Chignecto Post.

Sackville, N. B., February 7, 1878.

Farmers' League.

At three o'clock, J. E. Fairweather, Esq., took the chair and called the Provincial League to order. About fifty members and others were present. The Secretary, S. L. Peters, read a very interesting report, in which he suggests the following subjects as worthy of consideration:

1st. More extensive cultivation of wheat.
2nd. The means to be adopted for the improvement of farm stock.
3rd. Economical feeding of farm stock during the winter months.
4th. Conditions for making dairies yield more largely.
5th. How can the manufacture of a really good article of butter be secured?
6th. How can farmers best obtain scientific knowledge of farming?
7th. What are the best means to adopt to secure a proper recognition of the agricultural interests in the Legislature?

The Secretary referred to the necessity for the cultivation of a desire amongst young men for agricultural pursuits. To the farmers of this Province properly belong the duty of procuring from the soil food for the wants of the country. When by our intelligence, energy and enterprise we are enabled to supply these demands and combine them with the resources we possess in mines and minerals, manufactures and shipping, lumber and fisheries, we will be assured that our Province is on the high road to prosperity.

MR. ELDER was called upon and delivered an address bristling with facts on agriculture in this Province. He referred to the fact that over 700,000 barrels of flour are imported by the Maritime Provinces from the grain fields of the West, and also butter, cheese and meat brought from the West. Even the fertile marshes of Westmorland fail to supply the demand for meat. If they were able to supply the home demand, there is still reason for more effort, for the British Isles could absorb our surplus beef. The demand is practically unlimited. Not only quantity, but quality is important. He then referred to the poor quality of butter produced in our dairies. At the recent meeting of the Dominion Board of Trade an inspection was discussed, but no decision arrived at. It was stated that butter might deteriorate after inspection. Another difficulty is the law makes inspection optional with vendor or purchaser. He thought the best way to drive out bad butter was to cut down the price till farmers found making a poor article did not pay. Farmers in the States furnish butter the year round to hotels at 81 per pound. This can only be secured by the greatest attention.

MR. ELDER went on to say that the objects of the League entitled it to the sympathy and support of the country. Good farming meant not only material benefits in the way of increase of wealth, but higher moral and social development, intellectual cultivation and refinement. Good farming could only be attained by creating a desire for a more thorough knowledge of practical and scientific farming. Mr. Elder's remarks were very pertinent, and were well received.

It was moved that the League proceed to the ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. J. L. Black raised the question as to who were members and who were not. The following list of delegates was then read: S. Oity Crookshank, St. John Agricultural Society; S. L. Peters, F. J. Purdy, Titus, Queen's Co. League; W. F. Merritt, Queen's Central Agricultural Society; O. R. Arnold, McLeod, J. K. Fairweather, Kings Co. League; T. Leagus, A. Kennedy, Kings Co. Agricultural Society; J. D. Dixon, J. L. Black, S. & W. A. Society.

A discussion arose between Messrs. J. L. Black, Pickard, Peters and others as to who were really eligible to vote. The President, Mr. Crookshank, said that the members of the League for one year and that none but bona fide members of the League shall be eligible for office or to vote. Carried.

In reply to Mr. Pickard, the Secretary stated that he had received since last year the following list from the Westmorland Co. Farmers' League: Howard Treuman, President; Thos. Pickard, Vice do.; John T. Carter, Secretary; S. Sharpe, Treasurer; Representatives, Messrs. Humphrey and Wood.

MR. DIXON gave notice he would move for an amendment, giving the League a Vice President.

The following officers were then elected: President, Saml. Sharpe, Esq.; Vice-Prest, for Westmorland, H. Humphrey, do.; for Kings, P. Roach, do.; for St. John, Crookshank, do.; for Queens, F. J. Purdy, do.; for Sunbury, G. A. Stirling; Secretary, S. L. Peters; Treasurer, R. E. McLeod.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:
The President, Secretary and Treasurer, together with H. Treuman, J. Wood, Westmorland; J. E. Fairweather, A. Kennedy, Kings; J. G. Titus, B. F. Merritt, Queens; N. Hallett, W. Williams, York; W.

Elder, P. Davidson, St. John; G. W. Hoben, W. D. Perley, Sunbury.

Various votes of thanks were passed, and the League adjourned to meet at 10 a. m., to-day to discuss the matters and suggestions in the Secretary's Report.

Outrageous.

