Fredricton, N. B., April 3—A suit brought by father against son to recover the proceeds of a $300 note is engaging the attention of Judge Wilson. The plaintiff is Adam Stans, of Southampton, and the defendant is Ervin Stans. The defendant contends that he supported his mother for a year and therefore should not pay the note.

J. J. McCaffery, of the Queen Hotel, is to cater for the governor's ball to be held in the parliament building on Tuesday.

The annual meeting of the St. John River Log Driving Co. is being held in the Queen Hotel this afternoon. It is understood that the season's cut on the St. John is about the same as last year. About one hundred million feet of new and old logs are expected to pass through the boom. The contract for driving is now held by Aiken Brothers, of this city.

The annual meeting of the Tobique Log Driving Co. is also being held this afternoon.

MONCTON

Moncton, N. B., April 2—A barn belonging to the Albert Manufacturing Company at Hillboro, Albert county, was burned tonight with its contents, including six horses and a few tons of hay. AMHERST

Amherst, N. S., April 3—The third maritime horse show opened this afternoon. Horsemen from all over the maritime provinces are here and the opinion is that the show this season surpassed the two previously held. There are more than 500 entries representing 200 of the best horse breeders of the province. Lieut.-Col. Campbell, president of the Livestock Association, and Secretary F. T. Fuller as well as the executive in general are deserving of the highest congratulations for the success which has attended their efforts in making the show a success, despite many difficulties.

John Bright, of Myrtle (Ont.), acted as judge for the draft horses and Sheldon B. Fuller, of Ottawa, acted in the same capacity for light horses. In many of the classes the competition was exceedingly keen and the judges had a difficult task to decide the prize winners. Among the prominent winners today are: A. E. Tritts, Salisbury; R. A. Snowball, Chatham; R. S. Starr, Port William; W. W. Black, Amherst; Charles Symes, Minas; Herbert, Blankhorn, Macaan; A. H. Clarke, Durham, Pictou county; Spurgon Gammon, New Glasgow; George W. Fowler, M. P., Sussex.

Both judges informed your correspondent that they were surprised at the showing made in all classes as the horses far surpassed what they had been led to expect.

At the evening gathering all the reserved seats were crowded and the ladies outnumbered the men and followed the proceeding with the keenest interest. One noticeable feature in connection with the exhibition was the marked improvement in the turnout and the harness displayed. There were thirty 1912 models in the motor show and many buyers were present.

RICHIBUCTO

Richibucto, April 2—S. L. Lynott, editor of the Carleton Sentinel, spent Sunday here with Mrs. Lynott and family. An interesting case was tried on Saturday by Justice John T. O'Leary, on information laid by Game Warden E. O'Leary. Albert Daigle, charged with carrying a gun into the resort of moose and caribou without a permit from the surveyor-general or from Game Warden A. E. O'Leary. It was proved that there had been two deer killed, but the examination of five witnesses failed to connect the accused in any sense with the killing, he only having been seen on the ice with a gun in his hand. The case was dismissed.

Another game case is pending before William Bell, who has been ill for some weeks from congestion of the lungs, is improving slowly.

Mrs. Harry Hutchinson, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. John Stevenson, is now visiting her mother-in-law in Bouchette while waiting word from Mr. Hutchinson to join him in the country.

Cheley D. Buck spent Sunday with Mrs. Buck, who is visiting her aunts, the Misses Jardine, Platt's Point.

SOUTHAMPTON

Southampton, N. B., April 1—Dr. McIntyre has removed the stitches from Ernest Ingraham's leg and he is able to get up today. It is a very serious accident in Dunham's mill, nearly three weeks ago. The rotary saw in the same mill burst last week and one piece went straight through the roof of the mill, but fortunately no one was hurt.

J. F. Grant, of Grand View, has commenced sawing and Ingraham Bros. are fitting up their mill, which will start in a day or two.

People are getting skeptical about the Valley road and think that all this surveying and re-surveying and piling a few sleepers along the road are sure indications of a local election. They have not forgotten that the same party, when Judge Vanwart, the late Wesley Vanwart and the late Thomas Temple (member for York) were on deck, actually graded five miles of the Valley railway and then sold it out.

The Dramatic Society played The Valley Farm to a crowded house here last Tuesday and cleared $43. They put on the same play at Canterbury Station Saturday evening when they again had a full house, and cleared the same amount. Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Maggie Akerley, president of the society, who has been most indefatigable in producing splendid results. They will play it at Hawick, proceeds to buy a church organ.

