

REAL SCOTTISH NIGHT IN HONOR OF SAINT ANDREW

Eloquent Oration Delivered in Dialect by Rev. Dr. Morrison at Local Celebration.

The Church and Schools Have Made Scotchmen Stand Out the World Over.

The sons of St. Andrew celebrated the anniversary of their patron saint in true Scottish style last evening, with a real Scottish "nicht" in the assembly rooms when opportunity was given to the citizens of Scottish birth or descent to gather and amid pleasant surroundings hear the songs of the old land and the oratory of one of her gifted sons.

Then there was a dance programme and dainty refreshments were served by an efficient committee. The assembly rooms were beautifully and tastefully decorated for the occasion, Scottish emblems and pictures being used to good effect.

The first business of the evening was the installation of the new officers as follows:

President—Robert B. Paterson. First vice-president—James Jack. Second vice-president—Alex. Macaulay.

Historian—Alexander Wilson. Treasurer—John White.

Secretary—Cyrus F. Inches. Marshals—Charles W. Bell, Francis F. Burpee.

Committee of charity—Dr. P. R. Inches, Andrew Malcolm, Alexander McMillan.

The president delivered an address and there were brief addresses in reply by the presidents of St. George's Society, Irish Literary and Genealogical Society, Clan Mackenzie and the St. Patrick's Society. Then followed the excellent programme:

Overture, Scottish Airs—Orchestra. Song, Here's a Health, Bonnie Scotland to Those—Adair. Song, O Slag to Me the Old Scotch Song—Mrs. Gerow.

Address, The Day and a' Wha Honors—Rev. Dr. Morrison.

The Passing of the Muff. Song, Scots Wha Hae—Mr. McKean. Song, Robin Adair—Miss Knight. Song, Sae Will We Yet—Mr. Cameron, last president.

Accompanist—Mrs. Barnes.

In Scottish Dialect.

In his oration Dr. Morrison spoke with a Scottish twang, and created a great hit with all present. A well known citizen known to be an authority on the subject, in speaking of the address said that Dr. Morrison did exceptionally well with his dialect "for one not born to the Doric."

In his address Dr. Morrison said: "Gude nicht ma freens. 'Hoe's au wi ye? 'Am glad to see ye again. 'Ye're jist looking like. 'Ye lassies are braver than ever. 'I jist cam in to tell ye that ye must mind yer Scotch, take ye credit to yersels for electing to be born members of so noble a race. 'Men I was wantin to add a few finer remarks o' ma ain but the laird that took the snuff off the door tell me that a mustna drag it one more than 20 minutes or the haggis wa be cold and the lads and lassies wa be wantin' to git at the reels and as I was wantin' a haggis nassel a wa muckle obliged to him. 'Aye, the laird was unco generous to gie me 20 minutes. 'It showed his big Scot's heart. 'Not a bit like that Yankee lass in Boston. It appears that one day in the train she was sitting wi a copy o' Browning in so han pretendin to be reading it. Her lither han was in her muff an a young lad cam in and sticked his han into the muff when the Yankee lass turned sharp on him and said: Young man lie jist give yo 10 minutes to gae your hand out o' my muff. Commission in Massachusetts Brings Down Exhaustive Report—Recommends Doubling Number of Beds.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 30.—The provision of a state hospital school for children of school age, with pulmonary tuberculosis. A minority of the commission consisting of three of its members, dissent from the opinion of the commission that food should be given needy patients in their homes under restrictions and advocate the necessary legislative changes to withhold from local boards of health the power to give relief in the home except in cases of quarantine.

The commission reported that there are approximately 35,000 cases of tuberculosis in all forms in the state. For the accommodation of these cases there are 2,773 beds in hospitals and in sanatoria. The commission believes there should be increased provision for 5,000 or 6,000 beds. The immediate need is local provision for the advanced cases of pulmonary tuberculosis.

CHARGES OF GRAFT BEING INVESTIGATED

Dishonest Practices Alleged Against Members Of County Council At Woodstock, Ont.—Rake-Off Of $1,000.

MINISTER ON STAND DENIES WRONG-DOING

Special to The Standard. Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 30.—The investigation into the charges of graft leveled against several members of the Oxford county council opened this morning before Judge Sider, and after some evidence had been taken, adjourned at the request of E. F. B. Johnson, until Monday, Dec. 19th. The charges in detail are as follows, conspiracy, malfeasance of office, breach of trust and other misdemeanors by ex-members, officers and others of the county council of Oxford, irregularity in connection with the letting of the contracts for the building of the construction of roads and payments for toll roads, machinery, etc.

The evidence taken today was all in connection with the meeting of M. T. Buchanan and Rev. Mr. Silcox, formerly of Embree and now of Toronto. Mr. Silcox went into the office of Buchanan regarding the buying of the Koodstock-Ingersoll from the Matheson girls. The charge against Buchanan read that in the purchase of this road he had induced certain parties to sign papers by which it was agreed that they should receive $11,000 for the road ostensibly sold for $12,000 and that he should get the balance of $1,000.

In his cross-examination by E. F. B. Johnson, counsel for the Crown, Buchanan stated that Mr. Silcox came to his office and that they adjourned to the barn in order to have greater privacy. He admitted that the suggestion to go to the barn was made by him. Silcox, he said, wanted to sell the road for the Mathesons, but could not take $10,000. He offered Buchanan $300 for his services if the sale took place, Buchanan said.

Mr. Silcox went into the box as witness and characterized as absolutely false the statement that he offered a bribe. He declared that Buchanan offered him $100 if he would put through the deal.

At the time the body was found the head was missing, but this was found a couple of weeks ago and was pronounced by Dr. Revell, provincial pathologist, as belonging to the body found last summer.

The body was exhumed and was identified as Peach's, who has been missing since last May.

Robertson who has been living on Peach's ranch, said he bought it, Peach was arrested at McLeod and confessed to the crime. The police are after Flak.

Through her counsel the girl pleaded not guilty and her trial was set for the second week in January.

STEEL PRICES NOT TO BE CUT

Magnates Representing 95 Per Cent. Of Production In United States Determine To Maintain Present Rate.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 30.—The price of steel will not be cut. Forty of the leading producers and their representatives who stand for approximately 95 per cent. of the production of this country met today in the downtown rooms of the Railroad Club and decided that it was for the good of the industry to keep quotations where they are now.

Among these men were Judge E. H. Gary and W. E. Corey, chairman and president respectively of the United States Steel Corporation; John A. Topping, chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel Company; Willis E. King, vice-president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company; Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation; E. A. S. Clark, president of the Lackawanna Steel Company; Alexis W. Thompson, president of the Inland Steel Company, and Wallace R. Rowe, president of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, all of them members of the American Iron and Steel Institute of which Judge Gary is president.

Since the last meeting of the institute some weeks ago, a similar decision was reached, there has been an understanding in the trade that some of the manufacturers were not living up to this agreement. When the small makers cut prices the United States Steel Corporation followed their lead, and went after the market aggressively. Therefore there was a feeling yesterday and this morning that some such action might eventuate from this afternoon's conference, and its outcome was awaited with the keenest interest.

MR. BALFOUR THROWS OVER TARIFF REFORM

Referendum Adopted As Sole Issue By Unionist Leader—Surprising Move To Both Parties.

FUND FOR ULSTER REGIMENT, $120,000

London, Nov. 30.—The present election campaign is one of amazing changes. Lord Lansdowne's unexpected presentation of a scheme for the reform of the House of Lords, has been surpassed in suddenness by Mr. Balfour's throwing over of tariff reform as an issue of the election. Lord Rosebery, in the course of a speech today, at Manchester, said: "The House of Lords has ceased to exist, it has surrendered its powers to the nation. This is a fact of enormous importance." Lord Rosebery admitted that it was a delicate and delicate matter, but he contended that it was a necessary and a just measure.

LORD LANSDOWNE, Leader of the House of Lords.

importance." Lord Rosebery admitted that it was a delicate and delicate matter, but he contended that it was a necessary and a just measure.

Mr. Balfour's abolition of the referendum is generally regarded as a surprise move, although it is explained by the bulk of the Unionist party, over their surprise is over, as a master-stroke of skillful electing.

The opposition leader's change of tactics took the older Conservatives completely aback and caused consternation among the ardent protectionists.

The Liberals on the other hand, characterized his attitude as adroit, shrewdness and opportunism. The Liberal leaders, who were surprised as much as the Conservatives have not yet had time to adjust themselves to the changed conditions.

David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at Llandudnod, Wales tonight, reiterated that the cost of the referendum would be $10,000,000. It was a mere device to put a more effective weapon in the hands of the wealthy classes. The Liberals would have none of it.

Dangerous and Delusive. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, speaking at Bristol, said that Mr. Balfour's proposal of the referendum was delusive, dangerous and unwelcome, and calculated to destroy free representative government.

The Home Secretary, Mr. Churchill, addressed two meetings at Sheffield tonight. He said no day passed without some Tory leader overthrowing some ancient principle of the Tory party. Nothing was more astonishing in this wonderful election than the panic which had overtaken that once proud and powerful party.

Mr. Churchill was again subjected to subterfuge disturbances, several unruly persons being ejected from the hall. The flood of election oratory is unabated, but it consists mainly of a repetition of well worn arguments.

The Ulster movement is growing apace, throughout the province. The Ulster men have taken a strong stand against home rule, and the offers of subscriptions to a fund, which is to be devoted to the purposes of organizing a regiment and purchasing arms, have arisen from $50,000 to $120,000 in the past two days.

Moore claimed he was looking for a hotel site and said he was quartered in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

He left Aberdeen about October 8 for Moncton, N. B., where he cashed a cheque for $75 which was traced out to be false. He is also said to have figured at Denver and to have lived at Reading, Mass.