The New Dominion (St. John) criticizes certain proceedings of the Minister of Marine. Does that paper fully recognize the unenviable position it takes when it dares to profane the sacred name of SMITH?—when it dares to impeach the Minister's public acts—when it dares to doubt he is perfect—a shining light of political honor and rectitude, made more resplendent by the surrounding darkness and threatening clouds of Tory corruption and baseness? Has it yet to learn that no one in Westmorland is permitted to doubt the ineffable goodness and excellent wisdom of this great statesman? The best evidence of the utter perversion of any man's better nature and of his total depravity, is finding him criticizing the public acts of a Minister who is known to be more just than Aristides, more enlightened than Plato, and a greater law-giver than Justinian.

Hence when the New Dominion charges that some thirteen violations of law relating to the preservation of the fisheries were made in Carleton county; that the fishery officer prosecuted the offending parties; that Hon. Mr. Smith at the instigation of Mr. Appleby, M. P., stepped in and waved aside the minions of the law, topped the prosecutions and allowed the statute to remain a dead letter, in order to help Mr. Appleby to some votes, is it not aware that our heaven-born Minister is above and beyond such criticisms of the base hounds of the press; that it is an "impudent," "sordid," and "contemptible" sheet, and guilty of low, malevolent abuse and of attempting to "suppress A. J. Smith." Out upon thee, thou Tory varlet! Sdeath! Treason!

We are not weary beyond measure that W. H. Venning, Esq., Fishery Inspector, in a letter to the Freeman, administers a fitting rebuke to the New Dominion for its scandalous criticism. Mr. Venning states that the law if enforced would insure the fisheries, which are of much greater importance than the fishery. He admits the charges of the New Dominion are true, but points out the intolerable depth of infamy to which that paper has descended by making them.

Now if the New Dominion cannot devote half a column per week to praising the Minister's acts and blessing the day and hour that sent him to rule over us, it will we think have learned that it is not meet for such as it to take the name of SMITH in vain.

Adventures of the "Northern Light."

On Wednesday last the "Northern Light" left Georgetown for Pictou. The day was lovely, the boat made good way, and the passengers were in high glee at the prospect of catching the Northern Express at Pictou. When approaching noon, the boat nipped in floating ice inside Pictou Island, some two miles from the Light House. It soon became evident that the boat was powerless. She struck at the ice, but made no more effect than pebbles against a stone wall. The Captain soon recognized the disagreeable fact that his vessel was securely anchored in the ice, and he ordered out an ice boat, with a crew. The passengers observed the crew toll along till they reached the shore. The second boat was ordered out, baggage and mails placed in, and the passengers debarked to walk ashore. There were nine passengers, including two ladies, Misses McLellan and Cameron of Montreal. They reached the shore with only one mishap. At a soft place the boat suddenly went down, and Miss McLellan dropped into the water with it, but with a good deal of presence of mind she grabbed the plank and clung to it. Her pluck quite won for her the admiration of her fellow voyagers. Amongst the passengers were Senators Campbell and Cameron en route for Ottawa.

The "Northern Light" has since moved down the coast some three miles in the ice, and is now about two miles off shore at Little Harbor, drifting on. The crew is still on board keeping up steam. The vessel is safe enough unless she continues to drift ashore and gets into shallow water.

BENGOUGH.—Sackville laughed on Tuesday evening as it never laughed before. Laughter ran the whole gamut from the tee-hee sharps and trebles down to the basso shouts that shook the hall in riotous strength. Those who went expecting instruction were disappointed; those who went for the fun of the thing came away rubbing their poor sore sides.

For an assumption of impressive solemnity while saying the most idiotic things; for presenting a ridiculous side to the most sober matter of fact subjects, Bengough is a rare success. His lecture touched upon most everything; politics, petticoats and the press; science, religion and the opera; the descent of man and steel rails; evolution and panthers; Shakespeare and the girl of the period; Colonel Sellers' "There's millions in it," and Huxley's proposition. In his sketches, there was first the young lady of the day and her admirer. Next a "school-marm" drubbing a young hopton. The lecture was complete and the boys were in ecstasies over it. Mr. Bengough next exhibited a "counterfeit pre-sentiment" of Mr. Thos. Babcock and his nobby team, which took immensely. A man with big feet was next rendered immortal on an enduring brown paper. He had one foot on a boot-black's box. The boot-black had evidently finished polishing that shoe, and requests him to "Change cars, boss." The picture was probably intended for the Editor of the B—. A fair picture of Mr. C. Milner was also made. Horro Sterne, the popular Professor of Music, was next victimized. The local hits of Mr. Bengough were not so numerous and hitting here as they have been in other places and some disappointment was manifested that some well-known local celebrities were not "hit off." The truth was, however, that the caricaturist only arrived in the afternoon, and had but little time to inspect so promising a field as Sackville affords. He proposes to take a summer holiday trip to the Maritime Provinces, when it may be anticipated a Sackville audience and Mr. Bengough will have another big laugh together.

