in the joining together in the golden bonds of matrimony of Captain A. E. McGregor, second son of Capt. Murray McGregor, and Miss Lily Dancy, eldest daughter of Capt. T. N. Dancy, all of this town. The ceremony in the North Street Methodist Church, which was of a public nature, was witnessed by a large number of the young ladies and others, notwithstanding the early hour at which it took place - 6:30 o'clock. A large floral horse-shoe hung over the heads of the nuptial party, and beautiful flowers and plants also adorned the platform. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr.
Williams, pastor of the church, and preceded and followed by a wedding march on the organ by Miss Andrews, the organist of the church. The bridesmaids were Miss McKay, of Goderich,

WINDOW BREAKING - We would call the attention of the authorities to the reprehensible practice of stone throwing indulged in so freely by boys of the town. No unoccupied house, however valuable, is free from the destructive assaults of youngsters, who make targets of the windows for their stones, slings or catapults. This last instrument is one whose use should be prohibited within the town limits. It is small, can be easily hidden about the person, but with practice a boy can become so accurate in aim that he can hit an object as easily as he could do so with a pistol. The rubber-impaled stone or shot with great force, and a window can be broken without the least apparent endeavor on the part of the young rascal carrying the catapult. Small birds, domestic animals and fowl, are a ready prey to the boys carrying these instruments, and much pain is inflicted in this way. It is too bad that owners of unoccupied houses, and those in course of erection, must either board up their windows or have the panes of glass destroyed by stones and catapults. The authorities should look up the perpetrators, and make an example of them.

Mr. S. H. Cureton, of the Toronto Evening News, has been in town during the week, and has secured a large circulation for that paper. The News is frequently an independent paper, but is really a Tory paper in disguise. It is printed in a Conservative office, is owned by Conservatives, is edited by Conservatives, and is run in the interests of the Conservative party as an "independent" paper.

C. U., was held in the lecture room of the North Street Methodist church yesterday, and addressed by Mrs. Yeomans. Mrs. Williams occupied the chair. The need for woman's help in the battle against intemperance was very nicely put before the meeting by the speaker.

MISSIONARY MEETINGS - The Mission services at Helmsville on Monday evening last week,

McKillop. FOR THE REEVES.—We understand that Mr. Wm. Grievie has definitely determined to be a candidate for the Reevship of McKillop at the next election...

Goderich Township. Services will be held in the school house in the Tipperary appointment instead of the church as formerly.

The Christmas examination of the pupils attending Porter's Hill school, takes place on Friday, December 16th.

Mr. W. Herbison, of the Bayfield Road, lost a number of valuable cattle this week by the straw stack falling on them.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. John Hunter, Huron Road, who has been lying for some time back, is again able to be around.

The examination and entertainment in connection with S. S. No. 1, comes off on Tuesday Dec. 20th, not on Friday the 23rd, as stated in last week's issue of the Record.

Mr. John Dempsey has sold his farm, composed of lot 36, 11th & 12th con., and containing 100 acres to Mr. Courtis of Pickering, (brother of Mr. J. L. Courtis, of Porter's Hill) for the round sum of $8,450.

Kintail. (Crowded out last week) Miss Boyd has returned from visiting her friends in London.

PERSONALS.—Mr. R. McKay is away on a visit to St. Marys, which must be some tender attraction in the south for him?

Mr. J. McGregor has rented his farm and intends removing to Manitoba. We are sorry to part with such an esteemed neighbor, but hope he may meet with happy and successful times in the west.

DEBATING.—A very successful meeting of the Kintail debating society took place last Monday evening. The subject was:—"Resolved that the sword has had more influence over mankind than the pen". Messrs. A. McGregor and J. McDonald acted as captains, the former supporting the affirmative, the latter the negative side of the question.

CLINTON. The grey mare sold by Mr. W. W. Farran, a few days since, brought the sum of $235.

EXAMINATION.—About sixty persons have signified their intention of trying for the Entrance Examination to the Clinton High School, which commences here on the 22nd inst.

SOB.—The property on Huron street, belonging to Mr. H. Norworthy, put up by auction on Friday, was bought by Mr. C. Middleton, of Bayfield, as was also the lot in Manchester, on which had stood Quigley's hotel.

Mr. W. Weir of the Bayfield con. has a team of two-year old heavy-draught geldings that he has refused $500 for, and a breeding mare for which he refused $350. Horses of this class are the ones that pay to raise.

HOUSES SOLD.—Mr. A. Gorrell has sold his house and lot on Spencer street, to Mr. John Taylor, of Hullett, for the sum of $725. Mr. Taylor intends to move into town as soon as Mr. Gorrell finds another place. Mr. Thomas Green of Harrison has sold his house and lot on Cooper street, here, to Mr. John Miller, also of Harrison.

SUCCESSFUL.—We are pleased to notice that our young friend, Mr. A. M. Taylor of the Model School, has passed his first examination in law, and has been admitted into that society, standing second highest in the examination. Mr. Taylor is a young man of more than ordinary ability, and we feel confident in the profession to which he is aspiring.

A CONDUCTOR SHOT AT.—On Monday evening just as the L. H. & B. train going north left the station here, two men got on from the side opposite the station. Almost immediately after the conductor, for some reason, ordered them to be put off, which was done just as the train crossed the Huron Road, when one of the villains drew a revolver and fired at the conductor, the ball passing close to his face. They then made off, and up to the present have not been captured.

ALMOST SUFFOCATED.—Last week Mr. Wm. Cadmore, of the London Road, went to Toronto with a load of cattle, registering at the St. James Hotel. On returning to his room he was accompanied by the night watchman, who explained to him how the gas was to be turned off after using. In the morning about four o'clock, the watchman, thinking that all might not be right with Mr. Cadmore, went up to the room and attempted to rouse him. Mr. Cadmore got up on being called, but after walking across the room he reeled and fell, overcome by inhaling the gas, which he had only partially turned off on going to bed. He speedily recovered, and was able to return to his room.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY CO'S LAND REGULATIONS. The Winnipeg correspondent of the Toronto Globe, in a communication published No. 23rd, states that the land regulations of the Pacific Railway Co are very unpopular with settlers in Manitoba, and that the effect of them has been that the company's lands are now virtually out of the market.

HORSE DIED.—A valuable colt belonging to Mr. Thomas Campbell died suddenly on Wednesday night of last week from gas on the stomach.

PROGRESSING.—W. Jewitt, a substantial yeoman of the 2nd concession, is intending erecting a brick front to his house during this approaching summer. It is to be 22 by 32 feet.

KICKED BY A COLT.—One day last week Mr. S. Paul was kicked on the leg by a colt, which left him unable to walk for some days. He fortunately was not seriously injured and is recovering.

