PANDORA
RANGE
HOLDS FIRE ALL NIGHT

The good housewife always feels like bestowing upon the Pandora a cheerful "good morning."
Why? Because the Pandora always has a nice bed of hot coals as a reward for checking off the dampers closely before retiring to rest.
In five minutes after turning on the drafts she will have a good strong fire.
Should she sleep
two or three hours longer than usual there will still be a fire ready for her.
The fire-box, flues
and dampers are so scientifically arranged that the Pandora can be regulated to hold a fire from 24 to 30 hours.
Pandora owners
never have their sleep
disturbed with dreams
of making a new fire in the morning.

WORTH TAKING
One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salsaparilla;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;
Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, is pronounced by a prominent physician to be the best mixture for the cure of the kidney, bladder, and all urinary troubles.
This says the doctor, is the most simple though remarkable prescription ever written, to cleanse the system of impurities and waste matter. It acts as a powerful tonic to the kidneys, forcing them to filter out the acids and poisons, overcoming rheumatism, lame back, neuralgia, and other ailments arising from sour, impure blood.
The ingredients can be procured at any good drug store, and being purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can easily be mixed at home.
If you have a suffering friend show this to him, as he will undoubtedly be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended a remedy.

Well Done.
Sleep, happy people of field and woodland and creper and herb and tree-
The Master judges thy off'ring good
And sends his angels to care for thee.
Dull thy festival garb of gold—
Flour and saffron and glowing red—
Water hastens sidens the world
To tuck thee warm in the waiting bed.
Sweet thy dreams as the winds rush by,
And vainly pluck at thy coverlet.
And streams are lettered, and chill the sky,
And towns and country are frost-bound,
Dreams fall through with the breeze's sigh,
The leaf's-lantern and the tin-drum's call
With wish of meadow and hill and vale
From hasting spring to the braving fall.

Sleep, happy people, where all is still Beneath your houses, eaves, and the
The sun swings low o'er the leafless hill And shot grows the moment from dawn to dark.
Sleep, 'tis the Master who bids thee rest
And holds thee fast in his loving net;
Till the dawn's first light on his cheek,
And April suns to work again.

Appearances to the Contrary.
Mrs. Holton entered her sister Susan's room, and sinking into the nearest chair, uttered her sobs. This was preparatory to rite, sacred in Mil-town, of dressing for the afternoon.
Susan, who notwithstanding the fact that she had just returned from an art school and did not deny being artistic, refused to be called Suzanne, was doing something to her face, with the aid of a hand glass and many unbecoming grimaces.
"What are you going to wear this afternoon?" inquired Mrs. Holton in an elaborately careless voice.
"Nothing—that is, I'm going to wash my hair, since there not a place in this metropolis where I can have it washed for me."
"But Susie, not in the afternoon!"
"There will surely be callers."
"Just say I'm not at home and don't bother," said Susan, drawing out her hairpins and letting her red hair down on her yellow and brown and tan komono.
"You forget that you are not in New York," said her sister sharply.
"Do try to forget that you have been at art school and be decent to people."
"Not at home" won't go. Every one in this village knows that you are at home, for you could at possibly get away without some one seeing you. And, anyway, I asked that Mr. Bates over to call on you."
"Kind of you! What Mr. Bates?" asked Susan, dropping her comb and stooping to pick it up.
"Mrs. Barton's nephew. He's from the east somewhere, and he has the nicest manners. I thought maybe you would like to have some one come who is a little more like the men you are used to," she added.
"I would," said Susan, emphatically.
"And it was so nice of you to think of it. Perhaps he'll come late in the afternoon and my hair will be all dry. I'll hurry!" And she ran down the hall and slammed the bathroom door after her.
"There's something familiar about the name," she said to her face in the glass while the water was running.
"And—and I don't particularly want to see any more of the Bates clan—but if Bessie should find that out she'd never let me forget it. So I'll see Mr. Bates and try to get her interested in this place.
She played croquet with her little niece while her hair dried, and the latter part brought her to full view of the street. She got down on her knees and bumped the grubby hair with care and precision against the little post, and while she knelt a young man walked up the straight walk to the front door.
And so it happened that three minutes later as she entered the bathing room, with her glowing, wind blown hair and flushed face, she was just in time to hear her sister's company voice say:
"Come right out into the sitting room, Mr. Bates. It's so much cooler there."
She gained the stair closet just in time and softly pulled the door shut after her. And then, safely hidden, she called herself a goose.
"Why didn't you go out into the back yard and reach your room by the ladder? No one but Bessie would live in a house that has no back stairs!"
She hoped the collar would not stay long, but she knew there was no telling what false hopes her sister would hold out to the young man to keep him until Susan would appear.
She did not know that Susan was in the closet, and if she had known it she would not have known how to get her out.
But if she had one grain of sense, which unfortunately she has not, or she'd not be trying to make a match for me, she'd know that I, presumptively in the sack yard, could not get to my room in any way save through the place where they were sitting."
The closet was small, airless, dusty and full of odds and ends. Susan hardly dared move for fear of knocking something down.
"Not that I care for being discovered," she reasoned, for that would serve them both right but I do not care to bring Jim's golf sticks or Indian down on my defenseless head, I'm not much of a club woman."

