A SUGGESTION

It is understood that the Education Department will this fall make an extensive exhibit of the work done in the manual training schools of Ontario at Toronto and London Fairs. The London fair ends on Sept. 19 while the Peninsula Fair, at Chatham opens a few days later. It would be a most enterprising and excellent move on the part of the local Board of Directors to secure this exhibit in its entirety for the Peninsula Exhibition. Manual training is engrossing the attention of the school boards and the general public at the present time and the securing of the exhibit would give all a good opportunity to investigate the work done, besides providing a splendid attraction for the fair.

OWEN SOUND EXCITED.

MRS. ROY IS CHARGED WITH A GRAVE OFFENCE.

Alleged to be the Person Who Blinded Emma Boyce With Carbolic Acid—No Bail.

Owen Sound, Aug. 14.—Mrs. David Roy, wife of the C. P. R. construction foreman at this point, who is charged with having blinded Emma Boyce through having dashed carbolic acid into her eyes, was brought before Police Magistrate Spencer and Mr. John Rutherford, J.P., yesterday morning. A. D. Cressor, solicitor for the prisoner, appeared for bail, stating that if his client's story were true her arrest was an outrage. County Crown Attorney Armstrong stated that the evidence in his possession was of such a nature that he could not recommend that bail be granted. The Magistrate concurred in this view. The gravity of the crime was so great that bail might not offer the restraint that it would in other cases, as a life sentence was the possible penalty. The woman who preferred the charge was maimed for life, and would lose the sight of one eye. The prisoner was therefore removed to jail on a week's remand. According to the story of Emma Boyce, told to the police, she was first knocked down with a club, after which her assailant tried to open her mouth to pour the acid down her throat. She bit one of her assailant's fingers, and the acid was scattered over her arm. The medical testimony as to the examination of the prisoner will, therefore, have an important bearing on the case.

TWO YEARS FOR WHITE.

Office Boy Who Stole $8,000 Goes to Reformatory.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—Sidney White, the sixteen-year-old office boy who pleaded guilty to stealing over $8,000 in bonds and cash from the law firm of Macdonald, Shepley, Middleton & Donald, by whom he was employed, was yesterday sentenced by Colonel Denison in the Children's Court to two years in the Reformatory at Penitentiary. The lad took the sentence stolidly. He said he had stolen the money in order to go to sea as a sailor. Mr. D. L. Van Vleet, the contractor, was present to testify to the boy's previous good character. In delivering sentence Colonel Denison remarked that if people who held positions of trust and have influential friends who will try to get them off when they do wrong get the idea that they will be let off on suspended sentence there will be no bar to their doing wrong. An example had to be made to show that justice could not be trifled with.

SWEDES ARRESTED.

Charged With Breaking Contract With the Canadian Pacific Railway. Calgary, Aug. 14.—Twenty Swedes are under arrest at the barracks here on a charge of breach of contract. They have just come from Europe. They say that they were induced to come here by agents of the C.P.R., who represented that they would get from $2 to $3 per day. At Quebec they signed a contract which they believed was a pass, but what turned out to be a contract for the year, to work for $1.50 per day. They quit work yesterday and were promptly arrested. The railway authorities say these men knew what wages they were to get, but find now that they can get more money harvesting.

LORD SALISBURY ILL.

In a Critical Condition at Hatfield House.

London, Aug. 14.—Lord Salisbury is seriously indisposed, according to information received direct from his family at Hatfield House. The late Premier is greatly exhausted, and physicians are in attendance. It is stated to-night that there is no immediate danger, although it is admitted that the condition of the Marquis of Salisbury is critical. He has not been well for months, and at present exhaustion is pronounced. According to a medical journal Lord Salisbury has suffered for years from intestinal paresis. His health was severely shaken by the death of his wife in 1900.

SPLENDID SHOWING OF SCHOOLS DELIGHTS INSPECTOR AND BOARD

All Past Records Eclipsed—Both Schools Highly Commended

—Tributes to Miss Abram and Longwell—

The Estimates.

The most important matter brought up at the meeting of the Public School Board last evening, was the half-yearly report from the Public School Inspector, Robert Park. This report was a very lengthy one and went very minutely into the conditions which have existed in the Maple City schools during the past term, criticisms on the work done by the teachers, and gave a few hints as to improvements which would advance the interests of our Public school education.

The only drawback that we have had in the schools, said Mr. Park, in his report, was the outbreak of diphtheria during April. Through the prompt action on the part of the School Board, the sanitary conditions of the school were put in up-to-date condition and the attendance afterwards rose steadily higher than before. There has been much progress made in the schools during the past term, the rooms have been well filled and the pupils have been well prepared in their work.

Mr. Park then dealt with each school in reference to McKenough school he said:—
"Never in the history of the school has better work been done there, than during the past year. This is true in every classroom and in every subject. What changes have been made in arranging the teaching staff have worked admirably, especially in the case of Miss Longwell. She is one of the best teachers in the school. The results of the entrance class are eminently satisfactory. Notwithstanding the increased difficulty of the examination the number passed was never higher, 37 candidates being passed. In the art school examination there is a marked improvement, 47 candidates being passed as compared with 23 the year before. The discipline in all of the rooms of the school is excellent. This school is modern and up-to-date in every particular, and is one of the best equipped schools in the province."

In reference to the Central School he said:—
"Notwithstanding the outbreak of diphtheria before referred to, there has been a splendid advancement in the enrollment. The average attendance has been so large that much difficulty has been experienced in the placing of the students. The upper forms will be filled this year, and instead of having 40 to 45 pupils in these forms, as was the case a few years ago, we will have from 80 to 90 pupils in the entrance class, occupying two full forms. We will have to have two junior fourth classes during the fall term, and if not it will be a necessity after Christmas. The double entrance form has come to stay in this school. I am very highly pleased with the work done by the teachers and the results of their efforts shows much progress. In 1901, 41 pupils passed the entrance; in 1902, the number was 54, while this year there has been an increase to 64 successful pupils. In the art work there has also been a good advance. Last year 26 pupils passed, while this year there were 79 successful pupils. I am quite certain that there will be a further advance in 1904."

In reference to Manual Training he said:—
"This subject, which is now occupying the attention of all educational institutions all over Ontario, and it will be necessary for us to do something new along educational lines, using, of course, a reasonable amount of precaution, so that we will not be left in the rear of the ranks of educational progress."
"The manual training is divided into two sections, drawing and working cardboard, weaving and modelling clay, and training in general handicraft, especially along carpenter's lines. To a certain extent we are following manual training in the schools at present. Special attention has been given to drawing and the weaving of cardboard is taught in our kindergartens. We have also found that it is quite easy to train teachers for this work. I would recommend that a room be fitted up with benches and tools and lockers. This will have to be put in the Central School where room can be provided."

Mr. Benson moved that the report be received and filed, and brought up at the next regular meeting. This was carried, after being seconded by Dr. Bray, who with Principal Plewes is heartily in accord with the manual training movement.

Mr. Heyward—This is the best report I have ever heard read at this board. It is with great satisfaction that I hear of the advancement made in the McKenough school. When Miss Abram was appointed to the principalship I was one who opposed her. I am now pleased to be one to join in congratulating her on her splendid and most efficient work. May she next year pass even more pupils and may the school prosper under her direction, as I now feel sure it will.

The members present at the meeting were—Chairman Robertson, and Trustees Bray, Benson, Paxton, Clements and Heyward.
An application from Miss Nita Bounsell, for a position on the teaching staff was filed.
The estimates for the year were read and approved. This year the estimates are $15,300. Last year they were $14,000, and the year before $12,000.

The managers of the McKenough school will advertise a number of seats for sale.

Mr. Paxton reported that the metallic ceilings in the Central school are completed.

