Berthelaine and denying that Sir Wilfrid Laurier or any other political leader was interested in its transfer from the possession of Mr. David Russell and McKenzie and Mann, that newspaper remarks: "We might perhaps add as an indication, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was from the very beginning, the principal party to that unconditional repurchase of La Presse, after all, said he to all those willing to hear him."

WANTED, MORE LIFE BOATS.

For want of a life boat eleven men or more were drowned this week up the coast. Since last Thursday night the American coast has been lying in plain view of the people on shore, has been pounded by tremendous seas which made impossible any attempt at rescue.

MR. FOWLER REGRETS.

Mr. Fowler undoubtedly feels deep regret that he cannot remember who shared in those peculiar profits he made in some of those peculiar deals in western lumber properties and that he has been unable to find the documents, demanded by the insurance Commission, relating to these and other deals with Foresters' money.

LITTLE NEW IN SYDNEY TROUBLE

Believed Stronous Efforts are Being Made to Effect a Settlement

SYDNEY, Nov. 7.—There is very little news in the industrial difficulty to-night.

All the departments closed down are still idle, but the coke ovens will resume work on a small scale to-morrow.

The lot of No. 8 coal which was crushed for experimental purposes a couple of days ago is to be made into coke, which will be used in the salamanders at the road and rail mills.

The coal company are still sending in No. 8 coal to the Steel Company, which the latter continues to refuse.

The steamer Universe has been discharging her cargo of Sydney Mines coal at the ore pier all day and four hundred tons were brought over on scows this afternoon.

While neither concern has anything to say the belief is prevalent that efforts to arrange a settlement are being made in Montreal.

E. B. Clouston, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, is reported to be acting as intermediary.

The citizens of Sydney naturally are taking a deep interest in the present trouble.

The general opinion seems to be that when an agreement is made it should be drawn up in such a way as would preclude the possibility of a tie-up of this kind ever happening again.

The general opinion seems to be that when an agreement is made it should be drawn up in such a way as would preclude the possibility of a tie-up of this kind ever happening again.

With various opinions as to the merits of the case are expressed everybody unites in wishing that some means of settling the difficulty could have been found which would have injured the city's standing less than the present tie-up of the steel plant and its attendant industries.

CARLETON COUNTY MAN MISTAKEN FOR DEER, SHOT THROUGH SHOULDER

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Nov. 7.—A young man named Billie, whose home is in Millville, was shot and badly wounded in the woods near Foreston on Monday by a deer.

The bullet passed through the center of the shoulder, fracturing the bone. Biggar, who was terribly worked up over the occurrence, at once set to work to help the injured man.

His wife, Mrs. John, brought to Bristol for medical treatment, and on the advice of physicians there continued to the Woodstock hospital, where the patient was promptly taken care of.

Of the Woodstock man his arm may be saved, but the man has a very narrow shave for his life.

W. LASKEY FOUND GUILTY

Stole Several Ingots of Tin from S. S. London City

Prisoner, Who Conducted His Own Defense, Was Remanded for Sentence

—Dugmore Gets Two Years.

The regular session of the county court was opened yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the court house, his honor Judge Forbes presiding.

Judge Forbes in addressing the jury said he was pleased that there were so few criminal cases.

The first case against Jas. Laskey, Welsh, who was examined before Justice Masson at Fairville on a charge of carrying on his person a loaded revolver, which he attempted to discharge at Robert Boyer on October 2nd with intent to commit murder, his honor read the law governing the commission of such unlawful acts. The two counts in the indictment were: 1st, carrying loaded firearms; 2nd, attempting to discharge a loaded revolver at Robert Boyer.

Welsh pleaded guilty on the first count and was remanded for sentence. The second count in the indictment was not pressed against the prisoner.

George Dugmore, who was arrested about two weeks ago from information supplied by Charles Wilkins, who charged the prisoner with stealing $4,000 from him on board the steamer Yarmouth of the D. A. R., was found guilty under the Speedy Trials Act and sentenced to two years in Dorchester penitentiary with hard labor.

In the case of the London House Wholesale v. Kelly, an action for debt, judgment was entered for the plaintiff for $77.65.

The afternoon session the case against Wm. Laskey was taken up and the Kamloops Lumber Company was charged with stealing several ingots of tin from the St. London City. The prisoner conducted his own defense and called several witnesses.