FARM RENTED.—W. Oster, of Toronto, has rented his farm in Grey to W. Marsden, of Morris, for five years, for about $200 a year. The farm contains 100 acres. Mr. C. Campbell, of Tucker-smith, has recently purchased 50 acres of land almost adjoining his other farm of 100 acres. Calvin is a shrewd man and has made a good bargain.

SEAFORTH. Mr. D. D. Wilson has been offered $9,000 for some farm property which he has in Manitoba, and which he purchased a few years ago for $500. Mr. Robert Fisher has also sold a couple of town lots in Winnipeg for $8,000 which he purchased two years ago for $400.

DEATH.—Miss Bessie Scott, eldest daughter of Mr. Alexander Scott, of this town, died on Thursday morning last. Miss Scott was a victim of consumption, and had been in ill health for about two years, although she had only been confined to the house a few months. She was a patient and cheerful sufferer, and throughout her long illness she never repined or complained, but always seemed calmly resigned to her fate.

She was a universal favorite with our townspeople, and few young ladies were more generally respected and beloved, and whose loss will be more sincerely mourned or deeply regretted. She was possessed of good musical abilities, and besides being a prominent member of the Presbyterian Church Choir for many years, has frequently assisted at concerts in this town and other local public and private entertainments.

AUBURN. (Crowded out last week.) There are several cases of diphtheria in this vicinity at present.

The Rev. Mr. Smith is at present conducting revival services in the C. M. church here.

Mr. F. Weise, of Colborne, has been preaching in the Temperance hall here several evenings during the past week.

There are at present four gangs of men working round this neighborhood, making square timber for the Quebec market.

Mr. A. Akam has the misfortune to lose a valuable mare last week. He was drawing a load of straw along the boundary line between East and West Wawanosh, and she got fast in a mudhole. The animal glunged and strained herself in some way, which caused her death in a short time.

FIRE.—About 12 or 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning of last week our villagers were aroused by the cry of fire. Upon going to see the cause it was discovered the old hotel building was in flames. It was without doubt the work of an incendiary, as no person was living in it for some time. Fortunately the wind was blowing in an easterly direction, and what might have been a serious fire was prevented. The house and stables were totally consumed.

TUCKERSMITH. DEATH.—We regret having to record the death of Mr. Kenzie Grant, of the London Road, which occurred on Monday morning. Deceased was a promising young man, but about a year ago was laid up with an attack of asthma, which was followed by other ailments, resulting in his death.

FARM SOLD.—Mr. Jas. McEwing was sold his farm, farm stock and implements to Mr. Edward Aubrey. The farm was sold for $7,000 and the stock and implements for $1,000, making $8,000 cash down for the whole. The farm contains 100 acres and is situated on the 6th con. Mr. Aubrey takes possession on first of January. Mr. McEwing intends removing to Seaforth to live until spring, when he will go to the Northwest and take a view of the Great Lone Land.

OBITUARY.—Many of our readers will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. H. Mason, of Tuckersmith, which took place on Sunday last, after an illness of two weeks, of typhoid fever. Mrs. Mason was the second daughter of Mr. Jas. Forsyth and sister of Mrs. Jas. Kyle, of Edmondville. She was just 28 years of age, and was an amiable, kind woman who was esteemed by every one who knew her. She leaves a family of two children, the eldest about four years of age and the youngest fourteen months. The bereaved husband and his motherless little ones, as well as the friends of the deceased, will receive the most sincere sympathy from all.

Inconsiderable bluntness, roughness of speech and manners, are sure, sooner or later, to react on those who habitually practice them, for they possess more than any other faculty the knack of making which the farmer would most probably not get more than 60 cents a bushel. But the majority of the settlers who go there are not men of means; they are poor men who go to make a living for themselves and their families by the labor of their own hands. Their purpose is to make a home for themselves in the wilderness. In doing so they will have difficulties enough to encounter without creating artificial ones. The real object of the company in inserting these objectionable stipulations in their form of agreement seems to be, for the present, to discourage settlement on their lands. After a while, when all the adjoining government and school lands have been taken up, they will be able to sell to much greater advantage to themselves than they could now. In the meantime they can hold their lands without a cent of cost, owing to the provision in the agreement with the government exempting their land from municipal taxation for twenty years, or until sold. This seems to be the game the company are playing; and this certainly is the effect their land regulations are calculated to produce, and in fact are producing. It remains to be seen whether the people of Canada will tamely permit them to continue such a policy as this. While the present government is in power, the company may of course do as they please; but the present government will not always be in power. It will be a question for their successors to consider whether, with due regard to the public interest, a trading corporation can be allowed to lock up 25,000,000 acres of the public land and hold them over for a rise in prices. We think we know the answer which will be given to this question, should it ever arise. The Parliament of Canada, which by its act created this huge monopoly, will have power to destroy it. The company, if they are wise, will not provoke a collision by persevering in their present policy, but will withdraw their unjust form of agreement with intending purchasers of their lands, and substitute for it a just and equitable form, which a prudent man can sign without danger. Unless this is done the progress of settlement in the Northwest will be seriously retarded.

What Love to God is. Love to Christ smoothes the path of duty; and wings the feet to travel it; it is the bow which impels the arrow of obedience; it is the mainspring moving the wheels of duty; it is the strong arm tugging the oar of diligence. Love is the marrow of the bones of fidelity, the blood in the veins of piety, the sinews of spiritual strength; yea, the life of sincere devotion. He that hath love can no more be motionless than the aspen in the gale, the reed leaf in the hurricane, the open spray in the tempest. As well may hearts cease to beat as love to labor. Love is instinct with activity, it cannot be idle; it is full of energy, it cannot content itself with littles; it is the well-spring of heroisms, and great deeds are the gushings of its fountain; it is a giant, it heathen mountains upon mountains, and thinketh the pile but little; it is a mighty mystery, for it changes bitter into sweet; it calls death life and death a gain; it makes the less painful than death; it makes the more joyful than heaven. —Spurgeon.

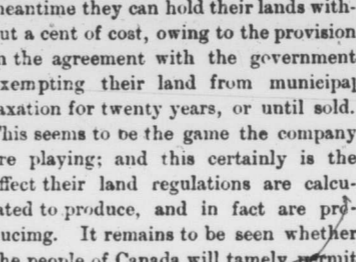

On the night of the 24th ult., a man named Roberts was attacked by one Verdant on Rose street, Ottawa, and bit the left cheek and a portion of the chin was literally eaten off. He remained unconscious on the street for over an hour, after which he was taken to Dr. Horey's and the wound dressed. Roberts is in a dangerous condition. Verdant has been arrested, and was this morning brought before the magistrate and remanded for a week.