Miss Broadbent was appointed pianist at the McKenough kindergarten at a salary of $10 per month, and Miss Mildred Turner was appointed pianist of the Central school kindergarten at a salary of $12 per month.

The Finance committee's report was as follows:—

REV. MR. ENGLISH'S DEATH.

Suddenly Expired in a Winnipeg Hotel—A Resident of Cobourg.

Fort William, Aug. 14.—Rev. Mr. English of Cobourg, Ont., dropped dead in the Queen's Hotel yesterday morning, shortly after the arrival of the express from the west, on which he was a passenger for the east. Mr. English was accompanied by his wife, whom he left at the station waiting-room while he moved from the clerk when the boat sailed for Houghton, Mich. He suddenly dropped, and life was found to be extinct when the doctor arrived, death being due to heart trouble. Mr. and Mrs. English had been visiting their son in Chillicothe, B. C., and were on their way to Harbor Springs, Mich., to visit their two daughters there. The body will be forwarded to Cobourg to-morrow morning. The deceased was a resident of Cobourg for over seventeen years, a superannuated Methodist minister, and over 80 years of age. A son lives in Cobourg.

PUGNACIOUS LIEUTENANT.

AND THE FISHING TUG SILVER SPRAY.

Will Remain on the Lakes Until the Incident is Closed Instead of Going to Tampa, Mich.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—The United States revenue cutter Fessenden, which left Detroit yesterday morning for Buffalo, en route to Tampa, Fla., will undoubtedly take a hand in the controversy which has arisen over the firing by the Canadian cutter Petrel upon the fishing tug Silver Spray. First Lieut. Quinman of the Fessenden when seen aboard the cutter last night was greatly surprised when told the Petrel had fired upon an American vessel, and said he would not be a bit surprised to find orders at Buffalo instructing Commander Howison to deter the trip through the canals to Montreal and thence to Tampa and remain on the lakes long enough at least to visit the Petrel-Silver Spray controversy, and report to the department at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 14.—No despatches have been received during the day by the United States State Department concerning the firing upon the fishing vessel by a Canadian revenue cutter in Lake Erie. Several officers of the department upon reading the despatches of the occurrence searched for precedents in such cases, and found none. In the absence of advice it is believed that the case is not of such serious consequences as to make it an international complication.

RAILWAY RATES

W. F. Maclean's amendment fixing the maximum passenger rate on railways in Canada at two cents a mile was voted down by the "representatives" of the people, as was expected. Easy for the "representatives." They travel on passes; they don't pay even two cents a mile. What do they care what the people pay? What need they care? The people are too much interested in party politics to bother their heads about anything else. Mr. Maclean pointed out that while in certain of the United States the rate was fixed by law at two cents a mile, and the railways made money at that rate, in Canada as high as four cents a mile is charged. An American buying his ticket in the State of Michigan, is able to travel over Canada at the rate of two cents a mile; but the Canadian must pay three cents, even on railways which the people themselves have practically built. But he argued in vain. It is to be feared that the railway pass is of more importance to some of the "representatives" than the interests of their constituents. And who can blame them? When people fail to take an interest in their own affairs they need not expect others will do their work for them.—Woodstock Express.

C. W. Mitchell, who has sold the Ottawa Free Press, intends taking it easy for the rest of his days, and can well afford to. We have not the pleasure of Mr. Mitchell's acquaintance, but the fact that he has made money in the newspaper business argues that he must be a pretty smart man.

PRAYER OF THE CONVERT.

Carleton's Magazine.

A South Sea islander, at the close of a religious meeting, offered the following prayer:

"O God, we are about to go to our respective homes. Let not the words we have heard be like the fine clothes we wear, soon to be taken off and folded up in a box till another Sabbath comes round. Rather, let Thy truth be like the tattoo on our bodies, ineffaceable till death."

OUR PIOUS WITNESS GETS GAY.

Montreal Witness.

The hunting of the shark is going to be outdone by the hunting of Mr. Rothschild's flea. A peculiarity of the flea was established by a celebrated Irish philosopher, namely, that when you put your finger on it it is not there. Its moves are like those of the chess knight; so that, after one, there is no way of knowing where it is. The flea hunt is a favorite pastime with most uncultured peoples, from the Neapolitan to the Apache, who, at evening, sit in strings in each other's laps to be gone over. But we do not remember before of the flitting out of a maritime expedition in pursuit of a flea. The Greeks of old fitted out one. It is true, to obtain a golden fleece, and there may have been some fleas in that.

ALEX. F. PIRIE.

London Advertiser.

His humor sparkled in all his utterances, written and spoken, and seemed the natural expression of a sunny and buoyant temperament, in love with life and inclined to see the bright side of things. Among his friends he was the soul of geniality and good fellowship. It was a privilege to know him intimately and to feel the sunshine of his personality. There was no trace of morbidness in his nature, and if his wit, was keen it left no sting. The most kind-hearted of men, he never employed his gifts of tongue and pen to wound the feelings, even in the heat of controversy. It is inconceivable that he committed this tragic act when in his right senses.

Athena Saved by Poetry. When (B. C. 404) after a heroic struggle Athens, the "City of the Violet Crown," was captured by Lysander there were not wanting clamorous voices to urge that the city whose lot for empire had brought such woes on Greece ought to be laid level with the ground.

The Spartan general at first lent a willing ear to his powerful allies, but while the council was still debating this momentous issue a plaintive voice was heard from the city walls chanting these noble lines from the "Electra" of Euripides, that most human of the poets of Greece, in which the heroine contrasts her fallen lot with the splendid exploits of her father, who had dismantled the towers of Troy.

Lysander bent his head and pondered on fortune's cruel reverse. Triumphant as Agamemnon, who could tell but that he might be reserved for a fate as cruel? The lesson of moderation was accepted. Athens was saved. Milton has immortalized this dramatic event in one of his best known sonnets.

The repeated air Of sad Electra's poet had the power To save the Athenian walls from ruin bare.

Language Was Not Needed. "I don't see how the count could propose to you when he can't talk any English and you don't speak French."

"Oh, it was very easy! We were sitting in the parlor. Pointing up at an oil painting of papa, the count took out a piece of paper and a pencil. Then he set down a dollar mark and after it placed a figure 1. Looking at me out of his big, deep, eloquent, lovely eyes, he began making cipher after the dollar mark and the figure 1. When he had made four ciphers, which, with the other figure, meant $10,000, he stopped. I nodded my head for him to go on. Then he made another cipher. That meant $100,000. I nodded my head again. He made another, which raised it to $1,000,000. I nodded for him to go ahead. He put down another cipher, making it $10,000,000. Then I smiled and took the pencil from him, and he caught me in his arms and—oh, it was so lovely! It almost seems like a dream to think that in three weeks I shall be a real countess."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Aug. 14.—One of the cleanest, swiftest games of lacrosse that has been played in this district this season took place here yesterday, between the C. L. A. team of Wallaceburg and a team that Chatham gathered up from the best teams in the province for the occasion. We might say that Chatham was represented. The game was played for the Gray cup. Wallaceburg opened up well, scoring twice before Chatham.

In the first of the second quarter, followed by a score by Wallaceburg. Chatham again scored, followed again by Wallaceburg. Two scores were then obtained by Chatham. In the last quarter Wallaceburg scored one. Chatham then scored for the last time, making the score 5-5. Wallaceburg did their best to play out the game, but Chatham wouldn't listen to it. Evidently their splendid combination work did not give them confidence enough to finish the game. Wallaceburg considers the treatment very unfair, as the Wallaceburg team stayed over at their own convenience and played the tie out with Chatham at their last game. Chatham put up the best game they ever did, owing to the imported material. The Chatham players spent more time off for rough plays than Wallaceburg.

Then the Band Worked.

