Churches of New Cardinal

Above, a view in the catacombs of San Galiato, the church assigned to Cardinal O'Connell; below, the church of Santa Maria in Aracoeli, showing Caesar's steps, the church of which Cardinal Falconio is made protector.

Rome, Feb. 29.—Pope Plus, in conferring the title of protector of an ancient Roman church upon each of the new American cardinals, has assigned them to churches particularly famous. The custom of naming cardinal protectors dates from the early days when all the cardinals lived in Rome. There are 72 ancient churches, corresponding with the number of seats in the college of cardinals. The cardinal-protector was expected to spend large sums in rebuilding and beautifying his church, to officiate at the more solemn ceremonies there and to confer upon it all the dignity possible. Upon his death he had his red hat in vogue in the church.

Cardinal Falconio was made protector of the church of Santa Maria in Aracoeli, one of the oldest in Rome, standing on Capitoline Hill. It contains the shrine of "Bambino," a famous miraculous image, the altar of Caesar Augustus and many relics. Down the steps leading from this church Julius Caesar descended on his knees after his conquests in Britain.

Cardinal Gibbons was the protector of the church of Santa Maria in Trastevere, the first temple publicly used for Christian worship in Rome, and dating from 222 A. D. These are the Pantheon, built by Augustus and later converted into a Catholic church, and now appropriated as a burial place for the royal family and the church of Santa Maria degli Angeli, famous as a work of Michael Angelo. The latter is a part of the ruins of the baths of Diocletian and was taken over by the state along with the ruins.

Interior of the church of Santa Maria in Sopra Minerva of which Cardinal Farley is appointed protector. Gothic edifice of the 400 churches in Rome. It contains the tombs of St. Catherine and Fra Angelico, Michael Angelo's statue of Christ and famous pictures.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1912.

THE CLAIMS OF THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

The Province of Manitoba having been placed in practically the same position as the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the Prime Minister has indicated that the question of restoring to the three Provinces mentioned their natural resources upon terms that would be just and equitable will be taken up and be made the subject of inquiry.

There is a practical unanimity of opinion in the Maritime Provinces that this claim should be recognized. The lands in question formed a part of the Hudson Bay territory and having been bought by the four original Provinces it is clear they are entitled to be consulted and satisfied before a transfer is made.

The claim of the Maritime Provinces to recognition was referred to by Mr. Pugsley during a recent debate, and he also dealt at some length with the question of representation. In his reply Mr. Borden confined himself to the subject in hand, the restoration of lands to the three Provinces and the question of financial terms.

The claim of the Maritime Provinces to recognition was referred to by Mr. Pugsley during a recent debate, and he also dealt at some length with the question of representation. In his reply Mr. Borden confined himself to the subject in hand, the restoration of lands to the three Provinces and the question of financial terms.

Coming to the question of the claims of the Maritime Provinces Mr. Borden continued: "I would like to point out to my hon. friend (Mr. Oliver) that one of his own colleagues on that side of the House has raised an important question this afternoon, and has expressed views with which perhaps my hon. friend (Mr. Oliver) may not be inclined to concur; namely, that when this question does come to be considered, some regard will have to be given to the claims of some other Provinces in Canada."

The strongest claim which the Maritime Provinces possess in their request for some compensation lies in the fact that on account of their geographical position they are the only Provinces in the Confederation which cannot have their boundaries extended. Quebec had her boundaries enlarged in 1898 and by resolutions which the Government proposes to introduce Ungava, covering an area of 468,000 square miles, will shortly be added.

THE NEW CITY CHARTER.

The proposed new city charter has been before the Citizens' Committee under whose auspices and authority it was drawn and its provisions accepted without amendment or change in any important degree by those who were present. The principal objector present at the meeting Thursday evening was County Secretary Kelley, whose criticism of the new measure was confined to its effect on the Municipality, or rather on the parishes outside the city.

One of the remedies suggested for the relief of the coal situation in Great Britain is state owned coal mines. The same remedy was suggested during the great strike in the anthracite regions in Pennsylvania a few years ago. While the trouble lasts in Great Britain it is highly probable that steamers to avoid delays will get their coal at foreign or colonial ports instead of taking it on board at the home ports.

WOMEN IN ALL PARTS OF CANADA

TELL OF THE HEALTH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BRING. They Made a New Woman of Mrs. Eli Amiraunt who was a Victim of Kidney Disease for over a Year.

Amiraunt's Hill, Yarmouth Co., N. S., March 1. (Special)—"Four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me." Those are the words of Mrs. Eli Amiraunt of this place. They are words that have been used again and again by women in all parts of Canada who have suffered, and who have found relief and cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I suffered for over a year from kidney disease," Mrs. Amiraunt continues. "Nothing I tried helped me. At last some one told me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished the first box I felt better. Four boxes made a new woman of me."

