Select Poetry.

The Good Man's Creed.

A little thought and a little care,

A little tenderness now and then,

A precious speech and a courtly air

May give one rank among gentlemen.

But he who merits the highest place,

Though clad in homespun cloth, 'tis true,

Is one who carries a heart of grace,

And is really a nobleman through and through.

Alas! not to feel here and there

In the lovely scent of the rose stayed;

Nor is there a corner within it where

The fragrance of the and the treasure's laid;

But every petal is truly filled—

Pink or crimson, or saffron hue—

With odors rich, by the dew distilled;

And the rose is a sweet rose through and through.

And yonder billows with foaming crest,

So bright and sparkling, so glad and free,

May seem a lighter make than the rest

Of the mighty sweep of the solemn sea;

But there's not a drop in the crucible,

Never a drop since the world was new,

That wouldn't be the self-same story tell

That the sea is a salt sea through and through.

The tree is stunted, the vine is spoiled,

There's neither blossom nor leaf nor fruit.

When the sap in its upward reach is foiled

And fettered close in the tangled root;

And there's nothing sound, and there's nothing strong.

There's nothing good, and there's nothing true,

That is not honestly—right along—

Sweet and saffron through and through.

Faithfully faithful to every trust;

Honestly honest in every deed;

Righteously righteous, and justly just;

This is the work of the good man's creed.

Interesting Story.

The Husband's Present.

It was a bitter cold night on the twenty-fourth of December. The snow lay deep upon the frozen earth, and the bright moon, riding half-way up the heavens, lent a crystalline lustre to the scene. In the high road, a short distance from a quiet, reposing village, stood the form of a human being. His garments were scant and tattered, by far insufficient to keep out the biting frost; his frame shook and trembled like the ice-bound boughs of the weeping willow that grew near him, and his face, as the moonbeams now danced upon it, exhibited all the fearful foot-prints of the demon

Intemperance. Poor, wretched, de-housed, he looked, and such, in truth, he was!

Before him, at the end of a neatly fenced and tilled enclosure, stood a small cottage. It was elegant in its simple neatness, and just such a one the humble lover of true comfort and joy would seek for a home. The tears rolled down the bloated cheek of the poor inebriate as he gazed upon the cottage, and at length as he clasped his hands in agony, he murmured:

"Oh, thou fond home of my happier days, thou lookest like a heaven of the past. Beneath thy roof I was married to the idol of my soul, and within thy peaceful walls, God gave to me two blessed children. Then peace and pleasure were mine. My wife—God bless her gentle soul—was happy then,

and I was content.

But now, alas! I am a wretched creature, and my children are strangers to me. My wife is dead, and I am alone in this world.

Oh, how I wish I could see her again, and hold her in my arms!

Oh, how I wish I could see my children again, and hear their voices, and feel their hands!

Oh, how I wish I could see my home again, and feel its peace and

quietude!

Oh, how I wish I could see my home again, and feel its peace and

quietude!

Oh, how I wish I could see my home again, and feel its peace and

quietude!

Oh, how I wish I could see my home again, and feel its peace and

quietude!

Oh, how I wish I could see my home again, and feel its peace and

quietude!

Oh, how I wish I could see my home again, and feel its peace and

quietude!

Oh, how I wish I could see my

home again, and feel its peace and

Oh, how I wish I could see my

The custom of appropriating one day in each year to the purpose of tree planting as practised in many places is a worthy one and we regret that it is not more generally observed here.

The Water Vote.

The voting on the proposed water district takes place on Wednesday next, the poll to be held at J. S. Morse's. The great advantages of an efficient water supply have already been laid before the readers of the ACADIAN and will hardly be questioned.

No Lotteries

We are not in favor of lotteries. We cannot promise our readers a watch as an inducement for our subscription. Our utmost effort ever put forth to make itself worth the full subscription and we think our patrons are that they are getting full value for their dollar in fifty-two papers filled with carefully selected stories and sketches; timely editorials and the latest news from all parts of our county and Province.

$2,000 For the Fruit Growers of Canada.