The missionary society and Sunday school will put on an Easter program in the U. B. church instead of the regular service.

NEWCASTLE

Newcastle, April 3—James Calder, of P. E. Island, who has conducted a merchant tailor establishment here for two years and a half, succeeding Simon McLeod, who removed to the States, has closed up his business and leaves today with his family for Sydney (N. S.), where, in partnership with his father, he has a business.

D. W. Stothart, late partner in the Stothart Mercantile Company, has purchased the hardware and stove business of the late partner, J. H. Phinney, and will conduct the business.

Clarke & Co., dry goods merchants, have reorganized under the name of Moody & Co., Harry H. Moody, manager.

The missionary society and Sunday school will put on this month on the 15th at Chatham.

others the exchange will be profitable both to the farmer and yourself. And no doubt the province will be benefited by having a real farmer to administer the agricultural department for a time. But, Sir, we will note one important cause for the lack of progress in agricultural industry in this province.

The following comparative figures were obtained, he says, from information from different people who have been in the country, and also from his own experience. It was assumed the farmer owned his farm and the city man had a fair income, both living in a moderate way, and with a family of five. The first comparison is of the cost of living in the matter of rent—$200 per year in town and on the farm. Where did the farmer get his farm that Mr. Hubbard assumes that he owns? Was it given to him, or did he buy it and place a mortgage against it (which in many cases are never paid off)? And where will the city man get his farm when he moves to the country, where he will be forever relieved of paying rent? The next item is fuel, which costs $100 in town and in the country is free. Where is the town man to get his free wood or coal when he arrives in the country? Who will supply the horses and pay the labor to get this wood cut, hauled and prepared to get fuel? It will surprise some of the city man's audience to know that a few farmers are now actually using coal for fuel as they think it is cheaper than buying wood and preparing the wood with labor and fuel.

Water also is free in the country and costs $10 in town. Now, our friend the secretary is partly right this time. Water is free in the country, but if the farmer or the man when he moves to the country charges up to the farm for carrying the water at the same rate Mr. Hubbard is being paid to talk such sublime nonsense we would find that the cost of water in the country is $20 in town and $10 in the country. Groceries $300 in town and $150 on the farm; butter, $100 in town and $16 in the country, and so on through the list of necessities. I am not aware that coal oil costs more in the city than in the country and the man of the city or of the country who chooses to use gas or electricity for lighting will expect to pay the extra cost for the luxury. The country man must content himself with half of the groceries that his city brother uses or raise the climate without cooking, every man who promises me as man to man that you will be decent, take ordinary care of your health and then use my HEALTH BELT every night for 60 to 90 days, I should then be able to do in your case exactly what all these other thousands of men have said I did for them. Please write for my booklet today. Never mind about purchasing a Health Belt, we first get into communication with me, read what my book says, then later, if we decide between us that you should have a Belt, and if you decide that you want to use it, I will arrange for you to have one to wear until you are cured. My Health Belt is the greatest vitality the world has ever known. With special attachments it is a remedy for kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, rheumatism, etc.

Now, Mr. Agricultural Secretary, do you take the hint why the boys and girls are leaving the farm? And if you will spend your money on the C. P. R. ticket agents you will discover that a greater number are making preparations to leave the farm this spring than ever before. The cost of transportation today is back to the land! BORDEN TO RETAIN HIS "PURITY" AGENT

Morine's Dismissal Not Agreed To... Three Cabinet Ministers Said to Favor His Decapitation

Members of Government Plan to Take a Holiday—It is Said the Sessional Indemnity Will Be Increased $300 Next Year—Laurier Going South After Visit to Quebec.

Ottawa, April 2.—The government has been in conference all day, and one of the matters to which it devoted much time was the position of its "Purity" agent, A. B. Morine, who was so seriously exposed in the house on Friday by P. B. Carvell.

It is understood Hon. Messrs. Hughes, Rogers and Cochrane were for instant dismissal. The other members of the government...

It was pointed out that if Morine were summarily dismissed the position of the government would be in no way improved, because from the time Morine was appointed to plead ignorance of Morine's record of character...