He was found guilty by Judge Forbes and remanded for sentence. Court was then adjourned until 10.30 this morning, when the civil cases will be taken up.

The docket is as follows:

CRIMINAL. The King v. Welsh. The King v. Dugmore. The King v. Laskey.

About Female Ailments. Not Hard to Cure if Properly and Promptly Treated.

Ask any intelligent physician what causes nine-tenths of all female diseases, even including anaemia, nervousness and indigestion.

Back comes the answer quick and sharp "Constipated Bowels."

There is scarcely a single female ailment which has not in its earlier stages symptoms of constipation.

How much better off the system is without the poisonous accumulations caused by constipation. How much clearer the complexion, how much fresher one feels when the system is pure and clean.

Think it over yourself. Isn't it apparent that a bowel regulator and liver stimulant like Dr. Hamilton's Pills is sure to do good?

Gay spirits, good looks and happy health have returned to many a sick woman through Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Better get a few boxes today; purely vegetable, free from injurious ingredients, healthful and antiseptic, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will assist you in a thousand ways.

As delay is always dangerous, your plain duty is to follow the example of Mrs. F. Rowe, who sends the following letter from Gravesend, Port Au Port, Newfoundland: "Four years ago I got kidney and bladder trouble. I thought it was 'female trouble' and treated it accordingly. Even my doctor in St. John said it was so."

In reading about Dr. Hamilton's Pills I noticed symptoms like mine and I bought six boxes. These pills went right to work on my sick condition and helped me from the start. My supposed female trouble, which was bladder disease, was cured. My weight increased eight pounds and never before was I as well as today. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

FOWLER ACAN HEARD MORE REVELATIONS

Mr. Foster Was a Partner in the Kamloops Lumber Deal.

Fowler Paid Men Sent by the Union Trust Co. to Value Property He Had to Sell—More About that $55,000 Rakeoff—Fowler Says the Documents Wanted Are Lost.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7.—The Insurance Commission had today its second examination of George W. Fowler, M. P. The examination began at half-past four in the afternoon and was continued in the evening. Mr. Fowler was examined chiefly upon the British Columbia lumber deals, in which the funds of the Foresters were used.

The previous examinations of Mr. Fowler and other witnesses at St. John, Mr. Fowler had obtained from Peter Ryan two options on the Kamloops lumber property, one for $25,000 and the other for $170,000. George E. Foster, Mr. Fowler and a number of others had organized the Kamloops Lumber Company, in which the Union Trust Company was to have fifty-one per cent and the others forty-nine per cent of the stock.

It was shown that the Union Trust Company put up all the money and that the Kamloops Lumber Company, with it, bought the British Columbia lumber properties. The one on which Mr. Fowler had the two options was taken over at the higher option, $225,000, while Mr. Fowler got it at the lower option, $170,000, the difference of $55,000 being returned to Mr. Fowler by Peter Ryan, after he had been paid $225,000 by the Kamloops Lumber Company. This transaction was not the subject of direct examination, but was referred to several times in the discussion of the lumber property purchases made by the Kamloops Lumber Company, and the Okanagan lumber property and the Shuswap lumber property.

FOWLER COULDN'T FIND PAPERS. George W. Fowler, M. P., was examined by Mr. Shepley, who reminded him that he was to bring certain papers to the examination. Mr. Fowler said he did not have on his first examination. A list of papers wanted was presented. The first document on the list was the first option. Mr. Fowler said he was unable to produce this document because it was verbal. The next item called for maps. Mr. Fowler said he had been unable to find any maps. He could not say who had become of them. They had probably been lying around his office for some time and had disappeared. The next document was a copy of the agreement between the Kamloops Lumber Company and the Okanagan Lumber Company, which was dated in 1904. Mr. Fowler said he had not seen this document since it was signed.

Mr. Shepley then asked Mr. Fowler if he had any other papers which he had not brought to the examination. Mr. Fowler said he had not.

SEWAGE AND ST. JOHN RIVER

Fredericton's Appeal Begun at the Capital Yesterday

Much Interest Taken in the Proceedings—Expert Witness on the Stand—Sunbury Well Represented

FREDERICTON, Nov. 7.—The hearing of the appeal taken by the city of Fredericton from the decision of the Provincial Board of Health refusing consent to the dumping of sewage into the St. John River, was begun before the executive council this afternoon, in the latter's room at the city hall building.

