EIGHTEEN MONTHS FOR HOTEL KEEPER.

J. M. Barker of the Flamboro House Given a Stiff Sentence This Morning.

Convicted of Cutting and Wounding Fred Jaggard In His Hotel Last Month.

most important case of the morning was that of J. M. Barker, proprietor of the Flamboro House, charged with having assaulted and wounded Frederick Jaggard, on the 19th of October last, while the latter was in the bar of Barker's Hotel. Barker has been out on bail. S. F. Washington, K. C., appeared for the Crown, and A. M. Lewis represented Barker. Barker pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried before His Honor.

Fred. Jaggard was the first witness called. He said that in company with a couple of others he had gone into the the Flamboro House about 6.45 on the night in question, and had a cigar. While he was standing at the bar, Jaggard said, he noticed a man put down 10 cents and ask for whiskey, Barker waited on the man, and as soon as he had poured it out, Barker drank the whiskey and kept the man's 10 cents. Jaggard said that he passed a remark to his friends that he thought that was rather funny business, and he had no Tather funny business, and he had no sooner said it, than a stranger "sifted him one in the jaw." A general mix-up followed and Jaggard said that he had two or three men on him all the time. Just as he was going to hand one of the Judge Snider had a very busy criminal pourt this morning, when Frank Anderson, Harry Quackenbush and J. M. Barker were up on different charges. The most important case of the morning was that of J. M. Barker, proprietor of the Flamboro, House, charged with having severe flesh yound in the rich arm. He there, struck him with a knife that had a blade about two inches long, on the side of the head, and also inflicted a severe flesh wound in the right arm. He laid a complaint to P. C. Brown who had come on the scene of the trouble, Jaggard said he bled profasely.

Dr. Wickett told of dressing the wound for Mr. Jaggard. He was of the opinion that it was from a sharp instrument like a knife. Mr. Lewis tried to get Dr. Wickett to admit that the wound coull have been caused by falling glass, Arthur Plastow was one of the men who had gone into the bar with Jaggard. He said that he saw the scrap in the barroom, and he also saw Barker grab hold of Jaggard, but he did not see Barker strike Jaggard with an instrument, such as a knife.

The evidence of Samuel Hogg, of Guelph, was read, as he was not present. Hogg said he had heard Barker and Jaggard talking rather angrily in the hall, just before Jaggard was thrown out of the hotel.

Barker was then called and said that Jaggard had been fighting in the bar just before closing time, it being Saturday night, and he shoved him outlibremody, Rr. McNab and W. Baby.

GIRLS LEAP FOR LIFE FROM BLAZING DEPARTMENT STORE

One Girl Killed, Another Fatally Burned and Many Narrow Escapes at Fire.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 26.—One shop girl was burned to death, another fatally injured by leaping and a half score more badly hurt in a fire that gutted a department store conducted by William Windhorst & Co. at Twelfth and Main atreets. Many of the salesgirls escaped by leaping from the upper windows of the four-storey building occupied by the firm, and others were saved by men of the fire department who found a way to the roof of the burning building and earried the terror-stricken girls across the tops of adjoining structures.

The fire started shortly after noon to-day while half of the firm's sales force, numbering 125 persons, were out at lunch. Because of the hour there were comparatively few shoppers in the place when the fire broke out. It started in a show window, where it is supposed a display of handkerchiefs ignited from crossed electric wires. The blaze spread to a case of celluloid articles that exploded and scattered the fire in all directions, igniting the large stock of inflammable holiday goods displayed on the counters and shelves of the first floor. As if the building had been riven by a bolt of lightning, the flames broke out in every floor os suddenly that all escape by elevators and stairways was cut off for the girls in the upper storeys. The Cataract Power Company's by-leav gives it the right to erect poles and string wires for the purpose of carrying power to its curtomers within the city limits. The contention of the officials who side with the view that at last the city has the company by the throat is that nearly all the poles used to belong to the Hamilton Electric Light to have any poles. As a matter of fact the Cataract Company owns and controls every pole on which power wires are carried in the city. The City Council's action last night in cutting off the $2 rate on baths will mean a loss in revenue to the city next year of about $13,000. The city officials say the aldermen have made an awful mess of this by-law. power to the municipality of the city of Hamilton, to be supplied by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario from Niagara Falls." General Manager Hawkins, of the Cataract Power Company, told the Board of Works aldermen some weeks ago that his company would like to quote a price on power if the city established a municipal plant. Instead of welcoming competition, which the anti-Cataract aldermen have been clamoring after, by their action last night they excluded it. If the Hydro-Power scheme fails Hamilton will have no municipal plant. If the by-law provided that tenders for power should be called for next year's Council would be in a position to proceed with the scheme, even though the Hydro-Commission's plans should fail.

To spite the Times, has Whitney really lecided that he can't let us have that decided college?

Oh, yes, Mr. Scaley is doing immensely rell. No opposition worth mentioning.

The fact is, the Times refuses to be muzzled, no matter how anxious the Herald may be to have it silenced. Too many do-the-public graft schemes on foot for the Times to keep quiet.

In view of some City Hall official's de-cision, the Cataract Power Company may yet have to move out of town and take its traps along with it.

"I don't know that I am feeling anything, Dr. Gerry, beyond satisfaction at having eaten a very good dinner, and being in the act of smoking a very good cigar," Roderic Lindsay says, coolly.

Four days before—on their first day out—Roderic was surprised to recognize in his vis-z-vis at the dinner table in the saloon the stout little doctor who had been his medical attendant at St. Cray's, see my son, who is in the artillery," the doctor said, with an air of intense self-satisfaction, which, indeed, pervaded most of his words and gestures. "Delighted to meet you so soon again, Mr. Lindsay, Hardly hoped for that pleasure, I'm sure, when we parted!"

Roderic managed to say something

Roderic managed to say something about an unexpected pleasure and the little dactor rushed into familiar talk without further delay.

"Yes, indeed! Ha! bless my soul! Strange things are happening every day—truth stranger than fiction, eh! By Jove, yes sir,! Well, I am off for a month's stay with Fred, as I was saying. He's had serious illness, a touch of blood poisoning from a hopsital case, and so he's got three months' leave, and and we're going un to Seville and Coand we're going up to Seville, and Cor-dova, and Jaen, to travel about a bit in dova, and Jaen, to travel about a the mountains, and get some shooting, and observe life and manners generally in some of those old Andalusian villiages in some of those old Andalusian villiages. "He does ngs for the magazines occasionally, t as a relaxation and amusement, things for the magazines occasionally, just as a relaxation and amusement, you know. I shall have a month in old Gib and Andalusia, here and there, a few days at a time, and shall come back all the better for it. Delighted to see you looking so well, though, Mr. Lindsay! Quite right now, eh! Nasty cut that was, though, wasn't it? A sad business altogether, eh! Not eventually, theugh, for you, Mr. Lindsay," the doctor added, pointedly, with a meaning smile and in a lowered tone. "No, no! ha! ha!" Then, in an altered voice of friendly deference: "His lordship and your cousin, Lady Christabel, are in town at present, I believe, Mr. Lindsay."

And Roderic, to his intense annoyance, found that people passed him the salt respectfully after that, and asked his opinion about the weather in deferntial tones.

opinion about the weather in deternitial tones.

"What snobs Euglish people are!" Roderic told himself; "and I have the ill luck to be acquainted with the worst snob of all! Now this little toady of a doctor, on the strength of that 'cousin-ship' he has discovered, will stick to me all the time he is on board, until Gibraltar rids me of him, unless I can keep him at arms' length!"

They have been four days out now, and expect to touch at Gibraltar before moon the next day, and, so far, Roderic has been able to keep the swaggering little doctor at arms' length. It has not been difficult hitherto, as the little man was sick while they were in the Channel and the Bay of Biscay, the Rotomahana having encountered half a gale of wind.

This is the first evening that Dr. Gerry can enjoy his dinner, and he struts about consequentially, self-pos-

From one and another of the local gossips Dr. Gerry has gathere together the stories of Lady Christabel's nursing of Roderic at the railway station, of her meeting with him at the Furnace House, Roderic at the railway station, of her meeting with him at the Furnace House, of the evening Roderic spent at the abbey, and of the earl and his daughter "going up to London to see him off. For where actual events fail to supply the coherence in Dr. Gerry's romantic narrative, imagination steps in, and establishes quite a charming sequence.

But the little man is not to be daunted by Roderic smoking silently, and gazing moodily far away through the twilight mists gathering over the waters and wondering, if Lady Christabel has been pleased or displeased at his venturing to write a farewell letter to meet again this way, isn't it?" Dr. Gerry her.

"So strange that you and I. should

"Yes," 'Roderic says, sighing absently, not thinking much of the dead woman who came by her end so miserably, but thinking a great deal of the sweet, living woman who came to him as an angel of womanly tenderness in that scene of confusion and misery, and soothed his sufferings with her gentle hands; thinking again of that letter to her which was written the morning that the Rotomahana steamed away out of the Albert Docks in London.

"Ever yours faithfully,
"Roderic Lindsay."