It is known that the Liberals are in possession of absolute proof that Premier Borden had been told all about Morine five years ago. Even if this had not been communicated to Premier Borden in writing, it is known that Morine, like Borden, is a Nova Scotian, is a lawyer and a politician, and the premier must have known enough about Morine to have had him investigated thoroughly before having appointed him to the peculiarly delicate and responsible post of "Purity" agent.

Therefore, instead of trying to deny knowledge of Morine's record and character, the government has decided to give the public a chance to forget. The government may change its mind, but at present it is not going to dismiss Morine.

The corridors of parliament are dark and deserted tonight. The game of politics temporarily gives way to simple life. Only a score or so of members are still here, the rounds of the departments and interviewing ministers about patronage matters, dismissals, appointments and other matters affecting their respective constituencies.

The cabinet ministers will remain for a week or so clearing up arrears of departmental business. Most of them will leave at the end of the week for a fortnight's rest after the constant work and worry of the session. Premier Borden and Mrs. Borden will be in the city for a few days, and will leave for New York and Hot Springs, Virginia, for a two weeks' holiday. The premier will play golf and take his first respite from the unnumbered cares of office.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier are also contemplating a holiday trip to Quebec this month. Sir Wilfrid will go to Quebec city next Monday and will deliver an address there. He will also confer with Premier Gouin in regard to the numerous cares of office.

Hon. Frank Cochrane will go to Toronto at the end of the week for a few days. Hon. Robert Rogers, Hon. Martin Burrell and either Hon. F. D. Monk or Hon. L. P. Pelletier will go to Winnipeg to attend the banquet of the Manitoba Conservatives to Premier Borden on April 11.

Hon. J. D. Hazen will spend Easter in St. John.

P. E. I. PIONEER IN FOX INDUSTRY TELLS OF SUCCESS

Hon. Charles Dalton Sold a Black Skin in London for $2,900

Says Quarter Million Dollars Was the Output of the Island Last Year—Wants Government to Protect Them from Thievery for the Proposed Tax.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 3.—A paragraph in the speech from the throne at the opening of the P. E. Island legislature, referred to the remarkable development of the black fox industry in this province. During the debate on the address, all the speakers touched on this paragraph lightly but it remained for Hon. Charles Dalton, of Tignish, who is regarded as the father of the industry in North America, to go into the question at some length.

He said that, twenty-five years ago, recognizing the great value of the black fox skin, he began to study some reasonable way of getting these foxes to propagate in captivity. Every loss was a lesson to him, every failure made him more anxious to redeem his failure. Year by year his business kept increasing, until it had reached its present status.

During the past year, $25,000 exchanged hands in the fox business. The whole province is now taking hold of the industry and it will spread to other provinces. Thirty-five years ago, there were from 1,000 to 2,000 skins sold in the London market. This number eventually fell to $20. The increased demand has raised the prices beyond conception.

Mr. Dalton said that from the first he adopted the system of keeping the best specimens and their progeny, making careful selection, until he has developed a breed that is quite different from that with which he started.

Some special skins have brought enormous prices. From his ranch came the skin that brought the world's record price—$2,900 in 1901. Two years ago, there were 400 skins in the London market and sixty per cent. of them brought $500 each.

Mr. Dalton predicted that while the output of the live animals was decreasing, the number of skins in the market will equal that of twenty years ago. Whilst he would emphasize the best specimens, he would not advise farmers to mortgage their farms in order to buy a pair of black foxes.

As he knows that the government has a right to the fox industry by levying an income tax of one and a half per cent. it should protect the industry against robbers by levying the best detective or catching a kennel of bloodhounds. A short time ago, in his locality, foxes valued at $12,000 were stolen.

The industry is beyond the experimental stages and it is not difficult to get information. Any breeder that sells a pair of foxes at an exorbitant rate is in duty bound to give the purchaser all possible information to keep him from losing his money. He advocated the establishment of a register for foxes, in which their pedigrees could be given, as in the case of cattle and horses.

Two MEN HELD FOR TRAIT IN EDMUNSTON COURT... Edmundston, N. B., April 2.—(Special)—Today before Police Magistrate Martin, the case of Jos. Devillers and Theophile Bignault was tried. TORIES NOW ADVOCATE "REFORM" OF THE SENATE

Big Grit Majority in Way of Many Pet Schemes

Government Fears it May Be Years Before They Gain Control Even if They Stay in Power—Conservative Press Inspired to Call for Curbing of Power of the Upper House.

