CANADA MAY SHOW WAY BY LABOR CONCILIATION PRINCIPLE TO INTERNATIONAL PEACE

Earl Grey's Suggestion at Peace Banquet in New York, Citing Beneficent Results Achieved—Ambassador Bryce Lays War's Responsibility on the Press Which Tries to Please.

CARNEGIE'S REPLY TO ROOSEVELT'S OBJECTIONS

NEW YORK, April 17.—The first convention of the national arbitration and peace congress came to an end to-night after a three days' session, after two large banquets, one at the Hotel Astor, and the other at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Andrew Carnegie, president of the congress, issued a statement to-night as to the results of the meeting. Although not so designated by Mr. Carnegie, the statement constitutes a reply to some suggestions contained in the latter which President Roosevelt addressed to the congress on its opening day. He quotes these statements as "objections" and proceeds to answer them as follows: "Our peace conference has brought three objections clearly before us, and goes on: 'First: Nations cannot submit all questions to arbitration. 'Second: Justice is higher than peace. 'Third: The first principle of natural justice forbids men to be judges when they are parties to the issue. All law rests upon this through the civilized world. Nations being only aggregates of individuals, they will not reach justice in their judgments as to the same rule holds good, viz: that they, like individuals, shall not sit as judges in their own cause. What is unjust for individuals is unjust for nations. Justice is justice, unchangeable, and should hold universal sway over all men and over all nations. 'Fourth: It is not peace nor justice, but righteousness that shall exalt the nation. 'Fifth: Righteousness is simply doing what is right. What is just is always right; what is unjust, always wrong. It being the first principle of justice that we shall hold good, viz: that in their own cause to refuse to submit to judge or arbitrate, is unjust, hence not right, for the assurance of righteousness is justice. Therefore men who place justice or righteousness above peace practically proclaim, as it appears to me, that they will commit injustice and discard righteousness by constituting themselves sole judges of their own cause in violation of law. 'Sixth: Estomach de Constant announced in his address at the Waldorf-Astoria banquet that the cross of commander of the legion of honor had been conferred by the French government on Andrew Carnegie in recognition of his efforts on behalf of universal peace. 'More than 700 guests were at the tables of the banquet, presided over by Andrew Carnegie at the Hotel Astor. He announced to the speaker's rostrum to introduce Earl Grey, the governor-general of Canada, as the first speaker of the evening. He referred to him as the French government of King Edward. As the earl was making a bow in acknowledgment of the wave of applause which greeted him, there came a roll of drums and fanfare of trumpets. 'That,' said the speaker, 'sounds very much like a military note.'

Paths to Peace

EARL GREY.
Canadians have shown that they have realized that it is only barbarous and uneducated people who prefer the quarrel of the sword to the peaceful methods of arbitration by a law conciliating labor and capital.

Why should we not apply the principle to international disputes?

HON. JAMES BRYCE.

Nearly every war within the last two centuries has done more harm than good. In the last sixty years I can think of only one war that could be called necessary.

Each nation has what it thinks a good case, but each nation thinks only of its own case. Newspapers throw themselves into the fray. They embitter feeling. The value of the object at stake is exaggerated. Thus the bulk of the people are lashed into fury.

What is the motive? They want to please the public. The press is what the people make it. The blame, after all, rests with the people.

There are only three things to prevent these fever fits—to reduce the pride in armaments, to make general arbitration treaties, and to bring home to individuals a sense of responsibility.

W. J. BRYAN.

The time has come when, the lending of money to a belligerent by a neutral state should be regarded as being as objectionable as the furnishing of powder, shot and shell.

Van Home's Definition Of Railroad Legislation

NEW ORLEANS, April 17.—Sir William Van Home, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Pacific, discussing railroad legislation on his return from Guatemala, where he is building a railroad, said:

"My definition of railroad legislation is, 'tinkering with a problem which no mind or set of minds can solve.' I am operating in countries where there is no such thing as railroad legislation for which I am indeed thankful."

Next Railway Minister Not From New Brunswick

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 17.—The Globe (Liberal) announces to-night in an editorial that the next minister of railways will not be a New Brunswicker and hints at graft in the department in favor of people in this province.

TO COMMEMORATE A NOBLE CHRISTIAN LIFE

Friends of Their Excellencies Earl and Countess Grey have learned with sincere pleasure that a movement is on foot to commemorate and honor the life of a noble Christian woman (their daughter), Lady Victoria Grenfell, whose sudden and unexpected demise recently cast a spell of gloom and sadness over the government household and the Dominion as well. The late Lady Victoria Grenfell was a rare type of true daughter, wife and mother, and her many virtues will long be remembered.

With the thought of this example of the highest ideal of life in mind, a Montreal lady conceived the idea of placing in the principal hospitals in Canada children's memorial cots, each one to bear the name of the lady of whose noble life it is a slight reminder.

Notwithstanding the fact that no subscriptions have been solicited, many ladies and gentlemen in sympathy with the movement have donated amounts towards providing for these commemorative cots with the Sovereign Bank, which institution, both in and outside of the city, has been chosen to receive all such donations.

THE OPEN DOOR AT UNIVERSITY

Hon. A. G. MacKay Asks That Meetings of Governors Be Public—Premier Whitney Administrators Stern Rebuke.

At 11 o'clock in the legislature last night the university bill was brought up for third reading. A. G. MacKay moved that it be recommitted to be amended by adding to the clause by which $2,000,000 may be expended by the government on approval by lieutenant-governor in council that "all such orders in council shall be presented to the legislature for ratification."

He wished every farmer in every farthest township to take as much interest in the university as in the little red school house. If the government wanted the people interested in the university they were taking the wrong way to have them. He was not complaining of the amount, and had never complained of a figure, but if it once got into the heads of the people that the governors were handing funds behind closed doors, nothing could be worse for the university. Knowledge begets confidence and ignorance breeds suspicion. No body of men could afford to hide themselves behind closed doors and say they knew.

Premier Whitney thought if in the borders of the province a bitter enemy of the university could be found he could use no language more fitted to bring the university into disrepute. The university and its pending bills were matters of necessity under the late government. At last the situation grew so unbearable that an uprising of graduates and others resulted. It was utterly inconsistent for a lawyer of his standing to attempt to insert a clause in the bill which belonged to an entirely different system. Six hours had not elapsed since the hon. member delighted to honor had told him (Mr. Whitney) that they were utterly opposed to the proposed amendment. It was not a fair statement of the position of the university were discussed behind closed doors. The statement of the hon. member was untrue. The leader of the Liberal party in the province was a member of the board of governors.

Relief is in Sight For Western Troubles

Crow's Nest Coal Co. Directors Discuss Mine Troubles—A Settlement is Rumored

The situation in regard to the western coal difficulties and transportation troubles may soon be relieved.

G. G. S. Lindsey, general manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, which is chiefly affected, was in the city yesterday. A conference of directors was held. Mr. Lindsey would make no statement, but one of those present said he understood that a settlement had been effected in regard to the miners accepting the board of conciliation, and that the men would return to work to-day, as advised to do by President Sherman.

A Regina despatch says that officials closely in touch with the situation claim that President Sherman, by encouraging the men to resist the application of the new Conciliation Act, has placed himself liable to arrest and criminal prosecution, which the federal government is prepared to undertake should the miners refuse to accept the settlement.

The C.P.R. have loaned the C.N.R. an engine and rotary snow plow, and have instructed their Winnipeg office to strike apparently officially declared and the services of a superintendent, roadmaster and train crew to open up Prince Albert line.

Both the G.P.R. and C.P.R. at Montreal disclaim all knowledge of the alleged request of the railway commission to those companies to sid the Canadian Northern.

"It isn't locomotives we want; it's weather. This road has not asked the government to request engine loans from the other roads," said D. B. Hanna, vice-president of the C.N.R., last night.

Toronto Board of Trade Appeals to Mr. Fielding

A special meeting of the executive of the board of trade was held yesterday to consider the following telegraphed appeal from the Calgary Board of Trade:

"Calgary Board of Trade strongly urges immediate action based on conciliation in miners' disagreement. Freight traffic ceased entirely and passenger traffic stops in few days. Miners leaving work in large bodies, although strike apparently officially declared. Output practically ceased. Manufacturing plants closing. Situation most serious in history of Western Canada. Ask your co-operation to prevent demoralization of western business."

As a result of the meeting Secretary Frank Morley last night wired Hon. W. S. Fielding, acting premier, as follows:

"The industrial situation in the west is reported to us by Calgary Board of Trade as most serious in history of evening. There was no waste paper on the floor and he did not see how cigar ashes could cause fire."

CHARGE FRANCE IS PRODDING MOROCCO

TANGIER, April 17.—A menacing French naval demonstration is taking place at Mogador and the general situation is grave, owing to the resentment of the Moors over the French occupation of Oudja.

Native opinion is unanimous that France is seeking to pick a quarrel with Morocco, in order to make further annexations of territory.

In the meantime the country is swarming with "provocative agents."

The above despatch comes from the regular correspondent of the Associated Press at Tangier.

MAY HAVE BEEN A CIGAR THAT CAUSED M'GILL FIRE

Members of Faculty Were Talking and Experimenting in Building Until Midnight

MONTREAL, April 17.—(Special.)—Also the finding of the fire committee does not indicate that the loss of the medical building was caused by the but of a cigar falling from the hands of a member of the faculty, everything points to this as being the correct theory of yesterday's disastrous fire.

One thing is sure, and that is the presence of the faculty in their room at a late hour on Monday night. The statement is made that these gentlemen left the room in question about 11 o'clock, and in two hours that part of the building was in flames. It was in the faculty room where the fire started.

