(Regional History Room)

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol  $\rightarrow$  (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

D. B. Weldon Library
University of Western Ontario
(Regional History Room)

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\rightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

FORMATION OF THE BATTALION.

In the year 1856, but two Volunteer Companies existed in London, No. 1 Rifles commanded by Capt. Hammond, and No. 2 Highland Rifles commanded by Capt. Moffat, who for many years afterwards occupied the position of Brigade Major of No. 1 District. No. 3 Rifle Company was not organized until March, 24th 1865. It was commanded by Capt. C. F. Goodhue, who was gazetted April 20th, 1865.

The "Trent" affair had caused considerable excitement in Canada in the early period of the American war, and in no part was there exhibited more patriotism than in London. Prominent citizens commenced a drill association, and rapidly perfected themselves in the use of arms. From it sprang Nos. 1 and 2 Infantry Companies, which were organized Dec. 26th, 1862 and Jan. 23rd, 1863. The former had for its officers:—John B. Taylor, Andrew Cleghorn and George S. Burns. The latter: Hiram Chisholm, Arch. McPherson and Alex. M. Kirkland. The companies above named formed the nucleus from which the 7th or "Prince Arthur's Own," as it was first called, sprang. Early in the spring of 1866, a meeting of the officers was called in the old Drill Shed, which stood where the Collegiate Institute now stands, and at that meeting "The London Light Infantry" was organized, and Lieut.-Col. John B. Taylor, D. A. G. of the District placed in command. During the Fenian Raid of that year, one or two Companies were stationed at Windsor for over 3 months, and the whole Regiment was placed under active service at Fort Erie during the scare, at the latter point they were under the command of Major McPherson, who proved himself a very efficient commanding officer, although not coming under fire, they endured trying forced marches and much fatigue. The annual service Militia list of 1877, contains the 1st complete list of officers gazetted, which is as follows :

69. Both Regimental and Quarter-Master Stores will be inspected by the Commanding Officer at least once a year, or oftener should he see fit, when all losses will be accounted for, or charged to those losing them, or to the Companies. Inspection.

70. An account shall be kept by the Quarter-Master with the Militia Department, and another with the several Companies, Band, Buglers, Pioneers, Ambulance Detachment, Staff and Sergeants. Regimental.

71. All Issues from Quarter-Master's Store, must be on requisition of Officers Commanding Companies, countersigned by Commanding Officer, and for all "returns" a receipt must be given by Quarter-Master. Issues.

72. Each Company shall keep a Stores Book, in which the "Issues" from the Quarter-Master's Store or the "Returns" thereto entered at once, with date and particulars, in this book two accounts will be kept, one with the Regimental Store and one with the individual men. Company.

73. A page shall be given in Company's Store Book to each man, and each "Issue" made to him Individual.

must be signed for and date given when "returns" are made. The Officer, or Non-Commissioned Officer receiving must sign for them in presence of the man returning them. When rifles, swords, knapsacks, haversacks, or great coats, are issued or returned, the Regimental number of each must be in their respective columns, but in case of clothing and accoutrements the figure 1 only is necessary.

Private.

74. Leggings, bushies, badges and other small stores, not provided by the Militia Department, the property of the Regiment, shall be purchased by the Non-Commissioned Officer and men, or by companies from Company funds, and will become the property of the Non-Commissioned Officer and men for Regimental purposes only, during their term of service, in event of discharge they must at once be returned to Regimental Stores.

Target Practice.

Target practice.

75. The Non-Commissioned Officers and men must be encouraged to target practice, the object being to make every man a marksman, rather than cultivate a few "crack" shots.

Matches.

76. An Annual Regimental Rifle Match will be held, at which prizes, badges and medals may be awarded, subject to the approval of the Commanding Officer. Company matches may also be held, but no decorations awarded without special authority from the Commanding Officer.

Judging distances.

77. Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers should be practiced in judging distance, and prizes given annually for those most proficient in this important part of drill.