She searched cautiously for a keyhole and found none.
"Of course not," she muttered dismissively. "I'm denied even the small comfort of watching the distortion of Susie's face as I fail to appear. So I must think upon my sins and be patient, I presume."
She sank back on her heels and traced her hot face with her kimono. "I hope it doesn't fade," she thought.
Presently she rested her forehead on a peg and forgot time and place and heat and discomfort. Her thoughts were busy.
"I suppose he and Maed Forman are married by this time. I wish I knew how that happened. He always said he did not care for her baby kind of prettiness. It must have been her talent. No one can deny that she had the rest of us beaten all fellow.
That little characterless, baby faced thing could paint better than Dan himself!"
"Maude knows how I feel about it —and so does he. That's what hurts the worst. I could not help showing it that last day. And she—there was such triumph in her silly little face when she came out of the studio, and we knew she had got the prize. She looked at me, and then she forgot I was there. Oh, the humiliation of it!
And then old Carton had to cap the climax by telling me that I never would make an artist. I knew it well enough. All I wanted was—if he'd only stopped there instead of telling me that I should be married."
"I have seen that you are in love, Miss Susan, and I advise you to marry the good man and help him make a career."
"If I wasn't so smart as he thought he was or he'd have seen that Maude wasn't content with getting the painting prize. She had to take everything, even—forgetting where she was, she sprang to her feet, bumping her head against a pile of empty boxes, which fell with a deafening clatter.
Then the door was flung open, and some one seized her arm and drew her gently out into the sitting room. Sugan gave one glance at her sister's horrid face and then laughed helplessly. "It was fortunate that she could not see her own face, which was stained in an elaborate pattern from the kimono."
"I was hunting for my comb"—she began and stopped, for the man whose face she had not yet seen, came around in front of her.
"Did you find it?" he asked.
Susan turned white and then red and white again before she said a word. And when her lips finally opened they uttered the one thing she could have bitten her tongue out for saying.
"Where is Maude?"
"Maude? Oh, she's safely married and on a wedding trip. Whatever made you run away that day when old Carton told Maude she had won the prize? We hunted for you, to tell you, but you were gone."
"I didn't need to be told. I saw, she said, and then 'grew white again.'
"But why—if you are married—why don't Maude here too?"
"Maude? Suddenly the man gave a shout. Do you mean that you think I am married to Maude? That's a good one. She is my sister-in-law now. She was engaged to Fred for five years, and they never had money enough to marry until she got that cash prize. That was why she worked so hard for it."
Susan began to back towards the stairs way. She felt it was time to escape.
"No, you don't," said the man, and he caught one corner of the komono and held her.
"I'm not dressed," she murmured.
"So I presume," he answered. "But was that the reason you ran away?
because you thought Maude—"
"Old Carton told me I'd never make an artist!" she evaded.
"Did he? The brat! But that was no reason for running away from me. What else did he say?"

"He said I had better get married," said Susan. "And that was why I ran away."
"As she had hoped he would, the man dropped the komono in his amazement, and she darted up the stairs, leaving him looking after her with fear in his eyes.
Susan—told me—
She leaned over the banister and looked at him. "But of course I can't get married until some one asks me," she said, and before he could get to her the door of her room had slammed.

