

THE ACADIAN

HONEST, INDEPENDENT, FEARLESS.

DEVOTED TO LOCAL AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE

WOLFVILLE, KING'S CO., N. S., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1885.

No. 4.

Vol. V.

THE ACADIAN
Published on FRIDAY at the office
WOLFVILLE, KING'S CO., N. S.

TERMS:
$1.00 Per Annum.
(IN ADVANCE.)

CLUBS of five in advance $4.00

Local advertising at ten cents per line for every insertion, unless by special arrangement for standing notices. Advertisements for the ACADIAN must be made known on application to the office, and payment on transient advertising must be guaranteed by some responsible party prior to its insertion.

The ACADIAN JOB DEPARTMENT is constantly receiving new type and material, and will continue to guarantee satisfaction on all work turned out.

Newspapers from all parts of the county, or articles upon the topics of the day are cordially solicited. The name of the party writing for the ACADIAN must invariably accompany the communication, although the same may be written under a fictitious signature.

Addresses all communications to
DAVISON BROS.,
Editors & Proprietors,
Wolfville, N. S.

Legal Decisions.

1. Any person who takes a paper regularly from the Post Office, whether directed to his name or otherwise, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

2. If a person orders his paper discontinued he must pay up all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether the paper is taken from the office or not.

3. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the Post Office, or removing and leaving them uncollected for a prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

POST OFFICE, WOLFVILLE

Office hours, 7 A. M. to 9 P. M. Mails are made up as follows:

For Halifax and Windsor close at 7 A. M.

Express west close at 10:35 A. M.

Express east close at 5:20 P. M.

Kentville close at 7:20 P. M.

Geo. V. Rand, Post Master.

PEOPLE'S BANK OF HALIFAX.

Open from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M. Closed on Saturdays at 12, noon.

A. DEW, BARRISTER, AGENT.

Churches.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Rev. R. D. Ross, Pastor—Services every Sabbath at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Sabbath School at 11 A. M. Prayer Meeting on Wednesday at 7:30 P. M.

BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. T. A. Higgins, Pastor—Services every Sabbath at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Sabbath School at 11 A. M. Prayer Meeting on Tuesday at 7:30 P. M. and Thursday at 7:30 P. M.

METHODIST CHURCH—Rev. T. A. Wilson, Pastor—Services every Sabbath at 11:00 A. M. and 7:00 P. M. Sabbath School at 9:30 A. M. Prayer Meeting on Thursday at 7:30 P. M.

S. JOHN'S CHURCH, Wolfville.

Divine Worship will be held (D. V.) in the above Church as follows:

Sunday, Mattins and Sermon at 11 A. M.

Evening and Sermon at 7:30 P. M.

Wed. Evening and Sermon at 7:30 P. M.

Sunday-school commences eve 8 A. M. day morning at 9:30. Choir practice on Wednesday evenings after Divine Worship.

THE HALL, HORTON—Divine Worship will be conducted in the above Hall as follows:

Sunday, Evening and sermon at 2 P. M.

J. O. Eggleston, M. A., Rector.

Robert W. Hodgell.

(Divinity Student of King's College).

St. FRANCIS (R. C.)—Rev. T. M. Daly, P. P.—Mass 11:00 A. M. the last Sunday of each month.

Masons.

St. GEORGE'S LODGE, F. & A. M., meets at their Hall on the second Friday of each month at 8 o'clock P. M.

J. B. Davison, Secretary.

Oddfellows.

"ORPHEUS" LODGE, I. O. O. F., meets in Oddfellows' Hall, on Tuesday of each week at 8 o'clock P. M.

Temperance.

WOLFVILLE DIVISION of T. M. meets every Monday evening in their Hall, Witter's Block, at 8:00 o'clock.

ACADIA LODGE, I. O. G. T., meets every Saturday evening in Music Hall at 7:00 o'clock.

OUR JOB ROOM

IS SUPPLIED WITH THE LATEST STYLES OF TYPE

JOB PRINTING

OF Every Description

DONE WITH

NEATNESS, CHEAPNESS, AND PUNCTUALITY.

DIRECTORY OF THE Business Firms of WOLFVILLE.

The undermentioned firms will see you right, and we can safely recommend them as our most enterprising business men.

BORDEN, C. H.—Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, and Gent's Furnishing Goods.

BORDEN, CHARLES H.—Carriages and Sleighs Built, Repaired, and Painted.

BISHOP, B. G.—Painter, and dealer in Paints and Painter's Supplies.

BROWN, F. L. & CO.—Dealers in Groceries, Crockery, and Glassware.

BROWN, J. I.—Practical Horse-shoer and Farrier.

CADWELL & Murray—Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, Furniture, etc.

DAVISON, J. B.—Justice of the Peace, Conveyancer, Fire Insurance Agent.

DAVISON BROS.—Printers and Publishers.

GILMORE, G. H.—Insurance Agent, Agent of Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, of New York.

GODFREY, L. P.—Manufacturer of Boots and Shoes.

HERBIN, J. E.—Watch Maker and Jeweler.

HIGGINS, W. J.—General Coal Dealer. Coal always on hand.

KELLEY, THOMAS—Boot and Shoe Maker. All orders in his line faithfully performed. Repairing neatly done.

MONTYRE A.—Boot and Shoe Maker.

MURPHY, J. L.—Cabinet Maker and Repairer.

PATRIQUIN, C. A.—Manufacturer of all kinds of Carriage, and Team Harness. Opposite People's Bank.

PRAT, R.—Fine Groceries, Crockery, Glassware, and Fancy Goods.

REDDEN, A. C. CO.—Dealers in Pianos, Organs, and Sewing Machines.

ROCKWELL & CO.—Book sellers, Stationery, Picture Frames, and dealers in Pianos, Organs, and Sewing Machines.

ROOD, A. B.—Manufacturer of all styles of light and heavy Carriages, and Sleighs. Painting and Repairing a specialty.

RAND, G. V.—Drugs, and Fancy Goods.

SLEEP, S. R.—Importer and dealer in General Hardware, Stoves, and Tinware. Agents for Frost & Wood's Plows.

SHAW, J. M.—Barber and Tobacco Conid.

WALLACE, G. H.—Wholesale and Retail Grocer.

WESTERN BOOK & NEWS CO.—Booksellers, Stationers, and News-dealers.

WITTER, BURREE—Importer and dealer in Dry Goods, Millinery, Ready-made Clothing, and Gent's Furnishings.

WILSON, JAS.—Harness Maker, is still in Wolfville where he is prepared to fill all orders in his line of business.

Owing to the hurry in getting up this Directory, no doubt some names have been left off. Names so omitted will be added from time to time. Persons wishing their names placed on the above list will please call.

CARDS

JOHN W. WALLACE,

BARRISTER-AT-LAW,

NOTARY, CONVEYANCER, ETC.

Also General Agent for FIRE and LIFE INSURANCE.

WOLFVILLE, N. S.

B. G. BISHOP,

House, Sign and Decorative PAINTER.

English Paint Stock a Specialty.

WOLFVILLE, N. S.

P. O. BOX 39. Sept. 10th 1885

J. WESTON

Merchant Tailor,

WOLFVILLE, N. S.

J. B. DAVISON, J. P.

CONVEYANCER

FIRE & LIFE INSURANCE AGENT,

WOLFVILLE, N. S.

LIGHT BRAHMAS!

Mated for best results. Young Birds for sale until March 15th—Eggs after March 1st. Address

DR. BARNS,

Wolfville, 28th Feb., '85.

BOX OF GOLDEN NOVELTIES,

12 fast-selling articles, and 12 magic water pens, all by return of mail for 25c., or nine 10c. stamps. Package of fast-selling articles for agents for 3c., and this slip. A. W. Kinney, Yarmouth, N. S.

Select Poetry.

Nobody coming to-night.

MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

In the glow of the western window,
Amber and opaline air,
Flooding her eyes with beauty,
Fanning her lint-white hair,
The dear old mother is sitting,
Watching the sunset's light;
Alone by the western window,
For nobody's coming to-night.

Crossing the level meadows,
Through the ricks of the fragrant hay,
Her neighbor is faring homeward,
After a toiling day.
A sweet little wife is waiting
With a kiss at the cottage door,
And baby will toddle to meet him
Over the kitchen floor.

In the land, with its vines and tangle,
And its shadows with broken light,
A fair girl waits for her lover,
Who surely is coming to-night.
Her gown is a fleece of silver,
With ribbons of daintiest blue,
And her eyes are a color to match them,
So doulless their violet hue.

The aged face at the window,
All graven with patient lines,
Takes note of the sweet girl's glances,
Revealed by so many signs;
No envy her heart is stirring,
As the glimmer of sunshine pales,
For her loved ones are safe in the city
Where never the glory fails.

Once there were little children
Who called her "mother," ah, sweet!
This old house rang to the music
Of their merry, romping feet.
There was once a form beside her,
A face that never grew old;
Her own, in its manly beauty,
Her own, with his hair of gold.

Now, in the grass-grown church-yard,
And deep in the restless sea,
Are the dear ones who filled the homestead
With the sound of their hoisterous glee.
Ah, me! it is very silent
To watch the far away light,
As it melts in the star-light heavens,
When nobody's coming to-night.

By the bars of the western window,
By the key of the evening star,
Her thought climbs up to the meaning
Of the beautiful gates afar:
There is wonderful bliss awaiting,
In the regions of shadowless light,
The soul that is peaceful and patient—
But nobody's coming to-night.

Interesting Story.

Thankful Blossom.

BY BRET HARTE.

PART I.

The time was the year of grace 1779; the locality, Morristown, New Jersey.

It was bitterly cold. A north-easterly wind had been stifling the mud of the morning's thaw into a rigid record of that day's wayfaring on the Baskingridge road. The hoof-prints of cavalry, the deep ruts left by baggage-wagons, and the deeper channels worn by artillery, lay stark and cold in the waiting light of an April day.

