The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

AMONG our earliest recollections of Public Meeting attractions and successes are associated fine, hearty, and soul-stirring Temperance song, with its fascinating influence on the congregation's mind and heart.

Many of the melodies first used in our campaigning prematurely passed from serviceable use, and veteran standard bearers often enquired for the grand old songs which gave them inspiration in days and conflicts never to be forgotten.

We have sought out those STIRRING SONGS and, with many MATCHLESS GEMS of modern production, herein publish them, in hope that they will hasten the desired day of Universal Prohibition and Piety.

While this book claims to be Peerless for use in Public and Social Meetings, and the Home Circle, it will also be found a valuable auxiliary in Sunday Schools and other kindred institutions for the educating, protecting and saving of our hopeful youth.

Contributions, in Words and Music, have been secured for this book from some of the most talented and popular composers, whose names are fragrant the wide world over; and, while we sincerely thank them, we also pray for God's blessing upon their beautiful productions, that solace may be carried to thousands of hearts that now ache and bleed because of sorrow and sin, chiefly drink-caused.

Thanking God that a better day is coming, we send forth this little song-messenger to accelerate its dawning.

 Thy weary head upon this breast,

 Beware the awful avalanche."
 This was the peasant's last good night.
 A voice replied far up the height—

Excelsior!

A traveller, by the faithful hound,
 Half buried in the snow was found,
 Still grasping in his hand of ice,
 That banner with the strange device,

Excelsior!

There in the twilight cold and gray,
 Lifeless, but beautiful he lay,
 And from the sky serene and fair,
 A voice fell like a falling star—

LOVE AT HOME.

1. There is beau-ty all a-round, When there's love at home ; There is joy in ev-'ry sound, When there's love at home.
 2. In the cot-tage there is joy, When there's love at home ; Hate and en-vy ne'er an-oy, When there's love at home.
 3. Kind-ly heav-en smiles a-bove, When there's love at home ; All the earth is filled with love, When there's love at home.

Peace and plen-ty here abide, Smil-ing sweet on ev-'ry side. Time doth softly, sweetly glide, When there's love at home.
 Ro-ses blos-som 'neath our feet, All the earth's a garden sweet, Making life a bliss complete, When there's love at home.
 Sweet-er sings the brook-let by, Brighter beams the a-zure sky ; Oh ! there's One who smiles on high, When there's love at home.

Love at home, Love at home ; Time doth soft-ly, sweet-ly glide, When there's love at home.

2. "Ale's a foe—fills with woe
 Many a lowly cot;
 Those who love it do not know
 Our most happy lot."
 As she sang still her song,
 Soon she reached a rill,
 Kneeled the daisied grass among,
 There her jug to fill.—O, water, &c.

3 Near the stream a care-worn man
 Had laid him down to rest;
 Many a weary sigh ascended
 From his aching breast
 He to vile drunkenness
 Was a wretched slave,
 Well he knew his course must lead
 To ruin and the grave.—O, water, &c.

4. And he heard every word,
 Sung so sweetly still,
 As she tarried for the pitcher
 At the sparkling rill.
 Then he said to the maid,
 Singing in her glee,
 "O that water, precious water
 Had sufficed for me!"—O, water, &c.

mourn-ing one blend-ed her tone—"Wan-der-er, wan-der-er, come to thy home."

Hark! 'tis her husband's voice rings in her ear!
See how the up-turn'd eye melts with the tear!
"Wife of my bosom! see, here I am come,
Come, like a wanderer, back to my home."

Brightly the drunkard's home shines in the ray
Sweetly the drunkard's wife smileth to-day;
Drunkard no longer, her husband is come.
Happiness, happiness brightens their home.

JOY AND LOVE.

Joy and love onward move
In our social band,
And like two guardian angels bless
Our progress through the land,
Wine shall not inflame our blood
Nor brandy fire our brain,
Yet we have blithe and merry hearts
And love the joyous strain.

Cheer away, cheer away,
Join the choral glee,
I'll sing for you, I'll play for you,
A Temperance Melody.

Fathers laugh, mothers quaff
Right good cups of tea,
Their children too are joined with them,
Long may they happy be:
Scenes like these are truly good,
Wherever they are found:
May Britain's towns and villages
All, all with such abound.—Chorus.

Ladies kind, you will find,
Well we wish to you,
The Temperance men have hearts to feel,
Which beat both warm and true.