No remedy ever given to the public has brought health and happiness into the lives of so many women as Dodd's Kidney Pills. This is because nine-tenths of the ills to which women are subject come from diseased kidneys. No woman who uses Dodd's Kidney Pills can have diseased kidneys. They always cure the kidneys.

In the Camps of the Hard-Rock Men

Right on the Outskirts of New York Six Thousand Aqueduct Workers Form a Primeval Colony Where Frontier Lawlessness Flourishes and Human Life is Held Cheap

(New York Herald.)
Beyond the unfriendly shoulder of hills the sky was changing from dusky gray to yellow; over in the direction of White Plains the windows of a house caught in the sun's rays, threw out a dazzling radiance; deep shadows had fallen over the countryside, and the ditches by the road where the snow had drifted took on hues almost unnaturally gorgeous—a winter twilight very recently and we were walking to a friend's house some miles from Croton. As we made up the frozen road there appeared on the crest of the nearest hill, a solitary figure silhouetted sharply against the yellowing distance. And after five minutes' walking, when we were considerably nearer the hill, we looked again and saw him as before, lonesome, motionless, like a Remington Indian watching a wagon trail from some isolated station. Our curiosity aroused, we left the road and, cutting across the hard fields, it was only the matter of a few moments before we reached him. Then we saw him closely—an alert, powerful looking man, who wore a heavy overcoat with long slits where his belt must be, whose hand clasped a thick night stick—a man who wore the forage cap of the aqueduct police.

"Going through the camps?"
He put the question to us somewhat gruffly before we could speak.
"What camps?" we asked surprised.
"Oh, I see," he grinned. "You don't know the country here, I mean the labor camps, where the men live who are building the aqueduct. I'm on duty here, you see, to warn people who pass the boundaries of the camps."
"Why warn?" we exclaimed.
"Because there are men over there who would stick a knife into your back if they thought you had a dollar bill in your clothes."
"Piffle!" laughed the foolish one of our party.
The officer's eyes narrowed.
"Well," he drawled. "That's what I'm paid for—to guard foolish people who pass through here. The outside world doesn't understand this. It's only when some outsider is killed that it hears anything about it. We're here to protect such people, to warn them, to escort them along the roads if they come out at night. Over there the pointed towers and ugly forest of derricks—gaunt fingers fastening into the sky—are six thousand laborers who can cut each other up if they want to, but when they do an outsider—the different."

Unwilling to believe that such conditions could exist under the nose of New York we questioned him further and learned these things:
That there is a camp of some 1,000 men from the Grand Central Station there's a huge labor camp, as picturesque, as savage, as primeval as any of the North-west—redder even than any London. That it is there, up in Westchester county, four miles beyond White Plains, because New York needs water. To fill this want six thousand men, a heterogeneous horde, representing nearly every nationality, is boring and blasting the earth to make the new $177,000,000 aqueduct. And the price is a great colony, criminal and primitive, where scenes of the wildest disorder and riot are enacted almost nightly, where there are miserable huts, shacks of dance halls, gambling rooms, camp women, gangs that knife as freely as your most exaggerated lines of fiction. There are pictures, and armed guards who patrol it all.
Five men from the camp were sentenced to death for the brutal murder of Miss Mary Hall and nine men waiting the electric chair at Sing Sing have been taken from along the aqueduct.
In one part of the camp there were twenty-one knifings and three shootings in seven months. The whole is a picture of mad lawlessness and elemental passions.
Wanting to know more about this place right in the centre of civilization, I pacified the officer and my friend's "piffle" and got a promise from him to show me around the camps at night.
"Come up Saturday," he advised. "That's pay night, and they rip everything to pieces."
Six days later I had a man drive me over the lonely roads toward the old fenced-in tree where the guard said he would meet me. He was there before me and announced cheerily:
"They're restless tonight and it ought to be wild."
Then I caught the gleam of metal beside me and saw him twist the chamber of an ugly looking police revolver. Evidently satisfied, he slipped it back into the holster, buttoning his coat over it. A moment later, as if practicing, he slid his hand through one of the long slits I had noticed the Sunday before, and drew the gun as deftly as a Hopalong Cassidy.
"Might need this," he exclaimed, putting me at my ease.
We were nearing the first of the camps now, back in a barren country, hidden by the shoudering hills. On either side of the road we could make out, faintly discernible, figures sulking in the shadows.
"That crowd," he waved toward the shadows, "figure in knifings every week or so. I'd bet a week's pay they're waiting for a grudge scrap with some one from the other camp before going over to the dance hall."
Suddenly we heard a hoarse exclamation, a scuffle, the sound of a body falling to a brutal laugh.
"That's Minkal the Pole," remarked the officer quite casually. He's dropped somebody. I'd know his laugh anywhere."
We walked on. Gradually little squares of amber light transformed vague shadows into rows of low shacks, one story saloons, a general store, hulking figures passing the shadows before blazing windows and slouching off into the darkness. Beyond on the hillsides in the reflection of innumerable bonfires the long booms of derricks hung over the hollows, and always from the hills came the crash of steam drills and the less frequent but hoarser rattle where the dynamite were at work.
"This is another camp," exclaimed my guide. "It is the most orderly of them. The other camps call it the 'Fifth Avenue of the Aqueduct.'"