Some months after K., as Tommy calls Lord Kitchener, had taken over command from Lord Roberts during the recent war in South Africa he had occasion to visit some block-houses which were in course of erection just outside one of the leading commercial towns. One, he noticed, had been placed in a rather exposed position, and he therefore ordered trenches and sangas to be thrown up at once, in order to strengthen it.

Going inside one of the block-houses—they are all connected by telephone—he rang up the officer commanding a unit in the town, when the following dialogue took place:

K.—Are you there?
C. O.—Yes, sir.

K.—Are you in command of the shire regiment?
C. O.—Yes, sir.

K.—I want a working party, fifty strong, with trenching tools, to be here at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning.

C. O.—I beg your pardon, sir, but my men are all employed on something or other, the majority escorting prisoners down the line.

K.—Oh, I see. Ah, is that a band I hear playing there?
C. O. (heating)—Y-yes, sir.

K.—Oh, it is. What band?
C. O.—Regimental band, sir, playing under the mess.

K.—Playing at mess? Well—ah—just have those instruments put away for some future occasion, will you, and make that working party 100 strong, to arrive here to-morrow at 6 a.m., or there will be a regimental command vacation.

C. O. (stammering)—Very good, sir.

That working party were mostly bandmen. Kitchener had heard the music vibrating on the telephone instrument.

Bears a Charmed Life.

Colonel Gordon Money, the new commander of the forces in Ceylon, in succession to the late Sir Hector Macdonald, is a soldier who has borne a charmed life. He is being moved up slowly for an officer of his dash and ability, for he only now takes brigade rank at Colombo, but doubtless he will soon be given the K.C.B. Col. Money had his baptism on the Nile nearly twenty years ago, and for his brilliant work at Omdurman got special mention at the D. S. O. At Athara in later times he had his horse cut from under him, and on the heavier day further on at Khartoum he had two horses shot between his legs, and got out of trouble by a miracle. For this the despatches included him again, and he was enrolled on the C. B. list.

BROTHER OF CRIMEAN HERO.

Member of Distinguished Nova Scotia Family Passes Away.

The part played by a son of Nova Scotia in the Great Crimean struggle is recalled by the death at Gay's River, Colchester County, Nova Scotia, on Saturday, June 13, of G. H. O. Parker, a brother of Capt. Parker, the hero of Alma. The Welsford-Parker Monument, which stands in Old St. Paul's burial ground, was erected to commemorate the gallant deeds of Major Welsford and Capt. Parker. The former was killed at Sebastopol and the latter who was a captain in the famous 77th Regiment, was killed at Alma. He fell while leading his men to victory in that decisive struggle. Capt. Parker was the first to scale the walls, and was shot down when victory was almost in sight. He was a great favorite in Halifax, where his regiment was stationed before the Crimea, was several times mentioned in despatches and would have had rapid promotion had he lived.

Capt. Parker's brother, the subject of this sketch, was also in the Imperial service having served in the Royal Navy for many years. About forty years ago he retired from the navy and located at Gay's River, where he had since lived a quiet life. The Parker family has been represented in the army and navy for over a hundred years, and was one of the oldest in Nova Scotia. Hon. Benjamin Green, who was a prominent Nova Scotian of the old days, and was once acting Lieut.-Governor, was grandfather of the deceased.

G. H. O. Parker was twice married. His first wife was a Miss Durrant, a well known Truro family. Three children were born of this union, viz: Mrs. William C. Noble, Boston; Wm. O. N. Parker, connected with the White House Clothing Co. of St. Catharines, Ont.; and Arthur Hyde Somerset Parker of St. Lawrence, Montreal. The deceased's second wife was a Miss Brehm of Dartmouth. She died only recently and was buried in Camp Hill Cemetery. Since his wife's death Mr. Parker commenced to fail and passed away on Saturday, June 13. He was 80 years of age.

A Moose in the City Streets.

During the recent dry spell a simble, powerful, anxious-looking cow moose made its appearance in the streets of St. John, N.B., and The Daily Telegraph says that it attracted much attention.

The animal had evidently been driven toward the city by the forest fires. It made its appearance on Fort Howe about 8 o'clock, and being startled by humans there, dashed down Millidge street, across Paradise row and along Mill street to the I.C.R. terminus, where it took to the water.

Everybody in sight gulped down his astonishment and attempted to intercept it. Small boats by the dozen put out, and one of them caught up to the moose when it was just off Long Wharf. The men cast a line around the animal's head and managed to row the captive into the ship. It was here the real fight commenced. The moose resented every effort to bring it to land. It struggled in one direction after another, and it kicked. It was brought under control only when additional lines were attached to it, and each hauled by scores of men and boys. Once on the land, the moose resorted to front and rear kicking; every method, honorable or unscrupulous, was employed in its attempt to break away, but eventually it was thrown and securely tied.

It was placed on a sledge on Smythe street, where it spent the night.

An Historic Celebration.

At Welland, on the evening of the 3rd June, 1903, Mr. Isaac P. Willson, who has for many years occupied the position of Registrar of the Surrogate Court and Clerk of the County Court of Welland, tendered at his residence, Strathaven, a banquet to about one hundred invited guests, in commemoration of his grandfather, Isaac Willson, who was a United Empire Loyalist, crossing the Niagara River one hundred and twenty years ago and settling in Canada. Mr. Willson, upon rising to respond to the toast of "Our Host," was given a most hearty and enthusiastic reception. Mr. Willson, who is a fine and interesting speaker, gave a most interesting speech, touching upon his ancestors coming to this country, and of the toils and hardships endured. The results assisting in building up Canada. It took his grandfather thirteen weeks to bring his family from New Jersey to the Niagara River. They then had to build rafts to cross to Canada. Upon arriving here they settled in Pelham Township, their descendants having resided in this district ever since. Mr. Willson gave many interesting reminiscences of his earlier life and hardships endured until the country was improved and prosperity was brought out of their labors.

B.C.'s Minister of Mines.

Hon. R. F. Green, the Minister of Mines in British Columbia's new Government, served in the Northwest rebellion, being in the pursuit of Big Bear. Mr. Green was born in Peterboro', and, after a short residence in the States, removed to Winnipeg in 1882. After the rebellion he became a resident of Revelstoke, B.C., where he is still in business. He has been in the Legislature since 1898, and is not ranked as a hard and fast partisan in Dominion affairs.

Best Sale of Lands.

A sale of lands held for school purposes took place during May in Regina. About 50,000 acres were sold, and the average price realized was $9.52 an acre. The highest prices realized were paid by farmers who bought lands adjacent to their property. This is described as the best land sale ever held in the Canadian West, and it is hoped that high watermark is not yet reached.

A Nightmare

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has its day time correspondence in the undue fullness of the stomach, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. When these diseases are cured, the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

Your "Golden Medical Discovery" and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes Prof. E. A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies I sleep was restless, digestion bad, a constant feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh, do not better than to take treatment of Dr. R. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It is better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

THE CHILD MIND.

Play and Its Significance—Prof. Murray, of Halifax, Lectures.

At the recent Presbyterian Summer School at Knox College, Toronto, Prof. Murray of Halifax delivered an address on "Child Mind and Teaching." He pointed out that the human being had certain instincts, but not the special instincts that he requires to meet civilized conditions. The aim of the teacher should be to enlarge the religious knowledge of the child, to utilize his instincts to interest him in religious things. It had been charged against such story writers as Seton-Thompson and Long that in dealing with animals they read too much of the man into their observations. What the teacher must avoid was reading too much of the adult into the child.