Ottawa, April 3.—Since prorogation the government have been talking over in much vexation of spirit the problem of what to do with the senate. The Liberal majority in the upper chamber in nullifying the two pet schemes of the government, namely, the creation of a political levy and doubtful constituencies in the way of opportune good roads, expenditure, and the establishment of a protectionist tariff commission, have indicated to take shelter on all tariff changes, has emphasized the fact that the opposition in parliament can secure fair play at least during the lifetime of the present parliament.

The Liberals have a court of last resort that will prove most vexatious, but wholehearted check on any attempted Machiavellian policy of the present numerically stronger party. This is a naturally an embarrassing barrier to some of the political good roads that the government would like to lay down before another election. Consequently the government is looking round for some means of overcoming the difficulty.

May Copy British Act. No definite plan of "senate reform" has yet evolved, but as a preliminary step the government proposes to amend the act to "educate" the electors up to a move next session for a constitutional amendment that will provide some means by which the majority in the senate may be increased.

One suggestion is that the same procedure be adopted in Canada as prevails in Great Britain, whereby a measure passed by the commons and three rejected by the upper house shall become law, notwithstanding the action of the latter chamber.

Meanwhile the senate will be "reformed" as far as possible through the filing of all vacancies by good and grateful Conservatives. The turning of the present Liberal majority in the senate into a Conservative majority will, however, require the election of a Conservative senator in the next session.

COURTENAY BAY TO BE ENLARGED

Breakwater to Be Built Further Out Than Originally Planned—Norton Griffiths Sees Government and it is Said That the Change Will Be Made.

Ottawa, April 3.—The site of the breakwater which is to be built to protect the works in Courtenay Bay will be moved further out than the plans, as agreed, indicate. The wishes of the people of St. John will be regarded. Courtenay Bay will be enlarged; the breakwater is to be moved nearer to Red Head.

Norton Griffiths arrived here today and had an interview with the dominion authorities. He stated that the conditions for the construction of the breakwater were the same at the point proposed as the views of the St. John people.

The breakwater is the one essential change proposed. It will require some time in which to work out in the contract the proposed change in plans. The revised contract will be agreed to in the course of a few weeks. When the work is gone on with it will show the breakwater moved to a point considerably further to the south.

COPP EXPOSES BROKEN PLEDGES

Government's Promises to Gain Power Violated When They Attained It—Opposition Leader Quotes from Their Speeches to Prove Every Contention He Makes—Budget Debate Likely to End Tonight.

Fredericton, April 3.—In a remarkably comprehensive speech of two hours' duration tonight the opposition leader dealt with the receipts and expenditures of the provinces, continuing the remarks he began at a late hour last night. At midnight he had not concluded his criticism and adjourned the debate until tomorrow.

His speech bore the marks of careful research and abounded with facts and figures to show how inopert had been the revenue and quoted from many of their pledges and promises to keep the expenditure within the income.

The indictment of Mr. Copp was complete and the proceeds gave positive testimony that government members did not listen with much pleasure to the extracts from their speeches, when in opposition, reciting their extravagant and exaggerated charges against the government of that day and the comparison with their assertions then and the facts today.

BITNESS SURPLUS A RECORD BREAKER

NEW BRUNSWICK WOMAN FIGURES IN BOSTON CASE

Said to Have Enticed Boston Man from His Bride

Letter, by Sharp Detective Work, Has Husband Arrested—Accused Man Denies the Charge, and Will Fight Court Proceedings.

Boston, April 3.—New Brunswick and Nova Scotia women are involved in charges which have been made against Owen A. Conner, Boston manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company and ten years day manager of the New York office of the Associated Press. Following detective work by Mrs. Minnie K. Conner, his wife, Conner was arrested on a statutory charge. Mrs. Alice Blanchard of Gardiner being named.

Mrs. Conner was born in Halifax thirty-one years ago and is a bride of nine months. She is a handsome woman, before marriage she was secretary to a high Western Union official in New York. Mrs. Blanchard was Miss Alice J. Leblanc, daughter of Mrs. Valentine Leblanc and was born in Buctouche, N. B. thirty-five years ago. She married a Gardiner, Mass., man when fifteen years of age but has been out of several occasions. She is of medium height and of stylish appearance.

A warrant for the arrest of Conner was granted after various employees of the Quincy House had testified to his having registered with Mrs. Blanchard as "O. A. Blanchard and wife."