We walked down the streets and saw that the place was indeed luxurious. The hastily put together shacks where the laborers live were connected by a great steam pipe that, piercing the floor of each, gave heat. We approached one of these shacks. It was in darkness, I saw my companion's hand slip into the slit in his overcoat. He opened the door, but there was no sound from within. He flashed his dark lantern around the room and I saw it was empty. Bunks three tiers high were piled up against its four walls. In the centre were a rough table and some chairs. From a bracket near the door extended an oil lamp. I touched the globe of this lamp and found it damp. The air was heavy, moist, unpleasant, the odor—We hastened back to the street.
"What do you think of it?" asked the officer amused. "The contractors," he explained, "have established their own camps. The men are not known to them by name—they're numbered. Twelve numbers live in that shack we just left. These shacks must be burned after the laborers leave them. The health department would not let anybody live in them afterward. Each camp has its own shacks built in the centre of the hill they are blasting. The camps are two miles apart and each contains about 1500 men. There are single men's quarters, married men's quarters, white men's quarters, negro quarters and the better houses for the engineers."

And as we passed down the road, peered into the saloon—better conducted and more orderly than the others, I was to learn—entered the general store, saw the roughly hewn shelves, loaded, mostly with canned goods and whiskey, I came to believe all the tales of lawlessness that had been told me the Sunday before on the hill. Sleep will not come to their exhausted bodies. They cannot rest until frightful excesses must be burned and dance halls make them.
A mile down the road more uncertain shadows congealed in the cold air into the form of another camp.
"They call this one the 'Tenderloin,'" the guard said. "And the other bore the name Fifth Avenue." I found myself wishing that my coat had slits with a gun butt beneath.
Here was the most lawless camp of them all. In a saloon and dance hall of the lowest type, where laborers, hard rock men, drill runners, gamblers, Slavs, Hungarians, Poles, Russians, Spaniards and negroes danced and caroused with camp women to the jangle of a piano and the rumbling of dynamite from the looming hills.
Up the road ahead of us we saw heavy bodied forms lurking toward a distant saloon, whose blazing windows disclosed the snow a sickly yellow. Now giants with reeking bodies issued from the darkness—dangerous hulks, the "bad men" of the camps. We heard their hobnailed boots crunch on the snow, and occasionally the growl and mutter of angry conversation.
"They are hastening toward 'Hell's Kitchen,' the dance hall saloon," said the officer. "They're in a hurry because the drill runners and the rock men may reach there before them. These they know to be more intelligent, better paid, of better courage. Also they know the runners have no respect for the kind, the 'muckers,' whose sole duty it is to bear away the stone and mud that the drillers have blasted from the hillsides. Besides, they know that when these 'aristocrats' enter a dance hall it's time for the 'muckers' to be busy. These drill runners, you see, are men who have met death and escaped with missing hands or fingers—veritable daredevils. Often for the fun of it they carry live sticks of dynamite in their pockets."

Again the hush that had heralded his arrival, but this time it was followed by the white of a shirt and the pushed back against the wall, of departing footfalls, as the more sober of the muckers obeyed. Many of the women followed them. Other muckers with stupid braggadoce called loudly for the heavy waterers, who took a reward for this show of courage, the remaining women patted their red faces and leered.
I drew my watch, an incautious move in the place, and saw there was just time to catch the last train for New York. Telling the officer, he hastened with me into the night. As we walked down the road vague figures loomed up through the night. Nearer and nearer they came—swiftly moving, silent men, who walked with their heads high.
"The aristocrats, the boss' gang, going to clean out the dance hall," said the officer in a low voice.
Four or five, twenty of them passed quietly and were gone. We walked on. A few minutes later there came to us from the direction the "aristocrats" had gone a chorus of alarmed voices, of howling, of frozen twigs breaking under feeble feet, a swift pursuit, a cry, awful in its suddenness.
"They must have met a 'mucker,'" remarked the man beside me.
Now we were hearing the outskirts of the camp. From behind us, faintly audible, came a tumult of fighting, low and confused. Once we heard a woman scream, and a man's voice, blaspheming in some foreign tongue. Somewhere behind the hills the night shifts were at work. Dynamite rumbled distinctly; derricks creaked and groaned, machinery whirred, the glare of countless campfires played redly over the snow, above it the black sky glittered with stars, and the peaks like the tips of icicles, and over it gleamed the moon, cold and hard, a disk of burnished steel.
Such is the camp beyond White Plains, New York, and worse water. To provide it men of many nationalities have been drawn from the mining camps. They've come from the savage northwest, from more savage Mexico. These men are paid, fifty and food are provided for them. There the responsibility of the contractors ends. The men may shoot and stab each other as long as they do the requisite amount of work each day.
The women, we saw that in the shacks and dance halls, in Dago Frank in the wretched women, in the armed police who must patrol the beaches where the hot steam and jets of the earth is washed up by the tide.