"She may show her father that letter if she pleases," Roderic decides. "There is nothing in it to offend even his pride. She will understand my real meaning—the meaning I have not ventured to put into words."

Roderic might spare himself all his feverish hopes, and fears, and anxious conjectures respecting Lady Christabel's reception of his first letter to her. She never sees it, never hears of its exist-

"Well, iz might have been worse!" the doctor says, finding that Roderic is disinclined to talk, carrying on a sort of soliloquy. "A single woman, without any friends or relatives, as it seemed—no one to miss her, poor thing! Eh? No one even to identify the body, except the lady—this Miss Surtees, with whom she was travelling as a sort of companion in maid. "Was it 'Spes mea'?" Roderic asks, suddenly, interrupting the doctor's narrative as a recollection flashes into his mind; "a little, dark-blue enamel and gold anchor, with 'Spes mea' in gold letters?"
"It was! Exactly!" Dr. Gerry says, looking éager and curious at once. Why? You recognize the description. Did you ever see the bracelet!"
"I did, and gave it to her, too!" Roderic answers, not thinking of what he is saying, but resenting Dr. Garry's inquisitiveness. "That is.—I mean"—he stammers—"I gave it to Miss Surfees! I bought it one day in Paris," he goes on, carelessly. "I met Miss Surfees out shopping and I stopped to buy some trinkets for friends in Australia, and she admired this bangle, so I bought it trinkets for friends in Australia, and she admired this bangle, so I bought it and gave it to her. She said she would never part with it," Roderic adds, laughing rather contemptuously as he recalls the whole scene in which Miss Surtees had certainly given him reason to think that she would prize his gift most dearly. "Frailty, thy name is woman! She gave my present away in a month's time to her companion, along with a cast-off dinner dress or some other gewaws she

"Not quite," Roderic says, curtly and dryly.

"What a handsome, elegant woman she is!" Dr. Gerry pursues, with a great air of unconsciousness. "A tall, very handsome blonde, with very white skin, and chestnut hair—that ruddy-golden color, you know—and very fine eyes; a remarkably handsome young lady, indeed!" the doctor says, growing eloquent as he sees that Roderic has dropped the end of his cigar over the side of the slip, and is gazing at him fixedly, with contracted brows of incredulity and astonishment.

"Dr. Gerry," Roderic says, slowly, "of at him fixedly, astonishment.

"Dr. Gerry," Roderic says, slowly, "of whom are you speaking?"

"I am speaking of Miss Lydia Surtees, of course!"

"But Miss Lydia Surtees is not tall and fair, with auburn hair, and fine white skim," Roderic says, deal, and, with all the white skin," Roderic says, decidedly; "and, with all the artistic additions and

"and, with all the artistic additions and improvements in the world, I can't see how she could turn herself into blond of that description."
"Lord bless you, my dear fellow!" the doctor saye, effusively, with a patronizing little laugh, "you've no idea to what an extent some women carry that 'make-up' business!"
"Yes, but all the 'make-up' in the world couldn't transform a stout woman of forty, with a swarthy skin and dark, thick eyebrows and hair, into a tall, elegant bland!" Roderie persists, rather irritably.

irritably.

"Hair dye, enamel, high-heeled shoes, and a French corset, and we'd all all that, sir, as the French say," the doctor responds, with a self-atisfied smirk, "and I hear, sir, that it is not unlikely Miss Surtees will be the second Countess of Cardonnel."

"Oh well Rederic says, cooly "that's wilight mists gathering over the waters and wondering, if Lady Christabel has been pleased or displeased at his venturing to write a farewell letter to meet again this way, isn't it?' Dr. Gerry her.

"So strange that you and I should meet again this way isnit it?' Dr. Gerry says, buzzing away loquaciously at Roderic's side almost unheeded as the young fellow ponders for the fiftieth time over the words of that brief letter which it had cost him such trouble to write. "But strange things are always happening in this world, eh? Bless my soul, yes. You and I were passengers by that ill-fated train, you remember, Mr. Lindsay? Terrible affair that! Poor souls. Eternity in a moment—ah, yes! These are the things that make a man feel solemm." says Dr. Gerry, in a self-satisfied, chirping voice. "That poor old gentleman; and that poor lady, Miss—Miss Surttees? No. no, no, what am I stinking of? Mf. —Surtess was the name of Lady Christabel's friend! The lady was Miss Surtees? companion, Miss Scrope—yes—Scrope! To be sure—Scrope!"

good-by about noon the next day. Then the Rotomahana steams away from the Rock," and Dr. Gerry is left behind in his son's quarters to tell all his best stories with infinite satisfaction over again to his son's military friends.

And Roderic, relieved at being rid of him, and his inquistiveness and his goshim, and his inquistiveness and his goshim, and his inquistiveness and his goshim, and his navigativeness and his goshim, and brought off several passengers, they are well at sea again. And then, one morning comes which Roderie Lindsay will never forget as long as he lives.

Meeting at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 25.—C. A. Masten, solicitor for the Nova Scotia shareholders of the York Loan Company, met a large number of them at a meeting in the City Hall tonight. He explained what he considered their legal position, that they are entitled to payment of their claims in full as depositors, not as shareholders, because the company had no license to do business in this Province. Other counsel from Toronto are also here in the case. The taking of evidence by A. E. Bastedo, commissioner, will begin tomorrow afternoon.

Two Fatal Accidents.

Winnipeg, Nov. 25.—J. Saith, a for-eigner, employed in the C. P. R. yards, was crushed between cars this after-noon, and died in the hospital a few hours afterwards.

Olaf P. Boss, a Swede, engaged in construction work at Cross Lake, was killed by a dynamite explosion to-day.

Conductor Thompson Acquitted.
Uxbridge, Nov. 25.—The trial of G.
T. R. Conductor George Thompson, of Lindsay, for obstructing an officer in connection with the kidnapping of a child a few days ago, took place here this afternoon before Mr. W. Hamilton, J. P., and Mayor Crosby. After a few witnesses had been heard Mr. Thompson was acquitted, the Magistrates not finding sufficient evidence to convict.

An Attempt to Murder Mrs. Eddy's Son

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 25.—An attempt was made to-day to assassinate George W. Glover, son of Mary Glover Baker Eddy. the Christian Science leader, fol-lowing his refusal to pay the costs of the "Next Friends" suit. He had been assessed $3,000.

assessed $3,000.

Mt. Glover lives at Lead, South Dakota. While leaving his home this morning he noticed a wire lying across his path. Following it up he came upon a cylindrical object. It proved to be a can filled with slugs and dynamite with a percussion cap. The chief of police has it in his charge and a quiet investigation is being made.

being made.
"I wil reopen the matter in the courts before I pay over one cent," Glover says. "I have already communicated with my lawyers in the east. As for the court costs being taxed against my daughter, let them tax if they wish."

BELIEVES MRS. BRADLEY CRAZY. Looks Upon Her as Abnormal Woman and Gives Reason Why.

washington, Nov. 25.—That Mrs. Annie M. Bradley was insane at the time she shot former Senator Arthur Brown, of Utah, was the opinion of Dr. W. M. Barton, of the medical department of Georgetown University, and a specialist in nervous diseases, expressed at the trial to-day.

Br. Barton's testimony followed the reading to him of a hypothetical question of 13,000 words, covering the history of Mrs. Bradley's relations with Senator Brown from the day she met him to the day of the tragedy.

Dr. Barton diagnosed Mrs. Bradley's ailment as being puerperal insanity. In explaining why he looked upon her as an abnormal woman, he said she was interested in things that do not usually attract women and instanced the fact that she was secretary of a political club as an evidence of her abnormality.

Snow Delays Trains.

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Snow fell yesterday and last night to a depth of about eight inches throughout southern New York and northeastern Pennsylvania. Many trains are running late to-day, in some cases being several hours behind schedule time.

The November Strawberry Crop. London, Ont., Nov. 25.—All the hotels in the city, with the exception of two, raised the prices this morning for liquor sold over the bar. The increase in general amounts to about five cents.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK BRIGHTER. One Thousand Men Go Back to Work in Buffalo.

Buffalo, Nov. 25.—The Snow Steam Pump Works has ordered its forces back on full time. Elgood C. Lufkin, general manager of the big plant, said yesterday that the whole industrial and financial situation has so greatly improved during the last week that the company has been obliged to restore the full schedule of working hours to keep up with its orders. About 1,000 men are concerned. The working time was cut during the financial flurry.

Live Wire Killed Him.

Live Wire Killed Him.

Brockville, Nov. 25.—A young Austrian named Vosujak, in opposition to the protests of his fellows, touched a live wire which had fallen to the ground in a heavy wind at Hailesboro, and was instantly killed.

Itis curiosity was aroused at seeing the wire spitting fire. He was about 25 years of age, unmarried and had been in this country a short time.

OBITUARY.

Death of Former Popular Printer at Jersey City.

