The Senecal Scandal

The Superintendent's Friend Dansereau on the Stand.

A Gilt-Edged Certificate of Chapleau's Immaculate Character.

The Senate's Draft Report on the Baie des Chaleurs Business.

PRINTING BUREAU BOODLE.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The most interesting witness before the Public Accounts Committee this morning was J. Brooks Young, president of the New England Paper Company, who very reluctantly swore that he had a letter from Mr. Chapleau about the agreement with Mr. Berthiaume, but declared positively that it was not a promise that the corrupt "promise" to divide profits on Government work would be carried out.

Mr. Lister insisted that he come back again and produce that letter.

THE KEEWATIN CHARGES.

The first hour and a half was wasted in winding up the Keewatin charges against Lieut.-Gov. Schultz. The room was crowded to hear the developments of the Printing Bureau scandal, and waited with little patience through the scraps of evidence in this uninteresting case. Lieut.-Gov. Schultz looked after his own case, and badgered the witnesses right royally. A funny incident was the admission by a witness, that he was sent up to a part of the district to put down the illicit sale of liquor, and that he took by permission of Lieut.-Gov. Royal two gallons of assorted liquors on this trip.

THE SENECAL SCANDAL.

Mr. J. Y. Reid, ex-city printer of Toronto, and of the firm of Buntin, Reid & Co., was the first witness in the Senecal matter. He stated that he did not know of Morgan's payments to Senecal until long afterwards. He would not have allowed it had he known. He never paid such a sum to the extent of 5 cents before.

Mr. Dansereau, Montreal's postmaster, was the next witness. Before being made postmaster he had no particular business, being engaged in different enterprises. He had known Senecal for some six or seven years. A couple of Senecal's friends wanted him to use his influence with Mr. Chapleau to get Senecal appointed as manager of the Printing Bureau. He wrote to Chapleau about it, but never spoke to him about it.

Mr. Lister brought out the fact that he saw Mr. Chapleau nearly every day, but he denied having spoken to him about it. "I never take any interest in any appointment," he said. Mr. Dansereau told of going to New York for Mr. Chapleau, and in his name telling the New York firms not to pay commission to anyone. The men he saw there were strangers, but he told them within his conversation of twenty minutes or so that if he was paid commission Mr. Chapleau would cancel the order.

Mr. Lister took him around the different printing material companies in New York and got the same story. In regard to the Hoe and the Potter people, each of them told him (Dansereau) that their practice was not to pay commissions in dealing with Washington, but to subscribe to the general organization of the party. Mr. Dansereau said that everything of that kind would be grateful, but it must be paid to the general organization of the party.

"You knew that Senecal would have the buying to do?" asked Mr. Lister.

"Yes," said the witness.

"Well, you did not think that the honest Senecal would charge commission did you?"

"No."

"Then why did you warn those people not to pay commission?"

"Mr. Chapleau told me to," was the answer, and he explained that Mr. Chapleau said that the paying of commission was a common practice with the Americans, and he did not want it to take place here. This is the only part he ever took in the matter—not even telling Mr. Chapleau about his interviews in New York when he came back.

"Now, Mr. Dansereau, did you not suggest commission to the Hoe people?" asked Mr. Lister.

"No," replied the witness. "I told them nothing was to be paid except to the regular organizations of the party."

SIR HECTOR TO BE WHITEWASHED.

[Associated Press Dispatch.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The sub-committee in the Tarte-McGreevy Committee met this afternoon. Two reports will be brought in, one whitewashing Sir Hector. The main committee will meet to-morrow.

CABINET REORGANIZATION.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Reports of a redistribution of high positions held by the French-Canadian members of the party are in circulation. It seems settled that Mr. Lacoste, Speaker of the Senate, is to get the chief justiceship of the Court of Queen's Bench of Quebec, vacated by the death of Sir A. A. Dorion, and Senator De Boucherville will be the next Speaker of the Senate. The permanent retiring of Sir Hector Langevin and the heavy cloud hanging over Mr. Chapleau has led to much speculation as to how the Quebec end of the Cabinet is to be reorganized. The only scheme which the Quebec remnant have ventured to suggest is that Lieutenant-Governor Angers should resign and come up to Ottawa in Sir Hector's place, in case Langevin is whitewashed and made Lieutenant-Governor, and his son-in-law, Judge Cimon, raised to the Court of Appeals.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The finding of facts in the Senate Committee's draft report recites the circumstances of the organization of the original Baie des Chaleurs Company and its efforts to build the road. The failure of the negotiations between the Quebec Government and John J. McDonald for the completion of the road and the subsequent arrangement between Mr. Angus M. Thom and the Government are set forth with the dealings of Messrs. Armstrong and Pacaud. The report says: On the 28th April, 1891, a statement of estimates of work done and accounts remaining unpaid to C. N. Armstrong in accordance with the terms of his contract with the company was certified to by L. J. Riopel, managing director, and L. A. Robitaille, secretary-treasurer of the company, showing a total of $298,943. No such sum was due to C. N. Armstrong by the company. With regard to the letters of credit for $175,000 the report says: As C. N. Armstrong contends that the $175,000, the amount of such letters of credit, was payable to him and was paid to him, he being entitled thereto out of the converted subsidy. The said C. N. Armstrong was not entitled to be paid any amount out of such subsidy of $280,000, and the sum of $175,000 was so paid to him only in consideration of his promise to pay and payment to Ernest Pacaud of $100,000 out of the said $175,000. The report finds that the proceeds of the letters of credit, amounting to $175,000, has been applied as follows: Paid to the promoters of the old company, $71,750; paid C. N. Armstrong, $1,164; paid James Cooper, $2,250; paid Hon. Honore Mercier and Ernest Pacaud, and in retiring personal obligations of Hon. Honore Mercier, Hon. C. A. P. Pelletier, Hon. Chas. Langelier, Hon. Francois Langelier, J. I. Tarte, Ernest Pacaud and others $54,700; bank discount, $1,435 76; there has been drawn upon the banks in addition by checks of Ernest Pacaud, $44,752 60; total $175,000. Upon the above facts the report says: "And upon the evidence, oral and written, produced in support of them, your committee find that out of the said sum of $280,000 the company was illegally deprived of the sum of $175,000, which was appropriated and disposed of as above stated, and that the assets of the company applicable to the payment of its debts and the completion of the railway have been improperly and illegally diminished to the extent of the said sum of $175,000. The charges made by Mr. Francois Langelier that $118,000 of the subsidies granted by the Dominion Government were embezzled by the old company are said to have no foundation so far as the evidence produced before the committee is concerned.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS.

It is understood that the new clauses to be added to the bill will give the company possession of the railway, but gives Macfarlane a first preferential claim on that part of the road between Metapedia and Cascapedia. If, however, the company deposit $180,000 in a bank to the joint credit of the general manager of the Ontario Bank and the president of the company to pay any judgment Macfarlane may obtain, then his preferential claim shall cease to exist.

NOT BUILT THAT WAY.

The Mail's Ottawa special says: The scandal inquiries will be resumed to-day (Thursday), when important new developments are promised. There is a good deal of surprise that the Government has not given evidence of its intention to clean up the service by prosecuting such of the delinquent officials as have been guilty of offenses which violate the criminal law. An immigration officer in Winnipeg, charged with direct fraud, and a customs official, alleged to have embezzled, have not been proceeded against. It is reported now that prosecutions may yet be commenced.

NOTES.

The Tarte sub-committee met this morning, but it came to no conclusions whatever.

Mr. Peter Crosby, manager of the Dominion Type Foundry, has returned from Vancouver to give evidence before the Public Accounts Committee in connection with the Printing Bureau scandals. Mr. Crosby's evidence is expected to be very interesting.

OVER THE FALLS!

Two Young People Plunge into Niagara's Torrent.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 11.—Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday an unknown woman, well dressed and about 25 years of age, threw herself into the rapids a short distance above Prospect Park. A gentleman named Caheim, of Philadelphia, sprang into the water and made a brave attempt to save the woman, but she resisted his efforts, and the struggle only ceased when they were near the brink of the Falls, and Caheim was only able to save himself by grasping some hanging branches.

Only a couple of hours later a party on Luna Island was startled to hear a young man near them say, "I'm going, good bye!" and turning they saw him spring into the swiftly running water, and in a moment he disappeared over the falls. His name is said to be Albert Heimlich, a barber, lately arrived at the Falls from New York. These two cases of premeditated suicide are as yet wrapped in mystery. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

Suicide of a Professor.

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 11.—John F. Cox, 77 years old, committed suicide Wednesday night by throwing himself from a third-story window. His neck was broken. On the lapel of his coat was pinned a note, in which the old man bade good-bye to his friends and stated his resolve to end his life. He was formerly professor in a Canadian college.

Russia Resolves.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A dispatch from Bateum says: "Shipments of war stores have traversed the Dardanelles this year. All volunteer crussers have taken heavy guns for fortifying Vladinostock. Several foreign vessels have been chartered to carry stores and munitions. The diplomatic triumph of the Russian ambassador at Constantinople shows plainly how Russia is paving the way to achieve her long cherished ambition—the possession of Constantiaople.

Rev. Mr. McQueary Must Recant.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 11.—In the case of Rev. Mr. McQueary, of Canton, Ohio, who was suspended from the university for six months, to be deposed at the end of that time if he still refused to recant his heterodoxy, Bishop Leonard (Episcopalian) decides that the sentence be perpetual suspension until Mr. McQueary shall recant. This, while it leaves the accused still a minister, prevents him from preaching until he has conformed to the bishop's order.

Anglo-Canadian Trade.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The exports to Canada last month were £56,258—a decrease of 19 per cent. as compared with the same month last year. For the eight months from January, 1891, the exports were £3,441,053—an increase of 1½ per cent. over the same period in 1890. The imports from Canada during the month of August were £1,700,000—a decrease of 5.18 per cent. over the same period of last year. During the eight months from January, 1891, the imports amounted to £5,000,316—an increase of 1 per cent. over the same period of 1890. For the month of August this year the lumber imports from Canada decreased to the extent of $350,000 compared with August, 1890.

In Half a Minute!

Short But Severe Earthquake in San Salvador.

Whole Towns Wiped Out of Existence

By the Undulations of the Earth—Large Number of Lives Lost.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A special from San Salvador says: Millions of dollars worth of property and many lives were destroyed in this Republic by earthquake to-day. Whole towns were wiped out. The awful facts of the convulsion are nearly as follows:

THE OPENING SHAKE.

At just 1:55 this morning the earth began to shake, and people rushed into the streets. The shock was only twenty seconds in duration. While it lasted the earth rose and fell in long waves and strong men were unable to keep their feet. The panic-stricken people flocked to the open ground outside of the city; temporary shelters were thrown up wherever possible, but nearly all the men and a great many of the women and children had only the sky for a cover.

TOWNS DESTROYED.