Some months ago one L. S. Peppard was in Moncton and carried on business as a commission merchant and general agent. He had his account in the Bank of New Brunswick, and when he left drew out all the money to his credit and left several of those with whom he was doing business to mourn his departure. From the fac simile of the cheque held by the Chief Detective Agency it is believed that Moore and Peppard are the same. A description of Moore is as follows: About 38 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, sandy hair and mustache, fair complexion, a good talker, says he was in the employ of the Royal Mail service between England and Australia. Peppard belongs to Nova Scotia in the vicinity of Truro.

20 YEARS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

E. J. Perry Found Guilty At Truro Of Killing Of Wright Woman—Made Lengthy Speech On Stand

Special to The Standard. Truro, Nov. 30.—The trial of E. J. Perry, charged with murder, was resumed this morning when the judge, jury and counsel took a view of the house where the murder was alleged to have been committed. The taking of evidence was resumed at a quarter to eleven. The prisoner then went on the stand, and on the whole created not an unfavorable impression.

He gave an account of the whole transaction being a drunken ordeal of which he had very little recollection. His version of the comfortable manner in which he provided for the Wright woman, whom he said he married in Portland, and her children was not gainsaid by the crown.

G. H. Vernon, counsel for the prisoner, then addressed the jury and was followed by J. J. Power, K. C. for the crown, after which His Lordship Judge Drysdale addressed them and left the case to the jury, first instructing them in the law, and then commenting on the prisoner's theory of suicide, and pointed out that if he followed for either murder or manslaughter.

The jury then retired, and after being out two hours returned a verdict of manslaughter. After he had made a lengthy speech, the prisoner was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

DEFENCE SEEK TO IMPLICATE GLOVER WIDOW

Judge Of Hattie LeBlanc Trial Decides Against Admission Of Dying Declaration—Mrs. Glover Tells Story.

PROSECUTION ADMITS WEAKNESS OF CASE

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 30.—Two decisions in favor of the defence in the trial of Miss Hattie LeBlanc for the alleged murder of Clarence F. Glover, and the accusation by the defendant's counsel that Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow, had the motive, inclination and opportunity to shoot her husband, were the developments in the case today. District Attorney Higgins fought hard to get before the jury Glover's dying declaration that Hattie LeBlanc had shot him.

Judge Bond overruled him, however, stating after hearing a dozen witnesses yesterday, and two today, that the evidence did not show that Glover knew his end was near. The district attorney freely admitted to the court that the "dying declaration" was one of the essential props of the government's case, and he turned away from it reluctantly to introduce what he said would be only circumstantial evidence against the girl.

The prosecution had not gone far in its evidence, when it found that the defence, on cross examination of a witness, was seeking to turn the attack from Hattie LeBlanc to Mrs. Glover. The district attorney protested strongly against any imputations against the widow, but Judge Bond, the leading counsel for the defence, declared that he proposed to show not only by the cross examination of this witness, but from other witnesses that Mrs. Glover had the motive, the inclination, the mental and physical capacity and the opportunity to murder her husband.

There were, however, direct and uncontradicted evidence against Mrs. LeBlanc, by the acts and declarations of this woman before and after her husband's murder. I desire to show that she was a vampire, and I see the word advisedly."

Judge Bond decided to repeat his method of weighing the evidence by method allowing it to be submitted to the jury. This evidence was given by Dr. N. W. Cousins, who owned the private hospital where Glover died. Dr. Cousins told of calling Mrs. Glover by telephone, of her coming to the hospital, and of her going away with the rest of the family, but he was notified in case of Glover's death. Later he said, there came an inquiry by telephone as to Glover's condition, and whether he had implicated his wife in the shooting.

Judge Bond then overruled the district attorney by deciding that the jury might hear the evidence against Mrs. Glover and the 12 men fled in Dr. Cousins repeated his testimony under cross-examination by Mr. Johnson.

The prosecution then called Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow, and the remainder of the day's session was taken up in her direct examination by the district attorney.

THE PEARL OF SAVOY
A FINE PRODUCTION

Large Audience Greet Mr. Bird and Local Favorites in Most Elaborate Amateur Play He Has Produced.

The Pearl of Savoy as produced last evening in the Opera House by T. H. Bird and local players, was by all odds the most elaborate production Mr. Bird has yet attempted in this city. A five-act drama of the time of Louis XIV. with characters chosen from the society roll of that fashionable period, it naturally afforded much scope for effects in the way of costuming, and all of these were taken every advantage of by Mr. Bird and his company. As a consequence it can safely be said that few prettier evening scenes have been produced on the local stage than those of last evening's production.

It was, moreover, a difficult piece to produce and one which made exacting demands on the company. The most trying work of the evening fell upon the fair shoulders of Mrs. D. S. Robillard in the role of Marie Lonsatol, the "Pearl of Savoy." It was Mrs. Robillard's first appearance in a dramatic work of this elaborate character, and her rendition of the character won much praise from the large audience present. With its many phases the character of Marie was an ambitious and difficult one for an inexperienced player to attempt. Professionals of mature experience behind the footlights would have found it no easy task and that Mrs. Robillard did so well with it speaks volumes for her ability. She was at her best in her emotional scenes, particularly in the fourth act.

Individual Favorites.
Miss Besie Irvine, as the Marchioness de Silvy, brought out all the dignity in the role and played the grand dame to the life. In all her work there was the evidence of reserve power and force and her presentation was an excellent one.

In the romantic part of Clouchon, Miss Gladys Smith made her first appearance on the stage, and she won much applause for her excellent work. She was at all times natural and vivacious, and her spirited rendering of her lines was delightful.

Miss Marion Harding, as Margaret Lonsatol, had a colorless role, but invested it with much sweetness and matronly dignity.

Mr. Bird, in the role of Arthur Marquis de Silvy, had comparatively little to do, and but few opportunities. In his acting he showed the finish of the professional, while his taste and judgment were apparent in the stage setting, costuming, and direction of the production.

A. E. McGinley, in the part of Lonsatol, gave an excellent characterization of the old peasant. His denunciation of his daughter in the fourth act was a particularly fine piece of acting. Throughout the play Mr. McGinley was always at his ease and his interpretation showed the advantage of previous experience.

In the role of the Commandant, Ernest A. March had a part with many telling situations, and great possibilities in the way of by-play and facial expression. While he hardly made the most of all of his opportunities, he gave an effective reading of the character.

Kenneth Bonnell had a difficult but sympathetic part in the role of Pierrot the friend of Marie. In the third act he did an excellent piece of comedy work, while his stronger lines were well handled. Throughout the play Bonnell gave a consistent performance.

Frank Carr in the role of the Father Leduc gave a dignified representation of the parish priest. Miss Besie Irvine, as the Marchioness de Silvy, brought out all the dignity in the role and played the grand dame to the life. In all her work there was the evidence of reserve power and force and her presentation was an excellent one.

Pleasing Specialties.
Between the acts there were special entertainments. The "Hurdy-Gurdy Man," a topical specialty, was presented by Misses Maude Sutherland and Jennie Tufts and Edwin Bonnell and Sidney Young assisted by chorus.

In the third act minuetto was danced by eight girls and boys and a pleasing specialty between the fourth and fifth acts was "The Mackerel" with Miss Besie Irvine and Ernest March as principals and a chorus of prettily costumed boys and girls.

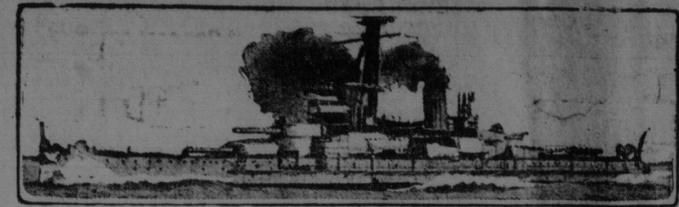

On the whole the performance ranks well with the previous ones of Mr. Bird and those who saw the first production were delighted. It will be repeated tonight and tomorrow evenings and at a special matinee on Saturday afternoon.

SECURING OF DEER
A WORK OF MERCY

The Treasurer of the Horticultural association referring to the item in yesterday's Standard concerning the arrival of a deer for Rockwood Park calls attention to the fact that the reader might infer from the paragraph that the animal had been captured by violent force of arms. He informs The Standard that George Hood, of Upper Maguadavic, York county, in the spring of this year found in the woods there a very young fawn, which was evidently ill, and so weak as to be unable to walk, and which would in all probability have perished had it been left unaided. Mr. Hood lifted it up in his arms and carried it tenderly to his home where it had since been fed and made a great pet of by his family.

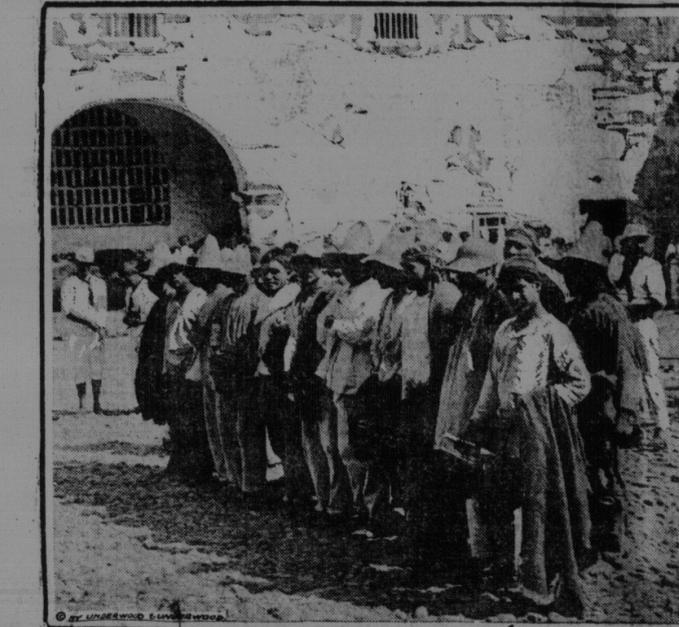

By George F. Scovill being there this summer was asked if the Park would like to have the animal, as Mr. Hood and his family, the open season coming on, were afraid it might wander some distance and be killed or wounded by some hunter. The Park authorities having obtained permission from Hon. W. C. H. Ginner, the general, replied that they would be glad to accept the doe for the very moderate sum asked for it. The doe was accordingly sent to town and is now in the deer enclosure at Rockwood Park, departing itself with its new companions, and possibly congratulating itself that it is no longer in danger from the bullets of the hunters in York county.

