GERMANS RUSH MEN AND MUNITIONS TO WEST, EXPECTING GREAT ATTACK

Biggest Battle of War, at Hand, Is Talk in England... Probably Vital Week of War, Says Times' Cable; Canadians Eager and Confident; Winston Churchill Springing Into Power Again; Canadian Matters in Motherland; Semi-Prohibition of Whiskey Foreshadowed

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE TIMES BY F. A. MCKENZIE, COPYRIGHT.) London, Oct. 22.—We are entering upon what probably will be the most vital week of the war. Terrible gunfire upon the Flanders front forecasts another great battle there. The Germans are hurrying up into position every kind of gun to meet our devastating fire. They have evidently hurried troops and munitions from the Russian front to oppose us. They further anticipate, from the British bombardment of Ostend, participation of our navy in the battle.

The number of guns employed scores thousands, tons of shells are fired and the number of aeroplanes engaged already is surpassing any conflict in history. The morale of our troops is exceedingly good. The Canadians are eager and expectant and confident. Destruction of four Zeppelins by the French means the end of that class of airship as a great offensive weapon.

The Revival of Winston Churchill abundant although there is not an excessive supply of explosives. From a military point of view Germany apparently is quite able to carry on the campaign into next autumn. Whether the civil population can endure the strain or whether the economic resources are sufficient is another question. Germany at the present moment is concentrating her military constructive energies upon aeroplanes of which she is undoubtedly now building enormous quantities. American talk about enormous expenditure upon aircraft served to warn Germany, causing her to increase preparations to meet the coming American air offensive.

London anticipates a vigorous air offensive during the coming week. Preparations for sheltering the public are extensive. The people fully realize the gravity of the attacks but the government helps to restore confidence by taking the people more into confidence. The most remarkable feature of the present political situation is Winston Churchill's growing power. Since unmaking the ministry of munitions he has rapidly regained prestige and authority. His handling of labor has been admirable. He broke one serious strike by giving the workers all they asked after he extracted a solemn pledge from the men to work in such a way as to make up all the output lost during the strike. The men kept the promise.

Churchill has new manner, more conciliatory and less brawny. I find an extraordinary growing conviction among many well informed in political matters that facts will be revealed early justifying his Gallipoli policy and proving the abandonment campaign to be a tremendous mistake. This view is so widespread among men behind the scenes that it is impossible to ignore it. Union Government British opinion continues exceedingly favorable towards Canadian union government. The national coalition was received with relief by all parties. Prominent Canadian Liberals in the army have all spoken to the same effect to me. We realize that conscription is essential to maintenance of the army. Therefore we are for any compromise or combination which ensures vigorous application of conscription. England does not share old political friendships.

There are widespread regrets expressed among British leaders that Laurier does not share office. England does not share closely Canadian partisan spirit, but it remembers clearly Laurier's great services to the empire, his lead for conscription, his preference for the retention of the meaning of unity of the British Commonwealth. London is beginning to regard Toronto as the empire's supremely generous city. The Toronto Red Cross crusade has been watched here with the keenest interest. Picturesque correspondents suggest that England learn a lesson from Toronto in organizing civic enthusiasm for the national charity. Some Food Matters The effectiveness of the methods of the food controller here received a considerable shock in public esteem owing to the events of this week. The tea trade apparently ignored the controller's prices and almost the entire stock of tea was sold at prices permitted by the controller solely for a small percentage of fancy qualities. The tea shortage is unquestioned; most large stores are entirely sold out, others allow regular customers half a pound a week and casuals two or four ounces. The butter shortage is almost equally felt and trade experts contemplate a time when even margarine will be scarce obtainable. Events are forcing England towards semi-prohibition of whiskey. Stores are largely exhausted and the average price of the small remaining supplies is ten shillings a bottle. A high authority possessing unequalled opportunities of learning the truth about Germany informs me: "The German army at present is full strength, man reserves ample, supply of artillery

Vicious Story Being Circulated Among The Russian Soldiers Petrograd, Oct. 22.—General Tcheremissin, commander on the Russian northern front, has issued an order warning the soldiers of the northern army. He states that agitators are spreading rumors that all the soldiers are preparing to leave the trenches at a given day. The difficulty of enforcing discipline in the army is illustrated by the account, at Kiev, of eighty Grenadiers who mutinied at the time of the enemy offensive against Ternopol. It is alleged that the jury which acquitted them was composed of Maximilists or had been terrorized.

BRITISH AND FRENCH BOTH CHARGED WITH SUCCESS TODAY ON BELGIAN FRONT

London, Oct. 22.—Local attacks were made by the British this morning on both sides of the Ypres-Staden railway. The war office statement follows: "Early this morning we made local attacks on both sides of the Ypres-Staden railway. Our troops were successful in reported as satisfactory. French troops co-operated on our left." Paris, Oct. 22.—The French war office announces: "In Belgium we attacked this morning at the left of the British army on a front of one kilometer. Our troops attained all their objectives, making appreciable progress north of Veldeek. A certain number of prisoners remained in our hands. "Reconnoitering parties penetrated the enemy lines at various points on the front to the southeast of St. Quentin, near Menneceux, Parn, at Pansbeek and in the region of Tahure. We took ten prisoners. "Our artillery fighting continued all along the Aisne front. German attacks between Rheims and Cerny and in the sector of Massiges were without result. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

Expect Elections Over By Christmas Ottawa, Oct. 22.—It is now certain that the general election will be over some day before Christmas. Monday, December 17, is the most probable date of election day. The work of organization is proceeding rapidly. Calgary, Oct. 22.—Sir James Loughheed, here for a short visit, said there was not any doubt as to the result of the elections. He predicted that the Liberal government would be re-elected, but that the appointments to the senate would be made after the nominations and before the elections; that the elections will take place late in December or early in January, and that Sir James is not going overseas as minister of militia or in any other capacity.

FITZSIMMONS MADE FORTUNE BUT IT SOON VANISHED Chicago, Oct. 22.—Fighting Bob Fitzsimmons lived up to his nickname and ring record all the way. He refused to admit defeat even after physical fatigue had given up hope. Naturally athletic, Fitzsimmons engaged in all kinds of sports. Before taking up boxing, he was a hammer thrower and long distance runner. His speed and endurance were so marvelous that he was given the name of "The Flying Scot." Fitzsimmons won the world's heavyweight title in March 17, 1897, when he defeated Jim Corbett in the fourteenth round of their memorable battle at Carson City, Nevada. He stopped Corbett with his famous solar plexus punch, which was the originator. For two years Fitzsimmons held the heavyweight championship honor, losing to James J. Jeffries, when he was knocked out in the eleventh round on June 8, 1899, at Coney Island, N. Y. In 1902 he met Jeffries again, hoping to regain the crown, but after having the better of the California champion on points, Fitzsimmons went down to defeat in the eighth round. Old timers of the ring say the last knockout at the hands of Jeffries started Fitzsimmons on the downward path. Fitzsimmons made a fortune in the ring, but his earnings soon vanished.

GERMANS IN NEW YORK PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO HELP DEFEAT KAISER New York, Oct. 22.—Two thousand men, women and children of German birth or descent, grouped around the Carl Schurz monument in Central Park on Sunday, reaffirmed their allegiance to the United States and pledged themselves to aid to the end in waging war against "the enemies of liberty and freedom." The meeting, which began as a Liberty Loan rally, ended as an impressive patriotic ceremony when the throng joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

REPORTED INCREASE OF 25 PER CENT. IN SOLDIERS' PENSIONS Toronto, Oct. 22.—From an authoritative source, the Globe says it has learned that an order-in-council had been put through at Ottawa increasing pensions to overseas soldiers by twenty-five per cent.

CHANGE ON RIVER The steamer Hampton will discontinue running to Hampton at the end of this week and will go on the Indiantown-Belleisle route for the remainder of the season, making three trips a week. For some time this steamer has been operating on these two routes, but it is said, that owing to the slackness of business on the Kennebecasis route and the need of a better service on the Belleisle route she will change her schedule next week. Steamship men say that freights this fall have been lighter than customary. Very little produce is being sent to the city and cargo up river are also correspondingly light. It is expected that they will pick up before the close of navigation.

Swept Away By Flood Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Every bridge for sixty miles up the Bellaçoola Valley has been swept away and all the roads washed out by floods. The townsite of Bellaçoola is a scene of wreckage and desolation. Practically every inhabitant has suffered loss.

FOUGHT THE HUN CRUISERS SINGLE HANDED IN THE ACTION IN THE NORTH SEA

Destroyer Mary Rose Was True to Traditions of Navy GERMAN BRUTALITY AGAIN Butchery of Crews of Merchantmen Declared to Pass Description—Women on Board Vessels Slain, as Well as Men London, Oct. 22.—The British destroyer Mary Rose fought single handed against the German cruisers in the convoy action in the North Sea, according to a story ascribed to a British officer rescued off Bergen and transmitted by the Christiania correspondent of the Times. The other destroyer, which should have been present, never appeared, and it is thought likely that it was destroyed at the beginning of the action. After fighting heroically for half an hour, during which she was subjected to the most terrific concentration fire, the Mary Rose sank. The members of the crew were found clinging to buoys and rescues.

The correspondent says that the reports of the butchery of the crews of the merchantmen pass description. Two women on one ship were a piece of white cloth which was perfectly visible. They were silenced by a volley from the German cruisers. London Opinion. London, Oct. 22.—The newspapers take two divergent lines of criticism regarding the attack on the convoyed merchantmen in the North Sea. According to one view, the incident is one that no foresight or vigilance could avert, and although regrettable in every way, cannot exercise any decisive effect. On the other hand, some newspapers ask what has become of the British command of the North Sea. Ruthlessness Stockholm, Oct. 22.—Newspaper accounts of the attack by German raiders on convoys in the North Sea say that two German cruisers and three torpedo boats fired ruthlessly on the merchantmen and subsequently on their lifeboats. They made no effort to spare the lives of the seamen. The loss involved in the sinking of the two Swedish vessels amounted to two million kroner. Christiania, Oct. 21.—A despatch from Bergen says that several survivors of the German raiders' attack in the North Sea, arrived there on Friday night and related harrowing stories of two days of suffering and privation in small boats before landing. The captain of one of the Norwegian torpedo boats touched with the crew into the boats but the Germans began firing immediately. After the boats were lowered, a shell hit one and killed nine men. The crew in despair returned to the steamer and signalled to the Germans to cease firing, but their appeal was not heeded. The bridge was then hit and knocked overboard with the captain and the rest of the crew. The captain managed to save himself by swimming to a raft, and he was picked up two hours later by a boat from one of the other sunken steamers. It is reported from Utvar that seventeen men from a British destroyer arrived there at three o'clock on the morning of Friday. It was at this port that a Norwegian torpedo boat touched with thirty-seven survivors from various sunken steamers.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS TO FIREMEN IN MONTREAL Montreal, Oct. 22.—As a chapter of accidents the following has a unique place in local history. The hose wagon No. 14 fire station was struck by a street car in St. Dominique street while going to a fire on Sunday night; Fireman Alphonse Lesperance was taken to the hospital with a broken leg, and Captain Pelletier, who was driving, was hurt internally. Firemen Pepin, Brown and Aubin, who were at supper when the alarm was run in and reached No. 14 station just after the apparatus had left, were being taken to the fire in an auto owned by a friend named Renaud. A delivery wagon ran into the auto and the firemen were thrown into the street. Fireman Pepin was taken to the Western Hospital suffering from internal injuries, but the other two firemen were able to proceed to the fire. Dr. Lafleur, of the fire brigade, was on his way to the Western Hospital to see Fireman Pepin when his buggy was run into by an auto, and he and his driver were thrown out. Dr. Lafleur escaped serious injury, but his driver, Donat Chaput, sustained a cut head and three broken ribs. He was taken home. The fire destroyed the warehouse of the Montreal Cotton and Woolen Waste Company in Van Horne avenue.