The last of them went slouching into "Hell's Kitchen" and we followed. Through a wide, low ceilinged room, crowded with bull-necked laborers and leering women, dim light showed fitfully through drifting tobacco smoke disclosing at the further end a long bar. Against this rough counter of pine boards leaned men and women, drinking. On all four sides of the room were round, shiny topped tables, and about them were gathered uncouth men of the camps and painted women. In a corner of the place a young negro sat away as he banged away on an old piano. Sometimes he roared, his eyes toward the dance floor, where figures locked in the "turkey trot" and "grizzly bear" slid slowly back and forth to the coarse laughter and strident exclamations of the groups at the tables. Then a slender, pasty faced young man, whom we heard called Dago Frank, moved along the bar. He was freshly dressed—the camp gambler, I watched him go smirking past and was surprised to see all the women nod to him.
"He brings 'em up here," whispered my guide. Then he narrowed his eyes and I fancied him being all eagerness for a chance to belabor Dago Frank with his nightstick. The young man called for a drink, and then, strolling over to a pool table, rolled a pair of dice across the room. He watched each a moment and looking up, cried:
"This way, boys! The bones go to the first man here!"
Chairs were hurled back against the wall, glasses overturned and dropped clinking on the floor; men jostled toward the pool table, the crowd gained the vantage points—the game began. Others, too late, slunk sullenly away to play the "poker machine" near the bar. The piano jangled louder, the dancers writhed, fierce, voices and laughter became more unnatural—the orgies were reaching their limit.
Then the door was thrown open violently. A bit of cold air swept into the reeking room. On the threshold stood a rugged, red necked man, whose left sleeve hung empty. Came a burst of hysterical laughter from the women, angry cries from the men. A sudden hush. "Boss' quick," lord of all the aristocratic drill runners and dynamite, had arrived. He stood there for a moment, an uncouth giant whose slits of eyes wandered round the room. A "mucker" after "mucker" turned their heads and slink toward windows through which they could dive if—
"Go on! Keep it up!" he heard Boss' quick bellow.
Instantly the wild confusion began anew, louder, more exaggerated. Swagging across the dance floor, Boss Quirk stopped oftentimes to sneer into the faces of men and women.
"Come," said my companion. "We'll get him to talk."
At first the Boss was suspicious and stared sullenly at the steel he had attached to the stumps of his missing arm. Then putting the hook around a whiskey glass and drawing it toward him he snapped—
"I have my own gang here, and they're white as the snow in the rock tunnel and get paid three times as much as those—" (he pointed to the "muckers"). I lost my arm dynamiting, because a man stopped to make a cigarette. He picked the passage. I caught one of the gang with a cigarette during working hours I'd wallop him. Now, if you're any kind of sports you'll buy a drink."
This ceremony completed, with, we turned to leave, but were arrested by the sound of his heavy voice. He was standing in the middle of the dance floor, pointing to all parts of the room with the steel hook.
"Had better get out of here; all o' yer; damn yer! My white men are comin' soon!"

MURDY'S WEEKLY REPORT

St. John, March 1.—A steady investment demand continues for local securities. Enquiries for municipals were fair and the better prices at which these securities are now obtainable are evidently attracting investors. It is generally felt that in the future Canadian towns and municipalities will have to become reconciled to paying more for their money than has been the case in the past. Investors have become attracted by the higher yield of public utility and industrial securities, and have been taking them more freely than municipals.

Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company.
It was announced on Thursday that this company had just completed the sale of $1,000,000 5 per cent bonds in England at 7 1/2 in the vicinity of 95. This completes the sale of their authorized bond issue of $6,000,000, and is evidence of the strong position this prosperous Nova Scotia concern holds in the minds of English financial men. At the price established the money will be costing the company only about 5 1/4 per cent. The common stock was more active on the exchange, and was bid up to 37 on receipt of the news of the favorable outcome of the company's efforts to place its securities. The capital as it now stands is as follows:
Common stock $7,500,000. Subscribed $6,000,000. Paid up dividend $6,000,000. Preferred stock $1,000,000. Subscribed $1,000,000. Paid up dividend, $6,000,000. 5 per cent.

scribed, $1,000,000. Paid up dividend, $1,000,000. 5 per cent.
Bonds, $6,000,000. Subscribed, $6,000,000. Paid up dividend, $6,000,000. 5 per cent.
Debentures, $1,000,000. Subscribed, $1,000,000. Paid up dividends, $1,000,000. 5 per cent.