Corporations and the Press
In a recent article on "Trusts and Their Treatment," Senator Beveridge
of Indiana enumerated seven evils, some of which he holds have been ended by the United States and others are in process of being ended. The last on his list was the evil of "purchased newspapers and the corruption of public opinion." For it is the only remedy he could suggest that when the people learned to know such papers when they see them, they could withdraw their support.
Commenting on Senator Beveridge's article in The Commoner, Mr. Wiliam J. Bryon says, on this particular point:—
"The trouble with this remedy is that it takes the people to long to find out what papers are subsidized.
The Senator is in favor of compelling the packing houses to stamp the date of the canning upon the can in order that the people may know how old the meat is. Why not require the newspapers having any considerable interstate circulation to publish the names of their stockholders and the names of their mortgage? No harm could be done an honest paper, and we need not be tender about the feelings of a dishonest one. If the people knew who owned the paper as stockholder, or who controlled the paper as mortgage, they could tell better what weight to give to the editorials and how much faith they could put in the reliability of the news columns. I am glad that the Senator is awake to the evil influence of the subsidized press. There is a well-founded suspicion that several of our prominent dailies are conducted not as business enterprises, but as adjuncts to exploiting corporations.
The owners use the columns of their papers to chloroform the readers while the pockets of the readers are being picked, and the people are as much entitled to protection from the subtle poison of these papers as they are to have poison printed on a bottle that contains it."
The supply of canned reading matter both in the shape of editorials and news items and paragraphs is a popular industry with the trusts in these days. In the third of its series of articles on "Tainted News," Collier's Magazine quoted from the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, issued last January, where the commissioners stated that: "The Standard Oil Company buys advertising space in many newspapers, which it fills, not with advertisements, but with reading matter prepared by agents kept for that purpose, and paid for at advertising rates as ordinary news."
The assumption is that this literature furnishes many of the ideas touching the great benefits conferred upon the public by the Standard Oil Company.
Similar methods are employed by the public service corporations whose existence is threatened and whose dominance is being destroyed by the increasing popularity of the principle of public ownership. Newspapers are owned or controlled by these monopoly holders and regular writing factories are in operation for the purpose of turning out attractive news de-patches and paragraphs decrying municipally conducted services and extolling the wonderful merits of private operation. This utterly unreliable stuff finds its way, in some cases innocently enough, into many newspapers and its only object is to turn public sentiment towards the side of the utility monopolists. Publicity on the lines advocated by Mr. Bryan would assist the people to form an accurate judgment regarding the motives of that portion of the press which deals in the canned articles.—

The Quality That Makes One Interesting.
The quality that makes men or woman an interesting companion is a natural gift, like good temper, or good looks, and like these it depends for its pre-eminence on cultivation and encouragement. People may lose the tendency to convey what they observe and feel, if they meet with too frequent rebuff. If, when they are young and sensitive they receive discouragement and snubs, they come to the either to doubt themselves or to disregard their neighbors, and either feeling discourages spontaneity or encourages, and themselves make to other minds they are conveying something interesting and deserving of praise, the faculty is cultivated, and its possessor becomes noted as an interesting talker. The besetting danger now is of self-consciousness, of talking to make a personal impression rather than to convey an impersonal one. Free of this the individual who observes, understands, and can interpret, becomes monarch of a world of impersonal things, has his pasport into every social kingdom consigned, and may go any where as often as he does not prefer to be alone.
—British Congregationalist.

Be Kind in Little Things.
The sunshine of life it made up of very little beams that are bright all the time. In the nursery, on the playground and in the schoolroom, there is room all the time for little acts of kindness, that cost nothing but are worth more than gold and silver. To give up something, when giving up will prevent unhappiness; to yield, when persisting will chafe and fret others; to go a little way around rather than to come against another; to take an ill word or a cross look, rather than to resent it; these are the ways in which clouds and storms are kept off and a pleasant, smiling sunshine secured even in a humble home, among very poor people, as well as in families in higher station. Much that we term the miseries of life would be avoided by adopting this rule of conduct.

When you Eat too Fast.
If you have indigestion, perhaps cramps, or in any case the system is overloaded with matter that should be eliminated. Breath gets bad, eyes look dull, headaches are frequent.
Why not cleanse and purify the whole system, why not strengthen

Shake Hands with Asthma.
Awfully distressing is asthma, but worse if possible when combined with Bronchitis. Relieved quickest by Catarrhone than anything else
—cured so thoroughly by 'Catarrho-zone' that it doesn't return. Catarrhone's healing vapor is breathed right into the lungs, destroys the most chronic cases, and succeeds in the most chronic cases. Try it. Two sizes, 25c. and $1.00, at all dealers.

The Man in the Moon.
There is a quaint tradition about how the belief in the man in the moon originated that is worth telling.
Like so many of these beliefs, says
The Washington Star, it began way back in Bible times, and in quite another dress. By many nations the old man is supposed to be the one who first made his appearance in the Book of Numbers (Chapter xv., verse 32). Then he was found by the children of Israel gathering sticks on the Sabbath day. He was taken before Moses and condemned to death. He was taken later outside the camp and stoned until he died. One would think that was punishment enough, even for so awful a crime, but superstition took him in hand at that point and consigned him to the moon, where, with a bunch of sticks on his tired old back, he was destined to climb forever up the shining hill and never reach the top. The story goes that his faithful dogs were permitted to share his fate, and if you look carefully when the night is clear and dark you will see the pair toiling away upon their endless climb.
The face of the old man also grew out of the old-time tradition, but the figures are quite plain if one puts on the glasses of imagination.