MILLIONS OF POUNDS OF FISH TIED UP BY SHORTAGE OF TONNAGE Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 22.—Fisheries interests here with branch houses in Newfoundland have been advised that shortage of tonnage has resulted in the tieing up of nearly 200,000,000 pounds of fish in that colony. The catch of cod in Newfoundland waters this year has been unprecedented, but the war has resulted in the cutting off of the usual European markets for the cod product. New Yorkers See "Tank" New York, Oct. 22.—A British tank, which saw active service in Flanders, has arrived here and will be transported to Central Park tomorrow to be placed alongside the submarine recently brought here.

KING FAVORS REPRISALS FOR GERMAN AIR ATTACKS London, Oct. 22.—The king and queen paid a surprise visit yesterday afternoon to one of the bombed districts of London, and talked for two hours with victims. Speaking to a local clergyman the king said: "I wish people who are against retaliation could see this wreckage."

MANMOUTH POTATO CROP IN NEWFOUNDLAND Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Newfoundland's potato crop will exceed 2,500,000 bushels, according to a report from W. B. Nicholson, Canadian trade commissioner at St. John's. He writes that this is equal to a supply per head per year of as much as is ordinarily consumed.

THE CORN MARKET Chicago, Oct. 22.—Evidence of sea-board demand, together with slowness of husking and with rural complaints of car shortages, tended today to lift corn values. PIT traders who at the outset favored the selling side, found that offerings were quickly absorbed. The December delivery was in particular demand, as the outlook for accumulating any large stock here soon appeared remote. Opening prices, which ranged from half off to 1-8 advance, with December at $1.14 1-8 to $1.14 5-8, and May $1.08 3-4 to $1.09, were followed by a moderate upturn all around.

HUMOR IN THE WAR; FOR AND AGAINST

PLEA FOR LESS HUMOR IN WAR

(By Harold Begbie in London Chronicle)

This admirable title is not mine. It belongs to a gunner who has fought through all the worst battles in France. It occurred in a conversation we had together in a London drawing room. If I were free to write the things he told me you would call it a bad title. You would say that I should plead for no war humor at all.

PLEA FOR MORE HUMOR IN WAR

(By A. St. John Adcock in London Chronicle)

Nobody can deny that Mr. Begbie makes out a strong case against war humor, you look at the subject from his standpoint. But there are other angles from which it ought to be viewed, for if his plea were granted and carried to its logical conclusion there would be an end of all humour—in peace as well as in war.

A Great World Agency

War is hell. Anything which tends to obscure this truth is a deadly evil. Any spirit which makes for levity in this matter is a most devilish blasphemy. There has never been in the history of man so great a world agency, which spreads torture and human nerves has never hitherto been imagined. The body of humanity is being stretched on the rack of almost calamity. Imagine the feeling of men in the trenches when they come home to find us laughing and jesting about the war, or when the illustrated papers from London filled with war humor reach them in their dug-outs. The young officer did not inveigh against humor. He has a mind which responds to brightness, wit, joy, and even frivolity. But he said to me, "In God's name don't let us have quite so much war humor."

Fighting War

There are two good reasons for this plea. To begin with, the frivolous atmosphere at home (besides being in most excessive taste) is bad for the men preparing to go out to France. No man has trained his armies in another atmosphere. The welfare of the army demands a more serious and dignified spirit at home. And next, we are fighting to make an end of war, and not, as I heard a wit say, "for political incompetence, commercial corruption, and Lady Diana Manners." We are fighting the German people. It is war, seen as the deadly enemy of mankind, which has brought the great American nation to our side. The real purpose of democracy is fighting to a finish because it knows it is fighting war. And the only way in which this spirit can be weakened, which otherwise must conquer, is to make war seem anything but the malignant shape of Satan.

MAY BUILD ON RIVER

There is a possibility that Upper Gagetown may again become the headquarters of a large wooden shipbuilding industry and that vessels launched from the up-river village will, within the next year, be sailing the seas.

It is reported that several upper province capitalists and some provincial lumber operators have under consideration for some time the establishing of a ship yard at that point and that within the last few days a representative of the upper province interests visited St. John and while in the east took a quiet trip up river and looked over several possible sites at Upper Gagetown and Ormoco.

It is understood that the work may be started this winter or at latest during the next spring, if suitable land for the purpose of yards can be secured at a reasonable cost. It is probable that about 300 men will be employed in the work, should it get under way, and that wherever possible experienced hands will be picked up.

DR. PUGSLEY'S MANIFESTO

Briefly stated, the position of Hon. William Pugsley, as explained at length in his manifesto published today, is that the Military Service Act should be retained and carried out; and that he approves of a real union government for the period of the war. If the people of the constituency of St. John and Albert desire his services as a representative on that basis he is in their hands. While he opposed the passage of the Military Service Act, yet after its passage and before parliament rose he called the Liberal members from this province together and told them that in his opinion "the stand which we should take was that as the passage of the compulsory Military Service Act would necessarily put an end to voluntary recruiting, and if put into operation without delay, the first class called out would probably be enrolled before a new government could assume the reins of office, the repeal of the law or delay in its operation would paralyze our military efforts and lead to great confusion, and there should on this account be no repeal of the act or delay in its operation."

It will be noted that Dr. Pugsley expressed this view immediately after the bill became law, and before there was any serious talk of union government. When that matter did come up, he told Mr. Carvell "that if a new government for a real union government were formed for the duration of the war only, in which the east as well as the west were represented by strong and influential Liberals, it was his (Mr. Carvell's) duty, in this period of national crisis, to favorably entertain the proposals which were being made to him to this end."

Dr. Pugsley also conferred with Dr. McAlister immediately after prorogation, and found the latter shared his view that the Military Service Act should not be repealed, and he was requested by the Liberal candidates for Kings-Queens to inform Mr. Carvell and his Liberal colleagues from New Brunswick of his attitude on that question. Thus there was entire accord between Dr. Pugsley, Mr. Carvell and Dr. McAlister in regard to the Military Service Act before there was any prospect of the formation of a real union government.

Dr. Pugsley points out that those Liberals who have entered a union government for the period of the war are none the less Liberals, and that "their aim will be to concentrate, not only the man-power of the country, but the wealth, the vast agricultural, industrial and other resources of Canada to the mighty task which lies before us."

One paragraph of Dr. Pugsley's manifesto is of particular interest to St. John. Referring to the reference by Sir Robert Borden to the necessity of encouraging shipbuilding, he says:—"The question of the encouragement of shipbuilding should have been taken up long ago. Had the naval policy of the Liberal government been carried out, splendid ship-building plants would have been established at Courtenay Bay (St. John), to be followed by plants at many other places in Canada. We should have had cruisers, destroyers and other war vessels available for the service of the Allies, and a large mercantile marine would already have been created; many thousands of men would have been employed in Canadian ship yards. Six valuable years have been lost, but the declaration of policy of the new government in this most important particular gives ground for hope."

Dr. Pugsley believes in giving the new government a fair field, but while he gives winning the war the first place, he does not overlook the fact that to win the war we need much more than the mere conscription of men.

The union government will be judged by its acts. It will not last longer than the war in any case, and the people are not deprived of an opportunity to express their views, although handicapped by the iniquitous elections of last session. The government will have an opportunity before the elections are held to show to what extent it is prepared to go in carrying out these policies for which the Liberals have stood and will continue to stand.

THE WAR SITUATION.

The sinking of two British destroyers and nine of the vessels they were convoying across the North Sea is decidedly unpleasant news. The two German raiders which accomplished this feat made good their escape, and the enemy will thus be encouraged to continue such raids into waters traversed by vessels with supplies for Britain. It will be necessary, therefore, to provide more powerful convoys.

The naval news from the Baltic is more cheering. The Russian fleet which was reported to be bottled up has escaped from the Germans, and may yet be able to give a good account of itself.

The destruction of four Zeppelins in France is a tribute to the efficiency of the Allied airmen. These Zeppelins are said to have been part of the fleet that raided England on Friday night.

British air-craft successfully bombed German positions in Belgium, and naval craft have heavily bombarded Ostend. Last night's cables say there is every indication of a combined British and French offensive in Flanders. Renewed activity is also reported from the Italian and Macedonian fronts and in Mesopotamia and East Africa.

An Amsterdam cable estimates German casualties at 8,250,000 men since the war began. This is probably an over-estimate, but in any case a large proportion of the wounded would in due course return to the front. Nevertheless, the total loss sustained by Germany since August, 1914, must be enormous, and the prospect of another year with powerful enemies attacking on all sides must have a very depressing effect upon the people. An air-raid here and a sea-raid there, and a temporary success in the eastern theatre of war cannot compensate for the constant wearing down of German man-power on all fronts, and the lessening supplies of food and war materials.

Referring to the Military Service Act, the Montreal Herald says: "As Sir Wilfrid Laurier has pointed out, now that the Military Service Act has become law, it is the common duty of all to aid in its enforcement. Only mischief can result from such a paragraph as this: 'What about the Military Service Act? Can you dodge it? Sure you can, if you're in politics, trusts or combines.' This appeared, not in a publication of this province, but in a western weekly. The publisher has been warned that anything of that kind in future will be followed by the application of the law. And that is right. Canada has no room for the type of 'mentality' that is indicated by such cheap jibes as that."

The Westminster Gazette says: "It took the French years after the beginning of their revolution to produce the great revolutionary army, and we cannot suppose that the same task will be accomplished in a few months in Russia. But we hope that, with support and sympathy from the Allies, the Russian army will rally sufficiently to play the important part of containing a large force on the east front, and that the leaders of the nation will steadily resist all the blandishments of the enemy for a separate peace."

If the St. John Standard desires a party fight in St. John and Albert, as well as in Royal, and will be content with no less, there will be nothing for the Liberals to do but join issue. If the Standard, as an organ of union government, wants discussion, it is getting along nicely by making vicious partisan attacks upon Hon. William Pugsley and boosting Gen. McLean as a candidate in Kings-Queens.