COURTYARD OF THE JAIL AT VERA CRUZ, SHOWING A NEW BATCH OF SUSPECTS JUST CAPTURED BY DIAZ' RURALES AND HELD WITHOUT EXAMINATION AS PROBABLE REBELS.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 30.—According to advices received here today from revolutionary sources, the rebels under Madero are in control of the country between Minaca and Guaymas, including the towns and the rich valleys west of Pezons north-west of the railroad, extending to the boundary of Saguariipa. Guaymas is 60 miles east of Muztuma, capital of the Muztumina mining district in Sonora. The rebels are friendly to the Americans, who report them well equipped. The principal products of the district reported to be held by Madero is in the rich Tacholich valley, which was the scene of the last general uprising of the Tacholich Indians, when the entire tribe was destroyed by the Mexican troops Madero's troops in this vicinity of Guerrero are reported to be commanded by Jose de Luz Maria Blanco, formerly of Santa Tomas. The country said to be held by Madero includes the Greene Gold Company's concessions, and it is reported that Dolores, an important silver mining company is also in the hands of the rebels. Young Mexicans of Guaymas have organized a boycott against Americans, according to advices received here today. Practically all reports of the situation in Chihuahua and Sonora received here emanate from sources favorable to the rebel cause. It is generally believed that they lose nothing of their Maderist spirit in travelling. In the present situation it is impossible to obtain verification for many of them, and only the more conservative reports are receiving credence from the impartial.

that the Dominion Dry Dock Company, though it had $300,000 subscribed and assurances of government subsidy would not immediately proceed with the construction of a graving dock at Levis, though the absence of one at that point might involve some company in the loss of millions. It was in the interest of the government of Quebec and the whole of Canada in view of Mr. Allan's statement that the government itself should speedily undertake the building of a dock at Levis. The people would support this.

Certainly, said Mr. Crothers, part of the constitutional way was the building of a navy. Mr. Turcotte was in line with his leader when he said that his goal was independence. Did Sir Wilfrid Laurier recant now?

Still the Prime Minister sat silent. Mr. Crothers recalled the indignation which had been shown when Mr. Monk asserted that an irresponsible man in Drummond and Arthabaska had said that the navy would be useful to resist unjust demands by the Mother Country. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had not repudiated these words.

Next Mr. Crothers dealt with sundry independence speeches, and asserted that the Liberals declared the navy to be a step towards the independence of Canada. These speeches were attributed by Liberal newspapers to Dr. Beland and other Liberals. Dr. Beland denied his part in it.

Laurier's Own Words.
And then Mr. Crothers quoted once more Sir Wilfrid Laurier's famous speech, "I hold up to my countrymen the goal of independence with its freedom of Canada separating from the Empire like ripe fruit from a tree."

In concluding this part of his speech Mr. Crothers read some extracts from the preposterous pamphlet to which Sir Wilfrid Laurier attributed the loss of the seat and declared that the premier and Mr. Brodeur asserted that the character of their compatriots was such that 1,000 of them changed their votes because of such trash. He did not believe the accusations. It was an unparliamentary slander on the electors of Drummond-Arthabaska. Because they chose to withdraw their support they were told that they were a class of people who could be influenced by such language.

Mr. Carvell's Contribution.
The only other speaker was Mr. Carvell, of Carleton, N. B. Mr. Carvell was perfectly sure about that alliance between the Conservatives and the Nationalists. He declared that the Conservatives had been talking frequently, and now wanted to do nothing until Imperial federation had been established and that would not be for generations. They should help the British navy with men, not cash. He declared that Mr. Crothers had been unfair to the Liberal campaigners in Drummond and Arthabaska. Mr. Perreault had denied talking separation.

Mr. Carvell mentioned reciprocity, expressing a desire to see new markets opened to the producer. At the opening of the House Mr. Brodeur and Speaker Marcell had more trouble. It took an hour and a half to get the matter settled, the Speaker having quite lost control over the House. As already explained Mr. Brodeur in his speech attributed to Mr. Blondin a series of very disloyal utterances and ascribed the quotations to the Devoir a friendly paper. They had been contained in hostile and friendly papers and the Devoir of Tuesday revealed this fact, using very strong language, and in point of fact calling the minister a liar. Mr. Brodeur brought the matter up at the opening of the House, admitted that he had ascribed the quotations incorrectly but complained of the violence of the Devoir's language.

The Article Read.
Mr. Blondin, as the victim of Mr. Brodeur's incorrect ascription, tried to read the article in question. The proceedings that ensued took up over an hour and made much noise. The Liberals were resolute to keep the Devoir's denunciation off Hansard and Mr. Brodeur and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, used every parliamentary method to block Mr. Blondin, while the other side of the house, equally resolute, held that the article having been mentioned by Mr. Brodeur could be read. In the end Mr. Blondin carried his point and read the article minus the strong words. Mr. Brodeur was much annoyed and explained all over again.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

"That's what comes of reading Browning's 'The Pied Piper' when the reading Burns she would no ha cut him sa short a'll warrant ye."
"Well Tam what do ye mean after a' they yers in the reek of Chicago."
"Ye'll understand that there's a guid Scotch in Chicago. Ye see Geordy Smith went over to the fair countrie an' wa's one o' the first settlers there an' the Scotch has been getting there ever since."
"A don't blame them for wi' a its ungodliness its a grand place to rake in the baubles. There's Jeems Ferguson an' his brother David, each at the head o' a big bank, and when the president want to ken just what to do about the currency question he sends up to Chicago and Jeems goes way down to Washington and pits him right. Ye see it was a Scotch Presbyterian minister, John Weather-spoon that tell them how to draw up the constitution of the United States they've been making since frae the Scotch ever since an' its nae wonder for he made the constitution near as complicated as the doctrine of the Presbyterian church."
"On aye there's lots o' Scotch in Chicago and they're doin' fine."
"There's Tam McMillan. He came out there frae auld Reekie and they made him a prominent city official. Pa'r Tam, the greatly blessed wi' worldly success, fell from grace and became a Congregational body, an' last year they elected him moderator of the local Congregational church, and send him back to auld Reekie wi' a wheel iters interested in the conversion of the world. In this generation Pa'r Tam was to tell them that when they got through wi' the world they might just take a whack at Chicago. A tell ye that would try them."
"Well aim barrow away about the many Scots in Chicago, but I'll tell ye this, its just the same everywhere. Gang where ye will ye'll aye find the sons o' auld Scotia in the foreground. O' all that's best in our modern civilization."
This is the night we Scots foregather in spite o' sleet, or snow, or weather. This is the night we break our teethters as night a year.
To toast auld Scotland hills o' heather We croonies dear.

We are gathered under the auspices of St. Andrew's society to celebrate the day and a who honor it. It is well to remember that this great world-wide society was not called into being merely to furnish opportunity for legitimate social enjoyment among its numerous members and their friends. Nor is this anniversary perpetuated merely to provide occasions to glorify Scotland by superfluous laudations at these annual festivals.

Purpose of Society.
The standing qualities of the Scotch race need no fictitious commendation from enthusiastic orators. We think tonight of the marvellous influence for good that has been inspired by the hand of our sires. There is something almost divine in the spell that Scotland casts over her sons.

We ask what it is? How comes it to pass that a land so small in extent and of like rugged features interspersed with many barren moors has maintained for herself so large a place in the thoughts of the world. We might reply that Scotland is a most beautiful land. That its scenic effects are nearly perfect. There is beauty in the landscape of form.

The purple heather decks the hills and silvery streams make music in the glens. Anyone who has seen the mountain scenery of the neighboring Highlands can never forget their charm. The continuous stream of foreign tourists to Scotland is a proof of her attractiveness. Yet it is not so much the beauty scenery, but the traditions which entwined the scenes that lent charm to Scotland.

The Trossachs are beautiful. Here the border streams are limped and their banks delightful, but as a greater charm the names of Burns, and Scott and Hogg, and Wilson blended with their musical flow.

Some Noted Scotmen.
Sir Walter Scott said that he could stand on the Eildon Hills and point out 43 places famous in war and verse. Yet there were even better than the works of Adam Smith. To philosophy those of Reid, Dugald Stewart, Sir Wm. Hamilton, James McCulloch and Edward Caird.

In the development of a steam there were Watt and Bill Cug. Above all the service in these departments of knowledge we have the effective way in which the Scotch nation adopted herself to the higher mental and spiritual necessities of the people, from the time of John Knox and Thomas Chalmers down to the present time.

"In summing up those institutions by which Scotland has been made great and influential, both at home and abroad, I would single out these two as of pre-eminent value. I mean the Parish church and the Parish school. We may freely admit that they were both the creations of John Knox, and how well suited to satisfy and develop the higher instincts of his countrymen all subsequent history indicates.

There is no doubt but that the Parish school of Scotland with all its imperfections for over 200 years up to 1872 exerted a powerful influence in determining the quality and genius of the Scottish nation. M. Biol, the famous French physicist, who himself resided some time in Scotland and studied her educational system at first hand declared that the results of education are such that they strike with astonishment those who observe them for the first time. The Scots, poor, and inhabiting a country by no means fertile, have risen by their education and civilization to the level of, and, if the lower orders are considered, have surpassed a nation which is regarded as one of the most enlightened on the face of the earth.

Education First.
Wherever a Scotsman goes, the education he has received in the Parish schools gives his mind a peculiar power of observation and enables him to extend his vision far beyond the range of objects which occupy the at-attention of persons of the same social status who have not been so educated. And this statement is a fairly accurate representation of the place and value of these Parish schools in the nation's life.

"It is a well known fact that ever since the Reformation in Scotland, every Parish had a school which the poorest of the land could make, and did make, the stepping stones to the university."