Mexican Northern.
Investors in the securities of this company in the Maritime Provinces will be glad to hear that the work at Boquilla where they are erecting their dam and power house is proceeding satisfactorily. At one time there was some lack of harmony as to policy between some of the financial houses originally associated with the proposition. These matters have now apparently all been cleared up and the outlook for the company is vastly improved. Power sells at very high prices in Mexico and the Mexican Northern Power has an opportunity before it of making good profits. It is abundantly supplied with capital, as there is in the treasury at the present moment, in fact, sufficient cash to redeem at more than 50, the entire outstanding bond issue. Men who are in a position to know, claim there is no cause for anxiety on account of the unrest in Mexico. These local disturbances do not cause alarm to those who know the real conditions. Whatever may be their local quarrels, it is generally understood that hands are to be kept off foreign capital investments as there is a wholesome fear on the part of the Mexicans that should any depreciations take place it would at once form an excuse for some foreign power to take possession of the country.

MONTREAL MARKET.
The dominating factor in the stock markets this week was undoubtedly the coal strike situation in Great Britain. For a considerable time it was hoped that the British government would be able to bring the owners and miners to a settlement on basis which would be satisfactory to both. As the end of the month approached, however, this hope faded away. The mine workers began going out on strike on Tuesday and by Friday with the exception of a few miners here and there, the entire coal mining industry of Great Britain was tied up. On Friday about 1,000,000 miners were on strike and hundreds of vessels were said to be delayed in various ports owing to the impossibility of obtaining a sufficient supply of coal. Evidently the government is working in the interest of the miners and is trying to get the owners to accept the principle of a minimum wage. It is believed that in this it will be successful shortly. The local market naturally felt the effect of the uncertainty in Great Britain. After the strike was declared however, markets rather recovered than declined, demonstrating that this was another occasion where the bad news was discounted in advance of its announcement. C. P. R. for example was considerably stronger after the declaration of the strike than it was before, selling up to the equivalent of 2 1/2 as against a few points lower previously. Stronger buying movement set in on Rio on Friday and prices in the local market advanced to 115 1/2, this being 2 points up as compared with earlier in the week.
Notwithstanding the increase in the earnings of Detroit this stock showed a disposition to sell a little lower during the week. On Friday the market sold down 1/4 of a point the final sale taking place at 56. There was no particular reason for the decline. During the week Montreal Power had a dizzy spell and fell off to 188 1/2. Later on it recovered and sold up 3 points to 191 1/2. Montreal Power seems to be affected very easily by buying and selling movements, this being possibly due to the very greatly reduced supply of power shares on the market.

Scotia was one of the features of the week. A steady buying went on during the early days in the vicinity of 95. Later the price advanced a couple of points, the strength being due to the announcement that the company had succeeded in selling about $1,000,000 of its 5 per cent bonds in England at somewhere in the vicinity of 95. This would provide the company with all the requisite money at very favorable terms.
Steel Corporation on the whole was easy although prices show very little change worthy of note. The situation respecting the bounties has evidently become less hopeful of late and this is having its effect upon the prices of Steel Corporation stock.

There is reason to think that the dividend on Quebec Railway will be passed. The price of the stock, however, gives no particular evidence of this inasmuch as after a weak spell on Thursday it sold up once more to 50 and on Friday sellers were asking 49. Forget today was a buyer, late afternoon sales being made between 49 and 51 1/2 and at the close 57 1/2 was bid, with only one sale at this price.
Quite a few shares of the Bank of Montreal changed hands towards the end of the week, the market strengthening from 249 to 250 in the turn-over. No particular significance is indicated. Union Bank was fairly firm at 157.
The earnings of the Montreal Street Railway, Detroit, Winnipeg, Toronto and all of the other street railways show increases as compared with a year ago, and for the steam railways they also show increases.
Bank clearings and custom house returns were all ahead of those of the corresponding period for last year.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.
By Direct Private Wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.
New York, March 1.—The Liverpool market this morning appeared to have discounted the present phase of coal strike although cables were conservative and even bearish of tone. Our market was undisturbed by these advices and even advanced moderately during the day, but the influence of foreign labor difficulties served to repress active operations for the rise. Chief stimulating factor was the increasing number of advices commenting upon backward crop preparations in the sections which normally begin such preparations at this time. If the unfavorable weather over the belt should continue a week or so longer this factor may become a bull card. Southern spot advices indicated a falling off of the normal English demand as a result of the strike but prices held firm and there is no indication of weakening on the part of the present holders. Contract market seems to be working upon an equitable level and as the English disturbance likely to be temporary normal influences will likely dictate the next movement of prices.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here is the Proof—A Solemn Statement from a Four-years' Cripple. Who Says "Nerviline" Did it.
"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Squires, member of one of the best known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferronze at meals. But I never stopped rubbing Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well today—have been well for 4 1/2 years."
You also can cure rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints—to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only: large bottles, 25c., or five for $1.00; sold everywhere, or The Carrhazone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Happenings of the Week

As the Lenten season advances, one cannot help but think what a benefit this enforced rest must be to society in general, but all is not sacrosanct, as witness the record of this week.