It was Prof. Cox who first discovered the fire. He had been doing some special work in the physics building. As he was proceeding thru the grounds he saw fire in the western wing of the middle section of the medical pile. He at first thought that the fire was on the exterior of the building, supposing that it was a heap of rubbish that was being destroyed. He went to examine and found there was fire inside.

The evidence given before Commissioner Ritchie showed that Dr. John R. Ballou had been experimenting in the medical building up to 12 o'clock Monday night. Dr. J. W. Scane, registrar, said that 14 men had met in the committee room adjoining the faculty room and had been smoking during the evening. There was no waste paper on the floor and he did not see how cigar ashes could cause fire.

Dr. Oiler, who was formerly president of the medical faculty of McGill, has sent the following message of sympathy:

"Deepest sympathy with faculty; prepare to act the phoenix with courage."

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN BY BRITISH PEOPLE

Attention Riveted in Colonial Conference—Resolution Presented for an Imperial Council.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

LONDON, April 17.—Japanese Ambassador Baron Kikuchi, at Nottingham, said that the colonial conference was discussing one of the greatest problems which had ever been before any nation, and on which not only the future of the British Empire alone, but of the world depended. If this is not an exaggeration of Japanese courtesy, there is no doubt that the coming of the colonial premiers on the occasion, apart from imperial ceremonial, has stirred the British people to the depths. The popular imagination has been struck by the meeting of Jameson and Botha and Laurier's high imperial oratory. The people seem to have completely realized the truth of the Dominion premier's words: "Daughter states worthy of your attention, waves of deepest interest in the progress of the conference has swept the country from end to end, and the press, which but few exceptions, is non-partisan in dealing with the conference. All are buoyantly hopeful that it will mark a great step towards the consolidation of the empire."

To-day before the business of the conference commenced, Lord Elgin presiding, Winston Churchill also present, a resolution was put forward by Hon. Mr. Deakin (Australia), which affirmed the desirability of establishing an imperial council, consisting of representatives of Britain and the self-governing colonies, chosen ex-officio from their existing administrations, to discuss at regular conferences matters of common imperial interest.

New Zealand's premier proposed a similar resolution.

A resolution was proposed on behalf of Cape Colony, which advocated as necessary to the organization of a scheme of imperial defence, contributions which should be equitably fixed, and provided for. It was added that as the above resolutions involved considerations of first importance, the imperial government for serious consideration on the understanding that the resolutions should not be formally moved, but regarded as a basis for discussion.

General discussion took place on a draft resolution put forward by Lord Elgin, which it was agreed should be circulated among the members for consideration at the next meeting.

A motion of regret at the death of Premier Seddon was passed.

A telegram of acknowledgement of the sympathetic resolution was received from Joseph Chamberlain. It said: "I am promised complete restoration of health and hope speedily to resume public life."

Subsequently the premiers attended dinner at Marlborough House, given by the Prince of Wales, where a number of distinguished people will be invited to meet them.

Found Poison

The analyst would say that he examined portions of the body and discovered strychnine.

It would be shown that the prisoner had visited a lady friend, a Mrs. Carter, at Walkerville, last September. She had asked Mrs. Carter where she could get some strychnine. Mrs. Carter said that she could not get it without a doctor's prescription. Prisoner asked Mrs. Carter to allow her little girl to get a doctor's prescription.

Earl Grey Tells Of Good Results

Three Times Has Strife Been Averted by Exercise of Arbitration—Rhodes Scholarship Intentions.

Earl Grey said:

"It is the realization of the truth that just a little more enthusiasm and the light of the new day of universal peace will suddenly glorify our lives, that causes this congress and the influence that radiates from it to be a matter of such high importance. It is the impulses and desires of mankind which in the future peace of the world depends."

"And let me remember that it is in the power of every single individual, no matter to what country he may belong, to intensify that store of energy which gives us the light of peace and that there comes a moment when the contribution of one more individual unit is all that is required to convert our darkness into light."

"In fair and growing Canada, that happy Dominion, which it is my delightful privilege to live, the people have shown thru the action of parliamentary representatives that they have realized that only barbarous and uneducated peoples who prefer the quarrel of the sword to peaceful methods of arbitration as a means for settling the differences that may divide them."

Canada's Example.

"They have recently enacted a law which has made it an offence for forces of labor and capital to resort to a lockout or a strike, without first having a preliminary investigation into the subject of dispute. Although the act came into force only on March 22, it has already averted on three occasions an industrial war which but for this act would have engendered feelings of angry bitterness, would

The Perfect Salad.

It must be promised that the materials must be of the best. No skill can produce a good salad from poor ingredients.

It is possible, always dress your salad on the table and with your own hands. Not an instant is to be lost. The salad is best when just from the mixing.

Suppose that you have the hearts of two average heads of lettuce, with the coarsest outside leaves removed. These delicious crisp bits should be nearly dry. They have been carefully washed by a maid with good eyes, and with a mortal hatred of those affectionate little green bugs which are prepared to cling to a leaf of lettuce until the last drop. Then the perfectly clean leaves are tenderly wrapped in a dry cloth and placed upon ice, with slant enough to drain them of their water.

Have a good, deep bowl. Many a salad has been spoiled because the mixer has not been in mortal terror of oversteering her liquids in that last mad dance of the elements, just before serving.

In your wooden saladspoon measure out about two saltspoons of salt. These "cranks" who have learned to like their salads unduly salt, do not know the difference between the expert in food—may add more to their liking while it is impossible for those of a more refined and delicate palate to extract the offending excess.

Cover the salt with a good layer of white or black pepper, with a dash of cayenne, and, perhaps, a small saltspoon of ground mustard.

In your wooden bowl, nearly full with vinegar and stir it merrily. While it is all awhirl, scatter it freely and abundantly, yet with method, over your good portion of leaves, and follow it instantly with seven or eight generous spoonfuls of oil.

Be quick—be affectionately and methodically, yet wildly, too—until every leaf is well coated with your emulsion of vinegar, and no drop of dressing is left in the bottom of your bowl.

After each serving, mix one thorough with the remainder of the dressing, and if it will ooze out of each leaf in a minute it is not strong, and is insistently compelled to stay on.

If you propose to have a nut-and-onion salad, a tomato or bean or pea or

SUICIDE IN HIGH LIFE.

Russian Woman Always in Financial Straits, Ends Life.

PARIS, April 17.—The Countess De Jotemps committed suicide by shooting with a revolver in this city yesterday.

The countess was a Russian, 27 years old and possessed of considerable means. She was married two years ago against the wishes of her parents to the Count De Jotemps. The couple were continually in financial straits, and last summer the count was arrested on a charge of paying jewels that had been sent him on approval by a Russian jeweler and was held in custody for two months.

She was a woman of high life, and her husband was a man of high life. She was a woman of high life, and her husband was a man of high life.

NECESSARY TO PEACE.

Extension of Suffrage to Women so Regarded.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The extension of suffrage to women is regarded by Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the National American Women Suffrage Association, as necessary to a permanent peace.

She is one of the foremost advocates of universal peace. This sentiment was expressed by Mrs. Shaw in an address to-day before a large number of the women peace organizations, held in conjunction with the national peace conference. Other speakers were Mrs. H. Hastings, Mrs. C. Chapman, and others.

A meeting of the executive committee of the national council of the Young Women's Christian Association of Canada was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Senator Ross, at the Dominion House, Montreal. Mrs. Robert Kilgour, president, presided. A large number of the members were present. The regular business was transacted. Mrs. H. G. Barrie gave a very helpful address on service. The reports presented showed that the work of the Young Women's Christian Association throughout the Dominion is advancing with marked progress. Winnipeg is this spring erecting a building at a cost of about $75,000. Hamilton and Stratford are engaged in building campaigns, and there are many calls for aid in different centres.

The report given by the treasurer, Mrs. C. R. Jones, showed that the Tokio dormitory fund showed that $4000 has been sent from Canada up to this time. The treasurer also reported that the balance of the balance of the Toronto for one boarding home for women students in Tokio may be completed very soon.

Her sister, Mrs. Jack Wilson, who was matron of honor, wore a smart tailored suit of cream Panama cloth, white hat wreathed with daisies and carried a shower bouquet of daisies.

I give you the privilege of using the same in any manner that will be of any benefit to you or the public, and hope that there will be many others sent to you to show the nation south of us that Canada not only holds one beautiful woman but many.

Buchanan's Wife

The Story of a Woman Who Dared to Dress to Herself the Love and Happiness That Were Denied Her by Cruel Circumstances.

By Ennet Miles Forman and Published by Permission of Harper & Bros., New York and London.

It seemed to Faring that there was an unnecessary earnestness in her tone—something almost morbid—but he reflected that she had been for a long time alone—brooding, brooding, brooding, and he thought further of what bitterness her former marriage had brought upon her. It was not a tremble a bit, but as soon as he could he turned the talk to something else, and presently the vague trouble went out of her eyes and the color came flooding back to her cheeks.

"I have a surprise for you," she said. "You'll like it. It's a pet plan of mine, and I'm very fond of it. Do you remember that little cottage with the very beautiful garden—Buchanan Lodge? It is a part of the estate, but it has always been to let, and at least in the spring and summer time. You know I've half a mile in from the high road at the end of its own lane, and it has a few acres of ground and a very stream and that gorgeous old garden. The whole thing is quite out of sight of the Lodge behind the ridge of hills. Do you remember it?"

"Yes," said he. "Oh, yes, I remember. A painter chap and his wife had it when I knew it last. It's a jolly place."

"Well," she said, "we're going to live there."

"In the moon, if you like," said he, laughing.