"Nor can we forget the great influence upon the Scot, of his religious belief. The Scot is pre-eminently a man of religious susceptibilities and instincts. He had over a vigorous consciousness of God and his conscience was never slow to approve the moral precepts of His Holy Word. The records of the Christian church contain no more shining examples of loyalty to conviction than those heroic martyrs of the covenant who, in troubled times, dyed the heather with their blood, and were proved faithful unto death.

"Were you to ask any one to name the outstanding characteristics of the Scotch character, you would be told reverence, honor, and if you asked again, he would reply, perseverance and grit. And these two, honor and grit, are his, because of his hereditary training in the moral law of an ever working God.

"I do not know of any higher use to which these recurring anniversaries can be put than by all the Sons of Scotland, since resolving that with place in the thoughts of the world, and God's good help they will endeavor to transmit to posterity these sturdy qualities of body and mind by which the name of Scotland has been made great.

The printed programme was a tasteful production and will doubtless be kept by many as a souvenir of an enjoyable function. It contained two typical Scotch pictures, a Highlander in kilts dancing the highland fling to the music of the pipes and an illustration of Auld Lang Syne.

The floor committee was composed as follows: Francis F. Burpee, chairman; James Jack, Alex. McMillan, J. Roy Campbell, Fred W. Fraser, Alex. Wilson, Dr. F. Walker, Erroll Inches, William A. Cameron and George C. Roy.

The invited guests were the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Tweedie, the president of St. George's Society and Mrs. Anderson, the chief of Clan MacKenzie and Mrs. Corbett, the president of St. Patrick's Society and Mrs. Ritchie, the president of the Irish Literary and Benevolent Society and Mrs. Regan, Mrs. R. M. Hazen, Miss Marion Hazen, Miss Lillian Hazen, Mrs. Robert Milligan and the Misses Milligan.

At the conclusion of the programme dancing was indulged in until an early hour. There was a large attendance and the arrangements for the affair were most complete.

At St. Stephen.
St. Stephen, Nov. 30.—Our most recently organized body, the St. Andrew's Society, celebrated St. Andrew's night most royally by a banquet at the Windsor Hotel.

The initial entertainment was attended by nearly 100 Scotchmen and invited guests.

The toast list was as follows:
1—His Majesty, the King.
2—His Excellency, the Governor General.
3—His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor.
4—The Day An' A' Wha Honor It.
5—The Land We Live In.
6—Our Guests.
7—The Press.
8—The Lassies.

Preparing Maps.
Sectional maps of the city and environs, showing the lots owned by the city and available for manufacturing establishments, are being prepared by the engineer's department. Some difficulty is being experienced in finding out what lots are not under lease, and at present available, as in order to secure accurate information the records of the chamberlain's office have to be examined for some time past. The maps are being prepared at the instance of the Board of Trade.

LONG-PATERSON
A pretty wedding was performed at the residence of George Patterson of St. Martins at 7 o'clock last evening when his daughter Frances Mary Patterson was united in marriage to B. W. Alexander Long, son of Alex. Long of Norton. Rev. W. H. Shelling was the officiating clergyman. The bride was attired in a costume of green and carried a beautiful bouquet of carnations and smilax. As she entered on the arm of her father the room was filled with guests. The bride, who is one of the most popular young ladies of the town, received many valuable and beautiful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Long will reside at St. Martins.

New Governor Appointed--Imperial Bank Makes Offer to Loan Government Million and a Half Pounds at Five Per Cent.

Leheran, Nov. 30.—It is hoped that the step taken by the government in the appointment of Nizam as Sultanah as governor of Fars will do much to produce a more satisfactory condition of affairs on some of the roads so largely employed by traders. As has been mentioned on more than one occasion the state of the roads in the south of Persia has been most unsatisfactory. Nizam as Sultanah, however, is said to possess a considerable portion of the main road between Bushire and Shiraz, in addition to which he has a considerable number of tribal followers in that part of the country, whom he will be able to employ in addition to regular troops for the purpose of maintaining law and order. This is, evidently, the first step taken by the Persian government to restore a normal condition of affairs in accordance with the urgent notes on the subject that have been despatched to the government from time to time by Great Britain. The last and most emphatic note despatched recently by the British government was the cause of considerable comment, for it contained the announcement that in the event of the Persian government failing to restore order in the affected districts, the British government would be compelled to organize a force composed of Indian officers. As the result of the urgent representations made to the Persian government a special committee was formed to deal with the question and to propose some remedial measures. It appears that they recommended that two of the European officers now in the pay of the Persian government should be sent to Fars, and it is also decided to ask for the assistance of officers from one of the minor powers. The Imperial Bank of Persia has, it is understood, made a definite offer to the Persian government of a 5 per cent. loan of £1,250,000, at the net price of 87 1/2. This involves the conversion of the existing consolidated debt. It is also understood that the bank, in addition to the above transaction, already advanced a sum of 100,000 toman, which sum it is believed will be in all probability tendered solely to the restoration of order in the unsettled districts in the south.

A BIBLE STUDENT LOOKING FOR TRUTH

Japanese Student Pens Theory of Divine Plan of Christianity -- The Arguments He Presents

Letter No. 7. It will be plain from introductory lines in my first letter and from the whole tenor, that I am not writing from an infidel standpoint. I admit the existence of a great, Infinite Being, perfect in every attribute; also the founder of Christianity and believe in the perfection of the principles He laid down for its government. Supposing the formation of worlds and systems had been going on from all eternity past, and will continue to all eternity to come, created and governed by a mind as infinite as space and its contents, and claiming that His work must be perfect, He is perfectly controlled by the laws He lays down for its government; and further, that it cannot be doubted there must be countless millions of worlds inhabited by human beings I am endeavoring to show from the premises laid down the conclusions that must follow such conditions.

KNOCKS FOR SUFFRAGETTES

Noted Prima Donna Who Appeared Here Year Ago Calls Move for Votes Utter Nonsense.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 30.—"It is not necessary for a woman in order to achieve success upon the operatic stage to figure in scandals and use profane language. Why she may even have a family and be opposed to woman suffrage," declared the celebrated prima donna, Mme. Schumann-Heink, who appeared in a song recital at Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon. Mme. Schumann-Heink brought home point after point in her native German tongue, the reporter happening to have command of the same language himself.

She made it clear immediately that she was not what a prima donna is usually considered to be, but a domestic housewife. In a German household, although a native of Austria and although all important European centres have done homage to her remarkable talent Mme. Schumann-Heink considers America her home. "I know that women suffragists resent my utterance," Mme. Schumann-Heink declared, "but I do not fear the opposition of my sex, or rather of a small portion thereof, when defending my principles. "Say what you will, woman's sphere is the home, and anything that tends to draw her away from her duties at home is to be condemned on principle. This is the chief objection that I have against woman suffrage. Why, it's all nonsense, and here in America unpardonable nonsense. "The care of the household and the training of the children take up all of the time of a dutiful wife and mother, and the latter is woman's chief calling. Will a woman who has not the brains to make her home cheerful have the necessary gray matter to intelligently participate in politics. Would not such participation be detrimental to the best interests of the family?"

WEDDINGS. Rubinchovich-Isaacs.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. D. Lewis, Horsfield street, when her sister, Miss Mildred Isaacs, was united in marriage to I. M. Rubinchovich, of Montreal. Her sister, Mrs. S. D. Lewis, was given away by her brother, Lisle Isaacs, was charmingly gowned in white princess satin, veiled with chiffon and bertha of rose lace. Her veil was prettily draped over a coronet of orange-blossoms, and she carried a white satin Bible with streamers of white chiton and lilacs of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. S. D. Lewis, as matron of honor, was gowned in rose satin, draped with large bouquets of gold, and a large black picture hat and plumes. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, tied with pink chiffon. Sydney Isaacs, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen. The bride's mother was beautifully gowned in mauve satin, draped with black ribbon, and she carried a bouquet of violets, tied with violet ribbon. After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served, and the happy couple left for Nova Scotia. The bride's going-away gown was brown broadcloth, with hat to match, and long Persian lamb coat, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Rubinchovich will reside at 4341 Sherbrooke street, Montreal. The presents were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which this talented young lady is held by friends in St. John and elsewhere. Miss Isaacs filled an important place in the community as an entertainer, and her departure from the city is, therefore, regretted by many who did not know her personally, but who always enjoyed hearing her read.

and that one thousand million are still heathens. Out of the balance they reduce the existing elements, which they call nominal Christians, to one hundred and sixty millions, and out of this number only about sixteen millions are genuine Christians fit to receive the favors Christian theologians promise them. Those writers being the judges, this is all the divine plan for the regeneration and salvation of the world has accomplished in 1900 years. Upon this basis, how long will it take to make genuine Christians of the 1,486,000,000 left of the heterogeneous population on this globe of ours. If the conversion of 16,000,000 in 1900 years, surely this is a strange plan for a wise and all powerful Creator to make. With all the power to make it a success it accomplishes so little in 1900 years.

THE DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

Now that the debate on the address is nearing its close, it is quite worth while noting some of its salient features. It has been longer than usual owing to the opening given by the results in Drummond-Arthabaska, where Sir Wilfrid Laurier put his policy to the test just before the opening of Parliament, no doubt with the idea that he would be able to parade a victory to help him through the session. In this he was greatly surprised and bitterly disappointed, and the tinge of this disappointment was apparent in the speeches of the Premier and his supporters. It was unusual also to have the seat of the Finance Minister vacant, and the impression grows that his enforced absence left the cabinet without a single strong all-around man, and would, if long continued, deprive it of support, essential to its very existence. As a stump speaker, Mr. Patterson serves to fill in on an emergency, and make up in voice what he lacks in point, but for parliamentary work he comes in as a very poor second indeed. The other ministers do not seem either able or willing to interest themselves outside the routine of their own departments.