The late Sheriff O'Brien of Northumberland was for many years a strong influence in the politics of that county. He was a close personal friend of the late Hon. Michael Adams, and was of the same genial nature. Known and esteemed by all, his death is a source of great regret to the people of the Miramichi, and to many friends in other parts of the province.

Drunkenness has not yet been stamped out in St. John. Two drunken men in a carriage, wrangling on the street, about ten o'clock last evening, disturbed the residents of one neighborhood, and there were other evidences yesterday that liquor is still obtainable.

An attack upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier by the Hon. Albert Severy is hotly calculated to smooth the path of union government. A comparison of the record of the two men ought to suggest to Mr. Severy the propriety of holding his tongue.

The Germans, officers and men, who paraded out the girls of a French town as their servants, and carried them off, were not men but fiends. There is no punishment too severe for such infamy. France will not forget—nor will Britain or the United States or Italy.

It is now expected that Mr. A. K. MacLean will enter the union government as the Liberal representative from Nova Scotia. He is a very able man and as stout a Liberal as any of those who entered before him.

We can imagine how the crews of the British grand fleet are chafing with discontent when they read of German raids and are themselves unable to strike a blow at an enemy that remains in safe hiding.

King George endorses the demand for air reprisals against Germany. There should be no further delay in giving the Germans a thoroughly effective dose of their own medicine.

Sir Joseph Flavelle's conscience does not trouble him. Sir Joseph's pockets are full.

The gunman is becoming one of us.

A MORNING PRAYER.

(Contributed by Beulah Gover.)
Let me today do something that shall take
A little address from the world's vast store,
And may I be so favored as to make
Of joy's too scanty sum a little more.
Let me not hurt, by any selfish deed,
Or thoughtless word, the heart of foe,
Or friend;
Nor would I pass, unseeing, worthy need,
Or sin by silence where I should defend.
However meager be my worldly wealth
Let me give something that shall aid my kind,
A word of courage, or a thought of health,
Dropped as I pass for troubled hearts to find.

Let me tonight look back across the span
Twix dawn and dark, and to my conscience say—
Because of some good act to best or man—
"The world is better that I lived to-day."
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Champion Optimist

While A. W. Bovey of Kimball, S.D., was moving the other day from his certain parts of his machine caused the development of a spark.
The spark set fire to the dry grass.
Bovey, being a humane man, had put light blankets upon his horses to protect them from flies.
The burning grass set fire to the blankets upon the horses.
The horses ran, setting fire to a hundred-acre wheat field and the grain was destroyed.

Having no other terminal facilities in view, the horses turned into Bovey's barn and it caught fire.
While the barn was burning sparks from it were blown into several stacks of grain, which were destroyed.
When about everything that could burn had been burned Bovey looked over the scene, hitched up his trousers, and said:
"I'm a lucky guy. I wasn't hurt at all."—Dayton News.

TAPLEY NOT GUILTY ON MURDER CHARGE

Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 21.—The jury in the case of James Tapley charged with attempted poisoning of Jonathan and Robert Shannon, retired yesterday afternoon and reached a verdict of "not guilty." So far as any comment can be made the verdict was a genuine surprise. It is said that the defence looked for some of the jurors to be excused from acting on the case, as they lived in the vicinity of the belligents, and did not wish to take any chances by expressing an opinion on the case.
The scene now shifts and the Shannon goes on trial charged with stealing beef from some Jews who live in the vicinity. The case was taken up late in the afternoon, and a jury secured after considerable challenging by both sides. J. C. Hartley and Robert Simms are acting for the prosecution, and Hon. W. P. Jones for the defence. This case was tried at the last court and the jury disagreed.

Calls Haywood Brains of I.W.W.

Expelled by Western Miners and Socialists

Found Kindred Spirits

First Attained National Notoriety When Accused of Planning Murder of Idaho Governor—Once Honored by University Men

(Toronto Mail & Empire)

Uncle Sam has dealt sternly and effectively with a menace which threatened to seriously hamper his war activities, namely, the conspiracy of the Independent Workers of the World. His agents raided the headquarters of this organization, seized printed matter designed for propaganda purposes and arrested and indicted half a hundred of the leaders of the enterprise. Among them the most important is William Dudley Haywood, now awaiting trial in Chicago on a charge of conspiracy. Haywood under lock and key the operations of the I.W.W. are greatly curtailed, for Haywood is admitted to be the "brains" of the society, such as they are. Haywood has had several narrow escapes from American justice. Once he stood in the very shadow of the gallows, but escaped, and many believe that his acquittal was a miscarriage of justice. He was too desperate for even the Western Federation of Miners, too reckless for even the Socialists. Both of these bodies expelled him from membership. His last stand is being made under the lawless banner of the I.W.W.

Haywood first came into national and even international fame when he was accused by Harry Orchard of having planned the murder of ex-Governor Stuenkel of Idaho in December, 30, 1905. Mr. Stuenkel was blown to pieces by a bomb as he was entering his home. Two days later a man named Harry Orchard was arrested, the chief evidence against him being his inability to give a satisfactory account of his movements. One of the most successful private detectives in the United States, James McArthur, of the Pinkerton agency, was entrusted with the task of worming the truth out of Orchard, and he wrestled with the prisoner with the result that he made a long and detailed confession. He admitted that he had planted the bomb that killed Stuenkel, but said that he was merely an agent of Haywood's. His confession covered 26 murders, spread over a period of several years.

Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone, officials of the I.W.W., he said, had paid him for these assassinations. The defence of Haywood was that there was nothing to implicate him except Orchard's confession, and he sought to show that Orchard had been deprived of his mind by Stuenkel when governor of a mine by Stuenkel when governor of the state, and that he had therefore a sufficient motive. The trial lasted for more than two months, and eventually Haywood was acquitted. After his acquittal he made a lecture trip in the eastern states under Socialist and other radical auspices. In one of his first lectures he said that "a policeman is a pimp and a soldier is a tool on the body politic." Thus advertising himself as a particularly unseemly sort of rash. He also made a graceful reference to "Willie Taft, the president's messenger boy." At a Chicago reception in his honor fifty students of the Chicago University, accompanied by three or four professors, attended, introducing Haywood, advertising in marked that "all birds of freedom are jail birds."

A Self-made Outlaw
Haywood was born in Utah, and came of a family of miners. At the age of 11 he was "bound out" to a farmer, but ran away and got a job in the mines. He educated himself and acquired a respectable knowledge of mining both from text-books and by hard experience. He prospected in several states and when the Western Federation of Miners was started in Idaho he was on the job, and was made assistant secretary. When the Coeur d'Alene troubles broke out he had advanced to the position of chairman of the executive board. At this time Stuenkel was governor of the state, and he and Haywood came into conflict as a result of the strikes and the outrages that accompanied them. At Haywood's trial, some five years later, it was contended by the prosecution that it was to revenge himself upon Stuenkel for his rigorous enforcement of the law at the time of the Coeur d'Alene troubles that Haywood plotted the murder.

Thrown Out by Socialists
After the Coeur d'Alene strike the headquarters of the Western Federation of Miners was shifted to Denver, and Haywood was made secretary-treasurer. The next few years were years of murder and violence in various Colorado mining camps, and the mine-owners did not hesitate to accuse Haywood of being responsible for many crimes. Shortly after his acquittal on the murder charge he was dropped from the payroll of the Western Federation. In 1911 he was repudiated by the Denver Socialists, and in March, 1912, on a referendum vote of 28,406 to 11,674, he was expelled from the Socialist party, not a single state giving him a majority. Previously he had begun the organization of the I.W.W., a body composed of unskilled laborers, whose principles are anarchistic. Haywood frankly admitted that he and his followers pay no attention to "right" in their dealings with employers. He has advocated sabotage and pillage for years, and now seems about to learn the painful lesson that doctrines that are ignored in times of peace most decidedly fail to "go" when Uncle Sam is at war.

CERTAINLY IS THE LIMIT

Not Even a "Thank You" From This Nervy Shopper

(Observer in Maritime Merchant.)

The following story does not recite an event that has come within Observer's own experience, but when he read it in a paper the other day he thought he would hand it on to his readers. There are some people in this world, like the lady in this story, who seem to be entirely devoid of a sense of humor. Observer says "sense of humor" for certainly no one possesses of such a faculty would venture to do what the did. Quite likely every dealer in his time has had experiences of a similar nature and will be very much interested in reading of the woman, one of the partners of a large concern in a city adjoining Boston, which has the public market almost at its back door, this story.

One public market day last week a lady came into his store with some corn in a paper bag which was badly discolored and with a cabbage under her arm. We may here take time to explain that this particular municipality, being mindful of the inconvenience to its citizens in carrying out vegetables unwrapped, purchased a large quantity of paper bags, and sold them to the farmers and others, who sell in the market, at cost. To make use of a common expression these bags were "freeze." They might stand the price of feathers if carefully handled, but corn and string beans, which are so common, were returned to the narrative; the lady came in bearing the corn and the cabbage unwrapped—at least the cabbage was unwrapped and the corn was badly exposed. Marching along to the bundle counter, she said to the boy, "I wish you would wrap this stuff up for me." Now in this store, which is very efficient market, the rule has been made that no packages purchased elsewhere will be wrapped unless in certain cases where the customer will be greatly accommodated or where the parcels contain dry goods or something which does not interfere with the market's business. When the lady gave her order to the bundle boy—knowing the invariable rule—she cast an eye at the partner who stood nearby; but the partner was interested to see how the boy would handle it, and he understood. He drew across the counter two large sheets of splendid, tough wrapping paper and proceeded to do up, first, the corn; he had it partially done up when the lady said, "I want the corn in a paper bag." Again the boy cast an eye at the partner, who stood by and the partner gave him another wink. So he put the corn in a bag and carefully did up the cabbage. "Now, put a handle on it," commented the woman, but without even saying thank you, gathered the stuff up in her arms and prepared to leave the store, when the partner, much interested, greatly amused, and wishing to receive the full benefit of whatever might be forthcoming, stepped up to the lady and, in his politest manner, said, "Madam, there anything more we can do you?"

"No," she replied, "and you're not so smart either!"

Now, after all this courtesy, after the purchase of expensive paper, and a good deal of it, and twice, this lady, who received only the most polite attention on it," commented the woman, who checked the partner when he was curiously asked if they could serve her further. In the language of the street, what do you know about that? Isn't it the limit?