Rosy Checks for Pale Girls.
Don't be debarred from strength and spirit, don't give in to illness and despair. Ferronone supplies tone and vigor through which all functions of womanly life are maintained and fortified. From New Richmond, Que., comes the following statement from Mrs. Isidore Boissonneault: "I take deep pleasure in testifying to the powerful influence of Ferronone. For years my daughter had been pale and sickly—showed signs of advanced anemia. Her lips got so white and her cheeks grew devoid of color I ferreoned consumption. I can certify Fer-rone made an excellent cure, and today my daughter's health is the best."

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the res-caused by a germ, and this

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 8, 1907.

Death of Hon. Dr. Parker

On Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, the death occurred at his home in Dartmouth of Hon. Daniel McNeil Parker, M. D., D. C. L., in the 85th year of his age. He was a native of Hants county and was one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Nova Scotia. He was twice married. His first wife was Elizabeth Ritchie, daughter of the Hon. J. W. Johnstone, his second wife was Fannie Holmes, daughter of the Hon. W. A. Black. He leaves a widow and four children, Mary Ann, wife of Rev. Dr. Keirstead; W. F. Parker, barrister of this town; Laura McNeil, wife of McCallum Grant; and Fannie A. Parker, living at home. The doctor was a distinguished physician and a man who all respected and loved.

Acadia vs. U. N. B.

The foot-ball game on Tuesday afternoon between Acadia and the University of New Brunswick resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 6-3. The day was a delightful one and the game was witnessed by a very large number of spectators. In the first half the visitors had the best of the play and by splendid rushes carried the ball into Acadia's territory and McNaughton scored a try. In the second half Acadia got down to work and for the most part kept the ball in the visitors' territory. Messenger by a quick dash got across the line and scored a try, and just before the conclusion of the half DeBow made another try, and amid wild cheering the game ended 6-3 in favor of Acadia.

A reception was given in the evening in Assembly Hall, in honor of the visiting team, which was a very successful affair. The guests were received by Miss Mildred McDaniels, President of the Y. W. C. A., and Lemuel Arkland, President of the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Wortman and Mrs. Chute were the chaperons.

Nova Scotia's Fruit Exhibit

Nova Scotia's exhibit of the choicest varieties of apples grown in this province, which is to be placed on exhibition at the Royal Horticultural Society's show which is to be held in London the latter part of the month, has arrived in London. For this collection the Government of Nova Scotia bought twenty-five boxes and eight barrels of the best to be had this year. In addition to this, there were contributed 144 boxes, 23 barrels and six half-barrels of choice samples. Of these, there were two barrels from A. C. Starr, Starr's Point, which contained thirty varieties, all grown on one farm, which is in itself a remarkable phase of the exhibit. There was also a collection of small fruits, consisting of strawberries, plums, etc., preserved in acids, which will give a fair idea of the perfection to which many kinds of such fruit, besides apples, grow to maturity in this province. The names of the contributors to the Royal collection, with their post office addresses, are as follows:

- F. W. Foster, North Kingston, Kings County.
- R. S. Messenger, Tupperville, Annapolis County.
- J. C. Johnson, Bridgetown, Annapolis County.
- W. H. Woodworth, Berwick, Kings County.
- J. A. Kinsman, Lakeville, Kings County.
- J. Elliot Smith, Wolfville, Kings County.
- A. C. Starr, Starr's Point, Kings County.
- J. C. Welton, North Kingston, Kings County.
- John Donaldson, Port Williams, Kings County.
- D. E. Archibald, Wolfville.
- B. H. Collins, Port Williams, Berwick Fruit Co., Ltd., Berwick.
- F. A. Parker, Berwick.
- A. L. Morse, Berwick.
- J. R. Blanchard, Upper Dyke Village.

A Warning to Mothers.

There are noscrapulous dealers who for the sake of trifling gain are willing to sacrifice the health—perhaps the lives—of little ones. This is proved by the fact that there are a number of imitations of Baby's Own Tablets offered. The mother can protect her child by seeing that the full name Baby's Own Tablets and the four-leaf clover on the child's head on each leaf, is found on the outside wrapper around each box. Do not take anything else as you may endanger your child's life. If you cannot get the genuine Tablets from your dealers send 25 cents to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and get a box by mail post paid.

The opening lecture of the College will be given by President Hutchinson in College Hall on Wednesday evening of next week at 7:30 o'clock. The subject will be "The Value of an Education." The public are cordially invited.

Town Council Meeting.

THE CITY FATHERS HOLD A QUIET AND BUSINESS-LIKE SESSION.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Council on Wednesday evening Mayor Black and all the members of the Board were present except Councillor McKenna.