The towns throughout the country have suffered more severely than the capital even.

Analquito and Comasagua have been completely destroyed.

Cojutepeque, Seruta, Tecka, Sanpedro and Masahuet were so badly shaken that they are practically ruined.

The shock was plainly felt, and damage was done by it at Santa Ana and Susimtehegue, fully 60 miles from here.

THE LOSS OF LIFE.

It is impossible at this writing to form any idea as to the number of lives which have been lost.

COL. CANTO.

The Leader of the Victorious Congressional Army in Chili.

Col. Canto is 50 years old. He commanded a battalion in the war with Peru and greatly distinguished himself. To his military tact, bravery and ability as a leader in that war he owed his promotion to the rank of colonel. He is one of the most able officers of the army. He is short of stature and of swarthy complexion. When trouble was brewing between Balmaceda and his Congress Col. Canto proposed a toast to the constitution and the three powers it established—the legislative, the executive and the judicial. Balmaceda ordered his arrest and Canto suffered several months' imprisonment, and was finally sent to the north of Chili in exile. When the revolution broke out Canto escaped and immediately joined the Congressional party and was put at the head of the fast-forming army. The wisdom of the choice had been apparent. He felt that he was leading one of the most righteous revolutions that ever took place in South America. He fought as he felt. He will now undoubtedly be promoted to the full rank of general. While he will not be the highest in rank, there being several veteran generals still alive, he will be the idol of the country.

BUILDINGS BURNED.

The North American Mill Building at Stratford Destroyed.

STRATFORD, Sept. 11.—About 8 o'clock last evening flames were seen bursting from the roof of one of the buildings of the North American Mill Building Company, which is used for storing second-hand mill machinery and old patterns. The city fire brigade, assisted by the mill company's brigade, soon had water pouring on the building, and succeeded in confining the fire to the one structure, which was soon burned to the ground. The main buildings of the company were for a long time in danger, as well as the storehouse of Thos. Ballantyne & Sons, which contained about $200,000 worth of cheese. Several G. T. R. cars standing on a branch track near the burning building took fire, but was hauled out of danger. The loss is estimated at $2,000, the insurance upon which is distributed between the Phœnix, Royal, Lancashire, Citizens', Perth Mutual and Guardian Insurance Companies. The fire will not interfere in any way with the business of the company.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Sept. 10.—The farm buildings of John Van Nest, sen., Darlington, west of the village of Solina, including all of this season's hay and grain, were entirely destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, about $4,000; insurance, $1,500.

NIAGARA, Ont., Sept. 10.—The ball room adjoining the Queen's Royal Hotel was damaged by fire yesterday. Loss, $300. The hotel has just been closed for the season, and no guests were in the place at the time.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 10.—A business block on Front street, owned by H. H. Leavens and D. R. Leavens, and tenanted by Mr. McMullen, grocer; James Young, grocer, and H. K. Smith, photographer, was slightly, and the stock within it severely damaged by fire yesterday. Loss, $4,000; insured.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

SUGAR NOT FREE.

The Proposal to Further Reduce the Sugar Duties Voted Down.

Poor Mr. Chapleau Loses His Temper Once More.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—In the House to-day there was an interesting debate on the sugar duties. It came up on Mr. Foster's motion for the third reading of the bill respecting duties and customs. Mr. Paterson (Brant) moved an amendment "that the bill be not now read a third time, but that it be referred back to the Committee of the Whole to annul item 3 of the section so as to provide that all sugars of No. 16 and under Dutch standard be admitted free of duty, and that the duty on all sugar over No. 16 Dutch standard in color be reduced to 5-10 of a cent per pound." He wished to have this done, because fixing the standard of free sugar at 14 Dutch standard at present was virtually prohibiting all sugar fit to use on the table. Sixteen was the standard admitted into the United States, and of all above that they only charged half a cent per pound duty. If this was sufficient protection for American manufacturers it should suffice for Canadians. He quoted Senator Drummond as saying that if he had free raw sugar, as is now the case, he could make sugar as cheaply as in England. With the protection on refined now given, on the 253,000,000 pounds now consumed in Canada, the refiners had been given a clear gift of $1,000,000 at the expense of the people.

Mr. Stairs said he supported the arrangement of the Finance Minister in order to benefit the West Indies trade. The Canadian refiners could manufacture sugar as cheaply as the United States refiners, but they needed more protection, because they had not as large a market.

Sir Richard Cartwright—Hear, hear.

Mr. Stairs, continuing, said that if there was a small extra protection the Canadian refiner did not benefit to a proportional extent, because the freights on raw sugar to Canadian ports were higher than to New York.

Mr. Charlton held that the present standard and tariff debarred such good raw sugars as are produced in Porto Rico and Demerara. Had the Government seen fit to raise the standard of free sugar to No. 16 Dutch standard the people would enjoy the benefit of purchasing from the West Indies. It would also have the effect of compelling refiners to sell yellow sugar at lower rates. Half a cent a pound protection would be ample for Canadian refiners. The House represented 5,000,0000 people, and not four or five sugar refiners. It should protect the interests of those 5,000,000 and not put them in the power of a monopoly.

Mr. Wood (Westmoreland) argued that sugar was dearer in Canada because the refiners had only a limited market. If the duty on refined sugar were lowered United States sugar would be sold at too cheap a rate in Canada; it would be "slaughtered" in fact.

Mr. McMullen said that the Government intended to extort $600,000 a year more from the people of this country than was necessary. The Minister of Finance must have been grossly deceived when he stated that the effect of the sugar duties would be to give the people free sugar. Instead of giving the consumer free sugar, as the Minister claimed, he allowed the refineries to draw from the people $1,800,000 a year to keep their refineries in operation. The consumer was being fleeced both in buying and selling. It reminded him of a darkey who, being asked the reason for his remarkable success in trapping coons, said he set his trap to "ketch 'em gwine an' cumin'," and so the Minister of Finance had set his trap to catch the consumer buying and selling. (Applause.)

Mr. Kaulbach said he had had money in a sugar industry in Halifax and lost every dollar of it. He had invested again and had not received as large profits as he expected.

Mr. Christie said that he held that all the prime necessaries of life should be free. He would therefore have preferred that the amendment had gone further and made sugar absolutely free. However, it was a long step, and as such he would vote for it.

Mr. Kenny said this amendment was a step towards the assimilation of our tariff to that of the United States.

Mr. Casey called attention to the fact that the Finance Minister, from whose brain the sugar tariff was supposed to have come, had nothing to say in its defense. The only opposition to the amendment had come from gentlemen who were interested in the sugar refineries. The Finance Minister had made Senator Drummond and the honorable member for Halifax branch collectors of customs, with this difference, that the duties they collect go into their own pockets. He said there were clear traces that the percentage system had reached the tariff; that this was no longer an N. P. but a 10 per cent. commission policy. What was the difference between the Government making the tariff and getting the election subscriptions from the manufacturers who benefited by it, and a Minister asking a Government contractor for a subscription to his election fund? Mr. Casey was going on to refer to Ministers making bargains with contractors when the Secretary of State, whose nerves were probably still tender as a result of the morning's committee work, asked: "Where are such bargains made?"

Mr. Casey told him to ask his "alter ego," Mr. Dansereau or Mr. Rolland. There were cries of "Order," to which Mr. Casey answered he was quite in order.

Sir Richard Cartwright reminded him of the president of the Montreal French Conservative Association, and Mr. Casey told Mr. Chapleau to ask Francois Benoit about such bargains.

To the cries of "Question, question" that the Conservatives raised, the member for West Elgin replied that he was speaking to the question of the Secretary of State.

"The transaction between a Minister who should make such a bargain with contractors," he proceeded, "is the same as that made by the Minister of Finance with those manufacturers whom he bonuses and from whom he then receives subscriptions for elections." (Applause.)

Mr. Chapleau, rising, called Mr. Casey to order. He said he had made a false insinuation and a false utterance.

Mr. Casey, in his turn, rose to a point of order. There was a tremendous uproar, but the member for West Elgin said the Secretary of State could not go on until he withdrew.

There was a pandemonium of desk rattling and cries of "Sit down," "Order," and "Chair." Mr. Casey, Mr. Chapleau and Deputy Speaker Bergeron, who gets entangled whenever he is called upon to rule, wrangled for some minutes.

Mr. Casey demanded that the Secretary of State withdraw his plainly unparliamentary language.

Mr. Chapleau declared he would not, and Mr. Deputy Speaker did not want to compel him, and yet had not much of a loophole. He told Mr. Casey he had been out of order in speaking of contracts. He would not say the words of the Secretary of State were Parliamentary, but he thought there was provocation for them. This wouldn't do, and Mr. Casey demanded that a straight decision be given.

The Deputy Speaker tried a compromise. If Mr. Casey would withdraw his remarks he would ask the Secretary of State to withdraw.

This would not do either. Sir Richard Cartwright said there could be no compromise ruling. During this time there was almost continual uproar.

Mr. Chapleau said that if Mr. Casey had meant him his insinuation was false.

Mr. Casey said the cap had evidently fitted. The expressions of both the parties to the dispute and the ruling of the chair were allowed to stand, and Mr. Casey concluded his speech without further interruption.

The House divided, with the following result: Yeas, 78; nays, 102. Majority, 24.

On motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Haggraft proceeded to bring up the matter of Cobourg harbor improvements, but at the suggestion of Sir John Thompson the matter was left over for investigation.

Upon the vote for $64,800, Mr. Featherstone said there should be another quarantine station. But at present, animals could only be sent into the States at Point Edward.

Mr. Haggart said the Imperial Government would not consent to two quarantine stations being established.

Mr. McMillan, before the estimates of the Department of Agriculture went through, referred at some length to the management of the Ottawa Experimental Farm, and criticised it severely. The barns, he said, were without conveniences and were designed to require the largest number of men to do the work. There was not a thoroughly practical man to manage the farm. He said he had never anywhere seen so much waste as on the farm. Perhaps Prof. Saunders and the Minister of Agriculture were trying to do what they could, but they were neither of them practical farmers.

The item of $11,650 for plant for the Printing Bureau was taken up. Mr. Chapleau said no one was appointed yet to the position of Mr. Senecal or Mr. Bronskill. The total cost of the plant was $180,000.

Mr. Mulock said he supposed the Secretary of State would take proper precaution that none of this money would go as some of the other did.

Mr. Chapleau—I have taken all precaution, and if any wrong was done—I do not say there was any wrong done—it will not be repeated.

Mr. Mulock asked—You do not think there was anything wrong in the commissions?

Mr. Chapleau—I don't say so. I can't speak of it. It is before a committee. I do not say there has been wrong, but I do say there has been no wrong done to the prejudice of the Government.

Mr. Mulock—We will discuss that later. Has the Secretary of State any tidings of the whereabouts of Senecal?

Mr. Chapleau—No, I have heard nothing, but I have been inquiring, and I hope to be able to let the committee know before long.