Many friends in this city will regret the death, which occurred this morning at his home, 232 New York avenue, Jersey City Heights, of William Francis Smith, eldest son of the late George Smith, who for many years kept the Maple Leaf Hotel on the Market Square. Deceased learnt the printing business in the Spectator office, and went to New York about 20 years ago. He was 45 years of age and leaves a widow. His mother was also with him at the end. He had been ill some time. The body will be brought here for burial, the funeral taking place from the G. T. R. station on the arrival of the 10.40 train, on Thursday morning.

The funeral of Miss Mona, eldest daughter of Mr. Samuel Mines, took place from the residence of her father, Mountain Brow, yesterday afternoon, at 2.30. The services were conducted by the Rev. H. B. Christie, Pastor of Simooe Street Methodist Church. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Roy and Sam AlcMullen, James Campbell, William Wickham, Henry Guise and Harvey Hull there were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends including a bandsome wreath from the Howell Lithographing Co. The interment took place in Hamilton Cemetery.

The funeral of A. T. Filgiano took place this morning from his late residence, 43 Wellington street south, to St. Patrick's Church, where Father Walsh said mass. There was a large attendance of synpathizing friends. Father Coty officiated at the grave and the pall-bearers were the decessed's three brothers. F. A. C. B. and Heary Filiano. W. earers were the deceased's three brothers, F. A., G. B., and Harry Filgiano, W. bremody, R. McNab and W. Baby, there were many floral tributes, showing the high esteem in which the decased was held.

The funeral of Otto, the infant sor of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Arnedt took place this afternoon from the residence of the parents, 547 Main street east. Rev. Young conducted the services

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Direct reports to the Chicago clearing house from hundreds of western cities encouraged the local bankers yesterday to believe that a resumption of cash payments will be possible within a fornight. When the clearing house committee met the members had before them more than 500 letters in reply to the circular letter sent out last week asking for statements of conditions throughout the west. Practically all of the letters, it was announced expressed a willingness to co-operate with the Chicago bankers in resuming a cash basis.

DREAMED FRIEND WAS LYING DEAD.

Husband of Her Friend Now Arrested on Suspicion of Murdering Her.

Body Was Found Buried in Quicklime--Told Conflicting Stories.

San Francisco, Nov. 26.—The police of Oakland yesterday unearthed a most diabolical crime, and have taken into custody M. A. Wilkins, a stationary engineer, and will charge him with the murder of his wife, whose body was found buried in quicklime underneath a shed in the yard of the Wilkins home in Elmhurst, a suburb of Oakland.

It was known that Mrs. Wilkins had given birth to a child, and Wilkins stated that she had gone to the home of her parents in the east.

A friend of the dead woman, Mrs. J. F. Anderson, of San Francisco, had been staying at the Wilkins home during the past few days, and now asserts that Wilkins had endeavored to induce her to leave her husband and go away with him. Her suspicions became aroused, and Monday night, in a dream, she saw the body of her former friend lying on

New York, Nov. 26.—The market during the morning developed important strength. Buying of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, Northern Pacific, St. Paul, Pennsylvania, A. R., and Steele was of good character. Except for some offerings of Smelters and Steel, no important liquidation appeared. The feature is the decided increase ins general confidence. This is furthered by understanding that upward of $20,000,000 gold to date, and by further engagements to-day, bringing the total to $93,239,000. With the Treasury Department relief measures and increased note circulation, the banks, as Secretary Cortelyou says, are nearing resumption of currency paymeits. Practically all of T. C. B. stock has now been desosited in exchange for U. S. Steel bonds. The Union Pacific books show that the common stock has asset value is probably $8175 per share. Missourl Pacific stockholders have increased from 3,000 to 5,000 since last July. Investigation of B. R. T. by the Public Service Commission brings out the fact that substantial provision is made annually formalitenance. The expenditures for the year ending June 30 were 13,66 per cent. of gross. Steel trade advices at Pitts burg are that financial reports are more optimistic. It seems reasonable to believe that the panie of 1907 is over.

Lisbon, Nov. 26 .- The situation here remains unchanged. The political centres are inactive, awaiting the result of the deverations of ex-Premier Castro and Senor Vihelna, on the attitude adopted by the Government. Much interrogation is going on, however, and it is reported that there is enosiderable division among those who oppose the monarchy. One of the alternatives to the formation of a republic, it is suggested, would be the abdication of King Carlos in favor of the Crown Prince. ton had always had in the work in West Africa.

All the Congregational churches of Western Ontario have recently made largely increased contributions to the West African work, many of them doubling and some trebling their subscriptions, and last evening in a few minutes the amount the visitors asked from First Church was over-subscribed, while there will be many additional subscriptions received on Sunday next. There is every prospect of the workers in Chisamba getting word by the next West African mail that they will have to their credit a good deal more than the ten thousand dollars they want this year from Ontario Congregationalists.

An enjoyable prelude to the missionary addresses was a tea furnished to the men of the congregation by the ladies of the missionary committee of the Young People's Society.

More Trouble for Poland-Deficit

Expected. Berlin, Nov. 26 .- The Prussian Diet opened to-day in the White Hall of the Palace Prince Von Buelow, the Imperial 6232 Palace Prince Von Buelow, the Imp 2834 Chancellor, read the speech from throne, during which he declared that the growth of permanent expeditures had increased the budget by over $25,000,000. The chancellor said that a deficit is expected in the current year owing to the chancel of the chance of the course of the railroad adpected in the current year owing to the increased expenses in the railroad administration and that the Government would have to resort to a loan.

The speech foreshadows a bill authorizing the Government to acquire Polish estates by condemnation proceedings. This measure is expected to re-open the agitation over the Polish question in an acute form. FROM WASHINGTON.

Glowing Reports From the Y. M. C. A. Delegates.

Letters received this morning from Messrs, Robinson and Kneale, who are attending the Washington Y. M. C. A. attending the Washington Y. M. C. A. Convention, report magnificent sessions. Addresses by John R. Mott and Fred. B. Smith were messages of power. Over six thousand men attended the men's meeting on Sunday, and hundreds of them professed the decision to live the Christian life. Canadian delegates were received yesterday by the British Ambassador, and President Roosevelt receives all the convention delegates to-day. AFTER THE TAXPAYER.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

The City Council last night gave the by-laws to incur a debt of $225,000 for ectric light distribution system, and $50,000 for electric pumps for the wat erworks, two readings and sent them on to be submitted to the ratepayers. One of the speakers—Ald. Sweeney—strong in his faith in the ratepayer's even when they are useless, and evident-ly laboring under the delusion that "the Government is going to help us," venturratepayers would vote "for cheaper power." They would probably vote for remission of their taxes, too; and the bythe other. Nor is the Government going to think. Hamilton taxpayers must pay thousands, if we go into duplicating the electric lighting system, and it has no assurance that our lighting will be reduced in cost thereby. As most munic pal affairs are mismanaged it is likely to be a hole in the ratepayers' pocket. Ald. McLaren affected to regard the Hydro engineer's guess or estimate of cost of street lamps as equivalent to ten-ders backed by $10,000 guarantees, but we have no idea that in a business matter affecting his own money Aid. Mc-Laren would be so injudicious. The Hydro-Electric people have said that the npany can generate and deliver current at a cheaper rate than they can hope to do. The Council asks the ratepayers to give it $225,000, to begin with, to build an unnecessary lighting system to duplicate the one in existence to enable it to buy Hydro power to compete against that cheaper current, And the Council could at any time ask for arbitration and secure for private users and corporation this more cheaply produced current at a price to by arbitration and without im posing a dollar of debt on the ratepayers! Why do the aldermen thus obstin ately neglect the cheap and casy means of getting the best results, and seek to place a huge debt (for $225,000 is only part of the load) on the people to ex-periment with admittedly dearer pow-er? Is it opportunity for graft that is pumps for waterworks purposes is also singularly ill-considered. Until the Council discovers whether the people can be induced to load up with a big debt to plunge into the Hydro power speculation it cannot tell what sort of pumps it will need! It is not even prepared to say whether they will require to be for eyele or 60-cycle power. No matter whether we have electric pumps or not we shall have to maintain the steam plant. The only one sure thing about it as it is now presented, is that it will add $50,000 capital cost, and greatly increase the annual expenses of the waterworks. The electric pumps scheme is not only costly, but it is unnecessary. The Cataract Company long ago offered to instal electric pumps without a dollar of cost to the city; to pump for five now pumped, without costing us any more than at present for operation, and at the end of the term turn over the plant in good order free of cost to the And the aldermen have refused to even consider that offer! Instead they ask the city to give them $50,000 for pumps, on top of $225,000 for a duplicate lighting system, and to assume Hydro-Electric obligations of probably $300,000 or more to enable them to go into a huge scheme of electric war with contains some facts of interest which speak eloquently for the growth and expansion of Canada, and suggest a reason for the large increase in the income and expenditure-the business-of the country. In the nine months' period (the year's end being changed from Dec. 31 to March 31) there were established 236 new.post offices, 355 postal note offices, 115 money order offices, and 32 postal savings bank offices.

FOR TORONTO ONLY.

