They Enlisted for South Africa beating heart and swelling breast to meet his fate. Last December.

Were Engaged in Monday's Great Battle at Hart's River.

The News Made Sunday a Day of Sadness-Huston and Gunn Had Many Friends Here.

Not since the sad news of how London's boys bravely fought and bled and died, on that fatal Sunday of Feb. 8, 1900, has the meaning of war come nearly home to the citizens of London as now, when word again comes don as now, when word again comes public and high schools, taking up the that some of the boys who marched profession of teaching, in which he away in January are sleeping in death on the lonely veldt of a South African battlefield. A dispatch received yesterday, at 4:30 p.m., and bulletined immediately by The Advertiser, brought the information that the list of casualties contained the names of three brave lads who went to the war from London only three short months ago. With no conception of the stern realities of war, with their landlegs carcely found after their long sea voyage, and with no opportunity to acinured burghers and gallantly held their own against them and died like heroes for King and Empire.

PTE. W. G. HUSTON.

Pte. W. G. Huston, one of the two London soldiers whose life was lost on the field, had been a resident of London for five years, having come here from St. Marys, where his widowed mother and two sisters are today mourning their loss. He was a tinsmith for the Acetylene Gas Company, and was greatly liked by his employers and his fellow-workmen. He was a charter member of the Manhattan Club, and was given a heartfelt farewell on the occasion of his leaving for the front. There was an element of romance in the circumstances under which Huston stepped into the ranks of the departing soldiers. Wm. Ogilvie, of Wyoming, had been accepted, but a few minutes before the troops departed, Ogilvie's wife came to Col. Peters. D.O.C., being rejected had lingered in the hope | Marks Bros.' LABOR. Philadelphia, April 7.—Senator Hanna was the principal speaker Saturday hight at the closing session of the sixth annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. He divided his subject with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and the question of the relation of capital and labor was ably discussed by the two speakers. Senator Hanna's topic was: "Industrial Concillation and Arbitration," and Mr. Gom-pers spoke on "Its Possibilities and Limitations."

Senator Hanna referred to the ef-forts of the National Civic Federation to effect the condition of industrial peace. The industrial department of the Civic Federation, he said, although only two years old, had settled seven strikes in three months and prevented the occurrence of two strikes which would have rendered idle more than 200,000

"The necessities growing out of the wast productive capacity of this country," said Senator Hanna, "have forced the condition of the aggregation of capital; the creation of wealth in concrete form. To absorb it and to render valuable as an industrial investment we must have industrial peace. The Civic Federation is beginning to lay the foundation of such a result.

"I believe in organized labor and it is a demonstrated fact that labor conditions are benefited when intrusted to an honest leader. Organized labor is a condition that must be met." SOCIALISM INIMICAL TO INDUS-TRIAL DEVELOPMENT.

Senator Hanna denounced socialism as inimical to society and to industrial development. Socialistic ideas, he said, are "un-American and unmatural to us as a people."

President Gompers' remarks referred chiefly to the question of strikes and lockouts. Much as a strike of laboring men is to be deplored, he said, such action by the wage-earner is the highest civilized expression of discontent among workmen. A strike is a protest against wrong and injustice when there is no other way of securing redress."

TUGMEN ON STRIKE. Cleveland, April 7.-The officers of the tug trust and the striking tugmen have made no effort to get together to agree on terms, and the boats of the fleet at all Ohio ports are lying idle. WON'T BE POSTPONED.

Augusta, Ga., April 7.-A committee of the chamber of commerce of Augusta tried to gain the consent of the labor unions to postpone the strike orde for today, which involves the cottor mills, in the Augusta district. PAPERMAKERS QUIT WORK. Appleton, Wis., April 5. - The big strike in the Wisconsin paper manufacturing district, which has been pending for four months, materialized this evening, when the night crews failed to report for duty. The strikers are opposed by an organization of owners of 22 mills who have refused the short time schedule demanded. Both sides are well organized and the fight is likely to be a long and bitter Kaukauna, Wis., April 5.-The long expected papermakers' strike became effective here in one mill, that of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company. Every man except one in the mill, employing 125 hands, walked out.

Grand Rapids, Wis-, April 5.-All the union men employed by the Grand Rapids Pulp and Paper Company at but there were non-union men to fill their places.

OMEN OF VICTORY FOR MINERS. Indianapolis, Ind., April 7.-The result of a conference here between President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson, of the United Mine Workers, and L. W. Robinson, president of the Rochester and Pittsburg Company, points to a victory for the miners, as It is stated at headquarters that last year's scale, for which they contended, will be adopted, except in two mines, where the company made concessions.