Sir Garnet Wolsey says that ninety per cent. of the crime in the British army is due directly to intemperance; that when the men are removed from the temptation of strong drink crime is practically unknown among them; and then, when he was in South Africa his escort had very hard work to do, but did it without grumbling, and behaved better than any other set of men he ever was assisted by, for the reason, he believes, that every man in the company was a total abstainer.

How an Artist Treated his Visitor. To the Editor of the Salem (Mass.) Register:—I would have accepted your kind invitation to visit your new quarters with pleasure before this, had not my old enemy, Mr. Rheumatism, pounced on me so suddenly. He arrived last Friday, and without stopping to send up his card, rushed in and grasped me by the hand and wrist were so badly swollen and painful that I felt as though one of Mr. Hatch's coal teams had run over me. Mr. Rheumatism has been a constant visitor of mine for several years, always swells and puts on a great many airs and makes himself home, devouring my substance and leaving me poor in flesh and pocket. Last winter he came and staid two months. I then made up my mind that the next time he would change his diet, as true as I always gobble down everything set before him. It was somewhat at a loss what to feed him with, but finally concluded to give him three square meals a day of St. Jacobs Oil—morning, noon and night. This fare he is disgusted with, and is packing up his trunks and will leave by to-morrow or next day; says he cannot stop any longer as he has pressing business elsewhere. He is a treacherous fellow, and I have no doubt he intends visiting some of our Salem friends; if he does just give him the same fare that I did and he won't stop long.

DEAR SIR:—I, the undersigned, having been troubled with dyspepsia for a number of years, I have tried different prescriptions from several eminent physicians, but without obtaining much perceptible relief; about one month ago I commenced the application of Holman's Liver Pad, and am happy to say that I do not feel a great relief, and that I can now digest a few articles of food which I did not dare touch before. I Feel it My Duty to Give You the Result of the Holman Liver Pad. Union Mutual Live Insurance Company Agency at Montreal, P. Q., July 25, 1877. HOLMAN LIVER PAD CO. GENTS:—I feel it my duty to give you the result of the Holman Liver Pad which I bought of you about a month ago. I have been troubled with severe dyspepsia and indigestion accompanied with sharp pain in the region of the kidneys for about a year, and it finally became so troublesome that I could not rest at all without great suffering. I had tried most of the popular medicines of the day, but with only temporary relief. I bought the Pad with little or no faith, but I am happy to say that I believe entirely cured me after wearing it 28 days, so that I can once more eat anything without feeling any ill effects. It is worn with out any inconvenience and cannot be too strongly recommended. Yours truly, N. P. HARRINGTON.

GENERAL ELECTIONS

Private Hints to Liberal-Conservatives.

Reformers must not be allowed to read this. "If the Assessor is a Grit, Watch Him." How the Tories Propose to Fight the next Dominion Election. Politics to Influence Municipal Elections.

A document of a most important character, and marked private, has been issued by the leaders of the Tory party, for the use of the party wire-pullers in every constituency in Ontario; and a copy was also presented to each delegate attending the Tory Convention lately held in Toronto. The following is the document:

OPENING INSTRUCTIONS.

These hints are prepared solely for the use of officers of Conservative Associations in Ontario. The greatest care should be exercised in preventing them from falling into the hands of our opponents.

Those to whom they are entrusted should never allow them to pass out of their hands.

DRAFT CONSTITUTION FOR LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATIONS.

1. Constitution of the Liberal-Conservative Association (name of constituency).

2. The Association shall consist of all persons who are favorable to the Liberal-Conservative party, and express their willingness to become members of the Association (and pay an annual fee of $1.00).

3. The officers of the Association shall comprise its Executive Committee for the riding, and shall consist of the President, Secretary, Treasurer and Vice-Presidents, being one for each municipality in the electoral division, who shall be elected at the annual meeting, which shall be held at _____ on the _____ day of _____ in each year, and the Chairman of the sub-divisions appointed as hereinafter mentioned.

4. Each Vice-President shall, as soon as convenient after the annual meeting in each year, call a meeting of the members of the Association in his municipality, at which there shall be appointed by the meeting a committee of such number as the meeting shall see fit for each polling sub-division (school section or other division as thought best), and one of such committee shall be appointed chairman.

5. The Vice-President residing in each such municipality, with the chairman and members of the committee so appointed, shall form the Executive Committee for such municipality.

6. It shall be the duty of each chairman:

(1) To see that in his division all Conservatives entitled to vote are on the Voters' List, and to appeal against, and have struck off, all names of opponents improperly inserted thereon.

(2) To promote the circulation of Conservative newspapers and literature.

(3) To secure as large a membership of the Association as possible.

(4) To see that his division is thoroughly canvassed, and the party vote entirely polled at elections.

(5) To report the result of his work quarterly to his Vice-President.

7. It shall be the duty of each Vice-President to have a meeting of the Executive Committee held immediately on the return of the assessment roll by the assessors to the clerk of the municipality, to prepare for appeals to the Court of Revision, and also immediately after the publication of the voters' lists in each year; also at the time of the writ of election to organize and prepare therefor.

8. At each annual meeting each Vice-President shall report in writing as to the state of political matters in his municipality, showing the strength of the Association and what actual work has been done in perfecting the voters' lists, canvassing the electors, and procuring the circulation of Conservative papers, pamphlets, etc.

9. The Association at every annual or special general meeting may pass such by-laws as may be deemed essential for carrying out the objects for which it is formed, and for prescribing the duties of its various officers.

10. It shall be the duty of the President of the Association immediately on the dissolution of Parliament, or of the Local Legislature, or on the death or resignation of the member of either House representing the constituency, or at such other time as may be determined by the majority of the officers of the Association present at a meeting shall decide, to take proper steps for holding a meeting of delegates belonging to the party from each polling sub-division, to select the candidate of the party.

11. For this purpose delegates shall be selected from each polling sub-division by the Conservative electors thereof.

12. Such notice shall be given with regard to the time and place of meeting for the selection of their candidate, as its several meetings from time to time, direct, and the meetings in each sub-division throughout the riding for the selection of delegates shall take place on the same day, and the Convention shall meet the following day.

13. At a Convention a standing vote shall first be taken pledging the meeting to support the nominee of the Convention by all means in their power.

14. Before the name of any candidate is allowed to be submitted to the meeting his name shall be read, and if absent, his nominators must pledge themselves for him, that he will cordially support whoever may be the nominee of the Convention.

15. The Convention may pass such rules as may be necessary for the conduct of business before it.

HINTS FOR THE FORMATION AND WORKING OF ASSOCIATIONS.