'Tis for you we undertake
Blessings to provide,
You'll think of us when your good men
Are singing by your side.—Chorus.

Blithely all hear our call,
Join our ranks to-day;
Much will gain and nothing lose,
By casting drink away.
Children yet unborn may bless
Your self-denying choice,
Through many happy years to come,
Singing with heart and voice.—Chorus.

1. I'll sing you a new Temp'rance song, made by a Temp'rance pate, Of a real staunch Tee-to - tal - er, who had a good es - tate, Who kept up his neat man-sion at a good Tee - to - tal rate, With a nice lit-tle Tee - to - tal round all new; And here at night, when toil was o'er, he'd seat him in his pride, And quaff his cup of cof-fee, with his part - ner by his side, Like a real staunch Tee - to - ta - ler, one of the pre-sent time.

3 When winter, with its frost and snow, threw darkness o'er the scene,
 He felt how happy he was then to what he once had been;
 And if he heard the orphan's cry, the cravings of the poor,
 He gave as much as he could spare—he could not well give more,
 This real staunch, &c.

4 He used to heat his weeping wife, and spend his hard-earn'd gains
 In buying whisky, ale and wine, to stupefy his brains;
 His coat was out at elbows, and his hat without a crown,—
 In short he was a common pest, the nuisance of the town,
 Before he turned Teetotaler, &c.

5 But now so happy is his home, so nicely is he dress'd,
 He ne'er ill-treats his little wife, but clasps her to his breast;
 And if a tear rise in her eye, it is for joy that he
 Has crushed the drunkard's appetite, and turned out thus to be
 A real staunch Teetotaler, &c.

6 Now surely this is better far than brandy, ale or wine,
 And if you wish for happiness, I pray you come and join;
 For I can prove that abstinence has done great things for me,
 For once I loved a little drop, but now I am, you see,
 A real staunch Teetotaler &c.

THE FAITHFUL SENTINEL.

Composed for this Book, March, 1877.

Music by J. LAWSON, Mallorytown, Ont.

1. A way from his home and the friends of his youth, He hast - ed, the her - ald of mer - cy and truth;
 2. The stran - ger's eye wept that in life's bright - est bloom, One gift - ed so high - ly should sink to the tomb;

For the love of his Lord, and to seek for the lost; Soon, a - las! was his fall, But he died at his post.
 For in ar - dour he led in the van of his host, And he fell like a sol - dier, he died at his post.

He died at his post, He died at his post; Soon, a - las! was his fall, But he died at his post.

3 He wept not himself that his warfare was done;
 The battle was fought and the victory won;
 But he whispered to those whom his heart loved the most,
 "Tell my brethren for me, that I died at my post."
 "I died at my post," &c.

4 He asked not a stone to be sculptured with verse,
 He asked not that fame should his merits rehearse;
 But he asked as a boon, when he gave up the ghost,
 That his brethren might know that he died at his post.
 He died at his post, &c.

5 Victorious his fall—for he'll rise where he fell,
 With Jesus, his Master, in glory to dwell;
 He will pass o'er the sea, he will reach the bright coast,
 For he fell like a martyr—he died at his post.
 He died at his post, &c.

6 And can we the words of our brother forget?
 Oh, no! they are fresh in our memory yet:
 An example so sacred shall never be lost,
 We will fail! in the work—we will die at our post.
 We'll die at our post, &c.

THE BRIDAL FEAST.—(Concluded.)

Oh! what a bri - dal feast! Oh! what a bri - dal feast!

4 He sleeps not alone in his early grave,—
 The fair bride sleeps with the bridegroom brave;
 She beheld his fate with many a tear,
 And her young heart broke on her husband's bier
 O! sad was their fate; but, destructive wine!
 No tongue can recount what evils are thine—
 Thou hurriest off, in their joy and their bloom,
 The maiden and youth to their early tomb.
 O! what a bridal feast!

3 A home in heaven, when our pleasures fade,
 And our wealth and fame in the dust are laid,
 And strength decays, and our health is riven,
 We are happy still with our home in heaven.

4 A home in heaven, when the faint heart bleeds,
 By the spirit's stroke for its evil deeds,
 Oh then what bliss in that heart forgiven,
 Does the hope inspire of a home in heaven.