One conclusion we think will be agreed to by the great majority of the members on both sides of the House, and by the reading public, namely, that the Minister of Marine is in every respect the exact type of man who should not be where he is. Anything quite so inept and maladroit as his speech should be inconceivable in a gentleman occupying the position of a minister of the Crown, entrusted with the delicate and complicated task of initiating the naval policy of the country at this particular time. In conception his speech was entirely unworthy and inadequate, in matter it was in part, boldly blatant, and in part childishly weak. In manner the minister was the fair embodiment of a swashbuckler, armed with weapons, the effect of which he did not sense, and the use of which in the end proved far more fatal to his friends than his enemies.

He commenced by holding himself up as the shining example of loyalty and non-partisanship, seemingly oblivious to the fact that in 1896 and later he had written a record for himself in Parliament and out of it, which, had he possessed any discretion, should have counselled modesty, if not silence, on these two subjects. He performed a doubtful service to his province, and his compatriots when he placed on perpetual record the poor and paltry appeals to ignorance and prejudice, which he declared formed the sole electoral arguments used by the opponents of the Government, and then had to admit that such methods so approved themselves to the capacity of the electors that on the first available opportunity a county, Liberal by 2,700 of a Government majority, went against them by 207 votes. And he seemed too utterly stupid to understand that the very appeals, poor and paltry as he dominated them, were but receipts, faithful to the line and letter, of those made by himself and his party in 1896 and 1900.

He dealt himself the coup de grace when he displayed the disgraceful flag cartoon, conceived, executed and distributed, he declared, by the Nationalists, and the design and teaching of which he rightly characterized as shameful, disloyal, and criminal. For that very cartoon, disloyal and criminal, as it undoubtedly was, had been conceived, executed, and displayed, just before the election of 1904 not by Conservatives or Nationalists, but by Hon. Louis Brodeur, himself, and his party, and by them distributed through the agency of Le Canada, the organ of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Seldom has the House of Commons beheld such a scene as that witnessed when the leader of the Opposition held up Le Canada of 1904, with this cartoon on its first page, and taxed the chap-fallen minister with his double perfidy, disloyalty first and then misrepresentation, and never, we are sure, will purgatory reveal more poignant sufferings than were pictured on the faces of the shamed Government supporters as the humiliating spectacle held the stage with the central villain pilloried in full fore-ground. For the Liberal party the usefulness of Mr. Brodeur is clean gone; he has, however, become a valuable negative asset to the Liberal Conservatives.

The debate has also revealed a conviction and a plan of campaign on the part of the Grits. The conviction is that the sceptre has departed from Sir Wilfrid in the province of Quebec, the over-judship has been abolished, and henceforth Quebec will be divided, if not swept, by his opponents. Schooled by Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Brodeur in the election arts of appeals to race and prejudice, the pupils have now surpassed their teachers if that were possible, and retribution is tracking the wicked and unprincipled masters of these ignoble arts. That is the conviction undoubtedly produced and quite plainly apparent.

Their plan of campaign is to present themselves to the English provinces as martyrs for principle's sake, singled at the stake by disloyal compatriots. Sir Wilfrid is to be portrayed as the victim of his splendid Imperialism, and is to win from the Imperialists of Ontario and the other provinces what he has lost in Quebec. To that end the head and front and the rank and file are all being drilled to iterate the watchword of the new campaign "Down with the disloyal Conservative-Nationalist alliance." The plan is as desperate as are those who have conceived it, and it will prove as futile as it is desperate. Appearances and fact are both against it. Mr. Monk has parted with the Conservatives on the naval policy, and both he and Mr. Bourassa have assailed that policy and Mr. Borden, who represents the Conservatives thereon. On that matter they are poles asunder.

Sir Wilfrid has no claim on the Imperialist sympathy on general grounds, or in regard to his naval policy. He has always attacked and derided and vilified them. From the first he has opposed common action with the Motherland and the Sister Overseas Dominions. In 1902 he blankly refused co-operation in any form for Imperial naval defence; in 1907 he testily declared against it, and in 1909 he refused to fall in with the suggestions of the Admiralty and, cut loose from Newfoundland, New Zealand, Australia and South Africa, all of whom acquiesced heartily and loyally. Today he glorifies himself as the defender of the rights of Canada against their proposed invasion as he puts it by Great Britain, and proposes an expensive, inefficient and costly substitute in the shape of a so-called fleet, which cannot fight if it were allowed to, and which will not be allowed to even if it could. No, Sir Wilfrid makes a poor Imperialist martyr, and the figure he presents today is not particularly pathetic, though it is unmistakably bedraggled. He has sown the wind, let him reap the whirlwind.

The debate has been notable also in provoking a fresh and strong statement from the leader of the Opposition as to the policy he represents on the question of naval action. It is the policy of 1909 and 1910 but more clearly and distinctly outlined if that were possible. It is a policy of one control in time of war, and that control centred in the British Admiralty as the only practical and efficient method by which the defence of the Empire may be effectively carried out. It is a policy of ascertaining from the Imperial Government which is in the best position to know, whether or not the present situation calls for speedy and prompt action on the part of Canada, and if it does then to meet it by a parliamentary vote in aid, and if parliament refuses, then to go to the people for their decision.

It is a policy which, as regards permanent co-operation, in Imperial defence, and how Canada shall best do her part therein, calls for thorough consultation between the Mother Country and the Overseas Dominions, and the adoption of a plan which shall include both the share of co-operation and the share of responsibility and consultation involved, and when that is settled to submit the whole matter to the people who will ultimately have to bear the cost. This is definite, it is patriotic, it is practical, and it in the end would be conclusive—as the voice of the country would still the voice of faction or section, and the result would be the nation's will and the Empire's agreement.

THEY ALL DIP IN.

The Charlottetown Examiner notes that the editor of the principal Liberal organ in Prince Edward Island is in the employ of the Government at Ottawa and says impartial reports of matters political can scarcely be expected from such a source.

The case is not an exceptional one. Where the Ottawa Government have not placed their newspaper defenders and eulogizers on the pay list they have supplied them with printing and advertising, for much of which the country gets absolutely no value. A specimen instance was the advertisement for tenders for the Quebec bridge superstructure, which at a cost of thousands of dollars, appeared in the Moncton Transcript and hundreds of other Government newspapers, great and small, while there are only one or two concerns in all Canada that could possibly do the work.

This policy of throwing the people's money to unscrupulous newspapers supporting the Government has had the result of increasing the amount paid for printing and advertising to something like a million dollars a year, or four times as much as it was under the Conservative administration. In New Brunswick the St. John Telegraph headed the list last year with $15,568.07 for printing and $874.21 for advertising, while the Moncton Transcript got $8,542.06 for printing and $628.15 for advertising.

The St. John Sun and Star, since merged with the Telegraph, got $8,555.00, while the Globe, the oldest Liberal journal in the province, which has not said yes and amen to every act of the new Liberals, had to be content with $1,440.66. The St. John Evening Times, an upshot of the Telegraph, got $560.07, the Richibucto Review $687.55 and the Sackville Tribune $660.78. The Woodstock Sentinel, the personal organ of F. B. Carvell, M. P., for Carleton, did well for a weekly paper, getting $2,446.93. Other New Brunswick papers coming in for a share are the Fredericton Herald which has since ceased publication, the Chatham Commercial, the Newcastle Advocate, the Campbellton Graphic, and St. Andrews Beacon.—Moncton Times.

Current Comment

(Manitoba Free Press.)
Science having failed to discover that any useful purpose is served by the vermiform appendix, humorists have arisen to explain that it exists to make doctors rich. This appears to be the view taken by a legislator in Colorado, who has framed a bill making it a misdemeanor for a surgeon to operate for appendicitis, or for what he supposes to be appendicitis, unless he can prove that the appendix is diseased and the removal of it necessary. As a conservator of natural resources or possessions, the legislator in question doubtless means well, but it looks as if he was wasting time.

(London, England, Standard.)
A man suffering from toothache can always cure the pain by blowing out his brains, but there are other and less fatal remedial methods. Must Canada risk a great and glorious future in the Empire because of a mere temporary difficulty? Surely Canadian statesmen and the Canadian people can think out other means of meeting the situation than commercial negotiations with Washington, which not only endanger her political autonomy, but are a grave menace to the existence of the Empire.

(Hamilton Herald.)
But why should American settlers in the Canadian West object to the old songs, God Save the King and Rule Britannia? The ancestors of those of them who are of British descent sang those songs long before there was any United States of North America. Surely their Americanism ought not to prevent them from respecting the patriotic songs of their race which are worthy of respect on account of their age and historical associations if for nothing else.

(Hamilton Spectator.)
Taft hopes for an early measure of reciprocity with Canada "to relieve the political tension" in his own party. A very frank admission that he is using Canada as a monkey to pull the chestnuts from the fire.

Revolution against Dictator Diaz in Mexico does not seem to be making as much headway as the revolution against Dictator Laurier in Quebec.

WILLIAM E. L. STORY BEAUTIFULLY TOLD

Lecture by Miss Jean Leavitt
Illustrated by Miss Gilchrist's
Music Proved Very Enjoyable to Members.

Yesterday afternoon the Natural History Society rooms were filled to overflowing by those anxious to hear the fifth lecture in the "Folk Lore in Opera" course. The lecturer was Miss Jean Leavitt, one of the junior members of the association, who, in a most charming manner, told the story of the Opera William Tell, which was enhanced by the skillful and beautiful rendering of the different motifs by Miss Mary Gilchrist.

Miss Leavitt spoke of the disappointment often felt by the discovery by students of today that the beautiful old historical ballads belong to the mythical kingdom. If we cannot credit the story of the famous opera, we need not conceal the simple truth on which the story is based, namely the love of parent towards the child, and the love of freedom.

William Tell was the masterpiece of Gioacchino Rossini, the Italian composer living in the eighteenth century, the music immediately found favor with the critics and the poems are word pictures. This opera was first produced in Paris, where it was repeated fifty-six times. Though Rossini lays the scene in Switzerland, this does not necessarily imply that William Tell was a Swiss Legend, as in the folk lore of every country in Europe the same legend or one similar is recorded.