78. At all Company or Battalion Matches, an Officer must be present in command, to see that firing is regularly carried on, and scores properly kept, and that men are carefully instructed in the use of the rifle, rifles must be examined and all ammunition taken from men before leaving the Range, squads will likewise during practice require to be under command of a responsible Non-Commissioned Officer or man who will be responsible for regularity during and after practice.

(b) At fifteen minutes to the hour they will sound the "Dress for parade." Dress.

(c) At the hour they will sound "Orderly Sergeants," Orderly Sergeants will fall in on the directing flank, under charge of the Sergeant Major who will give commands "Right Dress," "Eyes front," "shoulder arms," "— paces from No. 1," "outward turn," "quick march," the Sergeants will turn outwards and move off to their respective distances and take up their dressing with arms at "the recover," when dressed the Sergeant Major will give the command "Steady," when they will shoulder. Orderly Sergeants.
Sergt-Major

(d) Buglers will sound "fall in," when the men will smartly and quietly move on to the parade ground with shouldered arms and fall in at "the order," one and a half paces to the rear of and to the right of their Orderly Sergeants. The Band will fall in at 10 paces from the reverse flank of the leading company, in line with it, and if the parade be formed in the open air, will play during the formation. Fall in.

(e) The Sergeant Major will give the command "parade by the left, dress up," when the Orderly Dressing

- Sergeants will turn to the right dress their companies and give the command "eyes front."
- Roll call. (f) When the Companies are dressed up, the Sergeant Major will give the command "call your rolls," when the Orderly Sergeant will move to the front of their companies and call their rolls, they will then open the ranks for the inspection of the Officers.
- Officers' call. (g) Buglers will then sound the "Officers call," and the Officers will join their Companies, the Orderly Sergeants giving the companies over to the Officers commanding them, the Adjutant taking over the parade from the Sergeant Major.
- Inspection. (h) Officers will inspect Companies as laid down in the Rifle Exercises.
- Equalizing. (i) During the inspection the Sergeant Major will ascertain the strength on parade and report same to Adjutant, who will give the Sergeant Major a detail for equalization. Buglers will sound for Orderly Sergeant, who will fall in on the reverse flank, under the Sergeant Major; he will give the number of files required from their respective Companies, when they will at once report to their Officers, who will send the file required to the reverse flank, when the Sergeant Major will distribute them to the several Companies. If thought advisable to break up one Company, the weakest Company will usually be broken up; Officers posted to Companies by the Adjutant, Sergeants by the Sergeant Major.
- Proving. (j) Officers will size and prove their companies as laid down in Field Exercises.
- Markers. (k) Buglers will sound for "Markers," who will take up required distance from their companies, under the superintendence of the Adjutant and receive from him the commands "steady," "order arms."
- Marching on Markers. (l) Buglers will sound the "advance," when Officers will draw swords (unless the parade is without arms or side arms only) and move their Companies on their markers, the left Guides will dress them, the Companies being allowed to stand at ease and the Buglers be ordered to join the Band, their Companies, or go to practice, as may be required, leaving one orderly Bugler to attend the parade.

(m) The Adjutant will report to the Commanding Officer that the parade is ready, and will hand over to him. Commanding Officer's

(n) A Staff parade will be formed, before the general parade, the Band, Buglers, and Non-commissioned Officers will attend. Staff and other parade, will be formed by the Sergeant Major in a manner similar to the Regimental, and after the Rolls have been called, will be wheeled into line, and ranks opened for the inspection of the Adjutant, Orderly Officer, or Commanding Officer. Staff.

83. Parade will be dismissed from column. On the Commanding Officer calling "Fall out the Officers," at the end of a parade, they will proceed at once to him saluting with their swords as they come up and returning swords; after receiving his instructions, they will, on leaving him, salute with the hand and return to their Companies, after which the orders will be read to the Regiment, the parade will then be handed over to the Adjutant who will dismiss it by command of "To your private parades," (when Officers will march their Companies to their armories independently, or by the Command "right turn dismiss," when the men will quietly dismiss, returning to their armories at the shoulder. Officers who may be called out by the Commanding Officer during parade will salute with their swords, both approaching and leaving him, coming to the "carry" in the interval. Dismissing.