Secretary Starr received the following telegram on Wednesday evening from John B. Mills, Esq., M. P. for Annapolis County: "We have succeeded in obtaining an appropriation of two thousand dollars to aid in the extension and development of the fruit growing industry of Canada."

bourne Cos, respectively, all of whom are members of the above association, which has already done so much for the benefit of the fruit growers of this province.

The Scott Ate.

In the matter of the conviction made by the magistrates in the case of The Queen vs. Orr, a cause brought on an information of violating the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act and subsequently appealed to the County Court, Judge Blanchard recently gave judgment quashing the conviction on the ground that the Act is not in force in this county.

The Birds.

The writer was once a boy. Sometimes we older ones forget that, and hence our want of charity for the young people who seem to us to be so rapidly going to the bad.

Many of our young people of the present day delight in mischief, more than in the pain they may inflict upon their unoffending victims. They are after a good time, and they think they are having it. For the sake of the excitement they sacrifice mercy. The young are not alone in this.

birds are peculiarly exposed to the cruelty of thoughtless young people. Their cases their destruction is due to a mere thoughtlessness, rather than to a malicious spirit of revenge and malignant malice.

birds do not ask us to provide for them. They only ask to be let alone, and to be left in their lullaby slumbers and in their happier beds when they are laid in their beds. Indeed, who of us are not made up by their songs? They ought to be better by teaching us also to serve up praise Him who cares for us and pleases our wants.

The birds are moreover our benefactors. Without them we should be overrun with destructive insects that God has given to them for food. Without their services our gardens and orchards might soon be unproductive as they certainly would unless some expensive plan should be devised for the extermination of the pests.

little ones? Shall we not rather welcome them to our fields and groves and help them when we can in providing them with places where they may rear their young?

"Over my shaded doorway, Five little brown-winged birds Have chosen to fashion their dwelling, And utter their loving words; All day they are going and coming On errands frequent and fleet, And warbling over and over "Sweetest, sweet, O sweet!"

"Book of Wonders."

No. 1. On the initial page of an old scribbling book, filled with articles which he and I have often read over together—I with surprise and pleasure, he with good-natured ridicule—a page every now and then adorned with odd and fantastic pictures and initial letters, so characteristic of his penmanship, is the quaint title, "Book of Wonders, by L. L. Davison."

The writer has a vivid remembrance of something he used to do when a boy that now seems to him to have been very unjust and cruel; for instance the stoning of frogs and squirrels and birds. It was fun for us boys, but it was very much otherwise to those innocent creatures that we thus persecuted.

The writer has a vivid remembrance of something he used to do when a boy that now seems to him to have been very unjust and cruel; for instance the stoning of frogs and squirrels and birds. It was fun for us boys, but it was very much otherwise to those innocent creatures that we thus persecuted.

In the village of Wolfville on the 18th of April, 1871, Leslie L. Davison first saw the light of this world. Had he lived five more days he would have reached his eighteenth birthday and lived eighteen years. These years were busy ones. His thoughts seemed always busy. Whatever he wanted done, he could do it, and do it well. He was a genius. He attempted printing, and in a very short time excelled. Spare hours he spent successively at wood-work, drawing, wood engraving, studying and writing.

Students. You can learn to write well and rapidly from the start. Indeed if you like you can follow a speaker quite easily. Probably you will find that a help in school as well as in business. How can I teach by mail? Well, it is not how much you write but the way. Many men write every day for several years yet do not become good writers. There are a great many habits that prevent success; they can be pointed by mail just as well as personally.

Special Announcement. We have made arrangements with Dr B. J. Kendall Co., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases" which will enable all our subscribers to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address (enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) to Dr B. THE ACADIAN is pleased to announce the completion of special arrangements whereby it is enabled to offer its readers the best of the best family journals for less than the price of one.

FOR $1.50

We will send, for one year, to any address, THE ACADIAN and the Famous Family Weekly, The Detroit Free Press.