The government were present in full and the large attendance of spectators is evidence that much interest is taken in the outcome. The city has Recorder Skinner acting as counsel, while Sunbury's interests are being looked after by J. D. Hazen, M. P.

The gathering included the mayor and aldermen of the city, the city clerk, Engineer Barbour, Assistant Engineer Lee and others, while the down-river districts were represented by a large delegation, including Warden Dr. Murray, Dr. Peeke, Councillor Wilmore, Perley, Day, Arthur Glastier and several others. Dr. Fisher, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, was also present. After the city clerk had made a statement of the case, Recorder Skinner stated that the city would first of all call witnesses in support of its appeal.

Mr. Hazen said it was the decision of the government to hear other testimony than that offered before the Board of Health, he would like to have the opportunity, if he found it necessary, to ask for an adjournment to procure evidence.

The Attorney General said that he thought that the fastest disposal within reason should be given and that Mr. Hazen's request would be acceded to. Geo. W. Fuller, one of the leading sanitary engineers of New York, was then called by Mr. Skinner. Mr. Fuller's testimony occupied most of the afternoon. In substance it was very similar to the testimony given by Engineer Barbour before the provincial board. He contended that the knowledge he had received that the St. John River was now unfit for domestic purposes and that the dumping of sewage into it would not affect it to any appreciable extent. The evidence that was presented was for commercial and not domestic use, and that it would be impossible to make a river the size of the St. John unfit for drinking without filtering. Mr. Fuller underlined a severe cross-examination at the hands of Mr. Hazen.

Isaac Stephenson of Marguerville was the next witness, and his testimony, which was given in French, was of great interest. He told of the number of wells which were being operated on the northern side of the river, and believed that by sinking the wells could be used successfully in the down river districts. Mr. Stephenson was cross-examined by Mr. Hazen, and his evidence occupied the rest of the afternoon.

The hearing of appeal was continued before the government this evening. Gilmore Brown gave testimony in behalf of the city. He told of visiting the down river sections, and expressed his opinion that the sewage was doing damage to the river, and that the drainage entered the river, and that the latter was unfit for domestic purposes. Thos. Kent, well known, the next witness, gave as his opinion that the sewage was doing damage to the river, and that the drainage entered the river, and that the latter was unfit for domestic purposes. Thos. Kent, well known, the next witness, gave as his opinion that the sewage was doing damage to the river, and that the drainage entered the river, and that the latter was unfit for domestic purposes.

Mr. Hazen called as witnesses Cecil McLean, Geo. Day and Geo. Perley, residents of Sunbury. Their evidence in substance was to the effect that the wells in their localities were unsatisfactory and that the inhabitants had to depend upon river water for drinking purposes. It was reported that the drainage entered the river, and that the latter was unfit for domestic purposes. Thos. Kent, well known, the next witness, gave as his opinion that the sewage was doing damage to the river, and that the drainage entered the river, and that the latter was unfit for domestic purposes.

Mr. Shepley produced a check from the Kamloops Company showing that it had been Irwin's expenses.

Mr. Shepley—"You told me the other day you had received part of the $55,000 back from Ryan. How much have you got from him?"

Mr. Fowler—"I cannot say."

On being pressed Mr. Fowler admitted that Ryan still owed him between four and five thousand dollars.

Mr. Shepley—"You don't mind it going down in the minutes that the report to you is a great deal more complete than that to Mr. Foster?"

Mr. Fowler—"It seems to be fuller. It can't be voluminous."

"Why should they report to you more fully?"

"I cannot say."

"You paid these men?"

"I paid McCormack a thousand dollars after the report had been made."

"Do you think it was proper for you as a vendor of the property to have got a report from these men who had been hired by the purchaser to examine the property?"

Mr. Shepley—"Why did these men who had been hired to make a report for the Union Trust make a report to you?"

Mr. Fowler—"I cannot say. I cannot recall giving them any instructions as to what they should do. I might have told them to report to me. I might have told McCormack's expenses."

"Don't you know that it was upon your report compiled from what Irwin and McCormack told you and upon the report of Irwin and McCormack that the Union Trust or the Kamloops Lumber Company bought?"

Mr. Shepley—"I cannot say."