Report Shows Acadia University To Be Strong Financially But With Student Body Depleted By War

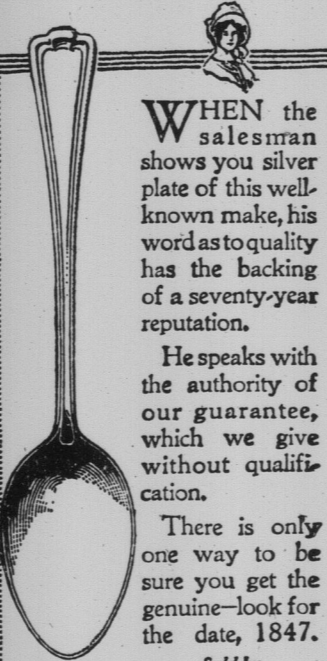

Halifax, Oct. 20.—A large number of delegates were in attendance at the opening meeting of the United Baptist convention at 9.30 this morning, when the first vice-president, Rev. C. W. Rose, of Amherst (N. S.), called the convention to order and introduced the Rev. Bowley Green, of Moncton (N. B.), as the leader of the devotional services throughout the convention. Mr. Green's voice is a new one to the convention. He is pastor of the largest church in the convention. Mr. Green is a native of England who has spent twenty-five years in the United States and who is now under the British flag. He spoke of his first address of the series on Christ leaving Judea.

At 10 o'clock the president, A. A. Wilson, K. C., high sheriff of the city and county of St. John, called the convention to business. The president appointed the following nomination committees: Rev. D. Hutchinson, W. L. Archibald, G. B. McDonald, M. Addison, J. G. A. Belyea, R. S. Phillips, F. E. Bishop, C. A. Brittan, M. S. Richardson, W. C. Mackinnon and D. C. Clark.

Words of welcome from the citizens of Halifax were spoken by Mayor Martin. His worship graciously welcomed all to the gateway of Canada. He spoke of this as the first time that he had had the honor of welcoming a religious gathering to the city. Rev. A. L. Huddleston,

The pastors of the Baptist churches of the city were named as the committee on arrangements. Rev. E. Bosworth and G. N. Masse, of the Grand Ligne mission, were invited to seats in the convention. A cablegram was received from Major J. H. McDonald, overseas chaplain, conveying greetings.

Rev. A. Cohorn presented the financial report of the board of governors of Acadia University. The finances of the university have felt the stronger of war conditions. Receipts for the forward movement were $20,229.15. Of this, $24,224.48 was from the Joshua Goodwin estate. Fifteen thousand dollars has been paid on the building account of the women's residence. The total value of assets is $947,765.81. The current account of Acadia Collegiate Academy is $18,694.44, with a deficit of $274.87. Acadia Ladies' Seminary shows a current account of $31,127.48, with deficit $1,347.92. The farm account shows earnings of $47,209, a profit of $901.18.

I. B. Oakes, D. C. L., secretary of the board of governors, presented the general report of the board. The effect of the war was very evident in the decreased attendance at the college and academy. Roy Ross, M. A., succeeds Professor J. F. Stevens in the chair of German; Mr. W. M. Field, among pastures wives, mention was made of Mrs. R. B. Kinley, Mrs. R. H. Bishop, Mrs. J. D. McFadden and Mrs. Carpenter. Mention was made of a large number of worthy deacons. Special mention was made of Deacon B. H. Eaton.

Wolfe, A. J. Peters, Frank E. Porter, Bernard Freeman Trotter, and George McGregor.

Mention was also made of the service of the late Sir Wallace Graham.

The adoption of the report was finally moved by Rev. David Hutchinson, D. D., and seconded by Rev. F. H. Beals.

At this point the Rev. C. R. Freeman, of Charlottetown (P. E. I.), was elected president on the third ballot, with Rev. E. E. Daley, vice-president for Nova Scotia. The retiring president, A. A. Wilson, delivered his address.

J. Wesley Dimock, treasurer of denominational funds, presented his report, showing receipts as follows: Receipts by the denominational treasury, as above, $58,614.45; receipts by Sunday school board treasurer, $2,217.69; receipts by U. B. Women's Missionary Union, $23,078.18; receipts by mission bands, $4,920.92; total for the maritime provinces, $84,831.44. This report shows an increase of more than $10,000 over the gifts of last year. The churches contributing the largest amount are Brunswick street, Fredericton, $2,210; German street, St. John, $2,297; Amherst (N. S.), $2,769.

Saturday evening at the United Baptist convention, was educational night. The speakers were Doctors W. D. Archibald, H. T. DeWolfe and G. B. Cutten. The speakers insisted that the education of the new age must be Christian.

Rev. J. H. Jenner, of St. John, preached the convention sermon on Sunday morning speaking with great power of A Good Minister of Jesus Christ. The afternoon session was in the interests of Sunday school and young people's work.

Dr. Cutten spoke of the responsibility of the church for the Sunday school.

Clash in Baptist Convention.
Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 20.—Rev. J. D. S. Farmer, of Ottawa, yesterday precipitated the first serious clash in the Ontario and Quebec Baptist convention here when he said that if the people of Quebec province generally had responded as readily as the evangelical portions of the population had done to the country's call to service, a compulsory military service measure would not have been necessary. He believed also that the formation of a union government had served only to make matters worse.

Rev. Dr. Shields, of Toronto, said he did not feel of that opinion, and said he thought that the fact should be made clear that Mr. Farmer was not expressing the sentiments of the convention.

Hayden-Chambers
In the Catholic church, Chelmsford, Northumberland, on Oct. 16, Miss Janie Teresa Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Chambers, of Marysville, became the bride of John P. Hayden.

WAR SHARES HIGHER AND ACTIVE AS N. Y. EXCHANGE OPENS

New York, Oct. 22.—(Wall street)—The week in the stock market opened with a continuance of activity in war shares at higher levels. Equipments were again the conspicuous feature at gains of one to two points. Shipments, metals, oils and various specialties shared in the advance, but rails were sluggish and utilities as represented by Alcoa, Baldwin and some of their re-elected specialties.

WALL STREET NOON REPORT

New York, Oct. 22.—(Wall street)—The general improvement of the first hour to list special stocks. Mexicans were among the favored issues, also Distillers Alcohol, Baldwin and American Locomotives, sugars and tobacco. United States Steel made little progress, however, and copper, re-elected, while railroads were under greater pressure.

CHAIR CAN BE CONVERTED INTO A CRIB

A mission chair which can be converted into a baby's crib is an attractive device illustrated in the November issue of Popular Mechanics Magazine. The chair is of generous dimensions, with sides and back of the same height. The bottom, the front crosspiece, and the back are each made in two parts attached to their respective sides and reinforced with wooden strips which draw apart several inches. In this way the chair is transformed into a crib.

SUBMARINE PAINTINGS

Illustrations of exceptional interest are those which accompany the account by R. H. Moulton in the November Popular Mechanics Magazine of the activities of a distinguished American artist who devotes his life to painting pictures under water. The artist holds that it is impossible to catch the colors and what may be called the atmosphere of a scene by any method of observation from the surface. He goes down to the bottom of the ocean wearing water-tight goggles, similar to those worn by the famous pearl divers, and the South Sea. These goggles are merely bits of cowhorn cut and shaped to fit the eyes. They allow a small space of air between the eyes and the water, so that one can see perfectly. He uses a weight to carry him to the bottom, where he makes sketches on a specially prepared white canvas, each for a few minutes or so, he gets his pictures outlined and then completes them in his studio.

CHEST DEVELOPER TELLS CAPACITY OF LUNGS

Excellent chest development, and incidentally much entertainment, can be obtained by using a simple lung exerciser consisting of a rubber bag fitted with a device to measure its inflation. Special benefit is derived, says Popular Mechanics Magazine for November, by trying to make the bag as large as possible with a single breath. Attached to the side of the valve through which one blows is a ribbon having graduated markings. This measure passes through a slotted guide fastened to the side of the bag, and as the latter expands, the guide slides farther and farther toward the ribbon's end. The reading indicated by the position of the guide shows the number of cubic inches of air in the bag.

THOUSANDS HELP TO MAKE BIG MANUSCRIPT BIBLE

A massive Bible, in the making of which 1200 persons shared, has recently been completed as a feature of a great Bible campaign that has been instituted in England. The volume is in manuscript form and the thousands of workers who helped make it did so by writing out various passages. The tome, a photograph of which is reproduced in the November Popular Mechanics Magazine, measures 9 ft. 2 in. long and 3 ft. 10 in. wide, and when opened is 7 ft. 10 in. across. Seven gold skins were used in fashioning the heavy cover, which is richly embellished with coats of arms.

WHAT ABOUT WOMEN WHEN WAR ENDS?

Will They Give Up Posts Taken To Help Their Countries?

May Be Sex Competition — Problem, However, May Be Solved on The Basis of Individual Fitness

(Montgomery Advertiser) So many women have gone into the banks and brokerage houses of New York to take the places vacated by men called to the colors that the circumstance leads the dispatches to take note of it. The same situation has come about in other cities in American in greater or less degree.

The last two decades saw women take business positions which a few years before she hesitated to consider. In that time woman has come to do about 90 per cent of the stenography of the country. She has sold most of the goods in department and notion stores. She has done most of the school teaching. She has taken clerks in banks. In some instances she holds executive positions in corporate organizations. In general, wherever business and industry have gone, woman has followed.

NEW AIR MINISTRY DEMANDED

London, Oct. 22.—Friday night's Zeppelin raid over England called forth articles in the Sunday Times and Sunday Observer demanding no further delay on the part of the British government in announcing the constitution of a new air ministry. The Parliamentary correspondence of the Sunday Times says the political group which is keeping an eye on Winston Spencer Churchill, the minister of munitions, is convinced that he is manoeuvring for a transfer to the new air ministry so soon as parliamentary authority for the latter department has been obtained.

THE WEEKLY DISPATCH SAYS IT UNDERSTANDS THAT MR. CHURCHILL HAS NO DESIRE TO LEAVE THE MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS

London, Oct. 22.—While admitting the existence of widespread popular dissatisfaction over the apparent impunity with which Zeppelins raided England on Friday night, a majority of the morning newspapers take a more sober view than that expressed by the Saturday and Sunday papers. The story of the raid is still rather obscure and no official explanation of the absence of gunfire in the London area or of the escape of the raiders from England has been given. It is assumed, however, by thoughtful writers that the directors of the defensive system adopted a policy dictated by circumstances and acted with due vigilance and enterprise.

THE WEEKLY DISPATCH SAYS IT UNDERSTANDS THAT MR. CHURCHILL HAS NO DESIRE TO LEAVE THE MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS

While the raiders were not attacked by gunfire in London, they were bombarded considerably elsewhere, and there is reason to believe that one was so badly damaged that it left England under imperfect control. It is suggested that the authorities had reasonable grounds for believing that the Zeppelins would be unable to find London, owing to the darkness and the height at which they were traveling and the firing of gun- and the flashing of searchlights would only have revealed the targets.

IT IS KNOWN THAT BRITISH AIRPLANES WERE UP IN CONSIDERABLE NUMBERS DURING THE RAID, AND WRITERS IN THE MORNING NEWSPAPERS HINT THAT THESE HAD MUCH TO DO WITH THE DRIVING OF THE ZEPPELINS TO FRANCE, WHERE THE FRENCH GUNNERS AND AVIATORS—WHOSE SKILL IS PRAISED WARMLY—WERE ABLE TO DEAL WITH THEM BY DAYLIGHT.