Prof. Murray entered into a long discourse with racy illustrations on the play of children. Spencer, he pointed out, had held child's play to be merely imitation of their elders. This was not the whole truth; little girls and little boys sought wholly different amusements; the real definition of play was that it was the expression of instincts. Many of those who had recently attended the General Assembly at Vancouver had visited Chinatown, and at least five different times had pointed out to him that Chinese children play just as Caucasian little ones do. But the customs of Chinese adults were entirely different from our own. Accepting the traditional view of the various periods in the life of the young, he pointed out that the first period was spent in acquiring sensations, or knowledge of the capabilities of the senses, touch, taste and smell.

The second period was spent in competitive sports. Tag, hopscotch and the like were buttresses of growing strength. Then, with adolescence of the social faculty.

Following up his subject, Prof. Murray showed that the ordinary human being acquired his knowledge of any object or subject, first by a general impression, and then by a grasp of the details, taking the very apt illustration of how one recognizes a friend approaching from the distance. The general deduction he drew was that the teacher should avoid burdening a child's mind with detail. Knowledge commenced with the vague and ended with the definite. The teacher should pick out the salient features of his theme and appeal to the child through his imagination.

READING CAMPS.

A Plan for Better Conditions Among Canada's Lumbermen—The Work Already Done—Lumber Camp Schools.

How many have actually seen the inside of a lumber camp at night? Imagine a log shanty, 100 feet long, and wide in proportion; bunks three deep all around, enough for from one to two hundred men. Wet socks, mitts, overalls, shirts are hung up to dry so thick you can hardly see the bunks on the other side. Some of the men are trying to mend torn clothing, which must be worn next day, some are trying to read in the dim, flickering light, some want to write, some are talking, some are singing, and as all have to grind their axes for next day, two grindstones are busy far into the night. Imagine a traveling preacher trying to get a hearing here. He cannot even see above twenty of his audience at a time. Suppose there is no preacher, what chance have the men for rest or recreation? Think what a boon to them would be a special rest and recreation camp. They would be able to live more as civilized human beings should. Then when the occasional preacher came along they would be able to hear him in comfort. And what applies to lumber camps applies to mining and railway construction camps also.

It was to provide just such camps that the Canadian Reading Camp Association started operations about three years ago.

First the association started in one or two lumber camps in New Ontario, and at its own expense built shanties, supplying them with tables and bookshelves, and stocked these with books, games, writing materials and newspapers. These papers were all up-to-date, so that the lumbermen could keep themselves posted in the news of the day. It was declared at first that the daily papers could not be got, but the association argued, the wagons have to go to the railway station regularly for the supplies, why should they not bring the daily papers, too? A strong leather bag was provided to hold them, and the daily papers in the camps was soon a matter of course. The books, a circulating library of fifty volumes, were provided by the Provincial Government. The men in charge of these reading camps are men of education, general ability and thorough Christian character. Protestant or Catholic, it matters not which, so long as their character is above reproach. Part of their expenses is paid by the association, and part they earn in the woods at work with the rest of the gang.

At first when the big lumber companies were approached and asked to contribute to the building they refused, saying there was nothing in it for them. But shortly they changed their minds, and now in every case the company gladly puts up the camp at its own expense.

Then it is important that men should be encouraged to spend their Sundays and other spare time in better ways than huddled in cramped quarters, drinking, gambling, telling or listening to the low jest, song or story. Sundays and rainy days in camp, when men are off work, are the longest in the year. Men suffer more from ennui, from mental and spiritual languor, than from overwork on other days. They are then ready to jump at any suggestion, no matter how vulgar, that promises even temporary relief from such bondage. Their moral diseases, that are the result of this lack of social and religious restraint, are of a much more serious character.

As a matter of fact employers often fear to give their men too much spare time, not from mercenary motives, but lest the time should be abused and employed in gambling, drinking and worse evils. Experience proves that to increase the hours of freedom without insuring that these hours are to be well employed is to drag men downward, and that this is true of the rich as well as the poor.

It was with this in view that a new department of the Association was started—the Camp School. Here any man or boy can, while doing his work all winter in the woods, have the same advantages of evening classes as those living in the city.

These reading camps are really extensions of the public library system to meet the needs of isolated places. The separate building is, therefore, necessary if the boys are to be within the reach of all, and yet properly taken care of.

When you consider that from fifteen to twenty per cent. of the men in lumber camps cannot recognize their own name on a letter, and that there are 50,000 or more men in the camps of Ontario alone you begin to realize the size of the educational problem.

It is these problems which Mr. Alfred Fitzpatrick, of Nairn Centre, has laid himself out to solve. He put up the test camps before mentioned and was the means of getting the Provincial Government to take the matter up. "Cody" is to be sure it will cost something, every good thing does, but, as Mr. Fitzpatrick (who, by the way, is an ordained Presbyterian minister) points out, "it will cost the country less to provide bath-rooms, laundries and reading camps than the revenue that would be derived from the additional number of good citizens. An enlightened and healthy citizenship is a better asset than ignorant and filthy slaves. Camp schools are cheaper than soldiers, paupers, drunkards and criminals."

Though only three years in existence, Mr. Fitzpatrick reports that the Association had last winter thirty reading camps in operation.

Believing that literature is just as practicable at a camp as pork and beans, the reading camp as easily put up as a sleeping camp, and the instructor is quite as portable a person as a cook, the next experiment was with railway construction camps, and now several of these camps in full operation.

Toronto Live Stock.

Trade at the Western Cattle Market to-day was fairly active, although the run of cattle was only moderate and the quality was generally poor. Trade in sheep was quiet, while the butcher trade was brisk and prices were well maintained.

Pork—Receipts amounted to 64 cars and included 16 cars of 1,450 sheep and lambs, 1,000 hogs and 21 calves.

Export Cattle—Very few cattle were offered and most of those held by the drovers for better prices than the dealers felt disposed to give, considering the low price of the market.

Prices here were easier to-day. The best choice lots are quotable at about $1.80 to $1.90, and the range is nominal in the absence of cattle good enough to warrant its being paid. The ordinary run of choice stock at about $1.40 to $1.50, and others run at about $1.30 to $1.40.

Prices were quiet and unchanged at $1.20 to $1.30. Butchers' stock was in demand, especially of the best kind, for which there is a brisk demand at good prices. The most of the run was scrubby cattle, but for even these trade was fair.

Prices were pretty well maintained, $1.50 to $1.60 for the best picked lots.

About $1.50 was the highest price paid on the market, but $1.45 would be paid for better quality.

Ordinary choice cattle run at $1.40 to $1.50, and fair to good at $1.30 to $1.40. In the live stock market, quotations are unchanged at $1.20 to $1.30.

Stocks and Feeders—The best of the offerings in the market are the only ones that are wanted, and the demand for even these is but quiet. Prices all round are about steady at $1.20 to $1.30 for feeders and $1.50 to $1.60 for stockers.

Milk Cows—The run was light and choice lots are quoted at $1.80 to $1.90. Prices are unchanged at $1.40 to $1.50.

Calves—Trade was good, everything being sold at $1.20 to $1.30.

Sheep and Lambs—The run of sheep was light and the market was quiet.

Spring lambs were in demand, and the tone was firmer. Export sheep were quoted at $1.20 to $1.30.

And spring lambs at $1.50 to $1.60, or $1.40 to $1.50 per cwt.

Wool—Prices were heavy and trade was rather dull. The feeling was generally easier, but quotations are unchanged at $1.20 to $1.30 for fleeces and $1.25 to $1.35 for fleeces and fat.

TO MARK ARG LAMPS

A trench was dug yesterday along the west side of Victoria avenue from Thames street, as far as P. D. McKellar's residence. It was quite dark last night, and only one light—marked where the excavation was. Cabman Alex. Macdonald and Pat Keenan both drove into the hole, but fortunately neither experienced any serious results. The one lantern set to mark the trench was put right under an electric light. A citizen suggested that the lantern had been so placed to show where the electric light was. He said that the unsatisfactory manner in which the electric lights had been lighted for some time past gave good grounds for this impression.