In forming an Association the chief thing to guard against is its remaining on paper. To avoid this the greatest care must be used to select good officers. Only active and energetic men should be chosen. Filling the offices with mere figureheads destroys the efficiency of many Associations. It does not by any means follow merely because a man is popular and a zealous Conservative that he would make a good President or Vice-President. While such men are useful, they should not be selected unless they also men of active business habits, with strong wills, and who will insist upon the work being done.

In canvassing persons to join the Association every exertion should be taken to bring in all the young men and lads possible, whether of age and having votes or not. They all have their associations and connections, and when enlisted their energy will be found invaluable in the work of the Association. It should be their special duty to see that Conservative Income Franchise voters and farmers' sons are on the roll and vote.

Attention is called to the necessity of having the assessors do their duty when they are preparing the rolls. If the Assessor is a Grit, watch him. Their party invariably appoint the most energetic and unscrupulous partizans as assessors. After the assessment is completed (30th April), the rolls should be revised by the chairman and committee.

In the event of an appeal to the County Judge in respect to the voters' lists, it will be found the best plan to submit the management of the appeal: in the whole municipality to one man responsible for the work. This, however, only refers to seeing that notice is properly given, and managing the cases before the Judge. It is the duty of the chairman of each sub-division to see that his committee ascertain every friendly name omitted, and every vote improperly on, and give every assistance and instruction to the person entrusted with the management of the appeal.

Special care should be taken by each chairman to ascertain those persons in his division who take no newspapers, and to at once endeavor to get them to subscribe to a Conservative paper. Every effort should be made to substitute a Conservative for a Reform paper.

Each Vice-President should see that the chairman of each sub-division is provided with voters' list.

The chairman and their committees should work up their respective divisions as though they were an association by themselves.

The Vice-Presidents should be particular in requiring reports from the chairmen of the divisions, as that will be found to result in the more careful performance of work in such divisions.

It will be found useful for each chairman to have meetings occasionally of the members of the Association resident in his section, to discuss matters of interest and to see what is being done.

It is a mistake to give the nomination to a person who will not accept it. It should always be ascertained before a man is placed in nomination that he will stand if nominated. If he declines, it frequently deters others from accepting and places the eventual candidate in a false position.

Copies of the Voter's Lists should constantly be kept on hand, revised and annotated.

When a new resident comes into the division his views should at once be ascertained and every effort made to get him to join the Association, or pledged to the party.

The Association should never give the nomination to a man unless it is definitely known that he will accept and fight it out to the bitter end.

If the party is weak in a constituency the only way to increase its strength is to determine to win it; to keep this object steadily in view, and to fight every election. No Grit should ever be allowed to be returned by acclamation. The Reform majority in Glenagarry in 1872, and for thirty years previous, was over 1,200, but by dint of work it was turned into a Conservative majority of 62 in 1878.

It should be the duty of the chairman of every Convention for the nomination of candidates to impress upon the delegates the nature and responsibility of their duties. The question before them is: Who is the strongest and most available man of the party? They should approach this question in a judicial spirit. Personal likes and dislikes should be abandoned and sectional jealousies should not be entertained. A man may be strong and popular in his own township or vicinity, but unknown and perhaps unpopular in others. Each delegate should ask himself the question, who is the strongest available man to contest this constituency? and for that man it is his bounden duty to vote, even if he does not know or dislikes him personally. Upon the impartial decision of the delegates must in almost every instance depend the success of the party.

It is probable that the next general election for the House of Commons will take place on the voters' list of 1882, which will be prepared from the assessment rolls to be made during the course of the coming winter and early spring, and possibly the election for the Legislative Assembly may take place on the lists.

Our friends are therefore earnestly requested to attend carefully to the matter of their own assessment, and to notify those voters whom they know to be friendly, in order that they also may see that the assessor places on the roll all such names as are entitled by law to be on.

We have, unfortunately, too much reason to believe that in townships where assessors, partizans of the Reform party, are appointed, grave and deliberate injustice is done to our Conservative friends, and even where the assessors are Conservative our friends should give their personal attention to the matter, as the assessors may be unwilling to attend to what the voter himself neglects. It is of often Grit policy to use Conservative township officers by supporting them for the purpose of preventing appeals, etc.

Mr. J. A. PROCTOR is one of those who supported Sir John A. Macdonald in 1878, but who are at present opposing him. Mr. Proctor gives the following among his reasons for refusing to follow the Premier's lead any longer:

"What I voted for and what was promised in 1878 was a readjustment and not an increase of the tariff, yet today we find taxes unnecessarily increased heavy duties being placed on articles we cannot by any means manufacture. The duties have been raised where they might have been reduced, and all this that the Finance Minister may wring out of the people four million more dollars than he needs. I consider him just as great a blunderer as the financier who takes too little, and even to a greater degree. The coal tax is wrong, and instead of being a part of our design in 1878 is opposed to it. Sir John, when he was returned to power snapped his fingers at the projectors and supporters of a Free Trade Policy, and called around him the old Tory Faciis Scandal squad, who have since done as they pleased. I disapprove also of the contract with the Syndicate, and regret to see our great North-west, just when its value is becoming apparent, given over to the Syndicate. I do not like the way the Government has acted towards Ontario, which has been unjustly dealt with in the matter of the Boundary Award. Neither does it strike me as a proper thing to have disallowed the Steam Bill when that was a Provincial affair and within the jurisdiction of Ontario. The Dominion Government had no right to deal with it. Another reason why I became an opponent of the present Government was because of their unfair treatment of Lieutenant-Governor Leitcher shortly after they assumed office. They used a compliant majority from Ontario to cater to a clique in Quebec.

"On the Hip."

This rather elegant expression, used popularly to indicate that certain things in which one person holds another or securely by some circumstance, word or act, finds literal exemplification in the following narrative by the Mr. John Rourke, of Ottawa, Canada. Mr. Rourke says: I have been subject to hip disease for 8 or 9 nine years, and have tried all kinds of remedies, but found nothing to give me any relief until a friend advised me to try St. Jacobs Oil. I tried it, and after using 14 bottles I am entirely relieved of pain, and have not been troubled since, now nearly six months. This is what people would call getting his disease "on the hip."

ENLIGHTENING HIS DARKNESS.

A correspondent in the junior Tory organ (presumably Mr. W. T. Whitley,) writes as follows for information to the well-informed (?) editor of that pillar of public opinion:

Sir,—I notice that Mr. D. McGillicuddy styles himself in his report of the Brussels railway meeting, one of the Goderich "delegates." Can you inform me from whom he received his credentials as such?

Yours truly, GODERICHER.