There were lights on the fences, a rime of silver on the windward bark of maples, and occasional bare spots on the rocky protruberances of the road, as if Nature had worn herself out at the knees and elbows through long waiting for the early spring. A few leaves disinterred by the thaw became crisp again, and rustled in the wind, making the summer a thing so remote that all human hope and conjecture fled before them.

Here and there the wayside fences and walls were broken down or dismantled; and beyond them fields of snow down-trodden and discolored, and strewn with fragments of leather, camp equipage, harness, and cast-off clothing, showed traces of the recent encampment and congregation of men. On some there were still standing the pains of rudely constructed cabins, or the semblance of fortification equally rude and incomplete. A fox stealing along a half-faded ditch, a wolf slinking behind an earthwork, typified the human abandonment and desolation.

One by one the faint sunset tints faded from the sky; the far-off crests of the Orange hills grew darker; the nearer files of pines on the Wharton Mountain became a mere black background; and, with the coming-on of night, came too an icy silence that seemed to stiffen and arrest the very wind itself. The crisp leaves no longer rustled; the waving whips of alder and willow snapped no longer; the icicles no longer dropped a cold fruitage from barren branch and spray; and the roadside trees relaxed into stony quiet; so that the sound of horses' hoofs breaking through the thin, dull, lustreless film of ice that patched the furrowed road, might have been heard by the nearest Continental picket a mile away.

Either a knowledge of his, or the difficulties of the road, presently irritated the viewless horseman. Long before he became visible, his voice was heard in half-suppressed objurgation of the road, of his beast, of the country folk, and the country generally. "Steady, you jade!" "Jump, you devil, jump!" "Curse the road, and the beggarly farmers that durst not mend it!" And then the moving bulk of horse and rider suddenly arose above the hill, floundered and splashed, and there was suddenly disappeared, and the rattling hoof-beats ceased.

The stranger had turned into a deserted lane still cushioned with untrodden snow. A stone wall on one hand—in better keeping and condition than the boundary monuments of the outlying fields—bespoke protection and exclusiveness. Half-way up the lane the ridge checked his speed, and, dismounting, tied his horse to a wayside sapling. This done, he went cautiously forward toward the end of the lane, and a farm-house from whose gable window a light twinkled through the deepening night. Suddenly he stopped, hesitated, and uttered an impatient ejaculation. The light had disappeared. He turned sharply on his heel, and retraced his steps until opposite a farmstead that stood a few paces from the wall. Hard by a large elm east the gaunt shadow of its leafless limbs on the wall and surrounding snow. The stranger stepped into this shadow, and at once seemed to become a part of its trembling intricacies.

At the present moment it was certainly a bleak place for a tryst. There was snow yet clinging to the trunk of the tree, and a film of ice on its bark; the adjacent wall was slippery with frost, and fringed with icicles! Yet in all there was a ludicrous suggestion of some sentiment past and unseasonable; several dislodged stones of the wall were so disposed as to form a bench and seats, and under the elm-tree's film of ice could still be seen carved on its bark the effigy of a heart, divers initials, and the legend, "Thine Forever."

The stranger, however, kept his eyes fixed upon the farm-stead and the open field beside it. Five minutes passed in fruitless expectancy. Ten minutes! And then the rising moon slowly lifted herself over the black arch of the Orange hills, and looked at him, blushing a little, as if the appointment were her own.

The face and figure thus illumined were those of a strongly built, handsome man of thirty, so soldierly in bearing that it needed not the buff epaulets and facings to show his captain's rank in the Continental army. Yet there was something in his facial expression that contradicted the manliness of his presence, an irritation and querulousness that were inconsistent with his size and strength. This fretfulness increased as the moments went by without sign or motion in the faintly lit field beyond, until, in peevish exasperation, he began to kick the nearer stones against the wall.

Here and there the wayside fences and walls were broken down or dismantled; and beyond them fields of snow down-trodden and discolored, and strewn with fragments of leather, camp equipage, harness, and cast-off clothing, showed traces of the recent encampment and congregation of men. On some there were still standing the pains of rudely constructed cabins, or the semblance of fortification equally rude and incomplete. A fox stealing along a half-faded ditch, a wolf slinking behind an earthwork, typified the human abandonment and desolation.

One by one the faint sunset tints faded from the sky; the far-off crests of the Orange hills grew darker; the nearer files of pines on the Wharton Mountain became a mere black background; and, with the coming-on of night, came too an icy silence that seemed to stiffen and arrest the very wind itself. The crisp leaves no longer rustled; the waving whips of alder and willow snapped no longer; the icicles no longer dropped a cold fruitage from barren branch and spray; and the roadside trees relaxed into stony quiet; so that the sound of horses' hoofs breaking through the thin, dull, lustreless film of ice that patched the furrowed road, might have been heard by the nearest Continental picket a mile away.

Either a knowledge of his, or the difficulties of the road, presently irritated the viewless horseman. Long before he became visible, his voice was heard in half-suppressed objurgation of the road, of his beast, of the country folk, and the country generally. "Steady, you jade!" "Jump, you devil, jump!" "Curse the road, and the beggarly farmers that durst not mend it!" And then the moving bulk of horse and rider suddenly arose above the hill, floundered and splashed, and there was suddenly disappeared, and the rattling hoof-beats ceased.

The stranger had turned into a deserted lane still cushioned with untrodden snow. A stone wall on one hand—in better keeping and condition than the boundary monuments of the outlying fields—bespoke protection and exclusiveness. Half-way up the lane the ridge checked his speed, and, dismounting, tied his horse to a wayside sapling. This done, he went cautiously forward toward the end of the lane, and a farm-house from whose gable window a light twinkled through the deepening night. Suddenly he stopped, hesitated, and uttered an impatient ejaculation. The light had disappeared. He turned sharply on his heel, and retraced his steps until opposite a farmstead that stood a few paces from the wall. Hard by a large elm east the gaunt shadow of its leafless limbs on the wall and surrounding snow. The stranger stepped into this shadow, and at once seemed to become a part of its trembling intricacies.

At the present moment it was certainly a bleak place for a tryst. There was snow yet clinging to the trunk of the tree, and a film of ice on its bark; the adjacent wall was slippery with frost, and fringed with icicles! Yet in all there was a ludicrous suggestion of some sentiment past and unseasonable; several dislodged stones of the wall were so disposed as to form a bench and seats, and under the elm-tree's film of ice could still be seen carved on its bark the effigy of a heart, divers initials, and the legend, "Thine Forever."

The stranger, however, kept his eyes fixed upon the farm-stead and the open field beside it. Five minutes passed in fruitless expectancy. Ten minutes! And then the rising moon slowly lifted herself over the black arch of the Orange hills, and looked at him, blushing a little, as if the appointment were her own.

The face and figure thus illumined were those of a strongly built, handsome man of thirty, so soldierly in bearing that it needed not the buff epaulets and facings to show his captain's rank in the Continental army. Yet there was something in his facial expression that contradicted the manliness of his presence, an irritation and querulousness that were inconsistent with his size and strength. This fretfulness increased as the moments went by without sign or motion in the faintly lit field beyond, until, in peevish exasperation, he began to kick the nearer stones against the wall.

Here and there the wayside fences and walls were broken down or dismantled; and beyond them fields of snow down-trodden and discolored, and strewn with fragments of leather, camp equipage, harness, and cast-off clothing, showed traces of the recent encampment and congregation of men. On some there were still standing the pains of rudely constructed cabins, or the semblance of fortification equally rude and incomplete. A fox stealing along a half-faded ditch, a wolf slinking behind an earthwork, typified the human abandonment and desolation.

One by one the faint sunset tints faded from the sky; the far-off crests of the Orange hills grew darker; the nearer files of pines on the Wharton Mountain became a mere black background; and, with the coming-on of night, came too an icy silence that seemed to stiffen and arrest the very wind itself. The crisp leaves no longer rustled; the waving whips of alder and willow snapped no longer; the icicles no longer dropped a cold fruitage from barren branch and spray; and the roadside trees relaxed into stony quiet; so that the sound of horses' hoofs breaking through the thin, dull, lustreless film of ice that patched the furrowed road, might have been heard by the nearest Continental picket a mile away.

Either a knowledge of his, or the difficulties of the road, presently irritated the viewless horseman. Long before he became visible, his voice was heard in half-suppressed objurgation of the road, of his beast, of the country folk, and the country generally. "Steady, you jade!" "Jump, you devil, jump!" "Curse the road, and the beggarly farmers that durst not mend it!" And then the moving bulk of horse and rider suddenly arose above the hill, floundered and splashed, and there was suddenly disappeared, and the rattling hoof-beats ceased.

The stranger had turned into a deserted lane still cushioned with untrodden snow. A stone wall on one hand—in better keeping and condition than the boundary monuments of the outlying fields—bespoke protection and exclusiveness. Half-way up the lane the ridge checked his speed, and, dismounting, tied his horse to a wayside sapling. This done, he went cautiously forward toward the end of the lane, and a farm-house from whose gable window a light twinkled through the deepening night. Suddenly he stopped, hesitated, and uttered an impatient ejaculation. The light had disappeared. He turned sharply on his heel, and retraced his steps until opposite a farmstead that stood a few paces from the wall. Hard by a large elm east the gaunt shadow of its leafless limbs on the wall and surrounding snow. The stranger stepped into this shadow, and at once seemed to become a part of its trembling intricacies.

At the present moment it was certainly a bleak place for a tryst. There was snow yet clinging to the trunk of the tree, and a film of ice on its bark; the adjacent wall was slippery with frost, and fringed with icicles! Yet in all there was a ludicrous suggestion of some sentiment past and unseasonable; several dislodged stones of the wall were so disposed as to form a bench and seats, and under the elm-tree's film of ice could still be seen carved on its bark the effigy of a heart, divers initials, and the legend, "Thine Forever."