5 Our home in heaven, oh the glorious home,
 And the spirit joined with the bride says "come,"
 Come seek his face, and your sin forgiven,
 And rejoice in his love and his home in heaven.

Chor. - Wake up, John Bull, come look around, And in the race be handy; For very fast you're losing ground, All through your beer and brandy

But John's fine qualities are spoil'd By an-tiquat-ed notions, His friends all fear he'll kill himself Thro' drinking deadly potions. D.C.

2 John takes his draughts at early morn,
 And when to bed retiring,
 He says it warms him when he's cold,
 And cools him when perspiring.
 O'er pipe and pot he wastes his time,
 Then can it be surprising,
 If from his high estate he falls,
 When others fast are rising.—Chorus.

3 Our state physicians all have tried
 To cure him of his failing,
 But all their notions are in vain,
 For still we find him ailing.
 His neighbours oft allude to him
 And his intoxication,
 But John declares they all are wrong,
 He calls it moderation.—Chorus.

4 Now we are here to tell John Bull,
 And every son and daughter,
 There's health, and wealth, and happiness,
 From drinking sparkling water.
 So if you all unite with us,
 And aid our reformation,
 We'll cure this stupid old John Bull,
 And bless the British nation.—Chorus.

 steep, I go to the desert to find my sheep, I go to the desert to find my sheep.

3 But none of the ransomed ever knew
 How deep were the waters crossed; [through,
 Nor how dark was the night that the Lord passed
 Ere He found His sheep that was lost.
 Out in the desert he heard its cry—
 Sick and helpless, and ready to die.

4 "Lord, whence are those blood drops all the way
 That mark out the mountain's track?"
 "They were shed for one who had gone astray
 Ere the Shepherd could bring him back."
 "Lord, whence are Thy hands so rent and torn?"
 "They are pierced to-night by many a thorn."

5 And all thro' the mountains, thunder-riven,
 And up from the rocky sleep,
 There rose a cry to the gate of heaven,
 "Rejoice! I have found my sheep!"
 And the angels echoed around the throne,
 "Rejoice, for the Lord brings back His own."

 Faith's bea - con light by Hope is kept bright, Their course is still on - ward thro' tem - pest and night.

3. There's many a mariner chill'd with despair,
 In his storm-driven wreck on the wild waters there;
 And in frail sinking barks they are trembling with fear,
 Till the song from the Temperance Life-boat they hear.

Cho.—With hearts strong and true, the stormy waves thro',
 We're steering our Life-boat, poor wrecked ones, to you!
 With hearts strong and true, the stormy waves thro',
 We're steering our Life-boat, poor wrecked ones, to you!

4. They are saved! and the gallant craft bounds with a will,
 O'er the great surging billows that threaten her still;
 And list! you will hear, o'er the hurricane's roar,
 That most beautiful song sounding out evermore.

Cho.—We're fearless and brave, our brothers we'll save,
 For God's at the helm as we ride on the wave!
 We're fearless and brave, our brothers we'll save,
 For God's at the helm as we ride on the wave!

Adagio.

Words and Music by JAS. LAWSON, Mallorytown, Ont., by per.

1. Come nearer to my bed, mother, Why sit you there and weep? Come sit down by my side, mo - ther, Before I go to sleep;
2. Then sit down by my side, mo - ther, And list to what I say; My voice is growing ve - ry weak, But still I want to pray;
3. Soon I must leave you, dearest mother, No more on earth to meet; But in the world of end-less bliss, We shall each other greet.

4. My bod-y in the grave may lie, And moulder with the clay, Whilst far above the star-ry sky, My spir-it soars a - way,
5. Good bye, dear mother, I must go, My Saviour bids me come; Farewell to all things here be - low, I see my heav'nly home.

Lento.

I want to talk to you a - while, (Dear mother, do not cry,) Once more I want to see you smile, I think I'm going to die.
Then, mother, kiss me a good night, And if I wake no more, You'll know I'm with the angels bright, Safe on the golden shore.
The angels now are coming, mother, I see them in the room! They're waiting round my bed, mother, To take me to my home.

To join the heav'nly hosts a - bove, With them my voice to raise, And sing of Jesus' dying love, In sweetest songs of praise.
Hark! hear you not the music: swell, In rapt'rous strains so sweet? Adieu to earth; dear friends, farewell, Till we in heav'n shall meet.