MORE PAVEMENT

A movement is on foot among the residents of Wellington St. east, and Park street east, to have both these streets paved next year. If these petitions are successful, it will be a good thing for the city, and will keep that portion of Chatham up in the matter of improvement with the other portions of the city. It will also have a good effect in keeping the country trade on these streets. The paving of Queen street will have the effect of bringing the farmers to the city by way of Park avenue. The business portion of Chatham East has seen the danger of diverting their trade, and are anxious to have the streets paved so the residents of Harwich will continue to come to Chatham via Park and Wellington streets. If the petitions are sufficiently signed to insure the pavements being laid, the sewers should be put in this fall, so as to give them a good opportunity to settle.

BRITAIN'S POLICY.

On a Variety of Important Foreign Affairs.

London, Aug. 14.—Answering various questions on foreign affairs raised by Lord Spencer, the Liberal leader, in the House of Lords, to-day, Foreign Secretary Lord Lansdowne said there was reason to hope that the difficulties in the way of a settlement of the claims against Venezuela by arbitration at The Hague would soon be removed.

Definite instructions, he declared, had been given by the British Government that the Chinese journalists at Shanghai should not be surrendered to Chinese justice.

The Government was watching events in the Balkans, and would utilize every opportunity of mitigating the troubles there.

Lord Spencer further called attention to the Government's agreement with the Canadian Steamship Company, which was approved by the House of Commons on Wednesday, and moved for a return of the statistics relating to previous subsidies.

Lord Selbourne defended the agreement on naval and economic grounds. It kept, he said, at least one of the great transatlantic lines under British control, and it had not merely a naval but a wider national aspect.

Lord Spencer's motion was afterwards accepted.

London, Aug. 13.—A despatch to The Central News from Vienna says the entire Serbian Ministry has resigned in consequence of the differences in the personal relations between the army officers who participated in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga and those who took no part in the murders.

TOM JONES, COWBOY

.....By C. B. LEWIS

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Tom Jones was a real Montana cowboy, the genuine stuff. By that is meant that he was no consumptive son who had been sent out from Boston to try the western ozone, nor was he a student of Yale or Harvard who was picking up $30 a month to help him squeak through college. He was born to the business, knew all the ins and outs, and no one could beat him at turning a stampeding herd or throwing the lasso. It was said on all sides that there was only one thing out of kilter with Tom Jones—he had aspirations. If he had aspired to keep three guns shooting at once or to hold four aces in every other hand of poker, he might have had the sympathy of his fellow workers, but his aspirations took a different line.

Tom Jones had read no less than six different accounts of eastern heiresses coming out west on a visit and falling in love with and marrying cowboys. Cowboys had saved them from robbers, Indians, stampedes and prairie fires, and their natural gratitude had resulted in love and marriage. What had happened once might happen again. Tom's aspirations, then, ran to heiresses. He was expecting one along any day in the week and was always prepared to carry out his part of the contract.

Even an heiress may come to him who waits, and in due time, when her engagements permitted, Miss Griscomb, from New York, paid a visit to relatives at Taylor's ranch. Tom had heard of her beauty and what a pile of money her old dad had in the bank within twenty-four hours after her arrival. It was now up to him to bring in the heiress and start things going. He got out his Sunday togs and greased his hair as a beginning.

Nor was the labor thrown away. He had hardly set forth on a hunt for stray steers when far across the plains he saw the object of his aspirations. The broncho on whose back she was seated had stopped to indulge in the wild west business of bucking and jumping, and Tom imagined that he could hear terror-stricken shouts from the rider. It was all imagination, however. When he had reached her side after a furious burst of speed and begged the privilege of saving her life, she quietly replied:

"Please don't interfere. I rather enjoy the change."

Tom Jones was nonplused, but he waited. In the course of two or three days Dutch Pete broke loose on one of his quarterly jamborees. Dutch Pete kept the doggerly at Dead Man's Corners, and when he started out to clean up the state he kept his two guns red hot. Tom figured that it would be on the bills for Pete to bear Miss Griscomb away into the mountains, and he hovered along the Fort Wingate road as her protecting angel. His figures turned out to be way off. Miss Griscomb and Dutch Pete met one morning at the crossing of Lane Wolf creek, and when the cowboy came up the girl had his hands raised, and the girl had a gun on line with his eye. She thanked Mr. Jones very kindly for the interest he exhibited, but she really couldn't think of putting him to any particular trouble.

Then Tom Jones prayed for a cloudburst. Lane Wolf creek had its rise up in the mountains. At 9 o'clock of a summer morning it might be a mere rivulet crossing the stage road. An hour later a flood wave six feet high might be booming down as the result of a cloudburst up among the peaks. The burst came as prayed for. Miss Griscomb was on the west side of the creek when caught by the flood, and all escape seemed cut off when the cowboy came tearing around Bull bend to rescue her. Three minutes later the girl was rescuing him. His broncho got tangled up with a mass of driftwood and was drowned, and poor Tom had to grab the tail of the girl's horse and take a tow to the bank.

"You had better go home and change your clothes, and I hope you will be more careful in future," was all the thanks he got as the heiress rode away and left him to hang himself up to dry.

Tom Jones felt that he had made a failure of it thus far, but he hoped for a stampede to change things. In one of the stories he had read a cowboy had saved an heiress from a stampede and won her undying love in ten minutes. There were 5,000 steers covering the plain between Taylor's ranch and Lane Wolf creek. If they would only get a move on them at the right time, he would be there to do the hero's part. The steers were cheerfully willing. One morning soon after the heiress had passed down the road they lowered their heads, threw up their tails and stampeded. The move was not expected by the cowboy, but by great good luck he was on hand to mix in. It seems the easiest thing in the world for a hero to cut across the front of a stampeding herd of steers and snatch an heiress from her saddle and bear her away to safety and win her eternal gratitude, but Tom Jones didn't find it so in practice. As a matter of fact, he was rolled in the dust and walked on in a shameful manner, while the heiress saved herself, and when the herd had passed she helped him to find the remains of his hat and advised him to go home and keep quiet for a few days to avoid nervous fever.

There was only one more hope for the cowboy hero. If he could rescue Miss Griscomb from a prairie fire, all might yet be well. A drunken Indian brought things about as he wished. It wasn't an overgrown spectacular display as far as flames went, but there was a heap of smoke and a grand opportunity for yelling, and in due time Tom Jones started in on his work of rescue. While he was dashing through the billows of smoke and frantically calling upon the heiress to be saved she had already saved herself, and it cut him to the quick to have her remark as he finally rode up to her that she didn't like the smell of singed hair. The cowboy had played his last card, and, weary and hopeless, he sought out the Diogenes of the flock and stated his case.

"My son," said the old man when he had heard the story, "did you ever hear the saying of 'up to date'?"

"Of course. I'm there myself."

"And there lies the cause of your failure. Miss Griscomb is more up to date as a girl than you are as a man. You had better stop making a fool of yourself and hustle those steers around."

THE OLD TIMERS.

Some Contemporaries of the Late Sir Oliver Mowat—Was Their Day Better Than the Present?

The old order changes, giving place to new, says The Toronto World. Only a few years ago there were to be found on the bench and in the Governments of Canada and the provinces, men who had been active and prominent before confederation, and even before the union. One of Sir Oliver Mowat's contemporaries on the bench, William Henry Draper, was Chief Justice of Ontario until November, 1877. He was a famous lawyer sixty years ago; got his Queen's Counsel title in 1842, and was so gently persuasive with juries that he won the sobriquet of "Sweet William." He was member for Toronto in the legislature of Upper Canada in 1836; served as an assessor to the Governor during the rebellion, and became solicitor-general in 1837. After the union he figured as the chief adviser of Governor Metcalfe while he was vainly contending against responsible Government.