"No, in my cottage," she said. "Harry, it's all covered with ivy and wisteria and with something Latin on it that I can't read—the sundial came from Trollope and there's a pool with lilies and lotus lilies, and—oh, it's a duck of a cottage! Think of being buried there like alone by ourselves all summer long! Do you want a better honeymoon?"

"I don't," said Faring. "And I want to go to bed at once. When can we go there?"

"That's the nice part," she said, "and the shameless part. It's all ready for us—servants, everything, everything." She explained, crimson-cheeked, "I was afraid, I thought—that is—well, I thought you might insist upon marrying me immediately, as you're doing in this indecent fashion; and so I've been quietly having them get the cottage ready in case you don't."

"We'll get there to-morrow," he said. "We'll send our luggage on in the morning and motor down ourselves at five o'clock. I'll be there at five o'clock. We'll begin to laugh, and she beat him. "If you laugh at me," she said, "I shall cry. You're a brute, Harry!"

"We'll get there to-morrow," he said. "We'll send our luggage on in the morning and motor down ourselves at five o'clock. I'll be there at five o'clock. We'll begin to laugh, and she beat him. "If you laugh at me," she said, "I shall cry. You're a brute, Harry!"

MINTO HONORS THE BRAVE.

Viceroy of India Forwards Subscription to Batoche Monument Fund.

Sergt. H. E. Allen, G.A.S.F., is in receipt of a personal letter from Lord Minto, viceroy of India, accompanied with a postoffice money order for £5 towards erecting a bronze tablet for the armories for the memory of those who fell at Batoche.

Lord Minto was a D.C. to General Middleton, C.B., in the campaign, leaving after the Batoche engagement to return home with despatches.

Seven hundred dollars is required. Three hundred and fifty dollars has been collected.

"Government House, Calcutta, March 15, 1907."

"Dear Sir,—I was very glad to hear from an old comrade of 81, and that a tablet is to be put up in the armories to the memory of those who lost their lives in the Batoche campaign, and I send you a postoffice order for £5, which I hope may assist a little. With all best wishes to you and any other old '85 comrades you may meet, yours truly, Minto."

MORRISON CENTENARY.

Will Be Celebrated in Presbyterian Churches in May.

Commemoration services of the Robert Morrison centenary will be observed in all the Canadian Presbyterian Churches May 5 and 12, when special addresses will be given from each pulpit on the life and character of Robert Morrison, the first Christian missionary to China, and 100 years of missionary progress in that dark empire.

In connection with these services, an endeavor will be made to raise $10,000 for the erection of missionary institutions at Macao. The Canadian Presbyterians have a special interest in Macao, because of the fact that Robert Morrison first landed there and was finally buried there. Macao also stands in the unique position of being the youngest mission post in China, having been established barely five years.

THE HOUSE OF CLOUD AND SUN-BEAMS.

That year was famous thruout certain parts of the country for an extraordinarily early spring. By mid-April the fruit trees were white with bloom, and the flowering shrubs were making the air sweet. The month of May was a June month before its time, with roses and soft nights and blazing noontides.

"It has been arranged," said Beatrix Paring, "solely in our honor—that our honeymoon should be perfect in absolutely every way from the very beginning." She was sitting upon a mossy mat and sticking red roses in her hair with vain intent.

"Well, all of the cheek," said her husband, "you're in the cheek!" I've met! Claiming the very weather now, are you? You're a bit grasping."

"Grasp all I choose," she said, calmly. "I have no shame whatever, so you needn't call names. I'm beyond their reach. As for this weather, it is ours, and it was made for me and my husband. Only when you come back again."

"Yes," said Faring, without hesitation. "I am." And his wife laughed it.

A WONDERFUL OLD PIANO.

First String Broke at the End of Twenty-One Years.

The following letter written from Duluth, Minn., to the old firm of Heintzman & Co., 115-117 King-street west, Toronto, tells its own story:

"I have been in constant use in our family for twenty-one years, and to-day for the first time a string broke, during the process of tuning. This instrument was bought by the late John Cann Hasking of Port Arthur, Ont., at the Toronto Exhibition of 1884 or 1885 and presented to his daughter, now my wife. The tone of the piano has elicited admiration from everyone who has used it or tuned it, and, beyond being somewhat tarnished, as far as the case is concerned, is as good as ever it was. Yours truly, Oliver H. Cooper."

TRANSPORTATION OF DOGS.

The principal Canadian transportation lines recently decided not to permit dogs or other animals to be taken into sleepers, coaches and other cars in which passengers are handled.

It has been found that this practice, which has prevailed to some extent, has been objected to by the large majority of the traveling public for reasons which are sufficiently obvious. While it is recognized that it will be difficult to convince ladies and others that the dogs must go by express or in the baggage car, the transportation lines feel that they have reached a conclusion which will prove to be for the good of the service.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The national Academy of Sciences to-day elected Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins University, president.

A Woman's Health

Is a heritage too sacred to be experimented with. For her peculiar and delicate ailments only medicines of known composition and which contain no alcohol, narcotics, or other harmful or habit-forming drugs should be employed. The one medicine which fulfills all these requirements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy with a record of over forty years of cures to recommend it; a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wraper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements. It is not given away in the form of "trial bottles" to be experimented with, but is sold at a fair price by all dealers in medicines.

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilarating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system. It has been carefully adapted to woman's needs by an experienced physician—a specialist in their diseases. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

If a woman has hearting down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvic, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach; sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dress-makers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One Pellet is a gentle laxative, but never equalled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for an one-cent stamp, or cloth-bound for 50 cents. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

one looked westward across a half mile of moor upon the sea.

Beatrix Paring and her lord came under the sheltering wings of a stone bench. As they had walked they sat, the woman's shoulders upon her husband's breast, her head upon his neck, the hollow of his neck. A number of argumentative sparrows got up and left the place, jeering rudely.

Beatrix looked up from half-closed eyes upon the tranquil sea, where pearly evening lights shimmered and changed.

"A month," she said, slowly. "One little, little month. Little month is a tiny thing, isn't it? But what an immensity, what a lifetime, what a cycle it has been for you and me, highness! What other undertakings of worlds it has opened! What mountain peaks we've climbed, unafraid and unashamed! Do you remember my writing to you once that my life must henceforth be in the valleys—where the shadows were—that the peaks were not for me? Ah, weren't they, Harry? Do you remember? Do you remember? Where's the rest of the world, then, that should live about us? Is there a world? I have not seen it, nor heard it, nor given it thought. I live and breathe the world. It cannot touch us. It is great distances away. We two on our mountain peak know nothing of worlds and the little things that swarm about them. Our faces are turned to glories that they cannot see. Our hearts shake with raptures that they could not bear." She moved her head gently against his cheek.

"Harry," she said, and Faring waited for her to go on when she passed after the name. "Harry," she said again, presently, "how—dear to you has this month of ours been? What would you be willing to pay for it if you had to pay? If our happiness should end to-night, if you should by some miracle find yourself back again in that hopeless, interminable desert of waiting? Or, worse still, if, as the price of what we've had, you must suffer misery, shame, dishonor, would you still be glad to remember my writing to you once that the price too high? Tell me!"

"Dishonor!" said he, picking the one word that she knew he would pick.

"Yes," she said, steadily, "even dishonor."

IMPOSSIBLE TO STOOP OR BEND SEVERAL DOCTORS COULD DO NO GOOD.

PAIN IN BACK AND KIDNEYS.

People often say, "How are you to know when the kidneys are out of order?" The location of the kidneys, close as it is to the small of the back, which is not affected materially by other organs, renders the detection of kidney trouble a simple matter.

The note of warning comes from the back. Backache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed. Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble. The danger lies in delay. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills taken in time, often save years of suffering, and in many cases life itself.

They stimulate the action of the kidneys, enabling them to perform their duty perfectly.

Miss S. C. Fry, Egan, N.S., writes: "For the past three years I have been troubled with a very bad pain in my back and kidneys. It was so bad it was impossible for me to stoop or bend. I had several doctors attend me, but found no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured two boxes and found out about me. For the remainder of my life I don't think they have any equal for kidney troubles." Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or a dozen for $5.25 at all druggists or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE PERFECT SALAD.

It must be promised that the materials must be of the best. No skill can produce a good salad from poor ingredients.

It is possible, always dress your salad on the table and with your own hands. Not an instant is to be lost. The salad is best when just from the mixing.

Suppose that you have the hearts of two average heads of lettuce, with the coarsest outside leaves removed. These delicious crisp bits should be nearly dry. They have been carefully washed by a maid with good eyes, and with a mortal hatred of those affectionate little green bugs which are prepared to cling to a leaf of lettuce until the last drop. Then the perfectly clean leaves are tenderly wrapped in a dry cloth and placed upon ice, with slant enough to drain them of their water.

Have a good, deep bowl. Many a salad has been spoiled because the mixer has not been in mortal terror of oversteering her liquids in that last mad dance of the elements, just before serving.

In your wooden saladspoon measure out about two saltspoons of salt. These "cranks" who have learned to like their salads unduly salt, do not know the difference between the expert in food—may add more to their liking while it is impossible for those of a more refined and delicate palate to extract the offending excess.

Cover the salt with a good layer of white or black pepper, with a dash of cayenne, and, perhaps, a small saltspoon of ground mustard.

In your wooden bowl, nearly full with vinegar and stir it merrily. While it is all awhirl, scatter it freely and abundantly, yet with method, over your good portion of leaves, and follow it instantly with seven or eight generous spoonfuls of oil.

Be quick—be affectionately and methodically, yet wildly, too—until every leaf is well coated with your emulsion of vinegar, and no drop of dressing is left in the bottom of your bowl.

After each serving, mix one thorough with the remainder of the dressing, and if it will ooze out of each leaf in a minute it is not strong, and is insistently compelled to stay on.