Nevertheless, it is contended that an explanation is due to the public and ought to be given, preferably in parliament. Tokio, Oct. 22.—The Japanese steamer Hitachi Maru, due at Delagoa Bay, Portuguese East Africa, on October 18 is missing and is believed to have struck a mine with the loss of all on board. The number of passengers on board is not known, but Mr. Omal, London manager of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, owners of the vessel, was among them. The Hitachi Maru, a vessel of 6,550 gross tons, sailed from Yokohama for Liverpool on August 29. She touched at Colombo, Ceylon, on September 24, but since then nothing has been heard from her.

ADMIT THE LOSS OF FOUR ZEPPELINS

Berlin Claims "Special Success" In Raid on England

Eight in Raid on France

British Demand For New Air Ministry — Some Comment on Visit of Enemy by Air on Last Friday Night

Amsterdam, Oct. 21.—The loss of four Zeppelins in the raid in an official statement received here from Berlin. An airship squadron, the statement says, attacked London, Manchester, Birmingham, Nottingham, Derby, Lowestoft, Hull, Grimsby, and Norwich, England, with "special success."

RAID ON FRANCE

Paris, Oct. 22.—There were eight Zeppelins in a raid over France on Friday night and Saturday morning, according to latest accounts. Opinions differ as to whether all belonged to the same group or whether part of the number were returning after a raid on England and the others had crossed the Alsatian frontier from Germany and were making for Lyons and other points in Central France. A Zeppelin brought down at Douonne-Les-Bains, about fifty miles south of Neuchateau, was compelled to land by five battle-planes of an escadrille. All the battle-planes came down at the same time and rushed the crew of the Zeppelin, prevented the destruction of the airship and made all of the members of the crew prisoners. This daylight is absolutely intact.

A Zeppelin brought down at Sisteron in the Lower Alps, was burned by its crew all of whom were taken prisoner and escorted to Laragne. One shot down at St. Clement met its fate at the hands of a section of the anti-aircraft artillery in greater or less degree.

Another was sighted at two o'clock in the afternoon. It was pursued by a biplane and disappeared over the Mediterranean. When last seen the Zeppelin appeared to be helpless and it is supposed to have been lost at sea down the coast.

The Zeppelin which landed at Langages leaving fifteen members of its crew and one of its cars and taking the air again with four members of the crew, has not been heard from since and it is supposed to have been lost somewhere in the Alps. Two more airships were sighted flying over Gap late in the afternoon and another in the evening in the region of Lons Le Saunier.

NEW AIR MINISTRY DEMANDED

London, Oct. 22.—Friday night's Zeppelin raid over England called forth articles in the Sunday Times and Sunday Observer demanding no further delay on the part of the British government in announcing the constitution of a new air ministry. The Parliamentary correspondence of the Sunday Times says the political group which is keeping an eye on Winston Spencer Churchill, the minister of munitions, is convinced that he is manoeuvring for a transfer to the new air ministry so soon as parliamentary authority for the latter department has been obtained.

A good deal in this connection, he says, depends on whether General Smuts, minister of defense in the South African union, and a delegate in London, is to be named to head the new air ministry so soon as parliamentary authority for the latter department has been obtained.

THE WEEKLY DISPATCH SAYS IT UNDERSTANDS THAT MR. CHURCHILL HAS NO DESIRE TO LEAVE THE MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS

London, Oct. 22.—While admitting the existence of widespread popular dissatisfaction over the apparent impunity with which Zeppelins raided England on Friday night, a majority of the morning newspapers take a more sober view than that expressed by the Saturday and Sunday papers. The story of the raid is still rather obscure and no official explanation of the absence of gunfire in the London area or of the escape of the raiders from England has been given. It is assumed, however, by thoughtful writers that the directors of the defensive system adopted a policy dictated by circumstances and acted with due vigilance and enterprise.

THE WEEKLY DISPATCH SAYS IT UNDERSTANDS THAT MR. CHURCHILL HAS NO DESIRE TO LEAVE THE MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS

While the raiders were not attacked by gunfire in London, they were bombarded considerably elsewhere, and there is reason to believe that one was so badly damaged that it left England under imperfect control. It is suggested that the authorities had reasonable grounds for believing that the Zeppelins would be unable to find London, owing to the darkness and the height at which they were traveling and the firing of gun- and the flashing of searchlights would only have revealed the targets.

IT IS KNOWN THAT BRITISH AIRPLANES WERE UP IN CONSIDERABLE NUMBERS DURING THE RAID, AND WRITERS IN THE MORNING NEWSPAPERS HINT THAT THESE HAD MUCH TO DO WITH THE DRIVING OF THE ZEPPELINS TO FRANCE, WHERE THE FRENCH GUNNERS AND AVIATORS—WHOSE SKILL IS PRAISED WARMLY—WERE ABLE TO DEAL WITH THEM BY DAYLIGHT.

Nevertheless, it is contended that an explanation is due to the public and ought to be given, preferably in parliament. Tokio, Oct. 22.—The Japanese steamer Hitachi Maru, due at Delagoa Bay, Portuguese East Africa, on October 18 is missing and is believed to have struck a mine with the loss of all on board. The number of passengers on board is not known, but Mr. Omal, London manager of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, owners of the vessel, was among them. The Hitachi Maru, a vessel of 6,550 gross tons, sailed from Yokohama for Liverpool on August 29. She touched at Colombo, Ceylon, on September 24, but since then nothing has been heard from her.

ENFORCE NEW TRAFFIC LAW BY IMPOUNDING AUTOS

Motorists in Detroit, Mich., where there are a large number of car owners, have facetiously remarked that "nowadays the automobile leads a dog's life." The occasion of this complaint is the enforcement of a new city ordinance which resembles the provisions for dog pounds by requiring that automobiles left at the curb in violation of regulations shall be impounded. Since the passage of this regulation, last February, more than 5,000 cars have been hauled away to the pound, which is a roped-off area in one of the downtown squares. A fee of $5 must be paid before a car is released. Special police, nicknamed "dog catchers," mark cars so as to know when they have stood at the curb over an hour.—From the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

TRAGEDY LEADS TO SUIT OVER ESTATE

Woodstock, Oct. 21—The following civil cases will be tried and court will probably be in session all week:

J. Allan Wilson et al vs. Alex. Bell et al. Action of ejectment; A. B. Connell, K.C., for plaintiff; Jones and Jones for defendants.

H. A. Baum vs. Hatfield and Scott. Action of damages for breach of contract. F. C. Squires for plaintiff; Jones and Jones for defendants.

H. A. Baum vs. Nelles & Clark. Damages for breach of contract. F. C. Squires for plaintiff; Jones and Jones for defendants.

The Bell and Wilson cases come from the awful tragedy at Woodlawn, this county, some months ago when Wm. Wilson killed his wife and committed suicide by hanging. Both bodies were found by neighbors. The will left the property to the surviving relatives and plaintiff makes the claim that the woman died first and they are rightful heirs. The case promises to be very interesting.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Amsterdam, Oct. 20—The Cologne correspondent of the Tijd reports that the German casualty lists, comprising killed wounded, prisoners and missing, from August 1914, to September 1917, fill thirty folio volumes of 22,000 pages. He calculates the total number of names at 8,250,000.

EXAMINERS PUT HALF IN CLASS A

Figures for the week just ended under the activities of the standing medical boards throughout New Brunswick show that the number of class A men throughout the province is in advance of the men placed in other categories by the examining physicians.

In Moncton 133 men were found fit in a total of 289 examined; the remainder, 156, were divided up among the other four classes.

In St. Stephen 247 men were before the board, 154 came in for class A and 93 for other classes.

In Woodstock and vicinity 229 men passed before the doctors, 122 were in category A and 107 in other classes.

At Chipman thirty-four were examined with twenty in class A. Newcastle, 277 were examined with 188 men in class A and 142 in other classes.

In a grand total of 1,546 men who were examined last week by the standing and travelling medical boards in this province under the M. S. A., 801 were placed in category A, and 845 were included in the remaining four classes.

At both services yesterday, the pulpit of German street Baptist church was occupied by Rev. W. C. Keirstead, of the University of New Brunswick.

In the evening Dr. Keirstead spoke on Sharing the Burdens of the War. He took his text from 1 Samuel, iii, where the story of David's battle with the Amelites is told, showing how the 200 men who were too weary to keep up with the main body but were with them in spirit, were not left out when the division of the spoils came round.

Four Zeppelins Are Brought Down

On the French front in France, Oct. 20—Four German Zeppelins were destroyed or forced to land in various districts of France in the course of a raid undertaken by these hostile aircraft during the raid last night.

Today's official French statement says: "Aviation—Last night about midnight, Dunkirk was bombarded by airplanes from the sea. According to the report there were no civilian casualties."

"During the night a number of Zeppelins flew over French territory without causing damage. In their passage they were bombarded by our anti-aircraft defence posts. Several of the machines which were brought down or compelled to make a landing. One Zeppelin was brought down in flames at St. Clement, ten kilometres southeast of Lunenburg. A second attacked by our aviators, was compelled to land at Bourbonne-Les-Bains. The crew were taken prisoner, the machine being intact. Two other Zeppelins in a damaged condition, fell in the interior zone."

London, Oct. 20—Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France, telegraphs that the four Zeppelins brought down in France were airships that had taken part in the raid on England last night.

London, Oct. 20—After an interval of twelve months, London last night experienced another Zeppelin raid. Nobody saw the raider which dived at a great height and dropped only one bomb on London and a few missiles in the outlying districts.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley Issues Statement To Members Of The Liberal Party

Defines His Position on Matters of Political and National Importance — Tells Why He Supported Military Service Bill After it Became Law — Union Government for War Period Only

The Times publishes herewith a highly important statement issued on Saturday by Hon. William Pugsley, regarding his own position as Liberal leader in New Brunswick, his attitude toward Union government, his position on the Military Service Act after it became the law of the land, and regarding the political situation generally. Dr. Pugsley's statement, which will be widely read with keen interest and attention, is as follows:

St. John, N. B., Oct. 20, 1917. To the Liberal Party of New Brunswick. When in the summer of 1907 our great and revered chief, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, offered me the position of Minister of Public Works in his cabinet, I accepted the honor, and during the ten years which have since elapsed it has been my exceeding good fortune to be your accepted leader. At the general election of 1908 we achieved a magnificent victory, and New Brunswick stood at the banner of Liberal government of the Dominion. In 1911, we were again victorious, though the Liberal party was not equally successful throughout Canada, and a change of government resulted. I desire now to express to you my gratitude for the confidence in me, and loyalty to me, which you have shown during my ten years as a member of Parliament. The representatives of your choice in the House of Commons have, during these ten years, treated me with a degree of kindness and consideration which I shall never forget. When I was selected in 1907 for a position in the government I realized that there were others, with as great, if not greater, claims for recognition than myself. But, notwithstanding this fact, I received from all unwavering and most loyal support, and from none more so than from Mr. Carvell, who now fills the important position which I formerly occupied.