Story Goes Far Back.
The story originated back in the middle ages when men worshipped the heavenly bodies, the sun-god was to them the greatest hero. He was the king of the skies, in short, he was a William Tell, because he could shoot his arrow like sunbeams wherever he chose, and they never missed their aim. That was the age of astrology when men so personified the orbits that they impersonated them all. The race then inhabiting Asia eventually ventured beyond the borders, and being rovers carried their traditions and beliefs with them all over the new world. In the famous archery scene in Scott's Ivanhoe, is a repetition of this myth. Countless ages have elapsed since the first William Tell there was a first performed his wonderful deeds, but only the Swiss William Tell claims our attention. Then followed in well chosen language a splendid and realistic description of the opera which delighted the audience and held their close attention throughout.

The music was exceptionally good, the overture being beautifully rendered by Misses Mary Gilchrist and Gladys Bullock. Miss Louise Knight, as usual charmed everybody with her singing of "Oh Lovely Wood." At the close of the lecture, Mrs. Dempster's violin solo "Ballet Music" called forth much applause.
A cordial vote of thanks to Miss Leavitt and those who had so admirably assisted her was moved by Mrs. Fiske and seconded by Mrs. H. H. Pickett.

The close of entries for the Amherst Winter Fair indicates a record breaking show. In beef cattle there are 131 head entered, dairy cattle 86, sheep 265, swine 123, live poultry 1211, and dressed 296. Over 40 collections of apples will be shown and the seed display will be large.

Col. H. M. Campbell, Apohaqui, N. B., is this year's president, and a new exhibitor will be James A. Teifer, who has lately bought a large property near Sussex and who brings with him from Paris, Ont., not only a considerable number of choice sheep, but also the reputation of being one of the leading sheep breeders of Canada.

The show opens on Monday evening, 5th December, on which occasion Hon. J. D. Hazen has been invited to deliver an address. Very cheap fares have been arranged over the I. C. R., covering the whole period of the show, from 5 to 9 December.

Addressed by leading agricultural authorities will be given in the auditorium each evening during the show.

FUNERALS. The funeral of Mrs. Margaret McConnell, wife of William McConnell, took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late residence, 66 Simonds street. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. D. Marr. Interment was in Fernhill. The funeral of Mrs. Anne Gallant took place yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock from her late residence 81 Portland street. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. D. Marr. Interment was in Cedar Hill. Conduct His Own Case. An interesting case will be tried in the police court on Saturday morning, when Mrs. John W. Myers, of 15 Cranston avenue, who is instituting a suit for damages against W. Albert Nelson, principal of the Winter street school, for alleged ill-treatment of her son, Raleigh, has been summoned to appear in court, at the instance of Principal Nelson, to answer a charge of common assault. The complainant, besides being a school teacher, is a qualified attorney, and will conduct his own case.

HOPE CASE TO SHOW TODAY

Recorder Baxter Will Have Last Word Owing to Fact That Defence Calls No Witnesses—Evidence Yesterday

With the announcement that the defence would call no witnesses, and testimony offered by the plaintiff in rebuttal to her own witnesses, the civil suit of Miss Hopper against the police reached the presentation to jury stage yesterday afternoon. Five witnesses were on the stand yesterday.

At the morning session the re-examination of Officer Lucas was continued by Mr. Mullin. He described what he saw in the house. Cross-examined by Mr. Baxter witness told of being called into the Metropolitan on October 14, 1907, to "shoot Timothy Gagnon, who was flourishing a revolver. Two women were in the same room with Gagnon.

Sergt. Campbell On Stand. Mr. Mullin called Sergt. Campbell, who described the raid, corroborating the previous witness. Witness said he did not accompany the plaintiff to the guard room. Shortly before 10 that morning Chief Clark told him to go to the hotel and notify them to appear in court. Cross-examined by Mr. Baxter, witness said that Goggin asked him to awake Mrs. Goggin and tell her that he was arrested. Witness also said that he told Lucas to take all hands to the station. "There was no plot to catch Brown and Wheaton." Witness also said that the Chief did not tell him to arrest the plaintiff. Witness said the hotel was a resort for women of bad repute.

Re-examined by Mr. Mullin, he could not remember the name of a respectable person who gave him information concerning the house. Arthur Clark testified under direct examination that he and his brother occupied a double room in the hotel. He said Goggin warned them not to have any women in their room. Witness told of being in a restaurant kept by Wheaton on Brussels street on the night previous to the raid. Rupert Wry arrived with some liquor.

Drugged Liquor. Shortly before midnight on the night of the raid witness said he was in his room with his brother, when Wry and the Wheaton and Ferris women entered. Why gave them a drink? Witness said:—"The liquor was drugged. I knew nothing from that hour until arrested."

Cross-examined by Mr. Baxter, witness denied that the three came to his room on his invitation. He said he lost his memory owing to the effect of the drug. He never took drugged liquor before. His brother was drugged, too.

Witness was examined as to the kind of house he previously kept on Horsfield street. Theodosia Goggin, wife of the proprietor, was the next witness. Mrs. Goggin corroborated the evidence of her daughter on Monday.

This closed the plaintiff's case. The defence announced that no witnesses would be called. When the case was resumed in the afternoon at half past two, Mr. Mullin, who had closed his case before the court arose at lunch hour, asked to be allowed to call witnesses to rebut the evidence of testimony given by the police officers.

Recorder Baxter opposed the motion on the ground that the police officers were called by the plaintiff. Evidence in Rebuttal. Motion allowed subject to objection.

George Morrow, a steambot captain, was the first witness. Examined by Mr. Mullin, witness said he was a lodger at the Metropolitan.

At—While you were a lodger in this house did you ever hear anything about it being a bawdy house. Objected to by Mr. Baxter. Objection sustained.

Q—What would you say as to the general conduct of inmates of the house? Ans.—Miss Hopper and Mrs. Goggin are ladies.

Q—Sometimes in the summer you would not be in many nights? Ans.—Yes.

Q—What time would you retire at night? Ans.—Eight, nine or ten.

Q—You never mingled very much with the inmates? Ans.—No.

Q—You knew the Clarks but not their reputation? Witness said that besides Mr. Underhill, Mr. Corbett, Mrs. Chivers, Mr. Newell and the Goggin, he knew no one else.

W. H. Underhill, printer and publisher, was the next witness. Witness knew Goggin for over thirty-five years. Mr. Underhill roomed in the Metropolitan for the last five years.

Inmates all Right. Q—From your observation of the house what would you say as to the general character of the inmates? Ans.—All right.

Witness gave the Goggin a good name. Cross-examined by Mr. Baxter. "I get in from my business anytime from one to three a. m. I get out about 7:30 a. m."

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS NOW COMPLETED BY W. H. THORNE & CO. LTD.

New Premises Opened for Business Today--The Finest Combined Hardware and Fancy Goods Store in Canada.

Having unbounded faith in the future of the city of St. John, and to meet the constantly growing demand for more space, W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., this year purchased the building situated on lots seven and nine, King street, known as the Montgomery Building.

The building adjoins in the rear their Prince William street property and entrances have been cut through from each floor giving easy access from one building to the other at each of the different levels.

This will add a floor area of 12,000 feet to their store premises and give them a floor space of about 60,000 square feet, with a frontage on Prince William and King streets of upwards of 140 feet. Extensive improvements have been under course of construction for several months and are now completed.

It was found necessary to remodel almost the whole of the Montgomery Building. In the basement, up to date, serviceable lavatories have been installed for the employees use, together with steam heating boiler.

On the ground floor a large expenditure has been made to make it one of the most attractive stores in the city for shoppers. Steel ceilings enamelled white, hardwood floors and black walnut cases throughout have been installed. These latter include wall cases and no less than nine steel safes round the different sections of the floor. The windows have been finished in solid mahogany and now present a very handsome appearance for the display of goods.

This ground floor will be used to display the very extensive stock now carried of sterling silver, electro plated ware, cut glass, cutlery, brass, leather and general fancy goods. Nothing like this show room for displaying goods will be found in Eastern Canada.

Tungsten electric fixtures burning Tungsten lamps have also been installed which brilliantly light the room.

The second floor is divided in two sections, one of which is devoted to the sale of Edison photographs and records, in which the company does a very large business, the Amberola machine which is the latest production of the Edison Company being a piece of furniture as well as a musical instrument which would be an

NO DANGER OF COLLAPSE AS REPORT TO WATER BOARD

City Engineer Murdoch Considers That Conduits Will Not Give Way--New Service in Indiantown Will Prove Costly--No Action Until Land Damages are Estimated.

At the meeting of the water and sewerage board yesterday afternoon, the report of the city engineer, Murdoch, on the danger of a collapse of the water sewer, was the subject of discussion. The matter of putting in a new sewer to divert the sewage from the vicinity of the St. John Power House into the Marble Cove again came up and action was again deferred to secure further information.

Other business of a routine character was dealt with. Ald. Likely presided and there were present Ald. Smith, Sproul, Scully, White, Wigmore, Russell, Elkin, Hayes, Potts with the common clerk and the city engineer.

One tender was received for constructing the proposed sewer at Marble Cove. It offered to do the work for $4.35 per lineal foot, rock in stone. The engineer said that at this rate the sewer work would cost $7,830. The tender was signed by A. R. C. Clark and R. S. Lowe.

Ald. Scully said he understood the job could be done for $5,000. When land damages were added the Clark tender would come to a good deal more than the engineer's estimate.

Offer of $4,000. Ald. Wigmore said it was necessary to do the work. A practical contractor had told him he could put in a satisfactory sewer for $4,000. However the engineer had changed his plans and the contractor would not tender.

The engineer said the plan had not been changed. He had surveyed the course of the sewer which was to be built of brick some time ago and had adhered to this survey. The tender was higher than his estimate of $8,000 as that included land damages.

On motion of Ald. Smith it was decided to have the engineer submit a report at the next meeting on the land damages that the work might cause.