After the reading and confirming of the minutes of the last meeting the chairman of the Streets Committee presented a verbal report. Very little work had been done during the month, as it was almost impossible to secure labor. Mr. Ellis, the teamster, had applied for higher wages and his request not being granted had given up his position. The horse is now being cared for by Mr. Bys. Concerning offer of Acadia Electric Light Co., the committee reported that the company's offer included town plant and franchises. The committee reported on curbing Main street that 1110 feet of granite curbing had been laid at a cost of about 70 cents per running foot. The committee believes this to be a move towards permanent streets without increasing our bonded debt, and recommends that more of this curbing be contracted for, also the necessary crossings. This can be secured now at a cost of five cents less per running foot, and there will be no delay in going to work as soon as the weather permits in the spring.

The Committee on Licenses and Police reported the receipts for licenses granted during the quarter ending Sept. 30th $68.00. The court fees during the same time amounted to $4.75. "The duties performed by policemen continue satisfactory, and good order prevails in the town at all times."

The Finance Committee reported the receipts for the month $723.84 and the expenditures during the same time $1198.97. The bank overdraft on Oct. 31st was $1768.80. The auditors' balance sheet for the nine months ending Sept. 30th was also read. There is sufficient outstanding taxes to wipe out our debt and leave a balance on the right side at the end of the year.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:

|-------------------------|----------|
| Thelbert Rice | $741.45 |
| L. Clyde Davidson & Co. | 80 |
| L. W. Sleep | 5.19 |
| T. L. Harvey | 14.66 |
| T. R. Wallace | 6.98 |
| J. P. Jodrey | 2.88 |
| Wood & Mahoney | 31.60 |
| Shaffer & Pineson | 10.00 |
| John J. Ellis | 4.75 |
| Town Clerk | 2.40 |
| Rebecca Gould | 12.50 |
| Mrs. Weatherbee | 4.00 |
| Valley Telephone Co. | 9.25 |

Mr. W. H. Duncanson was present and asked permission to move a building along the streets to his own property, which permission was, on motion, granted.

Resolved that the Council approve of the idea of contracting for another thousand feet, or more if necessary, of granite curbing for Main street at 60 cents per foot.

Correspondence was read between the Street Committee and the management of the Valley Telephone Co. concerning the erection of telephone poles in town and it was

Resolved that the request of the Valley Telephone Co. that they be allowed to proceed with construction on the streets be granted and that the Superintendent of Streets be appointed to supervise such construction.

The Companion as a Christmas Gift.

Nobody is too young, nobody too old, to enjoy reading The Youth's Companion. For that reason it makes one of the most appropriate of Christmas gifts—one of the few whose actual worth far outweighs the cost. Welcome as the paper may be to the casual reader on the train, at the office, in the public library, it is, after all, the paper of the home. The regularity and frequency of its visits, the cordial sincerity of its tone, make for it soon the place of a familiar friend in the house. Like a good friend, too, it stands always for those traits and qualities which are typified in the ideal home, and are the sources of a nation's health and true prosperity. Is there another Christmas present costing so little that equals it?

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price (with 50 cents added for extra postage on Canadian subscriptions), the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of The Companion for 1907 and the Four Leaf Hanging Calendar for 1908 in full color.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1908 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

The Youth's Companion, 124 Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass.

Writs for the by-election in Colchester county have been issued. The nominations are on Nov. 21st and voting on Nov. 28th. John Stanfield will likely be the Conservative candidate, and Mr. Hill, brother of the local member of the county, the Liberal candidate.

LEAVY—VAGHAN.

A quiet wedding took place at Mrs. Ida Vaughan's, Greenfield, the mother of the bride, on Wednesday evening, October 30th. The parties were Mr. Maurice Edward Leavy and Vera Gladys Vaughan, both of Greenfield. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Brown, officiated. The bride was becomingly attired in a white silk dress with chiffon trimmings. Only immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch and chain. A Chinese tea set, cream set, fruit dish, cake plate and other useful and ornamental presents were given.

New London, Conn., Oct. 17th.—A pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drew, 78 Smith St., last evening at 5 o'clock, when their daughter Jennie Alice and Robert W. Holmes were united in marriage.

The bride was attired in white satin and bride's veil with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Dowd, of this city, was attired in pale blue silk and carried white carnations. The best man, a cousin of the bride, was William Tomkins, of Grafton. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Alfred Poole Grint, Ph. D., of St. James' church. There were guests present from Buffalo, N. Y., Plainfield, N. J., and Grafton. The bride received many useful and handsome presents. After a short wedding trip to Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Holmes will take up their residence at the home of the bride's parents in this city.

[The groom is a son of Mr. William Holmes, of Avonport. THE ACADIAN extends best wishes.]