Extension of Suffrage to Women so Regarded.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The extension of suffrage to women is regarded by Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the National American Women Suffrage Association, as necessary to a permanent peace.

She is one of the foremost advocates of universal peace. This sentiment was expressed by Mrs. Shaw in an address to-day before a large number of the women peace organizations, held in conjunction with the national peace conference. Other speakers were Mrs. H. Hastings, Mrs. C. Chapman, and others.

The reports presented showed that the work of the Young Women's Christian Association throughout the Dominion is advancing with marked progress. Winnipeg is this spring erecting a building at a cost of about $75,000. Hamilton and Stratford are engaged in building campaigns, and there are many calls for aid in different centres.

ODDFELLOWS' BOWLING LEAGUE.

First Annual Banquet Held Last Night, Nearly a Hundred Being Present, Including W. S. Johnston, Grand Master.

It was a jolly crowd that set down for the first annual banquet of the Oddfellows' Bowling League last night at Williams' Cafe, Yonge-street.

Nearly a hundred were present, including Grand Master W. S. Johnston, C. Parker, D.D.G.M., ex-Ald. Joseph Oliver, P.M.R., C. W. Robinson, D.D.G.P., Ald. S.G.M., and others.

These gentlemen, along with Mr. Mortimer, Cook of the Bowling League, were seated at the head table.

After having done justice to the inner man, the toast "the King" was loyally drunk.

Ex-Ald. Jos. Oliver next presented the prizes to the different winners, with the exception of the gold watch donated by Ald. Sam McBride for the highest average man.

After the presentation of prizes toasts were proposed to the "I.O.O.F.," "City of Toronto," "the Press," "the League," and "our Ladies."

Intermingled with speech-making were songs and readings by the following gentlemen: Eddie Pigott, George Beals, W. Hall and A. J. Jackson.

Following was the first year of existence of the Oddfellows' Bowling League, it proved a great success, and when the work was over, the prizes were distributed.

Ex-Ald. Jos. Oliver, in the course of his remarks during the presentation of prizes, remarked that next year he would donate a cup for the winning team, which would have to be won more than once before becoming the property of any team.

HOUSEKEEPERS who are wise will not be persuaded into purchasing the unreliable baking powders which some dealers wish to sell for the sake of the additional profit derived therefrom. Crudely mixed from low-grade, impure ingredients, such powders cost but half as much to make as the highly refined, absolutely pure Royal Baking Powder, although retailed at the same price. They are unwholesome and lacking in leavening strength.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER gives the greatest value for its cost, and there is no other baking powder or leavening preparation that will give such satisfaction, or make such pure, wholesome and delicious food, or which in practical use will be found so economical.

tion, but Mrs. Carter refused, saying that if prisoner wanted strychnine she get all she wanted in Detroit herself.

Prisoner said she knew that and, most significantly of all, said, in leaving: "Don't tell me anything I said about strychnine. If he knew I had any in the house it would make him arrested."

After her arrest in one of the drawers in her kitchen bureau, where she kept the knives and forks, was found a small wooden box containing strychnine. In addition to this, in one of her remaining boxes was found written the word "Pisonium." If this had been reading a book about poison.

The Motive.

Motives for the crime would be shown in an information she conceived for a man named Thomas Macdonald, with whom she had had scandalous relations during her husband's absence.

John S. Darragh of Canfield, lessee of the Perkins farm, said Henry Perkins had been hired on the farm on Dec. 23rd, seeming very ill.

Mrs. Darragh swore Perkins had said: "I can't make out what has come over me."

Mrs. Darragh said Mrs. Perkins told her that she had been talking about Thomas Macdonald. Mrs. Perkins told her he did not object to her driving out with Macdonald.

Nelson Flanders, a neighbor, said Perkins told her she was feeling pretty well. Percy Peacock, of Welland, a new witness, told of employing Perkins last fall as a carpenter. He lost time owing to ill health. Arthur Hedley, a friend of Perkins, testified to traveling with him on a train from Welland. Perkins said he was feeling better than ever.

Mr. Johnston drew the admission that for years previously Perkins had been known as a sick man.

Counsel Clash.

Mr. Johnston gave witness a warm time, and when Mr. Arnold, C. C. came to his rescue, an exciting scene ensued. Mr. Johnston accused Mr. Arnold of making a statement which was absolutely untrue. Both counsel addressed the judge together.

"I don't propose to be bullied out of my rights," said Mr. Arnold.

"My learned friend is an adept at using expressions of this kind, and I don't propose to permit him here," His lordship said to Mr. Johnston.

C. C. Hall, who worked with Perkins for several months, said that Perkins once complained of his stomach hurting while they were working together.

Joel Smith had also worked with Perkins on several jobs in 1905 and 1906. He had never had to leave work because of illness.

Mrs. Spencer of Welland said Perkins boarded at her home for two months prior to his death. He did not complain of illness. Mrs. Perkins visited him, and she overheard Perkins say he had a good mind to go home with her, and Mrs. Perkins replied that she did not want to have him at home.

William Spencer had heard Perkins say to Mrs. Perkins that he would get a home in Welland for her, and Mrs.

LEGISLATURE ENDING

Big List of Business Yesterday at Queen's Park—To-Day Sees the Conclusion.

This afternoon the business of the Ontario legislature will be concluded for the present session. A heavy day's work was done yesterday in clearing the order paper of all non-contentious and several contentious motions. Two divisions were taken as stated elsewhere, both on party lines. There are still half a dozen divisions to be debated. The three-fifths clause is to be debated, and should Mr. Cameron bring up his law reform resolution, some discussion may follow. There are also two motions in supply to be contested. The following bills were read a third time:

To amend the judicial district of Sudbury.—Mr. Foy.

To amend the University Act, 1906.—Mr. Whitney.

To amend the Registry Act.—Mr. Foy.

Respecting certain railway and other corporations.—Mr. Hendrie.

To amend the Municipal Drainage Act.—Mr. Ferguson (Greenville).

Respecting the Town of Thessalon and Saginaw Lumber and Salt Co.—Mr. Foy.

To amend the Public Schools Act.—Mr. Foy.

To amend the Department of Education Act.—Mr. Foy.

To amend the Ontario Election Act.—Mr. Foy.

Respecting the City of Toronto.—Mr. McNaught.

To consolidate and amend the act respecting voters' lists.—Mr. Foy.

Respecting Cobalt Lake and Kerr Lake.—Mr. Foy.

For the preservation of Butler's Berry Grounds at Niagara-on-the-Lake.—Mr. Foy.

To provide for the plugging of natural gas and oil wells, and to prevent the wasting of natural gas.—Mr. Hanna.

To amend the act respecting the clause from the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act which affected the registration of students. No vote was given on this matter.

Progress was reported in committee on the Statute Law Amendment Act, 1907. The terms of the renewals of railway grants, announced by Premier Whitney, were embodied in it.

School Book Copyright.

The copyrighted literary selections in public school readers heretofore the exclusive property of the W. J. Gage Co., the Copp, Clark Co., and the Canada Publishing Co. under an amendment to the act will now be available to all persons designated by the minister of education as authorized to publish the readers. Hon. Mr. Foy said the department might also publish the readers.

The City of London will be permitted to erect an isolation hospital on a site to be approved by the provincial board of health. The regulations do not allow such a building within 300 feet of residences.

At the evening session J. P. Downey moved the second reading of his bill to amend the law with respect to compensation to workmen, which he said was founded on the conclusions of the royal commission on the subject in England, but withdrew it at the request of the prime minister, who undertook to bring in a bill in the future on the subject.

In committee on supply "E. J. B. Fense asked that a part of the succession duties be applied to hospitals and similar charities. It was not fair to the churches that auxiliary support from them was required all over the province for the support of hospitals. It was to the credit of the medical profession that they gave some of their hardest labor to them. After requesting consideration for further library grants, Mr. Fense said that, while Queen's University was thankful for what they had received they would be glad to get more. He wished that post-graduate courses might be established at Toronto, so that the students of Queen's might mingle with those of Toronto University, for which they Perkins objected. Perkins had wired him, saying "Come at once," but had died later in the day.

Mrs. Hattie Moore said that in No. 40, Perkins told her that Henry Perkins was ill and she hoped that if she died they might spend the last few days together.

The act did not rise until 7 p.m.

The jury is composed of George H. Gorrell, Charles Hendershott, Henry Marshall, Robert Warren, John C. Hewitt, James Lindsay, W. George W. Parsons, Charles E. Best, Silas Avery, Adam Smith, Francis C. Smith, Robert Cranston.

The defence will call Dr. Graham Chambers, Toronto; Dr. Walker, Toronto; and Dr. Taylor, Toronto Junction, to combat the evidence of the medical advisors for the crown.

WELL PLANNED KIDNAPPING

Neighbor Ties Farmer to Bed Post and Steals Wife and Child.

LONDON, April 17.—Three men forced an entrance into the house of Frank Attwood, a young farmer of Lobo Township, at 3 o'clock this morning and after tying him securely to a bed post, drove away with his wife and three months old child.

This is the story Attwood told the police to-day when he swore out a warrant for Arthur Scott, a neighbor, on a charge of kidnaping.

The county police say the kidnaping was carefully planned. They have learned that a young man, answering the description of Scott, came to a local livery last night and hired a team of the best horses, saying that he wanted to drive to the country. This morning the team was returned by a boy, who said they had been turned over to him at an hotel by the police. He asked him to take them to the livery. The horses gave every indication of having been driven a long distance.

The police have also learned that a man and woman answering the description of Scott and Mrs. Attwood boarded the train which leaves for Windsor at 5:30 a.m.

had no jealousy, and which might thus become true of the provincial university.