The recital spoken of last Saturday given by Prof. Moritz Hauptmann Emery at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Spangler, was certainly a most artistic rendering of a delightfully arranged programme. Mrs. Emery and Mrs. Spangler received the guests. The former was dressed in a beautiful silver sequin gown, with large corsage bouquet of violets. Mrs. Spangler wore a very becoming dress of cinnamon satin veiled with white. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Bourne, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Olive, Miss Bessie Foster, Dr. and Mrs. F. ## DOCTORS HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED MY LIFE.

Riviere A. Pierre, Q. May 9, 1910. "I look upon my recovery as nothing short of a miracle. I was for eleven years, constantly suffering from Chronic Dyspepsia and Indigestion. I was treated by several doctors and they simply did me no good. During the latter part of my illness I was so thin that I weighed only 90 pounds, and I vomited everything I ate.

The doctors gave me up to die as the stomach trouble produced heart weakness and I was frequently unconscious. I received the Last Rites of the Church.

At this time, a lady strongly urged me to try "Fruit-a-tives." When I had taken one box, I was much better and after three boxes, I was practically well again, and had gained 20 pounds. I have taken 15 boxes in all and now weigh 150 pounds and am well.

FACE WAS LITERALLY COVERED WITH PIMPLES. Four Different Doctors Did Her No Good. Her No Good. Two Bottles of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS Cured Her.

Bad blood is directly the cause of the face breaking out in pimples, and it is impossible to eradicate them unless you put your blood into good shape. Burdock Blood Bitters is compounded from roots, herbs, berries and is without a doubt the best remedy procurable for the purpose of driving all the blood impurities out of the system.

Mr. Geo. R. Miller, Clavering, Ont., writes:—"Last fall I was very much troubled with pimples. My face was literally covered with them. I went to four different doctors, but they could do me no good. One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly all disappeared, and by the time I had taken all the second one, the pimples had disappeared completely. Thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters, I would advise anybody who is troubled with any blood trouble to use Burdock Blood Bitters."

Seek to Restrain Princess Louise

London, Feb. 29.—The Saxon court is negotiating with the authorities in Vienna with a view to obtaining a declaration that Princess Louise of Saxony is irresponsible for her actions, according to a special despatch received from that city today. It is said to be the intention of the Saxon royal family to have her placed under control.

The Princess Louise is the divorced wife of the Crown Prince of Saxony. In September, 1907, she was married to the pianist Signor Toselli in London.

At the time of her second marriage the Princess Louise was thirty-seven years old. She described herself as "divorced wife of Frederick Augustus, Crown Prince of Saxony, now King of Saxony; daughter of the Archduke of Austria and Grand Duke of Tuscany."

She and her husband were separated for some time, but last fall they became reconciled and were frequently seen together in Florence.

About three years ago the princess petitioned the royal court in Vienna to grant her permission to live in Austria.

Coughs and Colds Are Dreaded by Mothers Who Fear for the Safety of Their Children.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

What a weight of responsibility rests on the mother of the family during the winter season! In every cough and cold she recognizes the voice of Croup, Bronchitis, Consumption, or other deadly throat and lung complications.

For all such Dr. Chase has provided a prompt means of cure known as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

One reason why mothers prize this treatment above all others is because of its suitability for children. It is sweet and pleasant to the taste, and children like to take it. ## AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and a nervous wreck. I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my strength and weight and am now strong and well."

Another Grateful Woman London, Ont.—"I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was so weak and tired that I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wish to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it—Mrs. A. BERRY, 905 Dune St., London, Ont.

I Am Willing to Prove I Can Cure You To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of my medicine, and anyone suffering from these troubles can get it for absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge. And from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor will I accept it now or later if you send it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of bladder, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers as my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there are thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But it is not free to all. I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended. I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynett, 21 Main Building, Toronto, Can."

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the more I am devoting to the cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation, just tell others who you know are suffering, and send you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will persist in it until I have cured every sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine, and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

CITY BILLS CONSIDERED YESTERDAY

Bills and Bye-laws Committee Had Much Business Before Their Monthly Meeting.

New By-laws to Govern Fire Department Considered and Approved--Penalty for Sending False Alarms Increased.