The committee and the House adjourned at 11:45 o'clock.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Mushrooms and Toadstools.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

As it is probable that a little more information about edible and non-edible toadstools may be useful, I beg to offer the following: The old saying that a mushroom is good to eat, and a toadstood is poisonous, is a misleading one. Every mushroom is a toadstool, and it will be well to discard all the traditional charms for testing them. Testing with a silver spoon will not reveal the amanita or any other poisonous toadstools. The safe rule is to discard all acquaintance with the amaniti and all other varieties that are not inviting to the eye, smell and careful taste in the spot upon which they grow. The amaniti are the handsomest and best decorated of the entire fraternity, but so poisonous are some members of the family that a piece the size of a pea will cause certain death. Remember that they can all be recognized by the ring or apron-like appendage round the stem, and the socket in the ground out of which the stem grows. Hasten slowly, discard all the amaniti, and test carefully all other varieties by cooking little pieces of them slightly over coals or in a buttered pan without seasoning. The clavirici or club-shaped toadstools abound in the woods from spring to autumn, and grow in tuffed masses of all colors resembling coral, deers' antlers or branched sponges. Some of these are tough and impossible of mastigation, others are tender and delicate as macaroni, and there is not a poisonous member in the family. The common puff-ball when young and white inside is excellent eating; there is a fungus to be found in the woods at Springbank, very delicious when cooked, and called the Morell, but I have not been able to obtain any of them. They are found there only in the early summer. Much more might be written, for this is a large and interesting subject, but I must not at present intrude further on your space. Yours truly,

T. ALLEN.

LESS ELECTRIC LIGHT.

One at Victoria Bridge to Come Down—Twenty Required for Ward Six—More Tenders Called for.

Aldermen F. J. Fitzgerald (chairman), Thomas, Skinner, Wyatt, W. W. and Jas. Fitzgerald attended a meeting of No. 3 Committee Wednesday. James Bell, who has been appointed secretary of committees, filled the position for the first time.

James Riddell asked for permission to dispose of washing machines on the market. The request was not granted on the ground that the market is not the place for such sales.

Tenders will be called for a new platform and steps at the south end of the market house.

An account from W. Ironsides, which has already been filed several times, was filed once more. Mr. Ironsides threatened to sue the Council if they did not pay the bill, as it has been standing six years.

Market Clerk Wilson said that trouble might be expected among some of the butchers in the market house. The cause of disturbance seemed to be that two of them wished to trade stalls, and the committee did not seem to think that they had anything to do with this.

Chief Roe stated that action should be taken towards heating No. 3 station at once. Tenders for a furnace will be called for.

Plans and estimates for a driving shed at the fire hall in ward 6 will be prepared at once. Chief Roe will procure 1,000 fire alarm cards and have them distributed.

One of the market bazar tenants, James Smith, asked permission to build an addition to the back of his shop. The Council will be recommended to grant the request.

Engineer Graydon will call for tenders for coal for the use of the police station and the fire halls.

Ald. Skinner brought up the electric light question. He was of the opinion that the light at Victoria Bridge should never have been placed there.

Ald. Wyatt—Then I move that the light at the hospital be removed.

The chairman—But we cannot move it. The Hospital Trust ordered it up.

Ald. Wyatt—What is the difference? We have to give the Trust the money.

The light at the hospital will remain but the other will be taken down.

The Council ordered the electric light poles to be painted some time ago, but it was never done. The committee will endeavor to discover the reason.

Ald. Thomas stated that South London needed at least twenty lights, as there were miles of streets without a single light.

Ald. Skinner and James Fitzgerald endeavored to bring up the question of electric lighting again, but it was voted down by Aldermen Wyatt, Thomas and W. W. Fitzgerald.

A bill of $58 from H. Boyd for work done at ward No. 6 fire hall was ordered to be paid. It was part of the contract of White Bros. The Council will settle the question of deducting the amount from White Bros.' account. Other accounts of the usual nature were passed.

TORONTO INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

COMPTON BROS.' UNIQUE EXHIBIT.

There are people who assert that each year's exhibition is a duplicate of its predecessors, but all such would soon find many things new, novel, useful and beautiful if they would only look carefully around. And in this connection the very pretty nook occupied by the goods of the above firm, which is under the management of Mr. Archie Christie, on the ground floor of the main building, may be mentioned as deserving of special notice of the ladies. The exhibit is made up of interior decorations, made out of crinkle and crepe tissue paper. The possibilities of paper decorations are truly wonderful, and no one visiting the Industrial Exhibition should fail to see this display. The colors are charming, and the different decorations simply marvelous. Crepe and crinkle tissue paper has only been introduced a short time, but it promises to revolutionize interior decorations. The exhibit is one of the novelties of the main building, and is well worth seeing. In a future issue mention will be made in detail of some of these creations of a new art. Visitors to the exhibition will consult their interests by calling on Mr. Christie. For sale by Reid Bros., wholesale, London, Ont. b

SECRET AND OTHER SOCIETIES.

ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.

The order generally in the city is making great preparation, for a large turnout on Societies' Day, and only fine weather is required to insure the success of this happy idea. There will be a meeting this evening in the rooms of Court Pride of the cominion, which will be attended by representatives from all A. O. F. lodges, when arrangements will be made to manage the order's portion of the affair in a systematic manner.

Court Brighton held one of the most important sessions in its history on Tuesday evening, when it was resolved to move into new quarters, and last evening the trustees with other officers met to draw up plans, and signed the lease at the same time. Bro. Jupp reported as a result of the church parade about $28 would be divided between the homes for old men and old women. The demonstration caused a deal of discussion, in which all heartily entered. Bro. D. Spence has been empowered to marshal the force and advise members in the science of marching.

The juvenile court in South London is prospering, and the circle of Companions of the Forest continues to increase in popularity, among the female portion of the ward especially.

As the cool weather approaches the lodge meetings are more largely attended and candidates are more readily obtained.

At the regular meeting of Court Forest Queen, A. O. F., held on Tuesday night, Bro. A. O. Jeffery, P.C.R., delegate to the High Court, read quite a lengthy report of the proceedings and was afterwards complimented by the members. Bros. Wilkins and Berry, P.C.R., also gave good reports of the High Court, after which the court adjourned and partook of refreshments. A goodly number of members and visitors was present to congratulate Bro. Jeffery on the honor bestowed upon him by the High Court in placing him in the position of High Court Senior Woodward. The party broke up at an early hour.

The delegates who represented the Companions of the Forest in South London and London West at the recent meeting in Woodstock, gave a full report of the proceedings at the last meeting of their respective circles.

Victoria Circle intends paying Forest Home a visit on the 18th.

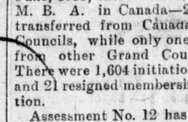

C. M. B. A.

From Jan. 1, 1891, to Sept. 1 there were 39 deaths in Canada. In January 6, February 4 March 3, April 4, May 4, June 7, July 3, August 8, and one-third of those deaths were from consumption.

On July 1, 1891, there were 6,783 C. M. B. A. members in good standing in Canada, and 119 under suspension. There were 5,137 in the $2,000 class, and 1,765 in the $1,000 class. During the year ending 30th June, 1891, there were 47 deaths in the C. M. B. A. in Canada—28 members were transferred from Canada to other Grand Councils, while only one was transferred from other Grand Councils to Canada. There were 1,604 initiations, 144 expulsions, and 21 resigned membership in the association.

Assessment No. 12 has been issued. It calls for the payment of 24 beneficiaries; 7 in New York State; 4 in Michigan; 4 in Pennsylvania; 1 in Ohio, and 8 in Canada.

INDEPENDENT ORDER ODDFELLOWS

The Oddfellows of Geneva, Switzerland, have adopted rules which require that committees of each lodge shall visit weekly every member who is in an asylum and alleged to be insane, shall secure his release if wrongly imprisoned, and if insane see that he is visited by a clergyman and in all respects properly treated, and where practicable secure his removal to a home hospital or sanitarium. It is proposed that the Freemasons, labor unions and all benevolent organizations shall join in the movement.

I. C. B. U.

A convention was held in the C. M. B. A. Hall, Hamilton, Saturday, of the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union for the purpose of forming a grand branch of the Union of Canada. Delegates from the following places were present: Kingston, Port Hope, Cobourg, Barrie, Toronto, Galt, Paris, Brantford, Hamilton, and Mr. Clark, the Toronto delegate to the Scranton, Pa., convention. The election of officers took place, with the following result: C. J. Lucy, Cobourg, grand president; P. Shea, Toronto, grand first vice-president; P. C. Halligan, Toronto, grand secretary; E. Skelly, Galt, grand treasurer. It was decided to hold the next convention and reunion in Cobourg in June, 1892.

ORANGE ORDER.

A Toronto dispatch says: Recently at a meeting of the Loyal Orange Brotherhood Lodge in this city, with Joseph Compton, W. M., in the chair, a report was submitted from a committee appointed to inquire into the usefulness and working of the order. This report affirmed that with regard to the working out of its avowed principles the order was nothing better than a living corpse. Orangeism, it said, is absolutely rotten and impotent for good under the present regime. A call is made to all true members of the order to cast out political schemers and traitors from their fold.

WAR!

A Frightful Thing to Contemplate

But the number of people slain in battle is a mere circumstance compared to those who succumb to the awful ravages of disease, which is hidra-headed in its effect. But nevertheless every disease "under the sun" is caused by acid, i. e., inflamation. The first thing to do to affect a cure is to reduce the inflammation; when this is done the disease ceases to exist. Curative Fluid and Curative Absorbent will neutralize the acid, thereby removing the inflammation that causes Catarrh, Bronchitis, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Ulcerated Throat, Eczema, Indigestion, and hundreds of other ills that flesh is heir to. Curative Fluid and Curative Absorbent at all druggists', or W. Y. Brunton, London.

A SIGNIFICANT REMINISCENCE.

The death of Ex-President Grevy, of France, revives the cause of his retirement from public life four years ago. Though twice elected president of his native land he was finally compelled to resign and his Government was overthrown because it was found that M. Wilson, his son-in-law, had been selling the Order of the Loyal Legion to rich Frenchmen. The President's enemies did not allege that M. Grevy shared in the boodle thus obtained, but they claimed that he must, in some measure, have been cognizant of the transactions.

In France, it seems, they overturn a government when its members are even remotely connected with boodling; in Canada, a section of the people is prepared on all occasions to be satisfied with promises that subordinate boodlers shall be punished, while the responsible heads of departments are either retained in their positions, or are temporarily retired, to be subsequently foisted into offices of public honor and emolument.

We confess to a liking for the French method. It is the more conducive to honesty in high places.

IMMIGRATION AND PROGRESS.

If all the money that has been squandered on boodlers during the last ten years had been judiciously expended for the encouragement of immigration the population of Canada would have made a much better showing in the census of 1891.—[Montreal Star.