Premier Whitney was willing to endorse every word Mr. Fense had spoken about Queen's, which, for its number, had a staff unsurpassed in North America. The government would do its duty.

Producer Gas Power.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said that a provision of 20 cents a head had been made this year for hospital patients, instead of the 16 cents mentioned. The efficiency of hospital work was largely dependent on local assistance. The government should take the lead in giving up-to-date figures regarding producer gas power. He thought the figures given by the hydro-electric commission were already out of date. G. F. Fenton believed the cost under coal was $1.50 per horsepower.

Hon. Mr. Whitney said the government would certainly do its duty in investing in the coal industry.

At 10:15 Premier Whitney looked around for something else to do and everybody went to rest.

"My best friend from East Hamilton will bring forward his motion," said the prime minister.

"Always ready to work, sir," was Mr. Studholme's response. His motion was that the house regretted the government had not seen fit to require that all prison-made goods should be so labeled.

Premier Whitney said the government had no objection to the amendment as a means towards fulfilling their promise. The amendment was declared lost on a division.

have arrested the peaceful development of the arts of industry, and would have left tracks of privation and misery in the homes of thousands.

"I am not a student of international disputes the principle of this Canadian act, which forbids men to draw the sword until after a round table conference has taken place? Let the legislatures of the world who wish to promote peace decree that it shall be illegal to furnish a loan to any nation who begins hostilities without first coming to the round table at The Hague tribunal.

"I think it is a very wise permission, to tell you, gentlemen, who was the author, so far as I know, of this suggestion of using the financial boycott as a means of preventing war.

Rhodes' Bequest.

"After the death of Mr. Rhodes a most interesting document was found among his papers. It was written in 1875, when he, as a boy of 22 years of age, was working on the boundless plateau of South Africa, and was under the stars, inspired by his surroundings he penned in his own hand the following words:

"To Follow Us.

"I close with a renewed expression of my hopes, not only as a trustee, but also in the name of the Canadian people, who are devoted to the arts of peace, that the Hague conference may not be protracted until it has established rules which will apply to the conduct of international disputes, and that the same principle which within the last month has on three separate occasions secured the industrial peace of Canada by averting industrial war."

THREE SLASHED WITH RAZOR

Frank Cameron of North Bay Attacks Citizens in Peterboro Hotel.

PETERBORO, April 17.—(Special.)—Frank Cameron of North Bay, an electrician, 28 years old, got on the rampage here this morning in the Royal Hotel. With a large knife he attacked and wounded three men. All were severely cut about the head and face.

Levi Thornadyke, late of Lindsay, had his nose cut thru to the nasal cavity. Which he sustained a very serious injury on the left side. Patrick King had five bad gashes on the head and neck, one six inches long.

Gilbert Bleason sustained a deep gash in the face.

Cameron was slightly intoxicated when arrested, a razor and large knife being found on him. No motive is attributed for his murderous assault, as the injured men were all strangers to him.

FIRE AT CARLYLE, SASK.

Two Blocks Destroyed at a Loss of $15,000.

CARLYLE, SASK., April 17.—Last night a serious fire was discovered in Hayward block, which was destroyed, and also the adjoining block, the Carlyle Herald saved their books, but nothing else. The Masonic Lodge building in the rear was also destroyed.

Chief Leford of the firebrigade and George Kellett had very narrow escapes thru falling walls.

Total loss is $15,000, but this, it is thought, will be largely covered by insurance.

NO NEED TO HURRY.

Mr. Fielding's Intimation re Insurance Legislation.

OTTAWA, April 17.—(Special.)—On the motion to go into supply in the house to-day, Mr. Lennox moved in amendment, "that this house regrets that the royal commission on insurance did not confine its investigation within the reasonable scope of its power, conferred upon it for the purpose of its enquiry; that by its action in conducting unnecessary and irrelevant enquiries into private and personal affairs, which it was in no wise concerned, coupled with its failure to make a proper selection of its members and material lessened the confidence which otherwise would have been felt in its legitimate work."

Mr. Lennox complained that the enquiry had been one-sided.

Mr. Fielding intimated that there was no need for haste in drafting a new Insurance Act. The companies were not asking for any additional legislation.

Col. Sam Hughes defended the Western Land deal. He claimed that Fowler and Pope had paid the retail price for many years in drafts, and that the House amendment was defeated; 51 yeas, 92 nays.

Money Should Be Contraband

W. J. Bryan Would Place It on the Same List as Powder, Shot and Shell.

Among the participants in the debate to-day was William J. Bryan. He was brief. "I came here to see that the one idea which I regard as the most important of all was carried out, and that was that all disputes, not subject referred to international arbitration, should be referred to international arbitration."

"The time has come when the lending of money to a belligerent should be regarded as being as objectionable as the furnishing of powder, shot and shell. It is all wrong to say that powder, lead and shell are the means by which the means of buying the things that are forbidden. It is a wrong principle which allows a few money lenders to profit by the distress of nations."

A resolution was adopted naming the trustees to collect and disburse funds for the promotion of international peace: Andrew Carnegie, George Foster Peabody, James Russell Smith, Robert Travers Paine of Boston, and Joshua L. Bailey of Philadelphia.

The Platform.

The peace congress to-day adopted a platform recommending, among other things, that the Hague conference shall hereafter be a permanent institution; that the Hague court shall be open to all the nations of the world; that a general treaty of arbitration for ratification

Anti-Corporation Law A Warning to Ottawa

Premier Whitney Declares That Drastic Legislation is Necessary When Dominion Government Shows Such Inclination to Ignore the Rights of the Provinces.

Hon. Mr. Hendrie's bill respecting certain railway and other corporations was referred back to committee in the legislature yesterday, amended and read a third time. This is the bill designed to correct the tendency on the part of corporations to seek powers from the Dominion that have been reserved for the provinces. The bill provides for the cancellation of all by-laws and agreements made with municipalities at the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

A. G. MacKay doubted if any member of the house knew what contracts the Hamilton Radial Railway had entered into, which never would have been had the company known that they were to be declared null and void. He believed that section 2 was going too far, and that he differed from the majority of the lawyers of the province; he believed that under the British North America Act, the house had no power to pass such a law. Under Lord Watson's decision in the temporary act case and Lord Herschell's decision in the fisheries case, the province had power to legislate, but not to collect. They were giving a very dangerous power to the lieutenant-governor-in-council. Why should they permit him to do a thing which was illegal?

Hon. G. P. Graham felt that in their enthusiasm for provincial rights they should not go beyond their powers. Hon. J. J. Foy pointed out that the bill aimed at the smooth working of the previous act, and was a wholesome whip to keep the company from doing what they should not.

Mr. MacKay admitted the bill was a great improvement on the original draft.

Drastic by Desire.
"True, this is serious legislation," declared the premier. "We intend it to be so. True, it is drastic, but we desire it to be so. It is designed to present and put a stop to the insuperable barriers and obstacles with which onerous legislators seek to embarrass the province. It is aimed against the trend of affairs at Ottawa to trample upon provincial rights.

"When a department of the Dominion arrogates to itself power to break contracts between man and man, it is time to call a halt, and, as far as it is humanly possible, this government intends by this bill and other efforts which will be evident later, to stop the recklessnes—the collective recklessness—of the parliament of Canada in dealing with provincial rights."

He believed firmly that the present attitude of the senate at Ottawa had been brought about by the drastic measures of the bill. He was glad to say there that the stand taken by Senator Ross showed that provincial rights were not in such danger as some weeks ago.

Perhaps the Ottawa cabinet would wake up in time to the iniquity of the Ottawa outrage, and justice be done there, too.

Mr. MacKay did not know what the effect of the granting of charters might do, but the Dominion government had stood distinctly for provincial rights, as when a short railway line crossed a Dominion road, the crossing only was declared for the general benefit of Canada, and not the whole road as had been the case under the Conservative government at Ottawa.

Favors Stated Case.
D. J. McDougall, with lawyer-like instinct, suggested the submission of a stated case to determine the issue. He did not think the bill would accomplish what was wanted.

Hon. Mr. Matheson pointed out that all the Dominion parliament needed to do was to declare that they had the power, and they had it. They had given away one of the largest water powers in the country on the Niagara, to a private company. He declared the resolution passed by the Dominion parliament a fake.

D. J. McDougall said if he could throw the bill out by motion he would certainly do so.

CRIMINAL APPEAL COURT INNOVATION IN BRITAIN

Bill to Constitute One Introduced in Commons by the Attorney General.

LONDON, April 17.—A bill constituting a court of criminal appeal, which has not heretofore existed in Great Britain, was introduced in the house of commons to-day by Attorney-General Watson.

He explained that the measure would create the right of appeal against conviction for crime, similar to that now existing in civil cases.

The bill passed its first reading.

NO MOVE TO RELEASE THAW.

O'Reilly Sees Jerome, But Bail Was Not Talked About.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Altho District Attorney Jerome returned to his office from a visit to his home in Lakeville, Conn., to-day, no move has as yet been made toward an application for the release of Henry K. Thaw or bail.

Lawyer Daniel O'Reilly called on Mr. Jerome this afternoon, but he said the matter of bail for the prisoner was not mentioned. Mr. Jerome said he would continue to oppose in every possible way the release of Thaw on bail.

When questioned about the signed statement issued by Mrs. Nesbit-Holman, mother of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, yesterday, Mr. Jerome said several assure you that when she said that she furnished the district attorney information for use in connection with the trial of Thaw she spoke the truth.

Thaw informed the keepers in the Tombs prison that he was ill when A. Russell Peabody of his counsel called on him to-day. Thaw was still in bed, but on being informed that he could not confer with Peabody in his cell, he went to the conference room and consulted with Peabody for two hours.