The stranger, however, kept his eyes fixed upon the farm-stead and the open field beside it. Five minutes passed in fruitless expectancy. Ten minutes! And then the rising moon slowly lifted herself over the black arch of the Orange hills, and looked at him, blushing a little, as if the appointment were her own.

The face and figure thus illumined were those of a strongly built, handsome man of thirty, so soldierly in bearing that it needed not the buff epaulets and facings to show his captain's rank in the Continental army. Yet there was something in his facial expression that contradicted the manliness of his presence, an irritation and querulousness that were inconsistent with his size and strength. This fretfulness increased as the moments went by without sign or motion in the faintly lit field beyond, until, in peevish exasperation, he began to kick the nearer stones against the wall.

Here and there the wayside fences and walls were broken down or dismantled; and beyond them fields of snow down-trodden and discolored, and strewn with fragments of leather, camp equipage, harness, and cast-off clothing, showed traces of the recent encampment and congregation of men. On some there were still standing the pains of rudely constructed cabins, or the semblance of fortification equally rude and incomplete. A fox stealing along a half-faded ditch, a wolf slinking behind an earthwork, typified the human abandonment and desolation.

One by one the faint sunset tints faded from the sky; the far-off crests of the Orange hills grew darker; the nearer files of pines on the Wharton Mountain became a mere black background; and, with the coming-on of night, came too an icy silence that seemed to stiffen and arrest the very wind itself. The crisp leaves no longer rustled; the waving whips of alder and willow snapped no longer; the icicles no longer dropped a cold fruitage from barren branch and spray; and the roadside trees relaxed into stony quiet; so that the sound of horses' hoofs breaking through the thin, dull, lustreless film of ice that patched the furrowed road, might have been heard by the nearest Continental picket a mile away.

Either a knowledge of his, or the difficulties of the road, presently irritated the viewless horseman. Long before he became visible, his voice was heard in half-suppressed objurgation of the road, of his beast, of the country folk, and the country generally. "Steady, you jade!" "Jump, you devil, jump!" "Curse the road, and the beggarly farmers that durst not mend it!" And then the moving bulk of horse and rider suddenly arose above the hill, floundered and splashed, and there was suddenly disappeared, and the rattling hoof-beats ceased.

The stranger had turned into a deserted lane still cushioned with untrodden snow. A stone wall on one hand—in better keeping and condition than the boundary monuments of the outlying fields—bespoke protection and exclusiveness. Half-way up the lane the ridge checked his speed, and, dismounting, tied his horse to a wayside sapling. This done, he went cautiously forward toward the end of the lane, and a farm-house from whose gable window a light twinkled through the deepening night. Suddenly he stopped, hesitated, and uttered an impatient ejaculation. The light had disappeared. He turned sharply on his heel, and retraced his steps until opposite a farmstead that stood a few paces from the wall. Hard by a large elm east the gaunt shadow of its leafless limbs on the wall and surrounding snow. The stranger stepped into this shadow, and at once seemed to become a part of its trembling intricacies.

At the present moment it was certainly a bleak place for a tryst. There was snow yet clinging to the trunk of the tree, and a film of ice on its bark; the adjacent wall was slippery with frost, and fringed with icicles! Yet in all there was a ludicrous suggestion of some sentiment past and unseasonable; several dislodged stones of the wall were so disposed as to form a bench and seats, and under the elm-tree's film of ice could still be seen carved on its bark the effigy of a heart, divers initials, and the legend, "Thine Forever."

The stranger, however, kept his eyes fixed upon the farm-stead and the open field beside it. Five minutes passed in fruitless expectancy. Ten minutes! And then the rising moon slowly lifted herself over the black arch of the Orange hills, and looked at him, blushing a little, as if the appointment were her own.

The face and figure thus illumined were those of a strongly built, handsome man of thirty, so soldierly in bearing that it needed not the buff epaulets and facings to show his captain's rank in the Continental army. Yet there was something in his facial expression that contradicted the manliness of his presence, an irritation and querulousness that were inconsistent with his size and strength. This fretfulness increased as the moments went by without sign or motion in the faintly lit field beyond, until, in peevish exasperation, he began to kick the nearer stones against the wall.

Here and there the wayside fences and walls were broken down or dismantled; and beyond them fields of snow down-trodden and discolored, and strewn with fragments of leather, camp equipage, harness, and cast-off clothing, showed traces of the recent encampment and congregation of men. On some there were still standing the pains of rudely constructed cabins, or the semblance of fortification equally rude and incomplete. A fox stealing along a half-faded ditch, a wolf slinking behind an earthwork, typified the human abandonment and desolation.

One by one the faint sunset tints faded from the sky; the far-off crests of the Orange hills grew darker; the nearer files of pines on the Wharton Mountain became a mere black background; and, with the coming-on of night, came too an icy silence that seemed to stiffen and arrest the very wind itself. The crisp leaves no longer rustled; the waving whips of alder and willow snapped no longer; the icicles no longer dropped a cold fruitage from barren branch and spray; and the roadside trees relaxed into stony Thankful, and the cause is lost. Congress does nothing, and Washington is not the man for the crisis. Instead of marching to Philadelphia, and forcing that wretched rabble of Hancock and Adams at the point of the bayonet, he writes letters.

"A dignified, formal old fool," interrupted Mistress Thankful indignantly; "and look at his wife! Didn't Mistress Ford and Mistress Baily, ay, and the best blood of Morris County go down to his Excellency's in their finest bibs and tucks, and didn't they find my lady in a pinafore doing chores? V

THE ACADIAN

SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 11, 1885.

STREET LIGHTING.

We announced last week that Mr. J. M. Shaw had lately put up a large street lamp in front of his shop. Since that part of the street has been lighted, the rest of the village seems much darker in contrast, and the idea occurs to us that with a trifling expense the whole village could be made light and much more agreeable in the night for foot passengers. We would like to see our people take an interest in this matter. A few lamps put up in the shop fronts or on posts would be all that would be necessary, and this could easily be done either by private individuals or by a committee appointed for the purpose and paid by public subscription.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

The approaching Exhibition in Kentville bids fair to be one of the most successful ever held in the province, the entries being largely above the average. The show of thorough-bred cattle will probably be fine. Polled Angus, Ayrshires, Jerseys, and Durhams will be represented by herds, the entries ranging from two to six. In working oxen there are twenty-five entries; in carriage horses about thirty, with others in proportion. If the exhibits bear the usual proportion to the entries, the available cattle and horse lots will be taxed to their utmost. As a matter of course the show of fruit must be fine, and all the space accorded to manufacturers will be fully occupied, the applications in this line being unusually numerous. It must be a great gratification to the people of this county that everything is progressing so favorably, for with judicious advertising, and the weather during the week, the success of the exhibition is a foregone conclusion.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

A special meeting of the municipal council of Kentville was held in the Court House, at Kentville, Sept. 8th.—Barthelme Webster, Esq., warden, in the chair. All the councillors were present except Councillor Steele, of ward 1, who was absent from the meeting. The warden stated formally that this meeting had been called for the purpose of hearing and considering a report from the committee appointed at the May meeting to inquire into circumstances in relation to injuries sustained by John King by falling off a bluff near the Chipman brook and the liability of the municipality to pay damages therefor; and to consider such matters in reference to the coming exhibition as might be submitted. The committee reported that they had examined the premises and ascertained that the bluff in question was within the limits of the highway, but that there was a distance of some ten feet between the wheel track and the edge of the bluff. They also reported that the width of the road at this point between the fence on the one side and the edge of the bluff on the other was but 47 feet, but were unable to say whether the fence was encroaching upon the highway or what was the original width of the road, as they made no survey, but they anticipated that the municipality was liable for damages and recommended that the matter be submitted to arbitration, the substance of which recommendation seemed to fully coincide with the views of the warden, who expressed himself very strongly of the opinion that the municipality would have to pay damages and cited cases in support of such opinion, particularly a case recently decided against the municipality of Colechester. Considerable discussion ensued in which it appeared that the place where the accident occurred was some ten feet from the low of the road—the road curving at this point in the form of an ox-bow—and that King was leading a horse on a very dark night walk on the outside and at some distance from him, when he King slipped and fell off the cliff receiving considerable injuries. It also appeared that on the day previous to the accident he, King, passed over the same road and was cautious that night that it would be unsafe for him to attempt to travel in that locality on so dark a night without a light. In considering that on the information, the recommendation of the committee and ready to contest the claim appointing the warden and councillors Lyons and Taylor a committee to procure legal counsel if it becomes necessary to defend an action against the municipality. Several other matters of more or less importance, a summary of which appears in another column, were disposed of, when the council adjourned.

THINK IT OVER.

The following from the Norwich (N. Y.) Telegraph is applicable to some people in Wolfville. We hope they will think the matter over and look at it from a standpoint of justice. Keep the business at home, patronize your own people—because they patronize you: "A printer stood at the desk of a business man the other day and quoted him using the words 'bill-heads' he had bought of a New York or Buffalo house. Said the printer, who was a customer: 'What would you think of me if I should go to New York and buy your line of goods for myself and family?' The merchant replied: 'I would think you a fool when I know you can get the same goods just as cheap as me and at a fellow-citizen. When the printer called his attention to the imported letter and bill-heads, the merchant coughed and walked up behind the counter to wait on a customer. And the same merchant just the day before, asked the printer to give him a free puff about his big stock of dry goods! When the bills from the paper mill and type foundry came in and the wages of the employees became due, the printer thought of these things. Look bankers, look dry goods merchants, grocers, druggists, and other business men should think of the above facts sometimes."

ACADIAN WILLOWS.