The trouble with the immigration policy of the Dominion Government in the last ten years did not lie in the failure to spend plenty of money. Several millions of dollars in taxes were devoted to the sustenance of the Immigration Department. A great deal of the immense expenditure was no doubt squandered—even the London Free Press confesses that—but notwithstanding this lamentable fact, it is still on record that 800,000 persons were brought to Canada in the ten years. The trouble was that we did not manage to keep the new comers after they got here, or if we did at least an equal number of Canadians left the country.

If the money stolen in the boodling operations—amounting no doubt to millions of dollars—and the money squandered on immigration had been left in the pockets of the people for their own use and for the development of the country, there would have been a healthier condition of farming and of manufacturing; there would have been fewer commercial failures and more work for wage-earners, and it would not have been necessary to coax immigrants to Canada. The attractiveness of the country would have been sufficient to draw them here.

Good government pays; bad government can only lead to disaster.

ADJOURNMENT NOT IN SIGHT.

At one time it was expected that Parliament would rise by the middle of this month, but the ADVERTISER has intelligence from Ottawa that recent developments in the investigations now in progress and startling revelations yet to be made will necessitate the sitting of the House till the first week in October, and perhaps longer. If the business of the country had been properly managed by the well-paid Ministers who, as has been shown, have again and again bought their way into office, Parliament need not have remained in session longer than two months or ten weeks. Thus the expense to the taxpayers of misgovernment does not end with the boodling of the Administration and its subordinates. Every day that the members are engaged investigating and disposing of products of Ministerial mismanagement or worse, a large sum is added to the cost of popular government. There are men so blinded by party zeal as to say this is all right so long as the party leaders they have hitherto supported are the offenders; but to the great mass of the population it should be, if it is not, a serious question whether party fealty should be drawn upon to so serious an extent as to necessitate the condoning of robbery of the public purse, which we are all forced to aid in replenishing as occasion may arise. What resident of London or of any municipal corporation in Ontario would retain confidence in and vote for a mayor or councillor who had been proved to be a peculator, or a bosom friend of one who has shared with him funds stolen from the municipal treasury? Surely the robbery of the Dominion treasury, or the criminal squandering of Dominion funds for the benefit of party favorites, should be equally worthy of condemnation.

SUGAR AND JAM JARS.

During the three months from April 1 to July the United States people consumed 382,403,821 pounds more sugar than during the corresponding period in 1890. At the same time the demand for fruit jars, in consequence of the cheap preserving material, has been enormous. The cause of this big consumption of sugar in general use and fruit preserving is to be found in the cheapness of the sweetening. The duty was taken off, and instantly sugar was sold at the rate of $1 for 20 and 21 pounds granulated. There is a lesson here for Canadians. Our rulers were forced to follow the example of the United States, though they only took off the duty in part, leaving the refiners with a big advantage. But the sugar has been so cheapened in price that instead of twelve pounds being sold for $1 the purchaser now receives seventeen. The moral is easily applied. Reduce the taxes and you add to the comforts of the people by rendering commodities plentiful and therefore cheap. You increase employment in the refineries. You increase the number of persons required to handle the manufactured product. You have the consumers with more money in their pockets, with which they are able to purchase other commodities, and thus encourage those engaged in other manufactures. Reduced taxation, instead of being prejudicial to the people, is a positive benefit.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

MR. DAVIN, a Western Tory M. P., gives the most novel explanation of the slow progress of settlement of the prairies that has yet been brought forward. This standing applicant for a Cabinet position says that the reason why young men will not go farming in the Northwest, and prefer life in the large cities, lies in their possession of too much education! As if a farmer who wishes to make the most of his lands could be too well educated. "Abolish the schools!" should be the watchword of Mr. Davin, if he believes what he preaches.

ONE excuse for the small increase in the population of Canada is that the census of 1891 was taken more carefully than that of 1881. Here are illustrations given by a correspondent of the Stratford Beacon:

"The writer has a son in the United States, which has been his home for years, yet he was taken as a resident of our city. In three other families the same thing occurred. One had two sons permanently settled in the States who were counted in as part of our population. Another had a servant who was counted twice, being taken at her father's in Shakespeare Ward, and also where she was hired in Avon Ward! Then the family has a son who has resided permanently in Toronto, and he was counted in both places. Here are six mistakes in four families."

These enumerators must have served their apprenticeship in a Toronto lot-booming office.

THE CHOICE of Mr. Fassett, the recently-appointed customs collector at New York, as the Republican candidate for the Governorship of New York, may be unfortunate for President Harrison. Being a warm personal friend of the President, it is supposed that the nominee is favorable to the second-term idea, but if Mr. Fassett is defeated in the election next November, it will add to Mr. Harrison's troubles, already many. New York is regarded as a pivotal State in Presidential elections, though it has elected but two Republican Governors in 25 years, and the defeat of Mr. Harrison's candidate would be a set-back to him that he might find hard to overcome in a not too unanimous national convention, to say nothing of how it would operate in the event of the President's re-nomination.

CORRUPTION AT OTTAWA.

Further Declarations by Prominent Preachers of Canada.

Unanimous Admission that a Radical Change Must Be Effected.

Some Novel Suggestions Made for the Instruction of Electors.

Short and to the point have been the responses made by various leading clergymen to the request of the ADVERTISER that they state their views as to the best means for getting rid of the corruption in Government circles now shown to be shockingly prevalent. We give below another selection from the replies received:

* * *

[Rev. John Kay, Dundas, ex-President of Niagara Methodist Conference.]

I believe that the root of the difficulty lies largely, if not wholly, in the extreme partisan feelings which are dominant in this country. There is no guarantee that if any other party were in power, under the same conditions as to time, majority, the moral character of the men, and their circumstances, that there would be any less corruption of the same kind. The corrupting of public business men, and the electorate, should be a crime sufficient to disqualify from any public office, and to disfranchise those convicted of the same. As a cure, I would have the honest enforcement of a law to that effect; and, as a prophylactic, I would have honest men elect honest men independent of party lines, and would not allow any Government to hold office for a longer period than say ten years. We should have some independence about us as a people, some true patriotism, and statesman-like breadth of view on fiscal matters, and not be the slaves of a mere partisan alpha and omega in toto.

JOHN KAY.

[Rev. S. H. Kellogg, D.D., Toronto.]

1. Punishment of the guilty by imprisonment at hard labor, like other and smaller thieves. 2. A press that shall faithfully instruct people that morality, and in particular, honesty, in a public man, is of much more importance than that he should be of your party, and hold thieves up to public approbrium, irrespective of party. 3. Faithful application of the eighth commandment to duties of public officials.

S. H. KELLOGG.

* * *

[Rev. Geo. Douglas, LL.D., President Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal.]

In brief, the only cure is the merciless repudiation of all public men of damaged character and the education of constituencies to elect only men of exalted honor and fidelity to right and justice before party.

Truly yours, GEO. DOUGLAS.

* * *

[Rev. D. McCormick, Kingston.]

First of all an election and a redistribution of offices. The cure is a moral one and must be gradual. With the light of the pulpit and the press turned full on, there is no doubt but it will be perfect. To begin with, turn the nest upside down, and give it a vigorous shaking. D. MCCORMICK.

* * *

[Rev. W. S. Griffin, Stratford, ex-president Guelph Methodist Conference.]

Turn out the Tories, and put in the Reformers. Make it illegal for any one set of men to have the reins of Government for a period exceeding ten years.

W. S. GRIFFIN.

* * *

[Rev. Chas. E. Whitcombe, Hamilton.]

To educate the youth of the country on the basis of Christianity and religion, i. e., on the Ten Commandments, particularly "Thou shalt not steal."

CHAS. E. WHITCOMBE,
St. Matthew's Clergy House.

[Rev. J. W. Annis, Chatham.]

In reply to your kind request my opinion in brief for the best cure for the present-day political corruption is: For the honest men of both parties to unite and regardless of party interests to ferret out and remorselessly punish all dishonesty wherever found. For Christian people to take a more active part in political affairs and give up the absurd and sinful notion that politics are worldly and unholy and so leave them so far as they are concerned, the government of their country to the saloon and to the party machine. For men to carry their principles into politics and act with greater independence within party lines.

J. W. ANNIS.

* * *

[Rev. A. H. Munro, St. Thomas.]

As a cure for the prevailing political corruption I would suggest the following: 1. A complete reform of the whole civil service; competitive examinations for all positions; all appointments and promotions by merit. 2. The passage of a law making it a penal offense for any municipal, Provincial or Dominion functionary to accept pay or present from any contractor, etc., or for any interested party to offer such party a present. 3. All local functionaries to receive their appointments by vote of the electors of the county. 4. The introduction of a text book in morals into all our public schools.

A. H. MUNRO.

CAN'T BE THOUGHT OF.

[Philadelphia Times.]

Miss Kate Field's suggestion about knee breeches for women will not bear thinking about. How are the sidewalks to be kept clean if there are no long dresses to sweep them?

BURSTING OF THE BUBBLE.

[Toronto Labor Advocate.]

The publication of the census returns last week is the severest blow which has yet been dealt to the so-called National Policy of building up on the northern half of this continent a nation by antiquated tariff restrictions, coupled with enormous expenditures on unprofitable enterprises and the granting of wholesale monopoly privileges. In spite of the "encouragement" given to native industry by the protective tariff, the opening of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the granting of large areas of land in the Northwest to private corporations and the expenditure of many millions to assist immigration, the result is a complete and humiliating failure. The population has only increased in the course of ten years from 4,324,810 to 4,823,444.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

The close relations between the Canadian Pacific and the Vanderbilts, and the purchase of the Union Pacific by the latter, are causing much pondering in the minds of the people for some distance on each side or the boundary. With the great Canadian line controlling nearly everything on one side, and the great American line fast acquiring nearly everything on this side, what is to become of the people between the two corporations? There is, however, one pleasing side to the growing power of these railway companies, which should go far towards setting the public's mind at rest, and that is that neither of them will own and operate a line, be it ever so insignificant, which is not kept up to the highest point possible in the way of good road-bed and first-class equipment, thus rendering the life and property confined to their care as safe as possible.—[Detroit Free Press.

Grand Trunk Railway return of traffic for the week ending Sept. 5, 1891: Passenger train earnings, $152,953; freight train earnings, $247,322; total, $400,275. For same period in 1890: Passenger train earnings, $162,959; freight train earnings, $252,546; total, $415,505. Decrease for 1891, $15,230.

Sunol, 2:10½, is improving fast, and it is thought she will be in condition to make the attempt to beat the 2:08¾ before the end of this month.

The stallion Roy Wilkes paced a full mile in 2:13 on a muddy half-mile track in the presence of a large crowd at Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Mather, of Todmorden, went into his stable Monday morning with his gun loaded. The gun went off and killed Mr. John H. Taylor's trotting colt that was in training from his stables.