In speaking of the course of Toront Controllers in considering a proposal by the Toronto Electric Light Company, Mayor Coatsworth, of that city, said:

Mayor Contaworth, of that city, said:
"Our duty is to Toronto. Our duty does not lie outside Toronto. We have made no bargains with other municipalities. I would be very sorry if any action we might be compelled to take would affect the others, but without desiring to offend them, I think we must consider ourselves first."

This assumes the ire of Ald, Lyon.

This arouses the ire of Ald. Lyon, Guelph's leading Hydro-Electric enthusiast and he declares that such an arrangement would be "a betrayal of the rest of the municipalities in the union." He says:

"To desert us now would leave us in a very awkward shape." It would take away a very large contribution to the plan and a very large consumer of power, and would seriously imperil our plans."

"It will have the effect of reducing power in Toronto, and if Guelph and the other municipalities get Niagara power from the Commission, they can bid against Toronto for industries, whereas should Niagara power not be secured Toronto will more than ever be in a position to outbid the smaller centres and take away their present industries."

Against Ald. Lyon's view the London

"Is it true that if Toronto deserted the power scheme the whole undertaking would fall through?"

"Not at all." Mr. Beck replied. "In fact, it might be better for the other municipalities. The scheme as at present mapped out is to place Toronto and Hamilton, with some contiguous points, upon one wire, and the cities west of Hamilton upon another. If Toronto dropped out Hamilton would be placed on the same wire with the other western cities, and this would work out advantageously for them."

So there you are. What do you think of the harmony existing among the Hylro "experts"? Obviously the "Minister of Power" does not agree with Ald. Lyon, or wishes to appear not to, and he is not going to allow a little thing to stand ong as even one wire remains he preit better. But as in the case of his Brantford break, his statement is subject to revision. Of one thing, however, Ald. Lyon and all the other power enhusiasts may be sure, and that is that Toronto is looking after itself, and if the sacrifice of one or all of the other obsessed municipalities whose aldermen are diligently engaged in putling its chestnuts out of the fire will give it an ounce of advantage, to the alter they go.

THAW'S TRIAL.

Motion to Continue Case Until January Will be Opposed.

New York, Nov. 26 .- Martin W. Littleton, attorney for Harry Kendall Thaw, whose second trial on a charge of the murder of Stanford White has been set for December 2nd, declared with emphasis to-day that he would not consent to any further delays in the case, and that he would vigorously opcase, and that he would vigorously oppose postponement.

Mr. Littleton asserted that the case had already been delayed beyond all reason, and that he would not listen to the suggestion of the district attorney to have the case go over to January. There promises to be a sharp clash between Mr. Jerome and Mr. Littleton when the district attorney makes his motion for an adjournment.

TORONTO POWER

By-Law Was Sent on to People by Unanimous Vote.

Toronto in January. The proposed fil-tration by-law goes over until some time later. These questions were thus decidlater. These questions were thus decided by the council yesterday. The power proposition passed without discussion, and was voted for by every member of the council present. The by-law, which was given the usual two readings prior to being put into the hands of the people, is "to provide for the issue of city of Toronto general consolidated loan debentures to the amount of $2,750,000 for the cost of a plant to distribute electric power to be supplied by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario from Niagara Falls."

ARMY AND NAVY VETERANS.

ARMY AND NAVY VEITERANS.

H. M. Army and Navy Veterans held their regular monthly meeting last night. The following were proposed for membership: William Hofsas, late private 13th Battalian, and James Durrand, late bombadier Royal Artillery. The latter was also initiated. All yeterans who saw service in South Africa in 1902, and who are not in possession of the King's medal, can obtain one by applying to Secretary Gardner. 138 Breadalbane street, at once. The time for application expires the end of the present year.

Seventeenth Annual Meeting of St. The anniversary entertainment of Wes Peter's Yesterday.

> Successful Year Financially—Regret Mrs. Chowne's Death.

Rev. J. W. TenEyck Chosen as Warden-Other Officers.

The seventeenth annual meeting of St. Peter's Infirmary was held in the yesterday afternoon. Among those pres Phepoe, David Gillies, F. W. Gates, jun., R. H. Labatt, W. J. Hobson, H. P. Bonny, Mrs. McGiverin, Mrs. P. D. Crerar, Miss Wilcox, Miss Browne, Miss E. L. Miller. The chair being taken by Mr. sented, showing receipts for the year scatted, showing receipts for the year amounting to $3,106.69, and expenses of $2,450.62, leaving a balance of $656.07 to the credit of the infirmary, as compared with a deficit of $42.79 at the close of the previous year. The report was received with great satisfaction, as, owing to the death of the late warden, Miss Lacy A. Chowne, there was no warden's report. The secretary presented a synopsis of the working of the home during the year ending September 30, showing the he year ending September 30, showing hat 38 inmates had been provided for ive of whom had died and nine had five of whom had died and nine had been discharged, leaving 24 in residence at the close of the year, fifteen of whom belonged to the city and 9 to the County of Wentworth. Of the 38 provided for, 24 were English, eight Canadian, three Scotch, one Irish, one German and one Wast Indian; 26 were males and 12 females; seven were paid for by the city, seven by other municipalities, two by societies, fourteen by themselves and relations, and eight were unpaid for. Of the 24 in residence on September 30, five were paid for by the city, five by other municipalities, two by societies, six by themselves or relations, and six were unpaid for. Donations showed a considerable increase over those of the foregoing year and the home greatly appreciated the generosity and liberality of those who have so kindly aided it. Substantial aid had also been given in the form of creats from the Ontario Gov. those who have so kindly aided it. Sub-startial aid had also been given in the form of grants from the Ontario Gov-ernment, the city and the County of Wentworth. The medical fraternity, as usual, had always shown itself most gen-erous in its assistance whenever its aid

Miss Barnum gave her age as 18 years, and stated that she was formerly employed as a waitress in an Eagle street restaurant, where she met Lambert in June, 1965. The plaintiff declared on June, 1905. The plaintiff decared on the witness stand yesterday morning that Lambert called upon her at least once a day at her boarding place in El-liott street for the ensuing three weeks, when he proposed marriage and was ac-when he proposed marriage and was accepted.

The wedding day was set for the following June, further, stated Miss Barnum, and her suitor continued to call upon her nearly every evening until November 24th, the proposed date of their marriage having been changed in the meantime to Christmas. Then his calls ceased, and he sent the girl a note, she says, breaking the engagement, and shortly after married another girl. Lambert is declared to have stated that his reason for changing his plans was the fact that he was a Catholic, and that his wife must profess the same faith. This the girl denies, stating that Lambert had asked her to change her religion, and had agreed to go with her to talk with a priest about the matter, but that he had failed to do this.

Chicago, Nov. 26,-"The union of two ordant minds, the blending of two erfect, harmonious lives into one," that less than a year resolved itself into a large-sized domestic riot, figured in the criminal cases heard by Municipal Judge Nowcomer in Harrison street court.

The defendant was Robert Gilray, an attorney, 610 Chicago Opera House block, 88 years of age. The complainant was Mrs. Adelaide Lawton Gilray, who supposed she was the wife of the defendant. On Oct. 19th she had her supposed husband arrested, charged with threats to kill.

posed husband arrested, charged with threats to kill.

Gilray's assertion that the complainant was not his wife brought in evidence that Judge Newcomer styled "the most remarkable and devilish agreement" he ever read.

Incidentally the day was the first anniversary of the "wedding" that took place in Boise City, Idaho. When Gilray declared Mrs. Gilray was not his wife the woman threw up her arms and exclaimed loudly:

"What, this man says he is not my husband! What does he mean!"

Whereat she drew from her dress front a carefully folded manuscript.

"Then this man has deceived me, Judge, please read that," and she presented the document to Judge Newcomer.

Praviously in the trial it had been pro-

Previously in the trial it had been produced in evidence that Mr. Gilray had toured the west lecturing on "ethical culture" for some spiritualist society. Mrs. Gilray prior to their "union of souls" had been a clairvoyant. Mr. Gilray has been a member of the Cook County bar treely a reass.

This was the "agreement" that Judge Newcomer read:

Know all men by these presents that we, Robert Gilray and Adelaide Lawton, both of Boise City, county of Ada, State of Idaho, being of the mature age of 21 years, and being students of higher thought, science, and natural law; and Whereas, They recognize the fact that marriage is the sacrament of souls, the union of two accordant minds, the blending of two perfect and harmonious lives in one, by and through the great natural law in which no person or persons or association of persons has any part; and Whereas, The said Robert Gilray and Adelaide Lawton, recognizing these facts

In witness whereof, the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seal this 22nd day of November, 1906.

This document was signed by both parties and the acknowledgment bore the seal of Thomas L. Martin, a. notary public.

When Judge Newcomer apprised the complainant that the marriage had been only a mock affair, she wept and almost fainted. The judge censured Attorney Gilray severely for his conduct.

"Gilray admitted that he had a wife living in Warkworth, Canada.

"You, masquerading as a lecturer in ethicul culture, and drawing up such a contract as that?" said Judge Newcomer.

"You have been an attorney a good many years, and you knew you were deceiving that woman. I shall place you under a bond of $500 to keep the peace and stay away from Miss Lawton. You are a lucky man if your troubles cease there. You ought to be deprived of your privilege to practice law, or to represent any sort of a religious sect."