At the recent session of Parliament, a difference of opinion arose in the Liberal party as to the propriety of passing the Military Service Act, without its first being submitted to the people by a referendum, or at a general election. This difference of opinion existed among the New Brunswick Liberal representatives, as well as those from other provinces. Mr. Carvell (supported as he stated, with great reluctance, and Messrs. Loggie and McLean though the bill, while Mr. Turgeon, Mr. Copp, Mr. Michaud and myself opposed it. This difference did not, however, imply a permanent cleavage in the Liberal representation, first, because our leader had accorded to all of us the most perfect liberty to act as we deemed right; and secondly, because, when the bill became law, it would, in the opinion of many of us, properly cease to be a political issue.

Later in the session the conscientious objectors (so called) were among the most determined opponents of the very objectionable legislation which the government forced through Parliament.

It seems to me desirable, and that I owe it to you as a duty, that I should state briefly the reasons for my attitude on the Military Service Act. They are fully reported in Hansard, but as few of you see the record of parliamentary discussions, I cannot do better than to quote here a statement which I made, while the bill was before Parliament, to a correspondent of the New York Evening Post, which was published in that paper, and which succinctly set forth my views upon conscientious objection, and upon the wisdom of Parliament passing the proposed measure.

My statement then made, was as follows:

"I am opposed to the Military Service Act introduced by the government in the Canadian House of Commons. "First: Because while compulsory service, if accompanied by an all round conscription and organization for the purposes of the war, may have many advantages over the voluntary system of obtaining recruits, yet when the war broke out the government, with the unanimous approval of Parliament and in full accord with the opinion of the people of Canada, decided to adopt the voluntary system, thereby conforming to the principle which had always guided this country as well as the Mother Country.

"Second: Because in the session of 1916, when the government asked Parliament to unanimously pass a resolution asking that the British North America Act might be amended by the Imperial Parliament in order to avoid the necessity for a referendum, the government gave a distinct pledge that there would be no conscription, when the Prime Minister was well aware that if he had intimated that Parliament during its extended life, might be asked to pass a law for compulsory service, there would have been no possibility of obtaining such consent.

"Third: Because, under the voluntary system, Canada has put forth a mighty effort and has accomplished far more for the service of the Empire than was thought possible, and certainly as much, if not more, than would have been accomplished if conscription had been resorted to in the first instance. It has not yet been shown that a reasonable number of additional recruits could not have been obtained under the voluntary system if proper methods were pursued.

"Fourth: Because, after such wonderful results have been obtained under the voluntary system, with the entire unanimity of the people of Canada, it would militate greatly against the national welfare to now introduce conscription to which a very large proportion of the people are opposed, which is sure to produce national discord at a time when the united effort of the people is most essential for the successful prosecution of the war.

"Fifth: Such a grave departure should not be taken without the approval of the people, preferably by means of a referendum and if not, by means of a general election.

"It should be borne in mind, in considering what Canada has already done, that our population, comparatively small and is widely scattered over a vast area, that a large proportion of the people are engaged in agriculture and other industrial pursuits, including the manufacture of shells and ammunition and other supplies for the Allies, as well as for our own soldiers at the front."

"Comparing the population of Canada with that of the United States, which has entered vigorously and with a whole heart into the great contest for the suppression of German tyranny, it will be marvellous if, under a selective compulsory service, our neighbors to the south of us succeed in sending to the front an army, proportionate, having reference to our relative populations, to that which Canada has already sent and which can still be largely increased under the voluntary system. It would mean an enlistment of between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 men, which everyone must admit would be a gigantic undertaking and would necessarily be a decisive factor in the winning of victory.

"The bill, as introduced by the government, is particularly objectionable because it not only provides for the compulsory enlistment of the man power of the country for military service and fails to mobilize and nationalize the various resources and industries of Canada, as well as the accumulated wealth of the people, which would be a matter of enormous importance toward securing an all-round participation in the war, and would be a just and fair measure, because, in this great world conflict, all the people of the country, who are not risking their lives, should bear a burden, which, while not equal to that of those who are prepared to make the supreme sacrifice, would be in some degree commensurate to the protection they are receiving through the efforts of our soldiers at the front.

"The fact that a pledge was given to Parliament during the session of 1916, nearly two years after the war had entered upon, that the voluntary system would not be departed from, cannot be too greatly emphasized. The representatives in Parliament from the Province of Quebec were very strongly opposed to the altering of the constitution, which was necessary in order to obtain such extension. It is perhaps difficult for outsiders to fully realize the force of their objection to such a course. It is founded upon the fact that the language, the laws, religion and customs prevailing in the province of Quebec are secured to them by the Constitution, and the people of that province are naturally exceedingly jealous of any change being made. Therefore, it is no wonder that, having consented to the amendment of the British North America Act for the purpose of prolonging the life of Parliament. I believe in good faith upon the assurance of the prime minister that there would be no conscription, it is no wonder, I say, that this proposed breach of faith excites among the people of Quebec province the strongest feelings of indignation and resentment."

Such was my attitude while the bill was under discussion; such were my reasons for opposing its passage.

It is my duty now to inform you of the position which I took after the bill became law. As you are aware, immediately on the bill being passed in both houses, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that it was the duty of all citizens to loyally carry out the law, and that he would act upon its provisions relating to the appointment of the local tribunals and name one-half of the Board of Selection to be constituted for this purpose. No one more heartily applauded this statement of our leader than I. It showed him for what he is—a truly great and loyal Canadian. Subsequently, before parliament rose, I called together the Liberal members from New Brunswick, at that time in Ottawa, and stated that in my opinion the stand which we should take was that as the passage of the compulsory Military Service Act would necessarily put an end to voluntary recruiting, and if put into operation without delay, as the first class called out would probably be before a new government could assume the reins of office, and lead to law or delay in its operation would paralyze our military efforts and lead to great confusion, there should on this account be no repeal of the act or delay in its operation. We also discussed the desirability of consulting the Allied governments as to the mode in which Canada could best assist in carrying the war to a successful conclusion, realizing, as we all did, that in addition to the furnishing of men, increased food production, so as to do our part in providing food supplies for the men at the front, and generally the marshalling and dedicating of all the resources of Canada toward the winning of the war, were matters of vital consequence. While no conclusion was arrived at as to the form of the platform which should, if possible, be adopted, and which was left for further discussion, yet the determination to do all possible to win the war by sane and prudent methods was held with a view present. It was understood that a further meeting of the session and the fact of several of the members leaving for home before its close, no further meeting of the New Brunswick Liberal members was held.

At this time, it must be remembered, there was no thought of a union government. The western Liberals who had been previously in Ottawa upon the subject had returned home, and Mr. Carvell had positively declined the several invitations which had been extended to him.

After prorogation I came to St. John, and conferred with Dr. McAlister, who had been nominated by the Liberal convention for Kings and Queens held a few months ago.

I had been at the convention which nominated Dr. McAlister and knew that he was heart and soul in favor of Canada doing her utmost to win the war. Unlike some, however, who are equally anxious to win the war, Dr. McAlister did not fall to condemn the partisanship, graft, scandals and profligacy, which have seriously hampered Canada's efforts since the war began; and he appealed strongly for united effort, for national sacrifice, for progressive and honest administration. He asked, not alone for thrift and conservation of food, but for increasing the food supplies for the boys at the front by the encouragement of the farmer by the admission of farm tractors and other agricultural implements free of duty, and by providing abundant and cheap fertilizers.

I was not surprised, then, by Dr. McAlister telling me that he was heartily in accord with the view that the Military Service Act should not be repealed, nor should there be any delay in its operation; neither was I surprised that he should, at the same time reaffirm his views, as earnestly presented at the convention, in favor of a truly Liberal policy.

He authorized me to inform Mr. Carvell, and our other Liberal colleagues from New Brunswick of his position. I so informed Mr. Carvell, but before I had an opportunity of seeing the others, I was called to Ottawa on personal matters, where I learned that a movement for union government was again under way, and while I was in Ottawa Mr. Carvell was summoned there for the purpose of again considering the question of his entering a union government. As Mr. Carvell and I had been closely associated for twenty years or more in national affairs, it was not unnatural that the invitation to join a union government, and as to the advisability of his accepting it, confidence for me to say that I told him that if a new government—a real union government—were formed for the duration of the war only, in which the east as well as the west were represented by strong and influential Liberals, it was his duty, in this period of national crisis, to favorably entertain the proposals which were being made to him to this end.

After very careful consideration, Mr. Carvell accepted the invitation to join the government and he now fills the important position of minister of public works.

As your trusted leader during the past ten years I have felt it a duty which I owe to you to give you these details in order that you may have a better appreciation of the extraordinary political situation which has now resulted. I am satisfied that the highest patriotic motives, I know that their desire is, and their wish, to be concrete, not only the man-power of the country, but the wealth, the vast agricultural, industrial and other resources of Canada to the mighty task which lies before us. That the vital question of increased food production and the building of ships, for the favorable consideration of which I and other Liberals in parliament have, ever since the outbreak of the war, been earnestly contending, find paragraphs in the manifesto issued by the leader of the union government, is striking testimony to the influence of the Liberal members of the cabinet. The question of the encouragement of ship-building should have been taken up long ago. Had the naval policy of the Liberal government been carried out, splendid ship-building plants would have been established at Courtenay Bay (St. John), to be followed by plants at other war vessels available for the service of the Allies, and a large mercantile marine would already have been created; many thousands of men would have been employed in Canadian ship yards. Six valuable years have been lost, but the declaration of policy of the new government in this most important particular gives ground for hope.

And now a word to my late constituents of the city of St. John and the added districts of the county of St. John and the county of Albert. By the Redistribution Act, two members are to be elected for my record of service as a member of parliament, you should approve of my being the standard-bearer of the Liberal party in the new constituency, my services will still be at your disposal. The matter rests entirely with you. I learn that when the minister of public works gets through with his urgent duties at Ottawa, he will come to New Brunswick and confer with both Liberals and Conservatives as to the proper course to be taken to secure the return of supporters in the various constituencies of the province.

In conclusion, permit me to add that Liberals who support Mr. Carvell as a minister in the union government, will not thereby cease to be Liberals, any more than Mr. Carvell will cease to be a Liberal and a valiant and fearless champion of Liberal principles. For the duration of the war and for that period only, Liberals and Conservatives alike are asked to sink their party differences in a united effort to win the war.

"WIN THE WAR— TREAT THE SOLDIERS RIGHT, DOWN WITH PROFLIGACY AND THE HIGH COST OF LIVING." I am, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Liberal Party of New Brunswick, Yours very sincerely, WILLIAM PUGSLEY.