General Instructions.

84. The duties and general conduct of Officers and Non-commissioned Officers and men, are clearly set down in the "Regulation and Orders for the Militia of Canada, 1883," which, with "Otter's guide" every Officer and Non-commissioned Officer, should provide himself with. Duties and references.

85. Officers of the Battalion are directed to maintain their rank, and respect for their Corps in all particulars; endeavoring to check and put down disrespect, uncleanness, unsoldierly habits, and bearing on the part of the men, being at all times most careful to set a good example themselves, and preserving in their demeanour towards their men a quiet, moderate, yet firm tone.

N. C. O.

86. Non-commissioned Officers should be instructed that these duties apply equally to them, being reminded that they are always on duty when in uniform, and are as much responsible as the Officers, for the credit of the Corps.

Unsoldierly habits.

87. They must at once stop their men smoking in the streets, and creating unseemly noise when in uniform; wearing part uniform and plain clothes, or any other bad habits, too often indulged in by the Militia, and which bring the force into disrepute. No matter whether the delinquent belongs to the same Company or not, so long as he is of the same Battalion, he shall be told to desist, and if he does not comply, his name reported to the Commanding Officers.

Obedience.

88. Respect to superiors, and obedience of orders are just as necessary for the welfare of a Militia Corps as a Regular Regiment.

89. In Militia Regiments, where Officers and men are so often socially on the same footing in civil life, it is no doubt hard to mark the distinction of rank when in uniform, but no Canadian will feel himself lowered when called upon to pay proper respect to the Commission of Her Majesty, as represented in an Officer.

Addressing Superior Officers.

90. On any parade duty or when in uniform, whether under arms or not, all Officers addressing their seniors, whether of like or superior rank, will apply to them the title of "Sir." Non-commissioned Officers and men will reply to Officers or the Sergeant Major in like manner.

91. Non-commissioned Officers and men are required to salute all Officers in uniform, whether of their own Corps or any other. A salute to two or more Officers should only be returned by the senior. When an Officer comes into a Barrack room the first who sees him should call "attention," when all will rise and remain so while he is present, except he should order otherwise.

92. When an Officer delivers an official message or makes a report he should salute. All Officers, whether in uniform or not, salute the Commanding Officer, Field Officers of their regiment, or General Officers; Officers bowing to an acquaintance will not in any case remove their head dresses from their heads; mounted Officers, in the field or otherwise, when passing Royalty, a General (or Officer acting as such) at a trot or gallop, should rein up to a walk and salute, after passing, the original pace may be resumed; this rule should be observed to the Commanding Officer of the district. This does not apply to Staff Officers when actually carrying an order, who may keep up the pace, saluting as they pass.

Officers salutes.

93. Officers, Non-commissioned Officers and men must make themselves acquainted with the Regulations of the Militia Service and all Regimental and other Orders. Ignorance can never be entertained as an excuse of them.

Knowledge of orders.

94. No advertisement, or notice affecting the Regiment, or any portion of it, shall appear in the public press without the sanction of the Commanding Officer.

Advertisements.

95. No information concerning the Regiment shall be given to the newspapers, nor shall any letters of complaint be published, or memorials or requisitions made, without the consent of the Commanding Officer.

Giving information.

96. In case an Officer or man feels agrieved, he must bring his complaint through the proper channel of communication to the Commanding Officer, and, if then not satisfied that justice is done him, appeal can be made to the General Officer commanding the Militia through the Brigade Major of the district. Complaint must first be made to the Officer commanding the Company, and if on investigation of all concerned, that Officer cannot dispose of it, and the case is a proper one, he will lay it before the Commanding Officer.

Complaints.

97. Officers leaving the city for not more than ten days will apply to the Commanding Officer for leave of absence (leaving their addresses while absent with the Adjutant) if exceeding ten days application must be sent through the proper channel to the General Officer commanding the Militia. Officers changing their residence will notify the Adjutant of such change.

Officers leave of absence.