The following we copy from an Oregon paper. Mr. Caldwell is a native of this county, son of the late Sherman Caldwell of Gasperau, and will be remembered by many of our readers: "A short time ago, Mr. E. L. Caldwell, the popular and able assistant city editor of the Oregonian, received from the land of his old home in Nova Scotia, a laker's dozen of cuttings of the now magnificent willows which were planted on the banks of the river Gasperau centuries ago, by the Acadian farmers, the story of whose banishment is so pathetically told by Longfellow in the beautiful poem, 'Evangeline.' These cuttings came all the way in the mail and when taken from the envelopes they looked as dry as smoked mackerel. Jerry at once planted them in a can of water and in a few days they were growing finely, sending out buds above and their roots—rootlets—under the surface of the water. Last week Jerry presented half a dozen of these choice cuttings to the city, and accompanied the Superintendent of Streets to see them properly set out in the City Park. If these cuttings live and thrive as well as their parent stock, they will some day be large trees, great in size and not very high, something like the white oak, and very beautiful. The land whence these came was settled by the French in 1623 and was known by the French name Acadia. In 1713 it was ceded to the English, and as the Acadian farmers to the number of about 8,000 refused to take the oath of allegiance and swear to fight against France if called upon, the English concluded to remove them from the country, which they did, through the agency of several men-of-war and a number of transports. Still stands the forest primeval, but under the shade of its branches dwells another race, with other customs and language. Only along the shore of the mournful and misty Atlantic. Linger a few Acadian peasants, whose fathers from exile wandered back to their native land to die in its bosom. In the fatherman's cot the wheel and the loom are still busy; and their kirtles of homespun, and by the evening fire repeat Evangeline's story. While from its rocky caverns the deep-voiced neighboring ocean speaks, and accents disconsolate answers the wail of the forest."

CORRESPONDENCE.

A TRIP TO THE OLD WORLD.

IN DENMARK AND SWEDEN. I should not like to say that Sunday is not properly observed in Denmark as I was not there long enough to find out. I saw several churches open and evidence that they were fairly attended, but a large part of the people seem to consider it more as a holiday than Holy Day. The pleasure steamers were all crowded and large numbers spend their time in the parks and other places of public resort. As I walked through one of the parks after breakfast, I noticed that preparations were being made for an exhibition of poultry, which was to be opened on the following day. The people we met on the streets were as a general thing rather undressed and it was hard to imagine that they were the descendants of the famous sea kings of old. The porter of our hotel could talk a little English, but not much; and the education of my reverend chum had been so sadly neglected that when he asked for a hand-cart to take our luggage to the quay, he was handed the business card of the house. At 11 a.m. we again started on our journey, and after a sail of an hour and a half across the Sound, during which we passed numerous vessels of all nationalities waiting for a fair wind to go up or down the Baltic Sea, we arrived at Malmo, the most important city of Southern Sweden. It was church time when we arrived there and the streets were as quiet as those of a Canadian city during the same hours. The streets are narrow and most of the buildings very high. At 3 p.m. we started by train for Stockholm. The Swedish cars are a kind of compromise between the English and American; they have compartments like the English and have on one side a passage running the entire length of the car and which is separated from the compartment by curtains which may be drawn or otherwise as the occupants wish. There are open platforms at each end of the cars, but no passage from one car to another. Every one smokes here, and smoking is allowed in every carriage not specially marked "For Women." The country through which we passed was mostly rough and hilly and much of it reminded me of that lying between Windsor and Halifax; taken as a whole, however, the scenery is much finer, the streams being larger and the mountains higher there than here. The forests through which we passed are evidently very strictly preserved, for we noticed that all dead wood had been carefully removed; I saw no dead trees and even dead branches were rare.

The people were in the midst of hay and most of their moving is still done by hand, and although I saw plenty of moving machines at the railway stations and elsewhere, I saw none at work. Women in this country do a large portion of the field work. The provisions at the refreshment rooms at the stations are set out on tables and each passenger helps himself to what he fancies. The regular charge for a hot meal is one krona and fifty ore, or about forty cents of our money. This includes tea, coffee and milk, but not beer or wine. No spirits are allowed to be sold on Swedish railways.

We arrived in Stockholm at 7 a.m. and at once drove to the Grand Hotel, where we found our friends awaiting us. This hotel was the finest we had yet seen, yet its terms were quite moderate. Some of our friends were astonished on going to their rooms on the second evening to find their bills for the previous day lying on the tables and naturally supposed that they were required to settle up daily, but on applying at the office learned that their accounts were only presented in order to make them to correct any error that might occur day by day. This custom might be followed with some advantage in this country. The city is splendidly situated on the river which forms the outlet of Lake Malan and is partly built on light islands which are connected by bridges, and numerous small and pretty steamers are continually plying from one part of the city to another. There are several parks which are well laid out, and in summer evenings bands, hired by the keepers of the restaurant, play till a late hour. The streets are narrow, paved with coarse cobble stones, and the sidewalks when they exist at all, are very narrow in proportion to the streets. There are numerous museums, art galleries and other places of amusement in the city, to nearly all of which, by the courtesy of the Swedish Good Templars, we had free admittance. Their manners and customs are entirely different from ours. Gentlemen always raise their hats to each other in the streets and when they go into a shop or office they are always as particular in removing their hats as we are in private houses. They have one custom which seemed even more strange to us—that of having female attendants at the baths. Some of our worthy friends who were not familiar with the customs of the country were very much shocked to find when they had stripped to Nature's uniform that they had to be scrubbed by a stalwart Swedish woman. Some of those who arrived before us described the operation to my friend Lane and he concluded that the custom was too heathenish for him, so he resolved to find a bath where women were not employed in that capacity; but here again his education failed him for he had submitted to the very operation he had tried to avoid. Nearly everyone who tried the Swedish baths praised them very highly and proved their appreciation by patronizing them a second time. We had but little time for sight-seeing for we had to go to work at 2 a.m. and were frequently kept at it till quite late at night. One day by special request of our Swedish brethren, we devoted an afternoon to pleasure and accepted their invitation to a dinner served in true Swedish style at Ulreksdal, one of the royal residences. We went in two small steamers and after a two hour's sail through a country which resembled a hammock hot, we arrived at our destination. Here again some of our party blundered over one of the strange customs of the country. Previous to dinner we were invited to a room in which was a table set out with tempting, high-seasoned dishes of various kinds, to which we were expected to help ourselves to a modest quantity. This however is intended only as a what to the appetite. Our unfortunate friends, thinking this was the regular dinner, partook of it so heartily that when dinner was announced their appetites were completely gone. We were shown through the palace which was then unoccupied, and were much astonished at finding neither soldiers nor policemen on the premises and we were informed that though the grounds were at all times open to the public, neither are ever required—a fact that speaks well for the orderly character of the people.

On our return trip we amused ourselves trying to teach our foreign friends to chew, but found them rather indifferent scholars, for the nearest they could get to it was "Rah, rah, rah." On Sunday a grand temperance demonstration was got up in our honor. Some two thousand or more members of the various temperance societies with some seventy banners and headed by a brass band marched to a park about two miles from the city. Two sermons were preached there—one in Swedish the other in English. Though there were over five thousand people on the grounds, I have observed but a more orderly or attentive congregation. On Monday evening we left for London, via Copenhagen, and in my next, I will give you an account of the trip.

R. R. D.

PICNIC.

To the Editors of the ACADIAN. We had the pleasure of yesterday attending the picnic given by the Wolfville and Horton Presbyterians to their Sabbath School children, and are free to say we enjoyed it immensely and think all who did. We would like to say something in praise of the ladies who showed such zeal and skill in making all happy, but of course we dare not only say that we will state fearlessly that they will equal if not surpass any in the Country for making things pleasant at such picnics. Nor can I omit to mention the young men who so admirably arranged the arrangement in Wolfville and so successfully carried it out. ONE PRESENT. Wolfville, September 3d.

PRESS NOTICES.

Below we publish some of the many press notices which we have received since our enlargement. They show, coming as they do from first class papers, that the ACADIAN is looked upon favorably by our brethren of the press. We thank them, one and all, for their kind mention and assure them that we appreciate it.

The Wolfville ACADIAN comes to us this week in an enlarged form and otherwise improved. The ACADIAN is now a first-class country newspaper.—Amherst Sentinel.

The ACADIAN, of Wolfville, N. S., has been enlarged. No better proof of its success is needed than this simple fact. We wish them continued prosperity.—Amherst Sentinel.

We are pleased to see that our energetic and honest exchange, the ACADIAN, of Wolfville, has been enlarged and much improved. Go on and prosper.—Amherst Sentinel.

The ACADIAN comes to us in an improved and enlarged form. The enterprising publishers have our best wishes for their success. It is a growing and good paper deserving of success.—Windsor Courier.

The Wolfville ACADIAN, which started a few years ago as an amateur journal, and which has hitherto made creditable growth, was again enlarged last week and is now a new paper of twenty-eight columns.—Colchester Sun.

The Wolfville ACADIAN has enlarged to a seven column paper. We wish it success. Our contemporary over the way thought a year ago that there was not room in the county for another paper, but here are two of them in a flourishing condition.—New Star.

We are pleased to notice that our bright contemporary, the Wolfville, N. S., ACADIAN, has been again enlarged and is now a full-grown newspaper. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

The ACADIAN, edited by Davison Brothers, Wolfville, has in its last week much enlarged and improved in its general appearance and make up. This paper, in the hands of its enterprising editors, is rapidly coming to the front. Just a little over two years ago the idea was first conceived of starting a paper in Wolfville, and as a realization of the idea, the Young Acadian (about the size of a sheet of letter paper) was launched on the "sea of journalism," more as an experiment than anything else, but receiving much encouragement, it was found necessary to enlarge it. It afterwards appeared as the ACADIAN. It was subsequently enlarged a second time, when it became a very creditable and was always among our most welcome exchanges. Its growth and development have been steady and healthful, from the time the Young Acadian appeared. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

The ACADIAN, published at Wolfville, N. S., comes to us this week enlarged to a full sized paper. We are pleased to note the sign of prosperity at the commencement of our interesting contemporary's fifth year and wish it continued success.—Harvey (N. B.) Observer.