6,000 MINERS IDLE.

Brazil, Ind., April 7.-The bituminous miners have rejected the ultimatum submitted by the operators, and adjourned sine die. Work will be indefinitely suspended. The operators offered to pay the scale of last year if the miners would remove the "gob" and slate from the entry, but the miners declined. An appeal to the National Board of Arbitration will follow. Six thousand men are idle.

She Threatened to Destroy a Picture and Bar. But Was Smashed and Arrested.

Nebraska City, Neb., April 7.-Mrs. Carrie Nation was arrested here Saturday and taken to jail, but was released on her promise to leave by the next train. She had been making the rounds of the saloons, and at one threatened to demolish a huge picture and smash the bar. The bartender warned her, but she persisted, and he struck her twice on the face and put her out of the saloon. She soon returned with a party of adherents, but a policeman arrested her and escorted her to jail.

THE TALK OF A BRITISH CAMP IN LOUISIANA.

Washington, April 7.—The state department on Saturday made public the correspondence which has taken place thus far between the United States government and the government of Louisiana respecting the latter's statement relative to the shipment of live stock and supplies for the British army in South Africa from Chalmette, Pa. The United States attorney-general says that the principal question, and a delicate one, is whether there has been a departure from neutrality on the part of the United States govity on the part of the United States government in this matter, and notwith-standing the urgency of Pearson and Gov. Heard, "thinks this government should not take any action without mature consideration by the president and his advisers." The matter will be investigated.

Ottawa, April 6.-The smallpox outbreak in the Province of Ontario is under control and fast disappearing, according to Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the provincial board of health, who has just returned from Toronto, where he has looked into the statistics respecting the disease. He states that in the whole province there are now

In Dover township, near Chatham, from which 400 cases were reported, only a few now remain and they are mostly convalescent. "If there is one thing which the outbreak has demonstrated," said the doctor, "it is the salutary offices of vaccination. If people had had more recourse to that the disease would not have spread, nor would municipalities have been put to thousands of dollars of expenditure. This is an incidence: There was one lumber camp in which 80 men were engaged, and all but one was vaccinated. The whole camp was subsequently exposed to smallpox, but the only one who took the disease was the party who had not been vaccinated. #### First Woman Photographed.

[Woman's Home Companion.] The first woman who ever sat before a camera died at Hastings last month. This lady was Dorothy Catherine Draper. In 1839, shortly after Daguerre's announcement of his discovery of the action of sunlight on silver, her rother, the distinguished John W. Draper, afterward president of New York University Medical College, made some experiments with a camera with his sister for a subject. In order that the impression might be clearer her face was dusted with a fine white powder. This picture, the result of the first experiment, is still in existence, and is owned by Lord Herschel's heirs, n England. Many other men have aleged that they were first in applying Daguerre's discovery, but these claims are not well founded. Miss Draper's likeness and the date it bears have been accepted as final proof that to her brother belong the honor of being the first man to photograph a woman, and to her the distinction of being the first woman ever photographed.

WHERE MEN EAT TO LIVE.

[From Lippincott's.] The Trappist monks consider eating to be a necessary evil and curtail it to such a degree that one step further would be suicide. Dinner, to which scarcely fifteen minutes is devoted, consistes of a mess of vegetables boiled in water without butter or salt and served in a crude earthenware bowl, a slice or two of rye bread without butter, and a mug of milk or water as a beverage. Supper is the barest apology for a meal, being nothing more than bread and water. The guestmaster did not mention breakfast; if there be such a meal, it probably consists merely of a glass of water. A slight relaxaion of this dietary is allowed to invalids, who may have two eggs a day, while on extraordinary occasions, such as a funeral feast in honor of a departed friar, the monks revel in an egg apiece. They are strict vegetarians, and a Trappist must be in the very jaws of death before he will consent to

PLUNKET GREENE TONIGHT. A large and fashionable audience will assemble in the Grand Opera House tonight to hear Plunket Greene, the most delightful of English baritones; Dorothy Harvey, the beautiful Canadian soprano, and Rudolph Von Scarpa, solo pianist. Mr. Plunket Greene's Irish songs, which he sings with such delightful effect, include the sentiment, pathos and humor of the Irish race, all charmingly expressed. The Concentration Camps in South Africa

Defended on Grounds of Sanitary and Humane Conditions.

How the Boer Women and Children Are Cared For-Camps Open to Inspection.