And the erudite editor of the junior Tory organ, with the gravity of an owl and the innocence of a bantling, proceeds to enlighten the darkened mind of said correspondent after the following fashion, and by so doing shows how little he knows of public affairs in and around Goderich:

[Mr. McGillicuddy and Mr. Mitchell, we believe, attended the meeting in the interest of their respective papers. They were not "delegates" as we take you to understand the term. The Reeve of Brussels, who is chairman of the Brussels railway committee, and representatives of the three Goderich papers, and others to be present, Mayor Horton, Col. Ross, Reeve Johnston and W. W. Cameron, being on the municipal and the people's railway committee, were the official representatives from Goderich.]

When the editor penned the information for the benefit of the above correspondent, he willfully falsified the facts, or he was in dense ignorance of what he was asked to give an opinion upon.

The editor of the junior Tory organ is well known to be capable of acting in either capacity; but, supposing in all charity that he is ignorant of the real facts of the case, we will endeavor to enlighten his mind on the matter, so that he will be in a position to inform future correspondents on the subject—whether they be bogus or otherwise.

A waterworks agitation was started some months since in Goderich, and at a meeting of the Council, a committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Williams, Dancy, Hutchinson, McKenzie and Hamber, were appointed to look into the matter and report.

At a public meeting, held subsequently, the waterworks took second place to the railway agitation, and the above named committee was instructed to do service as a railway committee.

At a Council meeting held some time afterward, the railway committee was further augmented by the adding of Col. Ross and Messrs. M. G. Cameron and S. Platt. The committee was thus composed of Messrs. Williams, Dancy, Hutchinson, McKenzie, Hamber, M. G. Cameron, Platt, Col. Ross, and the Mayor—who is not a member of all committees. Mr. F. W. Johnston was not on either the municipal or people's railway committee, as the junior Tory organ would have us readers believe.

At a meeting of the railway committee to select delegates to go to the central meeting at Brussels, it was decided that, if the regular elected representatives were not present, other delegates, substitutes, should be appointed. Thus, it was that at the Brussels meeting Messrs. F. W. Johnston, R. Jordan, J. Mitchell, and D. McGillicuddy, were named to the railway delegation, and it was also decided that the following gentlemen, viz: W. W. Cameron, J. A. D. Ross, and D. McGillicuddy, should be delegates.

The junior Tory organ, however, pointed out, as our knowledge is, that Mr. Johnston was not a member of the railway committee, and that Messrs. Jordan, Mitchell and McGillicuddy, in addition to the above, Messrs. J. MacNeil and D. McGillicuddy were present at Brussels in the interest of the Star and The Signal, respectively, and he further mentions that the junior Tory organ sought an invitation to go to Brussels, but as it costs money to travel, he proposes to stay at home, and play it safe, by Mr. Johnston in the most impudent manner.

And now, without having any knowledge on the question, he has the impudence to publish an opinion totally at variance with the facts of the case.

Support the party, support the party, or support the man, it is the motto of the man who should not be trusted.

Let every young man ponder these words. They were spoken in Toronto on Saturday by the late C. E. club Secretary, MacLamell, at a meeting of Young Conservatives, and were received with applause. We would like to know if there are any young men in Goderich who will give assent to that proposition. It is an insult to the young men of the Dominion.

The majority against the Scott Act in Lambton has been gradually simmering down, and is now given officially at 84. The parties are pretty equally divided in Lambton, as the vote shows, and the question will doubtless come up again at an early day.

DR. WILD, in his sermon last Sunday evening, said that the Tory Convention was a great improvement upon a similar one held some twenty years ago. Then the delegates had blood-shot eyes, bulby noses, and looked like heavy eaters and drinkers. Isn't it rather hard on the old time pushers of the Gentlemen's Party?

THE County Council is in session this week, and the editor of the junior Tory organ created not a little amusement on Wednesday last by reproducing the speech which he delivered at Currier's hotel, after the trip of the "Josephine Kidd" during the June session. The speech bears great evidence of "spirit," and is "ardent" throughout. The junior Tory editor must have been overcome with—with—emotion, when he produced it.

THE instructions to Conservative wire-pullers is given in this issue. It is a skillfully prepared document, and we can find no great fault with it. Its advice can be taken to heart by Liberals, and acted upon on the principle that he who is forewarned is to be forearmed. Our friends who have been careless about organization will now see the necessity of instant, energetic and untiring action in the matter. If the Reform party can be thoroughly organized on a system resembling that urged upon their opponents, this Province, at least, will be ours by a large majority at the next general election.

COMMUNICATIONS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents. Contributors to this department must confine themselves to public questions, and be brief.

The Goderich Foundry Tax Exemption.

To the Editor of the SIGNAL.

DEAR SIR,—About a year ago the town Council advertised in the Toronto papers, offering a bonus and exemption from taxation for a term of years, to induce manufacturers to locate here. Some months after, Mr. Samuel Seignillier secured the property and plant of the defunct Goderich Foundry Co., and began the manufacture of the now well-known and famed Seignillier Chilled Iron, under a patent of his own. From the demand so rapidly increasing for this patent iron, there is no doubt but facilities for manufacture must soon be greatly increased and premises enlarged, and thus we may have at last in town an important and growing interest of that class so eagerly sought after at all points. Mr. Seignillier has employed from 30 to 35 hands in his works since he opened and at present he has about 20. Had he applied for a bonus and exemption from taxes for ten years when he commenced, I have no doubt but both would have been granted. At the last meeting of Council he applied for exemption from taxes, and in return had his taxes remitted only for the present year, and even this four councillors opposed. Perhaps these gentlemen are not aware that approaches have been made to Mr. Seignillier to move his works elsewhere. I have conversed with one gentleman who came to town within the past month for the purpose of getting Mr. S. to leave here for a more central point, "as he himself expressed it."

Y. M. C. ASSOCIATION.

A Special Meeting of the Y. M. C. Association was held on Wednesday, Dec. 8th, at the Hotel.

The Toronto Tribune says that there were forty present at Saturday of the meeting of the Y. M. C. Association in Goderich. The Y. M. C. Association of Goderich, of whom about two were half-hearted, Mr. J. E. Worrell occupied the chair, and Mr. John Dougherty acted as secretary. A communication and by-laws were discussed. Mr. John A. Macdonnell was in the room, referring in the plainest expression of allegiance to British connection. Mr. Levey noted that "the principles of Liberal Conservatism" be substituted for "the principles of the Liberal Conservative party," as contained in the proposed pledge. He said that the party might as well be wrong, but most of the party were of opinion that under the leadership of Sir John A. such was impossible. Mr. Macdonnell said the party should be stuck to, whether in power or out, and whether it was right or wrong. The more the party was wrong the more it should be stuck to. Mr. Levey pressed his motion, which was lost, only five for it. All the hall-herds voted against it. One of the young men said it would be hypocritical to insert anything about British connection, as Sir John A. had said he would prefer annexation to independence. The constitution was adopted. A motion to adjourn the election of officers for a fall meeting was lost. A second one to elect the officers was a tie, when the chairman decided that it was lost. Nominations were then made for an election at a future meeting.