The Wolfville ACADIAN comes to us this week enlarged and improved. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

The ACADIAN, published at Wolfville, N. S., comes to us this week enlarged to a full sized paper. We are pleased to note the sign of prosperity at the commencement of our interesting contemporary's fifth year and wish it continued success.—Harvey (N. B.) Observer.

The Wolfville ACADIAN comes to us this week enlarged and improved. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

The ACADIAN, published at Wolfville, N. S., comes to us this week enlarged to a full sized paper. We are pleased to note the sign of prosperity at the commencement of our interesting contemporary's fifth year and wish it continued success.—Harvey (N. B.) Observer.

The Wolfville ACADIAN comes to us this week enlarged and improved. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

The ACADIAN, published at Wolfville, N. S., comes to us this week enlarged to a full sized paper. We are pleased to note the sign of prosperity at the commencement of our interesting contemporary's fifth year and wish it continued success.—Harvey (N. B.) Observer.

The Wolfville ACADIAN comes to us this week enlarged and improved. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

The ACADIAN, published at Wolfville, N. S., comes to us this week enlarged to a full sized paper. We are pleased to note the sign of prosperity at the commencement of our interesting contemporary's fifth year and wish it continued success.—Harvey (N. B.) Observer.

The Wolfville ACADIAN comes to us this week enlarged and improved. It is now a twenty-eight column paper and is well filled with interesting original and selected matter. The proprietors evidently intend to make it one of the best of our provincial weeklies.—Herald.

HARVEST HOME TEA MEETING!

LOWER HORTON, Thursday, Sep 17th.

The Ladies of Lower Horton Methodist Congregation intend to hold an Entertainment, consisting Tea, Supper, Refreshments etc, in the new and commodious Shed recently erected in the neighborhood of the Church. The object of this Festival is to pay off the debt incurred in the erection of the above mentioned Shed, so that may be free to all. And no pains will be spared to render it the most attractive entertainment of the season. SWINGS, GAMES, &c., &c. Doors open at 4. Tea on the table at 5.30. Supper served at 7. Refreshments during the Afternoon. ADMISSION 5 CENTS. Tickets for Tea 25c, for Supper 35c.

The Subscriber, having now in perfect running order his Shingle and Barrel FACTORY at Gasperau, is prepared to furnish in quantities Superior SHINGLES, In Pine, Spruce or Hemlock; Also a large quantity of DRY APPLE BARRELS.

All of which will be sold at prices to suit the times. Call and inspect before purchasing elsewhere at the manufactory at Gasperau, near the Gasperau Bridge. J. D. Martin. June 30, 1885.

Newly imported Verse & Motto all Chromo Cards, with name and a water pen for 10c. 5 packs, 5 pens for 50c. Agents sample pack, outfit, and illustrated catalogue of Novelties, for a 35 stamp and this slip. A. W. KNESS, Yarmouth, N. S.

C. A. PATRIQUIN, HARNESS MAKER. Carriage, Cart, and Team Harnesses. Made to order and kept in stock. ALL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO. None but first-class workmen employed and all work guaranteed. Opposite People's Bank, Wolfville.

WE SELL CORDWOOD, SPILING, BARK, R. R. TIES, LUMBER, LATHS, CANNED LOBSTERS, MACKEREL, FROZEN FISH, POTATOES, FISH, ETC. Best prices for all Shipments. Write fully for Quotations.

HATHEWAY & CO., General Commission Merchants, 22 Central Wharf, Boston. Members of the Board of Trade, Corn and Mechanic's Exchanges.

THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE AND HOME MAGAZINE. Circulation over 20,000 Copies.

The Farmer's Advocate is published on or about the 1st of each month, is handsomely illustrated with original engravings, and furnishes the most profitable, practical and reliable information for farmers, gardeners or stockmen, of any publication in Canada.

Address: FARMER'S ADVOCATE, 360 Richmond St., London, Ont.

Boston Market Report. FURNISHED BY HATHEWAY & CO.

Flour—Spring Wheat, Patents $5.00 @ $5.50 Bakers 4.15 @ 4.65 Choice Extras 4.25 @ 4.50 Common Extras 3.75 @ 4.00 Medium Extras 4.00 @ 4.25 Oat Meal 4.75 @ 5.25 Corn Meal fresh 2 1/2 @ 2 1/2 2 1/2 @ 2 1/2 Butter per lb. 18 @ 21 Cheese per lb. 05 @ 8 1/2 Eggs per doz. 14 @ 19 Potatoes per bushel 1.75 @ 2.00 Apples per bushel 1.50 @ 3.00 Blueberries per qt. 05 @ 08 Blackberries per qt. 08 @ 10

Clubbing Offer. Having made special arrangements with the publishers of a number of the leading periodicals of Canada and the United States we are enabled to make a large discount to subscribers. We will send any of the publications named and the ACADIAN one year for the following "Clubbing Prices," which will be seen in some cases giving two papers for the price of one. Cash must accompany all orders.

Publication	Regular Price	Clubbing Price
Farmer's Advocate	$1.00	$1.75
Toronto Weekly News	1.00	1.50
Toronto Daily News	4.00	4.00
Allen's Juvenile Gem	1.50	1.00
American Agriculturist	1.50	2.00
Do with Dystonia	1.00	1.75
Toronto Weekly Globe	1.00	1.75
London Free Press	1.00	1.75
Youth's Companion	1.00	1.75
Book Worm	1.00	1.75
Weekly Messenger	1.00	1.75
Weekly Witness	1.00	1.75
Canadian Dairyman	1.00	1.50
Grip	1.00	2.50

F.L. Brown & Co. SELL Preserve Jars AT VERY LOW FIGURES.

Also have in stock a complete line of CROCKERY, China Tea Sets, Milk Pans and Jugs.

CALL EARLY AND SECURE FIRST CHOICE. July 31st, 1885.

New York WONDER LAMP

(60 CANDLE POWER.) I have greatly reduced the price on my latest importations of above Lamps.

STAND LAMPS $4 00 BRACKET " 3.50. Call and see them and leave your order. Lamps sent out on trial. R. FRAT AGENT.

Great Bargains!

ROOM PAPER. ROCKWELL & CO. Have imported this Spring, direct from the manufacturers, 5,000 ROLLS American and Canadian Room Paper (extra wide) which they are selling at extremely low prices.

As we have over 100 different patterns, all the newest and latest designs, purchasers will find our stock the best to select from in the County. We have also on hand a small lot of English Paper, only being in stock one year, which we are selling at less than half price.

COUNTRY PRODUCE TAKEN IN EXCHANGE. ROCKWELL & CO., Opposite Mrs Hamilton's millinery store, Wolfville, N. S. April 23d.

NEW GOODS!

BURPEE WITTER. Has just opened 2 CASES Ladies' Wool Shawls, From 60c to $3.25. NEW STYLES! NEW COLORS! 3 CASES DRESS GOODS, AND FLANNELS.

DRESS GOODS, from 14c to 65c, embracing new Crepes and Plaids. FLANNELS, in light and dark Gray, Navy, Scarlet, White, Claret, Brown, and Fawn. From 30c and upwards.

EXTRA VALUE IN PLAIN AND PLAID WINGIES. Wolfville, Aug. 5, 1885.

FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale 1 yoke of superior Working Oxen in good condition, and perfectly kind in Harness. Weight 2800 lb. Apply to ALEXANDER FULLERTON, Long Island, July 31, 1885.

COAL, COAL.

Having made especially favorable terms with the best mines I am prepared to sell Coal at unusually low rates, and hereby request parties in want of Fall and Winter supply to communicate with me before purchasing. Satisfaction guaranteed, both in quality and price. Good facilities for loading cars to go by rail. Persons wanting Hard Coal please send in their orders at once. W. J. HIGGINS. Wolfville July 30, 1885.

Sweeping Reductions

In SUITS made by me For 1 Month. Having a large stock on hand I wish to clear out to make room for New Stock. A. McPHERSON, KENTVILLE. Sept. 25, 1884.

THIS OUT and return to us with 10c, or 4 3-c stamps, and you'll get by return mail a Golden Book of Goods that will bring you in more money in one month than anything else in America. Either sex make money fast. 40 City Novelty Co. Yarmouth, N. S.

PUMPS!

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally that he is prepared to furnish the Celebrated Rubber-Bucket Pump, the best in the market, at his usual low rates. Address—J. B. WORTHYLAKE, Grand Pre, N. S. July 31, 1885.

William Wallace, TAILOR WOLFVILLE.

Corner Earl and Water Streets. Flour! Flour! IN STORE, 200 Bbls. FLOUR, Among which are two of the best Bread Making Flours made in the Dominion. Every Barrel Warranted. For sale low for cash by G. H. WALLACE, Wolfville, June 12, 1885.

LOOK HERE!

No More Broiling Over Hot Stoves, Ironing Clothes!! I have purchased the sole right of selling in this County KEARNS & NOBLE'S Acornless Smoothing Iron, The best ever invented. In introducing this Iron to the public, we do so knowing that when once used its merits will be appreciated, it being especially adapted for family use and highly recommended by all milliners who have used it for curling feathers, renewing crapes and velvets, doing away with the old plan of broiling over hot stoves. It will heat in five minutes ready for use, and can be run at a very small cost, making it the most useful smoothing iron ever introduced. Sold only by our agents. Price $3.00. S. R. SLEEP, Wolfville, N. S., July 23, 1885.

New Tobacco Store!

Having made some changes in my business, I am now prepared to supply the Tobacco Using Public with all the finest brands of Imported and Domestic CIGARS, CIGARETTES, SMOKING & CHEWING TOBACCOS, ETC., ETC.