To the Editor of Washington Evening I have read in your paper a letter writ-I have read in your paper a letter written by Uirica Dahlgren Pierce about the concentration camps established by the English in South Africa for the protection of the Boer women and children. I cannot help feeling regret that you allow your excellent paper to be the medium for circulating such wild and unwarranted attacks upon the humanity of the English Government.

English Government.
Such articles can have no effect, I ad-Such articles can have no effect, I admit, upon minds trained to demand historical accuracy as to the facts before attempting to form an opinion involving censure or praise. Unfortunately, all are not so trained, and there are many kindhearted people in the community who are more than willing to listen to stories of more than willing to listen to stories of neglect and suffering, but who will not take the trouble to test the accuracy of

It is not a difficult thing to learn all about the concentration camps—what was the cause of their origin and how was the cause of their origin and how they are conducted. A very great deal of information about them can be obtained by referring to the English blue book, which is obtainable at the Congressional Library. The blue book is issued by the English Government, monthly or oftener, and contains information upon the current affairs of the country. It corresponds, in some degree, to our Congressional Record.

THE FIRST CAMPS.

THE FIRST CAMPS. The earliest concentration camps were The earliest concentration camps were started in January, 1901, on the initiative of Lord Kitchener. The camps have increased in number gradually, until there are now over thirty camps in different parts of South Africa. They give protection and support to from 129,000 to 130,000 women and children. No pains and no money have been spared to bring the camps into as perfect a condition as DOScamps into as perfect a condition as possible under the circumstances. The expense of the camps to the English tax pense of the camps to the English tax payers is f180,000 per month, or over f2,000,000 per year. Joseph Chamberlein has said, with truth, that never in the whole history of the world has there been such a gigantic effort made by any nation to minimize the horrors of war. The only alternative to the plan of receiving the women and children into the English lines, and taking care of them in English lines, and taking care of them in camps, was to leave the whole non-combatant population to live, or rather to die, on the veldt, in a country denuded of supplies, and exposed to attack by the kaffirs, whom the Boers, by their past cruelty, have excited to vengeance.

Probably never before in history has a bility of the past the country of the past the supplies.

Probably never before in history has a belligerent force attempted to worst the enemy by exposing its own women and children to famine and suffering. On November 6, 1900, the commandant general of the Boers issued the order that, if burghers refused to fight he would confiscate all their property, movable and immovable, and burn their houses. Such an order, of course, left women and children upon the open veldt, without house dren upon the open veldt, without house or food. It was left to the English either allow these Boer women and children to invent some means of taking charge of them. KITCHENER AND BOTHA.

Lord Kitchener on April 16, 1901, informed the commandant general that, in consequence of the method adopted by him to force unwilling and peaceable inhabitants to join his commandos—a proceeding totally unauthorized by the recognized customs of war—he (Lord Kitchener) had no other course open to him, and was forced to take the very unpleasant and repugnant steps of bringing in the women and children. He adds: "I have the greatest sympathy for the sufferings of these poor people, which I have done my best to alleviate."

We have learned, through an intercepted letter addressed to General Smuts, Lord Kitchener on April 16, 1901, in-We have learned, through an intercepted letter addressed to General Smuts, that General Botha even went so far as to give explicit directions to him "to load the women and children into the British lines." Having done this, he complains. In a letter to Lord Salisbury, of the cruel treatment given to these same women

WHAT THE BLUE BOOK SHOWS. Ary person who will take the trouble to read the English blue book will see the minute directions which are given for the preservation of the health and for the comfort of these refugees. There is a hospital connected with each camp and the orders are that no expense shall be spared in providing everything for the sick. Schools have been established at each camp, with the best English teachers.

FEEDING AND MEDICAL TREAT-MENT.

It must be remembered that all food and other supplies must reach the camp over three poorly-equipped railway lines. Most of the camps are a thousand miles from the coast. The railway lines have been constantly cut by the Boers, and the food supplies of the soldiers and of the resugees have thus been intercepted. When, in consequence, food has been scarce, civilians and soldiers have gone on hair rations that the enemy's women and children might be fed.