It was largely through me that Owen got a position with the Western Union. We were to have taken a wedding trip to Nova Scotia, but as Mrs. Conner was in a position so recently I agreed to postpone the trip and we passed our honeymoon at the Hotel Thorndike here. We were seventeen days together, the longest time I ever spent with him. From the first he did not seem to want to live here with me. He complained that he was financially embarrassed and that he had taken his new position so recently I agreed to postpone the trip and we passed our honeymoon at the Hotel Thorndike here.

Blanchard was known as Conner's wife in Brookline and he used $4128 of money to get her furs out of storage. He gave her no less than $20 a week.

Mrs. Blanchard says she did not know that Conner was married until Mrs. Conner informed her of the situation. Mrs. Blanchard said she had been deceived and gladly assisted her in obtaining evidence. Conner denies the allegations and says he will contest the case at a hearing and also in the divorce court.

Over $30,000,000 to the Good

Lloyd George's Budget Speech Marked by Optimism

Says Trade Outlook is Good the World Over—No New Taxation—Hopes to Live Within His Income if Increase of the Naval Programme is Not Necessary.

London, April 2.—The British budget for the financial year 1912-13 was introduced by David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, in the house of commons today, before the thinnest attendance on such an occasion for fifteen years.

The chancellor was in the comfortable position of having a net egg of $32,725,000 remaining from the year just closed. This, he said, was the largest realized surplus on record.

The loss to revenue from the coal strike has been upwards of $3,000,000, as that but for the strike the surplus would have been $35,000,000.

The estimated expenditure for the financial year 1912-13 amounts to $24,825,000, an increase of $28,000,000 over that of the past year. This is mainly due to the compulsory insurance act for workmen and the acquisition of all the telephones in the United Kingdom by the state.

The chancellor argued that his scheme of taxation had met the increased expenditure of the nation and provided a surplus without taxing the necessities of life or interfering with trade. Under his scheme trade had improved and unemployment had diminished until the whole before the outbreak of the coal strike had reached the lowest point ever touched in the United Kingdom.

In regard to the surplus the chancellor said he proposed to devote the whole of it to the strengthening of the exchequer balance, because he had to provide for several contingencies. For instance, the expenditure of the admiralty on the construction of warships during the past year had been $7,500,000 less than had been expected. That, however, was only a postponement, as the ships ordered must ultimately be paid for.

Another contingency was the possible necessity for increased construction of warships mentioned by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in the naval budget.

The effect of the coal strike on the revenues of the country must also be considered, said the chancellor, who stated incidentally that he had every confidence that the coal strike would be terminated this week.

Trade Outlook Good. From the good trade outlook the chancellor of the exchequer considered that it was safe to estimate an expansion of most of the revenue producing taxes. He announced, therefore, that, although there would be no reduction of taxation, no new taxes will be imposed.

The revenue for the coming year he estimated at $35,945,000, leaving a surplus of $11,200,000.

Referring to the increase of $28,000,000 in the expenditure of the financial year 1912-13, the chancellor said he had been disappointed in his anticipations of a big reduction in naval expenditures. He was afraid the prospect of a decrease in that direction was not bright. He, however, took a rosy view of trade prospects. He said:

"Trade throughout the world seems to be in an exceptionally healthy condition. The conditions in the United States are stronger than they have been for years, and instead of the devastating cyclone we had a few years ago from across the Atlantic, we are likely now to have a steady trade in the United States."

Last Friday night the couple left Summerside for their home by the ice in a team and up to tonight had not been heard from. On Tuesday evening a horse and sleigh recognized as theirs, was found in the Dunk river, in about ten feet of water but the sleigh contained nothing that would indicate except by inference the fate of the occupants.

A search of the river took place and a searching party will drag the river tomorrow, but there is no doubt they are both drowned. Mr. McKenzie is a widower of forty-five and Mrs. McCallum was to leave next Monday to join her husband in Boston.

SEVERE REPRODUCTION OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Frederick, N. B., April 3.—When A. B. Copp rose in the house this evening, after the close of Col. Sheridan's speech, it was 11:50 o'clock, and he naturally expected that the same courtesy, of moving the adjournment of the debate until tomorrow, would be extended to him as had been accorded to members upon the government side on previous evenings while the budget debate has been in progress. He was mistaken, Attorney General Grimmer, who was leading the house, refused to permit him to adjourn and forced him to begin his speech which he must have known, and as Mr. Copp stated, would take some time—probably some hours—at that late hour.