"I questioned the marriage, but he said it was legal," said Miss Lawton. "He spent half a day with me at the Idaho State house, showing me laws that he said supported the form of marriage. I didn't know he had a wife."

The meeting was very largely attended by both voters and ladies. Although the opponents of local option were invited to take part in the discussion, none took advantage of the opportunity.

Rev. Mr. Smith, English church minister of Toronto Junction, told of the operations of local option in that town during the past four years. Under it Toronto Junction had made marked progress in every line of business. Its population has nearly doubled, its manufacturing and mercantile business had increased about 40 per cent., its real estate has advanced greatly, and its accommodation for the travelling public is now better than ever before. Mr. Smith drew special attention to the fact that local option simply meant the closing of the bar-rooms and the killing of the treating system, and ventured the statement that there was not a man in the audience who could get a drink of liquor in his town. The speaker stated most emphatically that local option in Toronto Junction was a great and undeniable success in every respect.

Rev. Mr. Cooley, of Grimsby, described the disorder and lawlessness which marked that town before local option, and stated that a moral revolution had been effected in Grimbsy since the passing of the by-law. Chatham, Nov. 25.—Some days ago a couple of girls, Olive Thatcher and a being of the disorder and lawlessness which marked that town before local option, and stated that a moral revolution had been effected in Grimbsy since the passing of the by-law. With the advent of local option, advance in price of property, increase in business along every line, and an unprecedented boom in real estate. Drunkenness had entirely disappeared, and the law is well kept. The speaker left no doubt in the mind of his hearres that local option had been a great benefit to Grimsby, and, as Mr. Cooley stated, had succeeded far beyond the expectations of its friends.

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

SIX NATIONS HONORED MEMORY OF JOSEPH BRANT.

mmemorative Rites Held on Grand River Reservation at Obsweken— Chiefs Have Three Hours of Speech-making and Condolence.

Brantford, Nov. 25 .- In the Indian council house at Oshweken to-day there was ample evidence that the combined tribes of the Grand River Reservation tribes of the Grand River Reservation have not forgotten their greatest leader, Joseph Brant, whose death occurred one numered years ago. To-day was the date chosen when the commemorative rites should be performed according to Indian legend, and the place was crowded to the doors with chiefs, warriors and squaws, besides a fair representation of white people from this city. While the real findan ceremony occupied but little time, there was a great deal of oratory both in English and Indian with respect to the past, present and future of the redmen. Outside of eulogies of the life and character of Captain Brant it was especially noticeabe in the speeches that education and the general enlightenment of their race were themes upon which Reservation orators loved to dilate.

One after another of the latter in his mother tongue or in the more complicated Engush toid of Indian education being the great Brant's ideal, and then they showen how they were still trying to follow out his schemes. The occasion was also taken advantage of by some of the chiefs to express the wish that the Indian might again be given the franchise. It was stated in all sincerity that no race had made such progress towards civilization as the Six Nations. Only a century ago, it was pointed out, the great majority were pagans, and runners of the wild, while it had taken most other races many hundreds of years to change from barbarism.

In the council hall to-day Superintendent Smith, of Brantford, acted as Chairman, while beside him were Judge Hardy and Mr. F. D. Reville, representing the Brantford Canadian Club, W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., and Mr. W. G. Raymond, of Brantford Canadian Club, W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., and Mr. W. G. Raymond, of Brantford. The chiefs from the six tribes sat around the platform, and the warriors and others were in the body of the hall. On one side of the Superintendent were the Mohawk and Seneca chiefs, and on the other side the heads of the Oneidas, Cayugas, Tuscaroras and Delawares. In front were the "firekepers," the Onondagas, the men who have the final vote on ali questions.

Having thus lighted "the council fire," Chief Echo resumed his stolid air and did not again speak until the "wam-

New York, Nov. 25.—Plans for a great public protest against the decision of the Committee on Elementary Schools of this city to eliminate all reference to Jesus Christ and Christmas from the achool exercises, and to abolish the celebration of Christian festivals, were made to-day by the Methodist Episcopal Ministers' Association of New York. The ministers' association adopted a resolution declaring that this decision is a misapprehension of the rule against sectarian education, and out of harmony with the underlying principles of a Christian nation. TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER IN BATTLE WITH THE FRENCH.

Ten Thousand Tribesmen Attacked French Camp at Lalla Magienia, Algeria, and Were Driven Off, With Loss of Twelve Hundred Killed.

Ten thousand of the fiercest Benis Nassen tribesmen swooped down on the French camp yesterday and were beaten off with a loss of 1,200 killed. The fighting continued for a long time and was conducted on the part of the tribesmen apparently with total disregard for their lives. At one time the French infantry were in danger of being surrounded, but they finally disengaged themselves from their perilous position by a most brilliant charge of the Spahis. The rout of the Arabs was completed by vigorous shelling of the artillery. The French loss was eight killed.

The Arabs were not discouraged by this severe repulse, but re-formed their forces and in addition directed their efforts to rousing other tribes. The fighting was resumed, to-day, and the booming of cannon could be heard throughout the afternoon. The results of the battle now on are unknown at present,

MOTORMAN KILLED

Two Subway Trains Collided in New York Yesterday.

New York, Nov. 25 .- A rear end collision of two subway trains in the Bronx to-day caused the death of Joseph Myer, a motorman, and is believed to have injured a number of passengers. The collision took place at 176th street and Boston road, where the tracks are run overhaac instead of underground. One car was left hanging over the edge of the track.

The head car was stalled near the 174th street station, and the train ran into it, the forward car of the rear train mounting the rear car of the forward train. The motorman was crushed to death in his compartment and pinioned so that his body could not be removed. A fire started, but was quickly extinguished by the fire department. There were about 200 passengers in each train. One of the first to be removed was a woman.

U. S. ARMY

Can't Get Enough of Recruits to Fill Up the Ranks.

Washington, Nov. 25 .- The difficulty of securing recruits for the United States army; the prevalence of desertion with the reasons therefor; and an unwelcome suggestion that the dreaded Euro pean system of conscription, or compul-sory military service, may become neces-sary to maintain the American army at its maximum strength, are the features of the annual report of Adjutant-Gen-eral Ainsworth to the Secretary of War.

eral Ainsworth to the Secretary of War.

"Notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts on the part of the War Department and the recruiting officers and their parties in all parts of the country," says the Adjutant-General, "it has been found impossible wholly to make good the losses occurring in the present strength of the army, to say nothing of increasing that strength to the limit authorized by law and executive order. The Government in its efforts to procure men for the army, is now competing everywhere with private employers, who are able to offer men much greater inducements than the Government now offers, at least in the matter of pay."

But so far as the Merrick street play

The brightest and catchiest music ever written by Cole and Johnson, the great song writers, is what the critics say of the musical numbers of "The Shoo-Fly Regiment," which will be given at the Grand on Wednesday night, and the book is far different from anything previously offered by the negro on the stage. The opportunities for fun-making in the new piece are said to be unlimited and have been taken full advantage of by the authors. These Are Coming, Too.

A delightful entertainment for young and old will be the performance at the Grand on Thursday afternoon and evenings of Prof. Croker's educated horses. They were seen here last year. For the benefit of the school-children a matinee has been arranged at 3.45 and it. will doubtless be largely patronised.

"The Way of the Transgressor," one of the best melodramas on the road, will pay its annual visit to the Grand next Saturday afternoon and evening. It will be presented by the same excellent cast and the handsome Landseer doge will-again be seen. rich. He was twice recalled and told two funny stories in addition to his programme numbers.

The Dankmar-Schiller troupe of acrobats, justified all the press agent had easil about it in advance. The troupe is composed of three youths and three young women and their execution is wonderful. Two of the girls showed great strength and the pyramid building of the bunch was good. The youths did some rapid ground tumbling. Altogether the act was as good and as sensational as any performed by acrobats at the theatre this season.

Something new and novel in the gymnastic line was given by Hewhold and Carroll, European comedy acrobats, in their act, "An Interrupted Angling Party." Hewhold is quite a clever pantomine worker, and both are finished performers on the parallel bars. They did some showy tricks in mid-air and hand balancing of the woman was really wonderful.

Mmme. Emmy and her pets were given a warm welcome. Since she was bere before she has introduced some electrical novelties into her turn and the animals have been taught some new tricks. About a dozen terriers are used in the act and they perform with neatness and despatch.

There is only one sketch on the bill, but it is a regular hummer in the comedy line. It is entitled "Last Night" and as presented by Willard Newall & Co., would make a hit on any stage. The fun is fast and furious and unlike many of the sketches seen in vaudeville now, the situations are within the locality.

Sidney C. Gibson, singing comedian, and Josephine Ainsley, a camming some and the handsome Landseer dogs will again be seen.
Guy Bros'. Minatrels will pay their annual visit to the Grand next. Friday night and at the prices a really excellent minstrel performance will be given. The Guya have been on the road a long time and their work is well known.

Will Do a Fire Dance.