The mortality in the camps was very high at first, especially among the children. But it must be taken into consideration that a large portion of the refu-eration that a large portion of the refu-gees were in a wretched condition, caus-ed by famine and exposure, when they came in. Then, too, it took time to per-fect the sanitary arrangements. One great difficulty which had to be met was the opposition of the refugees to obeying sanitary orders, such as we, in this country, recognize as necessary to health. country, recognize as necessary to health. Measles of a very severe type were brought into the camps among the newly arrived, and the new cases were, as long as possible, hidden by the mothers from the surgeons. The inevitable result was the spread of measles throughout the camps, and great mortality resulted from neglect. The mothers had two favorite remedies; one, the covering of the child with green paint; the other, the administering of a tea made of goat's dung. This is reported by surgeons from different camps. from different camps.

The mortality among the little children at first was 262 per thousand, but it has been reduced to from 70 to 80 per thousand. It is to be noted that the normal infantile mortality in South Africa is very great. At the request of Mr. Chamberlain, the governor of South Africa description of 32 towns, taken collectively, is 214 per thousand. When this was in discussion in the House of Commons, a member announced that there were three months in 1901—July, August and September—when the infantile mortality in the Scotland division of Liverpool was 569 per thousand.

CAMPS OPEN TO BOER INSPECTION. Lord Kitchener is willing that the camps should be inspected by Boer offi-cers, under proper restrictions. When Gen. B. Viljoen asked that he might depute an officer to inspect the camps, Lord Kitchener immediately acceded. Gen. Viljoen selected Capt. Malan, who, after an inspection, expressed his entire satisfaction with the arrangements of them. Baron von Richthofen, secretary of state for foreign affairs of Germany said in the Reichstag: "In times of dis aster, when a people is especially sensitive, the hard word uttered is felt with double keenness; the friendly remark is recognized with double gratitude. Let us be a little more just in our criticisms. Let me illustrate how we have been led astray. I have read the most terrible descriptions of the way the English treat their prisoners. And yet, a few days ago, one of our generals, when on a visit to me, said: 'I consider it my duty to say here that when I visited the Boer prisoners in Ceylon I found first-class arrangements.' And Major-Gen. von Trotha, in speaking of one of the prisons, said that the cooking and sanitary arrangements were simply models of what they ought to be." We Americans should not let people of Woman Declares She Lost $1,000 While Her Temples Were Being Manipulated.

New York, April 5 .- If one thing more than another betrayed Mrs. Sarah A. Brabazon's 72 years it was the thinness of her hair, so she listened attentively, she says, to the virtues of a hair tonic which Mrs. Carrie Reynolds of Palisade avenue, Union Hill, N. J.

All Mrs. Reynolds asked was an opportunity to demonstrate the wonderful efficacy of the tonic. According to Mrs. Brabazon she settled back in an easy chair at her home, No. 514 Jefferson Place, and Mrs. Reynolds dropped some of the magic fluid on the palms of her hands and began a massage of the septuagenarian's temples. This was two weeks ago, and Mrs. Brabazon's hair, she says, continued to fall out. She also awoke to the fact that $1,000 was missing from her bank account. She attributes the missing money to Mrs. Reynolds and the hair tonic, and brought about the latter's arrest.

Mrs. Brabazon complained to the authorities that a drowsiness stole over her as Mrs. Reynolds manipulated her temples, and while in an hypnotic state she wrote a check for $500 and handed it over to the agent for the Two days later the massage treatment was repeated, and this time Mrs. Brabazon says she delivered a check to Mrs. Reynolds for $200. Mrs. Brabazon says she woke up yesterday, and besides ascertaining that the two checks had been cashed learned that a check for $300 was drawn on her account. She declares the latter a forgery. Mrs. Reynolds will be arraigned in the Union Hill court.

Canada's Heroic Sons.

Canadians have again poured out their lives for the Empire, and if anything can assuage the national grief At is the heroism which irradiated the battlefield.

In the annals of this terrible campaign there is no more glorious page than has been written in Canadian blood at Hart's River. Remember that these young men were citizen soldiers. Excepting a few of the mounted police, they were recruited from the office, the ground like seasoned veterans and fought with a steadfast valor worthy of the noblest traditions of the British army. The story of the little band under Lieut. Carrothers, preferring death to surrender, and fighting till every man had fallen will be an imperishable memory and an inspiration to young Canadians for generations to come. All honor to those who have so honored their country and thrilled with pride every loyal heart in the Dominion! They have given a magnificent testimony to the world of the fibre of the Canadian stock. They have proved that military prowess is people, even although militarism is unknown. Coolness and courage on the field of battle are the expression of character, not of a system.

London has given her quota of brave young life to the cause. Elation over the shining bravery of our sons will be tempered with profound sympathy for the relatives of the dead and wounded. For those who have fallen, a nation's homage will be an enduring monument

The New Hospital Management

The Advertiser has been a firm friend of the late management of Victoria Hospital, believing that the best posthe years of such management London became a center for skilled medical practitioners and surgeons, and Western Ontario looked to, it for the best.