"The Handy Men of The Army"

Some Things the Royal Engineers Have Done and are Doing—Laid The Way for The Glorious Victory at Messines Ridge

In more ways than one the extraordinary mining feat by which the tunnelling companies of the Royal Engineers so splendidly paved the way for the glorious victory of Messines Ridge, on June 7, was unquestionably one of the very biggest achievements of the war, and very naturally attracted considerable attention to the doughty heroes who were responsible for such a truly great accomplishment. The Royal Engineers have won glory and honor in every part of the globe; their proud mottoes are "Ubique" (everywhere), and "Quo Fas et Gloria Ducunt" (where right and glory lead).

"Ubique" is rather a curious coincidence in the case of the tunnelling companies, for the men are really recruited from "everywhere." These now renowned companies are product of men composing them hail from the mining districts of the United Kingdom—England, Wales, and Scotland—and from New Zealand. They are not miners of mushroom growth, but expert, practical men, familiar with the whole business of underground work, and who have "joined up" for the duration of the war, with the very special object of giving the Hun a "blowing up" whenever general headquarters were in the world.

A Big Blow Up It is unnecessary to point out that a gigantic mining affair like that of Messines Ridge necessitates many months of the most painstaking and careful preparation. It is honeycombed with tunnels, and uncut, and fraught with difficulties and obstacles that even to the initiated at times appears to be almost insurmountable. The cost, in men, money, and uncut, and fraught with difficulties and obstacles that even to the initiated at times appears to be almost insurmountable. The cost, in men, money, and uncut, and fraught with difficulties and obstacles that even to the initiated at times appears to be almost insurmountable.

A Brazen Crowd It is not too much to say that there is absolutely no limit to the many peculiarly brainy and ingenious jobs which a tunnelling company is called upon to perform. One which tells of fame and distinction won mainly in the firing line—that is not their forte; but chiefly consists in the performance of a multifarious number of duties which demands skill, practical knowledge, initiative, and enterprise to carry out which, under certain conditions and circumstances, call for the display of very high courage, coolness, and resource.

The "Hell Gate" of Soissons How the Royal Engineers blew up the "Hell Gate" of Soissons will ever stand out in letters of gold. It is one of the most superbly sublime feats in a war which has been resplendent with epic deeds. The story has been dramatically told by Private Gaston Bossier, of the 6th Cuirassiers. "We went together, the Cuirassiers of France and the Royal Engineers of Great Britain, and we had retreated across the Aisne at Soissons. The Germans were advancing rapidly, and were trying to rush their masses across the bridge after us. The bridge had to be blown up. German sharpshooters were firing at us from a clump of trees, and their mitrailleuses were working havoc among the Allies. Into this 'Gate of Hell' your Royal Engineers suddenly went. A party of them dashed towards the bridge, and, although losing heavily, managed to lay a charge sufficient to destroy it, but before they could light the fuse they were all killed. With anguished eyes the French saw the rapid approach of the great army in hot pursuit, and knew that if the bridge could be blown up they would be safe. The fuse was laid. It had only to be lit, yet the khaki figures which dotted the roadway across the Aisne were still still and quiet. Once again, however, British bulldog tenacity was to be displayed. But let Private Bossier speak: "Then we waited. Another body of these brave fellows had crept near the bridge and had taken cover, but the German sharpshooters had somehow got their range and were pouring in deadly fire upon them. "In the next few minutes we saw something which will remain to our dying day. One of the Engineers made a dash alone towards the fuse. He was killed before he got half way, but immediately he was down another man dashed up and ran the fuse, too, fell dead, almost over the body of his comrade. A third, a fourth, a fifth attempted to run the gauntlet of German rifle fire, and all of them met their deaths in the same way. Others dashed out after them, one by one, until the death toll numbered eleven. Then for an instant the German rifle fire slackened and in the instant the bridge was blown up, for the twelfth man, racing across the space where the dead bodies of his comrades lay, lit the fuse and set the bridge up with a roar; but a German rifleman brought him down dead." But his duty was done. The bridge was down. The advance of the invading hosts was stemmed. The French army was saved. This is but one of the many thrilling incidents in the history of the Royal Engineers.

HARTFORD PUBLIC EVAPORATING PLANT

The Chamber of Commerce of Hartford, Conn., on its own initiative, set aside $1,500 for the installing of a public evaporating plant. Then the city appropriated an equal amount and a public school building was utilized for the plant. Of the enterprise the Hartford Chamber of Commerce Club's organ says: "Hartford, no doubt, has the distinction of being the first city in America, if not in the world, to establish a municipal evaporating plant for the conservation of its food supply. The chamber of commerce, through its committee on food supply, of which Ralph O. Wells is chairman, with Samuel Ferguson and Senator C. C. Hemenway as associates, has established a plant which, though not extensive in size, bids fair to be a most important factor in the work this community is doing to avoid a food famine. All varieties of fruit and vegetables can be preserved. Each year a large amount of green stuff is permitted to go to waste because the immediate demand is not sufficient. This year especially, when thousands of home gardens have been successfully planted and tended there is bound to be an excess supply. It was to meet this emergency that the chamber of commerce, taking the initiative and setting an excellent example, set aside $1,500 for an evaporating plant and for carrying down every person assured of receiving an equal appropriation. The plant has been operating successfully now a number of weeks. Evaporated vegetables that will compare favorably with the product of commercial plants, located in sections where the business has been carried on for half a century, have been turned out. Everything in connection with the enterprise has exceeded expectations, unless it be that there has not been time for the expected amount of green stuff for preservation. This problem can be readily solved if our citizens bring their products to the plant. Each allotment is kept separate. Every person assured of receiving back in dried form the product he brought in the raw state. The charge is merely nominal—10 per cent toll being

NINE GERMAN MACHINES DESTROYED

Four Were Sent Down Out of Control—Two Big Days For British Bombers

London, Oct. 22.—British airmen carried out numerous attacks on German aerodromes in Belgium and on important objectives near Saarbrücken, northeast of Metz on Saturday and Sunday. Nine German machines were brought down and four others driven down out of control. The statement reads: "In spite of very misty weather a further attack on Germany was carried out by our airplanes this afternoon. A foundry and railway junction ten miles north of Saarbrücken were bombed with more than 100 bombs. Very good results were observed. Bombs were seen on the foundry and the station. Many hostile scouts attacked the bombing squadrons over the objectives, and four were driven down out of control. We took photographs. All our machines returned safely except one. "Saturday the weather was very fine, but a thick haze prevented observation for artillery. During the day we carried out bombing operations vigorously. A total of 238 bombs were dropped on the enemy's aerodromes at Gondree and Roulers, on the Cortemarck station, and on hostile billets and huts. One aerodrome at Roulers was bombed from a low height. One bomb was seen to hit and blow to pieces a German machine on the ground, while another fell through the centre of a hangar. The enemy's personnel and machines on the ground there were attacked with machine gun fire from our airplanes. During this bombing attack our scouts operated in the neighborhood, bringing down seven German machines which crashed in full view of the aerodromes. "At night the enemy's aerodromes were again attacked. A ton of bombs were dropped on the Ingenieur aerodrome and railway station and on the aerodrome at Courtail. At one of these a direct hit was obtained upon a hostile machine endeavoring to leave the ground. In the course of the day a total of nine German machines were downed and four others were driven down out of control. Three of our machines are missing."

THE COMING ELECTIONS

West To Send Twenty-Two Additional Men To Parliament

(Toronto Star) To understand, however, the real crux of the situation it is necessary to take account of the new power which belongs to the Canadian west under the redistribution of seats which is for the first time effective at the coming election. In order that this may be grasped, the present and the new provincial representation in parliament is here set forth as follows:

Table showing Total Members and Election Electors for various provinces: Ontario (88), Quebec (65), Nova Scotia (18), New Brunswick (13), P. E. I. (4), Manitoba (10), Saskatchewan (10), Alberta (7), British Columbia (1), Yukon (1).

It will be seen from this that, while Quebec and the Yukon remain stationary, Ontario and the maritime provinces lose an aggregate of nine seats, the west gains twenty-two. This is a new voting strength which makes it the factor to be reckoned with in the coming elections. Can St. John, and Central deliver the west to the Union-Victory government?

Eczema Cured Five Years Ago

A Treatment Which Has Proven a Wonderful Healer of the Skin—Certified Evidence of Lasting Cure

Jordan, Ont., Oct. 19.—The old notion that eczema is a disease that is to be cured by time and time again by the cure that are daily being effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment. It matters not what the cause may have been if you apply Dr. Chase's Ointment regularly you will obtain relief and cure of eczema. Here is the proof. Mrs. Stephen G. Thwaites, Box 205, Jordan, Ont., writes: "My brother had a bad case of eczema on his legs. He was troubled nearly all one fall and winter with it, and could not work for days at a time. He tried different salves and ointments, but none cured him. One day he tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it gave almost instant relief. He continued its use, but had not quite finished the second box when he was cured. It is now about five years since then, and it has never returned. We certainly can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and are very grateful for my brother's cure." (Rev. S. F. Coffman, Vineland, Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites and the party to whom she refers, and her statements are correct.") Mr. J. E. Jones, 225 University avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes: "I had eczema in my hand for about five years. I tried a great many remedies, but found that while some of them checked it, none cured it permanently. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in six weeks my hand was completely better. I would not do without a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house if it cost $2 a box. I am giving my name to this firm so that it will get to those who suffer as I did." DESTRUCTION OF THREE U-BOATS

Incidents of Campaign Against Submarines

Airship Gets Two

Another Ramméd and Sunk—Daring Act of Motor Launch Officer Who Swims to Mine and Has it Destroyed

London, Oct. 21.—The following incidents surrounding the anti-U-boat warfare have been taken from recent admiralty records:

"One of our coastal airships sighted a steamer in distress. It was found that she had been torpedoed but that she was towable. The airship summoned tugs by wireless and accompanied them toward port to protect the steamer. While thus engaged the airship sighted a U-boat conning tower five miles southeast manœuvring for another shot at the steamer. The airship instantly wirelessed the position of the submarine to all the warships in the vicinity and they swooped down to attack. The submarine dived, but it was too late. Two bombs were dropped simultaneously in front of the swirl of the U-boat's conning tower and violent explosions were followed by oil and air bubbles in large quantities. A destroyer investigating with sweeps located a large obstruction on the bottom.

"The same airship, conveying west-bound merchantmen, sighted the track of a torpedo aimed at one of the merchantmen. The submarine, relying on the rough sea for concealment, had dived but was detected by the airship. The airship instantly wirelessed the position of the submarine to all the warships in the vicinity and they swooped down to attack. The submarine dived, but it was too late. Two bombs were dropped simultaneously in front of the swirl of the U-boat's conning tower and violent explosions were followed by oil and air bubbles in large quantities. A destroyer investigating with sweeps located a large obstruction on the bottom.

"The airship turned and released bombs above the sinister shadow. The explosion was followed by a vast mist of air bubbles. A calcium flare was dropped to mark the spot and patrol boats made assurance doubly sure by depth charges.

"A British oiler was torpedoed at dawn in very thick weather. A patrol vessel sighted the submarine and opened fire. The submarine was forced to surface and was sunk by depth charges.