The Free Press is without question the Greatest Literary and Humorous paper now before the American people. It is not a new aspirant for public notice, established over fifty years ago, it has stood the test of time, and is today stronger, better and more popular than ever—120,000 subscribers affirm its passing excellence. The Free Press is everywhere quoted and laughed at, with respect to literary excellence it will compare favorably with the expensive magazines, "The Quaker," "The Lake Shore," "The Best," "The Hartford," "The Boston," "The Adams," "The Hamilton," "The York," "The Bronson," "The Howard," "The Dodge," and other favorite writers, contribute early to its columns. Recognizing the growing demand for first-class literature, the Free Press has offered $3,000.00 IN CASH prizes for the three best Serial Stories 50,000 words each. A number of the best writers have announced their intention to compete.

In addition to the many other special features it is the intention to publish sections of Three Serial Stories Each Week written expressly for The Free Press by the best American and English authors. It will be seen, therefore, that by subscribing for THE ACADIAN and the Free Press, the entire family can be supplied with all the news and with the best current literature for a year, at the cost of Less Than Three Cents A Week! The Free Press is a large eight-page seven-column paper, and the regular price is One Dollar per year. Remember that for $1.50 you can have The Free Press and your favorite home paper, and Sample copies can be seen at all Druggists. We hope that our friends will take their appreciation of our efforts in their behalf, by making up their minds to take advantage of the splendid offer. SUBSCRIBE AT ONCE. Local and Provincial.

PLOWING.—Our farmers have been busy plowing on the dikes this week.

THE CHURCHES.—The churches were very slimly attended last Sunday evening on account of the severe storm.

NEW STORE.—Mr O. D. Harris' store is rapidly approaching completion. He expects to be into it, we believe, the first of May.

COLD.—A genuine cold wave visited us this week and brought out overcoats again. It's a little too early for straw hats yet, boys.

FISHING TACKLE.—Fine stock now open.

TROUT.—Some of our local sportsmen have made good catches of trout during the past week. Quite a number were out on Good Friday.

THE COUNCIL.—The Municipal Council has been in session this week. A full report of the proceedings will appear in the ACADIAN next week.

Gent's Hand Sewed Boots and Shoes at Borden's, Wolfville.

CONCERT.—The Easter Concert, postponed from last Sabbath, on account of the storm, will be held in the Methodist church, Lower Horton, on this (Friday) evening. A silver collection is requested.

Men's Undressed Shirts only 50 cts. at BURFEE WITTER'S.

PERSONAL.—Rev J. O. Ruggles spent Easter Sunday in this county. He conducted public services in Wolfville in the morning and took part in the services in St James church, Kentville, in the evening.

Latest Styles in Gent's Neckties at BURFEE WITTER'S.

SWEET BUTTERCUP.—Mr E. A. Davidson, merchant, of Gaspareau, sends us a bunch of full-blown buttercups, which were picked alongside of the river. This is remarkably early for the little flowers to make their appearance.

Brown Bread, fresh every Saturday, at R. PRAT'S.

REMOVED.—The family of our esteemed station master, Mr Mumford, removed to Ellershouse on Tuesday. Since their residence here they have made many friends, who will regret their departure from Wolfville. Mr M will remain in Wolfville.

Wire Fencing, plain and barbed, and Posts at WALTER BROWN'S.

A MARINE MISHAP.—The schr. Sparkling Bellow, Capt. L.R. Morris, left this port on Tuesday evening in ballast for Cornwallis and missing her course ran upon the flats on the north side of the Cornwallis river, tipped over and split in two from stem to stern, and now lies a wreck just north of this village. She has been stripped of sails and rigging and abandoned. She was built in 1860 at Edgecombe, Main, and registered at St Andrews, N. B., 25 tons burden.

CAMBRIDGE.—The Sharp's Hill bridge was completed on Wednesday of last week. The contractors, Messrs. Pigott & Son, of Bridgetown, have completed their contract in a very prompt and satisfactory manner, and Cambridge has again a bridge of which the community may well be proud. Mr John Coldwell, the contractor for the building of the Webster mill bridge, has the foundation laid and is getting out materials for the superstructure which will be commenced shortly.

Use the Excelsior Dyes they prove to be the best and will dye almost twice as much as any other dyes, only 8 cents.