HURON COUNTY COUNCIL.

Finishing up the Business of 1881.

FIRST DAY.

Goderich, Dec. 6th, 1881.

The Council met at 3 p. m. pursuant to adjournment.

Present—The Warden in the chair, Councillors Webster, Griffin, Eason, Childley, Sheppard, Young, Allan, Hardy, Johnston, Campbell, Hutchinson, Elliott, Whiteley, Strachan, Hialop, Buchanan, Rennie, Cook, Weir, McMillan, Mason, Hays, Evans, Forsyth, Miller, Wilson, Beattie, Graham, Castle, Housh, Katz, Walker, Hannah, Black, Hoanng, Ray, Shier, Taylor, Girvin, Gaunt, Bell, Meyers, Gibson.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to state since last meeting of the Council the improvements and repairs, ordered by you to the Court House, have been carried out. The Court House has been reinspected throughout, and the repairs to the Court room have very materially increased the acoustic properties of the room of the new Maitland Bridge. I regret to state, has not even commenced, so far as I now, not to speak of being completed—notwithstanding our repeated efforts to get the contractor to finish it before the winter would set in, the standing excuse of said contractor being that the iron had not yet arrived from Europe. Mr. Jamieson also neglected to erect the supports for the bridge, which he promised to do as soon as we provided the lumber, which we had on the ground in the middle of August. He sent a Mr. Waterman up to frame the timber for the falsework on the 20th of August, but from that day to this he did not furnish him with any bolts to raise the supports for the bridge, and kept Mr. Waterman here doing nothing for at least two weeks. On the 22nd of September Mr. Jamieson ordered Mr. Waterman to go to Freeport in the County of Waterloo to erect the falsework to an iron bridge he was erecting there, without giving any reason in explanation for abandoning the erection of the supports to the iron bridge. We remonstrated with Mr. Jamieson on his conduct, when he replied that he would send Mr. Waterman back as soon as he erected two spans of the falsework to the Freeport bridge. We waited from that time to the 14th of Oct., expecting Mr. Waterman to put in an appearance, and he did not arrive, and the season was getting far advanced, I called my committee together to consult with what course to pursue under the circumstances, and advised Mr. Jamieson of the meeting. He replied that they were delayed for three weeks by the fire destroying their blacksmith shops, but he was to send Mr. Waterman up at once to support the bridge. The committee received the opinion that unless immediate action was taken we would have no bridge this winter, and with the view of expediting matters, Mr. Girvin and I were instructed to proceed to Hamilton, and make a personal observation of what preparations had been made for the erection of the bridge, and to advise Mr. Jamieson, if we found that he had neglected to do so, that we would call upon him to do so, and that Mr. Gibson would be here on the following Monday, but it was a false promise, as usual. We then came to the conclusion that Mr. Jamieson was only trifling with us, and did not appear to have any intention of proceeding with the work. We then obtained our original opinion on the matter, and notified Mr. Jamieson on the 4th Nov., that from his neglect and delay it was impossible at this late season of the year either to erect the stone spans of a suitable iron bridge across the river, and that we would hold the contractor responsible for all legitimate damages caused by their delay. From that time to this Mr. Girvin, with the consent of Mr. Hardy, has acted as one to secure the safety of the travelling public, by erecting falsework under the bridge, and renewing the floor, which has rendered it perfectly safe, so long as the ice does not remove the props. The failure of Mr. Jamieson in carrying out his contract has interfered with the contract for the stone work, and also with taking down the old bridge. The material for raising the pier was all on the ground, and the contractor ready to proceed as soon as he received instructions to do so. The papers in connection with these matters will be laid before you for you to decide what action to take in the premises. I may also state that Mr. Jamieson instructed on Nov. 21st, that it would be well for the commissioners to come down and inspect and test the iron, but upon consultation with me they decided to postpone the inspection until they ascertained what action the Council would take in the premises.

The opinion of Mr. J. T. Garrow, in reference to the nonfulfillment of Maitland Bridge contract was read and referred to the Road and Bridge committee, together with the following documents: Copy of letter sent to contractor re Maitland Bridge; opinion of Mr. Garrow as to the liability, etc., of County Council in reference to bridges across rivers forming the boundary between two municipalities.

A communication from the County Council of Peel, in reference to Legis-

THE Coming Elections.

In an address to the young Liberals of Kingston, Sir Richard Cartwright alluded to the probability of the general elections taking place at an early date, in which connection he very aptly said that Sir John's actions should always receive more attention than his words.

CANADIAN NEWS.

Four hundred feet of agricultural fair sheds and an old brick school were destroyed by incendiaries at Cobourg on Sunday.

On the 31st inst., the total liabilities of banks doing business in the Dominion was $137,199,606.51, and the total assets $211,551,265.31.

Several sermons were preached last Sabbath, in Toronto, on the social question. One of the afternoon papers suggests that the crusading clergy try the plan of prayer meetings in the houses once a week. Two women were sent to the Mercer for six months to-day on the charge of street walking. These women are leaving the city in droves, but hundreds of them have secured private lodgings.

It is reported that considerable excitement was caused in Prescott on Saturday evening over the seizure of saturated coal oil. Custom Officers Goals and Belamy, who had seven persons summoned for purchasing the oil, were burned in effigy. The real smugglers have not it is alleged, been prosecuted against, and this is what impeded the population. The Department will doubtless make inquiries into the matter.

When the London, Huron and Bruce train was nearing Wingham station, on the evening of the 2d inst., some miscreant threw an immense stone through the car window, striking a lady in the face and cutting her terribly. She had been very ill, and was being taken home to Kincairdine by her friends. Dr. McDonald attended her injuries here, and thinks they are very serious. Her friends took her home on the late train. The second, who threw the stone, has not yet been captured.

The Kincardine Reporter gives the following application of Mrs. Hayden of Brussels, for the position of Mathematical teacher in the High School north: "I see by the Globe that you want a mathematical master for your High School. I have seen men answer to this title, who talk accurately, think obtusely, reason in a circle, confuse their pupils, and darken counsel by words without knowledge. I suppose such a master would not suit you. But if you want a thorough, efficient teacher, who has mastered the difficulties of these sciences, and who can assist others in mastering them, I think I may apply."

THE WORLD OVER.

A Dublin correspondent says the conspiracy against the payment of rent is extending, intimidating, boycotting and threats are prevalent throughout a large area of territory.

One day last week the skeleton of a man was found in a swamp on the farm of Mr. Cullen, third concession of Tyndalnoe. The remains were covered with remnants of clothes, which crumpled to the touch. It is supposed they had lain where found for about twenty years.