A full assortment of BRIAR ROOT and MEERSCHAUM PIPES and CIGAR HOLDERS. FIRST CLASS BARBERING & HAIRDRESSING A S U A L. Give Us a Call. J. M. Shaw, Wolfville May 7th, 1885.

EAGAR'S PHOSPHOLEINE,

For the Cure of Consumption, Paralysis, Chronic Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, and other Skin and Blood Diseases, Eickets, Anemia, Loss of Flesh, Wasting both in Adults and Children, Nervous Prostration, etc. Two sizes, 25c and 75c.—FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS & DEALERS.

Hard Coal!

To arrive at Wolfville about the end of September, per Schr. "Moselle," cargo superior Hard Coal, guaranteed to be LACKAWANNA WHITE ASH.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 11, 1885

Local and Provincial.

The Teasmeting season has begun. The potato crop in Cornwallis is good so far.

Mr John Payzanton of Port Williams is now building a fine large barn.

Lumber, Shingles and Bricks for sale low at S. R. Sleep's.

Dr Sawyer is expected to preach in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath.

Our readers will do well to look out for Burpee Witter's new adv. in next issue.

Gents' Furnishings in great variety at Borden's.

The temperance lecture in the Baptist vestry to-night will be worth attending.

PURE PEKIN DUCKS—A few fine pairs for sale! Apply immediately. 1 in. EARDLEY RANDALL.

We are informed that the old bridge at White Rock Mills is to be replaced by an iron bridge.

JUST RECEIVED—2000 Choice Imported and Domestic Cigars, for sale low, J. M. Shaw. 1, if

Now is the time to get your pictures framed. Rockwell & Co. are doing them cheaper than ever.

The cattle were turned on the Wickwade dyke on Monday and on the Grand Pre on Wednesday last.

Burpee Witter's stock of Fall and Winter Dress Goods is now complete.

There has been in Hantsport within a fortnight fifteen deaths, thirteen of which were caused by cholera.

TOWELS, TOWELS.—Splendid new stock of Cotton, Linen and Damask Towels at Caldwell & Murray's. 1, if Messrs B. G. and F. P. Bishop are now painting Mr Silas Fader's new house and store at Port Williams.

American Hats latest styles expected this week at C. H. Borden's. 4-1

There has been shipped this season from Kingston station about 15,000 quarts of blueberries, the most of them bringing 3 cents per quart.

We turn Book & News Co. are selling 5 quarts of note paper for 20c.

NEW STORE—Mr W. H. Bishop has built a new house, with a store under it, near the Port Williams Sta. He is now preparing for the fall trade.

Lost.—On Wednesday evening, a ladies' gold set Ring. Finder will confer a great favor by leaving at this office.

Mr W. H. Chase, of Port Williams, has bought the Curry House and is now having it built over to suit. He has raised the house, built it higher, and built a new L to it.

Oil cloth Suits, Horse Covers, and Waggon Boots, at Burpee Witter's.

We would call attention to the adv. in another column of the Tea Meeting at Grand Pre next Thursday, the 17th. This is the first of the season in this vicinity and we hope to see it largely attended.

Caldwell & Murray have received this week: 10 cases Amherst Boots and shoes, 9 do Rubbers, 1 do Underclothing, 1 do Dress Goods, 3 do American Hats and Caps.

The schr. "Moselle," now on her way from New York with a cargo of Hard Coal for Wolfville, is expected to arrive next week, vessel having had quicker dispatch than was expected when the cargo was advertised. See advertisement above.

C. H. Borden, Wolfville, is sole agent for the celebrated "French Lustre" Dressing for ladies' and children's fine shoes. This is the only dressing that softens and preserves the leather and restores its color and lustre. See that his name is on the bottle. 4-2

As Agent of the "Domestic" I hereby challenge any agent of the "New Williams" for a comparison of the two machines on any reasonable condition to be named by the Williams agent in the next issue of this paper. A. C. Redden, Wolfville. August 31st, 1885.

Local and Provincial.

We will send the ACADIAN from now until the end of the year for 25c, in advance. Try it!

Communications from ROBERTO and FAIR-PLAY unavoidably crowded out. Will appear next week.

Mr Porter, of Coldbrook, shipped to Boston on Monday last 1,715 doz. eggs, which was just one week's collection for him.

C. H. Borden has just opened a splendid assortment of Men's Wool Underclothing. 4-3

We wonder why the gutters through the village were not cleaned out this year. Grass grew in them as usual and they do not look pretty to say the least.

Rockwell & Co's is the cheapest place to buy your School Books and School Supplies. 4-4

PAINT IN CANNING.—Messrs Stephen Sheffield, Edward Beckwith and Rupert Harris have had their houses newly painted, which adds greatly to the appearance of the village.

Straw Hats selling at cost at Caldwell & Murray's. 1, if Preparations are being made to remove the Presbyterian church from its present site to the lot opposite the Wolfville Hotel. Messrs J. B. Chute & Son, of Bear River, have the contract for the removal.

Be sure you inspect Borden's stock of Gents' Wool Underclothing before purchasing. 4-3

A committee of Maple Leaf Division, Greenwich, have engaged the restaurant on the Exhibition grounds in Kentville, and will serve meals during the three days of the Fair. Go and see them if you are there.

Buy Rockwell & Co's 5c Scribbling Books (two sizes), got up expressly for students' use. 4-4

NEW HALL.—The Maple Leaf Division, at Greenwich, are now building a hall, size 26x42 with 12-foot posts. Mr John C. Woodworth of Wolfville has the contract and is getting on nicely. It is to be completed by the first of December.

STYLISH HATS.—The place to buy a real first class hat is at Caldwell & Murray's. You can have your choice from an assortment of twenty different styles in stiff, and also from a large assortment in soft felts. They have lately received a large stock from Boston, which they must sell, and in order to do so, have marked them down to bottom prices. 4-2

SAXON STREET.—Mr W. G. Porter, Saxon Street, is building a hog pen; size 14x18.

WAGON.—There is one farmer on Saxon Street who must think that four rods is too wide for a highway, so they have fenced in a rod of highway, and one great big old apple tree that was always on the road-side until lately is now over the fence.

Mr Geo. Holt, of Saxon Street, deserves credit for his enterprise in farming and small-fruit culture. Farmers go see for yourselves; he will show you all round and with pleasure. He showed us all over his garden the other day and didn't seem to mind it a bit. It would take too long to tell all we saw; but one thing we did see was eight Flemings Pippins growing in a hilly tree—the tree was grafted a year ago last May.

The morning train from Kentville on Tuesday near Thomas' Crossing ran over and killed a very fine cow belonging to Geo. W. Borden and came near putting the whole train through the small bridge near there. The train carried her some two hundred yards and made a complete hash of the whole carcass. The boys who drive the cows across the track to this pasture have been in the habit of leaving the gates open at night and in the morning starting the cows down on the track; but getting their breakfast before putting them in the pasture and closing the gates. They were warned only the day before by the proprietor of the land, Mr D. Thomas, to keep the gate always shut, but no attention was given. Probably some more people between here and Port Williams will be a little more careful in future, for had this cow on the train through the bridge, it would have made a complete wreck of it and probably killed nearly every one on board.

The ACADIAN will be sent to any part of Canada or the United States for $1.00 in advance. We make no extra charge for United States subscriptions when paid in advance.

Died. DAVIDSON.—At Gasperau, on Wednesday, Sep. 9th, Sidney L. Davidson, aged 36 years.

Provincial News.

The St. Martin's, N. B., Agricultural exhibition will be held on Oct. 15.

A dead whale furnished 500 gallons of oil, landed below the light-house, Church Point, Yarmouth, last week.

Arthur Haliburton, Esq., son of the late Judge Haliburton, (Sam Slick) has been knighted for distinguished services in the transport department.

Dr. McNutt, a Colchester county, N. S., man, is a candidate for the governorship of California. He is a citizen of San Francisco, and is a man of conceded ability and integrity.

KILLED AT SPRING HILL.—Thomas Tower formerly of Amherst, was killed at Spring Hill on Monday last by the falling of a staging under which he was at work.—Amherst Sentinel.

A brick of gold weighing 54 ounces, and valued at $550, was brought to town yesterday morning by Mr. Gladwin, being the result of about three weeks' work by six men at Cariboo.—Hx Herald.

Dr. Kelly, of Yarmouth, writes that it gives him pleasure to state he has been prescribing Eagers Phospholine for the past two years, and the more he uses it the more he is gratified with the results.

Two gentlemen from the United States, accompanied by one belonging to this country who has a knowledge of our mineral resources, made a tour of the country during the early part of the week and have gone to Nova Scotia.—Albert N. B. Maple Leaf.

The Grand Manan Island Press says: "Capt. Charles Deering, the commander of the old Lewiston, has secured a subscription of $150,000 out of a proposed steamship, to run direct between Boston and Bar Harbor."

The Deal Shipments from Parrboro from Jan. 1st to present date are 24,500,000 sup. feet. The greater part were shipped by N. H. Upham, the "lumber king" of Parrboro, and the balance by James Miller & Co. (who also ship from Economy) and B. Young & Son.—Colchester Sun.

REMARKABLE YIELD.—An Alderney cow, five years old, owned by A. McGartland, Esq., of Pine Tree, calved on the 23rd day of May, and in the months of June and July produced the remarkable yield of 104 1/2 lbs. of butter. We would like to hear of a cow beating this record in this country.—Eastern Chronicle.

NOBLE YOUTH.—A much respected correspondent informs us that Mr. John Marshall, of Hillsboro, who is now in the seventy-sixth year of his age, has run his mow this year and cut all the grass on his farm. One of the hottest days this summer he mowed over four acres in part of a day. He has pitched and loaded hay with all the vigor of earlier years.—Harvey, N. B. Observer.