It seemed almost as if this kind of treatment was all that was necessary to warn the opposition leader up at the outset, for at the time of the adjournment, three-quarters of an hour later, he addressed the house with greater eloquence and force than is his usual custom. He did not hesitate to tell the government, on the subject of the unfair treatment of not only himself but of Mr. Byrne on a previous evening when, though in ill health, he was forced to continue because of the refusal of the premier to adjourn.

Speeches Sproul.
Before he began the discussion of the budget, Mr. Copp paid his respects to Messrs. Sproul and Murray, of King, dealing in short metre with the unsmooth speech of the former, earlier in the evening, and then taking up the personal references of Murray to himself, when he addressed the house.

The forecast member of the government, representing Kings, had referred to Copp as drawing $228 for services to the old government, and after the opposition leader stated that he had given much time before a board of arbitration trying to save the province money, he said he was not ashamed of his account. It was open and above board. He did not try, like some of the government members, to hide behind a Price & Nevers or a John P. McAuley.

He had time before the adjournment to show up the inconsistent attitude of the government members as compared with their speeches when in opposition, by quoting from the synoptic reports, and then he followed with statements from the auditor's report to prove how much more rapid the debt increase had been in the last four years than under the last four years of the old government.

His speech was listened to with the closest attention by both sides of the house, and he was frequently interrupted by the applause of the opposition.

The unbusiness of the government members under his scathing indictment was very noticeable, particularly when he referred to the rendering of accounts in the names of clerks and other employees.

There was an interesting debate in the house this afternoon upon Mr. LaBilios' resolution in favor of legislation to set one day apart in the week throughout the province, with the exception of incorporated towns and cities, upon which automobiles could not be used, save those of physicians and clergymen in the exercise of their professional duties.

The member for Restigouche has always been an advocate of such legislation and today made out a strong case in moving his resolution. He referred to petitions that had been presented to the legislature relating to the use of automobiles, and the convenience and that because of excessive speed and reckless driving they were a menace to the lives of people. He also quoted from the report of the agricultural commission recommending that some action be taken to remedy this grievance of the farmers.

Mr. LaBilios contended that the wishes and convenience of 60,000 farmers were far greater importance than the pleasure of 500 auto owners. That in order they might have one day in the week on which they and their wives and daughters could drive teams upon the public highways without fear such a resolution should pass the house.

Another thing that he pointed out was the damage that was being done to the country merchants in many places where the fear of automobiles kept the women at home and forced them to patronize the department stores of upper Canada. He made a strong case for the restriction of the automobile, and added that he would be in favor of the restriction extending to at least a part of the Sabbath day.

Mr. Uplham made an effective speech in seconding the resolution, which was also supported by Munro, Sproul and Bentley, but it was opposed by Provincial Secretary McLeod, Attorney General Grimmer, who was leading the house, and John P. Burcume. The vote stood eighteen to eleven in a thin house and the resolution was lost.

Central Railway Enquiry Coeddy.
Some information was given to the house in response to an inquiry which showed that the Central Railway inquiry cost in all $7,839. Of this amount Commissioner Landry received $2,773 and Messrs. Teed and McDougall $1,142 and the respective lawyers, H. A. Fowler also was paid $2,273 and stenographer, printers, etc., $1,474. There are no claims outstanding.

In answer to another query it was stated that Game Warden Dean did not send any expense account last year and has no claim against the government that it is aware of.

Mr. Barter furnished some evidence that the route of the Valley road from Gagetown to St. John is still undecided, for, in answer to his question as to what the government intended to do in answer to the petition of Loch Lamond people asking that the road take that route, the cautious reply was given that the government has the matter under consideration and will submit the facts set forth to the railway company before location surveys are made.

The committee that considered the bill sent here by the city council to give it control of the poles and conduits did not report it favorably and that respecting a four-minute service was sent back to the committee by the law committee for further consideration.

gentleman owning an automobile had to vote on the question.

Mr. Speaker said that he thought manufacturers or possibly an agent selling automobiles might be exempt from voting on the resolution.

Mr. Sproul made a characteristic speech of several hours, on the budget debate.