Buffalo races closed Wednesday. The winners were: Happy Day, Vosburg, Knapsack, Autocrat, Zed and Cyrus. Mr. Seagram's Beefeater was third to Knapsack and Fagot. Scratches were numerous, including Furnish, Tactician and Orinoco.

Faith is a great thing, and Leland Stanford has enough of it to transplant a small hill. He thinks that Sunol will lower the mile record to 2:06 this fall. Perhaps she may, but until she does it is well to bear in mind that the queen of the trotting turf is Maud S. still, and that the mile record is 2:08¾.

FOOTBALL.

Woodstock College Football Club has been reorganized with the following officers: President, Prof. Robertson; vice-president, J. B. Paterson; secretary-treasurer, J. McCaw; captain of first eleven, W. J. Goble; captain of junior eleven, J. A. DeCew; custodians, J. Watson and H. Tobb.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held Wednesday night for the purpose of starting a football club in Brantford. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Lyman Jones; honorary vice, E. L. Goold; president, Rev. Mr. Richardson; vice-president, J. J. Hunter; secretary-treasurer, A. Grant; executive committee, Rev. Mr. McFarlane, W. M. Muir, Fred Harris, A. Mackenzie, A. Campbell.

IN HARD LUCK.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Canadian-American footballers played the famous Bolton Wanderers yesterday, and though they didn't win the Wanderers couldn't beat them. The match ended in a draw, one goal each, but it should have been recorded a victory for the Canadians. They had a good second goal, but it was disallowed. The Canadians pressed all through and had much the best of the play, but failed to defeat their opponents only by very hard luck.

THE WHEEL.

Fifteen thousand persons witnessed the renewal of the old Springfield (Mass.) Bicycle Club tournament on Thursday. The one mile safety was won in 2:37 4-5, the fastest novice time ever ridden in competition. A. A. Zimmerman created a new half-mile world's record in the competition at 1:06 4-5.

The competition for the mileage medal presented by the road officers of the Forest City Bicycle Club to the member having the greatest number of miles to his credit has resulted in a tie between Mr. W. Holmes and Mr. G. Coleman. A five-mile race to decide the superiority of these two riders will be ridden on Queen's Park track on Monday afternoon immediately after the team race. An interesting race is looked for, as these two riders are very evenly matched.

The team race between the London 'Cycle Club and the Forest City Bicycle Club is creating more than a local interest. The teams are very evenly matched, and the riders will doubtless be closely bunched at the finish. Mr. W. Kingsley Evans has been chosen as referee and Mr. F. E. Karn as starter. The other officials will be chosen from the members of the contesting clubs. No doubt a large crowd will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this race Monday afternoon, it being the first of the kind ever held in the city.

RECORDS BROKEN.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 10.—In the one-mile tandem safety yesterday the world's record for the mile in competition was broken in a handsome race by Banker and Brinker, of Buffalo, although they didn't win the race, being scratch men. Their time was 2:30 4-5. A. B. Rich made a new American record for a two-mile race safety bicycle. He was a scratch man in the handicap, and his time was 5:11 1-5, lowering the previous record 12 seconds. He came in second. In the one-mile three minute class the last quarter was ridden in 31 1-5 seconds by F. Herman, which is a new quarter mile record for the solid tired wheel.

THOSE WHO ARE IN IT.

The following are the names of the teams who will represent the Forest City Bicycle Club and the London 'Cycling Club in the ten mile team race at Queen's Park on Monday, together with the distinguishing numbers they will wear on that occasion:

London 'Cycling Club.	Forest City Club.
1. R. J. M. Webbe.	2. J. A. Tune.
3. R. N. Brebner.	4. Alex. Milne.
5. H. Saunders.	6. H. White.
7. Thos. Knowles.	8. W. G. Owens.
9. W. E. Saunders.	10. W. Wigmore.

The first man in will count ten points for his team, the second nine and so on. The race will take place at 4:30 p.m. sharp, and will be sure to prove exciting, as both teams are training hard.

THE KENNEL.

At the Hamilton exhibition of dogs the following from London took prizes: Fox terriers, wire haired, dogs—1, Adswood Jem II., Battersby kennels; fox terriers, wire-haired, bitches—1, Repero Rosanna, Battersby kennels.

CRICKET.

The Winnipeg cricketers have returned home from Chicago. They defeated a combined Minneapolis-St. Paul team by eight wickets.

Lincoln and Welland counties were to play a return cricket match at Grimsby Wednesday, but the Niagara Falls contingent of the latter team failed to put in an appearance. Accordingly sides were arranged and a friendly but interesting game was played between St. Catharines and Grimsby against Thorold, Merritton and Welland, resulting in a victory for the former.

AQUATIC.

Ford Jones, of Brockville, lost both the canoe races for the international trophy at New York. T. E. Barrington was the United States representative. Jones lost his sliding seat in the first race.

BASEBALL.

Joseph Brandon, manager of the Maple Leaf Baseball Club, of Guelph, writes to the Grand Trunk Baseball Club, of this city, offering a game on Sept. 22 or 24 here. In case the match is arranged they might give a return match in Guelph the following week.

Galt's ball team was beaten at Tilsonburg Wednesday. The Blues knocked Cockman out of the box in three innings, and got altogether 26 hits, winning by 22 runs to 0.

Wednesday's National League ball scores were—Boston 14, Cleveland 10; New York 7, Cincinnati 3; Pittsburg 6, Philadelphia 5; Chicago 4, Brooklyn 2.

LACROSSE.

The Seaforth, Newmarket, Bradford and Toronto Athletics appeared on Rosedale Grounds, Toronto, Wednesday, to compete for the intermediate lacrosse championship, each of the four teams being champions in its respective district. In the first match Seaforth and Newmarket were the opposing teams, Seaforth won by three straight games. The Athletics and Bradfords lined up, and the Athletics won by 4 to 2. The winners in the morning match were to meet in the final struggle for the championship, and Seaforth and Athletics entered the field about 3:45. Both teams had two games to their credit when it became too dark to play any more. It was understood the match would be concluded this (Thursday) morning, but Seaforth is three men short and may not play.

The Thistles of Fergus, champions of the northwestern district, were prevented from playing for the intermediate pennant on Wednesday by the absence of four of their best men at camp with the Thirtieth Battalion in St. Thomas.

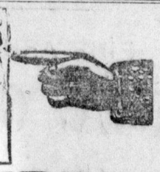

Business Blocked in Odessa.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A dispatch from Odessa says: The extraordinary fluctuations in roubles in the past ten days have almost brought international commerce to a standstill. Business contracts are impossible. There is but little doubt that Berlin bankers are exerting influence in Russia and it is felt will bring a serious crisis.

Aliens in Albion.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—An official report shows that the statement repeatedly made, that the number of aliens landing and remaining in England was not increasing, is far from being true. According to this official statement 14,528 European aliens landed in England during the month of August just passed as compared with 9,415 European aliens who landed on these shores during the corresponding month of 1890. Of the number of aliens landed here last month the report shows that 9,817 were en route to America as compared with 6,027 who were en route for the new world during August, 1890. It will thus be seen that in August, 1890, 3,388 European aliens are presumed to have made England their home; while in August, 1891, 4,711 aliens remained on English soil, an increase of 1,823 for the month of August, 1891, alone.

THE W. C. T. U.

Departmental Reports Presented at the Annual Meeting.

At Tuesday evening's annual meeting in Victoria Hall, the following reports were read and adopted. Their presentation was received with enthusiasm by citizens who know the effect such labors have on the welfare of the city, morally, spiritually and physically. The success of the W. C. T. U. as a whole, and of its several departments individually, is a matter of very great importance to the people.

The special committee's report published yesterday was read by Mrs. Beale, who with Mrs. Thornley was instrumental in obtaining the large number of contributions reported. The union's wise choice of president and of chairwoman of this special committee has resulted most happily in giving it an excellent send-off in more favorable quarters for the work of another year. The union is officered throughout by capable, earnest woman, who deserve the hearty sympathy and active support of the people.

EVANGELISTIC WORK.

In opening our work last fall the plan adopted by the union was to divide the city into six divisions—three north and three south of Dundas street—and to appoint a responsible committee of four ladies to take charge of and work up an interest in each division. After three or four weeks visiting in these different divisions, with an object of opening up weekly cottage prayer meetings, three meetings were duly opened on Nov. 23, in the north, south and east parts of the city. This work increased rapidly in interest, and in a very short time we averaged from five to seven weekly prayer meetings and from three to six Sabbath afternoon meetings. Thus from Nov. 28, 1890, up to May 5, 1891, we held 150 cottage prayer meetings, and made 250 visits. Since then successful and interesting meetings have been held in Queen's Park every Sabbath afternoon, managed and conducted by our worthy president and ladies of our union, assisted by members of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Tracts and Christian literature have been freely distributed, and many families have been relieved by our committee. The continued and increased interest and manifestation of the Holy Spirit felt by all who attend our meetings has been proof to us of God's acknowledgement of the work.

NARCOTICS.

We believe that the use of tobacco and the drink habit are so closely allied, that if we would remove the blight of intemperance, the dark shadows from which have fallen like a heavy pall upon our own land, we must strike double blows at the twin evils. It is of comparatively recent date that the temperance people have become alive to their imperative duty in regard to this matter. But clear notes of warning have been sounded from such authentic sources that they could no longer be disregarded. Says Dr. Mussey, professor of surgery in the Miami Medical College of Cincinnati: "In the practice of smoking there is no small danger. It tends to produce a huskiness of the voice which calls for some liquid. Water is too insipid, as the nerves of taste are in a half-palsied state from the influence of the tobacco smoke, so in order to be tasted an article of a stimulating character is resorted to, and hence the kindred habits of smoking and drinking." The testimony of one reformed man is: "That smoking and chewing produce a continual thirst for stimulating drinks, and this tormenting led me into the habit of drinking ale, porter, brandy and other kinds of spirits. But after I had subdued my appetite for tobacco I lost all desire for stimulating drinks. A year ago a department of narcotics was established in our own town. Not all that we were hoping and planning for has been accomplished, but He who has taught us to "not despise the day of small things" has graciously blessed the simple efforts put forth "In His name." During the summer leaflets were written by some of the White Ribboners for distribution through the city, hoping by this means to awaken interest among some, who, perhaps, before saw not the danger threatening the boys through the persistent use of the cigarette or cigar. In June another step was taken to advance this question, when a public meeting was held by our union in Wesley Hall. Papers and addresses were given bearing more particularly on the use of cigarettes. The rapid increase in the use of these among the youth of our own city seemed just cause for alarm. Despite the fact that there was not as large an attendance as we could have wished, we could not do other than pronounce it a most successful meeting. The enthusiasm displayed, the deep interest taken in this question by some of our most prominent citizens all tended to make it such. The direct outcome of this meeting was the commencement of an agitation to restrict if possible the sale and use of tobacco in any form to minors. A committee was organized, composed of five members of our union, whose duties in part consisted in interviewing prominent ministers, physicians, school teachers, indeed all those whose occupations or professions brought them in contact with the young, and who would have opportunities of observing the spiritual, mental, moral and physical effects of the use or non-use of tobacco among the growing youth of our city. Hearty was the response and co-operation of all we came in contact with, and we trust much practical good may be the result of this movement.

LITERATURE.

In reviewing this, our first year's work, we feel encouraged at the success which has already crowned our efforts, and we are looking forward hopefully for still greater results. The temperance cause owes a great deal to the circulation of good literature. We all know the power a good newspaper has in molding the opinions and forming the principles of those who read it, and we feel sure if we could only enlist the majority of our daily papers on the side of temperance, prohibition would soon be obtained. The W. C. T. U. are in a feeble way striving to bring this great question before our own city by circulating good temperance papers and leaflets. Boxes for holding literature are placed in the four railway stations, G. T. R. round house, freight shed, Leonard's foundry, McClary's lunch room, London Furniture Company, the car shops and one barber shop. These boys are carefully looked after by a committee composed of the following members: Mesdames Chapman, Holmes, Nugent, Jones, Pierson and Mr. Yeo. A lady belonging to our union has kindly donated $6 for the purpose of sending newspapers direct from the publishing office to those places where a leaflet would not do the work desired, we are thus enabled to send a good weekly to the three fire stations and other similar places. The number of pages of literature distributed during the year is 39,000; number of papers 452. Good reading matter is sent to the jail and hospital, while the leaflet is distributed at the public meetings and the Western Fair. We find newspapers of great assistance in our work and would urge the members to send us their papers after they have read them, as we need a great many to carry on the work.

NIGHT SCHOOL.

The school opened on the night of Oct. 15, and was continued for six months, every Monday and Thursday night, with a brief intermission at Christmas. The total number enrolled was 215, and the average attendance about 100. The Board of Education increased their grant sufficiently to pay two teachers instead of one, and the union was especially fortunate in securing the services of such capable teachers as W. H. Liddicoatt and R. M. Graham. During the season "ten-minute temperance talks" were given at stated intervals by city clergymen and others, and a large number of boys signed the total abstinence pledge. One hundred and twenty-five copies of the Maguet—a Sunday school paper—were distributed weekly, and seemed to be appreciated by the boys. The school closed by an entertainment furnished by the boys, and a most sumptuous banquet supplied by the ladies of the union. It is needless to say that the latter was thoroughly enjoyed, and that twelve baskets were not required to carry away the fragments that remained. The school was asked to take part in the 1st July demonstration, and in response to an advertisement in the daily papers 32 boys turned out and marched in procession to Fysh's restaurant, where they were treated to ice cream. The school was conducted without any expense to the union except for the banquet, all other expenses (some $15) being paid from a fund collected when the school was inaugurated three years ago. This fund, the treasurer, Mr. Chas. Hutchinson, informed me is now about exhausted. The committee are indebted to Miss Dinah Scandrett, Miss Edith Smythe and Harry Arnott for gratuitous service rendered in teaching, and to the ladies and gentlemen who addressed the school on various occasions. Should the Union continue the school this year I would commend this most interesting and important work to the favorable consideration of any who may feel inclined to assist either by their contributions towards its support or by volunteering their services as assistant teachers.

PURITY IN LITERATURE AND ART.

The object of this department is to guard the public, especially the young, from everything of an impure tendency, and the difficulties met with and preventive measures attempted have shown the importance of the work. In order to suppress questionable posters, we think it will be necessary to have further and more stringent legislation, and this equally applies to the incoming of such publications as are poisonous and yet withal eagerly sought after. We therefore suggest that a memorial on the subject be sent by the Ontario W. C. T. U. to the Minister of Customs, asking him to take such proceedings as will result in the preventing of such literature, etc., from passing into our country. We have had correspondence with a number of officials in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and our own city, and the authorities show a willingness to aid us by every means in their power, and we have to thank them for many suggestions given, and feel sure that careful yet continued effort will in due time be productive of much good. There is a needs be of patient waiting, watchfulness and work in this department. The evil we seek to prevent is insidious, silent, yet powerful, and in order to its suppression we must be willing to accept small results for the immediate present, with the hope of larger returns in the future.

THE FRANCHISE.

The obtainment of the ballot for women is one of the strongest hopes of the W. C. T. U. for the prohibition of the liquor traffic. They believe they should be enranchised because it is their right as much as it is man's. They do not, however, for that reason ask for it, but for the aid that woman's vote will bring to those men who desire to do away with the liquor traffic and all its abominations. The W. C. T. U. of London, have, during the past year, come to the conclusion, sooner or later preached by all women engaged in philanthropic work, that without the ballot they are trying to work with both hands tied. We have been told that when women ask for the ballot they will get it. Therefore our union has undertaken the task of educating all women within our influence up to the truth that it is our right and our privilege to give expression to our opinions by means of the ballot box. The municipal elections at the beginning of 1891 were a grand object lesson to those women in our union who clung to the belief that women should only work by indirect influence. On that day they saw that the few hundred women in London who possess municipal suffrage could do for the cause of temperance in twenty minutes that which would have taken them months of working and talking and holding meetings and contributing literature, etc. They have learned that lesson once for all. Another clincher was the lectures given by Rev. Miss Anna Shaw on woman suffrage and temperance. These two events have changed the women of the London W. C. T. U. in a few months from an attitude of indifference to one of ardent desire for the possession of that weapon that will be powerful in aiding them in the discharge of their duty in the work of temperance. The work accomplished by this department during the past year includes: The circulating of the petition for the reduction of licenses in the city among the women voters, and the bringing out of these voters on election day, the result of their efforts being the abolishment of 49 places where liquor was sold and the election of a large number of temperance men to our council. It includes two lectures by Rev. Miss Anna Shaw, one on temperance and one on woman suffrage, which were successful in every way. It includes a paper prepared for and read before the union on the equality of men and women. It includes short extracts on the subject of woman suffrage, read at every semi-monthly meeting. It includes the securing of 2,500 signatures to a petition from the Dominion W. C. T. U. to the House at Ottawa, praying for the enfranchisement of the women of Canada. It includes a talk with the "Y.s" by the superintendent of franchise, her object being to answer the objection generally made to woman suffrage. It includes also the formation of a franchise committee for each ward. The women on these committees have each their own district, and visit every woman voter in that district once in three months, distributing franchise literature and endeavoring to impress these favored women with a due sense of the responsibility resting upon them by the possession of municipal suffrage and the duty of every woman to be on the side of temperance. The chairwomen of these committees are: Mrs. Darch, Ward No. 1; Mrs. Jones, Ward No. 2; Mrs. Beal, Ward No. 3; Mrs. Evans, Ward No. 4; Mrs. Williams, Ward No. 5; Mrs. Wright, Ward 6, all of which is respectfully submitted.

The Department of Scientific Temperance was adopted by our Provincial Union to further that much to be desired object, the training of children in the public schools in the knowledge of the scientific reasons why alcohol is a menace to the public welfare. In the past erroneous theories have led to dangerous practices and disastrous results. Those who were interested in the physical, mental and moral health of the youth of our land felt that to expose these erroneous theories would be the best way to stamp out this alcoholic craze that for thousands of years has woven its spell over the nations. We have upon our Provincial statute books a law that makes temperance teaching in public schools compulsory from the second grade up. That this law is largely inoperative is mainly due to two deficiencies in it. It provides an unsuitable text book — one that was not designed for school use and is not adapted for it. It does not necessitate regular examinations. Our efforts since Christmas—up to which time press of other Union duties prevented any effort—have been directed towards the first lack—suitable graded text books. Nine letters wholly and three mainly devoted to the topic have been written, three scientific temperance talks given, and the subject presented and discussed at one convention. Besides this many personal interviews have been sought and two sets of text books, such as are in use in the schools of Quebec, and which have been indorsed by the World's W. C. T. U. and our own Provincial Executive, were obtained and extensively circulated for examination with most satisfactory results. I would recommend that this meeting authorize the forwarding to our W. C. T. U. Provincial Executive of the following resolution:

"Whereas, the book now in use in our schools as a temperance text book has been tried in several of the States, and proved so ill adapted to school purposes as to bring about its withdrawal: and

"Whereas our experience of the results of its use in Ontario would lead us to similar conclusions, and

"Whereas all experience points to the poor results obtainable from ungraded books in graded schools.

"Therefore be it resolved that we as a union do call upon our Provincial Minister of Education to remedy this defect in our scientific temperance law by the substitution for the present book of a series. And that we do suggest the Barnes series, now in use in the schools of Quebec, as eminently suitable to carry out the design of the law, and as highly satisfactory to the organization of which we form a part."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Five Men Killed.

GLASGOW, Sept. 10.—While a number of railway laborers were repairing a track along which a number of trains were constantly passing to-day an express train dashed into the midst of the workmen, killing three of them and seriously injuring a number of others.

Pauper Emigration Sanctioned at Ottawa.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—Mr. Munderloh, agent of the Hansa Line, who was in Ottawa the other day interviewing the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Lowe, on the subject of Pauper emigration, said to-day that he offered the Government to stop bringing out this class of immigrants. He told Mr. Lowe that he would cable the owners in Germany, and have it stopped immediately, but Mr. Lowe said no, that would never do; the Government did not want that. Evidently he has no intention of enforcing the law against pauper immigration.

HARRISON WEBB IMPROVING.

The Story of the Family—A Woman the Indirect Cause of the Trouble Between the Brothers—The Eyesight of Genius is Defective.

An ADVERTISER representative has seen T. Pierce Webb, father of the four Manitoba young men, one of whom shot another last week. Other prominent citizens have been seen also, and all agree that in some respects the Winnipeg dispatches are misleading.

Mr. Webb came with his father to Canada from England in 1833, and purchased a farm in the Gore of London, about three miles from this city. There his father died in 1874 and his mother in 1878. In 1856 he himself was married in the old frame English church which stood on the site of the present cathedral, where also he was confirmed. The family has always been a godly one, and prayer is daily offered by the father. The children were strongly attached to each other, and have themselves become praying men. In 1881 Mrs. Webb died and the home was broken up, Mr. Webb removing to No. 5 Hamilton road, and Genius about that time going to Manitoba and securing a homestead and pre-emption lot. Soon afterwards Arthur, Harrison and Sydney went there also, and each secured the same amount of land, Mr. Webb assisting them. Until recently the utmost harmony has existed between them. They have not succeeded as well as they had hoped, never, until this year, having had a good crop, and even this year Mr. Webb has samples of their wheat that has been frosted. They are located 120 miles from Winnipeg and 50 miles from Brandon near Rock Lake, where frost has made its appearance every year and where last year hail completely destroyed their crops. The young men have dealt largely in stock, shipping frequently from Ontario.