Another old-timer was Chief Justice Hingerty, whose tall figure was well-known to frequenters of the courts a few years ago. During the conflict between Metcalfe and his advisers he was a gay young Tory lawyer, and he composed a parody on the "True, Old English Gentleman," in honor of Metcalfe, who was nicknamed "Old Square Toes." They were composed impromptu at a public dinner, while the fight was in progress. A couple of verses are given by Dent:

One verse the songster has forgot—he has another claim;
 One brave old square-toed gentleman: he of the statesman name;
 For Indian laurels grace his brow, Jamaica loves him, too,
 And Canada will fight for him 'gainst all the Baldwin crew.
 The fine old square-toed gentleman, all of the present time.

So let our loyal shouts go forth, let traitors hear and quail,
 And British hearts will beat for joy on every hill and vale;
 And though the Baldwin clan may howl, though loud they rave,
 We'll rally round old square-toes, and give him one cheer more.
 The fine old square-toed gentleman, all of the present time.

Not many years ago the Premier of Canada, and his right and left men, Tupper and Tilley, were all old-time men who had taken an active part in the politics of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick before the union. One of them, Sir Charles Tupper, was Premier as late as 1896, and is still a hale and hearty man. Until recently our dominating ideas were those of pre-confederation statesmen. In Ontario Sandfield Macdonald, one of the heads of the old Canadian Governments, was Premier of Ontario after Confederation, and was succeeded, after a short interval by Oliver Mowat, whose official life began in the Brown-Dorion Government of 1858. Though Canada was a small country in those days, and though there was a good deal that was petty and tricky in its politics, it brought forth some strong men. We are hardly yet able to adopt a condescending tone toward Macdonald, Tilley and Tupper, Brown and Dorion, Holton and Mowat; there is indeed almost a temptation to fall into the opposite mood, and say "The former times were better than these." But it may be that we have not yet got the right perspective.

From Viscount Wolsley.

The following letter from Lord Wolsley is in response to an invitation to attend the Toronto Home Owners' Festival.

Hampton Court Palace, Middlesex, June 26th, 1903.

"Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge your kind and most flattering letter of the 12th of May last, and to thank the Toronto Board of Trade for their very hospitable and tempting invitation. I wish I could accept it, for apart from the pleasure it would have given me to have been present at your coming 'Old Home Gathering,' I long to visit Canada. It is a country in which I spent my happiest years, and to whose history and to whose people I always feel drawn to closely."

"But, alas, I could not leave home this year. I am hard at work upon two volumes of memoirs, which I want to have ready soon for publication, and until I have seen them through the press I must not quit England."

"Again thanking you and the Board of Trade of Toronto for their extremely kind thought of me, I have the honor to be, your obedient servant, Wolsley."

Coal From Japan.

The Frank disaster and the labor troubles at Fernie and on Vancouver Island have had an extraordinary result. The Canadian Pacific recently placed an order for 10,000 tons of coal in Japan. Shipments were to be continued until the beginning of the present month. This coal was required principally for the company's Pacific steamers, and for the railway to Revelstoke, from which point easterly coal from Canmore and other points is used. It was understood that, in the event of the labor and other troubles continuing, more Japanese coal would be bought. Appreciation is expressed by the Provincial press lest the singular spectacle be seen of a Province so rich in coal importing that article from Japan.

A Commercial Traveler's Yarn.

Early in the spring, when the weather was in its most changeable state, a Toronto firm sent out a commercial traveler. He wrote in to the firm on Monday night: "Raining all day. Impossible to get around, and no business." Tuesday he wrote in: "Cold, driving sleet to-day. Miserable weather, and nothing doing." On Wednesday he wrote: "Heavy snowstorm. Everything blocked up, and no use trying to get around." Then he got a wire from the firm: "Come on home. We can get our weather reports cheaper from the Observatory."

One Who Prefers the "Yellow Evil" to the "White Uncertainty."

The Jap and the Chinaman, who are numerous here, writes Victor Ross, The Globe's traveling correspondent, from Moosjow, N. W. T., will hear with interest the findings of the Presbyterian Assembly at Vancouver on their fitness for citizenship. Both have obtained a firm foothold, and their standing has not been secured via the laundry, either. John Chinaman has done much to solve the domestic servant problem. He is the undisputed ruler of many bachelor establishments, and his abilities as a chef have lent new significance to the term "celestial" as applied to him. He is also in the restaurant business, and even dabbles in land speculation.

The Jap has reached the exalted position of a hotel clerkship, and the dimensions of a similar dignitary in the east shine not more brightly than his black eyes when he welcomes you at the register. As a valet de chambre he is a considerable improvement on the female domestics in hotels. He is scrupulously clean; he makes up beds with the care of a hospital nurse, and he knows that shaving water is better when it is hot, and that a hairpin is useless to a man in case of a broken shoe lace. Into the dining-room, too, the Jap is making his way, and in some western hotels he has entirely supplanted the strenuous young woman who in other days dared you to choose between roast beef or roast pork. The Chinaman and the Jap usually fight shy of heavy manual labor, or any employment outside of the towns, and engage in the lighter household work, which is not so trying on them, and quite as remunerative. Their wages average about $20 a month and board on this side of the Rockies, which, judged by western standards, is not excessive. The Chinaman is of little use to the country, but he is a great advantage to the white people who live in it, and that is perhaps the reason why he stays. In a few years he will be several hundred miles farther east, but as a household servant. A train which left Moosjow to-day had one car of Chinese, who by their inscrutable methods had placed a commercial estimate on almost every town east of Brandon, and were ready to be sent to the laundry. And there is no opportunity for an argument, for on being approached on the subject the Chinaman declines to know any more English than the figures of the amount due him.

The wife of one western public man who has been denouncing the admission of the Chinese told me secretly that she preferred the "yellow peril" to the "white uncertainty," anyway.

Why We Shake Hands.

The custom of handshaking dates back to prehistoric times, a relic of those savage days when strangers could not meet without suspicion of murderous purpose. Then all men went abroad with weapons and shields, and when they met, they stood in pleasant converse, each with his shield upon his left arm and with right hands clasped so that there would be no chance for a sudden swing of the knife or bludgeon. The right hand was invariably used for the weapon, with the result that a right-handed man would be secretly standing in the fact that the left arm was always employed in the important work of shielding the heart. Among the common people of the Aryan race, the old pledge of amity in yielding the right hand to be grasped and held has since declined the chief token of friendship, the secret of the returning chiefs were "greeted with extended hands." Even at that remote day the early significance of the handshake had been lost in the nobler meaning of civilized life. But it remains a salutation in which a greater or less degree of equality is claimed or conceded.

Lumber Camp Education.

The annual report of the Canadian Reading Camp Association has just been published, and the secretary's progress is reported. The work began in a tentative way three years ago, and the experiment has proven a happy one. The interest has been aroused and the co-operation secured of both employers and men, the Ontario Government and the public generally. The object of the association is, by the establishment of reading camps and schools in the backwoods, to afford a measure of refinement and culture for manual laborers, while it also gives a manual training for the teachers. In addition to imparting instruction in an unconventional manner to the men during the evenings, the reading camp instructors themselves engage in teaming, cutting, mining, railroad construction, cooking, etc. The association has eleven instructors, and the results so far have been most encouraging.

A Brilliant Student.

In the interval before the gowned procession started for the convocation proceedings of Toronto University the other day, two ladies were overheard discussing things in general. They found on the program a list of names of those on whom degrees were to be conferred, and immediately sought familiar names.