Miss Ida Fuller, one of the biggest stars of advanced vaudeville, fresh from her European conquests, will be seen at the Savoy Theatre shortly, presenting her new dance, "La Sorciere," which was produced in Paris and has been seen in many of the principal European music halls. She also brings a fire dance, which is her own invention, and is protected on this continent and in Europe. It has been used in the royal theatres in Germany as a feature of the opera. The fire and wonderful lingerie effects are strikingly beautiful and captivating, many mirrors and kaleidoacopic lights serving to render the scene a fascinating and vivid one.

Stars at Grand To-night.

Suzanne Rusholme, Hubert Harbin and Ben Field are English players imported by Henry Miller especially for his Cecilia Loftus-Lawrence D'Orsay production, "The Lancers," at the Grand to-night. All three enjoy envisible reputations in London. As America alragady has taken very kindly to them—Mr. Field, especially having made a strong impression—they in future will be identified with theatricals exclusively in this country. All of the characters in "The Lancers," except that portrayed by Miss Loftus, are English, and the play, depending upon the calm and atmosphere created by the participants, Mr. Miller was careful to select practically an all-English company, though all; save the three mentioned above, are well known on this side of the Atlantic. These include Arthur Lawrence, Fred. Tyler, Wiffred North, A. H. Van Buren, Phoebe Coyne, Grace Fisher, Laud Rowland and Ida Darling. There are three Canadians—Elleen Anglin, A. Bertram Harrison and Rex Stevell. The seenes are laid in Quebec. One American is in the caste, Doris Cameron, a California beauty, who sacqueated in England. octette, rowards pony and dog circis, and the sketch of sketches, "Suppressing the Press."

"The Military Octette, or the Girl with the Baton," is one of the finest musical acts ever seen here. It is spectacular as well as musical. In addition to eight male instrumentalists, there are two female buglers and "the girl with the baton—Miss Mabel Keith." The military octette is a musical fantasy in three scenes and in the course of them the elebrated cornetist, John Leich, plays several solos. Lightning changes are made, but the company always appear in military uniforms. The music is of a high order and the spectacular effects are really fine. The spectacular effects are really fine. The three principal scenes are: Russian Hussans on parade, a camp of the Royal Fusilers in India and a camp of the grand army of the U. S. A. The act was vociferously applanded.

Another high class act was that given Last night in Zion Tabernacle, in connection with the special services, Evangelist McHardy preached a sermon of unusual power and strength. He took for his text James 4.3, "Ye ask amiss," his theme being "Reasons for Unanswered Prayer."

With great force he elaborated the following reasons: Iniquity in the heart; the unforgiving spirit; selfish ends; lack of importunity or earnestness; lack of the fervent spirit; lack of faith and absence of works in connection with our prayers.

Mr. McHardy has a fund of apt illustrations, largely from his own experience, which he uses with telling effect.

ON TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Canadian Club Speakers Take Up the Subject.

Inspector J. H. Smith Gave Good Address Last Night

And Others Join in a Very Interesting Debate.

The regular debate of the Canadian Club was held, with a fair attendance, in the Conservatory of Music Lecture Hall last evening. J. H. Snith, county inspector of schools, introduced the subject of the evening. He took up the subject of Technical Schools and spoke of the work done by them. Three H's there was because he was the suppose of the state of the suppose of the state of the suppose of the state of the suppose of t the work done by them. Three H's there were he wanted to impress on their minds, he said. They were: Hands, to work with, Heads, to pian with, Hearts, to govern and control.

Three "Whats" he also introduced. What does, which is the physical connection with the earth; What knows, that which plans and What is, the spir itual side.

Itual side.

The intellect cannot work without the spirit and vice versa, he said. In dealing with technical educations the higher or spiritual pianes are not reacheu—it is on a lower plane taking in "What does" and "What knows."

Manual training should be placed in all schools, he said. It not only taught the use of the hands but with objects in front of them the pupils were more able to get their mathematics through their heads. Objections are made, and rightly, that nothing is made which is useful, it is more application and attention to the things that are useful that is needed. ootlights.

oak furniture. He saw many excellent samples.

Air. Michael Cummings, of St. Pat-rick's Young Men's Ciuo, held the floor for a while and ended up by stating that to his mind, judging as an artisan, the technical school promised the city was 10,000 times better than the lost Normal College.

Mr. F. J. Howell, of the Board of Education, was called and stated that there was even now a good manual training class worth while visiting and which was catching on already, he stated that there was no need to bother about a technical college, in view of the Government's promise, on which he relied, but that Hamilton should run a self-supporting technical school more as a primary or preparatory course to the tiovernment College.

He expressed himself as satisfied it would not be long before that state of affairs existed here.

Mr. Adam Brown followed with a few like remarks. He was strongly in favor of the establishment of a technical school and vollege here.

J. E. Wodell spoke along the "same lines as Mr. Howell. Tet thought that with the technical college a correspondence course should be organized. In his opinion such a course would pay for itself and would interest many people in the Province.

Inspector Ballard was in favor of the city nelping itself before asking the Government for help.

S. F. Lazler, K. C., was in favor of the city organizing a school of technical work before it asked for a college.

Rev. Dr. Lyle looked at the question in a different light, he said, as he had worked for 23 years in behalf of the educational interests of the city. Most assistance, was the way he had found it, he said. Dr. Lyle went on to say there should be no Liberalism, Conservatism, Art School, School Board, Mechanic or other partyism in regard to this subject, but the City of Hamilton should be first and foremost.

C. R. McCullough, of the Manufacturers' Association, also spoke. He was in favor of a technical college and school also, and said all the manufacturers were, even though it was from a mercenary point.

A resolution was moved by J. G. Smith and seconded by J. H. Smith, that the meeting go on record as being strongly in favor of technical colleges and school and would like to see them established in this city. A further resolution was moved by U. R. ACTRESS REVEALS POISON PLOT IN HER DEPOSITION.

Says "Buffalo Bill' Told Her That the Present Mrs. Howard Gould Attemped to Murder Him-Threatened to Tell of Relations With Cody.

New York, Nov. 26 .- The deposition of Helen-Mer, given before Referee Mc-Clure, in the Howard Gould divorce case vill be filed in the Supreme Court tomorrow.

Clure, in the Howard Gould divorce case, will be filed in the Supreme Court tomorrow.

The deposition, which will be read at the Jury trial, according to Miss Mer, described the alleged relations between Katherine Clemmons and Col. William F. Cody, Buffalo Bill. Miss Mer professes to have personal knowledge of certain incidents, both in Chicago and in the Hoffman House in this city. She testified to this also, and also that Col. Cody once accused Katherine Clemmons of trying to poison him.

She testified that Miss Clemmons told her that although Col. Cody made $200,000 from his Wild West Show during the World's Fair, he refused to give her enough money for household expenses; that she was afraid he was trying to cast her off and that rather than let him get away without giving her money he had promised her to star in a theatrical company, she would sit on a trunk in front of the Hoffman House and tell all the reporters the details of her relations with him.

She testified, she says, that she went with Miss Clemmons to Europe after the World's Fair, and that Miss Clemmons there told her she had a letter from Col. Cody telling her that he was through with her forever, and that the fourth week Miss Clemmons received from a letter, the phrasing of which was such that she refused to tell its contents to the referse.

Miss Mer said she described a mustard bath she had seem miss Katherin Clemmons administer to Col. Cody in Chicago.

On their trip to Europe, she said, and they heard he had to go to Paris on account of a stabbing affray.

She and Miss Clemmons, she said, were stranded in London once, and she supported herself by mewspaper work. Miss Mer said she found in the heard of the had been improper. She said she was with Mr. Mackaye when he died and that he rented rooms for her and gave her Delsarte and elocution lessons.

THE BRAIN.

A Wonderful Organ That is Yet Little Understood.

The discovery of a special speech re-

The discovery of a special speech region in the brain furnished a key for unlocking one chamber after another of this mysterious physical organ of the mind. Even as regards the faculty of speech itself, it was soon revealed that it had three separate anatomical seats in the brain—one for hearing words, another for seeing and a third for speaking them. How separate and distinct from this uttering centre the brain place for reading is was illustrated by a lady patient of mine, who was astonished one morning at finding that she could not read a word in anything, whether newspaper or book. She thought something must be wrong with her eyes, but she saw everything about the room as well as everyand could sew and knit. I tested her speech carefully, and found that she could hear every word addressed to her, and could talk remarkably well. Her reading brain centre, however, had been destroyed in the night without her waking by a plug in the little artery which supplies that place, and she forthwith became as illiterate as a Paupan savage, nor did she learn to read again, succumbing to apoplexy two years afterward. Generally more than one speech centre is injured by an apoplectic hemorrage in the brain, as was the case with a patient of mine, a gentleman who one morning lost not only all power of utterance, but also all shility to read. He could, however, hear words perfectly, and strange to tell, he proved that the place for arithmetical figures is in a different brain I ocality from those for words, because he could read and write figures and calculate every kind of sum in large business transactions which he successfully conducted for seven years afterward, without once being able to speak a word, or even to read his own signature.—Dr. William Hanna Thomson, in Everybody's. RATEPAYERS VOTE ON POWER SCHEME

By-law to Raise $275,000 to be Submitted at the Next Elections.