Mrs. Malaprop

ON THE HIGHER EDUCATION OF YOUNG WOMEN

In a town interested in the higher education of young women Mrs. Malaprop's views upon this question will be of interest:

"Observe me, Sir Anthony, I would by no means wish a daughter of mine to be a progeny of learning; I don't think so much learning becomes a young woman; for instance, I would never let her meddle with Greek, or Hebrew, or algebra, or geometry, or fluxions, or paradoxes, or such inflammatory branches of learning; neither would it be necessary for her to handle any of the mathematical, astronomical, diabolical instruments. But, Sir Anthony, I would send her at nine years old to a boarding school, in order to learn a little ingenuity and artifice. Then, sir, she would have a supercilious knowledge in accounts;—and as she grew up, I would have her instructed in geometry, that she might know something of the contagious countries;—but above all, Sir Anthony, she should be mistress of orthodoxy, that she might not mis-spell, and mis-pronounce words so shameful as girls usually do; and likewise that she might comprehend the true meaning of what she is saying. This, Sir Anthony, is what I would have a woman know;—and I do not think that there is a superstitious article in it.—The Rivals.

At Home

A very pleasant "At Home" was held at the residence of Prof. and Mrs. Emery on Friday evening of last week. The guests present represented Kentville, Grand Pre, Melançon, Lakeville, Long Island, Wallbrook, Wolfville and Greenwich. The following musical program was presented:

|-------------------------|-------------|
| 'Fear Not Ye, O Israel' | Duck |
| 'An Old Garden' | Temple |
| 'Gone With the Wind' | Beach |
| 'The Evening' | Neidham |
| 'You and I' | Watson |
| 'My Dear Jennie' | Miss Palmer |
| 'Remember' | Miss Palmer |
| 'It's for You' | Miss Palmer |
| 'A Love and a Lie' | Miss Palmer |
| 'The Evening' | Miss Palmer |
| 'You and I' | Miss Palmer |
| 'My Dear Jennie' | Miss Palmer |
| 'Remember' | Miss Palmer |
| 'It's for You' | Miss Palmer |
| 'A Love and a Lie' | Miss Palmer |
| 'The Evening' | Miss Palmer |

Miss Palmer, of Grand Pre, a pupil of Mr. Emery, has made remarkable progress and in the rendition of the program proved herself to be a young lady of pronounced musical ability. The evening was a most enjoyable one.

Dean Henry L. Southwick.

IN "THE RIVALS." Sheridan's play, "The Rivals," the first which came from his pen and the one which established his fame, was written in 1774 when he was only 25 years old. From the very first it has been a great favorite and has added to the fairy court of the drama some of its best known characters.

In brief the plot is as follows:—Captain Absolute, son to an irascible Baronet, Sir Anthony Absolute, falls in love with Miss Lydia Languish, an heiress who returns his passion. Knowing him, however, only as Ensign Beverly, Mrs. Malaprop, guardian of Lydia Languish, frowns upon the suit of Ensign Beverly; and it is finally arranged between the old ancestor, Sir Anthony Absolute, and Mrs. Malaprop, that Miss Lydia Languish and Captain Absolute should be married.

The numerous complications which ensue, dissimulations, despairs, recoveries, passions, tears, etc., furnish food for many striking situations which are handled with mastery ability by Sheridan.

In the handling of the situations, the interrelations of all the characters and mastering of the dialogue, Dean Southwick is at his best. It will be a great treat to hear him; and the audience is assured that Mrs. Malaprop, Sir Lucius O'Trigger, "Fighting Bob Acres" whose courage oozes out at the palms of his hands, will furnish laughter enough to serve as spice for the more serious work of a week's study and work.

Never Expected to Walk Again

Mr. John Best, Thamesville, Ont., could not walk a step when he began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, could scarcely feed himself and had pain in his back and sides. His doctor treated him for locomotor ataxia, but told him he could never get better. He could not feel the needles the doctor stuck into his legs.

Three months after beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, Mr. Best wrote as follows: "I am glad to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefited by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can now walk all over without crutch or cane, can sleep and eat well, and do lots of work about the farm. In fact I am the wonder of the neighborhood where I live, for I never expected to be able to walk again. Thanks to God and your wonderful medicine, I am around again and tell every one you know of it for me."

 NURSE TELLS OF ECZEMA CURE
 Miss C. STANLEY JONES, professional nurse, at Monroe Street, Toronto, writes:—"In my occupation as nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. CHASE'S Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case is that of a sixteen months old child who was cured of eczema on the face, after her doctor had given up."

THERE'S DANGER IN EVERY COLD
 Once you realize the danger of neglecting coughs and colds you will not run the risk of depending on any "cough mixture" the druggist may choose to hand you out and will insist on getting a medicine with a reputation, such as Dr. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LIME AND TURPENTINE. Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.
 He's almost as weakly as you are, isn't he? asked Jigely. Yes, replied Richey, but he's awfully tight-chested. Why, he said he'd give fifty dollars to the charity if you would, exactly; that just shows that he doesn't expect to contribute at all.