The Windsor Courier prints the following flattering item about the Rev. Mr. Brown: "The Windsor Courier of 2nd inst. contains an interesting account of the funeral of the late Rev. J. G. Hennigar. Rev. W. C. Brown preached the sermon on the occasion. A gentleman of the Episcopal Church who heard Mr. Brown preach at Wolfville, on Sunday, 16th ult., has told us that he considers him one of the ablest preachers he ever listened to, and he has heard many in various parts of America. Mr. Brown is a native of Windsor."

SILVER DISCOVERY AT WHYCOONAGH.—William Sinclair, an experienced Colorado and Nevada miner, discovered an excellent vein of silver ore on Silver Mountain, Whycoonagh, a few days ago. The vein is twenty feet thick, and Mr. Sinclair says the silver is far superior to any he has ever seen in Nevada or Colorado. He has also discovered near the same place a six-foot vein of galena and silver, which averages $1.50 per cent lead, and two and a-half ounces of silver to the ton on the surface. The discovery has caused considerable excitement in Whycoonagh. We congratulate Mr. Sinclair and W. W. Beer, of Charlottetown who is also interested in the goodluck.—North Sydney Herald.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL. SPECIAL MEETING, SEP. 8.

Report of committee on accident near Chipman brook read and discussed and on resolution adopted. Committee consisting of the Warden and Councillors Lyons and Taylor appointed to procure Counsel to resist claim of damage.

Mr. Orpin, a lunatic now in the asylum at Dartmouth, to be removed to this county and kept by Mr. McMan for $70 per annum and to receive $10 for expense of removal.

Resolved that the sum of $50 be taken out of the road and bridge fund appropriated to bridges on the Cornwallis river and expended on the Joe Bell Hill and roads leading to the Exhibition Building.

McMasters Bridge in Aylesford, and Lyons Bridge at Kentville placed under the Bridge Act.

A statement submitted by the Treasurer showing the amounts payable by the Ward Collectors on the 1st of Sep. and amounts actually paid as follows, in round numbers:

Table with 4 columns: ward, due, paid, deficit. Rows 1-14.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The composer Suppe is seriously ill in Vienna.

Mitchell, Dak., with a population of 3,000, has 23 lawyers.

In the United States there are thirteen towns bearing the name of London.

The first passenger car crossed the new Railway Bridge at St. John on the 15th ult.

The Queen has granted pensions of £100 each to the four sisters of John Leech, the artist.

Rev. Dr. Archibald, of Truro, has received a call from a large Presbyterian congregation at St. Thomas, Ont.

Latest reports from laborator are very encouraging. The prospects are said to be better than for three years past.

The German Government is contemplating the construction of a ship canal from the Baltic sea to the German ocean.

The run of Salmon in Fraser river, B. C., this season has been enormous. One night the boats took from 2,000 to 3,000 fish each.

If you wish to color wool, cotton, silk or feathers, use the new Electric Dyes, Strongest and Best in the world. 10 cents at all dealers.

Mrs. Martin, wife of a gentleman residing at Kingstown, was remanded lately at Dublin on a charge of stabbing her husband in the back with a carving knife.

The Celebrated Electric Dyes are the most lasting of all colors. Warranted strictly pure. 10 cents at Druggists and Grocers.

The York Pioneers' Society have passed a resolution to send a message of condolence to the family of the late Sir Francis Hincks, who was a member of the society.

Dr. Holland says: "The loofer lies about the world owing him a'ving." It goes him nothing but a rough coffin, and a retired and otherwise useless place to put it in."

President Cleveland keeps a scrap book of excerpts from the newspapers, in order to be informed of all sorts of public opinion. It is one clerk's sole employment to collect and preserve the scraps.

A law has been enacted in Austria making the observance of Sunday compulsory. The law, however contains a clause exempting from its operation, Jewish tradesmen and artisans who do not work on their Sabbath.

The National Convention of Masonic Lodge of Relief, in session in Baltimore, on Wednesday, elected Mr. J. Mitchell, of Montreal, Canada, as one of the vice-presidents, and selected St. Louis as the place of holding the next meeting.

The Oregon Shore Line, on Tuesday began the shipment from Portland, Oregon, of 27,000 head of cattle from Baker county. It will take 1,400 cars and six days to complete the transportation. Most of the cattle go to Chicago.

See the special prices offered by Western Book & News Co. for three months in another column.

A gentleman in a neighboring town who had suffered two years with chronic diarrhoea and was so reduced that he could not walk, was cured and restored to sound health by Johnson's Anodyne Linctament. This Linctament is worth its weight in gold.

The blighting effects of impure blood are sad to behold in those we meet day by day. This ought not and need not be so. Parsons' Purgative Pills make new rich blood; taken one a night for twelve weeks will change the blood in the entire system.

EMIGRATION TO AUSTRALIA.—Between one and two hundred emigrants belonging to the farming class, sailed from Waterford by the Clyde Shipping Company's steamer "Rathlin," for Plymouth, where they will embark for Adelaide. They were all young men and women, and came from the County Clare.—Irish Times.

A NEW SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY. We learn from trustworthy sources that Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons are already making preparations for the establishment of a new magazine of the first class, to be called Scribner's Monthly. When Scribner's sold their interest in the magazine formerly known by that name, but now called the Century, they agreed, after the usual custom, not to embark in any new magazine enterprise until after the lapse of a specified time. That time will expire, as we understand, during the year 1886, and it is the purpose of the firm to establish its new magazine next year. The beginning of a modern magazine of the first class involves so much time consuming preparations that even this early the Scribners are busily engaged in the work. Mr. W. A. Paton, formerly publisher of the World, is employed, we learn, as business manager of the new enterprise. Our information is to the policy of the magazine will be to publish comparatively few pictures and only those of the best kind. Its aim will be to represent literature with art as an adjunct, rather than to represent art primarily. No public announcement has yet been made of the fact or the plans, probably because so much yet remains to be done before the preparations will be complete. But the facts here stated have come to us from several independent and well informed sources.

It is whispered that certain unpublished letters and biographical materials relating to Thackeray, which have been jealously withheld from the public until now, will constitute a principal literary feature of the early numbers.—American Pyg.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS. MAKE NEW RICH BLOOD. Thirty years study and experiment have been given to perfecting the formula for Parsons' pills, and the universal judgment of the highest medical authorities, scientists, and men of learning, is that our formula is the best yet devised by the brain of man, and should rank with the wonderful discoveries of the world.

DR. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Custom House St., Boston.

Caldwell & Murray. SUMMER STOCK OF DRY GOODS!

We ask your attention to our stock of Dry Goods &c., which has been recently assorted by new importations, comprising:

- New Grey and White Cottons, Extra good values in Nova Scotia Cloths, Window Shades in Green, and Striped Linen &c.

Grey Mill Yarn, very fine and even, Oatmeal Cloth, Sateens, Peques, &c., Overalls, Jumpers, Cotton Shirts, &c., Damasks, Crotannes, Table Linens, &c., Summer underclothing.

WHITTEMORE'S OIL DRESSING, for Boots and Shoes, is just what is wanted by the Ladies of Wolfville. We have it. Don't destroy your Boots with cheap varnishes.

CALDWELL & MURRAY. WOLFVILLE, JULY 24th.

SAVE MONEY! By ordering your Hard Coal from us you will Save Money on every ton! And by giving me your order for the Celebrated Acadia Coal you will get the Best Soft Coal in the World at a low figure and Save Money. Remember that a few tons of the celebrated Acadia Coal will give as much heat and last as long as a whole vessel load of almost any other kind, and will not choke you like other kinds do.

We will sell for cash and sell low. Save money by giving as an early order. D. MUMFORD. W. & A. Railway Station, August 13, 1885.

TO LET. The Store on Main St., formerly used as a Dry Goods Store by Jas. S. McDonald Esq. Also, several comfortable rooms over said Store, forming a comfortable dwelling for a small family. Possession given immediately.

House and Orchard TO LET IN WOLFVILLE. The House is in thorough repair, and contains 8 rooms, 4 closets and pantry, a Frost-proof Cellar containing a large milk room. There is a good Barn on the premises. The Orchard is stocked with over 100 Choice Graft Trees in Full Bearing, viz. Apples, Pears, Plums, &c. For particulars apply to JAMES WILSON, on the premises Jan'y 29th.

NOTICE! All persons having legal demand against the Estate of Sarah Davison, late of Long Island, in the County of King's, widow, are requested to render the same duly attested, within twelve calendar months from the date hereof; and all persons indebted to said Estate are required to make immediate payment to J. B. DAVISON, Admr. Wolfville, July 6, 1885.

FOR 3 MONTHS THE WESTERN BOOK & NEWS CO. Will frame the Crown Pictures, or others same size, at following prices each: 1 1/2 inch Rose & Gift, $0 85; 2 " " " " 1 00; 2 1/2 " " " " 1 25.

All other Mouldings marked down to prices that cannot be equalled. August 18th. J. R. McDonald & Co., Watchmakers and Jewellers.

GEO. V. RAND,

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

DRUGS MEDICINES CHEMICALS,

FANCY GOODS,

PERFUMERY AND SOAPS,

BRUSHES, SPECTACLES, JEWELRY, ETC. ETC

Main Street, Wolfville, N. S.

ROOM PAPER! ROOM PAPER!

Don't forget that the

WESTERN BOOK & NEWS CO.,

are selling the balance of their

ROOM PAPER,

at cost to make for new importations.

15c. PAPERS FOR 10c.

GOOD HORSE SHOING!

(DONE BY)

J. I. BROWN

FOR

CASH 90c. CASH

J. I. Brown took the premium on his Horse Shoes at the Dominion & Centennial Exhibition at St. John, N. B., in 1883.

Carriages & Sleighs

MADE, PAINTED, and

REPAIRED

At Shortest Notice, at

A. B. ROOD'S.

Wolfville, N. S.