Unworthy motives prompted an agitation, and that agitation resulted in not one single charge of any kind being proven. Still a change is taking place all along the line. Col. Smith, for whom the superintendency was designed, had a better position, and when persecution had done its work declined to take the post. Mr. Thomas H. Heard was appointed. We believe he is a good, competent business man, conscientious and straightforward. The agitation was directed then towards the lady superintendent. Miss Meikle-John, for whom that position was intended, declined it in favor of a better position. Miss Mayou, of Philadelphia, was then offered it, and on condition that she was allowed to select her own assistant, accepted, and but with the lady superintendent.

It is intended further to change the matron and put in a graduate of a Philadelphia cooking school. The bookkeeper appointed is Miss Sutherland, a lady quite competent, and the steward is a man of experience.

The Advertiser has only the good of the hospital at heart. Mr. Heard and all under him will have its support, but it cannot approve of the methods by which the changes are effected. The trustees, as a whole, are not consulted. Miss Meiklejohn was negotiated with, as was Miss Mayou by a section only of the trustees. We have always had faith in Canadian men and women. We believe Canadian doctors and Canadian nurses are as efficient as any in the United States. We believe Canadian women can cook as well as any others, and we desire to protest against the changes being brought about for no reason, changes which drive from their positions competent Canadians to be filled by others from across the border. The new appointees may prove to be competent. They are not likely to be more so than their predecessors. There has been no such uncalled for heartless proceeding in the municipal life of London in its whole history.

building, but it will cost more than the old one to run it. There is no reason why any sufferer should pass the London Hospital. He will get there the best medical and surgical skill, and the best of nursing.

Among the resolutions adopted at a meeting of the Ontario Educational Aspociation is the following: "That they sthe teachers) approved of the action of the Minister of Education in providing traveling libraries for the newer sections of Ontario." This is one of the methods employed by the Ontario Government to "build up Ontario." The fact that it commends itself to such a non-partisan body as the teachers of thinking that people who don't like him this Province should also commend it have bad taste. to the electorate of the Province.

Stuffing the Census Returns.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce and the Minister of Agriculture, in their speeches on the budget, produced evidence to show that the census of 1891 had been inflated. The Hon. Mr. Fisher enumerated a number of instances in the Province of Quebec, where large families were counted in the census of 1891, who had not resided for years previous in the localities in which they were numbered. One instance was cited of a family, consisting of father and mother and eighteen children, the mother being 30 years of age. The discrepancies were not confined to Quebec. Five localities were elected at random in this Province, with results as follows: In Belleville the census of 1891 was found to be correctly taken. In Goderich there were 63 in a population of about 3,000 who should not have been counted. In the town of Clinton, with a population of about 2,500, there were 38 names which should not have been counted. In Cornwall town and township, there appeared 150 names which were twice on the lists, for either the town or the township. Over 3 per cent had been added farm and the workshop. They were to the list for Port Dover. The stuffing new to the real business of war. Yet of the lists seems to have been general, in the first shock of battle, against a as the examples taken haphazardly terrific onslaught, they stood their show. In the Province of Nova Scotia, the census in several localities gave a decrease in the total population and a large increase in the school population. Were the parents fewer and the fam-lies larger? There is a notable difference in the methods adopted of taking the census. In 1891, the names were taken, but no addresses, so that the matter of investigating is very difficult. The chief source of inquiry regarding any irregularities is the evidence given by responsible persons living in the particular localities. In the census of 1901, not only the names, but in the case of inherent in the moral qualities of a cities the street and number, were given, and in rural localities the concession and lot number, so that any inquiry that might be found necessary afterwards is a comparatively easy

> No one pretends to question the statement that the past five years of Liberal rule have been years of prosperity. When the facts are fully revealed there is little doubt but that we have had a corresponding increase in our population. The census of 1891 evidently gives but very little clue to the situation of a decade ago.

Fruit in the Northwest.