New Water Rate By-law Passed by the Council --- The Bread Question.

The City Council last night decided to let the people vote on the Hydro-Elec-tric power scheme and the proposed power scheme and the proposed cipal lighting plant, by giving the by-law for the issue of debentures to the amount of $225,000 for this purpose two readings. This and considerable her important business, which includond reading of the by-law to pumps at the Beach, the new waterworks by-law, which was adopted with few ents, and the by law appointing tion in January, was dealt with at a session lasting two and a half hours, In the absence of Mayor Stewart, who was out Finance Committee presided.

There was a lively discussion before the Board of Works recommendation to submit the $225,000 by haw for the pro-posed municipal lighting plant was adopted. And. Peregrine, seconded by Ala, Parrar, moved that it be struck nedy, made the motion.

Ald. Lees, in opposing the motion, said:

"I don't think there is another place in Canada making such a suggestion. If the bakers made a four-pound loaf they could not sell a loaf because the people would not buy it. The jail is the only place that asks for a four-pound loaf, I think the present arrangement is an eminently fair and just one. It could not be more so. Everything is working very satisfactorily. Why disturb it." If it was true, as Ald. Peebles had stated, that 99 out of every 100 householders were getting short weight bread, they did not know it, and could not have suffered much. He did not think the question was a serious one.

"The subject is a serious one," said Ald. Peebles, emphatically. "There is no other commodity so much used in Hamilton. Kingston, he understood, was making a similar effort to get this legislation. He made no mention of a two or four-pound loaf. It might be a one-pound loaf. There was no comparison between the method of selling bread as with tea, coffee and other stuff. This was invariably sold by the bound. "And you can't work off a pound and a quarter for a pound and a half, even if they could not make a profit and raised the price. If it was not dishonest, it approached very closely to it, when they handed out a pound and a quarter loaf without letting the people know about it."

Ald. Kirkpatrick argued that the suggested change would he had think they are the change would he had think they are they Inis matter in the shape it is in," said Ald. Peregrine.

It was useless, he thought, to waste time on the by-law, which it was quite evident they were not ready to ask the citizens to yote on. It was not absolutely necessary to submit the by-law now, and under the present financial conditions he thought it would be unwise. Another reason urged by Ald. Peregrine was that light-producing was only in its initial stage. He referred to the gas producer as an illustration, and the often of that company made to the city to supply Hamilton with light and power at naif the cost quoted by the Cataract Co., and estimated by the Hydro-Electric Commission. If this was true, and there was no one present who could dispute it, he did not feel in a position to yote intelligently on the by-law and did not think the years the supplement of the could dispute the years by-law and did not think the years the supplement the present the could dispute the years and did not think the years and there was no one present who could dispute the years and did not think the years and the present the present the could be present the could be present the position to you intelligently on the by-law and did not think the years and the present the vote intelligently on the by-law and did not think the ratepayers could either. On these grounds he left that he could not support the by-law at the present time.

Decide to Make the Plunge.

"I think this by-law should go to the people," said Chairman Sweeney.

"I think the city of Hamilton has probably the chance of a lifetime. If the Government is going to help us I think we should be one of the first to embrace it considering that it has gone to the trouble of making estimates for lighting for Hamilton and for the rest of the Province. I don't think we should turn this down in view of that."

If in the course of a year or so it was shown that there was something cheaper than Hydro Power, he would be one of the first to accept such a proposition.

position.
"I think it is only just," he said,
"that we should send this on to the people and let them say if we are to go in for municipal ownership. I don't think there is any doubt that ninety per cent.
of the people will vote for cheaper power."

"I feel like Ald. Peregrine on this," aid Ald. Kirkpatrick. "I don't think or the people will vote for cheaper powers."

"I feel like Ald. Peregrine on this," said Ald. Kirkpatrick. "I don't think we have enough information to vote on it intelligently. I don't think the public is in a position to vote intelligently."

Ald. McLaren pointed out that when tenders were called for by the city the local company quoted $60 per lamp, another company through solicitors $55 and the Hydro Commission, which he believed got its information from reliable engineers, $43, all the contracts to be for ten years. This system would cost about $125,000. The difference in the cost was for the underground system. There was no use going in for an overhead system when what the people demanded was the underground system. "We have no competition now," he said, "in any way, to get the price reduced. I think we have tried every way in our power to get a reasonable price, and have failed. I don't see any other way of getting it, except to build our own plant." The people early in the year had voted empowering the council to enter into a contract, and he felt they were willing now to see the city buy its distributing plant. The people wanted an upto-date plant. If the Hydro scheme did not materialize, he would like to see the council empowered to look elsewhere. "We certainly should be in a position," he said, "to get the very best for the people."

Ald. Peregrine's amendment to strike the recommendation out was defeated on the following division:

Deputy Returning Officers.

Although some of the Conservative aldermen "squealed" over the list of deputy returning officers for the next municipal election, as recommended by the Finance Committee, and endeavored to have some changes made the list carried. The only changes made were those suggested by the returning officers themselves and two new nanes recommended by the City Clerk to take the places of two who could not act. The changes were as follows:

The Fire and Water Committee's report of the investigation held into the attack of Captain Bongard on the sand-sucker was adopted without a murmur. The Council passed a resolution petitioning the Minister of Justice to release from prison, Mark B. The by-law appointing R. V. Matthews chief clerk in the Tax Collector's office was carried without objection.

Ald. Jutten wanted to know why it was necessary to go out of ward 7 to get men for that division.

Ald. A. J. Wright, who tried to get a man named by him placed on the list, pretended to see a grievance about polities being introduced, and demanded to know who had framed up the list.

Ald. Dickson replied that the list was computed with an idea of giving both sides a fair show. When the Conservatives were in power, out of seventy returning officers, but two or three Liberals were included. He hoped that the Conservatives when they ruled the Council again would take a lesson from the fairness of the Liberals, when they had the say.

Last week a boy was caught taking coal from an I. C. R. car, and he gave his name as George Fairweather, of Broad street. To-night Policeman McNamee called to order the boy to attend court tomorrow morning. Fairweather told the policeman he had stolen no coal, but some other boy must have used his name. He was alone in the house, and when his grandmother returned an hour later she found him on the kitchen floor, his throat cut and a razor beside him.

Dr. J. S. Bentley worked with him for some hours. He found the windpip severed, and inserted a tube, and after closing the wound sent the boy to the hospital. The family deny that young Fairweather ever stole coal, and say he was a good boy, and when his grandmother left him this evening he was writing out the minutes of a meeting of St. James' Episcopal Church Club, of which he was a member. The Bread Question.

Mayor Stewart's suggestion that the City Council petition the Legislature that municipalities be empowered to make a standard weight for a loaf of bread, which was defeated at the Finance Committee the other night, was approved of by a majority of the Council, after a sharp discussion.

Ald. Peebles, seconded by Ald. Kennedy, made the motion.

Ald. Lees, in opposing the motion, said:

There was another long wrangle over the proposition to strike the $2 rate on baths off as it means cutting off about $10,000 of the city's revenue. There was another long discussion before the by-law to issue $50,000 for electric pumps at the Beach got its second reading. Alderman Bickson, seconded by Ald. Reception at Washington to Canadian Y. M. C. A. Delegates.

Washington, Nov. 25.—About sixty of the delegates from Canada to the International Y. M. C. A. Convention were informally received at the British Embassy this afternoon by Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce. The reception was by appointment, and delegates were present from all parts of the Dominion. Several of the attaches of the Ambassy assisted in receiving the guests. When the handshaking was over the Ambassador made a brief speech, in which he expressed his appreciation of the honor which the delegates did him in calling at the Embassy. As a fitting conclusion to the reception the delegates sang "God Save the ing," in which the Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce heartily joined.

Among those presented were: Former Provincial Secretary Charles R. Sayers, of Hamilton, now of Winnipeg, and W. Frank and Mrs. Coote, J. A. Kneale, W. J. Orr and W. J. Robinson, of Hamilton. Ald. Evans, before the Council adjourned, gave notice of motion that at the next meeting he would move to have a by-law passed under the Lands Title Act for the introduction in Hamilton of the Torrens system of transfer of real property, according to the statute and onat the matter Le referred to the Finance Committee. This system, it is said, is much simpler in the transfer of poperty.

NEW LABOR BODY FORMED

Party of Ontario. sident Walter Rollo Explain

What it Stands For. Allen Studholme, M. P. P., and

There was a fair-sized crowd present at the meeting held in the Labor Hall, on John street south, last evening, for the purpose of forming a branch of the Independent Labor Party of Ontario, an organization that was founded in To-ronto on Good Friday last. Mr. Walter Rollo acted as chairman, and opened the meeting by giving a brief resume of the organization, which has several branches in different towns in Ontario. Mr. Rollo make any difference whether a man was Independent Labor party, as long as he

Mr. Rollo said as there were two labor parties, the new party would have to be taken from the older parties, and as such accepted, until the party found out where it stood.