He was followed by Mr. Leger (Gloucester), who said that he wished to draw attention to the house to one or two things which go to show how far the government has been from meeting the results they promised would take place under their administration. Take for instance the new road law, under which it was promised the expenditures on the roads would be placed in the hands of the people through the municipal council.

In his county the road law had been a sad failure, so far as placing the road money under the control of the people. By reason of his position as a member of the Carleton highway board, he could say and he could prove it, that their highway board does not receive money to expend upon the roads that come from the government but the money is placed in the hands of special commissioners.

The public works report showed $405 had been spent on the roads in the parish of Carleton, but not one cent of that amount had passed through the hands of the highway board. In two cases in which as a member of the board he became responsible for the opening of the roads, he had to pay the cost out of his own pocket, as the government had completely ignored the highway board and its recommendations and estimates of requirements.

Such being the case, how could the government claim the road money was in the hands of the people? Why did they require special commissioners? Was it because their political friends demanded their pound of flesh?

Mr. Copp.
Mr. Copp said it became his duty to make some observations on the budget debate, but as it would take some time he would ask the privilege accorded to honorable members opposite to move the adjournment of the debate.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer—Proceed with your remarks.

Mr. Copp said he understood it was not the intention of the government to adjourn the debate at the usual hour. It did seem to him rather singular indeed that during the progress of the debate this was the second occasion that honorable members on this side of the house had been refused the same courtesy as had been extended to honorable gentlemen opposite to move the adjournment of the debate.

In the early part of the debate his honorable friend from Gloucester had through ill health been forced to continue at a very late hour, while in evidence honorable gentlemen supporting the government had adjourned the debate and not one word of protest had been made. The government supporters in Kent and Carleton had adjourned the debate about 11 o'clock.

Mr. Copp said with some degree of pleasure and some degree of regret to the remarks of an honorable gentleman who had preceded him. The house had been treated to an avalanche of light and heat, but the honorable gentleman who had preceded him had gone out in order to hide the blushes of the honorable gentleman over the scandalous remarks of the honorable gentleman who had preceded him.

The honorable gentleman had extended his hand in congratulation to his (Copp's) colleague from Westmorland, Mr. Robinson, on his victory before leaving this house. He had extended his hand to compare the remarks of his colleague with the remarks of his honorable friend from Kings, who had endeavored to paint every member on this side of the house as a scoundrel.

Mr. Copp continuing, said that the honorable gentleman (Mr. Sproul) could not have concluded his remarks without making a customary onslaught on Hon. Dr. Pugsley, and his honorable friend's criticism of a man of the standing of Dr. Pugsley might be compared to the barking of a little dog at the heels of a powerful animal.

Mr. Copp continuing, said that the honorable gentleman (Mr. Sproul) had challenged anybody to point a finger of scorn to any wrong doing on the part of the government as shown in the information which had been placed before the house, and that the whole trouble was that there was not any information given; instead, the people were told to come to the board of works office and look into the accounts if they wished to see how the money had been spent on wharves, bridges and roads of this country.

It was unreasonable to expect that the people would come here from all parts of the province to see into the accounts, but members of the opposition had been deluged with letters requesting information as to where the money went to and how it was spent.

The honorable gentleman had said that the old government had not given any information in their reports of the auditor-general, and then he pointed to the government's report to compare it with the old. But in doing that he read an indictment against this admission, if the St. John Standard was to be believed, and honorable gentlemen seemed to be everything the Standard said must be right.

He quoted from an editorial from the St. John Standard in which it stated that this year's auditor-general's report was made up with much less detail than last year and that it was the same as under the old government. If it was wrong under the old government, it was wrong now.

Hon. Mr. Murray—The honorable gentleman is an adept at distorting my remarks. Mr. Copp said that the honorable gentleman had been making a comparison of his (Copp's) which appeared in the auditor-general's report of 1906 or 1907. He was prepared to make a comparison with the honorable gentleman's opposite. He had been criticized because he had been paid $228 for his services as a member of the highway board. He had been paid for his services as a member of the highway board, and he had been paid for his services as a member of the highway board.

He thought that the honorable gentleman, in his endeavor to take a sting at him (Copp) might have got along without raking up any of his best relations. He thought that the government of the day had referred the claims of contractors for extras to arbitration and that the claimants had been made to make against him. He thought that the honorable gentleman had referred the claims of contractors for extras to arbitration and that the claimants had been made to make against him.