THURDAY delivered a rattling speech at Shediac on Thursday last, to a crowded house, half an hour in French and two in English. He read a severe indictment against the Government. At its close, P. A. Landry, Esq., was called for and said when the time came he would be prepared to announce his principles and support them.

The Missing Man.

Friday's Proceedings.

A. E. Wilson, druggist, Shediac, sworn: I never furnished any of the Osborne family any poisonous powders. Know nothing about the case. S. J. Sturgeons, sworn: I live in the town of Wier, Androscoggin, Me. C. R. Merriek and I do business for a company; was in Westmorland County in October last. A. C. Myrick came together in Shediac; we went there on 11th October last; we three (C. R. Merriek, A. C. Myrick and myself) stayed at the Waverley House. I remember the 12th Oct.; it was a Friday and a very wet day; we three had the left hand room on the second floor over the ladies' parlor. A. C. Myrick was hired by the other man and myself; we spent most of the day in the house; I was in the barn two or three times; I saw an express wagon in the barn; I should think about 10 a. m.; it was before dinner. D. I did not see it out of the barn. Remember of taking tea at the Osborne House; we took tea together; it was about 6 p. m.; do not know as there was any other person in the house; very few men who called Campbell; he was there every day I was. Do not know as I saw him after tea; I recognize the prisoners; they were all there when I was. Do not know as I ever saw Timothy McCarthy; if he was there I did not know it. Mr. Osborne was ill when I was there; he was down stairs on the morning of 12th Oct. last. We were in the office or smoking after tea on the 12th; my partner went to his room about 8 o'clock; we followed about 9. There was one double bed and a sofa in the room we used. I slept on the sofa on the night in question; the other two slept on the bed. We all retired about the same time, shortly after going to our room. I saw as I was looking at the time. I saw a black horse belonging to Osborne. The Osbornes never said anything to me about anything that happened on that night. Never would have thought of that night had not my attention been called to it. Heard nothing more than ordinary barn room talk while I was staying at Osborne's; thought the noise came from the direction of the bar-room. Recollect hearing loud talk one night, but do not recollect what night. We all returned to Shediac from P. E. I stayed at the Weldon House only for dinner; had not any reason for not going back to Osborne's. I should think a man falling as heavy as they say McCarthy was would make a loud noise. I would be more likely to hear noises in the hall than in the bar-room; think I would have heard three persons carrying a heavy body out, but cannot say. Should not have noticed the opening of the hall door as it was often open. Never heard any thing say anything about hearing anything unusual on that night. I recollect seeing a baggage wagon; there was nothing in the wagon when I saw it.

Re-examined by Mr. Tuck: Such a body as has been described might fall and not make much noise; if I had been asleep a body might have been carried out and I not hear it, unless a great noise had been made. If I was sound asleep, I do not think it would have woken me.

C. P. Harris, sworn: I am of the firm of J. & C. Harris; know John Osborne; on the 23rd of Oct. he paid me $100.00. I have always found Mr. Osborne able to pay his bills.

Saturday's Proceedings.

Dr. Scott's evidence went to show that he examined the floor and counter of the Osborne bar room and saw spots. His character he did not know as he had not made a deal with him. Removed portion of counter and floor and took it to Moncton. Found stains on left hand right corner of Anthony White's express wagon.

W. D. Mansfield sworn: Went from Moncton to Point du Chene in train with McCarthy on Oct. 12th. Saw him on board boat as late as 7 o'clock; he and Mr. Cameron from P. E. Island, and some others I did not know, left the boat and went up the wharf towards Schurman's hotel. This was the last I saw of him. I remained on board the boat all night, and at 7 in the morning we arrived at Summerside. This is all I know of the matter.

Examined by Mr. Holstead: He did not see any money with him; he told me he had intended going North, but there was no boat going north that day. McCarthy said nothing to me about his wife, and I did not notice her at the boat. I did not know her at the time. Never told J. V. Crookshank or any other person that railway men had killed McCarthy.

Robert Atkinson, sworn: I reside in Shediac about a mile above the Soudouque river bridge on the bank. My gate is about 30 rods from the house, and the house 30 rods from the river. Between the 13th and 15th of October I noticed wagon tracks across a field of mine. The wagon had gone both ways. The bars to the entrance of the field were down. I could see the tracks as far as I went, and noticed it as far across the field as I could see, for the irregularity of the ground. The tracks returning varied a little from that going. I wondered why they were there. E. J. Smith and others coming logs in the river usually left their horses in a barnyard, and went down to the river. Never seen any of them in my field. When I saw the wagon tracks, the ground was soft on account of the rainy weather, and the tracks were quite plain. It is about a quarter of a mile from my house to where I saw the tracks. Persons going to Smith's mill would not have occasion to cross the field where I saw tracks.

Monday's Proceedings.

Charles Harper, sworn: Osborne paid me $43.30 on 27th Oct. for coal. John A. Nickerson, sworn: Made a search at Shediac on 5th or 6th of November for McCarthy. Before I went to make the search, I went to the Osbornes and asked Mrs. Osborne if she could tell me what time McCarthy was there. I told her I was going to search the Adams House and in case they asked me I wanted to be able to tell them what time he left her place. I was standing in the hall in front of the kitchen door; Eliza Osborne got up and came and stood in the door alongside of Mrs. Osborne. During the conversation they told me two or three times that it was about twelve o'clock at night when McCarthy was there. Mrs. Osborne and Eliza both told me this two or three times. They referred to the night of the 12th of October. I was perfectly satisfied (objection by Mr. Holstead; objection allowed) Our conversation was about the alleged row in the house; it was about the dress; I was about to come away, when Mrs. Osborne called "Ann" (did not know the girl) and asked her about what time McCarthy was there and the girl said about twelve o'clock. I asked Ann how she knew it was about 12 o'clock; she said the clock stood on the shelf and she wanted to get down before 12 o'clock. We searched the Adams house; we examined the wells, put a spike in a pole and hooked around the bottom of them, but found nothing suspicious there.

Mr. Holstead, Osborne's counsel, asked to call E. J. Smith, C. Weldon and Sheriff Botsford. Mr. Tuck opposed the motion, holding that the prisoners could not in a preliminary examination call witnesses. He added that if the prisoners were discharged, they would be re-arrested. Decision postponed until to-morrow.

The only witness this morning was Charles Warner, of Shediac. He is employed by E. J. Smith, and had charge of men taking care of logs in October last. He and his men noiled the case of a wagon on the hill mentioned by Farmer Atkinson on the morning of the 13th of October. At daylight they thought Squire Smith had been down, and remarked that the Squire was out early that morning, but subsequently Mr. Smith told him he had not been down that morning. The water at this point is very deep, and the bank from the water down very steep.

Mr. Tuck said the Crown would not call any more witnesses, and Mr. Holstead counsel for the prisoners, asked the Court to call the Sheriff and others. Mr. Tuck objected. The Court decided that if the Sheriff was present he might give evidence, but they could not adjourn. Justice Fortman in his remarks mainly indicated that it would be the duty of the Court to commit the prisoners for trial.

The prisoners were committed for trial yesterday.

Temperance Reform.
WENTWORTH, Cumberland, has a club with 53 members.

ANTIOCH has caught the Reform fever, and every body is signing the pledge.

FREDERICHON has been promised Inebriate Asylum, by Mr. Mackenzie.

AT TROY, N. Y., Murphy has obtained 40,000 signatures. Criminal cases have fallen off 66 per cent.

NEW GLASGOW Club has 600 members. It was organized Oct. 17. Thirteen persons, only have violated, 9 of whom have returned to the Club.

ST. STEPHEN has subscribed $2,000 for a Club House. One lady has contributed a lot of land, valued at $300. About 400 have subscribed to the pledge.

CHATHAM, has 1000 Reformers, and has established branches at Tabusintac and Douglastown. At a meeting, the other night, at Chatham, A. D. Sheriff, Esq., showed that the liquor imported into Chatham, the three months of Nov. and Dec. 1876, and January, 1877, was 1649 gallons, for which a duty of $1,722 was paid. The corresponding months in '77 and '78 showed 948 gallons imported being a decrease of 701 gallons, and $558.90 duty in the last three months as compared with the three months commencing November, 1876. This alone would cause a saving of $4,200 for the last three months, but to the saving would amount to $6,000 if the liquor received from Halifax, St. John and Quebec, on which the duty was paid at those places, was allowed for in the calculation. This would amount to about $25,000 for the year, but he believed the cost to Chatham yearly for liquor was $60,000.

POLICEMAN McGRATH, of Moncton, has managed to distinguish himself in the McCarthy affair. He considers the Parker girl an impostor, and conceived the plan of getting possession of her (Policeman Steadman whose duty it was to keep charge of her being sick) and with the aid of detective Force, of Halifax, obtaining some of the testimony that would damage her former statements and break down the prosecution. The plan leaked out, and McGrath has been discharged.