Mr. Shepley then produced a report made by Irwin and McCormack to the Union Trust and another made by the same men to Mr. Fowler.

Mr. Shepley—"You don't mind it going down in the minutes that the report to you is a great deal more complete than that to Mr. Foster?"

Mr. Fowler—"It seems to be fuller. It can't be voluminous."

CHRISTIAN ETHICS.

By Dr. C. F. J. Wrigley.

Dr. C. F. J. Wrigley, pastor of Grace church, Brooklyn, N. Y., preached Sunday morning on "Christian Ethics the Product of Christian Doctrine." The text was taken from Jude xx: "Building up yourselves on your most holy faith." Dr. Wrigley said: "The ethics of Christianity are in close connection with its doctrine. The Christian character, St. Jude tells us, is to be built upon the strong foundation of the Christian's most holy faith. The reason for this is that the Christian ethics to be not only a system of moral teaching, but a system of revealed facts, which centre on our Lord, and on which moral teaching is to rest. They to make our ethics the Christianly detached from the Christian creed, and you are attempting a hopeless task. Tear away the dogmas, and the precepts lose their sanction and motive power. A writer of eminence, who stands apart from Christian orthodoxy, and thinks there is a lack of breath in the current moral teaching of the churches declines to hold any church doctrine responsible for his insufficiency, and predicts that it would take centuries to establish any morality on a non-Christian basis, and affirms that the ethical teaching of the present day is the result of a long and glorious out of Christianity. Surely this is so, for Christianity is a life as well as a creed, a life which in virtue of its distinctive character is distinguished by a richer goodness than all other religious life.

Now we are in the midst of a curious controversy in these days. Certain writers are smothering the fact that life is conduct and character, and not a creed or belief, and they are insisting so strongly on the recognition of this fact that belief is pushed into the background, and creeds are called "dead letters." It does not matter what a man believes as long as his heart is right." It is a phrase that is in constant use. Matthew Arnold once said that life is three-fourths of what it is not. It happens not far wrong, but the modern teacher wishes to make it all conduct. A writer in a recent magazine says that "Beligion for the average man is becoming too real and vital a feeling to admit of the discussion of heaven or hell, or harps and golden streets, and any of those things that formerly decorated such waste of mental energy. They are all aside from the real issue which is 'Shall we live the spiritual life here and now, finding within ourselves the greatest reward, or shall we ignore the spiritual life within ourselves the greatest reward, a living unrest.' To which rhapsody one feels like answering, 'By all means live the spiritual life here and now, and use the reward here if you can, but the world has found from experience, that there is a close connection between the knowledge of heaven and hell such as Christ possessed, and the true living of the spiritual life such as He practiced.

But the man who would proceed immediately to the practical spiritual life and neglect the alleged fact, that we need on the ground that the sermon on the Mount, and then begins to enumerate the ethical counsels set forth in that great address to mankind. "Ye shall neither kill nor be angry with your brother without a cause." "Ye shall neither commit adultery, nor swear not at all. Resist not evil. Love your enemies. Every man who is striving in secret and not to be seen of the world." Good counsel, surely, but difficult for the natural man to follow; which he never has followed, and which he never will follow of his own unaided strength. For this reason, life is also faith, as well as conduct. Jesus points out to His disciples the roughness of the road and the difficulties of the way, and the world sorrow, and disappointment will be their portion, but "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely for my sake. Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven." To accept such a life as this without a creed is impossible. To sacrifice the world and its pleasures, to accept persecution, to put aside self-assertion and strive after self-realization, to pass through discipline and sacrifice and the death of the natural man for the sake of an ideal life which may have no reality should Jesus Christ have been mistaken, cannot be adopted save through a firm belief in Jesus as the Son of God.