In speaking of the platform, Mr. Rollo said that it would be the same as that of the Dominion Congress, consisting of the following: Free compulsory education; eight-hour day; Government inspection of all industries; the abolition of the contract system on public works; public ownership of all franchises; tax reform; abolition of the Dominion Senate; exclusion of Chinese, Japanese and Hindoos; union label on all manufactured goods; abolition of child labor under 14 years; abolition of child labor under 14 years; abolition of prison for public offices; voluntary submission to arbitration; prohibition of prison labor competing with organized labor, etc.

Mr. Allan Studholme, M. P. P., in a lengthy address, dealt with the history of labor bodies for the past twenty years. He took up each plank of the party at great length. He also advocated the rormation of the party.

Mr. William Berry said he was rather surprised to be called on. He thought the party would be a good thing, but he was not going to advocate its formation, as he had not studied the question long enough. He considered that the Labor party would never be brought out of its present rut until a party was formed that would raise it to the high standard of other organizations.

Mr. Studholme moved that the local branch of the Independent Labor party be formed, and called for volunteers.

at the trial of the alleged London conspirators. Examined by Mr. Lynch-Staunton, he stated that about two weeks before the Beck-Rumball election O'Gorman spoke to him about the purchasable vote, and asked him whether he would care to go into that work. Witness was not anxious to do so, but consented.

"Did you get any money?"

"Yes; I got $200 to start with."

"How much money did you get altogether?"

"I am not sure, but in the neighborhood of from $300 to $400."

"Can you tell me where you got any of that money?"

"After using the first money I went to Mr. Reid to find out whether there was any more. Serviss was with me. I told Reid that more money was needed, and he gave me. $100 more."

"Did he say anything?"

"He asked who was buying and how I was working—some questions of that kind. My recollection is that he said I was not to buy too many of Serviss' relations."

"Where did he get the money from: did he say?"

"He said it was from Ottawa contractors that the funds were secured for that purpose."

Witness acted as a scrutineer in division No. I of Ward Two, and after the election Serviss approached him and stated that the ballot-box could be opened if Spence was paid $10. Sitton said he went to Mr. Reid and told him what Serviss had said, and Mr. Reid remarked that a considerable amount of money had been spent in West London, and that it had better be checked up. He and Serviss then met Spence, went to the polling booth and opened it."

"Yho opened it?"

"I do not recollect, but we all worked at it."

Witnes then explained how he checked the vote, and stated that as a result they found that all had voted as they had promised with the exception of two.

Witnes then explained how he checked the vote, and stated that as a result they found that all had voted as they had promised with the exception of two.

Sifton added that he took the $10 which should have been paid to the two who voted wrong and gave it to Spence. Asked if he had anything to do with Mulloy, witness said he received a list of voters' names from him, and was told they were voters who could be bought. In the Dominion by-election in 1905 O'Gorman again asked him to act in regard to the purchaseable vote. He agreed to do so, and got from him for all purposes $700 and $800.

"For legitimate or illegitimate purposes?"

"For both."

"For both."
"How much was each voter to get?"
"$10."
Witness reported to O'Gorman every evening, and he had frequent talks with Reid regarding his work. He discussed ballot-folding with several people, including Collins, O'Gorman, Lewis and Milne. After paying the voters witness had $10 left over, and he sent it to Mr. Wylie, the defendant.

When witness heard that Collins was giving information to Conservative lawyers he spoke to Reid about satisfying Collins, but Reid said he would do nothing for him, remarking that he would not have a ghost of a show, and that he would not have a ghost of a show, and that he would not have a ghost of a show, and that he would not have a ghost of a show, and that he would not have a ghost of a show, and that he was to be called as a Crown witness he told O'Gorman about at Buffalo, where he had gone, and he suggested that witness should perjure himself. Subsequently O'Gorman suggested that he should remain out of the country, and told him that arrangements would be made to buy out his plant in London and to look after his investments. A portion of his expenses in Buffalo was paid by Mr. Lilley, a brother-in-law of O'Gorman, and the latter promised him all the money he needed in Buffalo. A man named Ferguson also informed him that he could have $200 a month so long as he remained in Buffalo. As the promises made with regard to his business interests in London were not carried out he returned to London, consulted his lawyer and was promised protection if he became a Crown witness.

Pamphlets Attacking Banks Seized in Printing Office.

Printing Office.

London, Ont., Nov. 25.—Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, accompanied by a bailiff, went to a local printing office today and took possession of several hundred pamphlets, which had been printed at the instance, it is alleged, of Mr. Henry B. Ashplant, the well kown Socialist leader of this city. The pamphlet makes an acrimonious attack on the bankers of Canada, and on one bank in particular, which is very prominent in London. It is stated that several hundred of these pamphlets were last week sent to Toronto, and that Crown Attorney Corley, of Toronto, communicated with Mr. McKillop regarding the matter, Finance Minister Fielding is also attacked in the publication referred to.

It has been finally decided that Parkdale Canoe Club, the junior O. R. F. U. champions, will not play Varsity HI. for the junior championship of Canada. The paddlers have had a long series of hard games, and do not wish to play any more. OIL TANK SHIPS British Navy Will Keep Depots Supplied Along the Coast.

London, Nov. 25.-The sailing of the London, Nov. 25.—The sailing of the Admiralty owned tank steamer Petroleum for Port Arthuit, Texas, marks a new departure in the British navy, as it is the first time that the Admiralty has tried the experiment of importing a cargo of oil in its own ships. It is anticipated that petroleum is only the forerunner of a small fleet of Admiralty-owned tank ships, which will be continually employed in meeting the increasing requirements of the British navy for oil as a fuel.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Because Mr. Frank Richardson, druggist, advised Mr. George Champion to poultice an abscess on the side, from which he was suffering, after supplying him with the medicine asked for, he was charged with a breach of the Medical Act before Magistrate Denison yesterday. Mr. Champion said he called at Mr. Richardson's store at the corner of Teraulay and Elm streets and asked for the same medicine as had been supplied to a friend for a similar complaint. "I don't think there is anything in it," said the magistrate, in dismissir the case.

The Friend That Never Was, on 8 or Land.

I met a gentleman who seemed
As nice as he could be;
While I could be in any good
He was a tried to me,
But wouldn't boost his game
He rose and took his hat,
And made himself exceeding scarce
We've all had friends like that.

He stuck to me like liquid giue,
As long as I would buy,
Laushed a te ancient jokes I told
And domed me to the sky.
My money ceased to talk,
He folded up his tents and things
And straightway took a walk.

That is the way too oft, alas!
With some fair weather friends;
They hang around us include cloak.
When we conner well red.
But when money we produce.
They alrase used to do.
They alrase used and shake themselve.
And flit to pastures new.

Give me the friend who doesn't make
Too much of a parade.
But who is there when you're in need,
A very present aid.
Who comes when you are in the dumps
And no relief can see,
And gently says: "Cheer up, old man,
And kindly draw on me."

side the door. Jaggard wanted to get another drink, but Barker said he would not give it too him, whereupon Jaggard got angry and pushed his hand through a pain of glass in the door, which caused him to get his arm cut. Barker was emphatic in his denial of the statement that he had had a knife in his possession.

that he had had a knife in his possession.

Judge Snider, in summing up the case, said that if the evidence of Jaggard was taken alone it would have made Barker guilty on all counts. However, His Honor said that he could only find him guilty on the charge of cutting and wounding. If there had been any reasonable doubt in the matter, His Honor said, he would have given Barker the benefit of it, but as far as he could see it was plain that he had committed the offence. His Honor said that to stab a man meant murder, and the law was very severe in such matters. Judge Snider said that it was not in his power to impose a fine in such a case, and he passed sentence of 18 months in Central Prison.

Barker asked if there was any way of appealing the decision, and His Honor said that it could be done through a higher court.

Three Years for Anderson.

Three years in the Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence that Judge Snider handed out to Frank Anderson, the purse snatcher, who was found guilty of stealing a purse and $12 from Catherine Burgoyne on the 5th of November, and of also stealing a purse and $9 from Miss Catherine Duncan on August 24th last. The evidence in both cases was very strong against the prisoner. When the Judge had sentenced him, Anderson said, "Well, I won't come out alive." To this his Honor replied, "That I hope you will come out a better man." Three Years for Anderson,

Two for Ouackenbush.

Harry Quackenbush was given two years in prison, being found guilty of breaking into the residence of Andrew Linklater on Argil 11 last, and stealing a gold watch and several other pieces of jewelry.

struggle for existence of a section of the literary and artistic world here came to light to-day with the discovery in the Thames of the bodies of Alexander Good and his wife. Both were authors and Mrs. Good was also a painter of rare talent.

The couple tied themselves together and jumped into the river, after losing hope in a battle against big odds. Carefully encased in waterproof paper in the garments of both were found letters adressed to the coroner. They have not been opened as yet. The couple disappeared from the cheap lodgings to which they had been reduced, on November 4, leaving their last pennies for their landlady, and a letter to a friend, saying in part:
