WILSON CHANGES STAND ON DANCE HALL PROPOSAL

Sounds Aldermen Quietly To Find Strength of Support of Scheme.

TRUSTEES GET SURPRISE

Assured By Mayor Recently Port Stanley Building Would Not Be Pushed.

Mayor Cameron Wilson is putting out feelers among the aldermen as to their attitude in regard to the proposal, that the London Railway Commission erect a large dance hall and pavilion at Port Stanley.

This activity of the mayor is arousing keen criticism in certain municipal circles, especially among members of the school board. The mayor, when at a conference between the finance committee of the council and the school board, assured the trustees that the dance hall and the Springbank dam would not be built. Hence the wonder at the mayor's changed attitude.

Under ordinary circumstances the railway commission would not approach the council for permission to build the pavilion, but in this case it is made necessary because the commission has not the money to finance the project.

The feeling which the mayor is sending out among the aldermen concerning whether or not they would be agreeable, should the city arrange with the bank for an extended credit for the commission, so as to enable the borrowing of the money to build the terpsichorean structure.

The commission has about $257,000 on hand, the proceeds of a debenture sale. However, this money is for a specific purpose, and cannot be used to erect the proposed building.

Several of the aldermen are favorable to the project, and some are opposed. The opponents of the plan question the right of the commission to spend city money at Port Stanley. The supporters claim that it presents a great chance to make some money.

The members of the board of education were opposed on the ground that if the city could not arrange for money to erect needed schools, it should not undertake the erection of dance halls in other centers.

The ministerial alliance has also taken a stand that the city should not go into the erection of a dancing pavilion. Port Stanley already boasts of one large dancing hall, but it is contended that this is inadequate to accommodate the summer crowds. The structure proposed by the commission would extend quite a distance out over the lake, and while no estimate of the cost has been presented to members of the council, it is understood that it would be about $164,000.

It is understood that if aldermanic opposition to the proposal is found to be negligible, a motion to arrange for extended credit for the railway commission may be presented at the next meeting of the council. It may come before the finance committee first. The first plan had been to move quietly in the matter, but some of the aldermen have let out the details of the proposal.

ARMED GROUPS RAID BUILDINGS TROOPS OCCUPY

LABOR LEADERS CONFER

British Forces From North Cross in Free State Territory.

Dublin, April 20.—The conference between representative Free Staters and Republicans, held at the instance of Lord Mayor O'Neill and Archbishop Byrne, adjourned at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon until next Wednesday. No agreement was reached.

When the conference was resumed in the Mansion House at 3 o'clock this afternoon all the conferees were present. These were Lord Mayor O'Neill and Archbishop Byrne, the sponsors of the conference; Michael Collins, Arthur Griffith, Eamonn de Valera and Cathal Brugha.

Last night was the worst Dublin has experienced since Easter, so far as noise is concerned. The residents were kept awake by continuous rifle and machine gun fire and the noise of military lorries rushing to the relief of places attacked, but thus far only one casualty has been reported.

Several buildings occupied by the provisional free state government and guarded by official troops were attacked, according to the last editions of the morning newspapers.

According to reports from an independent source, midnight had scarcely passed when heavy volleys of revolver shots were heard from Quay and Connel streets, while opposing reports of rifles, and especially in the neighborhood of King's Inn, garrisoned by troops acting under the authority of the general headquarters of the Irish Republican army, but it is not known whether the building was attacked.

Chased by Troops. Armored cars later patrolled the center of the city, and everybody on the streets was searched. A party of men in an open motor car speeded up when challenged by troops in an armored car, and were pursued and fired upon by the military.

Many of the windows in the telephone exchange were smashed by a closed meeting here last night.

Kiwanis Club Strives To Save Life of "Tubz Babv"

THE untiring efforts of Kiwanians throughout the United States and Canada to assist in any way possible the underprivileged or otherwise unfortunate children is now well known.

No task seems too great to be tackled by a Kiwanis organization. The more the path is beset with difficulties the more intensive the campaign is to overcome the same, and the greater the determination to succeed.

As an example of what is undertaken, aside from the usual activities of the club, a local Kiwanian related Thursday the latest endeavor by the Kiwanians of Memphis, Tennessee. In the latter city lives Gaston Rutledge, the noted "tubz" baby, 3 years old, and doubtless the world's most unusual child, who has now been adopted, the local informant states, by the thoughtful Kiwanis of that city.

Members of the club have agreed to finance an operation by skilled surgeons that they hope will save Gaston's life and enable him to eat like other children.

For more than a year the boy has not tasted food. A year ago Gaston, son of a Memphis auto mechanic, swallowed live fish that he found while playing in the yard of his home. The powerful chemical seared his throat, and stricture developed that closed the throat completely.

Gaston was slowly starving to death when surgeons cut through his abdomen into his stomach and inserted a rubber tube. When he is hungry a nurse pours milk through this tube into his stomach. The surgeons agreed that Gaston could not grow up with this plan of feeding and live. They probed the seared throat, thinking at first they could reopen it. But this hope proved vain.

"The only way we can save him is by building a new esophagus—the passage from the throat to the stomach," the surgeons said. And that's the delicate operation the Kiwanis Club will have performed. The new esophagus will be built from part of an intestine. It will be brought up from the stomach, over the breastbone and just under the skin to a point below Gaston's chin where it will join his throat.

"That operation can't take place until Gaston becomes well and strong. So the Kiwanis Club is having him carefully nursed and is giving him every attention, regardless of expense.

If the operation fails, Gaston probably will die. But Gaston's mind is filled with more pleasant thoughts. By day he rides about in an auto with his nurse.

And by night he dreams of the candy and cookies and apples he hopes he'll eat some day.

Russia Insists PACT MUST NOT BE ABANDONED

FRANCE CRAVES ACTION

Wants Penalties Applied To Berlin If Treaty Is Not Abrogated.

BULLETIN.

Genoa, April 20.—Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain said today the political commission of the economic conference would meet tomorrow to consider the Russian reply to the allied proposals transmitted to the Russian delegates last week. The reply was expected to be received today.

Mr. Lloyd George predicted success for the conference. He also said the German delegation agreed to accept the condition of the allies not to participate in further discussions of Russian affairs, as a result of having signed the Russo-German treaty at Rapallo last Sunday.

Genoa, April 20.—The German delegation at noon had made no reply to Lloyd George's ultimatum that they either withdraw the Russo-German treaty or accept the penalty of disarmament from the conference's discussions on the Russian question. The Germans are divided on the issue, and no reply is expected from them before tonight.

The Russians say the treaty must stand.

The Germans were told yesterday by Mr. Lloyd George that the only alternative to scrapping the treaty would be to submit to disarmament from all the conference's discussions on the Russian question, as laid down in the note of censure sent them for their "dishonorable" act in signing a treaty with the Russians "behind the backs" of the conferees.

The Germans were in session until a late hour last night endeavoring to find a formula whereby compromise with the entente leaders without scrapping the Russian treaty could be effected.

Meanwhile the Russians have completed their examination of the plans for reconstruction of their country and they are ready to appear before the political sub-committee of the conference at any time they are called. If they are not received today, he said yesterday, the Russian reply will be given to the public anyway. "Our reply is for the world," he said.

WANT PENALTIES APPLIED. Paris, April 20.—Instructions sent by Premier Poincaré to the French ambassador in the capitals of the allies and which are fully approved by the cabinet, are to insist that energetic measures must be taken and penalties applied to Germany if the Russo-German treaty is not abrogated, regardless of what the Genoa conference may decide.

The premier's position is that there can be no more hesitation in the execution of the treaty of Versailles, and that, unless its execution is insisted upon now with evidence of determination on the part of the allies, the Versailles pact might as well be abandoned altogether. He holds that none of the concessions made to Germany has held in any respect to conciliation, but rather that they have been taken by Germany as evidences of the weakness of the allies, and as encouragement for further resistance.

Premier Poincaré has held consultations with a number of the leaders of the different parties in the past two days, besides keeping the cabinet in close touch with the situation.

It was pointed out today that the Russo-German treaty had brought to light violations of the Versailles pact by Germany in respect to military material, the German army having, he says, sold the arms which the Russian refugees had left in Germany, instead of handing them over to the Allied commission for destruction, as provided by the peace treaty.

Article 1 of the Russo-German treaty, at the end of clause C, reads: "The Russian government renounces the right of the Russian army to be derived from the sale of Russian army material transported into Germany."

MAKE NO CONCESSIONS. GENOA, April 19.—The German delegates and experts have not yet been able to find a formula whereby to compromise with the entente powers, without sacrificing the Russo-German treaty, although they were in session at a very late hour tonight. Efforts are being made to have the conference formulate a Russian policy, in which the Russo-German treaty can be absorbed, thus giving it the stamp of conference approval and removing the cause of hard feelings.

The plain language of Premier Genoa, April 20.—John McCormack, the noted tenor, is making progress toward recovery from his serious illness. His physician declared today that Mr. McCormack was "doing very nicely," having continued the improvement noted in his condition for the past two days.

FARMERS THINK HENRY HORN IN WATER WEEKS

Papers Show Victim To Be Hero of Several Naval Engagements.

BOYS SUSPECT TRAGEDY

Fish Cap From Culvert and Notify Parents, Who Institute Search.

Henry Horn, who was found dead this morning beneath a culvert in Mud Creek on Oxford street, was identified Thursday afternoon as a young married Englishman, who, up to three weeks ago, resided at 319 Egerton street.

He is believed by his relatives to have committed suicide. Horn had been in this country one year, and has been out of work. Last October his wife joined him, and together they boarded with his sister at the Egerton street home.

Through his inability to find work and alleged domestic troubles, he is said to have had frequent spells of despondency. On more than one occasion he talked of taking his life, relatives declare.

The whereabouts of his wife is unknown. There are no children. Face downward in but three feet of water in Mud Creek, which skirts the western boundary of the city, and which at its greatest expanse boasts of a width of only five feet, Henry Horn, 35 years old, a veteran of the world war, and of the British navy, was found dead beneath a culvert on Oxford street early Thursday morning.

The body, which evidently had been in the water several weeks, was found by James Lucas and William Hanam, of R. R. No. 7, while on their way to work.

The men immediately notified the local police and the fire department and Fire Chief John Aitken and two firemen removed the body from the water.

The body was badly swollen and discolored. This fact and a heavy, overcoat and sweater, in which the victim was clothed, led Coroner R. Ferguson and the fire chief to believe that Horn had been dead for some time.

After the body had been brought to Ferguson's undertaking rooms, papers found in a wallet in the coat pocket, revealed the man's identity. A discharge paper from the navy, an I. O. O. F. lodge meeting notice and a birth certificate were among the documents found.

Born in Shirenewton, O. O. F. Lodge Briton Lodge, No. 492, West London district, and dated 1902, West London district, and dated March, 1919, led the authorities to believe that the man resided lately in England. The birth certificate shows that he was born in Shirenewton.

In an attempt to find friends and relatives, the I. O. O. F. lodge and navy headquarters in England will be notified.

The man apparently had given heroic service during the war, for his discharge papers showed that he served on the light cruiser Chesapeake, which, with two other sister ships, was sunk off the Dogger Bank by submarines. He also served on the Pembroke, Acherson and the warship Magnificent. In the section of the document received were three entries which could not be read.

Boy Makes Discovery. It seemed strange to those who discovered the body.

ARTHUR STRAW STAGED MATINEE

With Bottle At Other Man's Home.

AGNES REIDY, AMONG THOSE PRESENT, GIVEN MONTH IN JAIL, ONE FINED.

Arthur Shaw, John Ballantyne and Agnes Reidy staged a little drinking party at the home of Edward Grant, 195 St. Julien street, Wednesday afternoon, which cost Shaw $200 and costs when he appeared in court on Thursday. Ballantyne paid $10 and costs for being drunk, and Mrs. Reidy, an old offender, was sent to jail for one month, with the promise that the next time she appears she will be sent to the reformatory.

Mr. Grant told of returning from work Wednesday evening and finding the party in progress at his home. There was a rough-house after he ordered them all out. Witness said Ballantyne had the bottle.

"Did you see me put the bottle in my pocket?" questioned Ballantyne. "Yes," replied Grant. "Well, you didn't," contradicted Ballantyne.

Mrs. Reidy said she went out to the Grants to help with the washing. The men came about 3:30 o'clock with the bottle and they all had a drink.

Shaw said he got the bottle at a licensed vendors on an order that had been given Ballantyne.

"We wasn't tight by any means, and I thought we had a right to take the liquor there," he said.

"Did you think the whiskey you drank was going to cure Ballantyne of his illness?" the court wanted to know.

"No, sir," said Shaw. "Well, I find you guilty on your own evidence," stated the court, "and I find you $200 and costs for three months in jail."

Mrs. Reidy cried into her handkerchief when she heard she was going to jail.

I done a big washing for Mrs. Grant, and I've been nothin' but a slave to them," she stormed. "They can't put me out. It was Mrs. Grant that put me out. Turn to Page 15, Column 3."

SIDE LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

By JOHN J. McLELLAN. Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, April 19.—Parliament resumed today with a three-hour sitting, the usual Wednesday program, which dispenses with an evening session.

In this way the work of Canada's governing body is taken up slowly, giving time for the members returning after the Easter respite to establish themselves and prepare for the onerous duties that await them within the next few months, which must be cleared away as soon as possible, unless the house wishes to add the sun heat of July to the heat of debate, a most unpleasant combination. Next week it is likely that there will be a Liberal caucus, when an outline of the government attitude on all matters worthy of approach this session will be dealt with. Caucuses usually occur simultaneously in all parties, and it is not likely that next week, or even this, will go by without a caucus by Conservatives or Liberals.

THIN, WATERY BLOOD MEANS ILL HEALTH

Rich, Red Blood Brings Bright Eyes and Rosy Cheeks.

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale. She not only tires out easily but often suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite.

In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found to have a beneficial action on the blood. Miss Delma Lafontaine, St. Amrose, Man., has proved this in her own case, and advises others to use these pills. She says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I felt like a complete wreck of my former self. My blood was poor and thin. I suffered from faint and dizzy spells, and had backaches and headaches almost every day. I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and by the time I had used three boxes I felt much better and I continued taking the pills until I felt as well as I ever did. For what they did in my case I cannot recommend these pills too highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., Advt.

TODAY'S big feature was the tabling of the decision of the law officers of the crown on the constitutionality of the re-establishment of a compulsory wheat board similar to the one which dealt with the wheat crop of 1919.

There is little interest among Ontario members in the matter of the wheat board, since its effect would be almost negligible in that province. The Advertiser, speaking tonight with A. L. Hodgins and J. D. Drummond, the Progressive members for East and West Middlesex, was told their attitude on the reconstitution of the wheat board.

J. D. Drummond said: "The effect of a wheat board in Western Ontario was unappreciable. There is practically no export wheat sent from that district. Our wheat has been sometimes mixed with Manitoba wheat for export flour, but that is nearly all of the grain that is exported. We thought that because the results of the re-establishment of a wheat board would not affect Ontario, and because it would be of benefit to the western farmers, that we would throw our weight behind the movement for the re-establishment of the wheat board."

A. L. Hodgins said: "There would be no effect on Ontario by the re-establishment of a wheat board, except perhaps on the millers." The member pointed out that in 1919 the efforts of the board were directed to keeping the price of wheat down, whereas in a reconstituted board the work would be to keep the price up.

He also spoke of the present hardship of the farmer in the West, and said that he thought the wheat board should be re-established if the western farmers thought it would benefit them.

"THE PRINCE" WINS BECAUSE OF CAST

Elmo A. Drake, Producer, Pays Warm Tribute to London Stage Talent.

175 PARTS IN SPECTACLE

"Mythland" Appeal Stronger With Each Performance—Bumper Houses Promised.

Bringing a local cast with 175 parts to a high point of artistic perfection in three weeks' time is regarded by Elmo A. Drake, producer of "The Prince of Mythland," as a wonderful tribute to the musical and dramatic talent of London.

"We have put on productions in many cities with excellent casts, but in returning to London to produce 'The Prince of Mythland' for the Advertising Club at the Majestic Theatre, it has been a matter of great pride to find the young people capable of giving such a finished performance with a minimum of rehearsals. The cast includes children from the age of 4 years up to adults."

"Most of those taking part here had no experience whatever in stage work. Yet they responded with such cleverness and such a spirit of willingness that our first performance was pronounced one of the best productions given in London."

Mr. Drake says if there ever was a time when citizens generally should take the opportunity of responding to the effort of the scores of local people taking part it is during the run of "The Prince."

The performance has been sold to the public on merit, apart from the worthy object for which it has been given.

BANK OFFICIALS APPEAR

MONTREAL, April 19.—The preliminary hearing of the charges preferred against Sir H. Montagu Allan and D. C. Macarow by an officer of the department of finance, who accuses these two officials of the now extinct Merchants Bank of submitting false statements to the federal government concerning that institution's financial standing, was again postponed this morning until April 24.

Sir Montagu, accompanied by his counsel, F. E. Meredith, K.C., met Judge Cusson in the latter's private room, and after a few minutes' discussion the date of the next hearing was decided upon. The same procedure occurred in the case of D. C. Macarow, who appeared with his counsel, N. K. Ladame, K.C., after Sir Montagu had left.

WORLD NEWS CUT SHORT

SAN SALVADOR, April 19.—Unofficial advices from Honduras are that a revolution of serious proportions is in progress at various points in Honduran territory, along the Nicaraguan frontier.

BERLIN, April 19.—Financial circles do not take very seriously the reparations commission's last note, declaring it merely preliminary to prolonged negotiations.

The bill establishing autonomy for the Reichsbank is now law, but it cannot affect the currency because the statute of August, 1914, compelling the Reichsbank to discount treasury bills without limit, remains in force.

CATANIA, Italy, April 19.—A half million lire, which was paid to a sailor named Rosario for rowing the thieves to where their motor car was stashed, by thus for the only part of the 11,000,000 lire stolen from the branch of the Banca di Sicilia, recently that has been recovered.

It develops from the questioning of the thieves under arrest that eleven men were engaged in the plot, five of whom escaped in the motorboat with almost all of the loot intact. No trace has yet been found of the missing craft in which the robbers made their getaway.

PARIS, April 19.—French interest in the plesiosaurus is temporarily diverted by the birth of a Lorient of a calf with five feet.

This is no ordinary super-footed monstrosity. It has not only five feet but five legs, two in front and three behind. The outside hind legs are small and are used by the animal only in rising. The middle hind leg, however, is perfectly normal, and the calf springs along with the other youngsters in the herd on only three legs—the other two flying in the wind.

PARIS, April 19.—The international radio conference of Americans, British, French and Germans, which is attempting world-wide standardization of wireless traffic, will resume its sessions in London on April 24.

It is hoped that final agreements will be reached. The United States is represented by the Radio Corporation of America, England by the British Marconi Company, Germany by the Telefunken Company, and France by Radio-France.

A five-day session was held in Paris. Although the proceedings were secret, it is understood that they were devoted principally to discussion of the use of different wave lengths by various countries in order to avoid interference, and international agreements governing sending and receiving.

PARIS, April 19.—Keeping up the traditions of maniacal ingenuity of traffickers in narcotics, German vendors are now using carrier pigeons to send cocaine to agents in France.

A sack about the size of a man's thumb, and filled with the drug is tied about the neck of a pigeon imported into Germany for the purpose.

The move is the narcotic vendors' answer to the alertness of French customs officials, which has made importations of drugs into France almost impossible. For some time the search for drugs has been the most important part of the duty of customs officers. In all cases where persons entering France from Germany are not above suspicion they are thoroughly searched. The use of birds has temporarily left the French authorities helpless.

LONDON, April 19.—A great fire and a massacre of Christians at Samsoun, on the Black Sea coast of Asia Minor, were in progress when the Italian steamer Barbita left here. The steamer's officers reported on her arrival at Patras, Greece, according to an Athens dispatch to the London Times.

Turkish Nationalist rashibazouks, headed by Turkish officers, surrounded the Greek quarter and set it ablaze, shooting all who attempted to escape, the officers declared.

When the steamer sailed the large Greek church at Samsoun was ablaze, and thousands of Greek women and children were rushing to the waterfront, seeking refuge on steamers.

The Barbita sent a wireless message to a ship in the neighborhood, urging her to hasten to the rescue.

ROME, April 19.—The shipping strike in Italy has resulted in the tying up of 152 vessels of a total tonnage of 739,755. There are 59 vessels at Genoa, 27 at Naples, 18 at Venice, 16 at Trieste and 19 at Spezia.

BERLIN, April 19.—Fritz Nolde, a German businessman, who has just been released from Butirka Prison in Moscow and has returned to Berlin, declares that there has been no modification in the treatment of prisoners there since the Moscow government announced that the dreaded Cheka and its methods were things of the past.

Nolde said that from his cell window, looking on the prison courtyard, he saw naked men branded with hot irons and heard the cries of the victims.

He says his experiences in the Soviet prison were so much more horrible than the abusive and hardships that he endured in the world wars that there was no comparison.

He went to Russia in June to sell agricultural machinery, but was arrested and accused of being related to Baron Nolde, who was at one time active in carrying out an anti-Bolshevik campaign in Russia. He denied this, but was thrown into prison, and was eventually released only on the demand of German representatives in Moscow.

Several Hungarian officers released with Nolde bore out his assertions concerning the cruelties inflicted upon prisoners.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is, covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops, and after two or three applications the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up. A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Advt.

POLICE HELPED RECEIVE GUESTS

Magistrate Dismisses Case When Nobody Bought Drink.

Thirsty Throat Wins Race Against Lucas For Glass of Whiskey.

A young married man who came from Brantford just after Christmas was so overjoyed when his wife went away for Easter that he decided to give a little party for some friends last Saturday night.

The police were not invited, but they came anyway, and as a matter of fact they arrived before five of the guests did. Inspector Lucas had the pleasure of opening the side door to five of them.

The inspector, in the witness box, said that he saw three men in the side entrance about 9:30 o'clock and a little later they came out with another man and drove away in a car.

About 10 o'clock five other men arrived and went into the house, and at 11 o'clock the police took a hand in the proceedings. Papers had been pinned around the windows so they could not see in and the doors were all locked.

There were many chuckles in the courtroom as the inspector told of opening the door to the five guests, who wished that they had not come till a little later.

Inspector Lucas declared that the host could not identify a number of his guests. Sergeant Middaugh stated that he went in with Inspector Lucas. As soon as mine host saw him, he grabbed a glass of whiskey and said: "I'm going to get this one before you get me."

"And did he get it?" inquired Chief Birrell. "He did," said the sergeant.

Five guests at the party told of being invited for a little game of cards. They all declared that they had not bought any drinks. They admitted drinking two bottles of whiskey after the police had gone.

"I think it would be monstrous to convict this man on the evidence offered," said J. M. McEvoy, K.C., appearing for the defence.

Mr. Graydon stated that the circumstances were suspicious but he did not intend to convict the man as he was inclined to believe the stories told by the guests.

"I have had more reports about this house than any other, declared Chief Birrell. "These parties will have to stop," decreed the court.

"He will be back here in a very short time," predicted Chief Birrell.

DEALING WITH IMMIGRATION FROM ANGLE OF LABOR

Local Party Assured by Hon. James Murrdoch and Tom Moore of Continued Observation.

The local labor men are in receipt of communications from the Hon. James Murrdoch, federal minister of labor, and Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades Congress, dealing with the question of immigration, particularly as the question involves farm and domestic laborers.

The former explains that the subject is being accorded close and continual observation by the Hon. Charles Stewart, while the latter explains that the Dominion Congress has had this matter under consideration for a considerable period, and is now acting upon certain resolutions that were passed at the last session of the congress in Winnipeg.

The local unionists are urged to furnish any data that may be of assistance to their representatives at the capital, who will pursue the question further.

It is expected that London will be represented at the regular convention of the American Federation of Labor at Cincinnati commencing June 12 next.

CLAIMS CHAIRMAN OF BOARD INVITED

According to the record in the city clerk's office, as produced by Mayor Wilson, the chairman of the board of education, along with the chairman of the various other city bodies, received an invitation to participate in the making of plans for the reception of the governor-general.

Mayor Wilson's recent statement, that this was a fact, has brought the declaration from Chairman Smith of the board of education that the mayor's statement was untrue.

Thursday morning the mayor asked for a list of the notices that were sent out by the city clerk. These were invitations to the gatherings of the committee to make the plans, and included in this list is the chairman and representatives of many bodies, including the chairman of the board of education.

Chairmen invited were: public utilities, railway commission, board of education, board of health, public library, hospital trust, and Judges Judd and Macbeth, Bishops Williams and Fallon, and a long list of others. Most of those invited attended, according to the mayor.

SCALE AVERTS HAMILTON STRIKE

Hamilton, April 20.—There will be no strike of the employees of the Hamilton street railway or other employees of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company. That was assured when the street railwaymen offered a compromise that will be accepted by the company. The men were getting 52c an hour. The conciliation board awarded 50c. The company had previously offered 47c. A similar settlement will be made with the engineers.

GIVEN TWO YEARS.

Brantford, April 20.—James Ponto was given two years less a day by Magistrate Blake this morning for slashing Seraphin Bodgera with a razor.

Summary of Farm Reports

Toronto, April 20.—Following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture: Frequent showers have been delaying seeding operations, as it has been hard to get on the land in many cases. On well drained fields, however, considerable advance has been made with spring work.

In Kent, the chief fall wheat county of the province, both fall wheat and clover have shown a remarkable improvement during the past week, owing to warm rains followed by sunshine. Essex also speaks favorably of the present appearance of fall wheat.

Kent reports that a large number of tobacco beds have been prepared and seed sown, although many weathers have been curtailing operations. One market gardener in that county already has 2,000 sets of early cabbage in the field.

Speaking of the tobacco situation, Essex says: "The Co-operative Tobacco Company, which holds a total of over 6,000,000 pounds, reports sales in England recently of Burley at 30 cents per pound and upward. The tobacco market is apparently very slowly developing a stronger tone."

Peel states that considerable baled hay is being shipped weekly to Eastern Ontario at prices ranging from $18 to $20 a ton f. o. b., while alfalfa is selling loose at from $17 to $20 a ton.

Bruce says that considerable alfalfa and sweet clover seed is available in that county, the former selling at $25 and the latter at $5 a bushel. Peterboro states that most of the cattle held over for sale in that county last fall have already been shipped out.

Bruce calls attention to the following peculiar relationship said to exist between feeding sweet clover to cattle and dehorning: "Several communications have reached this office from farmers who have been feeding sweet clover ensilage during the past year. They complain that when they dehorn their cattle they find great difficulty in checking blood flow, and several instances have been noted where the animals have bled to death. There does not seem to be any remedy known towards checking this flow."

Grenville fears that too many cattle may be turned on the fields before the grass gets a sufficient start, owing to the scarcity of feed. Frontenac reports some cheap veal, calves selling at from $3 to $4 each, some of the better appearing bringing from $5 to $6.

Peterboro says that the milk supply is increasing, and that farmers are buying extra cows to be ready for the opening of the cheese factories. In other countries most of the factories are already making cheese.

Kent quotes spring lamb as selling at 16c a pound. Essex says that enquiries are rushing into that office regarding the marketing of wool.

Peel states: A sale of farm chunks, imported from Saskatchewan, was held in this county a few days ago. A number of the animals showed Belgian and Percheron breeding, while others were evidently Clydesdales and crosses. The highest price paid was $180 for a hardy-weight Percheron mare, and the average, on the terms of the sale, was about $150.

Berkshire sows, known to be good breeders, are selling at from $40 to $50 for breeding purposes in Prescott and Russell. Some local breeders are thinking of crossing Berkshires with Yorkshires for bacon purposes.

Frontenac says that the demand for labor is brisk, with hardly enough experienced men to meet the demand.

SEND LETTERS TO U. S. PUPILS

Leeds, England, Students Enjoy Writing To Overseas Correspondents.

Teachers Are Puzzled Sometimes by Use of Americanisms.

Leeds, Eng., April 20.—Heartily approval of a scheme to promote friendly correspondence between school children of Leeds and those of various American cities has been given by Premier Lloyd George in a letter to James Watson, headmaster of Harehills Council School here, who has instituted the idea as a means of stimulating interest in the subject of geography, writing and spelling.

Under Mr. Watson's plan, each child has one particular correspondent whom he or she addresses by name. The letters written in school under supervision are the unaided work of the scholars. They form part of the ordinary composition lesson, but have proved to be its most attractive feature.

Occasionally the English children are puzzled by Americanisms. A reference to "Buddie" as the name of the English soldier is most difficult even for the masters, but my teacher is a first-class soccer ball fan, was more easily interpreted.

"Dear Unseen Friend," one letter begins. "I choose this because I liked it from what I have studied about it, so please tell me something about your city."

Many letters express a hope for an everlasting peace between the two countries, and most of the young Americans sign as "Your American Friend."

SINGS OWN COMPOSITION.

DRESDEN, April 19.—Excellent musical numbers were given by the Presbyterian choir on Easter Sunday. In the evening Miss Marion McVean, a pupil of Dr. Albert Ham of the Canadian Academy, Toronto, sang an Easter solo, the music being of her own composition.

THE STORY THAT YOUR WRITING TELLS

It tells your innermost secrets, says Albert J. Smith, world-famous graphologist, who has spent his whole life learning to read character from handwriting.

He says he can look at your handwriting and tell you whether you're brilliant or dull, whether you'd succeed as a bricklayer or a lawyer, whether you should curb your temper or get up more "spunk."

Smith will tell you about it in a series of articles written for The London Advertiser. Each day he'll analyze the handwriting of some well-known man.

Find the handwriting that's most like yours and you can read your own character!

VIEW PRUNING DEMONSTRATION

Prof. Neilson of O. A. C. Gives Talk At Lambeth Farm.

Care of Fruit Trees and Bushes Shown Practically.

Between twenty and thirty farmers of the neighborhood gathered at the farm of Percy Bice, near Lambeth, on Wednesday afternoon to view a pruning demonstration by Professor J. A. Neilson of the horticulture department of the O. A. C.

Professor Neilson not only showed the farmers how to prune a black currant, letted apple orchard, but also how to prune pears, plums, currants and raspberries. The demonstration, which was practical in every way, was greatly appreciated by the farmers, who received much information that will mean dollars to them in the future.

After thinning out a pear tree that had not been pruned for years, Professor Neilson showed the farmers how to prune a bush to secure the best results. He stated that twelve shoots to a bush was most desirable, divided equally between one, two and three-year-old wood, and that the inferior fruit, and in small quantities, he said.

Professor Neilson also stated that the center of the bush should be kept moderately open, and that the bushes should be five feet apart in the row, with the rows seven feet apart. Red currants could be planted a little closer in the row. He advised the growers to procure bush 34 on bush fruits, which could be obtained from R. A. Finn of the department of agriculture office here.

Canes Should be Cut. Raspberries canes should be removed from the patch immediately after the fruiting season was over. The O. A. C. expert said. He advised his hearers not to cut back the new wood till the spring, and then merely to tip the canes, leaving half a dozen or more on each cane.

Professor Neilson then pruned two apple trees, explaining the reasons for each particular cut. He gave the growers the following general rules for the pruning of bearing apple trees: The ideal in pruning bearing apple trees should be to obtain the maximum amount of high quality fruit typical of the variety, and to produce a tree with a form and size which will facilitate harvesting, spraying, orchard tillage and pruning operations.

A bearing apple tree should be pruned to secure the most well-balanced tree and an even distribution of fruiting wood (around the circumference of the tree and along the vertical axis) throughout the head of the tree if possible.

Remove Least Desirable. Cut out all broken, dead or diseased limbs. Where two branches are close together and one is larger than the other, the least desirable of the two. In removing such branches one should consider the strength of the branch which is to be left. In cases where branches are equidistant from the trunk, the one which is closer to the trunk or to other desirable branches or so low down as to lie in the way.

Small branches which hang down from the trunk or from a larger branch, and which interfere with other desirable lower branches, should be removed. This, of course, does not apply when this downward growing branch is at or near the outer end of a branch high up in the tree. In this case it might be left.

Where two branches cross close together remove the least desirable, keeping in mind strength and spacing. In cases where the removal of a cross branch makes a very open space it might be well to cut back to a lateral instead of taking it out entirely.

Branches which hang from the top side of fruiting branches, and which grow upward and outward close to the larger parent branch, should generally be removed, because such branches frequently bend over when heavily laden with fruit, and either shade the fruit of the larger branch below or bruise the fruit by swaying about with the wind.

Prune on Horizontal. Where possible prune on the horizontal plane—that is to say, select branches which run out horizontally instead of those which grow vertically upward or downward. Branches pruned on a horizontal plane permit a more even distribution of sunlight and air, and other conditions being equal, produce fruit which is more highly colored and of better quality than branches which grow upward or which hang down beneath the larger branch.

In selecting lateral branches on the main branches, it is desirable to select those that alternate left and right, leaving from 20 to 25 inches on a side between each lateral.

Avoid very open centers in apple trees, as trees with open centers sometimes develop sun-scaud on the south side of branches running out to the north and northeast. It is much better to have a few branches in the center to provide the shade or protection required for the larger main branches. While it is desirable to have very open centers, it is also necessary to have the top sufficiently open to allow sunlight and air to enter easily. Heavy, dense tops favor the development of fungus diseases, and prevent proper coloring of the fruit.

Branches situated low down on the trunk or the larger main branches, should be cut off where they interfere with other branches. Where it is desirable or practicable to grow trees on the sod-mulch system, these lower branches could be left. Drooping branches at the terminal of the lower main branches should be cut off, as they are likely to interfere with cultivation, or may bend down and touch the ground when heavily laden with fruit, thus bruising or soiling the fruit.

Very tall branches should be moderately headed back to a horizontal lateral.

What to Avoid. Avoid cutting off branches between laterals or where there are no fruiting buds, as branches treated in this manner may die back to a lateral and leave an undesirable stub, which will prove a source of decay unless removed.

Regular or moderate pruning is better than very heavy pruning. Heavy pruning tends to disturb the balance of the tree, and is likely to induce an excessive growth of wood, and interfere with the fruiting habit of the tree.

In cutting off a branch it is desirable to cut close to the trunk or larger branch from which this branch grew. Stubs do not heal over easily, and often decay, thus producing a source of infection to the parent branch.

Upright, tall-growing, close-topped trees should be pruned to horizontal branches to force the growth outward.

Low-topped trees with wide-spreading branches which grow on a horizontal plane, or which tend to droop, should be

Care of Fruit Trees and Bushes Shown Practically.

Where apple trees have not been pruned for several years it is desirable to spread the pruning over a period of two or three years rather than to attempt to bring them into the desired shape at one pruning.

When it is desired to reduce the height of very tall trees, it is better to do this gradually than all at once. Cut off a few feet of the top branches, and a little more the next year.

All pruning tools should be kept sharp, clean and in good working condition. Trees or varieties which tend to bear biennially may be forced to bear annually by making thinning and lightly heading back some of these smaller fruiting branches.

INCOME TAX MAIL BECOMES HEAVIER

"Our mail is becoming heavier every day," said George Tampling of the local taxation office this morning. "Two large sacks of registered mail came in this morning, and before the end of the month more than fifteen sacks will be coming in each day. Of course, the largest mail of the season will come in May 1, because April 20 is the last day for the filing of income tax returns."

"Nine-tenths of our returns come in by mail," he stated. "That is because there are 60,000 people in London and over 1,000,000 people in the London district. "In the rush periods it takes four postmen, making three or four trips to carry in our regular mail. "Today we have four auxiliary cashiers handling the London business alone, and towards the last of the month our whole staff of over 50 will be needed to look after the income tax returns."

I am not fond of blue flowers, and when I read an article in a woman's magazine lately, advising a more liberal growing of blue flowers, I was not in sympathy at all. Of course, everyone loves the violet, but it is really purple. Small blue flowers are all right, like the wee Swan River daisy of the nemophila or grape hyacinth.

I never could see why the Hollanders were so anxious to produce a blue tulip, nor other florists to bring about a blue rose. I am glad they failed. It looks as though I had got wound up on my favorite theme and am running on forever. But I am certainly a flower lover, especially of outdoor flowers. I used to have the cares and responsibilities of a large house on a large farm, with many men to cook and wash for, as well as four children, but I always had my flower garden and when tired nothing rested me more than to go out for a few minutes and stand beside them. They always seemed to carry a message of hopeful cheeriness that made me love them. Another restful thing, in early summer, when cherry and apple trees are in bloom, is to lean against the trunk of one of the trees, and while inhaling the perfume, listen to the chorus of bees and wasps of all kinds working among the blossoms. We are away from the farm now, though still in the country. The soil is different from my old garden and I have been just experimenting as to best ways to make a good sized flower garden. I had better results last year than the preceding year and have hopes of still better this year if my health keeps good.

Best wishes for the success of the flower-lovers of the Mail-Box. Am enclosing mine to S. C. H. AUNT MARIA.

Thank you, Aunt Maria, for the hospital mite, also for your interesting views of flowers and gardens in general. The quilt should reach you within a few days, and be sure you write and let us know how you like it.

PRINCE TO VISIT SHINTO SHRINES

Will Be Taken On Pilgrimage To Sacred Tenno Shrine.

Environment of Ancient Capital of Kyoto Rich in Interest.

TOKIO, April 20.—Japan's veneration for her great leaders of the past will be brought home to the Prince of Wales when he is taken on a pilgrimage to the sacred Tenno shrine, bordering on the ancient capital of Kyoto, burial place of Meiji Tenno, father of the present ruler and the great figurehead of the restoration period; and of Jimmu Tenno, founder of the empire.

The Meiji tomb is situated at Momoyama, a wooded eminence some five miles from Kyoto, a spot which the late emperor is said to have chosen as his last resting-place. The tomb itself is remarkably simple, consisting of a huge mound of concrete, covered with 300,000 minute slabs of white granite, and so constructed as to withstand the ravages of time and nature.

Rests on Slope. The mound rests on a terraced slope, behind which, amphitheatrically, is a grove of trees, the open space in front being covered with fine white sand, while round it is a double line of stone fences pierced by "torii" gates bearing the imperial insignia.

This district is particularly rich in historical associations. It is the site of the famous palace of the dictator Hideyoshi, built in 1594, but now completely destroyed. It is said to have been the most magnificent mansion ever built in Japan. Here, too, put far from the Meiji tomb, is the mausoleum of the Emperor Kwammu, who in 792 founded the imperial capital of Kyoto, a distinction which belonged to this city until Meiji Tenno moved to Tokio in modern times.

Built on Low Hill. The mausoleum of Jimmu Tenno is built on the low hill of Unebi, overlooking the romantic land of Yamato, where in the dim ages was founded the empire of Japan. It is a large mound or tumulus of stone and earth, surrounded by ancient trees and a double line of moats.

Both these tombs are attached shrines, simple and severe in aspect, perfect examples of Shinto architecture. That dedicated to the founder of Japan is situated at Kashiwabara, at the foot of Mount Unebi, while the Meiji shrine, in recognition of that emperor's long connection with Tokio, has been erected in the present-day capital.

DANISH SEAPORT SWEEP BY FIRE

London, April 20.—Fire broke out last night in the harbor district of Aalborg, a seaport of Denmark, spreading rapidly and covering an area of 70 acres by this morning, says a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen.

Enormous quantities of grain, timber and fodder were destroyed. The damage today was estimated at $,000,000 kronen. Indications were that the conflagration was the work of an incendiary, said the dispatch.

"I AM GLAD to see that Vice-Chairman Pocock of the London railway commission is with me on my proposal to reduce the cost of garbage collection in the city, even though, for the time being, he is not with me on the proposal to reduce the fares on the railway to Port Stanley," said Ald. L. Douglas, discussing the statement of Mr. Pocock to the council on Tuesday.

Dr. Douglas had the council make such a recommendation to the railway commission at its meeting on Tuesday night.

RESIGNS FROM HOUSE OF PEERS

Japanese Nobleman Refuses To Recognize Modern Law and Goes Into Seclusion.

Count Yanagawara Feels Responsible For Actions of Divorced Sister.

TOKIO, April 20.—Refusing to recognize the modern Japanese law which relieves the head of a family of responsibility for the conduct of its members, Count Yanagawara, brother of the emperor's uncle, whose famous divorce case startled the empire, has resigned from the House of Peers and gone into seclusion.

The little poetess, already divorced, created a sensation last year when she suddenly married Mr. Ito, coadjutor of Kyushu, although she was known to have a young literary man named Miyazaki, whom she met at the home of Mr. Ito before her second marriage.

Thinking his sister would now settle down, Count Yanagawara, who keenly resented the first divorce, began to take an active interest in affairs of state. He represented Japan abroad on several occasions, and was regarded as one of the leaders of his party in the upper house of Parliament.

But the temperamental poetess soon proved that she was far from settled in her rich surroundings. Social and political circles were started last October when she suddenly left the palatial residence of her husband, while the latter was on a business tour, and went to her lover Miyazaki, in whose home she was found several weeks later.

Every effort of her brother and his powerful friends to induce her to return home proved fruitless, whereupon the case was laid before the Imperial Government with a plea that Akiko be granted a divorce in order to permit a legal marriage to Miyazaki. The imperial household, however, declined to interfere on the ground that it would have a bad effect on the discipline governing noble families, and in desperation Count Yanagawara and his wife arranged a grand coup d'etat, which resulted in the kidnapping of the girl from the home of her lover and the keeping of her whereabouts secret for the past several weeks.

In resigning from the House of Peers, Count Yanagawara authorized a statement that he always had been identified with questions pertaining to a stricter discipline among government officials, and of moral improvement in general, and adding that he felt a personal responsibility for the acts of his "erring sister," which could not be lessened by the modern law making her individual and not the family the social unit.

LABOR TO FIGHT CIVIC WAGE CUT

Trades Council Instructs Committee To Attend Salary Board Meeting.

Delegates Protest Against Reductions For Lower-Paid Employees.

Determined that the fight against Mayor Cameron Wilson's proposed civic salary reduction as it applies to those employees who receive less than $2,000 a year, shall not be abandoned at this stage, the members of the Trades and Labor Council in general session, Wednesday night, moved that its committee dealing with that question attend the next session of the city council salary committee.

A notice to this effect will be sent to City Clerk Samuel Baker, according to city hall regulations. No. 1 committee of the trades council, which formally protested at the last city council meeting, will carry the fight to the committee.

"Passing The Buck." In submitting the report of the labor committee's experience at the council, H. H. Hessel voiced the opinion that the "mayor and aldermen were still passing the buck." We know that wages have been cut," he said, "and we discovered by attending the meeting that last year's bonuses have apparently been included in this year's estimates."

President McGuire, another member of the committee, stated that personally he felt that if "they were to accept the word of the mayor and aldermen as expressed at different meetings of the council recently, the wage question has yet to be rectified. If Mayor Wilson's word is to be taken at face value, we can yet expect that the lower paid wage-earners will be protected and if the sewer and other outside workers are not the lower paid who are?"

Urging Important Point. Delegate Ballard contended that there was one more important point that should be considered. "City Engineer Brazier has openly declared that he cut all wages below 50 cents an hour," asserted the delegate, "according to his own report none of those receiving over 50 cents an hour have been reduced. I claim that our committee should have taken further action right at the council when our own aldermen, excepting Alderman Henry Ashplant, vote for estimates protecting the high salaried employees."

Delegate Thompson urged that the committee further their fight with the council by attending the salary committee of the council. A motion to this effect carried unanimously.

MAN HAS NO REDRESS

Thief Steals Telephone Receivers From Fay-Banks at G. T. R. Station.

SPECIAL TO LONDON ADVERTISER. BRANTFORD, April 19.—A most unfortunate case was brought to the attention of the medical health officials here. Some weeks ago a citizen, desirous of securing for his young children the very best milk possible, decided to purchase a cow. On being bought the animal gave a good supply of milk which was fed to the kiddies.

NOTICED LETTER "T."

The father noticed in the right ear of the cow the letter "T." This he had taken to be some kind of a branding mark to designate ownership. The medical health officer, however, explained that this brand means that the animal is tubercular and that all cows are inspected by federal inspectors under either the accredited system or the municipal system. The former is a very severe test. Milk from cows cannot be sold in the municipality unless the animals have first been tested under one or the other of these systems.

If the animal shows evidence of tuberculosis it is branded by the federal inspectors with the letter "T" on the right ear. It was such an animal that the citizen in question had purchased. There is no prohibition put on the sale from one man to another of such cattle. Milk from such a cow, however, must first be pasteurized before being sold. If the animal is killed the meat must be inspected before being sold for human consumption. There is apparently no redress for the father, who, trying to insure the best milk possible for his children, has for the past few weeks been unwittingly feeding them with milk from the most dangerous source of tuberculosis, the tubercular cow.

WILL TEST OPERATION OF NEW DAIRY STANDARDS ACT

Opening of Cheese Factories Expected To Prove Efficacy of Measure.

TORONTO, April 19.—Most of the cheese factories of the province are opening this week and next, and with this comes the test of the dairy standards act. There is no doubt that the controversy over this act is more keen than any other which has developed among the farming communities for a number of years past.

Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, stated this morning that reports so far reaching his department showed that the machinery for putting the act into operation was running smoothly, and that the opposition to it was not of any great magnitude. On the other hand, members who have returned from their ridings after the Easter recess say there are storms of protest in some of the more important dairying counties, and that some factories are refusing to open on account of the operation of the act.

The dairy standards act provides that milk be paid for on a basis of butterfat content instead of by weight as was formerly the custom, and also provides that they be pasteurized. The act came into effect last January, but it is only now when the factories open that it will get its real test.

Statement Brings Applause.
The speaker referred to delays that always come from flinging personalities across the house, imputing motives to members that cannot be substantiated and generally lowering the dignity of the house. He said that the house had been getting more and more out of hand, and he thought it was opportune to impress upon all members that it was only by cool discussions that progress could be made in debates, and calling upon all to co-operate in maintaining the dignity of the assembly.

His statements, when completed, brought applause from all quarters of the house.
M. M. MacBride (Labor, Brant South) asked that Premier Drury appoint a committee to investigate and evolve a policy to get the unemployed from the cities back onto the land. It was where Canadians should be instead of people coming in from countries of Europe.
Premier Drury said it was an economic question. The only way successfully to put people on the land was by making farm life sufficiently attractive and remunerative. To pitchfork people from cities without capital and without experience onto the land would be the greatest kind of a mistake. He maintained that the minister of agriculture by rural credits, co-operative selling and similar undertakings, was doing the greatest good in inducing people to go back to the land. He did not think any farms had been absolutely given up, although many were underdeveloped because of lack of help. He could see no benefit from a house committee on this question.

STRATFORD, April 19.—Smiling skies greeted the arrival of Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Byng, the governor-general of Canada and his gracious lady, in Stratford this morning. The weather was probably the most auspicious which had greeted the vice-regal party at any point upon their present tour, and citizens turned out in large numbers to do honor to the distinguished visitors. Following the informal reception at the station, Lord Byng inspected the guard of honor, composed of ex-war veterans, which was warmly greeted by his excellency. A McGuire, aged 80 years, a Fenian Raid veteran, was presented at the station. At the city hall formal addresses of welcome were read by Mayor Gregory, and Lady Byng was presented with several bouquets. A drive about the city preceded a trip through the G. T.R. shops, where 500 employees, who served overseas, greeted Canada's governor-general.
Lord Byng spoke to the veterans, and shook hands with all of them. After inspecting the band Lord Byng addressed the members as follows: "Loyal comrades, I want you to think of me as one of yourselves, as an old comrade. I know what is due to the men who came back, and I want to tell you that there are people interested in you who want to look after you and find you proper employment and whatever you need. I wish you the best of luck and every possible happiness." There were 93 Boy Scouts in the parade.

A DOLLAR SAVED IS A DOLLAR EARNED!

CHAPTER I.

It was early afternoon, and down in the hollow which shielded the scrambling little town of Dominion the air was warm and lazy with the friendliness of May.

A long, sleek, yellow racer came to a stop beside the gas tank and wheeled into silence. A young man rose from his almost flat position in the low-slung driver's seat, stretched himself and stared upward toward the glaring white of Mount Talu-chen, the highest peak of the continental backbone, frowning in the coldness of snows that never departed.

"Gas?"

"Yep." The young man stretched again. "Fill up the tank—and better give me half a gallon of oil."

Young he was, almost boyish; yet counterbalancing this was a seriousness of expression that almost approached solemnity. The eyes were dark with something that approached sorrow, the lips had a tightness about them which gave evidence of the pressure of suffering, all forming an expression which seemed to come upon him unawares. But in a flash it was gone, and, boyish again, he had turned, laughing, to survey the gas tender.

"Barry Houston, huh? Must be a new make."

"Camouflage," laughed the young man again. "That's my name."

"Oh, is it?" and the villager chuckled with him. "You've got the plate right where the name of a car is plastered usually, and it plums fooled me. Where you headed for?"

"Over Hazard."

"Ain't that a job?"

"I hope not. 'Ma' isn't it?"

"Look up there." The old man pointed to the patches of white thousands of feet above. "It may be springing down here, boy, but it's January up there. They's only been two cars over Hazard since November, and they come through last week. Both of 'em were old stagers. Both of 'em came through here lookin' like icicles an' swearin' 't beat four of a kind."

A thrill shot through Barry Houston. His life had been that of the smooth places, of the easy ascent of well-paved grades, of streets and comforts and of luxuries. The very ruggedness of the thing before him lured him and drew him on.

"They've got me," came quietly.

"I'm going to make the try!"

The gears meshed. A stream of smoke from the new oil spat out for a second. Then, roaring and darting with the beginning of battle, the machine swept away toward the slight turn that indicated the scraggly end of the little town of Dominion and the beginning of the first grade.

"A six per cent grade, if it's an inch!" he murmured. "And this is only the beginning."

He settled more firmly in his seat and gripped hard at the steering wheel. Gradually the severity of the grade had increased to ten, to twelve, and in short pitches to even eighteen and twenty per cent!

A stop while the radiator water splattered from the radiator cock, and the lifted hood gave the machine a chance to cool before replenishment came from the murky, discolored stream of melted snow water. Panting and light-headed from the Summer footwear, as the latest styles from London indicate, will be very much a thing of straps, buckles and cut designs. Some of the most clever of the new things are black patent leather sandals with cut designs of white following the lines of stitching and ornamenting the heels. Sometimes the toes are left quite plain, occasionally they sport a small cut design.

Straps and Buckles

The one-strap slipper on pump lines will be worn much. Very often the slipper of this type is of fabric, satin or brocade and ornamented with beading.

The small buckles which made their appearance last year are holding their own in the field of fastenings. They are used more, however, on suede footwear, while buttons are reserved for satin. Satin and suede are often used in combination.

clenched tight his teeth until it should pass. When he looked again, she was gone and the opening of a door in the next room told him where. He sought to move an arm—only again to desert in pain. He tried the other, and it responded. The covers were lowered, and Barry's eyes stared down upon a handaged, splinted left arm. Broken. He turned his head at the sound of had written Thayer nothing of the sort.

The names of two persons flashed across his mind, one to be dismissed immediately, the other—

"I'll fire Jenkins the minute I get back!" came vindictively. "I'll—"

A moment later—

"How's the patient?" It was Thayer's voice, the same Thayer that he once had looked upon with all the enthusiasm and pride of boyhood, but whom he now viewed with suspicion and distrust.

"Guess I'll go in and stay with him until he wakes up. He's my boss, you know—since the old man died."

Within the bedroom, Barry Houston gritted his teeth. Then, with a sudden resolve, he rested his head against the pillow and closed his eyes. Barry could feel that the man was bending over him, studying him. There came a murmur.

"Wonder what the damn fool came out here about? Wonder if he's wise?"

CHAPTER II.

It was with an effort that Houston gave no indication that he had heard. Before there had been only suspicions and he had not hoped to have from the lips of the man himself a confession that conditions were not right at the lumber mill, where Barry Houston was the executive head. But now—

Thayer had turned away and evidently sought a chair at the other side of the room. Barry remained perfectly still. When at last he did look up into the narrow, sunken face, it was with eyes which carried in them no light of recognition.

"I'm Thayer, you know—Thayer, your manager at the Empire Lake mill."

"Have I a manager?"

The thin man drew back at this and stood for a moment staring down at Houston.

Barry turned his head wearily.

"I don't know what you are talking about."

"You don't—say, you're Barry Houston, aren't you?"

"I? Am I?"

"Well, then, who are you?"

"I don't know myself."

Thayer turned and walked to the door.

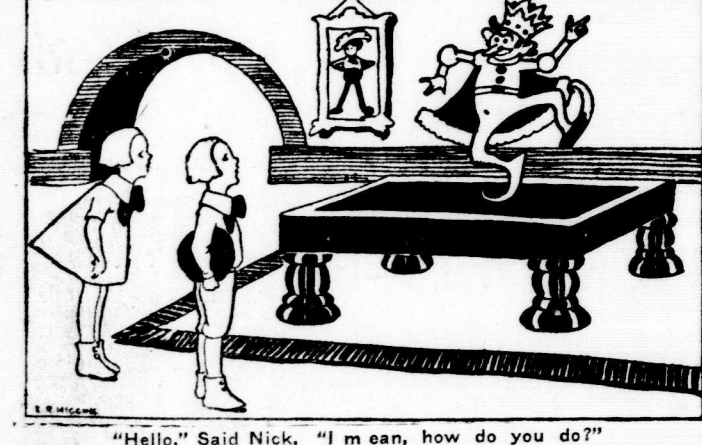

"Bar'tate."

"Ah, out!"

"Mr. Houston doesn't seem to be able to remember who he is."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"Hello," said Nick. "I mean, how do you do?"

"HELLO, there!"

King Indig stopped with one foot in mid-air as the Twins appeared in the doorway of the room where he was playing hopscotch on one of his billiard tables.

"Hello," said Nick. "I mean, how do you do," he corrected himself when he remembered that he was addressing a king. Nancy dropped a curtsy.

The king put down his foot and jumped off the table.

"Who are you?" he asked amiably. "And do you play hopscotch?"

"Yes, your highness," answered Nick, gravely.

"Then come on and play."

"I'm sorry," said Nick, "but we can't stay. We're on a journey and it's only half over."

He was thinking that this was a queer king who had nothing to do but play while others were working so hard to make him happy.

"Where to?" asked the king.

Nick told him about the record and Longhead and all the rest of it.

The king laughed. "That's fine!" he cried. "But your journey's over."

Radio Radiations

Amateurs are requested to make their queries as brief as possible to facilitate the publication and answering of the questions. Address your communications to the Radio Editor, The London Advertiser.

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

TO give the short wave regenerative receiving set the finishing touch that marks the factory-made article, mount it in a cabinet. Any handy amateur should be able to do this without much trouble or expense.

The front of the cabinet—the panel—should be of bakelite, about 30 by 10 inches. This costs about $8. Arrange the instruments so that they conform to the diagram:

- 1—Variable condenser in the antenna circuit.
- 2—Grid variometer.
- 3—Vario-coupler.
- 4—Plate variometer.
- 5—Switch and taps from primary of vario-coupler.
- 6—Binding posts for aerial and ground.

"A" battery rheostat for controlling filament current in vacuum tube detector.

8—Small holes drilled in panel so that vacuum tube may be observed without opening cabinet.

Mark off and mount the dials. These semi-circular indicators may be purchased for a small sum. They are not necessary, but they add neatness to the finished product. The switches and pointers can be made easily.

The cabinet itself should be of well seasoned wood.

Eight binding posts are needed, as shown in the diagram.

Use No. 20 bare copper wire for connecting set up. Then get insulation known as "spagetti" and slip over the wires.

Avoid as much as possible running the connection wires parallel on account of inductance.

FRONT VIEW OF RADIO RECEIVING SET.

It is a good plan to line the inside of the cabinet with copper or thin sheet brass, cutting the metal so that it does not touch any of the instruments. Ground this shield to the regular ground binding post.

This does away with body capacity.

The capacity of the operator's body is sometimes very noticeable in its effect on the receiving tuner. Unless the cabinet is shielded and the shield is properly ground so that the body capacity is carried away, the action of the receiving set may be hampered considerably.

The least number of wires use for connecting, the more efficient the set.

The "A" or filament battery should be one of six volts, 60 to 120 ampere hours. The "B" or plate battery, should be a 22½ volts dry battery. The phones should have 2,000 or 3,000 ohms resistance.

A set similar to this has received

THE USE OF MINT

WITH spring lamb again in the market mint comes into favor.

New potatoes and peas are more easily digested if cooked with mint.

Cold drinks are improved by a few sprigs of fresh mint or mint can be canned in such a way that it may be used when mint is not in season.

Mint Sauce for Lamb.

Eight tablespoons minced leaves, 4 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup vinegar, ¼ cup water.

Wash mint carefully through several waters. Pick leaves from stalks and dry between towels; mince. Put mint in bowl that can be tightly covered.

Sprinkle sugar over mint and let stand an hour. Add salt to vinegar and bring to the boiling point. Pour over mint, cover tightly, and let stand two hours before serving.

Mint Jelly.

One tablespoon granulated gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup vinegar, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup boiling water, 1 cup mint leaves.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Mince mint leaves, cover with sugar and crush with a wooden potato masher. Pour over boiling water and simmer over a slow fire for 20 minutes. Strain through cheesecloth. Add enough boiling water to make three-quarters cup. Add vinegar and bring to the boiling point.

and on for eternity.

If you are standing close to the aerial of a big station when it is transmitting you will not feel the magnetic waves pushing against you. Like the ripples in the water, they have no power to carry with them any objects intercepted in their path.

It is by these magnetic waves that the human voice, instrumental music, dots and dashes, and any other sound, are borne through space. Just think, the next time you are listening to a radio concert, that the waves on which the beautiful strains are carried, flash at such speed as to enable them to go around the earth at about the rate of seven times to each second.

When the waves strike aerials of receiving stations, properly tuned in, they set up vibrations in a circuit, and these vibrations are "detected" by delicate instruments. Science teaches us that light and heat and the human voice, and many other things, are conducted by means of waves. In the same way that a normal person can "detect" light by seeing it, and heat by feeling it, and the voice by hearing it, so the delicate detectors used in radio reception are sensitive to magnetic waves.

Radio Editor—I am 12 years old and am very much interested in radio. Would you please tell me if a battery is needed for a receiving set? If so, would you please tell me where to connect it? Also if a license is needed for amateurs? If so, what is the price and where are they obtained? Hoping not to trouble you too much.—J. C.

Answer—Batteries are needed for some types of receiving sets, and not for others. Please say what type you refer to. Amateur stations require licenses. Apply deputy minister, department of naval service, Ottawa. License costs $1 annually.

Radio Editor—I wish to wind a set of spider-web coils for about 45 metres. Please publish data on number of turns, size of wire, and taps—primary, secondary and tickler—so that I can mount them close together. My aerial consists of two 100-ft. strands, 25 feet high, of No. 14 wire. My A. P. detector tube calls for "about" 35 volts plate voltage. I could only get a 45-volt battery. Does this make much difference to the audibility? If so, please tell me how to make a potentiometer, also the "hook-up"—H. W.

Answer—Use about 90 or 100 turns No. 26 silk-covered wire. Try 45 volt battery on your plate. If too strong, make potentiometer out of piece of carbon or coil of very fine high resistance wire. Should have resistance of at least 500 of 600 ohms. Fasten sliding contact on resistance and fasten both ends of the potentiometer across a battery. The through contact and one side of the battery you can get any potential from zero to the maximum potential of the battery by sliding the resistance contact.

Urges "Clean Up and Paint Up" Drives To Reduce Fire and Health Menaces

Medical Experts Produce Evidence to Show That Paint Is Great Germ-Killer—Campaigns To Beautify Streets and Living Premises Usually Inaugurated at This Period of Year.

The solidity and prosperity of any city may be always indicated by its physical appearance.

Many cities are noted for their well-kept streets, clean and in perfect repair. It is a significant fact also that these communities are those which have set aside "clean up and paint up weeks," and then endeavored to keep at it throughout the remainder of the year.

Every city should have a clean-up and paint-up campaign, and April is the regulation month to make the grand start in this part of the country. The general cleanliness of a city is a measure of its modernity.

Past campaigns of this nature have proved the greatest instruments of war against disease and plague. A few of the results to be noted are the anti-spitting ordinance, the erection of sanitary drinking fountains, thorough cleaning of streets and alleys, and the popularization of washable, germ proof surfaces through the cleaning and painting inside and outside of homes, schools and other buildings in which people live and work.

Medical experts have long since stated that the easiest way to get rid of germs that have nested in your house and around the premises is by painting and a general clean up.

"They claim frankly that tuberculosis and "consumption," as it is commonly known, can be prevented and even in its incipient stages can be cured, but it can be eventually effectively stamped out by thorough cleanliness and sanitation.

Attention is incidentally called to the fact that clean-up campaigns have proved useful factors in reducing the causes and numbers of fires. It is astonishing how the odds and ends accumulate into masses of rubbish, and when a number of places in the community show such collections the sum total becomes enormous.

A pile of rubbish is pregnant with possibilities of evil. In a serious blizzard anywhere a pile of refuse in the vicinity creates not a little difficulty work for the fire-fighters, and often has meant the destruction of homes or other buildings that the chances are would have otherwise escaped.

It certainly pays every householder or tenant, no matter how peevish the latter may be at his landlord, to clean up about his home every spring and fall if at all possible.

There is always activity for the fire departments in these seasons, and there is bound to be added difficulties if piles of rubbish and old material abound in alleys and other out-of-the-way spots.

As an example of the ability of a community to accomplish things worth while by a campaign of this nature, one large city in Ohio claims to have set a record last year by reducing fire losses nearly $1,000,000 by the elimination of rubbish heaps and similar fire hazards.

A "clean-up and paint-up" week made this possible, the proud authorities of that city claim today.

ALLOW VETERANS TO WEAR UNIFORM

The general officer commanding Military District No. 1, has been pleased to grant permission to all veterans to wear the prescribed uniform on the occasion of the anniversary of the second battle of Spree on Sunday, April 23, 1922. The parade will form up at the Market Square, and at 2:25 p.m. will march to St. Paul's Cathedral. All details will be published at a later date.

NUKOL OFFICIALS SENT FOR TRIAL

TORONTO, April 19.—Magistrate Jones in police court today committed for trial J. L. Thompson and Hiram Slater of the Nukol Fuel Company on charges of theft of $400,000.

Slater was also committed on fraud and forgery charges.

"I don't think it fair to commit on a charge of stealing $400,000; there is no evidence of anything having been stolen, much less $400,000," said Peter White, K.C., when his worship announced his decision.

Crown Attorney McKuer produced a number of checks made out to the Nukol Fuel Company and indorsed by Slater. In reply to Mr. McKuer, E. J. Howson, who made an examination, declared that no record could be found of these checks having been credited to the company.

Slater and Thompson were committed for trial.

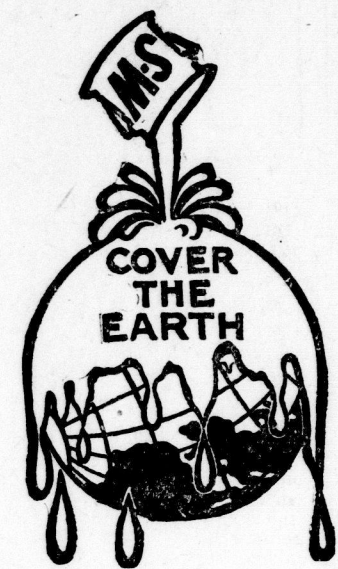

STEAMER GROUNDS IN LAKE SUPERIOR

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 19.—An unidentified steamer went aground near Whitefish Point in Lake Superior late today, according to a radio message received here from the Whitefish Point Station. The vessel was described as a three-masted freighter.

A northwest gale swept the lake throughout the afternoon, and marine men believed any small vessel would experience great difficulty off the treacherous shore.

STUDENTS STAGE ORATORY CONTEST

Glencoe High School Pupils Conduct First Annual Competition in Opera House.

HAVE MUSICAL PROGRAM

Ella McLean Awarded Prize of Gold Medal For Speech.

Special to London Advertiser. GLENCOE, April 19.—A well-filled house greeted the high school students on Wednesday evening, April 12, in the Glencoe Opera House, when they conducted their first annual oratorical contest in connection with their last literary meeting for this term.

The meeting was opened by Mr. York, principal of the high school, who made a few explanatory remarks about the oratorical contest and then handed the meeting over to the president of the literary society, R. D. McDonald, who, for a high school student, excelled himself in all the qualities pertaining to an efficient chairman.

The musical part of the program consisted of vocal solos by Ethel George and Olive Black, which were rendered in their usual pleasing manner, and an instrumental duet by Frances Sutherland and Louise McLean, who were equally well given. Our school elocutionist, Ella McLean, gave two readings which showed the result of her elocutionary training at Alma College.

The chief feature of the evening was the oratorical contest. There were seven contestants entered. The audience listened with intense interest while the youthful orators proclaimed the highest ideals which might be held by true citizens of any country.

The first prize, a beautiful gold medal, was awarded to Ella McLean, who spoke on "Canada's Place in the World." The speaker pointed out the great part played by Canada, not only in the world war, but in the disarmament conference. She also emphasized the importance of our resources and our responsibilities as Canadians, bringing her address to a close with the well-known poem of the Indian poetess, Pauline Johnson, "Canadian Born."

The second prize, a silver medal, was awarded to Harry McDonald, who impressed his audience very much as he spoke on a subject very appropriate at the present time, namely, "Does Glencoe Need a Carnegie Library?" The speaker pointed out that money spent on education is a good investment, that ignorance, though inexpensive so far as school and library tax may be concerned, in the long run rises to such proportions as to be an almost unbearable burden on the finances of a community. He closed with a stirring appeal to the good citizens to get together, put their shoulders to the wheel, and avail themselves of the opportunity to erect a free library.

WOMEN PROTEST HYPNOTIC DISPLAY

CLAIM INJURIOUS EFFECT

Shipment of Seed Potatoes Arrives For Distribution to School Children.

Special to London Advertiser. WOODSTOCK, April 19.—The Local Council of Women by resolution sent to the city protest strongly against the practice of hypnotizing persons for commercial ends. The protest is the result of the action of a hypnotist playing at a local theatre this week, who hypnotized a young woman, and for 22 hours had the subject on view in the theatre window. They contend that the practice is unwholesome, and has an injurious effect on the minds of delicate and sensitive persons, particularly children. The action of the hypnotist the council condemns "as decidedly unseemly and as anything but conducive to the health of the subject and the moral and social welfare of the community."

The resolution will also be sent on to the executive of the National Council of Women to be dealt with. The local council indorses the wide encouragement of British immigration to the exclusion of the Asiatic and other peoples of Central Europe, and other peoples of the opinion that it was not exactly consistent to increase the present unemployment in Canada with immigrants, despite the fact that Canada's population has only increased 20 per cent during the last ten years.

A shipment of 25 bags of seed potatoes arrived at the local department of agriculture today. These potatoes, for which there has been a big demand, will be distributed to pupils of the rural schools of the county. Vegetable and flower seeds will also be sent out, and netting will be given to the school children of the county who held the school children will exhibit the results of their labors.

EXPLAIN COMMUNITY CHEST

Special Speakers Will Deliver Addresses to St. Thomas Board.

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, April 19.—Two outside speakers will next Monday evening address the special committee appointed several days ago to inquire into the advisability of establishing a community chest in connection with the charitable work of the city.

Mayor Raven will preside at the Monday meeting, and invitations have been extended to all societies, fraternities, brotherhoods and other organizations of the city who are interested in the work.

Information as to the project will be given, and the speakers will explain how the idea is being developed in London and other cities. The special committee met on Wednesday afternoon, and expressed themselves as favoring the scheme.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 19.—A terrific explosion occurred today at Monastir, in the southern part of old Serbia, when an ammunition dump blew up.

PIMPLES ON FACE DIDN'T LIKE TO GO OUT

Those nasty little pimples that break out on the face and other parts of the body are simply indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

There is only one way to get rid of this obnoxious skin trouble, and that is by giving the blood a thorough cleansing which can best be done by that old reliable blood medicine

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, and when the blood is purified the pimples will vanish and you will have a clear, healthy complexion.

Miss Mary E. Flanagan, R. R. No. 3, Stella, Ont., writes: "I suffered for about two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctor said it was caused by bad blood. I was talking to a friend, and she advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and try it. I just took three bottles, and there was not a blotch or pimple of any kind left. Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said: 'Burdock Blood Bitters chased them.'"

The amateurs in London are looking to follow the success amateur baseball has had in the North in the past few years. The Central League, which includes Oshawa and Peterborough, a considerable number of teams are able to show an even break at the end of the season.

STRIKERS CLAIM COAL PRICES UP

Two Injunctions Are Granted Against Union Activities Near Mines.

West Virginia Operators File Suits For Ejections From Homes.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—Claims of an advance in the prices of bituminous coal were made yesterday by Vice-president P. T. Fagen, of district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America. Union inquiries, he said, revealed that slack coal, $1.50 a ton before April 1, when the strike of miners started, is now quoted at $2, and that screen coal, selling for $2.25 prior to April 1, is now selling for $3 a ton with little offered.

Two injunctions to stay union activities were granted in Omesert County, one a new order, and the other a revival of an order never dissolved.

In the first union officials are temporarily restrained from holding meetings with miners on or near property of four coal companies, while in the second, union organizers are restrained against interference with non-union employees of four other companies in the Hooversville region.

An attempt of the Imperial Coal Company, the first in Indiana County, to resume operations with little success as no men for loading were available.

FIRST DRAIN ON FUNDS.

Hazleton, Pa., April 20.—The first drain on reserve funds by the local strike mining workers' needs, at the suspension began nearly three weeks ago, was noted today by local bankers, who said that a number of notices for the withdrawal of money from savings accounts had been received. The cash is not being taken out in large amounts, but in sufficient sums to meet current needs, it was said. Withdrawals, the bankers said, were mainly by men with families and unmarried men, who are located in other sections of the country.

Miners living in coal company houses and still allowed to work at the stores maintained by the operators, are not pressed for ready cash and expect to "work off" their bills when the collieries resume. Many of the coal diggers have boys and girls employed in other lines, and their earnings will tide the families over until the coal industry booms again.

FILE 22 EJECTION SUITS.

Charleston, W. Va., April 20.—Twenty-two ejection suits were filed in Morgantown yesterday by the Rosedale Coal Company, operating mines in Monongalia County, this state, and across the line in Pennsylvania, against 22 miners occupying company houses in the Cass district of Monongalia County. This action coupled with reports that mine tipples and mining property in the county were being wired for electricity, and that mine guards were about to be employed, gave rise to the belief that steps were to be taken to resume operations with non-union labor.

URGES FORMATION OF WHEAT BOARD

Calgary, April 20.—"We must take the bull by the horns and do something for ourselves," said H. W. Wood, president of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, and president of the United Farmers of Alberta last night, with reference to the announcement of the constitutionality of a federal wheat board. The three prairie provinces must get together at once to determine what can be done to secure an inter-provincial board, Mr. Wood says. "It is a clear demonstration of the attitude of the east toward the west," he said. "I think if the west ever had any hope of sympathy and fair treatment from this government it might as well disabuse its mind at once and act accordingly." He declared Mr. Wood said it was clearly manifested from the beginning the government did not want to make any pronouncement for or against a wheat board.

TANGLE OF WHEAT BOARD ANSWERED

Regina, Sask., April 20.—An amendment to the constitution is the solution of the executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association to the wheat board problem now that the board has been declared beyond the jurisdiction of the federal parliament by a report of legal officials of the crown. The question was discussed at a meeting of the executive of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association in session here yesterday. They decided, as set forth in a resolution made in meeting, that steps should be taken "to make the constitution conform to the needs of the Canadian people."

STORM, ICE, TIE UP TRAFFIC ON LAKES

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., April 20.—A wireless from the steamer Glenfinnan last night confirmed a report that the steamer Yorkton had been forced on shore by the storm and ice, but later released herself and was heading for the Soo. Grand Marais reported last evening that the wind which was blowing northwesterly was becoming of gale force, piling the ice which had been out of vision in Lake Superior, back into Whitefish Point and Whitefish Bay. The Peter Reiss, upbound last evening, became fast in the ice in Iroquois Bay and did not attempt further passage until this morning.

Police Rout Demonstration of "Reds" At Kitchener Civic Reception To Byng

Special to London Advertiser. KITCHENER, April 19.—During the reception to Baron Byng of Vimy at the city hall here today a group of Kitchener Socialists started to stage a "red" demonstration. They came down Benton street directly opposite the city hall and opened up banners carrying slogans such as

"Work or Compensation" and like sentiments. One of the group attempted to deliver a speech in the hearing of the governor-general, but the demonstration was promptly broken up by the police, several arrests being made. The affair was over so quickly that Lord Byng had scarcely a chance to notice the disorder.

LACK FAITH IN GENOA PARLEY

Is Tenor of Internationales' Opening Sessions At Rome.

Italian Chief Believes Russia Must Be Accepted Without Reservations.

Rome, April 20.—Lack of confidence in the accomplishment by the Genoa economic conference of anything worth while for the relief of the working people of the various nations was expressed in the addresses today inaugurating the congress of the Amsterdam Internationales here, representing 24,000,000 organized workmen. Representatives of all European countries were present for the opening of the congress when James S. Thomas, the English labor leader, introduced President Dragona of the Italian Federation of Labor to deliver the address of welcome.

"For the Genoa conference I have little hope," said President Dragona. "We saw there the same old nationalistic clashes that have characterized these conferences since the end of the great war. Let us rather put our hope in this conference here to bring relief to the great sufferings of the proletariat."

"Our trust is that true peace will be found in the solidarity of the peoples. The nationalistic spirit is rampant in Genoa, however, and there is little chance that relief will come from that gathering."

The members of the council of the Internationales had been in session in Genoa for several days in preparation for the opening here, adopting a program designed to organize labor must make its voice heard in the reconstruction of the world, and that the economic crisis could be overcome only by the co-operation of all nations on equal footing in the work of reconstruction.

The program says, in part: "The present economic crisis is the outcome of errors committed after the war by nationalization and economic imperialism, ignoring the moral independence of peoples and allowing the development of super-capitalism. At a time when it is necessary to utilize the work of every man there are 10,000,000 unemployed. The European economic crisis can be overcome only by international action to organize and co-ordinate the efforts of all peoples for the common good. Economic equilibrium cannot be reached unless all nations keep on an equal footing in the work of reconstruction. Therefore, we believe Russia must be given, without reservations and without inferiority, her place among the European nations."

POLITICAL LULL EXISTS IN INDIA

London, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—A temporary lull prevails in the political situation in India, according to a Reuters cable from Simla and the much-advertised "national week" produced a poor response throughout the country, both as regards hartals and collections of funds. It is believed that the non-co-operators are seriously short of money. The reasons for the present lull include a good harvest and the impossibility of sustaining popular excitement over the internment of the leaders of the non-co-operators. There are also internal dissensions due to Gandhi's removal and failure to achieve tangible results, particularly with regard to the frequently promised Swaraj or home rule.

TEACHERS WILL ASSIST STRIKERS

Calgary, April 20.—Financial aid will be given Brandon school teachers if they go on strike April 30, it was decided by the Alberta Teachers' Alliance in convention here yesterday. The alliance executive will make a list on all members. It was suggested at the meeting that the strike pay would be made direct to the teachers, and not through the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Support of the Brandon teachers in their fight against a 25 per cent reduction in their salaries, was pledged by the Manitoba Teachers' Federation at a meeting held in Winnipeg last night.

URGES USE OF TWO LANGUAGES

Professor Morrison of Queen's University Champions Cause of Bilingualism.

Dr. John Dearness of London Advocates Phonetics As Aid To Teaching.

TORONTO, April 19.—Bilingualism as the best means of uniting the sympathies of the two principal races in Canada was urged by Professor Morrison of Queen's University in his address tonight at the general meeting of the Education Association of Ontario. In the building of this country, said Professor Morrison, there must be friendliness and co-operation and complete sanity between the English and French-speaking peoples. "I am not going to raise technicalities," he said, "but so long as the educated man in Ontario does not know French, and so long as the educated man in Quebec does not know sufficient English you will have misunderstandings. I believe there is no call before the Canadian people which is so great as just that call to get together and learn the common languages of this great country."

Built On Dual Basis. The speaker remarked that Canada is built on a dual basis. It was French; it was British. "In all our work, political and educational," he said, "we can never part from the fundamental fact of our existence, that there are two positions. The Dominion, however, is one, and will remain one. Practical education, and politicians must shape their policies on that dual basis. Whatever your prejudices may be," he continued, "you must face the fact that as educationists, there is nothing for it but a modus vivendi with your French brothers and sisters."

Professor John Dearness of London, addressing the Spelling Reform section of the association, urged the use of phonetics as an aid to primary teaching, and said a saving of one-third of the children's time could thus be effected.

Professor Dearness also addressed the natural science section, and suggested that the method of teaching in high schools could be made more effective by making it bear on training the constructive imagination of the pupil—thus high school graduates could use their knowledge when brought face to face with new conditions, and that was not always the case at present.

Scores Autocracy. P. C. MacLaurin of Belleville, in the high school principals' section, declared: "It is possible that in school affairs autocracy has held sway longer than in any other administration, large or small." He advocated the establishment of an advisory council of teachers and members of the board of education for outside administration. Miss Alma Binzel, assistant professor of the child-training department of Cornell University, addressed the trustees' section, the home and school federation and the kindergarten section. She advocated the establishment of departments of parenthood in Canadian and American colleges, with nursery schools where children might be observed, studied and managed along lines agreed upon by physicians, psychologists, educators and sociologists.

Pays Tribute to Press. Incidentally, Miss Binzel paid a tribute to the Canadian newspapers. "To be able to come down to breakfast with a local newspaper that does not scream murder, divorce and the latest harrowing sensation at you," she said, "makes me want to ask: 'How do you do it?'" Hugh Bryan of Renfrew was elected president of the high school principals' section. E. Pugsley, Kitchener, was elected president of the natural science section.

Day's Legislative Doings at Ottawa

TODAY IN PARLIAMENT. In the Commons. Bills on the order paper will be considered. Main estimates will probably be taken up. In the Senate. The Senate will not sit. YESTERDAY IN PARLIAMENT. In the Commons. Premier King submitted the report of the law officers of the crown in regard to the reconstitution of the wheat board. The report was to the effect that reconstitution of the wheat board with the same compulsory powers as exercised by the old wheat board, did not lie within the powers of parliament. The opinion was expressed that creation of a voluntary pool was permissible. Fred Kay (Liberal, Mississippi) moved a resolution declaring it desirable that legislation be introduced during the present session to prohibit the adoption of daylight saving in any part of Canada. Debate on the resolution occupied the whole of the afternoon sitting. William Duff (Liberal, Lunenburg) moved in amendment that in the opinion of the House "it is not desirable that daylight saving time be adopted in any part of Canada."

Discussion was still in progress when the House adjourned at 6 o'clock. In the Senate. NO DAMAGE FROM FROST. St. Catharines, April 20.—Leading fruit growers today agree that the two degrees of frost which visited the fruit belt last night caused no damage, the buds being not sufficiently far advanced.

INGERSOLL NURSES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

MILK CASE, UNDECIDED. Magistrate Paterson Reserves Judgment in Action Brought by Government Inspector.

Special to London Advertiser. INGERSOLL, April 19.—The graduating exercises in connection with the Alexandra Hospital School of Nursing, held in the town hall, were very largely attended. There were three graduating nurses, Miss Emma E. Pfaff, Miss Violet E. Stephenson and Miss Madeline L. Martin, the latter being from London. The chair was occupied by H. C. Wilson, president of the hospital trust. An excellent program was rendered, which included an address of welcome by Dr. J. M. Rogers, and an address on the work that the hospitals are doing by the government inspector, Dr. Alex. McKay. The diplomas were presented by W. J. Elliott, and Mrs. Vern Meek presented the class pins.

The decision of Magistrate Paterson in the cases in which local milk vendors were charged under a town bylaw with supplying milk below the required standard is awaited with keen interest by citizens. Samples of milk were recently taken from all the vendors while making deliveries, and the test was made by Government Inspector Geo. M. McKenzie.

The standard set in the bylaw is 2.1 butterfat, and 12 per cent total solids. Three of the samples tested below this, and one of them was only 2.2 butterfat and 10.92 total solids.

Counsel for the defendants claimed that the standard in the bylaw was higher at the time it was passed than the statute would allow, and he questioned its legality, in view of the point raised, although he said he had no hesitancy in considering the particular milk in question below the standard. The magistrate reserved judgment, and the standing of the bylaw will be investigated.

HOUSE DEFERS TAKING ACTION ON 'TIME' ISSUE

Daylight Saving Resolution Presented by Kay Discussed At Length.

DUFF HAS AMENDMENT

Deputy Minister Gives Opinion On Wheat Board Question.

OTTAWA, April 19.—(By Canadian Press)—Daylight saving held the stage in the house during practically the whole of the afternoon session.

W. F. Kay (Liberal, Mississauga) had a motion calling for an expression of opinion from the house that "it is desirable that legislation should be introduced this session to prohibit the adoption of daylight saving in any part of Canada."

Generally speaking, the trend of opinion was against daylight saving, although the desirability of the resolution in its existing wording was questioned.

William Duff (Liberal, Lunenburg) had an amendment. He moved that the motion merely express the opinion of the house that "it is not desirable that daylight saving time be adopted in any part of Canada."

Discussion was still in progress when, at 6 o'clock, the house adjourned. The resolution and amendment were never expressed in the order paper to the end of public bills and orders.

Mr. Kay, in introducing his motion, said that daylight saving had been introduced as a war-time measure.

Mr. Kay read a series of letters while the members amused themselves by shouting, "taken as read," and "hear, hear." One letter written by a Toronto man declared daylight saving was the "worst fraud ever imposed on white people."

Mr. Church, whose hobby is daylight saving, he has been reading with sustained laughter. Dealing further with Mr. Church, the Torontoian asserted that "he has tried to run this city as he will try to run the house at Ottawa."

Mr. Church asked that the letter be laid on the table of the house and amid applause from all sides requested the name of the author of the letter.

Sir Henry Drayton, rising to a point of order, declared that it was out of order to read anonymous communications reflecting upon any of the members of the house.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, the speaker, replied that daylight saving had been debated in the house on previous occasions. In dealing with Sir Henry's first objection Mr. Lemieux said that a member was speaking to the point if he quoted opinions in support of a resolution.

Mr. Kay expressed the view that if the Federal Parliament had not the power to prohibit daylight saving or to declare standard time the British North America act should be amended to give it that power.

Farmers could not successfully carry on their work under daylight saving. It was necessary for them to rise an hour before dawn and to get out the dew, and it was undesirable.

part of the product is exported and the dimensions doctrine can succeed. The compulsory powers which were possessed by the wheat board.

"It is certain that the essential compulsory powers of the wheat board are prima facie included in the provincial enumerations of property and civil right or local matters in the province.

"While I do not suggest a doubt that conditions of export from the Dominion and foreign trade relations may be regulated by Parliament, I am impressed with the view that these powers cannot be made to cover for legislation which denies freedom of contract, capacity to buy and sell, and the maintenance and execution of property rights which exist under provincial laws."

Parliament, however, has an undoubted right to create a board with voluntary powers.

"It is my opinion," said Mr. Newcombe in the document tabled today, "that the reconstitution of the wheat board in the present circumstances with the powers conferred thereon by orders-in-council is a project consisting of an incompetent to the Parliament of Canada."

The deputy minister of justice deals at length with the powers which were conferred upon the old Canada Wheat Board, and says: "It will be perceived that these powers naturally group themselves into two heads. There are enabling or facultative provisions and there are compulsory provisions. As to those of the former class, I apprehend that Parliament has undoubted authority to constitute a board for the purpose of buying and selling, and to enable it to contract and exercise such powers as are necessary or incidental to a voluntary undertaking."

The board is, however, invested with compulsory powers and for the purpose of considering the authority of Parliament to constitute a commission clothed with these powers it is well to mention some of them separately. They include (a) fixing of maximum prices of margins of profit on wheat to be sold by millers;

(b) the compulsory taking of wheat in store or in transit subject to compensation fixed by the board, including power by order of the board to transfer the property in any wheat so stored, or in transit to such purchaser and upon such terms as the board may nominate and prescribe;

(c) prohibition of the buying and selling of wheat in Canada in commission or otherwise, and the operating of elevators or warehouses for wheat except by license of the board;

(d) authority to regulate delivery to the board of wheat sold or purchased in Canada; (e) regulation by the board of the dealings of its licensees.

"These coercive powers would be exercisable by the board in provinces, says the document, and they directly affect property and the exercise of civil rights in the provinces; they enable the board generally not only to have a monopoly of the trade in wheat, but also to regulate the price of flour manufactured in a province even from wheat grown in that province; they may be exercised to forbid trading in the province except by Dominion license. They are, therefore, powers of the character described by the British North America act, 1867, as relating to matters coming within property and civil rights in the province, or matters of a merely local or private nature in the province."

Consequently, upon well-established principles of interpretation the reconstitution of the wheat board with these powers is competent to the Parliament of Canada only if the necessary enacting authority be found in the enumerated Dominion powers of legislation in which case the prima facie provincial powers are overborne.

No Question Suggested.

"No question is suggested as to the authority of Parliament or of the governor-in-council under the war measures act, and the confirming acts to give effect to the orders-in-council under which the former wheat board was established and exercised the powers which were conferred upon it."

The opinion states, however, that the temporary nature of these orders was evident, and goes on to say: "It is thus plain that the provisions affecting the former board were sanctioned only as war measures."

ST. THOMAS GIRL RECEIVES MEDAL FOR SAVING LIFE

Kathleen Smith Presented With Tribute By Sir Robert Falconer.

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, April 19.—Kathleen Smith, daughter of E. A. Smith, Roseberry Place, was on Wednesday night presented with a Carnegie medal for life-saving.

Miss Smith, who is engaged in settlement work in Toronto, was one of the two who were in charge of the university settlement camp on Lake Simcoe last summer, and her brave and timely assistance saved the lives of the small son of one of the summer residents and the boy's nursemaid.

The child and its nurse had gone in bathing and got beyond their depth. Miss Smith, who was not dressed for swimming, heard their cries and, jumping in, succeeded in bringing them to land after a considerable struggle.

Mr. Nickle started out by arraiving the attorney-general on a charge of accepting profits for his government out of the iniquitous racket betting which for many years he had publicly condemned.

What Mr. Nickle charged the attorney-general with particularly was not utilizing his most strenuous endeavors now he was in office to put racket betting out of business. The attorney-general, he said, to test out the jurisdiction of the province in the matter of racket betting, should carry the case to that place he "loathes" so much, the foot of the throne.

With Special Warrants. Considerable of Mr. Nickle's attention had to do with special warrants, running up a cost of $825,000. In this account alone, he said, he found a total of $344,000 placed in capital account which should have been charged against revenue account. He directly challenged the provincial treasurer in respect to an item of $345,000 bonus to civil servants which had been charged as capital account.

Mr. Nickle's criticisms embraced not only hundreds of thousands of dollars which he charged were wrongly accounted, but in ringing tones he charged across the floor of the house that provincial outgoing payments due before the end of the fiscal year, October 31, 1921, had been deliberately laid up so as not to appear in this year's balance sheets, while on the other hand, receipts were extended for a period of weeks after the end of the fiscal year and entered to help out the government's supposed surplus.

CHARGES SMITH WITH 'JUGGLING' WITH 'JUGGLING'

W. F. Nickle, K.C., Accuses Provincial Treasurer of Improper Accounting Methods.

Declares Surplus of $680,000 Wiped Out More Than Five Times.

TORONTO, April 19.—W. F. Nickle, K.C., Conservative member for Kingston, opened fire on Provincial Treasurer Smith in the Legislature to night and accused him of juggling accounts with regard to capital and ordinary expenditures to the extent of $3,270,000.

He proceeded item by item to criticize amounts wrongly placed, according to him, in capital columns and challenged the prime minister and the provincial treasurer to rise and question any single one of his conclusions.

Surplus Wiped Out. What are the people of the province to think of such methods of administration and bookkeeping? demanded Mr. Nickle, when he said, he had shown without denial from the treasury benches, that the provincial surplus of $680,000 was wiped out not once or twice, but more than five times by what, in his opinion, was the correct accounting of the various items upon which he touched.

Mr. Nickle's criticisms embraced not only hundreds of thousands of dollars which he charged were wrongly accounted, but in ringing tones he charged across the floor of the house that provincial outgoing payments due before the end of the fiscal year, October 31, 1921, had been deliberately laid up so as not to appear in this year's balance sheets, while on the other hand, receipts were extended for a period of weeks after the end of the fiscal year and entered to help out the government's supposed surplus.

In this account alone, he said, he found a total of $344,000 placed in capital account which should have been charged against revenue account. He directly challenged the provincial treasurer in respect to an item of $345,000 bonus to civil servants which had been charged as capital account.

Mr. Nickle's criticisms embraced not only hundreds of thousands of dollars which he charged were wrongly accounted, but in ringing tones he charged across the floor of the house that provincial outgoing payments due before the end of the fiscal year, October 31, 1921, had been deliberately laid up so as not to appear in this year's balance sheets, while on the other hand, receipts were extended for a period of weeks after the end of the fiscal year and entered to help out the government's supposed surplus.

Mr. Nickle started out by arraiving the attorney-general on a charge of accepting profits for his government out of the iniquitous racket betting which for many years he had publicly condemned.

What Mr. Nickle charged the attorney-general with particularly was not utilizing his most strenuous endeavors now he was in office to put racket betting out of business. The attorney-general, he said, to test out the jurisdiction of the province in the matter of racket betting, should carry the case to that place he "loathes" so much, the foot of the throne.

With Special Warrants. Considerable of Mr. Nickle's attention had to do with special warrants, running up a cost of $825,000. Predicts Movies in Home by Radio.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Transmission of both motion pictures and music by radio to the homes of the present generation was predicted in a speech by E. L. Eastman, director of the KYW Radio Station.

"We have sent pictures by wire already," he said, "and anything that can be sent by wire can be sent by radio. It is possible already to send two different things over the same wave length. Pictures will come next."

Mr. Eastman predicted that in the near future motion pictures and music would be transmitted to homes by radio. He mentioned that the KYW Radio Station had already sent pictures by wire and that anything that can be sent by wire can be sent by radio.

URGES GIRLS TO BE PICTURE IN HOME

DENVER, April 19.—Girls—be a picture in your home, not a cartoon. If you have an abnormal waist line, dress to reduce it.

Distinguishing between accent and accident in costumes. These are a few of the pointers meant for women—from flappers to grandmothers—given by Miss Evelyn Hansen of the Chicago Art Institute here last night.

For the young maiden Miss Hansen believes in the simple effects of fashion; for the old, the more "luscious" effects. "The trouble with most women is that they dress for public and not for private," Miss Hansen said. "The woman whose costume attracts is not necessarily well dressed. An elephant can't dress like a butterfly."

JURY DIFFERS WITH EXPERT

Believes Racine Wounded Before Falling or Thrown Into Lake.

Dr. Delorme, Criminologist, Asserts Death Due To Drowning.

Ottawa, Ont., April 20.—That an unknown man, since identified as Joseph Racine, came to his death on November 5, 1920, but when or how the jury cannot determine. "In our opinion he was struck on the head, fracturing the frontal bone, before he either fell into the water or was put in."

The verdict returned by the jury tonight is in conflict with the view entertained by Dr. Wilfrid Delorme, noted criminologist of Montreal, who shortly after the finding of the body was requested by the Quebec attorney-general's department to per- form an autopsy.

Dr. Delorme was not present to give evidence, nor was Detective Houle, of the Quebec provincial police, who shortly after the find- ing of the body was asked by the Quebec government to investigate the death of Racine. In the con- clusion of the inquest, Dr. T. R. Davies, the coroner, who ever since the body has been found has been inclined to the view that Racine was murdered, stated that he intended making a full report of the inquest and submitting the evidence of the inquest, together with his opinions on the matter, to Provincial Chief of Detectives Lorrain, and request him to conduct a further investigation.

Lloyd George to the German states- men today over the treaty incident which at one time threatened to dis- rupt the economic conference, was believed to have cleared the political atmosphere, but as neither the Ger- man nor the Russian reply regarding acceptances of the conditions for the restoration of Russia was forthcoming, the situ- ation is still considered critical.

THE "EASY" Cut to Rock-Bottom Cost IS YOURS THIS WEEK FOR ONLY $10 DOWN
The two vacuum cups, the distinctive feature of the Easy Vacuum-Electric Washer, do the work of human hands, but without an ounce of effort on your part.
By air pressure and suction these cups gently, yet irresistibly, force the hot soapy water through the meshes of the soiled fabrics, sixty times a minute, thoroughly, quickly cleansing such dainty things as silk and georgette, yet never harming a thread.
It washes heavy blankets, and all the articles in the family washing in the same efficient, laborless and inexpensive manner.
Then when the washing is done the smoothly-polished interior surface of the big copper tank is quite as easily cleaned, and that, in buying a washing machine, is a point to remember.

FREE TRIAL
Let us demonstrate the Easy in your own home. Phone 7000, or come to the Hydro Shop before next wash day and we will gladly do the washing for you. It will cost you nothing, and you will be under no obligation to buy. "Easy" experts are demonstrating this wonderful labor-saver in the Hydro Shop—windows every day this week.