DEATH OF MR E. RAND.—Mr Ebenezer Rand, of Canning, who was attacked with paralysis a few weeks ago, passed away on the night of Thursday of last week. His recovery had been very doubtful from the first and during the last few days his death was only a question of time. Mr Rand was well known in all parts of the county, having held the position of collector of customs for more than twenty-five years. Last year he was superannated at his own request and his son appointed to his place. He was highly respected, and leaves friends wherever he was known, who will sincerely mourn his loss. The ACADIAN

The Base Ball!

Season began last week and the interest in the game is quite as strong as ever, and it will be probably a good year in that business. At any rate the good year in the shoe business is for the man who buys a pair of Bad Storm.

The thunder storm of last Sunday evening was the worst which has been experienced here for some years. Many cases of damage are reported. In Wolfville one man is said to have received a shock but no serious damage was done. The house of Richard Schofield, North Alton, was struck and the occupants, numbering ten, all more or less injured. A little son of Mr Schofield, who was leaning out of the window, was struck and instantly killed. The house was considerably injured and set on fire in one place. This was soon extinguished. Dr Webster, of Kentville, who was summoned, reports that the injured ones are now doing well. At Beach Hill the barn of Alfred Smith was struck and badly damaged. A number of sheep were knocked senseless and one killed. Mr Donaldson's barn, at Church St., was also badly injured.

Ladies be sure and ask your druggists and grocers for the Excelsior Dyes they are only 8 cents a package and will dye brighter and dye more goods than any dyes sold.

It is Whispered

That spring is here. That this will be a busy summer. That the boys must stop playing ball on the streets. That pedestrians don't like it. That the fishing season has begun. That big stories will now be the order of the day. That the vote on the water district will take place next Wednesday. That some don't want water; but that it would be a good thing for the town. That people will soon be getting ready for Anniversary. That our streets need some improvement. That the society referred to in a recent issue of the ACADIAN is what is needed. That Arbor Day will soon be here. That the ACADIAN is always on the side of progress. That Maying parties are all the fashion this week. Minard's Liniment is the Best.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the ACADIAN:

Sir,—A petition is being circulated to unite the school sections of Grand Pre and Horton Landing in order that a graded school may be established in the united district. At the present time general schools are run in each district. These sections were formerly one but were divided chiefly by the wishes of the rate payers of the Horton Landing section for reasons best known to themselves. Since they were separated both sections built school houses and that of Horton Landing has been condemned on account of being too small to accommodate the children attending school while Grand Pre has one of the finest country school houses in the province with accommodation for more than double the children that are likely to attend for many years. The Horton Landing people who forced the separation years ago find themselves in a position that they are either forced to build at considerable expense or have the sections united. This latter course they are very anxious to adopt, as the expenses will be much more on the rate payers of Grand Pre who have considerably more property than themselves. In other words they are anxious to have their children educated in a graded school largely at the expense of Grand Pre.

Yours, PADDY.

On the Death of Leslie L. Davison.

Cold, cold he is sleeping 'neath the flowers shall grow From the earth where in silence and darkness below His form is forever reposing: The summer shall smile and the autumn winds sigh, The fierce blasts of winter sweep freely by, But no charges to Leslie disclosing. Oh, 'tis sad that the young and the pure Must be pierced like the blackest by Death's cruel spear. To ashes and dust back returning; But God has decreed the dominion of Death To extend over all that existed by breath. And endeth all passionate yearning. A rose from our garland is fallen,—not torn By a blast of the whirlwind and sudden upborne On the wings of the tempest ascending— But fading and fading as slowly each day As the gold from the cloud slowly fades away, When Day to her sister is bending. E. B.

Easter Meeting.

The annual Easter meeting of the St John's (Episcopal) church, was held in that church on Monday last. The minutes of last meeting and the Warden's financial statement were submitted and adopted. The accounts for the past year showed a decided gain over preceding years. The reports on the whole were encouraging and future prospects of the church seem bright. A resolution making "all seats free" passed unanimously. R. Prat and F. A. Dixon were elected wardens for the ensuing year the latter in place of E. S. Crawley, resigned. G. A. Prat re-elected vestry clerk.

The Excelsior Dyes will dye more goods than any dyes made and will dye brighter and more brilliant colors, they are sold at all druggists and grocers at only 8 cents.