Mrs. Evelyn Thaw, asked if she had any reply to make to her mother's statement, replied: "Not a word to say on any subject."

OTTAWA UP AGAINST IT.

Power Company Gives City Month's Notice of Withdrawing Service.

OTTAWA, April 17.—Ottawa is having a sensation in connection with its electric power system.

While the city authorities were bickering with other concerns the Ottawa and Full Power Co. served a notice on them terminating the existing agreement within a month.

The company declares that it does not intend being made a convenience of until the city decides to go elsewhere for its power supply.

ONE LONDON VIEW.

The Investor's Review of London, England, which contained several scathing articles on Canadian life insurance, acknowledges in its latest issue receipt of the report of the Canadian insurance commission. In substance it says that the report is straightforward and frank, the amateurish in some respects, and it concludes that the report justifies all the criticism that The Review passed upon some of the companies over a year ago.

Local Option Quashed.
The local option bylaw passed recently by the Township of Asphodel was quashed yesterday by Justice Anglin.

The cause of the ruling was irregularities in the booths and in the time of voting.

WELCOME LEAGUE TO-NIGHT

Mass Meeting Will Be Held in Victoria Hall.

The British Welcome League is now an established institution in our city. It has supplied a long-felt want. The work already done in the three short weeks of its existence has been phenomenal. Over 500 men and women—new arrivals from the motherland—have been placed in positions where they can earn a livelihood. This has been done without the cost of a single cent to the new citizen. Many others have received valuable practical advice, which has enabled them to keep clear of the many snares and pitfalls that are set to trap the unwary amongst them.

Fully one-third of the members have been sent out of the city to points where their services were required. Many more are within the next few weeks. The league desires to take care of them, to give them a true British welcome, find them work and otherwise aid them in their new home.

The old postoffice building on Front-street, near the Union Depot, is being equipped as a reception centre for the purpose of rendering every available assistance to the new comer. This is a big undertaking, but the committee of the league feel confident from the amount of support already accorded them that they have the citizens of Toronto at their back.

This afternoon, a public meeting is being held to-night in Victoria Hall, East Queen-street, to enroll new members and to explain the work of the league. The membership subscription is only $1. Everyone can afford this sum. If you cannot attend the meeting, send your name and a dollar to help the cause.

Those who can attend will be amply rewarded, for, in addition to the explanation of the league's work, the Cornish Society's and Yorkshire Society's chorus will supply a rich musical entertainment. The membership subscription is only $1. Everyone can afford this sum. If you cannot attend the meeting, send your name and a dollar to help the cause.

FISHERMEN APPEAL.

Fined $500 Each for Working on U.S. Schooner During Herring Season.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F.D., April 17.—The supreme court has resumed consideration of the appeal by the Bay of Islands fishermen from the penalty of $500 or three months in prison for working on the American schooner Ralph Hall during the herring fishing season. The magistrate ruled that such work was contrary to the provisions of the Colonial Fish Act.

Sir James Winter, who at different times has been premier, attorney-general and supreme court judge, appears for the appellants, and withdrew the former plea that the fishermen were entitled to rank as inhabitants of the United States and enjoyed all privileges and advantages of citizenship. He now that they were hired servants of American fishermen and entitled under the treaty to fish.

CHAMBERLAIN'S HEALTH.

Tells Colonial Premiers He is Making Progress.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

Mr. Chamberlain reciprocates "the good wishes expressed by the conference, and incidentally observes that he is making satisfactory progress in regard to his health."

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, attributes a great deal of his success to the following simple vegetable prescription: One ounce fluid extract dandelion; four ounces compound salutarin; one ounce compound syrup sarsaparilla, mix, shake and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Your druggist can supply the ingredients and it can be prepared at home at very little expense.

This mixture, the doctor says, acts directly on the kidneys, assisting them to filter the poisons from the blood and expel same in the urine, at the same time restoring the kidneys to healthy, normal action.

COBALT TITLES ARE VALIDATED

By Vote of 48 to 15 — Premier Takes Exception to Remarks of Hon. A. G. MacKay—Legis- lation Good in Law and Morals.

By a vote of 48 to 15, with 15 pairs, the government defeated the opposition's six months' hoist motion on the third reading of the bill respecting Cobalt Lake and Kerr Lake. The bill is one to validate the titles to these properties recently sold by the government. Claims have been made by several parties to the properties on filed discoveries, and the claims have been heard at length by the mining commissioner, the department and the cabinet as a whole, with the result that the government disallowed the claims. It is stated that had the government announced its intention to validate the title of the Cobalt Lake Co. the Florence Mining Co., which entered suit some time ago, would probably not have taken this course. When the opposition asked the government would they validate the title, the answer given was that the ordinary patent had been issued. This is now regarded as a quibbling reply.

C. N. Smith moved an amendment to the bill reserving the rights of any persons having claims prior to August 14, 1906, to be referred to the court.

Serious, Says MacKay.
A. G. MacKay thought the legislation very serious, affecting not only the parties mentioned by C. N. Smith, but also the Florence Mining Co., whose action, entered some time ago, would have been tried but for the illness of one of the judges. He argued, handed to the discovery on March 7 by the Green people with the diamond drill put a value on the lake for which the amount paid for Cobalt Lake. He contended that the order in council closing Cobalt Lake of August 14, 1906, rescinded by order of October 30th, rescinding the order of August 23, which closed the township from exploration. The regulations, he argued, handed to the Green parties made no reference to the previous order, and on March 7, 1906, the discovery was made by the diamond drill working thru the ice on the lake.

Hon. Mr. Foy declared the assumption that the discovery was included in the order throwing open the township was wrong.

Division of Stock.
Mr. MacKay went on to say that $200,000 stock had been sold back by the company in Toronto and $100,000 was handed over to Ottawa interests. He contended that the order in council to protect the defendant company in the actions brought.

"Should we be the cat's paw in this legislation," he asked, "to give a million dollars to the Green parties to get away with a quarter of a million dollars?" he demanded. The bill should be referred to the committee to deal with the bill, he said, to protect the defendant company in the actions brought.

Even the government gave a title to the company, every opportunity to sift the truth should be afforded. He contended that the order in council was in the honor of the crown it was in the honor of the crown.

Hon. Mr. Foy pointed out that the second section of the bill provided that all claims for discovery prior to the sale should be dealt with by the lieutenant-governor in council, as he saw fit. The case had been presented before to the mining commissioner, to the department and the Ontario parliament, and he heard the evidence patiently at great length. There was no question in the mind of the government as to the invalidity of the claim.

Mr. Smith (Sault) thought Mr. Foy was evidently not satisfied when he would allow the claim to be made with respect to the money in the hands for the government, and not to the property.

Premier Whitney declared the speech he had just heard as a most extraordinary one. The legislation proposed was good in law and in morals, it could only accept the speech as an attempt to discredit the Ontario government.

C. N. Smith quoted John Hays Hammond, that Nipissing shares would never reach their value until the whole question of titles was threshed out in the Ontario parliament.

B. R. Gagey asked by what method the D्रेany interests would get their rights, supposing they had any.

Premier Whitney said any person making a claim and proving their case would be given the treatment any self-respecting government would accord. It had been decided that the claim at

MR. GOODRISK AND THE AGENT.

The ingenious young man who some years ago having run the gamut of the agents, took a with-profits policy in the Royal Mutual Megalomania Sunburst Life Association of Canada, one of our "aggregations for financial rather than insurance purposes," no doubt experienced a lively glow of satisfaction when in exchange for his cash he received the contract. Mr. Timothy Goodrisk—for that was his name—was not in that numerous class described in the report of the Royal commission as "persons who do not want policies except at a discount and want them so little that they lapse in a year or two." Nay, verily, Mr. Goodrisk was in the best sense of the term an unsophisticated young man. He had never heard of "robbing." He had never heard how the Royal Megalomania and its plethoric rivals had "debauched" their agents by large commissions and by bonuses and prizes, who found it possible to make gifts out of their emoluments. The Megalomania man had urged the value of life insurance in "a good solid company" like his so cogently that Mr. Goodrisk had really come to desire the insurance. He never thought of asking for a receipt and he did not get it. It would, of course, cost him some pinching to keep it up, but twenty years would pass soon enough. "Time and the hour run through the roughest day." And if he were alive at the end of twenty years he would get not only the face of the policy, but also big profits—bigger than any bank could or would give him. If he died in the meantime, his beneficiary—his mother, or sister, or the little girl he was going to marry some day—would get the money and the accumulations. It would be there anyway for somebody. And if he found financing the premiums too hard the "profits" could go to reducing the premium. There was no manner of doubt about it. The Sunburst man had left with him a beautifully prepared official copy of estimates in red ink, and it was all set forth in black and white and red. Beyond a doubt Mr. Goodrisk really wanted that insurance. The agent made him want it. And he wanted it nowhere else but in the Royal Mutual Megalomania Sunburst Life Association of Canada. Confusion arising out of the multitude of policy forms. Misleading titles and contents of many of them. Only four forms of policies really necessary. Every policy should set out upon its face the option values. In all participating policies there should be an obligation to make good the policy's share of profits in cash or bonus addition at the option of the insured.

The deferred dividend a great evil and should be abolished and prohibited. Policy forms should be standardized. There should be in outstanding participating contracts an annual definitive ascertainment and allocation of profits.

Retention of the surplus by the companies has a direct relation to the principal abuses discovered. The attorney-general for Canada should be empowered to maintain actions in behalf of policyholders in respect of the accounting made by the companies.

Gross abuses in the valuation of policy liabilities. Retention of the surplus by the companies ingeniously diminished policyholders' profits. Companies should not be permitted voluntarily to strengthen their reserves beyond three per cent.