The manufacturing department of the lessees of the state penitentiary at Nashville, Tenn., was burned on Monday with a large amount of goods; loss $200,000 to $250,000. Six convicts escaped, though hundreds could have gained liberty. Many excited themselves to save property.

A silver star marks the spot on the floor of the Baltimore and Potomac railway station where President Garfield fell when shot. A beautifully carved marble tablet was placed on the wall above it on Wednesday. An article, leading in its conclusions and hints, summons the stone, on which is inscribed: "James Abram Garfield, President of the United States, shot July 2, 1881."

A Zanzibar dispatch says that on the 26th inst. Capt. Bowering, of the British naval war London, with ten men, in a steam pinnace, attempted to capture a dhows flying the French colors, and loaded with slaves. The Arab crew resisted fiercely, and Bowering, as usual, the stoker and a supernumerary were killed, one man severely and two slightly wounded. The dhows escaped.

A valiant old Scotchman named Angus McMillan, of Avon, who would not deposit his money in a bank for fear of losing it, has been rewarded, by having one hundred dollars in ten dollar bills, which he kept hid under an old chest, chanced upon by the police. He, however, came in to one of the banks to see if they could not patch up, and redeem some of the hoard, but, extending three or four, are beyond all hope of redemption.

The family of the late Earl Crawford will alter a general for the detection of the thief only, and nothing will be said for the recovery of the remains, so that it is an unprofitable job. The Dumfries neighborhood is full of strange superstition. The late Earl was devoted to astrology and the occult sciences, and the country people fully expected that his body would disappear in some unaccountable way. The ship which brought the body to Scotland was wrecked, then the house was snowed up, and, on the day of the funeral, a terrific storm prevailed.

Henry White, sentenced to thirty-nine years imprisonment for robbing a stage in New Mexico, was brought to Detroit on Nov. 5, by United States Marshal Wilcox. On a train near Pokagon, White picked the lock of his handcuffs which with a toothpick had attacked Wilcox was knocked down. Seventeen men in the car left the officer to struggle alone. White seized Wilcox's revolver and tried to shoot him. Mrs. Smithson, wife of a Denver engineer, the only woman in the car, sprang upon the seat behind him and caught the convict's arm. The men in the car then came to the officer's assistance and White was again secured. Mrs. Smithson declined a reward, but Marshal Wilcox will send her $500. White is a notorious stage robber.

CHAPTER XXVI. THE PACKAGES RETURNED.

As Joan turned the corner of a lane leading to the high road, she found herself awkwardly trying to pass a man who confronted her—a fine young fellow far too elegant and well-dressed to be a Rigganite.

He glanced down at the package and then up at her, irritated and embarrassed. "You have brought it back to me," he said. "May I ask what it is?"

"I've allus thout as th' newspaper wur enow for a mon to tackle," he would say reflectively; "but theer's summat outside o' th' newspapers. I niver seed a paper as had owt in it about de sert islands, let alone cannibles."

Impatient for the word of command, Nib stirred uneasily among the dead leaves, and the men heard him. Not a moment's space was given to the two listeners, or they would have saved themselves.

The Poet's Corner.

The Editor's Dream.

The editor sits in his wooden armchair. The light in his sanctum burns low: His visage is sad and deep-furrowed with care. His cheeks have a feverish glow.

His pen idly held in his still, nervous hand. The sheet on his desk clean and white. His wandering senses he cannot command. He has written nothing to-night.

Again in the instant his pen-point is fed. He seizes the sheet once again; He strokes and he scratches his poor, weary head;

His efforts, alas! are in vain. His head glances to nod, and his eyes slowly close. He heard now his double-bass snore; In sweet sleep are ended his fierce mental throes.

But hark! there's a knock at the door. The door brakiy opens, a stranger steps in. A manuscript roll in his hand; His face wears a smirk, a self-satisfied grin. His manner is affable, bland.

"Beg pardon," he says—then a hem and a cough; The roll in his hand he unwraps. "A trifle," he says, "sir, I just have dashed off. 'Till help, sir, to fill up, perhaps."

The door opens again; 'tis an agent this time. "I came you this fine book to show: Just look at the binding! say, isn't it prime? You'll give me your name, sir, I know."

Another slips in—a caller well known! His eye o'er the sanctum floor ranges. Where papers, like leaves in the wood, are thick strewn;

'Tis the fend—he's in search of exchanges! And now comes a woman, arrayed in deep black. An angular, sharp-featured dame; She asks "a donation for dear Parson Slack; How much shall I put 'gainst your name?"

And scarce has she gone when the musical voice Of the pedler, bright Italy's son, Cries, "Stick-us for five cent, you takes um you choice, Or one penny, signor, for one."

Next comes Reverend Jenkins, who wants a free purr. He's followed by Pat with a stick; "That fur did ye print that big lie on McDuff? Ye'll take it back, surr, mighty quick!"

A grave-looking person, with face a yard long. And a story as long as his face, Wants money for missions in Spain or Hong Kong; Or some other far-away place.

Another loud knock! 'tis humanity's friend— That seedy and time-honored bore. Who knows how the whole social structure to mend. And prates of the down-trodden poor.

An Unpleasant Experience.

While returning from Dakota a few days ago Mr. Charles Davis, of Lead-bury, the well known drover, had a somewhat unpleasant and costly experience. When leaving Chicago a stranger entered the car and took a seat beside him. A short time afterwards another stranger came straggling through the car and seemed to be the worse of liquor.

He accented the first man by saying that he owed him six dollars and demanded immediate payment. This man acknowledged the debt and taking some bills from his pocket asked Mr. Davis if he could change a ten. Mr. Davis replied that he thought he could and the stranger handed him his bill. Mr. Davis took his pocket book out and laid it down on the seat in front of him, and took from it the small bills and handed them to the man. Just as he was in the act of laying down the ten dollar bill that he had got, in the pocket book from whence he had taken the small bills, the second man, who was standing in the passage beside him, snatched the pocket book and the money. Mr. Davis grabbed his man by the hands when he noticed that he had the pocket book in the one hand and a revolver in the other. The man for whom the change was made, jumped up, snatched the revolver and the pocket book from the other man's hands and rushed out of the door of the car and jumped off. Mr. Davis then let go his man to pursue the other when they both escaped. There were three others of the gang on board, who, under the pretense of pursuing the robbers also escaped from the car. The train was in motion at the time but was going very slow so the parties could easily jump off, and in the midst of the confusion they escaped, and their course after leaving the car was unobserved. The passengers were so much taken by surprise as well as frightened that none of them thought of rendering assistance until the whole thing was over, which occurred in much less time than it takes to tell it. The pocket book contained $160. The ten-dollar bill which Mr. Davis received from the man fell upon the floor during the scuffle and he got it afterwards. What made him less suspicious was that the man who asked for the change had travelled in the same car with him from St. Paul, and had a through ticket to New York, and while he seemed to be a very agreeable travelling companion did not try to force acquaintance. The train by which they travelled stopped at Chicago several hours. During the delay Mr. Davis had some business to transact in the city, and in one place where he had occasion to pay out money he now remembers having noticed his fellow traveller in the same store, and he then no doubt saw the money and had the job fixed up. As soon as the robbery was committed, Mr. Davis had the train stopped, and the conductor telegraphed back to the Chief of Police of the city a description of the men, but he has not heard any more of them or the money since, and it is not likely that he will. On the same train between St. Paul and Chicago several other passengers had their pockets picked and small sums of money taken, and it is every way likely that the same parties took the money in both instances. Mr. Davis says he won't be caught in a similar trap twice, and the next stranger who asks him to change money will be likely to receive a cool reception. —Expositor.