After a time one exclaimed, "I wonder who this man 'Honoris Causa' is? He seems to have been an awfully clever fellow. He has his name in nearly every class there is."

"That's so," returned the other. "Seems to be a foreign name, too. I would like to see him."

And the two ladies spent the rest of the afternoon trying to identify the phenomenal student and wondering why they could not locate him.

Marriage Performed by Signature.

There are always a number of marriages on board the cool ships which ply between Calcutta and the West Indies. The coolies are very fond of marrying before entering on their period of servitude. Sometimes as many as a hundred of them will want the nuptial knot tied.

The captain of any British ship has legal power to marry people, but the master of one of these cool vessels has grown tired of reading the Anglican service fifty or sixty times a voyage. So he has had a number of forms printed with the essential parts of the service. The bride and bridegroom step into the cabin, sign one of these forms, have it witnessed and become man and wife. No questions are asked. They simply sign their names. It is the quickest kind of marriage on record, but the British authorities have declared it to be perfectly valid.

Hearts and Heels.

Many good stories have come from time to time told of Rev. Thomas Hunt, the temperance orator who was a well known figure in the early history of Wyoming valley.

During the civil war he enlisted and served as chaplain in one of the regiments of infantry raised in the valley. One day, in the midst of a fierce battle, the major rode up in front of the regiment and to his amazement found Father Hunt at the head of the ranks. "Chaplain, what are you doing here?" he asked.

"Doing?" echoed the old minister briskly. "I am trying to cheer the hearts of the brave and look out for the heels of the cowards."

The Sea Cook's Trick.

"Having tried every kind of female cook, I determined to get a man," said a portly millionaire. "It very naturally occurred to me that an ocean liner was the best place to find him. Everything is so clean about a ship's kitchen, you know. Well, I found a fine looking Swede and established him in my kitchen at $25 a week. He seemed to be all right, but presently my neighbors complained that he was throwing all the refuse out of the window. Old habits! He thought the window was a porthole on a ship. I could never break him of the trick and had to let him go."—New York Press.

A Faithful Servant.

Carlyle told once of a lawsuit pending in Scotland affecting the succession to a great estate of which he had known something. The case depended on a family secret known only to one old servant, who refused to reveal it. A kirk minister was sent to tell her she must speak on peril of her soul. "Peril of my soul!" she said. "And would ye put the honor of an auld Scottish family in competition with the soul of a poor creature like me?"

Theory Versus Practice.

"Medical science has reached the point," boasted the optimistic young doctor, "that for a patient to die we must take out his heart and kill it with a club."

On his way home he caught a cold and for the next three weeks made every one miserable listening to his symptoms.

An Easy Order.

Shopkeeper—What can I show you, sir? Absent Minded Professor—I want to see what I want? Dear me! I can't for the life of me remember what it is. Well, well, it doesn't matter. Give me the nearest thing you have to it.

Extinguished.

Bookseller—I have a very interesting work by a favorite author—"The Last Days of Pompeii."

Customer—Pompeii? I don't know an author of that name. What did he die of?

Too Accommodating.

Stranger (gallantly, to woman who is eating a tough piece of beef)—Madam, I envy you your teeth if you can eat that meat.

Her Bitterest Friend—Elsie, why don't you give the gentleman the address?

Hydrophobia.

A German physician notes among the most important symptoms of hydrophobia in dogs a change in the voice and a loss of appetite, accompanied by a desire to chew wood, leather and stones. They do not avoid water, nor do they usually foam at the mouth.

Earthquake Waves.

An earthquake wave has been known to travel over the Pacific ocean in twelve hours and sixteen minutes—that is, at the rate of six miles a minute.

Going Upstairs.

Don't bend over double when ascending a flight of stairs. Give the lungs full play, for you need plenty of breath.

Early Steel Pens.

Early steel pens were so costly that makers advertised they would make such repairs as were necessary for a stated time, generally six months. When a man damaged his pen he carried it back to the factory and had it mended by an experienced mechanic.

Pork and Cancer.

Many English doctors are convinced that the eating of pigs' flesh in different forms is greatly responsible for the increase of cancer. They point out that it is most common among the poor, whose chief meat is that of pigs, while the disease is extremely rare among the Jews.

GOOD WORDS FOR THE GRAND TRUNK.

During the summer months a very large number of tourists make their way into Canada, and this year the summer resort districts situated on the Grand Trunk Railway System seem to be the favorite objective point of this large influx into Canada. Many of these tourists send "travel letters" to their home papers which is a means of advertising the Dominion to a very great extent. A letter that appeared in the Norristown Pa., "Daily Times", of Friday, July 24, is a sample of these, an extract from which reads as follows:—

"The Grand Trunk Railway is equal in every respect, and in some points superior to any great railway system in the States. The road-bed is in first class condition, the first-class coaches, judging from their appearance, are of the most modern type, and are very comfortable, and the Pullmans the most luxurious and conveniently equipped in use."

The Grand Trunk runs its own dining cars, in addition to what are called Cafe-Pullman Cars, these latter being the most perfect thing of the kind I have ever encountered. One half of the coach is equipped as a parlor car, the other is a dining car with a smoking compartment in the centre. In the dining-room section a varied assortment of well-cooked viands is served in a style equal to that obtained in any first-class restaurant and at prices much more reasonable. An adjunct to these cars is a free library service containing a well selected list from the Booklover's Library, of Philadelphia.

WORLD OF SPORT

A GOOD GAME.

Without Webster, Grant, Hutchinson or Elliott, four of our best defense fielders, the Chatham lacrosse team went to Wallaceburg yesterday and held that strong aggregation down to a tie score, 5 to 5. Had these four players been on, or even two of them, Webster and Grant, well, all know what would have surely happened, for as Capt. Babcock said, Wallaceburg are due for a trimming on their own grounds, and, it might be said right here, Wallaceburg can again be thanked for a lucky win. However, they are good sports, and we hope to have a couple more games with them this year.

By some misunderstanding, no referee showed up. Capt. Wilson and Capt. Babcock agreed on Mr. Appleford, a Wallaceburg man, for first half, and Mr. Coupland, of Chatham, for last half. Both of these gentlemen gave good satisfaction. Mr. Appleford made a mistake when he ruled Higley off for 10 minutes, and Mr. Coupland made a mistake when he didn't give Taylor, of the Burg team, 10 minutes instead of two minutes, for slashing Thomas over the head and cutting him badly. This man Taylor is not the clearest man on the Burg team. It was he who put "Shillington" out in the other game at Wallaceburg the first of the season.

With the exception of Taylor, every man on the Burg team played clean lacrosse. The checking was hard and close. "Pet" Lawlor was nowhere to be seen. Higley had him smothered, and only once did he come to life and score a goal—when Higley was to the fence for 10 minutes. The Chatham team played beautifully; every man did good work. Wilson put up the best game he has yet played this year. O'Connor, Ross and Knight worked hard, O'Connor checking two men all the time. Thomas' shots were of the bullet variety. He had been sick before the game, but as Chatham was short one player he pluckily consented to go in the game. Downing was all over his check and he seldom lost the ball.

With the full team on the Detroit-Chatham game at Blenheim next Tuesday it should be a hummer. Wallaceburg had the better of the game at the start off. The Chatham players did not seem to round into working shape until near the end of the game.

At the end of the first quarter the score stood 2-0 for Wallaceburg; at the end of the second it was 3-1 for Wallaceburg. The third quarter showed a change to 4-3 for Wallaceburg.

The last quarter was the exciting one. Chatham scored first, tying the score to 4-4. Wallaceburg scored next and Chatham came up with another. The Chatham goals were scored by Thomas 2, Angus 2, Wilson 1.