 "Here's to th' old Fifty-ninth," he began, hoarsely, "th' last in th' field an' th' first to leave it!"
 "Ye muddler!" shouted a compatriot, springing to his feet. "Here's to th' old Fifty-ninth, equal to none!"

 A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a Toronto house at a very low price, and have it labeled his own product.

 An old gentleman, rather portly and clad in somewhat youthful suit of light grey flannel, sat on a bench in the park enjoying the spring day.
 "What's the matter, sonny?" he asked a small urchin who lay on the grass just across the walk and stared intently. "Why don't you go and play?"
 "Don't wanter," the boy replied.
 "But it is not natural," the old gentleman insisted, "for a boy to be so quiet. Why don't you run about?"
 "Oh, I just waster," the little fellow answered. "I just waster all you get up. A man painted that bench about fifteen minutes ago.—Woman's Home Companion.

 "Aw," broke in Tommy, "I know all that. Me fadder's a lawyer, he is, an' I've heard him say it lots o' times."
 "You should not have interrupted me," reprimanded the teacher, "but I am glad that your father has taught you the old adage. Can you repeat it to me?"

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
 We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years, and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than the manufacturers claim for it. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough.
 Rev. James A. Lewis, Pastor Milton, Minn., M. E. Church Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold by Rand's Drug Store.
 It is a well known fact that the fear of the Lord and the knowledge of God are not fruits which grow on every wayside bush, to be plucked by every idle passer-by, to be dropped carelessly and trodden under foot. Without seriousness and devotion, without protracted and unflagging toil, the things of God are not to be attained. You must be up betimes; you must be on your knees early; you must lay open the book of wisdom, pour over its pages, and diligently turn its leaves, meditating on its sayings day and night. The kingdom of God and his righteousness must be sought—yes, and sought first, sought exclusively, as the consummation of all desire.—Prof. R. F. Horton.

A Good Liniment.
 When you need a good reliable liniment try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It has no superior for sprains and swellings. A piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm is superior to a plaster for lame back or pains in the side or chest. It also relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.
 Thomas Scott, the celebrated commentator on the Bible, published an edition of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress with explanatory notes. A copy of this work is benevolently presented to one of his poor parishioners. Meeting him soon after, Mr. Scott inquired whether he had read it.
 "Yes, sir," was the enthusiastic reply.
 "Do you think you understand it?"
 "Here's to th' old Fifty-ninth," he began, hoarsely, "th' last in th' field an' th' first to leave it!"
 "Ye muddler!" shouted a compatriot, springing to his feet. "Here's to th' old Fifty-ninth, equal to none!"

Thorns in the Flesh.
 Even worse is the agony of corns. Why suffer—cure is waiting in every drug store in the form of Putman's Corn Extractor which relieves at once, cures thoroughly and without pain. For good results use only Putman's.
 "It is so sudden!" exclaimed the fair haired girl who had just received a proposal to merge her identity in that of a would be protector. "You must give me time to reflect."
 "No, no!" retorted the diplomatic young man. "One whose dazzling beauty makes a mirror ashamed of itself should never go into the reflecting business. Let this solitary diamond do the reflecting."
 And the records of the license clerk show that it was even so.
A Reliable Remedy for Croup.
 Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale at Rand's Drug Store.
 English John and Pat were two friendly workmen, who were constantly tiffing, each one trying to outwit the other.

 "Sure," said Pat, "it all depends on whose yard you get into."

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.
 So-called "wandering pains" may come from the early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain extending from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.
 If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.
 Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:
 Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(First Letter.) "In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumors. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do not dread an operation."
 Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(Second Letter.) "I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Sixteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation. I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor entirely gone. I have again been examined and I feel as well as ever."
 Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(Third Letter.) "I have had a tumor on my back for several years. It was so large that it was a great deal of trouble to me. I had it examined by a doctor and he told me I had to have it removed. I read of your medicine and decided to try it. I have now had it for several months and it has entirely disappeared. I feel as well as ever and I am very grateful to you for your wonderful medicine."
 Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(Fourth Letter.) "I have had a tumor on my back for several years. It was so large that it was a great deal of trouble to me. I had it examined by a doctor and he told me I had to have it removed. I read of your medicine and decided to try it. I have now had it for several months and it has entirely disappeared. I feel as well as ever and I am very grateful to you for your wonderful medicine."

Governor Grey has announced an official visit to Canada in connection with the centenary exercises of the landing of Champlain. Whether it will be the King and Queen or the Prince and Princess of Wales he did not disclose, but the impression created in the minds of those who heard his remarks is that it will be the King and Queen.