"Made in Canada," not one of those "importations" from the land of woollen-tunics, as his dear friend, the agent, described one wing of "the enemy."

MR. G. GETS HIS POLICY. And now, having paid over his cash—a promissory note was not required of him, for he had the money in the bank drawing a fair interest—and having received his policy in his big double envelope, behold Mr. Goodrisk sitting down at his leisure and prepared to read over and enjoy "the deed of his thousand dollar farm," as the agent had encouragingly called it. He was very becomingly impressed with the titanic size of the document, and as he unfolded it was almost as big as the township map—and as he read not very familiarly with the display of ornamental typography and elaborate chirography with which the instrument was lavishly adorned.

In justice to the Megalomania Sunburst Company it must be said they gave their client many words for his money. The policy was not by any means a delicious "rivulet of text in a meadow of margin." The more he looked at it the more it seemed to him a roaring torrent of muddy water swirling around an infinity of "whereases" and "providos" that it is no disparagement of Mr. Goodrisk to say he could make nothing of such uncouth technical terms as "tontine period," "actuarial term," "table of mortality," "equity," "lien," "reserve," "reversionary dividend period," "contingent," and a dozen others equally hideous to him.

Having tried in vain to understand the document, and having also invoked the help of the schoolmaster, who declared it was "all Greek" to him, he folded it up with a sigh of relief and said, "It must be all right anyway." No matter if the big print seem to contradict the agent, print, and both big print and little print seemed to contradict the agent, the blanketing thing must be right. As the schoolmaster said, "The fault must be in ourselves, dear Brutus." It is out of the question that the great Megalomania Sunburst Life of Can-life "tontine" etc. that you were just a little bit stupid in not knowing that a company cannot sell an endowment at the same price as an ordinary life? Believe me, my dear sir, apart altogether from what the agent may have told you, you are getting into the Megalomania Sunburst, as much as any other company would give you for your money. All this talk of giving up your policy is sheer nonsense. You don't want to lose all you have paid in, and who knows whether you could pass another examination or not? Better trust the company and keep on with it." And much more of the same kind.

But Mr. Goodrisk was not placated. He would think it over and perhaps see a lawyer. He certainly would talk the matter over with the friend whom he had induced to take out policies in the company—policies he had no doubt whatever were very different from what they supposed them to be. At any rate, if the agent could get no redress they could warn others against the snares set by the Megalomania Sunburst for the unwary.

Now as Mr. Goodrisk began to think more seriously at the recommendation of the lawyer, he called on his friends, and evidently was not going to be put off with soft words, the manager, scenting danger to future business, thought best to try another tack. He would look carefully into the matter, he promised, and if the agent meant, he would speak to his actuary, and if the agent had really misrepresented matters the company might be disposed to do something to adjust things to his satisfaction.

The result of the interview was a communication in about a fortnight from the manager, to the effect that the matter of Mr. G.'s complaint had been laid before the executive, and that the company would be prepared to deal "most liberally" with the insured. In the meantime he sincerely hoped Mr. G. wouldn't be "so unwise" as to drop his policy and forfeit the protection it now gave his family.

MR. GOODRISK AND THE POLICYHOLDERS' ASSOCIATION. At this Mr. Goodrisk was, if possible, more deeply incensed than ever. He stated his case in the newspapers, giving names and dates, but he found he was only one of many in a similar plight. Finally having heard through "The World of the Policyholders' Association," he joined that organization and took an active part in getting the grievances of that representative body before the commission. "The commission," he said, "is now quite clear that the testimony of the association had very properly great weight with the commission in shaping its recommendations and in reaching in hope that some amendments to the act will give him and multitudes of others their rights and privileges at no distant day."

BAD POLICY CONTRACTS. Such in outline is the story of the existing contracts of the policyholders of Canadian companies. It is a story in which it will be seen that the company has always the big end of the surrender value, no loan values, no paid-up values and no automatic extension features! In a word, he discovered himself to have been grossly swindled, and the proof of it, stripped of its technical jargon, was before his eyes. There was no help for it, his friend feared, insurance companies were bound only by their policy contracts. It was no use to cry over spilt milk and he gave him advice to be more careful next time and take part in a policy that was made in a company that would give a simple straight-forward contract—guaranteeing everything in understandable language.

But still Mr. Goodrisk was not satisfied. He felt that what could be done to get justice. And he made it his first business to seek out the agent who had insured him. But that worthy was not to be found. He had long since left for pastures new, nobody knew exactly where he was except that he had heard he was working for another company somewhere in the Northwest and getting on famously; wherever he went he was leaving for the company a long trailing cloud of glory behind him.

MR. GOODRISK AND THE MANAGER. More incensed than ever Mr. Goodrisk then sought an interview with the manager of the Megalomania Sunburst, bringing his policies and the estimates with him. Having entered the palatial headquarters, having passed by an act of special grace, the closely tyed door, he entered the august presence of the managing director. He was permitted to state his grievances and to ask for redress. He was blandly assured that neither the manager nor the board of directors knew anything of what the agent had said or promised, and the company could not hold itself responsible for what was not embodied in the contract. The policy was formed no part of the policy; and as they were constantly varying anyway it was no use to pay much attention to them. It was quite true that the company furnished the agents with the "estimates" forms and inserted the figures in their manuals as in and to making up the illustrations, yet it must be evident that as the estimates formed no part of the policy this company could not be held legally liable for the use made of them by the agent. "Now, to be quite frank with you, Mr. Goodrisk, don't you think you quite misunderstood the agent? Don't you think when in these days of public education and general information, everybody is perfectly familiar with such terms as 'endowment,' 'ordinary

CANADA AND THE U.S. ARGUMENT FOR PEACE

Limitation of Armament on Border Has Kept Countries Acting as Gentlemen, Not Cowboys.

NEW YORK, April 17.—That intelligence, knowledge, culture are the things, which, universities can contribute to the cause of the universe, as the consensus of the opinion of the college presidents who spoke last night at Carnegie Hall to the college meeting of the peace conference, Vice-Chancellor Roberts of Cambridge University and Pro-Vice-Chancellor Rhyas of Oxford were the two foreign educators who spoke. President Butler of Columbia University presided. The great hall was packed almost to suffocation.

Edwin D. Mead of Boston, director of the old South Historical Work, spoke in part as follows: "After the war of 1812, they determined, instead of maintaining two great naval squadrons on the Great Lakes and a line of forts all along the boundary, that they would have nothing of the sort, his pointed the true way for the reduction of armaments and eventual disarmament among all nations.

"What has been the result of this decision of the United States and Canada to act like gentlemen instead of like cowboys? If they had kept their forts and frigates, their gunboats and marines, there would probably have been a friction a few years ago, and there might have been a war without them, there has been peace, security and mutual respect. It pays for nations as well as men, to act like gentlemen."

While the Carnegie Hall meeting was in progress another large gathering was being held in Cooper Union. This gathering was representative of organized labor. The speakers included Terence V. Powderly, who, among other things, said: "It is fitting that labor's voice should be raised for peace, because it is labor that has provided the means by which we have lived for the past few years ago that labor and capital would shake hands. Today we meet, clean hands and clean hearts, and this has come about through the leadership of Samuel Gompers."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who followed, said in part: "It takes more courage to-day to engage in the patient, silent sacrifice of life than it does to go into the carnage of war. To-day, thank God, the white flag no longer indicates a yellow streak, and it requires courage for a man to say, 'Peace, instead of War.' Now it is written down that the man who fights goes forth to murder. Any one country that disarms alone will be wiped off the map. But we hope the American conscience will demand that delegates to the next Hague conference shall stand if not for disarmament, for no greater expansion in armaments."

Women and Children, Too. The morning session at Carnegie Hall was a woman's session, and was addressed by a number of prominent women workers for peace.

During the afternoon there was a young people's meeting at Carnegie Hall, while the "Commercial and Industrial Aspects of the Peace Movement" were discussed at the Hotel Astor.

COBALT --- Big Year Predicted for the T. N. O. Railway --- COBALT

THE PEOPLE'S RAILROAD PROMISES TO BE BUSY

T. N. O. Railway Earnings Should Show Big Increase—Recent Camp Developments.

COBALT, April 17.—(From the Man on the Spot.)—The earnings of the T. N. O. Railway will assuredly show a marked increase in the year 1907 over the preceding year, and the mining activity and the possible location of three new mining camps in Northern New Ontario will be largely responsible.

Last year this road carried 305,118 passengers. The local service is patronized to the full capacity of the coaches, and the new thru train has not only increased the service to show the slightest diminution in the traffic nor decreased earnings.

Another daily mail is expected to be put on the line, what was expected and looked for later than and Superintendent Black was in town the other day, taking a trip over the line to inspect the new changes and improvements, their desire being to give good service and meet the requirements of the district.

What will be done for Larder? Three thousand people are in that section, and a lot of supplies and material have gone in over the winter roads, but the supply camp have yet to be got in. How can this be done? By the water route or the wagon trail above are ten portages, heavy or all but one are very short, and the ordinary prospecting party can easily handle the supplies, but there will be an immense amount of building materials and other merchandise to be freighted.

The management never lost faith and their new having got into such a tight spot as their last year, shaft No. 3 is sunk on a vein about 40 feet from the Peterson Lake and is now 90 feet from the drift for a distance of 80 feet to connect with No. 2 shaft, and as we work proceeded, it was found that the vein running from that shaft, and the vein connecting to the north and a cross-cut will be necessary to connect them.

At present, the management of new Larder and Hatterbury, awaiting the opening of spring to get into the forest and woods to prospect. "Me for the tall timber," will probably be the battle cry. The shipments for the first three months of the year 1907 from Cobalt camp amount to 2,888,222 tons, or an average output per working day of 31,732 tons, or 37,830 per day.