With regard to Henry Daley's request for an extension of time to enter the new sewer at the rear of old Westmoreland Road, the engineer recommended that he be allowed to May 1st of next year. The recommendation was approved.

It was decided that Mrs. Jane Anderson's bill for water be written off. That Mrs. Martha Lowe, Brook street, be refunded $12. excess charges for water; that Mrs. Sarah Neves, Brooks street, be refunded $18, improperly charged; that $10 be written off from the water rates of Sam Watt, Mill street and Sing Lee, City Road and that they be charged $3, the office rate.

NEW BRUNSWICK APPLES BEST AT TORONTO

Exhibit from This Province Compares Favorably With Samples of Varieties in Other Parts of Canada.

Reporting the horticultural show held on the week of 14th November at Toronto, by the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, the weekly Mail and Empire of the 22nd inst., makes the following remarks upon some special features of the show.

"Six boxes of apples from Nova Scotia, one from Quebec, six from Ontario and eight from British Columbia were shown by the Dominion Government, and afforded an opportunity for comparing the character of varieties as grown in the different provinces. New Brunswick sent in four boxes and a half barrel, the best apples from any outside province. They were a fine lot, highly colored, well grown, and well packed."

These and some of the apples so much admired at the St. John show and taken to Toronto by Prof. J. W. Crow, of Guelph, at the instance of A. G. Turney, provincial horticulturist of New Brunswick.

Archaeological Society. The executive committee of the St. John Branch of the American Institute of Archaeology met on Tuesday evening and took up several matters of moment to the society. The president, secretary and Dr. R. F. Quigley were appointed councillors to the annual meeting of the Council of the Institute in Providence in December.

Mayor Frink was made a member of the executive committee. A membership committee consisting of Dr. Bridges, T. H. Bullock, W. B. Tennant, Dr. Quigley and the secretary was appointed. The society in St. John has secured this year five new life members and an equal number of annual members. The Institute has made great advances in its membership in Canada this year.

The date of the next lecture is not yet announced, but it will be shortly. Admission will be by ticket to members and their friends.

Foresters at Norton. There was a great gathering at Norton on Tuesday evening under the auspices of Court Kenebecensis, I. O. F. A genuine old fashioned supper was first served and was attended by people from all the surrounding country, a free invitation having been extended to all to participate. The repast was a bountiful one and the ladies were warmly praised for their splendid cooking. The supper over a public meeting was held presided over by Andrew Sherwood. Excellent addresses were made by M. N. Cockburn, St. Andrew's high chief ranger; F. W. Emmerson, high secretary; M. E. Grass, high vice-chief ranger, and D. G. Lingley, past high chief ranger. There was also good music.

Steamer Damaged. With one of her lifeboats carried away and iron steps to the bridge torn from their place, the Dominion Coal Company's steamer Cape Breton, Capt. McDonald, which is now met with terrific weather of the Nova Scotia coast during Saturday and Sunday. The coal laden steamer ran into a furious weather, one of the worst storms she has met with off the coast. Giant seas continuously swept over her from stem to stern, the decks being submerged much of the time. On Saturday night of January 8, when the weather was about at its worst, a big sea ripped from the davits the lifeboat on the starboard side, and carried it away. Soon after the iron steps, to the bridge were torn from their place like sticks.

Mrs. George McInnis. The many friends of Mrs. George McInnis, formerly Miss Edna M. Gregory, will regret exceedingly to learn of her death, which took place on Tuesday evening at Revere, Mass. Up to the last she played a part in the city Mrs. McInnis was a prominent worker in Trinity church, having been a member of the choir there for a considerable time. Of a most amiable disposition, she had a host of friends here who will be grieved to hear of her early death. Besides her husband she is survived by her father, one brother, Arnold H. Gregory, of South Framingham, Mass., and two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Turner, of Revere, and Mrs. George E. Smith, of St. John.

"Rosedale" the Play. Under the auspices of the officers of the 62nd Regiment, the well-known military drama "Rosedale" will be presented by the players of the Aurora House in the last week of February. There will be a strong cast, with Miss Baillie in the leading part. The regimental band will assist, and there will be a fine musical programme. Four or five performances will be given. T. H. Bird will have charge of the details.

Ella Woods. Ella Woods, three years old, died at the General Public Hospital on Monday night as the result of swallowing a quantity of live several months ago. Her parents, who belong to McAdam Junction, were notified, and removed the body on Tuesday for burial.

No Campers At Spruce Lake. The engineer recommended that the city take steps to keep campers away from Spruce Lake. He thought the city should expropriate all property around the lake.

The amendment was lost, and Ald. Smith's motion to open a gateway for Mrs. Aids was adopted.

Ald. Hayes wanted to know whether the repair work on the Loch Lomond extension would make the conduit satisfactory, or whether the city was living in dream land. The question was a serious one. Some day there might be a big collapse and the city and citizens would suffer. If the repair work was of a temporary character he thought the sooner the board had a report as to the cost of putting in new pipes the better it would be.

The engineer stated that his repairs were all holding firmly, and he thought that by next summer the masonry conduit would be in a fairly satisfactory shape. He thought there was Coldbrook Industry. Coldbrook, on the line of the I. C. R., which has been rather quiet so far as industrial work is concerned, since the destruction of the rolling mills there, some years ago, is now to be the scene of a new industry. Major J. J. Gordon, proprietor of Gordon's Nail Works, on the West Side, has rebuilt one of the buildings at the rolling mills site, and plant there. The building is about ready and it is expected to start work by the first of the year. The work will be taken up on an extensive scale and it is hoped to develop quite a large trade with foreign markets. Major Gordon also has under consideration the matter of removing his nail factory from the West Side to Coldbrook.

Immigration Matters. E. Blake Robertson, of Ottawa, assistant superintendent of immigration for the Dominion, arrived in the city yesterday on his semi-annual trip of inspection. He will leave today for Halifax and will embark there for the old country. The winter is the busiest time in the work of emigration propaganda in Europe and Mr. Robertson will assist in the direction of this work. Speaking of the condition of immigration, Mr. Robertson said that for the first seven months of the fiscal year up to the first of this month, 233,000 new citizens had arrived in Canada. The winter months will show smaller figures, but an unusual by good season is expected and it is anticipated that the total of the year's business will reach the record number of 300,000. The greatest percentage of increase is in the American settlers. There has also been a gain, but not so large a gain in numbers, coming from Great Britain, and the quality has also been improving. The continental immigration has remained about the same.

News Of Marriage. A telegram to the home of Wm. McConnell, saddened by the death of the wife and mother, yesterday brought the news that Mr. McConnell's daughter, Margaret, had been married in St. John's, Newfoundland, to John H. Boxer Held Responsible for Death of Billy Dunning in Bout at Presque Isle—Victim Not in Shape.

A hearing in the case will be held before Trial Justice S. S. Thornton, in Houlton at ten o'clock Saturday morning, when Harry M. Briggs will appear for the respondent, and James Archibald for the State. The arrest of Leon came as a surprise to many who have been watching the unfortunate affair at Presque Isle. Following Dunning's death, on Friday afternoon, an autopsy was held and the coroner's jury on Saturday returned a verdict that he came to his death by participating in a boxing contest for which he was physically unfit.

Many people would probably agree that Major Eustace Loder's Spearhead was the last horse before Bayardo who could properly have been termed "great," and in his case some may be inclined to consider the distinction somewhat easily earned, as he was a $300,000 animal. Val d'Or, who amongst other races, won the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park, worth $9,285—$21,280,000, and these are some of many brilliant sons and daughters.

Dr. Edward A. Peterson, of Goodrich House, Cleveland, Ohio, was the advocate of Sunday amusement, and his paper on "The Place of Recreation in the Modern City," brought forth considerable opposition. Dr. Peterson said: "It is good and wise legislation which forbids work on Sunday, for that is the only way of assuring its being observed. But where we forbid play we make Sunday a day of idleness for most young people. Of course we must insist on observance of the Modern City," brought forth considerable opposition. Dr. Peterson did not include professional baseball in his list of approved pastimes, because, "only a few

MOOSE FALL OFF IN MAINE

Hunting Record in Neighboring State Rather Disappointing This Year—Poor Weather and Not Many Old Animals

Bangor Me., Nov. 30.—Moose hunting in Maine for the season of 1910 came to an end tonight with rather a disappointing record as compared with former years. Up to 6 p. m. today there had been received at Bangor 96 compared with 119 animals a year ago today, a few carcasses arriving after the expiration of the time limit. In 1909 the Bangor & Aroostook transported over its various lines 175 moose. This year's figures are not yet available, but will be considerably less than last season's. The record moose year was 1906, when 259 carcasses were carried by Bangor & Aroostook trains. Various explanations are offered for the unexpected falling off in moose figures. Warden Neal, who inspects all the game that comes to Bangor, says that while there is a plenty of young bulls and cows, the old bulls with fine heads are becoming more and more difficult to get, most of them having retired far into the deep woods before the advance of civilization. To follow up these big fellows entails great expense of time and money—an expense that is increasing every year, so that the number of those who can afford this form of sport is constantly growing fewer. Warden Neal says that not over ten per cent. of the moose that came to Bangor this fall were of good size, the game being chiefly small bulls with very little web to their horns, the age of the animals ranging from one to four years, whereas to make good trophies they should be five or six years old, at least. The weather, too, has been unfavorable most of the season having been warm and dry. Receipts of deer at Bangor to 6 p. m. today aggregate 2,843, compared with 2,519 at the corresponding time last year. The weather is now favorable for hunting and from this to so deer are coming in daily, so that the season's record is certain to far surpass that of 1909, when 3,144 deer

HARDWARES AND CLERKS WIN

Captain Stone Cheered on to Victory by a Bevy of Girls—Grocers Lose to the Clerks—The Standing.