Many projects growing out of the forward movement in St. John were given the sanction and blessing of the Bills and By-laws Committee at a busy session held yesterday afternoon. The long talked of assessment act providing for a change in the methods of taxation was read and adopted.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says, "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years.

ed and sent on to the council. Drafts of bills enabling the Maritime Mill Works and the Peters' Tannery to extend their operations without paying more taxes for a period of ten years were approved. A lengthy document embodying by-laws to govern the fire department was passed on and found satisfactory. It is based largely on the old fire by-laws, but is somewhat more comprehensive in scope. The penalty for sending in false alarms or tampering with the fire alarm boxes is raised to $100, and severe punishments are provided for sending in a false alarm by telephone. The fire officials are empowered to take measures to keep alleys and basements free of ashes or combustible materials and the conditions under which hay, dynamite, gasoline, and so on, may be stored in the city are rigidly defined. The chief may inspect any premises where he thinks proper precautions against fire are not being observed and his instructions must be carried out under a penalty of $20.

The new assessment act of which a draft was approved by the committee reduces the poll tax from $5 to $2 and provides that the tax rate shall be levied on twice the value of the land and real estate, and on one half the value of the buildings and improvements as determined by the assessors, in all the wards except Stanley where the tax rate shall be levied on the real value of the land, until such time as the council provides otherwise. Stanley ward with fire and police protection, and other improvements, and the provision for the appointment of a commission to adjust the incidence of taxation, especially as between the lessor and deal with any complaints that might arise.

The question of a comma raises some doubt as to whether the act classifies rails, poles, wires, etc., on the public streets as land and real estate, or improvements.

Ald. McCordick said most of Stanley ward was leasehold, and on behalf of his constituents he intended to oppose the bill when it came before the legislature. His ward was now only assessed at one-half the valuation, as it did not have police or fire protection.

Ald. Potts said land in Stanley ward was much in demand. Its owners would not improve it, and the prices they asked were prohibitive. This was a criminal condition, and housing accommodation on the big estate was

We ourselves vouch for the D. D. D. Prescription for eczema, and absolutely believe that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

Of course other druggists have D. D. D. Prescription. Go to them if you cannot come to us, but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you are suffering from any form of skin trouble we would like to have you come to our store, for we have had the agency of this remedy for so many years that we can tell you all about D. D. D. Prescription and how it cures eczema. Or you can get a free trial bottle by writing the D. D. D. Laboratories, 49 Colborne St., Toronto. Clinton Brown, druggist.

Will Press Cause of Suffrage In House

Woman Suffrage Association Prepares Bill and Petition Endorsed by W. C. T. U.—4000 Signatures Secured.

The Women's Suffrage Association have made arrangements to bring their bill to give women the right to vote before the local legislature at its approaching session. The Woman Suffrage Bill was sent to the legislature some years ago, accompanied by the signatures of 2,000 women of the city of St. John, who believe that the fair sex could exercise the franchise as well as, if not better, than the men. Since that time the suffragette movement has been gaining strength throughout the province, and when the bill is brought up again it will be supported by a petition signed by over 4,000 women in different parts of the province. An impetus to the movement in Canada has been given by the action of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Canada, which at its last annual convention in Sherbrooke passed a resolution urging the various branches of the union to take up the question, and work for the passage of an act giving the ladies the right to vote. At the quarterly meeting of the St. John County W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon, a resolution was adopted unanimously endorsing the bill for woman suffrage, which is to be brought up in the legislature again this year. The meeting was largely attended, and Mrs. Fiske, superintendent of the Equal Rights Department of the organization delivered an interesting address on the question of woman's right to vote.

She pointed out that owing to the change in economic conditions women were now entering the labor market, and that as the political power shaped to a large extent the conditions of labor, it was absolutely necessary for women to have the franchise in order to exercise some influence upon the conditions under which they earned a livelihood. She pointed out the good results which have followed the granting of the vote to women in Australia, New Zealand, and other countries, not only in the way of improving the conditions under which women labored, but in serving the cause of temperance and promoting other reforms in which men and women were jointly interested. She called attention to the good results in Colorado, where the women on receiving the franchise immediately addressed the legislature, giving an interesting account of the progress of the temperance movement, referring to the bill providing for provincial prohibition recently presented to the local government, and urging the union to use their best endeavors to assist in securing the adoption of the bill. A resolution endorsing the Prohibition Bill was adopted unanimously.

She also pointed out how much the women voters of New Zealand had done to promote the cause of temperance in that advanced country. She urged her hearers to give their undivided support to the bill to be sent to the legislature, and write to the representatives of the city and county asking them to vote for the passage of the bill. C. Fraser McTavish, of the St. John County Temperance Federation, also addressed the meeting, giving an interesting account of the progress of the temperance movement, referring to the bill providing for provincial prohibition recently presented to the local government, and urging the union to use their best endeavors to assist in securing the adoption of the bill. A resolution endorsing the Prohibition Bill was adopted unanimously.