It must be remembered that the La Rosa has only shipped six carloads in those three months, of 30 tons each, and the Drummond Mine does not appear on the list. Thirteen mines figure as shippers during the first quarter of 1907. In addition to these, the Drummond, the Temiskaming, Nancy Helen, Silver Leaf and the Buckenell might be added. This list is not one of the old shipping mines. It has a lot of ore on hand, but the management has not to consider payment of dividends. It does not propose to ship any ore this year, but the N. O. spur line to their part of the camp is completed. The Temiskaming has two carloads of ore that should have been got out before this, but the installation of the plant and the erection of buildings has taxed the efforts of Superintendent Hatterbury. The Nancy Helen can ship at any time, but Superintendent Black has already shipped to be followed by regular shipments, and the two carloads of ore that should have some more development work will be done at both the Cobalt and Buckenell properties before the shipment is made. Then a lot of ore has been shipped from the Savage Mine, all of which goes in the joint effort of the McKimley-Darragh-Savage Company. There are, therefore, in the camp to-day at least 24 shipping propositions.

Quality, Not Quantity. Their quality and not quantity must not be overlooked, and to do justice to some of the properties, like the Kerr Lake and McKimley-Darragh mines, the smelter returns should be published, and the disparity, as appears by the annexed list, would be seen to be only apparent. It is known that the last shipment of the McKimley-Darragh-Savage Company contained a lot of material that will make it probably a record shipment, and the Kerr Lake of Jacobs shipment of 38,100 tons made in February, was so rich that it put the crusher out of business at the smelter. Another shipment has been made from this mine this month of 40 tons. The ore sent was of the same quality, and was sent to the Durb-Antony smelter.

Paid for Itself in Ore. In the February shipment from the Frober Mine there are 15,335 ounces of silver, and the returns from the metallics will bring the returns up to at least 120,000 ounces of silver. It is also known that over 80,000 was paid for ore that ran over 25,000 ounces of silver to the ton. This property has paid $20,000 in dividends, and it can be safely declared to have earned over half a million dollars, and there has been no going. Mr. Bond, P. Lawrence, who works with his assistant, A. Heavens, has spent some weeks examining this property. He is a man with world-wide fame in his profession—a college man who has worked his way up from the ore dump—and he declares it is by reason of its great results and probabilities, one of the most interesting in the world, and regards the entire camp in the same light.

The Nova Scotia must be recognized as one of the coming big shippers of the future.

ore. The Silver Queen has a lot of rich ore on hand ready to be shipped whenever they need the money, and they are taking ore out steadily. At the Foster things are looking up, and it has been suggested that when they treat their dump the values will be surprising.

CONCENTRATION —OF— Cobalt Ores

That is what Cobalt mining companies are waiting for. The dump ore of Cobalt district will be treated by the process to be used by COBALT CONCENTRATORS, LIMITED. This process separates the ore from the gangue, so that the latter can be shipped direct to smelter or refinery in greatly reduced bulk, consequently great savings in freight and other charges.

A good thing for the mine-owners and a good thing for owners of shares of Cobalt Concentrators, Limited, is the fact that Shares of treasury stock are offered to the public at 50 cents, per share being $1. A four-cent share is now offered at $1. No free promoters' stock. Every cent goes into the company's treasury.

MINE'S MINING SHARES AND REAL ESTATE

Cobalt, Larder Lake and Milk Lake Mining Properties Steadily Deal In. 15 YEARS' EXPERIENCE IN NEW ONTARIO I know of no safer investment in Real Estate than in Haileybury, the Queen City of the Temiskaming. Increased responsibilities solicited. CYRIL T. YOUNG, HAILEYBURY, ONTARIO.

Buy Cobalt Development Co., Limited, at Once Authorized Capital $5,000,000 Shares Par Value $1.00

These shares will be advanced to 25c per share on May 1st, 1907, as the improvement in the properties of the above Company warrant this advance.

I have been six months investigating, and have just returned from a visit of personal investigation to the

which, from what I have seen there, and have taken means to verify, will prove a veritable Canadian "Rand," taking its place among the great goldfields of the world, and throwing Cobalt into the shade.

I am a Practical Mining Man AND DEAL ONLY WITH FACTS.

The facts about Larder Lake are contained in my new book, "The Goldfields of Larder Lake," and in my copyrighted map, by far the most detailed and accurate to date.

CANADIANS! The majority of us were too skeptical and easy-going to inform ourselves concerning Cobalt in the beginning, and saw other steps in and reap enormous profits.

Cobalt is only the beginning of mining in New Ontario, the richest mineral field in the world, and there are, and will be, other opportunities as great and greater.

The Larder Lake goldfields are the next in line. Inform yourself at once. Don't wait to see what the other fellow will do, but do it yourself, and do it now. That's the way the man on the ground floor gets there.

Investigate. Get posted. Put yourself in a position to intelligently take ground floor advantage of the tremendous opportunities for profit contained in the northern mining fields.

By means of personal investigation on the ground, the employment of reliable engineers, and the service of employees in the field, I keep my following posted, and they make money.

Thousands will testify to that. Send Me Your Name and Address and I'll Do My Best for You, Too

We have in course of preparation a special market letter giving reliable information regarding this district. The result of nearly ten months' careful investigation will be summed up in this letter. The Larder Lake district is new. If it is good, it is better to wait until you are sure you are right than to go in blindly. Get this letter before investing one cent in Larder Lake. You will get the truth about the district, whether it is good, bad or indifferent.

RECIPROCAL DEMURRAGE IS FAVORED BY SHIPPERS

General Feeling is That Railway Act Should Be Amended as Mr. Maclean Proposes.

The following extracts from letters received from all parts of the country will show the general feeling with regard to the necessity for the passage of the bill presented by W. F. Maclean, M.P. (South York), providing for an amendment to the Railway Act, in connection with the question of reciprocal demurrage.

Stavistock Building and Furniture Co., Tavistock, Ont.—"We are in favor of reciprocal demurrage."

B. Bell & Son, Limited, St. George, Ont.—"We are certainly in favor of reciprocal demurrage."

The William Kennedy & Sons, Limited, Owen Sound, Ont.—"We certainly think that the railway companies should be liable for demurrage charges for unreasonable delay in the transportation of goods."

Stuart Bros., New Hamburg, Ont.—"We believe you are working for a just and reasonable cause, and we assure you we are strongly in favor of reciprocal demurrage."

The Ontario Wind Engine and Pump Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—"We are in favor of reciprocal demurrage."

The Wallaceburg Electric Light Co., Limited, Wallaceburg, Ont.—"We certainly think that if the railway companies are to charge demurrage, they should be held responsible for goods not being delivered in a reasonable time."

The Welland Vale Manufacturing Co., St. Catharines, Ont.—"We thoroughly agree with you on the question of reciprocal demurrage. The public are compelled to pay for delays in loading and unloading cars, the railways should certainly compensate shippers or consignees for delay in unloading, they should certainly compensate shippers or consignees for delay in loading, and we are continually in difficulty thru the delay of the carrying companies with our goods."

The Peacock Company, Stratford, Ont.—"We think some scheme of reciprocal demurrage should be worked out."

The E. Long Manufacturing Company, Orillia, Ont.—"We are strongly in favor of reciprocal demurrage, as we think the railway companies should have their own way about long enough, and we are willing to do anything we can to have matters improved."

The Chatham Wagon Co., Chatham, Ont.—"We are certainly in favor of reciprocal demurrage."

The Elmira Furniture Company, Limited, Elmira, Ont.—"We quite agree and approve of your views regarding reciprocal demurrage, and we are particularly in favor of such an arrangement whereby people to whom goods are consigned would be on an equal footing with the carrying companies."

The Aurora Electric Light Co., Aurora, Ont.—"We are in favor of reciprocal demurrage and have often thought that there should be some arrangement whereby people to whom goods are consigned would be on an equal footing with the carrying companies."

The C. G. Fotheringham & Co., Ottawa, Ont.—"We are strongly in favor of reciprocal demurrage. As the law stands it is all a one-sided affair."

BERLIN, April 17.—King Edward's approaching meeting with King Victor Emmanuel is attracting much attention in the German press, which comments on the event as being an effort to isolate Germany and win Italy away from the triple alliance.

The Cologne Gazette sees public opinion in Germany seen in King Edward's course as an attempt to disturb the European equilibrium, which is calculated to awaken misgivings regarding his disarmament proposal, and finally warns Great Britain, "that war with Germany would be dangerous for any opponent or any coalition of opponents."

This sharp language is interpreted by The Tagliche Rundschau as meaning that the German government has grown weary of the "English game of hide and seek and the comedy of peace and disarmament."

The attention of the foreign office was called to The Cologne Gazette's article, with the result that it was stated that it expressed only the editorial opinion of the paper, that the German government was in no way responsible for such views and that the government officials would have taken steps to prevent their publication if they had been known in advance.

The foreign office does not see any reason for desist in connection with the meeting of the Kings of England and Italy, since Italy knows that her independence is better guaranteed by a member of the triple alliance than if she is thrown wholly upon Anglo-French support. Great Britain's predominant position in the western part of the Mediterranean is fully recognized by Germany, which has no interests there.

AS PARIS VIEWS IT. PARIS, April 17.—The forthcoming meeting of King Edward and King Victor Emmanuel at Geneva is viewed with the utmost satisfaction in government circles here, where the royal conference is expected to result in a treaty to strengthen the cordial relations existing between Italy and Great Britain, but as binding closer ties between those two countries and France, and as exerting a good effect on the European situation.