"The religion of the future will be the religion of brotherhood," says the writer I quoted here a few moments ago. "In the mind of every thoughtful man stands out the ideal of this religion, the man who said 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbors as thyself,' but the force of his appeal has been lost, because we have laid too much emphasis on His divinity, Jesus was the Son of God, as we are the Sons of God, only in Him the Divine Spirit reached His ideal development, and made Him an example for all time." This statement shows the madness of some of the theological thinking of the day. In order to make Jesus a perfect example, we would make Him only a man. In order to emphasize brotherhood in religion we would shroud His divinity. But the emphasis which Jesus laid upon the brotherhood of man was due to His conception of God through His divine Sonship. The sequence of the words, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself," is eternal and essential. It is only the man who believes in God as Jesus believed in Him, only the man who has faith in the eternal fatherhood of God and His own relation to Him, that can have any permanent interest in the brotherhood of man.

handed and alone against the dark paganism of Central Africa, and of the heroes in our modern social, political and commercial life, and we rejoice to know that mankind is capable of producing such types of character. We study the life of Jesus and we are uplifted and inspired by the knowledge that such a man has been on this earth and lived such a life and yet conscious of our own weakness, we realize that such a life is beyond our reach. We are discouraged when we think of our own attempts to follow the great examples and of our many and disastrous failures. The life of the saints is attained by so few, and the life of Jesus is so ideal and seems so far away from us, that we are almost despondent. His life when looked upon as an example only, is depressing. And this is the reason why we emphasize the divine side of the character of Jesus. We need a Redeemer, as well as an example. We need a Saviour as well as a friend. The Israelites in their misery and helplessness cried to the Lord for a helper, and Moses saved them. St. Paul with an intense desire to do right, and with his corrupt nature threatening to overpower him cries out "Who shall save me from the body of this death?" and he answers, "It is the Lord Jesus Christ who saves us, not by His own strength, but by His grace, and His mercy, and His love, and His blood, and His righteousness, and His life, and His death, and His resurrection, and His ascension, and His coming again to judge the living and the dead. We need a Saviour, not only a friend, but a friend who is able to help us in our weakness, and who is able to give us the strength to overcome our sin, and who is able to give us the grace to live a life of holiness, and who is able to give us the joy of heaven, and who is able to give us the peace of God, and who is able to give us the love of God, and who is able to give us the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, and who is able to give us the inheritance of eternal life. We need a Saviour, not only a friend, but a friend who is able to help us in our weakness, and who is able to give us the strength to overcome our sin, and who is able to give us the grace to live a life of holiness, and who is able to give us the joy of heaven, and who is able to give us the peace of God, and who is able to give us the love of God, and who is able to give us the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, and who is able to give us the inheritance of eternal life.

plained in such a way that the man who accepts his views and that carefully examine himself in this matter, because it is impossible for anyone else to do it, and because anyone who knows human nature knows that the moral obstacle is the supreme. I had almost said, the all-potent obstacle to progress. A man becomes wrong in his heart and then he tries to suit his intellectual convictions to his new feelings. Perhaps if this fact were duly heralded and emphasized, and the world were honest with itself, we should need less discussion about the creeds and the readjustment of theological thought. "Hold fast the faith once delivered to the saints," says St. Jude, again, and when we examine that faith we do not find it to be so much a complicated set of doctrines as a creed for saints or holy men. The creed held by men who live the life, are able to think the creed which Jesus gave to them. They believe in Him and that he was God; they believed in Christ Jesus, His only begotten Son, who was also God. They had seen Him and knew Him, and they believed in Him as a real man who lived and died, and whom they could follow. They began to try to be holy as He was holy and because He said He would help them, and the fact that He was the Son of God as well as Son of man did not trouble them, it helped them. Christ asks you and me to begin in the same way. He asks us to believe in Him and to trust Him, and to do so, we must believe in Him, and to believe in Him, we must have the very expression of God in human nature, and then to put away intellectual difficulties of all kinds until we have a real man who lives and dies, and whose faith He asks us to trust Him for a time and to diligently cultivate temperance, meekness, purity and charity, and all the other moral graces and to incorporate them into our character, and then through our love of these, approach the intellectual difficulties that must necessarily surround the faith which we are to have in the great facts of a God of infinite greatness and love and power. They reverse the process, and by asking unanswerable questions which any intelligent boy can do, they bar themselves out forever from great moral and spiritual blessings. "But ye, building yourselves up on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, keep yourselves in the Son of God."

AMHERST FACULTY REMAINS FIRM. AMHERST, Mass., Nov. 7.—The Amherst College faculty committed on public exhibitions voted today not to permit the Amherst baseball team to play with Brown next spring on Hampden Park, Springfield. The Brown management has been trying to arrange for a game with Amherst on April 19 at Springfield, but the decision of the faculty committee puts a stop to the plan, as well as to a proposal to have a football game with Williams at the park next fall. It is understood that the action of the committee is based on a desire to eliminate the commercial spirit from the contests as far as possible.