CLOSING OF SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE

Last Night's Meetings in Centenary and Douglas Ave. Churches Addressed by Local Pastors.

The Sunday School Institutes being held throughout the week in the city came to a close last evening when meetings were held in Centenary Methodist church and in Douglas Avenue Christian church. In Centenary church Rev. H. Porter presided and the speakers were Rev. J. H. A. Anderson, who spoke of "Jesus as Teacher"; Rev. W. A. Ross, whose subject was "Some essentials of teaching," and Rev. W. Camp, who gave the closing address on the teacher's spiritual preparation. In his address on essentials in teaching, Mr. Ross laid the emphasis upon three essentials, viz suggestion, expression and graded instruction. Good teaching is suggestive and stimulates the thought, the will the emotions. Suggestion came through the personality of the teacher, through the surroundings of the pupil, the hymns and program, as well as through the truth taught. The idea seeks expression in conduct. An impression unexpressed dies out of the life. To translate thought into character and conduct is the great aim. Goodness in action is the only goodness. The instruction must be adapted to the pupil. Give the boy the Bible for boys. Rev. Mr. Camp based his remarks upon the words of Mark speaking of Jesus—"And he ordained twelve that they should be with Him and that He might send them forth to preach." With the Master, the disciples learned how to live, how to pray, how to present the word of life, how to approach and win souls. These are the essentials in the teacher's spiritual preparation today and they are to be gained in the same way—in fellowship with the Master. In Douglas Avenue Christian church Rev. Gordon Dickie spoke upon The Religious Background of the Gospels. He said in part: "People get the impression that the Jews of Jesus' day were not religious. They crucified our Lord. Against their religious leaders Jesus hurled some of His strongest denunciations. But as a matter of fact they were a very religious people according to this, our tradition. The religious life of the time of the Gospels embraced two elements, the ritualistic and the legalistic, the first represented by the Sadducees, the second by the Pharisees, the former aristocratic, the latter more democratic; the former with strong faith in temporal, the latter in spiritual powers. In the time of Herod, the Pharisees prospered, which meant that legalism replaced ritualism, the teaching of the law superseded sacrifice. Against both legalism and ritualism Jesus set His face. He opposed the closed religious organization, established no church, gave no ritual, taught men that God is Spirit. Dr. Hutchinson speaking of the spiritual preparation of the Sunday school teacher set forth that a sincere love for the Saviour must lie behind all genuine interest and love for the work. It is the Christian worker's privilege to be filled with the Holy Spirit by whose power alone the word spoken becomes a life message. The teacher should wait on God in prayer after all other preparations until he gets his message in the lesson. Above all else, he needs to have, like his Master, a "passion for souls."

POSSIBILITIES FOR THE COMMISSION

Labor Men Busy Looking for a Suitable Candidate—New Names May Appear in Contest.

George N. Breen, formerly secretary of the Carpenters' Union, and one of the best known men in the local labor movement, is mentioned as a possible candidate for the commission on the labor party ticket. An influential section of the labor party favor the nomination of Herman Campbell of the Typographical Union, but it said Mr. Campbell will not accept a nomination. W. W. Allingham is also mentioned as a probable candidate in the labor interests. While the only candidates who have definitely announced that they will be in the fight are members of the present council, street rumors mention the names of quite a number who are said to be sizing up the situation with a view to connecting with the $3,000 jobs. Dr. J. Manning's friends have been urging him to run, and street gossip says that the doctor has been conducting a canvass with a view to sizing up his chances. John Thornton of the North End announced some time ago that he might run, and Arthur Adams was mentioned as a candidate a while back. One of the men the commission would like to put in the field is W. F. Burditt. There is little doubt that Mr. Burditt would be elected, as he is possessed of abilities of the kind needed by a civic administrator, and is a man of large vision and high ideals, but it is said he will not consider the offer of a nomination.

WILL HAVE HOTEL ALSO WOODBOAT

Company A. Club Makes Plans for Summer's Entertainment of Members—Met Last Evening.

At the meeting of the A. O. Club last evening, it was decided to rent the Flowers Hotel, at Westfield for the summer months. The popularity of the decision was made manifest by the applause with which it was greeted and already about 20 of the boys have showed their willingness to attend. It is the intention of the committee in charge to have a cook and several helpers to look after the comforts of the boys and doubtless a very pleasant summer will be spent in connection with the summer club. It is the intention of the executive to use part of this season's drill pay to procure a woodboat so that the members of the club can go sailing without getting drowned.

When Your Eyes Are Right

You can forget all about them. If they are not right, they are continually reminding you, they need attention. Slight headaches, eyes tiring quickly when reading, or sewing, weak eyes, these are some of the gentle hints you would do well to heed. If you neglect these, more insistent demands are made for relief from eyestrain and there is greater difficulty in relieving the trouble. Better attend to the matter at once.