The annual report of the Western sible results obtainable with the means | Horticultural Society shows that at were 47 exhibits of standard apples, 8 of hybrids and 18 of crabs, besides a large number of seedling and other plums. It has been demonstrated that apples and plums can be grown in Manitoba, though requiring more care than in Ontario. But it may be that as the country is settled up and tree shelter is generally provided for orchards, the Northwest will find it much easier to produce fruit. Students of our early history will remember when it was thought that fruit could not be grown in Northern Ontario, and when it was even held by United States horticulturists that peach growing could not be profitably undertaken much north of Rochester, N. Y. Now we have several magnificent peach districts in this Province, and no finer plums are grown anywhere than in the Owen Sound region of Georgian Bay, while splendid crops of strawberries and raspberries are raised in the valley of the Beaver River, Grey county. So the Northwest so the assistant both goes in and goes may yet produce fruit that will surprise the world. It now yields much excellent wild fruit.

One Passenger Killed and Five Ditched A Kingston Woman Burned to Death.

Lansing, Mich., April 6.-While Grand Trunk passenger train No. 6 was passing through Millets, a tank station, seven miles west of here, early today, the rear coach and the Pullman sleepers were thrown off the track. One person was killed and five were injured.

TERRIBLE DISASTER AT GLASGOW!

At International Association Football Game.

Grand Stand Collapsed and Hundreds Fell Sixty Feet.

Twenty-One Persons Killed and Two Hundred and Fifty Injured-Other Cable News.

Glasgow, April 6.-The casualty list of the disaster at Ibrox Park, where a number of persons were killed or injured by the collapsing of a spectators' terday afternoon, between England and Scotland, has been completed today. The disaster resulted in the ulation marched in procession past the death of 21 persons and the injuring of 250. Nearly 200 of the latter were so seriously hurt that they were taken to infirmaries for operations and treatment, where 150 of them still remain. Several more deaths undoubtedare besieged by friends and relatives of the victims of the disaster, and heartthe names of those who died today were posted outside the buildings. The action of the authorities at Ibrox Park in averting a more general panic by permitting the game to proceed, while they encouraged the impression that the accident was not serious is now generally condemned. The incongruity of the yells of applause mingling with the groans of the struggling sufferers will never be forgotten by those who witnessed the scene at the rear of the struggle of the crowds which gathered at Ibrox Park today to witness the last international association football contest between teams from England and Scotland, caused the collapse of a portion of one of the spectators' terraces. An investigation into the causes of the disaster shows that the breakdown of the terrace had begun before the structure was subjected to its severest strain, and it is now believed that the final collapse was caused more directly by the efforts of those nearest the first break than by the additional weight of those who rushed upon the stand from below. The terrace, although supported by iron girders, swayed and cracked ominously under the movements of its frantic occupants. The fallen portion is 100 feet long, 30 feet wide and contained twelve tiers of seats. The injured in many cases were lying five and six deep. One man hung by his boot, which caught in a splintered beam, head downward, 50 feet above the ground. Finally his boot was cut and the man dropped into a sheet

The details of Lord Kitchener's battle with Gen. Delarey and the heroic stand made by the Canadians are still meagre, with Gen. Delarey and the heroic stand made by the Canadians are still meagre, but the government has supplied a belated record of crime, and executions of the so-called Australian officers in Pietersburg. The story is a terrible one, and might have been told months ago. The blundering war office even now does not clear up the mystery, but contents itself with half truths. Ironical is the sequel to the arguments used by military men after the fall of Pretoria, that Lord Roberts was too soft and merciful for the business in hand, and that Lord Kitchener was cold-blooded, and not embarrassed with sentiment. Lord Kitchener's inflexible strenuousness has been reserved for the miscreants of the South African irregular corps, who have disgraced the British uniform by wanton murders and atrocities. Mr. Brodrick, after suppressing the information as long as possible, has blurted out many facts on the eve of the reassembling of parliament.

The London Brewers' Association and other powerful liquor dealers' organizations throughout the country are watching the case closely. Their representatives declare, in interviews, that the Glasgow magistrates had no more right to demand the dismissal of barmaids than to insist on the potmen wearing blue ties. Most of the temperance societies are rejoicing over the developments at Glasgow, but apparently they are not unanimous, for the British Women's Temperance Association opposes the restrictive legislation, and has adhered to this view, in spite of the suggestions of the kindred society in America, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, that bar-

This morning's mail brought letters to this city from Newcastle, South Africa, the base of the operations which included last Monday's battle at Hart's River. Among them was one from Jack Gunn, who is reported severely wounded. The letter is given below. "Teddy" and "Sue" of whom he speaks are Edgar Barnes and Fred Morrow, the two other London boys who gave up the medical course at the Western | the fortune of war. The town was in mourning and practically the entire popour own town. Went aboard at 12 o'clock, and we left Halifax at 2:15, slowly steaming out to sea, amid the cheers of the people and the roar of the whistles from the tug-boats which lined the harbor. We were out to the open sea in about an hour and I began to get dizzy, and knew it was all off with the boy. I legal struggle, in anticipation of which went upstairs and when I arrived there I saw Teddy hanging on to the rail. I hunted around for "Sue" and found him lying on the deck very sick.