AN ENTERTAINMENT. PETTICOAT, Nov. 6.—On Nov. 6th the members of the Orange Society held a very successful meeting, inviting their friends. They had a splendid supper, and the friends of the man upon at the tables by the officers and members of the lodge. About one hundred were in attendance. An excellent entertainment was given.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 7.—Criticisms of the manner in which the city council handles city business, and the actions of certain city officials, were stated at a meeting of the council held last night in the introduction of a resolution by Ald. Welch, of a resolution which the legislative committee is instructed to have legislation prepared and presented to the next session of the legislature authorizing a full and complete investigation, under oath, into all matters relating to the administration of civic affairs, including all departments before the police magistrate of the city, upon application of any ratepayers, with full power to the police magistrate to subpoena and enforce the attendance of witnesses with books, accounts and all papers demanded. The examination to be conducted by the committee was an oral examination of the opposite party. During the session there were many condemnatory expressions of the manner of the council's working. Edgert said that the business was conducted in a scandalous way and that an injunction ought to be placed in the court. Ald. Welch said that the laws were not complied with and the proceedings were of a farcical nature, especially so in regard to reports of committees. The assessment system of the city was referred to as absurd and it was stated that professional men with large and lucrative incomes are assessed on four or five hundred dollars. All aldermen were of the opinion that it was time for reformation in the manner of conducting civic business. A communication was read from W. A. Russell, barrister, of Shediac, stating that he had been retained by Ald. Belyea to bring an action against the city of Moncton for unlawful imprisonment in the city lockup. He claimed not less than $100 damages. Proceedings would be commenced at once unless the matter was settled. James Babbirk, of Sussex, gave the police officers at Moncton quite a severe tussle before he was arrested last night. He was drunk on the midnight express from St. John and was disturbing other passengers. No one appeared to prosecute this morning and he was fined for drunkenness. A well known resident passed away this morning in the person of Thomas Fleetwood, who for more than twenty-five years has been employed in the I.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Nov. 7.—A survey was held today on the British sea. Evolution, which was towed in here Monday, waterlogged, and the vessel was condemned to be sold, with her cargo of shingles, to the highest bidder. The Evolution is 17 years old, and was valued at $5,500. Captain Boudrot, her commander, being the sole owner. The vessel carried an insurance of $2,500.

ANNUAL SESSION GRAND DIVISION. The Reports Submitted were Very Satisfactory. Rev. C. Flemington Re-Elected G. W. P. and Rev. C. W. Hamilton, Grand Scribe for Ensuing Year.

The annual session of the Grand Division, S. of T., was held in the Temperance Hall, Charlotte street, last evening. Rev. C. Flemington, G. W. P., in the chair. After the usual opening exercises six new members were initiated. G. W. P.'S REPORT. Rev. Mr. Flemington then submitted his report for the year. He said that he had organized divisions in Campbellton, Dalhousie and Port Elgin, and hoped to reorganize another division in Westmorland county and open a new one in the same county. The divisions had been greatly strengthened in Westmorland and Albert counties by the reorganization of a district division, the report of which was later presented by Clarence Hicks of Point DeBute. The G. W. P. reported that he had paid official visits at district sessions at Harcourt, Point DeBute, Sackville, Bale Verts and Port Elgin. In closing Mr. Flemington gave the following brief synopsis of his official work during the year. He had travelled 3,000 miles, addressed twelve public meetings, officiated at ten installations, paid five visits to district divisions and ten to subordinate divisions, initiated 120 new members, written 150 letters and attended four important committee meetings.

GRAND SCRIBES REPORT. E. A. Everett, grand scribe, in his report referred to the organization of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation during the year and the work they have already accomplished in the way of temperance legislation and the arrangements made for the campaign by E. Tennyson Smith. Reference was also made to the death during the year of two loyal members, P. G. W. P. Rev. J. D. Murray of Red Bank, Northumberland County, and Jacob L. Kienstead, P. G. W. A., of Collins, Kings Co. He also spoke of the necessity of propagation work, and of Rev. C. W. Hamilton having been in the field for the past month. He reported returns received from 29 divisions for the quarter ending June 30th, 1906, and from 28 divisions for the quarter ending September 30th, 1906. The following statistics for the past year were submitted: New members, 257; by card, 2; reinstated, 164; total, 423; members withdrawn, 133; suspended, 141; expelled, 125; deaths, 2; total, 407; net increase, 16. Total active membership, Sept. 30th, contained in 48 divisions, 2,315, as against 2,168 in 47 divisions for the next preceding six months, ending June 30th, 1906. In concluding, Mr. Everett stated that owing to changes in his personal business he would be unable to accept nomination for the office of Grand Scribe for the coming year. House of Lords, tonight, adopted clause four of the education bill which provides that the local educational authority "may" afford extended facilities for special religious instruction.