The honorable provincial secretary had said that the government's position was unassailable, and then he had referred to the public debt of this country. He did not wish to retrace all the ground which had already been covered, but nevertheless he did believe it his duty on account of the position he held, to give complete and correct information to the people of this province, as it actually is today.

First of all there was the dominion subsidy, which was fixed by population and for which the government could take no credit. Then there was the increased subsidy, which had been secured for the province in the last year of the old government and amounted to $10,000 annually. The old government went out of power after having received only the first semi-annual installment and in that connection he would like to refer to the statesmanlike proposal which had been made by his honorable colleague from Westmorland, Mr. Robinson, who was then premier, to lay aside $30,000 annually of that amount to go to pay off the debt of the province.

Succession duties were another source of revenue concerning which honorable gentlemen opposite, when in opposition, used to discuss, and the honorable president of the council had taken it to heart very severely and had declared that the government should not take money from the widows and orphans, and that honorable gentleman had been very anxious to place himself on record on that occasion, as he was in the city of St. John on the temperance question. He (Maxwell) had referred to five per cent commission paid to the attorney-general as money taken and ap-

POWER BILLS DISCUSSED IN LOCAL LEGISLATURE

Fredericton, N. B., April 3.—The house met at 3 o'clock. Mr. Currie introduced a bill relating to town of Campbellton. Mr. Dickson introduced a bill to amend the act respecting sewers and marsh lands. Hon. Mr. Grimmer introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the incorporation of towns. Hon. Mr. Fleming introduced a bill to incorporate the New Brunswick Shales, Limited.

John. The company was a stable one and had as its chief financial backer Herbert Guernsey, of London. It was proposed to establish a pulp and paper mill at or near Meductic Falls. The erection of this dam was feasible from an engineering standpoint. The house resumed at 8 o'clock and went into committee with Mr. Burchill in the chair and resumed consideration of the bill respecting the New Brunswick Hydro-Electric Company. Mr. Hatheway said the bill did not properly protect the public and, particularly the people of the city of St. John. Mr. Baxter said that as a result of being in communication with the mayor of St. John he intended to propose an amendment to the effect that before the company entered into any negotiations and conditions, as well as terms to be approved by the common council must be adhered to.

Mr. Hatheway said that he had been in communication with Mr. Hayes, of St. John, who as representative of the treasury board, was of the opinion that the bill should state that the promoters should adhere to the agreement with the city of St. John, last fall. He did not think that right should be given away for an indefinite period, as stated in the bill. The agreement was finally settled upon last fall between the company and city of St. John, for a period of fifty years. He did not believe that the company would only pay for the dam which he gave all information as to the cost of the dam, etc. The company has broken its agreement passed in November 1911 and it was only fair that the house should be given all information as to the cost of the dam, etc. The company has broken its agreement passed in November 1911 and it was only fair that the house should be given all information as to the cost of the dam, etc. The company has broken its agreement passed in November 1911 and it was only fair that the house should be given all information as to the cost of the dam, etc.

Mr. Young moved that provision be made that the company should be required to provide a sufficient flow of water for the water to spread over lands and thus obstruct logs. Mr. Bentley moved an amendment that the company should arrange for the carrying of logs without any unnecessary delay. Hon. Mr. McLeod said that logs under ordinary conditions would leave the channel and become hung up. Mr. Baxter moved an amendment to the effect that the company should provide efficient sluiceways and apparatus to the satisfaction of the executive council and provide a sufficient flow of water for uninterrupted passage of logs when in the judgment of the chief commissioner of public works the same should be necessary. The amendment to the amendment was carried. Mr. Hatheway moved an amendment that the provision enabling the company to expropriate land be stricken out. He said that that power had been denied the city of St. John. Hon. Mr. Maxwell said that if the city of St. John desired the expropriation privileges for any specific purposes they would be given them. Hon. Mr. Grimmer moved to amend the bill to provide that the chief engineer of the department of public works should inspect the books of the company to ascertain whether the expenditure as required under the act had been made. Mr. Young moved that provision be made that York and Charlotte county receive in all one-fifth of the electricity generated on the Magaguadavic River. The bill was otherwise amended so as to provide for the fishing privileges on the waters and lands acquired by the company should not be interfered with, and for the payment of the amount for privileges and renewal of leases, also that the company should be required to guarantee the executive council as a guarantee that the expenditure called for would be made.