DR. O. W. NORTON'S

Burdock

BLOOD PURIFIER!

Purely Vegetable!

A Valuable Compound

FOR

RESTORING HEALTH.

Hundreds have been cured by using it for

LIVER COMPLAINT,

COSTIVENESS,

DYSPEPSIA,

SALT RHEUM,

CATARH,

RHEUMATISM,

IMPURE BLOOD,

LOSS OF APPETITE,

KIDNEY DISEASE,

AND—

GENERAL DEBILITY.

Benj. Starratt, Esq., Merchant, of Paradise, writes: "Your medicine sells well and gives splendid satisfaction. Please send me another lot of your Burdock

Blood Purifier.

There is no medicine known to the medical fraternity that has cured so many of Liver, Kidney Blood and Nerve

Diseases as the medicines that compose

Norton's Burdock Blood Purifier.

Sold by most of the dealers in medicines throughout the county, and by G. V.

Rand, Druggist, Wolfville at $1.00 per large bottle.

June 26, '85.—1 yr

KING' COUNTY

Jewelry Store,

KENTVILLE.

The subscribers have recently opened the stock in

ARNOLD'S BLOCK,

Webster St., next door to

Post office,

WITH A FULL LINE OF

WATCHES,

CLOCKS,

SILVER and

ELECTRO-PLATED

WARE,

Table CUTLERY

SPECTACLES,

ETC., ETC.,

And are prepared to furnish the above lines at the lowest market rates for cash, and would respectfully request intending purchasers to call and inspect our stock and ascertain prices before purchasing elsewhere.

J. R. McDonald & Co.,

WATCHMAKERS

Choice & Scyllary.

LOVE'S CREED.

I hold one simple faith throughout the days That wear so slowly to an unknown end— A faith which glorifies the darkest ways That lead me to my friend.

"KATRINA."

One evening, in the far-off Fatherland, as she leaned over the gate and waited for the coming of the red-checked and flaxen-haired Fritz, she shyly whispered to herself: "In a little time we shall be married. My mother will live with us, and Fritz will whistle and I will sing all day long in our happiness. Ah! Fritz! So jolly! So honest! So truthful! Was ever another boy like him?"

In a week Fritz was on his way, and if Katrina's blue eyes were never clear of tears his heart was never free from pain. By and by a letter came from him—then another and another; and for a year Katrina was happy. He had found work and was doing well. He loved her with all his soul—he would work and save and return to her.

A month later Katrina was walking the streets of the city in which her Fritz was living. She did not know his abiding place, but she would walk and walk—she would enquire of every kind-faced man—she would whisper her errand to every woman, and she would find Fritz.

Her Love Treasure. Tennyson quotes Dante when he says, "This is truth the poet sings. That a sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happier things."

faithless lover. "Poor Fritz—perhaps it was best!" she murmured. Next moment the fierce tide was bearing her body away, and the heart which had kept faith so long and trusted so well was stilled in death.—Detroit Free Press.

SETTING A HEN.

DEAR SIR: I see dot most efforpy writes something for de schicken bapen nowtays, and I thought praps meppe I can do dot, too, so I write all apout vat dook blace mit me lasht summer.

You know—oder if you dond know den I dells you—dot Katrina (dot is mine vrow) und me ve keep some schickens for a long time ago, und von tay she salt to me.

"Katrina! Katrina!" Und ven she koom und see me shtuck in de parrel up to mein armoehles mit mein face all blood und aigs, py cholly she shtuck lait town on de hay und laft und laft till I got so mat I said: "Vor you lay dere ond laf like a oot rook, ah? Vy dond you koom bull me ond?"

"Katrina, vill you bull me ond dis parrel?" Und she see dot I look booty ret, so she said: "Of course I vill, Sockery."

Den she laht me und de parrel town on our sidt, und I dook holt de doon sil und Katrina she bull on de parrel; but de first bull she mate I yelled: "Donner und bitzen! shtop dot! By cholly, dere ich nails in de parrel!"

Vell, ven I shtep on a parrel now I dond shtep on it; I get a pox, I lade you. SOCKERY SCHNEIDER.—Correspondence to The American Poultry Yard.

As it was opened, she took the things in both hands and covered them with kisses and tears. This was all that was left to her by her poor mother, who had died fifteen years before, and to preserve these precious relics she had borne her pious tribute as one places flowers upon the tomb.

RESPECT FOR BREAD.

The Egyptians are temperate and very frugal. They show great respect for bread, nor suffer the smallest portion to be wasted. Their word for it, "eyeh," which means "life," recalls the English term, "the staff of life."

Lane, the Orientalist, who lived many years in intimate association with Egyptians of all classes, says he has often seen them pick up a piece of bread, which had accidentally fallen in the street or road. The finder, after putting it before his lips and forehead three times, as expressive of his esteem, would place it on one side, in order that a dog might find and eat it. He considered it a sin to allow even a crumb of bread to be trodden under foot.

A similar idea used to rule in New England households, and every child was taught to throw crumbs where they might be found by the birds.

Lane tells a story which he heard from several persons, as illustrative of the Egyptian's excessive respect for bread. Two servants were sitting at the door of their master's house, eating their dinner, when they observed a Menlook Bey, with several of his officers, riding along the street towards them.

One of the servants rose, from respect to the grandes, whom, regarding him with indignation, exclaimed, "Which is the more worthy of respect, the bread that is before us, or myself?" Without waiting for a reply, he made a well-understood signal with his hand, and the unintended offender was beheaded on the spot.

The story seems incredible; Lane himself doubted it; but even if coined, it shows how excessive must be the respect for bread to furnish a foundation for such a terrible tale.

BILL NVE AS A PROTECTIONIST. I can think of no sadder sight than a Mormon tabernacle closed up for foreign competition and thousands of dependent robes hanging idle on the clothes lines of Utah. Imagine Zion filled up with pauper Mormons and flooding the Salt Lake markets, while the American-grown Mormon, with the best blood of Brigham Young and Joe Smith in his veins, is driven to the wall. If polygamy is to be one of our institutions let us foster and protect it, and allow no foreign power to compete with us.—St. Paul Herald.

Yes, son, if you toil and toil diligently success will be yours. Fame despises a lazy man, but comes abundantly to him who toils patiently and wisely. Look at the examples of great men, son. Look at Bob Burdette. He has toiled through the deep hours of the weary nights of years. But look at him now. He has just had a running horse named after him.

W. & A Railway. Time Table. 1885—Summer Arrangement—1885. Commencing Monday, 1st June.

Table with columns: GOING EAST, Accm. Daily, Accm. TFS, Exp. Daily, A. M., P. M.

Table with columns: GOING WEST, Exp. Daily, Accm. M, Accm. W, P. M., F. M.

N. B. Trains are run on Eastern Standard Time. One hour added will give Halifax time. Steamer Empress will leave St. John for Annapolis and Digby every Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, returning on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

THE ACADIAN, REMOVAL!

HONEST, INDEPENDENT, FEARLESS!

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED!

$1.00 per annum.

THE ACADIAN HAS NOW ENTERED UPON ITS FIFTH VOLUME, AND It is Acknowledged by all TO BE

THE MOST POPULAR PAPER IN THE COUNTY

PATRONIZE The Local Paper

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE ACADIAN!

ADVERTISERS

Will find it particularly to their advantage to Patronize the Acadian

THE ADVERTISEMENTS ARE READ EVERY TIME.

Parties wanting a County Paper will do well to send for a sample copy, AND COMPARE THE ACADIAN With the other County papers.

The 'Acadian' Stands Ahead

"AND DON'T YOU FORGET IT!"

The Acadian Job Department is Very Complete.

FINE NEW TYPE, TASTY WORK, AND LOW PRICES! WHEN YOU WANT PRINTING DONE COME AND SEE US AND WE WILL MAKE YOU GLAD. ADDRESS—

"THE ACADIAN," WOLFVILLE.

—OF THE—

Wolfville Jewelry Store

—FROM—

WOLFVILLE TO KENTVILLE!

OPPOSITE THE PORTER HOUSE, ON THE MAIN STREET.

J. McLeod's Price List of Watch Repairs.

Cleaning Watch 50c. (usual price 75c. to $1.00) New Main Spring 50c. (usual price 75c. to $1.00) New Jewel from 25 to 50c. (usual price 75c. to $1.00) New Balance Spring, commonly called Hair Spring 50c. (usual price 75c. to $1.00) Watch Crystals 10c. (usual price 20c.) Watch Hand 10 to 15c. (usual price 20 to 25c.) P. S.—All other repairs at a reduced rate. Watch Work guaranteed 12 mos.

JEWELRY made to order and Repaired.

KENTVILLE, SEPT 1, 1885.

THE BOOKSTORE!

Eagle Building, Wolfville, JULY 10th, 1885.

TO THE LADIES OF KING'S CO. We would like to call your attention to the fact that we are now

Framing Lots of Pictures in all the standard styles.

We are agents for the well-known and justly celebrated

WANZER SEWING MACHINE.

Remember we will give you a written guarantee from the manufacturers to repair all breakages, through defect, for five years from time of purchase. Terms easy and the machine one of the best in the world. Call and examine its new and unexcelled features before buying elsewhere.

WE HAVE THE BEST 25c. Package of Note Paper (five quires) in the market.

Books and Stationery at cheap rates.

If you want an ORGAN or PIANO write us for circulars and terms.

J. F. Herbin, Practical Watchmaker and Jeweller, is still with us and his work is giving excellent satisfaction. Bring in your Watches, Clocks and Jewellery.

We keep all the standard cheap libraries and periodicals. Come in and see us even if you don't want anything. We want to talk to you and tell you a great secret about how you can save money. Come in this week sure. Yours very truly,

A. M. HOARE, MANAGER.

WESTERN BOOK & NEWS CO.