MAP SHOWING ROUTE OF ARCTIC EXPLORER PEARY. BELIEVES SON WAS MURDERED. SYDNEY, N. S., Nov. 7.—A young man named Dan McAdam, belonging to Westday, has been missing since April and his father is now afraid that he was murdered in the harvest trains. He had been working round Sydney for some time and went to St. Peters in June; from there he went to New Glasgow. A couple of days ago his father came to Sydney to see him and found that he was no longer here. Then he wired to New Glasgow and found that his son was no longer there. Shortly after wiring he received word from a man who was on one of the C. P. R. excursion trains of a quarrel which took place on the train in which an unknown man was killed. An envelope was found in one of his pockets addressed to D. McAdam.

MISS MOWATT WILL GO TO NEW YORK. FREDERICTON, Nov. 7.—Miss Isabel Mowatt, court stenographer, has applied to the government for leave of absence for a few weeks. She has lately been offered a position in New York at court reporter at a salary of $2,000 annually, and six weeks' vacation during the hot weather. Mr. Fred W. Sumner, ex-M. P. P., and Mr. Matthew Lodge, of Moncton, are guests at the Queen Hotel. They are here in connection with business in the Crown Lands Department. Mr. Sumner being interested in timber limits and Mr. Lodge in mining leases.

The famous breach of promise case of Gibbon vs. Rowley will not come before the court again. It will be remembered that Miss Ethyl Grace Gibbon, of Baywater, aged 23, some time ago took action against Capt. George Rowley, an octogenarian of Carleton, for damages on the ground that he had agreed to marry her and had failed to do so. The case was tried before Judge McLeod at the June term of the supreme court in this city and a verdict was entered for the defendant, Mr. Gibbon, father of the plaintiff in the action, announced later his determination to appeal the case, as he understood his daughter would not be re-admitted to the hospital in which she was training until her position in this action was more fully justified. The appeal should have been entered on the docket of the court now in session at Fredericton. As this has not been done the decision is beyond impeachment, and Judge McLeod's verdict stands.

HOPEWELL HILL. HOPEWELL HILL, Nov. 5.—At the annual meeting of the Agricultural Society held here on Saturday evening, the following officers were elected: Herbert Newcomb, president; C. C. West, secretary treasurer; R. Chesley Smith, depositor; directors—Joh. Stiles, Byron Peck, Albert S. Milton, Alexander Rogers, Luther Archibald, Geo. W. Newcomb, W. T. Wright, John Russell and Charles Ayres. The officers of the Farmers' Institute were also elected as follows: W. Temple Wright, president; C. C. West, secretary; Alex. Rogers, Luther Archibald and Valentine Smith, directors. Many farmers have not yet gathered their turnips in this section, partially on account of the recent bad weather, and also no doubt because it was desired to give the vegetables as much growth as possible, the early fall being unfavorable on account of the drought. One agriculturist here proved to his own satisfaction that it pays to keep the turnips in the ground as late as possible. About a week ago this gentleman selected a nice smooth turnip in his field and carefully measured it around the middle. Yesterday, Nov. 4th, he again measured the turnip and found that it had gained 2 1/2 inches in circumference in the week. If the increase all over a three acre field were in the same ratio, the gain is certainly a very considerable one. Mrs. Ellen Stuart returned on Saturday from a visit to Boston. Miss Annie E. Peck returned last week from a trip to St. John and Moncton. A Halloween entertainment was held at the Consolidated school on the evening of the 21st ult. Some $18 was realized. The weather was very unfavorable. De Mille Milton, who went west with the harvest excursion, returned today from Saskatchewan, where he spent the intervening months. McClean Bros. have begun logging on the Stannard lot at Memel.