Gained Both in Strength and Weight.
Another Case That Proves the Merit of FERROZONE.
 "I was in poor health nearly all last winter," writes Mrs. Cross, of Wakefield, Ont. "My appetite was variable, I was weak and unfit for work. I suffered a good deal from nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. My digestion was generally out of order. By springtime I had lost flesh, color and had a bad cough. The doctor didn't help me very much, so I decided to try Ferrozone. It did me ever so much good in one week. I gained strength, looked and felt a lot better. When I had used six boxes of Ferrozone I weighed myself and found a gain of fifteen pounds. Ferrozone rebuilt my constitution, and made me a new woman. I consider Ferrozone worth its weight in gold to every weak woman. It cures quickly and saves big doctors' bills."

 Brilliant effects for electric signs are now to be readily obtained with little cost by the use of small colored transparent caps, which fit over the round ends of the incandescent bulbs. The Children.
 Take heed of the small child of earth; He great; in him is God most high.
 Children before their fleshy birth Are lights in the blue sky.
 In our brief bitter world of wrong They come; God gives us them awhile.
 His speech is in their stammering tongue. And His forgiveness is their smile.
 Their sweet light rests upon our eyes, Alas! their right to joy is plain.
 If they are hungry, Paradise Weeps, and if cold, heaven thrills with pain.
 The want that saps their sinless flower Speaks judgment on sin's ministers.
 Man holds an angel in his power, Ah! heid heid heaven what thunder stirs.
 When God seeks out these tender things, Whom in the shadow where we keep,
 He sends them clothed about with wings, And finds them ragged babes that weep!
 —Victor Hugo.

Lingering Cold.
 WHEATON-D-O-THER TREATMENT QUICKLY CURED BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.
 "Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and purchased it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used. This remedy is for sale by Rand's Drug Store."

The venerable Dr. McLaren, Principal of Knox College, Toronto, occupies a unique position. He was a student and supporter of the College, and is now Professor and Principal. He knew this institution when founded in 1844 with only 14 students. The Dr. has grown up with it and during its history 800 graduates have gone forth from its walls, the greater number of whom are yet living.

When the stomach, Heart, or Kidney nerves get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a makeshift. Get a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is prepared expressly for those weak nerves. Strengthen these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quickly help will come. Free sample sent on request by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Your health is surely worth this simple test.

Dr. Grenfell on the use of Alcohol.
 In answering the question why he does not want alcohol as a beverage in a country where cold is extreme exposure is constant and physical conditions are full of hardships, Dr. W. T. Grenfell says that it is simply because he has seen men go down in the struggle for want of that natural strength of which alcohol once had robbed them. "The fishermen among whom I live," writes Dr. Grenfell, "are my friends and I love them as my brothers, and I do not think I am unnecessarily prejudiced or bigoted when I say that alcohol is inadvisable, after one has seen it robbing his best friends of strength, honor, reason, kindness, love, money and even life. During twenty years' experience on the sea and on the snow in winter—an experience coming after an unbroken life in soft places—I have found that alcohol has been entirely unnecessary for myself. I have been doctoring sick men and women of every kind and I have found that I can use other drugs of which we know the exact action and which we can control absolutely with greater ease in cases of necessity for stimulating the heart. I contend we can get just as good results without it, and I always fear its power to create a desire for itself. It is not necessary for happiness, for I have known no set of men happier and enjoying their lives more than the crews of my own vessel, and the many, many fishermen, who like ourselves, neither touch, taste nor handle it."

Cigarette Smoking.
 MRS. L. A. SHERMAN.
 A careful chemist recently made an analysis of an ordinary cigarette. This is the result: The tobacco was found to be strongly impregnated with opium, while the wrapper, which was warranted to be rice paper, was proved to be the most ordinary quality of paper, whitened with arsenic. The two poisons combined were present in sufficient quantities to create in the smoker a habit of using opium without his being aware of it, and a craving which can only be satisfied by an incessant use of cigarettes.
 The above facts open our eyes to the reasons that many give, even little boys, when exhorted against cigarette smoking. When told it will kill them, they say, "I can't stop it now." It is the opium that is in them whose grip when once fastened, is like that of a serpent's coil, tighter and tighter until the victim is destroyed. Arsenic is a sure poison. A dose of two or three grains will destroy life in adults in a few hours or days. The habit once formed, it is almost impossible to give up its use, so good authorities tell us. Everything should be done that can be, to prevent the habit of cigarette smoking.

Billousness and Constipation.
 "For years I was troubled with billousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been to-day had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The Tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, help the system to do its work normally."—Mrs. Rosa Forre, Birmingham, Ala. These Tablets are for sale by Rand's Drug Store.