STORY OF THE TROUBLE.

Before Mr. Webb was married he spent some years in Australia, where he accumulated some wealth and property. Most of the latter he disposed of a few years after he was married, but it was to attend to his father's Australia property that Genius went there a few years ago, returning last year. Since his return he has been restless and dissatisfied, and recently a proposition was made to separate. The brothers had worked together and shared the profits equally; but now an agreement was made that one-fourth of everything, stock, implements and grain, should be given to Genius, who should hereafter work his own place alone. The reason for this is supposed to be that he was about to marry an estimable girl, the daughter of a neighboring farmer. Hitherto the work in the home of the young men had been done by the wives of half-breed men who worked for them in the fields, the women returning home at night. Genius is 30 years old, and the others are younger. The dispute between the brothers arose as to what should be the rightful share of grain apportioned to Genius.

SHOT IN THE EYE.

Genius himself was shot in the eye in this city when he was a lad of about 12 years. While playing with a bow and arrow he was struck in the right eye, and was attended for six months by the late Dr. Cattermole, who never succeeded in restoring sight to the injured member. Except to a close observer the eye seems perfect, and indeed sight remains to some degree, but it is imperfect, and has led the young man into many little difficulties here. His sight is double, and several prominent citizens have spoken about his driving into teams he has met on the road, his sight leading him to believe that he was passing them. This defection is doubtless an explanation of how the mistake of shooting his brother occurred. While aiming to frighten him, the weapon was in reality aimed directly towards him.

NOTES.

A photo of Genius plainly shows the defect of his right eye. It also proves that the statements made in the press about his vicious appearance are incorrect. He has a modest, pleasing look, and most assuredly would not be regarded as one who would harm any fellow being.

The most pleasing intelligence to-day is that Harrison Webb, the injured brother, is reported improving, and the hope of the many friends of the family is that his condition may yet lead to recovery.

Mr. Webb is one of the most highly respected of our citizens. His brother, Wm. Webb, blacksmith, who died about ten years ago, was also one of our most popular citizens. Mr. Webb now owns two farms in the Gore of London, fifteen houses in the city, and his property in Australia.

Mr. Webb, besides his four sons in Manitoba, has a fifth son and three daughters living at home, all still in their teens.

Diphtheria or Starvation.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—An epidemic of diphtheria is raging in the Province of Tambov, Russia. Mothers purposely place their children in the way of infection, preferring to see them die of disease rather than starve.

Both Drowned.

OSHAWA, Sept. 10.—Two men named Gilby, aged 21, and Wing, aged 19, employes of the Malleable Iron Works, went out on the lake yesterday for a sail. The weather became rough and their capsized boat and Wing's hat have drifted ashore. Both have undoubtedly been drowned.

Burned to Death.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 10.—By a fire here this morning Mrs. Zollowski was fatally and several others were seriously burned. Mrs. Zollowski was sewing on a machine by the light of a lamp, when her 3-year-old child, in attempting to crawl where she was working, upset the lamp, which exploded. The flames instantly spread over the room. Mr. Zollowski and Geo. Lashalack were badly burned in trying to save her.

A Cast for Fortune

By Christian Reid,

AUTHOR OF "VALERIE AYLMER," "A DAUGHTER OF BOHEMIA," "HEART OF STEEL," "BONNY KATE," ETC.

It was a momentary disappointment; but when they entered the dining-room and grouped themselves around the beautifully-appointed table he found that, after all, fate, or some more benign power, had placed Zarifa at his right hand, with Halbert beyond. It was too small a party, however, for anything like private conversation. Led by the genial host, talk was altogether general, and as gay and bright as talk mostly is when well-bred and cultured people meet around a dinner-table where delicate dishes are served by perfectly-trained servants and finest wines poured into sparkling glasses. The floral decorations were the same beautiful rose-red blooms of the cactus which the young hostess wore, and now and then, in the midst of the courses that proved a French chef in the kitchen, a distinctively Mexican dish was introduced, to give, as it were, a national note. "For we cannot allow you to forget that you are in Mexico," said Don Maurizio once, with a smile.

"Do you think that would be possible under any circumstances?" asked Sibyl. "Mexico has fascinated us so deeply that I am afraid we shall not be able to forget it even when we go home."

Besides the language in which most of the conversation was conducted, the only English thing about the entertainment was the fact that the group of men lingered a little over their wine and cigars after the ladies had left the room. The interval, however, was not long, and when they re-entered the salon Derwent at once perceived his opportunity to exchange a few words with Dona Zarifa.

She and Sibyl had been walking up and down the long, splendid room, while Mrs. Derwent sat on the special sofa of honor with Dona Luisa and talked French fluently. Both girls paused as the gentlemen entered, and Miss Lenox sank gracefully into a seat, while Dona Zarifa moved away to where a vase filled with great masses of growing heliotrope stood on a pedestal of Puebla onyx. She began to gather a few sprays, and the fragrance of the flowers filled the whole atmosphere around her. It was almost intoxicating in its sweetness, Derwent thought, as, while Senor Cardella paused by Sibyl, he moved on toward the lovely, classic figure and the dark, soft eyes with their glance of welcome.

"Are you gathering those sprays of heliotrope for me, senorita?" he asked, smiling. "Thanks, you are too good, to answer that presumptuous speech by giving me one. It is delicious, I have never seen heliotrope bloom anywhere else as in Mexico, but, if I might venture to say so, there is another flower that I would prefer to have."

"And why should you not venture?" she asked. "Surely you have learned that with our flowers at least we are generous."

"What are you not generous with? But your cactus"—he looked at the blossoms she wore in her belt—"is so entirely your own that I fear you would not care to give it to a strang r."

"Oh!" she glanced down, smiling, and blushing a little, "it is the cactus you mean? Well, frankly, I think the heliotrope suits you better. This, as you say, is specially for Mexicans."

"And may I not be adopted, in a degree at least, as a Mexican?" he asked. "Do you know that I am going to make Mexico my home for an indefinite length of time to come? And, more than that, I am to be your neighbor at Miraflores. Don Maurizio and I are to take the Buena Esperanza with Senor Barrera, and I shall personally direct the work. This, you see, will bring me within comfortable distance of Miraflores."

"Do you call sixteen leagues a comfortable distance?"

"Compared to a thousand miles, yes, very comfortable. I can see you once or twice a month at least. I only hope I shall not become a dreadful nuisance."

"You could not possibly become that," she said, with the gentle gravity and sincerity he had learned by this time to know well. "I am very glad that you are to be near us, and that you are to have the Buena Esperanza, after all."

"I owe it altogether to you," he said, gratefully. "Don Maurizio did not tell me so, but I am sure that had you not interested him in my behalf he would never have thought of offering me this opportunity."

"I told him simply what you told me, that you had a debt of honor which it was important you should pay," she replied. "He is very kind, my father, and always ready to help every one, so I felt certain that if he knew of anything which would enable you to accomplish your purpose he would tell you of it."

"He is more than kind," said Derwent, earnestly. "I can never forget his goodness. And as for yours, well, language fails me when I try to speak of that. I can only repeat what I told you at Miraflores, that my life belongs to you. And, when I say this, remember that I am not using the flowery language of compliment to which you are accustomed. I mean the words with our Anglo-Saxon literalness. It is yours by every possible claim, yours because you saved it——"

She lifted her hand with a quick, deterring gesture, and he saw her cheek grow pale. "Do not speak of that," she said. "I try—I am trying hard—to forget it."

"But I do not try," he said, impetuously, "and I could not forget it if I would. It is as I told you, my life was given to me over again by your hand. So it is yours, whether you ever have use for it or whether you have not. And then there is another claim." He paused a moment, conscious that he was on the brink of betraying all he felt, filled with a sense of the utter hopelessness of any avowal, yet impelled by a power stronger than himself to speak. "Not only my life, but my whole heart is yours," he said; and when the words were spoken a sense of wonderful calmness took possession of him suddenly. He grasped, as it were, more than his ordinary self-possession. It was done. At least she now knew the truth, and he need no longer strive to tutor himself to play the part of a friend while the passion of a lover burned within him.

"I know that it is useless for me to tell you this," he went on, after a minute that seemed strangely long to both, a minute in which he heard the murmur of voices, Sibyl's laugh, his mother's tones, and that would always be associated to the end of his life with the vision of a lovely down-bent head and the haunting fragrance of heliotrope. "I know that I may even forfeit the privilege of seeing and being with you in the intimacy which had taught me to know you. I cannot help it if this is so. Separation from you will be like death, but it is better than the effort to restrain my lips and eyes from telling you that I love you with an adoration which overwhelms me. It has come upon me like a madness, and I fear that it will not like a madness pass away, for it is founded on the knowledge of what you are; and what that is I have no words to tell you."

Perhaps, to the girl who had been surfeited all her life with words of adulation, this very reticence had an attraction and power. It was certainly not such a declaration as one of her countrymen would have made, but the simple sentences seemed to go to her heart more directly for their very simplicity. She looked up, and something in the beautiful eyes sent a thrill of hope through Derwent's whole being. He drew nearer to her.

"My princess," he said, low and eagerly, "I am not worthy to utter such words to you, much less to hope that you could give me one thought of favor. But if my presumption does not make you banish me from your presence I am content. To be near you is enough, for the present. I promise you that I will speak of this no more until I am a free man, free from all claims against my honor, free to try and win your heart, if you permit me, as your father won another gentle Mexican heart in the years gone by. But if you could give me one word—one only—to live on until that day comes!"

"And what shall that word be?" she asked, with exquisite softness. "Shall I tell you that after you left Miraflores I felt a want, a vacancy, and I knew when I saw you again that life is a different thing when you are near? So I am glad that you are to stay in Mexico; and perhaps some day you, too, will learn to love the land as my dear father has done, and then——"

"Ah, what a beautiful cactus-bloom, Geoffrey!" cried Sibyl, half an hour later, as she saw on Derwent's coat a rose-red flower which had not been there earlier. "Dona Zarifa has given you her national emblem, I perceive."

"We have gone through a little ceremony," said Derwent, smiling, "and I have received the cactus as a sign that henceforth my heart, at least, is to be Mexican."

TRUE CHILDREN OF GOD.*

[By Lyman Abbott.]