Words of Wisdom.

Pride is like the beautiful acacia that lifts its head proudly above its neighboring plants, forgetting that it, too, like them, has its root in the dirt. Learn to say "No" with decision, "Yes" with caution—"No" with decision whenever it meets a temptation; "Yes" with caution whenever it implies a promise.

An elevated purpose is a good and ennobling thing, but we cannot begin at the top of it. We must work up to it by the often difficult path of duty—of daily duty always very carefully performed. It's sustained by abundant facts that the greatest events of history, the vital incidents of the world's progress, have often after turmoil resulted in the word, the deed, the determination of a moment.

It requires but very few words from unbelieving lips to consign verbally to oblivion a great truth, a great body, a great system, a great man. But to sweep out of being the work which these have done in the world—that is a different affair.

The storms of this world may sweep over us, and we may suffer the wreck of all our earthly hopes and possessions, but they cannot take from us what should be dearer to our souls than all perishable treasures—a calm, serene, immovable, rejoicing trust in heaven.

An Opportune Lesson.

Dr. A. Smith, of Mexico, N.Y., a gentleman who enjoys excellent health at the age of 81, and who is about to visit San Francisco, called upon us to mention his experience with tobacco, to the use of which he was formerly addicted as a matter of defence, all his companions being smokers or chewers. He used the most expensive Havana and Caracas cigars, which on examination he found to be highly charged with nicotine, and his health failed. Upon investigating the cause of his general debility he found it to be, not old age as he had fancied at 65, but tobacco; and when he gave up that he grew young and vigorous again, and he still enjoys excellent health. He has induced many, by the recital of his experience, to give up smoking or chewing, or both; and we hope this publication of that experience will have the effect of inducing a great many more to give up what sense, reason, experience, science and the Christian principle of doing all to the glory of God alike condemn.

Newspaper Laws.

We call the special attention of postmasters and subscribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws: 1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning a paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued, he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post-office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a newspaper and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncollected for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud. No article ever attained such unbounded popularity in so short a time as Burdock Blood Bitters, and that too during the existence of countless numbers of widely advertised bitters and blood purifiers. It is evident that this medicine begins its work at once, and leaves no desirable effect untraced.

A General Stampede. Never was there such a rush for Drug Stores as is now at ours for a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons afflicted with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at your drug store.

When leaving Chicago a stranger entered the car and took a seat beside him. A short time afterwards another stranger came straggling through the car and seemed to be the worse of liquor. He accented the first man by saying that he owed him six dollars and demanded immediate payment. This man acknowledged the debt and taking some bills from his pocket asked Mr. Davis if he could change a ten. Mr. Davis replied that he thought he could and the stranger handed him his bill. Mr. Davis took his pocket book out and laid it down on the seat in front of him, and took from it the small bills and handed them to the man. Just as he was in the act of laying down the ten dollar bill that he had got, in the pocket book from whence he had taken the small bills, the second man, who was standing in the passage beside him, snatched the pocket book and the money. Mr. Davis grabbed his man by the hands when he noticed that he had the pocket book in the one hand and a revolver in the other. The man for whom the change was made, jumped up, snatched the revolver and the pocket book from the other man's hands and rushed out of the door of the car and jumped off. Mr. Davis then let go his man to pursue the other when they both escaped. There were three others of the gang on board, who, under the pretense of pursuing the robbers also escaped from the car. The train was in motion at the time but was going very slow so the parties could easily jump off, and in the midst of the confusion they escaped, and their course after leaving the car was unobserved. The passengers were so much taken by surprise as well as frightened that none of them thought of rendering assistance until the whole thing was over, which occurred in much less time than it takes to tell it. The pocket book contained $160. The ten-dollar bill which Mr. Davis received from the man fell upon the floor during the scuffle and he got it afterwards. What made him less suspicious was that the man who asked for the change had travelled in the same car with him from St. Paul, and had a through ticket to New York, and while he seemed to be a very agreeable travelling companion did not try to force acquaintance. The train by which they travelled stopped at Chicago several hours. During the delay Mr. Davis had some business to transact in the city, and in one place where he had occasion to pay out money he now remembers having noticed his fellow traveller in the same store, and he then no doubt saw the money and had the job fixed up. As soon as the robbery was committed, Mr. Davis had the train stopped, and the conductor telegraphed back to the Chief of Police of the city a description of the men, but he has not heard any more of them or the money since, and it is not likely that he will. On the same train between St. Paul and Chicago several other passengers had their pockets picked and small sums of money taken, and it is every way likely that the same parties took the money in both instances. Mr. Davis says he won't be caught in a similar trap twice, and the next stranger who asks him to change money will be likely to receive a cool reception. —Expositor.

Words of Wisdom. Pride is like the beautiful acacia that lifts its head proudly above its neighboring plants, forgetting that it, too, like them, has its root in the dirt. Learn to say "No" with decision, "Yes" with caution—"No" with decision whenever it meets a temptation; "Yes" with caution whenever it implies a promise. An elevated purpose is a good and ennobling thing, but we cannot begin at the top of it. We must work up to it by the often difficult path of duty—of daily duty always very carefully performed. It's sustained by abundant facts that the greatest events of history, the vital incidents of the world's progress, have often after turmoil resulted in the word, the deed, the determination of a moment. It requires but very few words from unbelieving lips to consign verbally to oblivion a great truth, a great body, a great system, a great man. But to sweep out of being the work which these have done in the world—that is a different affair. The storms of this world may sweep over us, and we may suffer the wreck of all our earthly hopes and possessions, but they cannot take from us what should be dearer to our souls than all perishable treasures—a calm, serene, immovable, rejoicing trust in heaven.