Capt. Babcock deserves great credit for the game. He was on the field to captain his team, and it is putting it mildly to say, in the language of the small boy, that he is a "peach." He was always on top of the ball and directing his men. The citizens of Chatham should all turn out and support his game with Detroit, which will be played next Tuesday at Blenheim.

The following was the line-up yesterday:—
Goal—Jahnke.
Point—Feard.
C. Point—Hayden.
First Def.—Knight.
Second—F. Ross.
Third—Higley.
Centre—B. Ross.
First Home—O'Connor.
Second—Bowling.
Third—Thomas.
Outside—Angus.
Inside—Wilson.

This was the first game played for the Gray cup.

BOWLING.

BOWLERS BEATEN.

D. A. C. beat Chatham on the D. A. C. green in lawn bowling yesterday by a score of 29 to 39. This is the oldest defeat of this kind by a young first time Chatham has visited the D. A. C., but it is more than likely that other contests will follow, as the Canadians will not relish a de-club like the Detroiters at this game.

MACEDONIAN TROUBLES.

Four Thousand Turks Bombarding

Krusheva.

Salonica, Aug. 14.—It is reported that the Bulgarian insurgents have massacred the inhabitants of the large

Turkish village of Kenati, near Mono-astir, only twenty escaping. The civil and military authorities at Salonica wired to Constantinople, August 11, stating that a general insurrection was expected for August 14, and disclaiming all responsibility unless they were reinforced. Constantinople replied, ordering the enrollment immediately of two thousand exclusively Mussulman gendarmes for service in Salonica. The insurgent banner was unfurled August 10, at Kosko, near Giergjevi, showing that the insurrection is spreading eastward. Four thousand troops are being sent from Krushova, which is in the hands of the insurgents. Trustworthy information from Cegani, in the district of Florina, says that the Turks have decided to murder the Austrian Consul. It is stated that the French and Italian Consuls in Monastir are in danger of their lives from Turkish troops. Fighting is proceeding at Chernareka, near Gumenjo.

PICKED UP AT SEA.

Small Boy, Naked and Almost Dead,

in a Boat.

New York, Aug. 14.—The Morgan

Line steamer Eldorado, Capt. Prescott, which arrived here yesterday from

Galveston, had on board a 12-year-old boy who was found adrift in an open boat about 100 miles off the coast of Georgia on August 10. He was naked and almost dead from exposure. After the lad had been revived somewhat he told Captain Prescott that with two other boys he was fishing outside the harbor of Havana, when the boat broke adrift and they were unable to row it ashore. Two of the lads, seeing the land rapidly receding, plunged into the water and swam for shore. The other boy was unable to swim so far and remained in the boat without food or water until picked up by the Eldorado.

He says he was adrift for five days.

Captain Prescott thinks the boat could not have drifted 530 miles from Havana to the point where it was sighted in less than six days and possibly longer.

CANADA OUT TO BOAT.

THE IRONDEQUOIT WON THE FIFTH AND FINAL RACE.

A Desperate Struggle in Weather Which Mostly Favored the Challenger—The Cup Presented.

There is not a great deal to be said about the decisive race for Canada's Cup. Irondequoit won yesterday by 1 minute and 22 seconds, and the trophy goes to the Rochester Yacht Club.

There was a south or south-south-west wind, about 8 miles an hour, and no sea. This was supposed to suit Strathcona. The course was triangular, 7 miles a leg, but this was supposed to be unfavorable for Strathcona, from past showing, was not strong in reaching—and in the ordinary course of events reaching would make up two-thirds of the course.

Both ashore and afloat, the attendance was larger than on any other day, showing the interest taken in the struggle. One of the fleet of onlookers was the Merrythought, with the family of Commodore Jarvis, one of them at the crosshead cheering encouragement to the defender.

The judges on the Cleopatra signalled a start for 11:15.00, and from the preparatory note Strathcona stood out for the weather berth. The first leg was a beat right into the wind, and for half an hour Commodore Jarvis and Mr. Hannan fought for position.

It would be tedious to count all the jibes and other twists and turns to change their relative positions, but Strathcona succeeded in keeping away. Round and round they went, almost on a pivot, and occasionally Irondequoit would take a turn around the Cleopatra, anchored at one end of the line, but the result was always the same. Each carried forward only a jib and a staysail. For ease of twisting, the jib tops were in stops, waiting until the starting line was crossed.

Finally, a few seconds before the whistle, Irondequoit turned and ran alongside of Cleopatra, around the stern, just as the start was given, and across the line 9 seconds later. Mr. Hannan had timed the signal with more accuracy, and took from Commodore Jarvis at the last moment the advantage for which he was struggling more than half an hour. Strathcona started across the line over half a minute after the signal, and in an inferior position to leeward.

The starting signal was 11:15.00, and Irondequoit crossed at 11:15.09 and Strathcona at 11:15.35. This does not in the least indicate a comparison of skippers. The truth is that Irondequoit was the better boat, and Mr. Hannan, judging the signal time even with no greater accuracy than Commodore Jarvis, was able to beat him at the critical moment. Yet the race was not lost then, though Irondequoit had a start of 26 seconds, because it was evident throughout the long chase which followed that the challenger had always something up her sleeve. Both went away on the starboard tack, and it was obviously the duty of Commodore Jarvis to shake himself free. But try as he would, Irondequoit always impaired, and kept in windward. Strathcona was quicker in stays, but could not draw out. This lasted until 11:45.00, when Strathcona, giving up that particular kind of struggle, stood away out into the lake on the starboard tack, to see, perchance, if there might not be another wind. There was another wind, but not what Strathcona wanted, for it freshened and stirred up a choppy sea, which bothered her.

It was 27 minutes later when they went about and stood for the buoy, all buoys to port. The beat was finished, Irondequoit 12:47.50; Strathcona, 12:49.29. Irondequoit was 1.39 ahead, and having 26 seconds start, made the beat 1.13 ahead. Irondequoit was a close haul; Irondequoit let down the jib topsail, and put up a large one, while the Strathcona also dropped the jib topsail and substituted a reaching foresail and a balloon jib. Strathcona slowly overhauled her opponent, but Mr. Hannan was on the watch, and in 35 minutes he set a balloon jib in stops and waited. As Strathcona continued to gain, the balloon jib was allowed to break out at 1:27.30. Thereafter the race was a procession. There was always something in reserve on Irondequoit, and do as she might Strathcona could not overtake her.

The leg was completed, Irondequoit 1:42.27; Strathcona, 1:43.37. The Irondequoit was 1.12 ahead, but had lost 27 seconds on the beach. At the finish, after another broad reach, the time was: Irondequoit, 2:48.55; Strathcona, 2:42.17. Irondequoit finished 1.22 ahead, but had lost 10 seconds on the beach.

The Niagara, in charge of Captain Cook, carried a large number of passengers each day, and they saw the races under the best auspices, for he knew how to keep in the best position and never interfered with the racers.

The cause of all the trouble, the Canada's Cup, was formally handed over to Commodore Van Voorhis of the Rochester Yacht Club by Commodore Ae. Jarvis of the R. C. Y. C. last night at a gathering of the yachtmen held at the Island club house. Naturally the Rochester representatives were in high glee over their victory, and when the skipper of the vanquished craft presented the silver "mug" to Commodore Van Voorhis there were cheers for everybody and a big one for Skipper Arthur Hannan of New York, who more than anyone else was responsible for the American yacht's triumph.

Commodore Jarvis in making the presentation said that the Rochester club deserved it. When the General of Rochester won the cup by defeating the Beaver the trophy went to the Chicago Yacht Club, the challenging parties, but this time the Rochester yachtmen got all that was "coming to them." The better boat won, he said, and he had no excuse to offer. Commodore Van Voorhis made a brief speech in reply. There was nothing said about a challenge next year, but it is altogether likely that the R. C. Y. C. will try and win back the cup next year.