"If the Son shall make ye free, ye shall be free indeed." How then does the Son make us free? In America nearly all men believe in freedom. Most men believe more or less definitely in Christianity. How does Christianity confer freedom? Pursuing this question, we must ask another. Freedom is a state of liberty. What is liberty? I look in Webster's dictionary, and he tells me, "Liberty is the state of a free man; ability to do as one pleases; freedom from restraint." Liberty, then, is an ability; we are free when we possess this ability. How does Christ confer this ability on men? How does the world confer it? What is the difference, if any, between the two methods? What is the peculiarity of Christ's method? Peter was in prison, bound with two chains; the angel of the Lord came upon him, and his chains fell off from his hands, and he arose and went out, following the angel. He had no more ability after than before the angel appeared, but the hindrance to his ability was taken away by an extraordinary force, by an emancipator. Sampson, sleeping, was bound with withes, but when he awoke his strength came to him, and he broke the withes as thread of tow is broken when it touches the fire. He was not emancipated from any force without; he had within himself an ability to do as he pleased. The green withes were no restraint to him. These two simple illustrations may serve to make clear two methods of liberation—one, that by a force external bondman, to the taking away the external bondage, the other, a force within the bondman, making him superior to the external bondage. The former is the Lord's way of liberating; the latter is Christ's way. When Christ came to the earth the Jews were expecting a Messiah who should emancipate their nation. The memories of the wars of the Maccabees were still fresh. They looked for one who should be to Judaism what Kossuth tried to be to Hungary, what Washington was to the American colonies. They looked for an angel that should touch the chains that bound them, and the chains should fall off and they be free; they were disappointed. When they would crown him king, he refused the coronation; when one of his own followers would draw a sword in his defense, he bade the disciple put up his sword, and healed the sufferer; when he stood before Paul, he declared to him, "My kingdom is not of this world; if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight." With this method of emancipation by force applied from without, Christ would have nothing to do. His nation was in servitude, and he left it in servitude. The great majority of the workingmen in the Roman Empire were under an almost absolute and unmitigated military despotism, unbroken and unweakened. He died; and it would not have been strange if his declaration, "If the Son shall make ye free, ye shall be free indeed," had been utterly forgotten in his death.

And yet whenever Christianity has gone emancipation has gone. Imperialism has given way to democracy, and slavery to free labor. No angel has touched the sleeping prisoner, that the chains might drop from his galled wrists; but a divine strength has been imparted to the sleeping Samson, and he has risen from his slumber and shaken himself, and the withes have parted as tow when the flame touches them. Humanity, which Christ has emancipated has become self-emancipated. The force that delivered has been first wrought within the enslaved.

The laboring man thinks he is suffering in America from oppression, and I sympathize with him to a considerable extent in that opinion. His oppression is not usually the employer; it is a false industrial system, which oppresses both employer and employed. Anarchy offers to set him free; Christianity offers to set him free; but their methods are radically different. Anarchy proposes to set him free by breaking down and destroying the bonds which bind society together. Christianity proposes to set him free by developing in both employer and employed such an intelligence and such a spirit of goodwill that they shall be bound together by bonds more righteous than any which now exist. Anarchy proposes to set him free by abolishing law; Christianity, by writing all that is true and good in law in the hearts of men. Liberty is the ability to do what one pleases. I will have liberty, cries the anarchist, to kill, to burn, and to rob.

The readers of the Christian Union are free from the laws of the land because they are elevated in a life in which those laws are no longer a bondage upon them. They are endowed with ability to do as they please, because there are developed within them such a character that they please to respect the rights of others. The real emancipation of labor will come when Christian justice is dominant in the hearts of both laborers and capitalists; and when society is bound together by the Golden Rule it will not require policemen to keep it in order, nor even courts of arbitration to mediate in strikes. This is not saying that meanwhile legal measures are not legitimate methods of enfranchisement; it is simply saying that all such methods are subsidiary to the one fundamental method of Chistian education.

In the drink problem, too, there are a great many Christian men who have a great deal more faith in non-Christian methods, and a great deal less faith in Christian methods, than I have. It is quite legitimate for society to protect itself from the despotism of the drink traffic by laws and constables. But the man who is set free from the power of drink by a policeman keeping guard over the closed door of the liquor shop is not free indeed. The real evil is the supremacy of appetite over the reason and affection in the individual, the general reduction in the supremacy of the affection and the reason over the appetite. When the soul has been made master of itself, when it dominates its own appetites and passions, when, Samsonlike, it breaks the green withes of custom with which its enemies have sought to bind it, and turns the wine glass upside down at the dinner party without ridicule, then it is free indeed, and not till then. A little girl came home from her Sunday school one day, and her father asked her if she had learned a text. "Yes," she said, "I keep my soul on top." Her father laughed, and asked her to find the passage. She pointed to him triumphantly and he read: "I keep my body under." He who keeps his soul on top, and only he, is free indeed from the bondage of appetite.

I have taken but a single text from the lesson appointed for the day, and yet that text seems to me to be the key to the interpretation of the whole discourse. There are two fathers, God and the devil. They that are the children of the devil are and must be in bondage, and all bondage has its secret source in this: that men are children of the devil. So long as their appetites, their passions, their avarice, their animal and sensual and devilish nature is uppermost they are in bondage to their own baser nature, in bondage to one another and in bondage to the father of falsehood, of darkness and of depotism. When they become children of God they are set free from their own baser natures, set free from the depotism of their follies, and set free from the mastership of the evil one. This is Christ's method of emancipation. It is slow, but the freedom which it confers is enduring.

Progress of Science.

Imitation gold is a new compound which was recently discovered and which puzzles the best jewelers to detect. Its weight is that of gold and the acid tests are the same, except that the acid boils a trifle when applied to it, although when it is wiped off no spot is left. It is cheap and is easily worked. Its chief factor is aluminium composite, from 5 to 8 per cent.

The new departure in photography, as recently applied to telescopes, has extended our information to a most wonderful degree already, especially in the delineation of the moon's surface, and has opened a wide field for astronomers. Many points are clearly shown on the negative which cannot be seen with the human eye even when using the powerful Lick telescope.

A deposit of what is known as "fossil flour" has been recently discovered in Maine which will resist the action of acids, alkalies and oils and is a remarkable non-conductor of heat. It will be used in the manufacture of rubber goods. It contains 95 per cent. of pure silica, and when mined it comes out as a fine powder.

A careful examination of the aqueous humor of the eyes of cattle will determine whether they are suffering from tubercle or not. The bacilli will be found there in all cases where the disease exists.

One Peter the Great Only.

"Say, pa, was there more than one Peter the Great.

"No, my son. That was a case where history doesn't re-Pete itself."

"German Syrup"

A Farmer at Edom, Texas, Says:

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to everyone suffering with Lung Troubles is—Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where your German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country.

—Annesley Burrowes, formerly city editor of the Detroit Journal, has gone farming in Adelaide township for a month or two. He thinks it will be good for his health. It undoubtedly will. Canadian farming is the most health-giving occupation in the world.

—William Higman, Colborne street, was bound over to keep the peace towards his wife for one year at the Police Court yesterday. —As the driver of a watering cart was loosening his hose from the hydrant at the corner of York and Richmond yesterday about 7:30, the water happened not to be shut off and pretty soon the whole block was flooded. —Port Stanley is about vacated by its temporary summer residents. Wednesday three families returned to the city, and by the end of the week the little village that has been so lively during the season will have taken on its usual air of somnolence. A Notionable Hen.

Rather an amusing incident might have been observed a day or so ago in the vicinity of the creek which meanders through the northeastern portion of the city. A hen, through one of the many suitable arrangements which so often occur, had become the foster-mother of a numerous progeny of ducklings, and as such was accompanying them during their early wanderings, when true to their instinct they instantly took to the water. Here might have occurred an exciting time for the quondam mother, but she rose equal to the occasion, and, with all the dignity and grace of a seaside belle, waded quietly after them, and the next moment was seen comfortably sailing around, surrounded by her numerous progeny. She was an-ocean-able hen.

Mack Sent for Tiral.

John Mack appeared before the police magistrate yesterday on a charge of larceny. Detective Rider arrested him on Carling street last Monday. He had in his possession a gold watch, three gold rings, 45 cents, a lock pick and a steel instrument for removing bolts from windows. When taken into custody he first said that he came from Buffalo but afterwards said that he came from Chicago and when going through Buffalo he purchased the watch for $15 and the rings for $5 50 from a Jew whom he met on the street. Miss Fanny Whittle, of Tilbury Center, Kent county, was present and identified the watch and the rings as her property. She said that last Thursday evening she wound her watch about 8 o'clock and put it in a bureau drawer, where the rings also were. She then locked the drawer and put the key under a small mat on top of the bureau. The next hour she spent visiting at a neighbor's house, and she did not open the drawer again until the following evening, when she went to wind her watch. It was then that she missed the jewelry and $2 in silver. Miss Whittle stated that she bought the rings for $14 and the watch cost her about $50. She lives alone just outside the limits of Tilbury Center, and near the M. C. R. track. She was out of the house more or less on Sept. 5, and the articles may have been stolen during the day; but Miss Whittle was sure they were taken the previous evening during her absence from the house. The prisoner requested to be tried by a jury, and the magistrate committed him for trial

St. Thomas Camp Notes.

Corporal Daniel Pugh, of "D" Company, I. S. C., is a great favorite with the visitors, especially the ladies, says the St. Thomas Times.

There is some talk of arranging a rifle match between members of "D" Company, I. S. C., and a team picked from the remainder of the camp.

Quartermaster Sergeant Smyth, of the London Field Battery, left Wednesday for London to attend the marriage of Mr. H. Colerick, formerly sergeant-major of the Battery, says the St. Thomas Journal.

One of the best guards mounted in camp this year was by "D" Company, I. S. C., on Tuesday. Privates Black, Williams and West and Bugler Kennedy, with Corporal Brown in charge, constituted the duty.

A correspondent telegraphs: Complaints are heard on all sides, from Conservative and Reform officers alike, at the niggardly manner in which the militia are treated by the Government, and the opinion is freely expressed that if the militia are not to be properly maintained they had better be disbanded altogether. There is not one company in any of the infantry corps that is up to its full strength, and in some not more than a dozen answer the roll call. Many of the men, fully as large a percentage as one-half, are in camp for the first time, never handled a rifle before and will likely never be in camp again. Many of them are little more than mere boys. It is not therefore to be wondered at that until Tuesday the drills consisted only of squad drill with a few company movements. On Tuesday and Wednesday battalion movements were attempted, but little advancement has been made in drill by the men, and what little they have learned will be forgotten before two years have passed, when it will be their turn to go into camp again.

LABOR MOVEMENTS.

Lake Erie and Western Railwaymen on Strike—Trouble in Winnipeg.

The Lake Erie and Western is again tied up. Tuesday night the switchmen at Peoria, Ill., went out, demanding an increase of wages. They are supported by the trainmen, who refuse to work until the switchmen are satisfied.

Sixty laborers employed on the sewers at Regina struck for higher wages on Wednesday.

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Sept. 10.—In the Trades Union Congress yesterday a resolution was adopted declaring that the eight-hour law should be enforced in all trades and professions except where a majority of the organized members in any trade or occupation protests by a ballot vote against the proposal.

Why It Is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequaled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day. f

Improved engine practice has caused the adoption of mechanical device for constant feeding of fuel to furnaces.