The Hardware Clerks defeated the Oh You's in the Y. M. C. A. basketball series last evening by a score of 25 to 7. The line up was as follows: Hardware Forwards. Oh You's. Folkins Patterson Willett O'Dell Centre. Stone Harper Guards. Burton Macaulay Cameron Smith Among the spectators were a bevy of the young lady employees of W. H. Thorne & Co. who followed the game with great enthusiasm and at the close testified their appreciation of the efforts of Capt. Stone of the Hardware team by presenting him with a beautiful decorated cabbage. The captain of the Oh You's was away at St. Martins, and this probably explains the poor showing made by the team. In the other game the clerks surprised themselves by defeating the Grocers to the tune of 24 to 17. Scott the captain of the Grocers did not play. The standing of the teams is as follows: Won Lost Grocers 3 1 Hardware 2 1 Bankers 1 2 Clerks 1 3 were received here and 3,266 were carried on all lines of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad. Bowling Club Meets. The City Bowling Club will meet at Black's alleys tonight at 7:30 o'clock sharp. There will be a novel feature introduced as the names of the players will be in envelopes and they will draw for partners. The winners will not be known until the finish.

AROUND THE CITY

Police Pledges. The employees of the ferry service have been provided with police badges.

Trinity Choir Notice. Members of Trinity choir are requested to meet at the church at 3 o'clock this afternoon to attend the funeral of Mrs. MacInnis.

Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of York L. O. L. No. 3 will be held in the Orange Hall this evening when the election of officers will take place for the ensuing year.

Arrested On Train. Last night a man who was intoxicated refused to leave a car on the I. C. R. express and he was arrested by Policeman Smith. He had $196 in his pockets and a ticket for Boston.

Will Sell Partridges. At 10 o'clock on Saturday morning C. T. Dean, game warden, will sell at auction in the market, the fifteen pairs of partridges recently seized by him. They have been kept in cold storage since they were seized.

Police Reports. Charles Gamble and Wm. Daley have been reported for violating the rules governing coachmen at the C. P. R. Depot. David Carleton has been reported for doing a junk business in the city without a license.

More Than was Expected. The order of the King's Daughters had hoped to have made up one bale of useful articles to send to the Campbellton fire sufferers, but yesterday afternoon they shipped three bales and a trunk full of clothing and other supplies. The goods have been consigned to three of the churches for distribution.

Quiet on N. T. R. Hon. L. P. Ferris, police commissioner of the Transcontinental arrived in the city last evening. To a reporter he said all was quiet along the road, which was practically completed as far as Plaster Rock. Most of the contractors have finished up their work for the season, he said, and departed.

deForest Creditors Paid. There was a meeting of the deForest creditors yesterday afternoon. The creditors agreed some time ago to accept 28 per cent, and an interim payment of 20 per cent, was made. Yesterday it was agreed to pay the balance of eight per cent, and L. P. D. Tilley was instructed to transfer the business to J. Harvey Brown.

Gold Medal Offered. Secretary Porter of the exhibition association, yesterday received a letter from the secretary of Clydesdale Horse Association of Great Britain offering two gold medals and a trophy in the Clydesdale classes in the provincial exhibition to be held in this city Sept. 2 to 9, 1911. The executive committee of the association will meet this evening in their rooms.

Another New Street. A new street known as Cedar Grove Crescent, has been opened up from Park street down the valley towards Cranston Avenue, and then up the hill to where it connects with Mount Pleasant Avenue. The street runs through the Park estate and has been opened for the purpose of making the estate available for building sites. Some time ago the trustees of the estate submitted plans for the new street to the Board of Works. These were approved by the city engineer, and the city authorities agreed to accept the street, and put in water and sewer pipes as needed. The estate should fill in the roadway in such a manner as to make retaining walls unnecessary.

WINTER PORT NOTES

Aidan Line steamship Pomeranian left this port yesterday at noon for London and Havre via Halifax. Steamship Manchester Trader arrived at Halifax yesterday from Manchester with a general cargo. She comes to this port and will be due here Friday.

The Munson Line steamer Leuctra now on her way to Havana from here took away a cargo valued at $47,415. The Donaldson liner Athena now in port at berth No. 4 West Side will take away a large shipment of cattle for Glasgow.

Manifests for 36 cars of United States meats, flour, hops and lumber etc. for shipment to U. K. in the winter-terp steamers have been received. The steamship Manchester Commerce is due today from Manchester direct, with general cargo. The first outward manifest for the winterport business was filed at the custom house yesterday from the steamship Kanawha. She took a cargo valued at $23,475. Among the freight were eight barrels of Hudson Bay furs valued at about $12,000.

C. P. R. steamship Empress of Ireland will leave this port tomorrow for Liverpool. She will have over 1,400 passengers and a large outward freight including a lot of United States products.

CITY WAREHOUSE DAMAGED IN SPECTACULAR WATER FRONT FIRE

Shed on McLeod Wharf Practically Total Loss With $5,000 Damage to Contents--Many Local Firms Will be Losers--Steamer Has Narrow Escape--Cars on Fire.

About 9.45 o'clock last night fire was discovered in the McLeod warehouse, owned by the city, near the custom house, and an alarm was sent in from box 28 on the corner of Duke and Prince Wm. streets.

Before the flames were subdued the whole western side of the warehouse was burned out and the freight stored in the building valued at $5,000, was badly damaged.

The Norwegian steamer Hird was moored to the wharf and escaped only by casting off and moving farther down the wharf. Some I.C.R. cars were partially destroyed.

Smoke was Dense. To get inside of the shed was impossible on account of the dense smoke but every man worked under difficulties.

At eleven o'clock the fire was pretty well under control and the members of the Salvage Corps with other assistance removed a large quantity of the most perishable goods from the shed to Water street.

Positions of Engines. No. 3 and No. 2 engines were at work on Prince Wm. street and No. 1 and No. 4 were placed on Water street. Each gave good service.

TORREY COMMITTEE FACE BIG DEFICIT. Statement Issued Yesterday Showed Expenditures to Date to Exceed Receipts by More Than $800.

The finance committee of the Torrey campaign issued a statement yesterday showing the expenditures and receipts up to and including the 29th of November.

Table with columns: Item, Amount. Includes Advertising, Heating, Seating, Building, Platform, Light, Rent, Sundries, Printing, Travelling expenses, Hotel bills.

Total $2176.36. It is the opinion of the committee that when all the bills are presented the expense account will exceed this estimate. Up to the close of the 29th of November the total collections amounted to $1,293.83. The deficit yesterday amounted to $882.53.

The Globe Laundry. The management of the Globe Laundry wish to announce that they have established a temporary office in the building occupied by the Myers machine shop, and have secured the use of the plant of Ungar's laundry for their washing.

recently placed there from the Donaldson line steamers Athena and Kastalia.

Last night one of the Donaldson line representatives said he thought that probably the damage to the freight would not exceed $5,000. A great amount of the freight is not easily destructible.

At the office of Robert Reford Co. last evening, it was stated that it would be impossible to estimate the loss without knowing the value the shippers placed on their goods in the sheds. Most of the goods in the sheds were consigned to local firms, who are supposed to carry insurance on their consignments.

Among the commodities in the warehouse were 5,000 bags of Scotch coal, between 300 and 400 bags of large quantity of cast iron pipes, bricks, fire clay pipes, 150 tons of pig iron and a consignment of case granite for Ontario. There were also a quantity of hides, pickles and general merchandise.

Steamer on Fire. Before the steamer Hird could be hauled to safety a part of her rail and one of her life boats caught fire. The crew quickly extinguished the blaze and the damage done was trifling.

The warehouse is very badly damaged and it is estimated that it will take in the vicinity of three thousand dollars to make the necessary repairs.

The fire is supposed to have caught among some old bags on the north-western corner of the warehouse. The northern end of the building is destroyed and the entire harbor front side is all burned through. The roof is also very badly damaged.

On the harbor front were three or four box cars that had been placed there during the afternoon and the sides of the cars next the building were badly damaged. The cars were empty and were there to receive freight.

A couple of tugboats visited the scene some time after the fire started and performed good work with what fire hose they had on board.

The goods that were removed from the building were placed in the McAvity warehouse near by.

A short time after the fire started a young man attempted to get on board a motor launch that was in the McLeod slip near the burning shed. He fell between the boat and the wharf and was rescued after some difficulty.

A. S. Fillmore Not Yet Prepared to Pass Upon St. John as Site for New Carriage Factory.

A. S. Fillmore, of Athol, N. S., the carriage manufacturer whom the officials of the Board of Trade are trying to induce to locate in St. John, was at the Royal last evening on his way to the Pacific coast.

"No, I have no intention of locating in the west," was the answer. "I have some business to attend to in the west, and I want to look into the possibilities of developing a market for carriages in that section. Occasional shipments of carriages are far west as Edmonton, and I think the prospects of working up a trade out there are good. We can manufacture carriages in the Maritime Provinces much cheaper than the west can hope to do, and sell them in the west at a profit, even after paying the charges of transportation, which are very reasonable from most of our railway centres."

"No, I don't care to say what I think of St. John as a site for a carriage factory just yet. A large number of cities and towns are trying to persuade me that they can offer me special advantages, and until I have looked over the ground I don't care to express an opinion on the merits of any place. Mr. Anderson has explained the situation to me here very thoroughly, and I have no doubt St. John is going to be a thriving manufacturing centre. At any rate it is enterprising. The ashes of my factory were hardly cold before Mr. Anderson called me up on the telephone and asked me to come to St. John."

In his old factory Mr. Fillmore employed 30 men, and did a business amounting to about $100,000 a year.

Fair Prize Winners. The fair being held under the auspices of the Carleton Cornet band, was well patronized last evening, and all who attended spent a very pleasant evening. Great interest is being manifested in the voting contest for the most popular aldermen, and at the close of the poll last evening Ald. Smith was slightly in the lead. Miss Edna Retalick won the door prize, half a barrel of flour; John Pollock won the air gun prize; Walter O'Leary the excelsior table prize, and Percy James was the victor in the bean game. The fair will be continued this evening.