3. They are waiting for the heralds
Who in distant lands proclaim
Life eternal, free salvation,
Through a dying Saviour's name.
Waiting for a silent mourner,
For the weary and oppressed,
Who have borne their cross with patience,
And are going home to rest.—They are, &c.

4. In the sunny vales of Eden,
By the river clear and bright,
Where the tree of life is planted,
And our faith is lost in sight,
We shall join the " Church triumphant,"
Free from sorrow, toil and care ;
Every tie again united,
There will be no parting there.—They are, &c.

3. Lillie prays—the harps are hush'd in Heaven—
Angels poise them mid-way in the sky ;
Up from earth there comes a wail of sorrow,
Such a wail as must be heard on High :
“ Father dear ! my other, better Father !
Won't you hear your daughter Lillie pray ?
Won't you send some strong and careful angel
Who will help my mother on her way ?”—Chorus.

4. Morning dawns—the husband and the father,
Sober'd now, to seek his flock has come ;
Lillie dear is living, but her mother—
Hours ago, an angel bore her home :
Ah, poor man ! how bitter is his anguish,
As he now repents his punish'd sin,
Bending o'er the child, who, half unconscious,
Sadly cries, “ Please, father, let us in !”—Chorus.

4. John Littlejohn could ne'er abide
 To hear the poor man vilified,
 When told that charity best was shown
 In deeds the press would soon make known,
 That rich and poor were all imbued,
 By nature, with ingratitude,
 "Nay, nay," said John, "you make me frown,
 Your coin is spurious—nail it down!"

5. Whenever the world our eyes would blind
 With false pretences of any kind,
 With specious, vain philosophy,
 Under the guise of policy,
 With wrong dress'd up in the garb of right,
 And darkness passing itself for light,
 Let us imitate John, and say with a frown—
 "The coin is spurious—nail it down!"

2. The world may disown you, and Friends may forsake,
The night may be cheerless, but morning will break,
When burdened with sorrow, and longing for rest,
Temptation may follow, " 'Tis all for the best ;"
Oh trust Him for ever, your refuge and guide,
Remember the promise, "The Lord will provide."

3. Beho'd in the valley the lilies so fair,
'Tis not from their labor, the beauty they wear ;
If clothed by your Father, the grass that must die,
The wants of His children His hand will supply ;
Then trust Him for ever, your refuge and guide,
Remember the promise, "The Lord will provide."

 laws! All hail our tem-per-ance laws! All hail! All hail our tem-per-ance laws!

2. A drunkard wash'd from ev'ry stain!
 Deserves a loud, harmonious strain;
 Christ's precious blood has cleans'd from sin,
 The spirit's seal is stamp'd within;
 But Bacchus feels his pow'r is gone,
 And reels like lightning from his throne.—All hail, &c.

3. Our cause has been by some contemn'd,
 O'erlook'd, unknown, despis'd, condemn'd;
 Our names traduc'd, our lives abhor'd,
 We suffer with our murder'd Lord;
 But while the flames ascend still high'r,
 Our song we'll sing amidst the fire.—All hail, &c.

The Bible and The Sunday School.

Complete Edition, Paper, 50c.

" " Cloth, 75c.

Abridged Edition.—Containing

the portion of the Complete Edition suitable for Sabbath School Scholars and Teachers. Price 20c.

The leading religious newspapers and Christian workers in Canada and the United States express, in various terms, substantially the same opinion of "The Bible and the Sunday School" as that given very concisely by The Standard of Chicago: "We do not know where so much condensed thought, facts, principles, hints and suggestions in relation to the Bible, its character, methods of study, way to use it, can be found as in this volume. The book, although prepared for teachers, is equally valuable for preachers."

PROF. W. F. SHERWIN, the famous composer of Sunday School Music, and Leader of Institutes, says of "The Bible and Sunday School."

"I do not know where so much general information of a practical character, and conveying so many phrases of Sunday School work, can be had in such compact form and for so little money. It was a happy thought thus to gather up the treasures of Wycliffe's Island, and the work is done with admirable discrimination and good sense."

Such a work universally read by our Sunday School workers cannot fail to improve the Teaching power of our Sunday Schools, and to make the Bible the Text Book first and last always in our Sabbath Schools."

HUGH JOHNSON, B.D.,
Hamilton.

"I cordially commend to teachers and all connected with Sabbath School work "The Bible and Sunday School," by Rev. W. F. Crafts.