This place is a beautiful site for a camp, and from our camp we can see formation from a native, who was through the siege. The town lies in a in this country. necessary equipment. We are now fairly well settled, and We have about fifteen patients to look after at present. Our hospital will be lighted with acetylene, and that will be more than any of the other field hospitals have. On Saturday we were revewed by Kitchener and his staff, and he told us he could never forget the work of the colonials in this campaign. I was much surprised, because he was very jolly, and in his pictures he has that stern, hard look. After a while I was better, but in no condition for supper. It was very cold, and I had to look after Sue and Teddy. so that they would not be exposed to the cold. They both were very sick for about a week, and I had by troubles getting food which was suitable

We had a very pleasant voyage, and we had no storms during the passage. It did me a world of good, and I only wish it was twice as long. We had quite a number of cases of smallpox on board, but when we arrived at Cape Town they were all put ashore, and up to date no more cases have broken out. We had lots of work during the voyage, and we had to disinfect the sleeping quarters four or five days. This is sloppy work, but it had to be done in order to stamp out the smallpox. It was brought aboard by an Indian, who belonged to Cadey Callahan's scouts. I guess you have heard of Callahan. as he is one of our best Canadian scouts. He has been out before, and while on guard at Pretoria, Lord Roberts came over to see the colonel, and he was halted by Callahan, who refused to let him inside of the lines. Lord Roberts told him who he was, but Casey said he did not give a —, and immediately called the guard. He then went in and told the colonel that "Old Roberts" was out there and wanted to pass the lines. The colonel very nearly took a fit, and told Casey to him in. Casey was reprimanded for this, but was obeying orders. He was given some title, which I cannot recall just now. He also captured eight Boers remedy you require. single-handed, and with a loaded rifle marched them into camp.

We arrived at Cape Town on the 21st of February, and I was aroused out of peaceful nap by cheers on the deck. I woke Teddy, and we went on deck, and sure enough we were lying at anchor near the town. It was one of the most beautiful sights I ever witnessed, and by far surpassed my idea of an African moonlight. This was about 3 in the morning, and I went back to bed, and in the morning I went again on deck, to see the town by daylight. All you could see was the top of the mountain, but as the sun rose, it lifted the heavy mist and we then perceived the town in the distance.

About 10 o'clock the health officer noon for Durban, and arrived there at 6:30 Monday, 24th of February. We did

Everything was hurry and bustle, and when we received orders to disembark, cheers were heard from all quarters. We left the vessel at 6:30 Tuesday night, and after a lunch we boarded a train at 8:30 for Newcastle. The first place of importance in our trip was Pietermaritzburg, and here we watered and fed our horses. The next stop was Mori River, where we had dinner, but were not allowed to Minnehaha... leave the train. The next place was St. Louis.... Highlands, where we crossed an armored train which had 300 Boer prisoners on board. It was a motley company, composed of young boys, who seemed not to have the strength to hold up a rifle; young, stalwart men in the prime of life, who chatted merrily to one another; and what seemed saddest of all, old gray-headed men, who, most likely, were the first settlers of their own

A Physicians Testimony For Labatt's Stout.

Dear Sir :-ALEXANDRIA, DEC., 20th. 1901. Speaking from personal experience I can state that your Stout is excellent in building up the system-I was very much run down and was advised to use Labatt's Porter-this I have done for some time and I largely attribute to its effects my steady improvement in strength and weight. I deem it but justice to you, and it certainly is a pleasure to me, to add my testimony to its sterling qualities, and I gladly recommend your Stout as an excellent tonic and food in cases where such is required. IOHN LABATT, Esq., Brewer,

Yours truly, G. S. TIFFANY, M.D.

70,000 SPECTATORS. When the game began 70,000 spectators were on the ground, and an immense crowd had gathered outside. Being unable to obtain admittance, this crowd broke down some of the barriers and swarmed upon the field whereupon the police charged, and drove the intruders back upon the terraces and seats, with the result that the railings dividing the crowds were broken and the people were thrown over each other.

A hundred of the most seriously injured were carried to the pavilion, and to spaces in the rear of the stands. A majority of the victims are suffering from broken ribs and fractured limbs, while some sustained internal injuries. Those most severely hurt were later removed in ambulances to infirmaries, and the lesser sufferers were sent in cabs to surgeries.

The construction of a double-track rapid transit tunnel from a point near the city hall in Manhattan to a point near the borough hall in Brooklyn, by the most direct route possible, has been suggested as a provision for the future that should be planned without delay. Such a tunnel would cost about $2,000,000, it is said, a mere fraction of the cost of enlarging the terminal facilities of the Brooklyn bridge, according to the plan recommended by Bridge Commissioner Lindenthal and it would relieve the pressure upon the Brooklyn bridge to an extent immeasurably greater than would be possible increase in the terminal facilities of the bridge.

Bad Complexion Has Its Cause in Impure or Impoverished Blood.

To have a soft smooth skin, free from eruptions and unsightly blemishes, the blood must be maintained in a healthy condition.

Face powders, lotions and other toilet preparations may for a short time cover up a multitude of wrongs in the blood, but they cannot remove these red disfiguring pimples that are the bane of so many young ladies'

lives. Why not use Ferrozone? It is an unfailing cure for the worst kind of skin disease, the most effective of skin blood purifiers, and cures bad complexion by removing its cause. Ferrozone invigorates and purifies enfeebled blood. Makes it strong, rich and red. Ferrozone puts power into the blood to nourish the body and all its organs. It is a regulator of rivaled as a remedy for female dis-

These are the calloused places, the tired, painy, overworked surfaces.

Nature intended that the whole area of the foot sole should support the body, as a child's foot on sand, an Indian's in a moccasin.

The RESILIA is the only shoe which distributes pressure evenly over the foot sole.

It supports the arch, eases the tired spots, and reduces greatly the labor in walking, as well as minimizing the strain on upper leather and sole of the shoe. Observe foot sole, lower shoe.

A HEARTY INDORSATION

From Superintendent Boettger of Ottawa's Higienic Institute.

Mr. Constantin, V. S. Boettger, superintendent of Ottawa's Hygienic Institute, is one who years ago realized what an important bearing pure foods have upon the general health. As a consequence, Mr. Boettger has given the matter much careful consideration, and as he is in a position to do this more successfully than almost any other man in the Dominion, the results of his deliberations are deserving of more than ordinary attention. With Mr. Boettger it has not only been necessary that a food should taste good. He wanted to know the specific reasons for its being appetizing, wholesome and nutritious. Consequently, he went right to the fountain head and inquired into the manufacture. Four years ago he commenced using the foods of the Battle Creek Sanitarium Health Food Company. He became fully acquainted with great care exercised in the manufacture of these goods, and knew that no efforts were being spared to improve and bring them to a state of absolute perfection. At the end of these four years, Mr. Boettger sends the following letter. It proves that these foods will stand the crucial test of time as no other foods will.

"Ottawa, Jan. 31, 1902. "Battle Creek Sanitarium Health Food

I have used your preparations for over four years, and that with the most catisfactory results. # DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

We leave Mr. Demers to describe his own case as he wrote it in a letter to us. Few human beings are ever called upon to suffer as he did from kidney disease. You cannot wonder at it that he is now enthusiastic in the praise of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They have given him a new lease of life. Mr. S. O. Demers, Conception Station Labelle county, Que., writes: "I am writing you in order that others who suffer as I did may profit by my experience. For three years I was obliged to give up all work on account of severe pains in my loins, back and sides. I had become so stiff in my body that I could not lean over without suffering the most excruciating "I consulted several doctors and specialists, but all of them pronounced me incurable, and could not even give me relief. One had me incased in plaster in order to support the body, for I suffered dreadfully, but this only gave me temporary relief, and I thought myself condemned to die without being able to find a cure. "About this time I received one of Dr. Chase's books, and found my caxe described exactly. The sample of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which came with this book gave me marked relief so I bought some more and continued the treatment. Gradually the sharp pains in the back and sides grew less severe, and my bowels became regular and active—constipation had been one of my worst symptoms.

"I had also suffered from indigestion and gas on the stomach, paint between the shoulders, in the back oins and sides, frequent desire to urinate, and pain in making water, stiffness of the body, and all the suffering accompanying derangement of the liver and kidneys. "Since using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills these ailments have be come less and less, until now the have entirely disappeared. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kid ney-Liver Pills, and they have done s much for me that I cannot say enoug in their praise. The people in thi county are surprised to see me so we again, and no wonder, for my cur has been almost miraculous."