"The officers commanding a motor launch sighted a drifting mine while a heavy sea was running. Attempts to sink the mine by gunfire failed. Darkness was approaching, after which the mine was followed by a motor launch and would have drifted away, menacing navigation. The officer lowered a boat and pulled toward the mine, which was water, where it was a mine broke in foam over its round top and sinister horns.

Having pulled as close as he dared the officer jumped overboard and swam to the mine with a line, which he passed through the ringbolt on top, enabling the launch to tow the mine in a smooth water, where it was destroyed. The officer's act was one of great daring as the ringbolt could be reached only with the greatest difficulty and a mistake or inadvertent touch of one of the horns would have brought the episode to a swift conclusion."

THIRD SON IN CASUALTY LIST

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Campbell of Weymouth Sent Six to the War

(Bangor Commercial) News was received in Bangor on Thursday of the death on the battlefield of Capt. Colin Campbell of Weymouth, N.S., son of Mrs. G. D. Campbell, and a sister of Caleb Palmer of 56 Norfolk street and formerly of Bangor.

This is the third casualty in this family of brave soldiers. Mrs. Campbell and her husband, G. D. Campbell, president of the Campbell Gun Co., Ltd., Weymouth, N.S., sent six sons to the front.

Some time ago one—Gunner Thomas R. P. Campbell, son of the late Mr. Campbell, was killed in action.

Another son, Lieut. Kenneth A. Campbell of the Black Watch, Royal Canadian Highlanders, was killed in action on Jan. 29 last.

Now comes the word of Capt. Colin's death, another great cause for sorrow to his bereaved family. Capt. Campbell won the Military Cross. He was a young man of the highest character. He had just won his promotion and transfer after passing to the aviation service and was on his last tour with the guns up the line, after which he was, in a few days, to be transferred to the aerial service.

Sympathy of many Bangor friends will be extended to the sorrowing family.

Fitzsimmons Passes Away

Former Heavyweight Champion of the World Dead After Illness of Five Days

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Robert Fitzsimmons, former champion heavyweight pugilist, died early today of pneumonia, after an illness of five days.

Fitzsimmons died in a hospital here. The former champion was taken sick on last Tuesday while appearing in a vaudeville theatre, and his ailment was at first diagnosed as pneumonia. Later it was discovered that he was suffering from double pneumonia, and physicians declared that he could not live.

His remarkable vitality sustained until Saturday when he lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not rally except at rare intervals.

The first act on the vaudeville programme was that given by the Great Lorraine, a wire performer. His balancing feats, to say nothing of his skill in juggling, evoked hearty and prolonged applause.

Holmes and Reilly in a singing act, followed by the singing act of the duo, were well selected, and their duets especially evoked the plaudits of all music lovers present.

Niobe, in an aquatic performance, thrilled all present by her feats while submerged in a tank of water. The scene was lit with glass and lighted water for more than two minutes she ate and drank there and answered questions by writing on a slate. This act was unique and made a decided hit with all present.

Parillo and Girle were pleasing in a song and instrumental act. The former has a good voice and in addition is an accomplished player on a piano accordion. He sings and plays popular pieces, which win instant favor and was forced to retire to several encores.

Bruce and Betty Morgan made a hit in a talking, singing and dancing act. The male member is an exceptionally clever and accomplished pianist, and the female member is a runner of fine jokes and puns which kept all present amused. His love making scene was a thriller and brought down the house.

GOOD BILL IS NEW ONE AT THE OPERA-HOUSE

"Gray Ghost" Serial Begun; Vaudeville Acts Are Highly Entertaining

The management of the Opera House offers to its patrons this week an assortment of vaudeville acts which in truth would be hard to beat. The programme includes the first instalment of "The Gray Ghost," a new picture serial, excellent musical good dancing, an aquatic act of unusual merit and a tight wire performer, whose feats were very thrilling and highly entertaining.

The first episode of "The Gray Ghost" was all that could be desired and gave an idea of the treat in store for those who attend the weekly performances. The picture abounds in mysteries and the characters seem to be well chosen.

FURTHER WORD OF HUN OUR RES

Sacking of French Towns Which They Evacuated—Gris Carried Away as Servants of Officers and Soldiers

New York, Oct. 22.—President Lincoln's order into Holland, who the English and France, where he was sent to investigate conditions as a representative of the president's association of college and universities of the United States, in an address here yesterday declared that French villages and towns recently evacuated by German troops have been sacked beyond description.

Dr. Powell described the fate which befell the town of Chauny, in the Alsace department of France. The British, he said, was of 10,000 inhabitants and almost from the time of its founding, in 1694, had been the centre of glass manufacturing. The army marching into Chauny in the course of their invasion, but last June or July they evacuated it. The Germans were not content with the misery they already had caused," he said. "First they dismantled the glass factories, then they herded all the young women and young men into a barracks. The picture abouts in mysteries and the characters seem to be well chosen.

The first act on the vaudeville programme was that given by the Great Lorraine, a wire performer. His balancing feats, to say nothing of his skill in juggling, evoked hearty and prolonged applause.

Holmes and Reilly in a singing act, followed by the singing act of the duo, were well selected, and their duets especially evoked the plaudits of all music lovers present.

Niobe, in an aquatic performance, thrilled all present by her feats while submerged in a tank of water. The scene was lit with glass and lighted water for more than two minutes she ate and drank there and answered questions by writing on a slate. This act was unique and made a decided hit with all present.

Parillo and Girle were pleasing in a song and instrumental act. The former has a good voice and in addition is an accomplished player on a piano accordion. He sings and plays popular pieces, which win instant favor and was forced to retire to several encores.

Bruce and Betty Morgan made a hit in a talking, singing and dancing act. The male member is an exceptionally clever and accomplished pianist, and the female member is a runner of fine jokes and puns which kept all present amused. His love making scene was a thriller and brought down the house.

Sisters of Orphan Adopted by the Shepherds Also Get Fine Home

When Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard of New York adopted an orphan girl, as told in the news recently, they completed the transition from institutional rearing to fine homes of three little orphans from one Yonkers family. It was announced on Monday that the two sisters of Roberta Sarah Clark Shepard already had become the legal daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Colton Bond of Chicago, and for months had been under the care of their foster parents at the Bond estate in Evanston, a fashionable Chicago suburb.

That the three orphaned daughters of a poor Yonkers carpenter all should have found their way into homes of luxury was due to the fact that Mrs. Bond, after a long search for just the right child to adopt, wrote to Mrs. Shepard, believing that her earlier experience in finding lovable little ones might aid her own search. Mrs. Shepard wrote back glowingly of three orphans she had recently discovered in the Leake and Watts Orphan Asylum in Yonkers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bond hurried from Chicago and spent an afternoon at the home. They chose May, then 9 years old, and bore her off to Evanston. The little girl was happy and satisfied on the country place, except that she missed her sister Evelyn, then 5, her closest playmate in the orphan's home. Though at first the Bonds meant to take but one little stranger into their home, they could deny the child nothing, so they also adopted Evelyn. Then, after several months, Mrs. Shepard decided to

MISSION CONCLUDED
A mission which was conducted in St. Rose's church in Milford during the last week by Rev. P. McPhail, C. S. R., and Rev. F. Healey, C. S. R., was brought to a close last evening. An eloquent sermon on "Perseverance" was delivered by Father McPhail. His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc and Rev. F. Walker of the Cathedral were present. NEVER VISITED HERE
Bob Fitzsimmons former champion pugilist, never visited St. John, but many local sporting men had seen him in action in the United States. The pictures of his battle with Corbett, shown in the Opera House here, were the first motion pictures of a ring contest exhibited here and one of the earliest of any "movies" seen in St. John. Fitzsimmons' feats, especially in 1881 when he defeated five men in one night, will not soon be forgotten. While he never visited St. John, other of the ring heavyweights have been here, including John L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan.

THE ENGINEER'S OFFICE.
Discussing the office of city engineer, Commissioner Russell said this morning that his department required the permanent services of an engineer, but he did not see any need to appoint any one to the office of city engineer. Three of the city departments required engineers for specific and widely differing work, and he did not see that it would add to their efficiency to call one of them by the title of city engineer; neither did he see that there would be enough work to warrant the employment of an additional official to be styled the city engineer and to act in a consulting capacity.

GALBRAITH-McGUIRE
A very pretty wedding took place on October 17 in the parsonage of the Carleton Presbyterian church, when Miss Blanche B. McGuire of Lorneville, was united in marriage to Robert J. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen McGuire. The groom was supported by his cousin, Allan Galbraith. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith left on a wedding trip and on their return they will reside at 64 Duke street, West St. John. They received many beautiful and useful wedding gifts.

SPORTS AND SOCIAL
There is to be a big night at the Y. M. C. A., when the staff of W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., will meet the staff of T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd., to hold a social and athletic evening. There will be basket ball, bowling, ladies and men; potato race, ladies and men; tug of war and swimming. There has been a great deal of training going on in the last few days by those who are taking an active part. A similar affair was held last year and proved a great success. There is a keen rivalry existing between the two teams and the result of the sports is already being speculated upon and great care is being exercised in selecting the best men for the teams. Amongst the ladies are some expert bowlers, who came to light in last year's match.

ROBBERY CASE IN POLICE COURT

Held-Up In Mill Street Restaurant

CIRCUS FOLLOWER IN TROUBLE

Matter of Watches in Show Concession—Two Liquor Cases—Bring Fines of $208 Each or Eight Months in Jail

The police court was crowded this morning at the hearing of several cases before Magistrate Ritchie. William Benway and John Conlin were charged with breaking and entering the restaurant of John Shing in Mill street last night and stealing $41.31 from the till. Inspector Caples first called the son of the proprietor, Charles Ching. He said that these two men had been there periodically since the Bistany shows came to the city and that last night they went in about 7.30 and stayed until midnight. They were put out and in a few minutes returned and knocked at the door. The witness said that he let them in and that both then showed revolvers and said "Hands up!" One of them had a white cloth over the lower part of his face. The taller one, Conlin, stepped to the till and pushed the "no sale" key, taking money from the till. The witness said he went to the kitchen and told John Sing, another Chinese, to get his gun as there were robbers in the shop, but they got away before Sing could get there with the revolver. Conlin asked the witness about some conversation at the police station last night and Sing admitted saying that he did not know whether Conlin committed the robbery or not. The case was postponed until the prisoners could obtain legal advice.

John London, a Russian, charged with stealing four rolling tables and twenty watches from Leo Bistany of the Bistany Shows was brought up this morning and Mr. Bistany went on the stand. He said that the prisoner had run a concession table and that when the shows closed on last Saturday he sent a boy to see if London's goods were still there. The boy reported that they were not and then Bistany went to the train and asked London about them. London said that he knew nothing about it. Later a warrant was sworn against him and he was brought back from McAdam. The watches and tables, Mr. London said, were his and had been bought by his partner from London. London said that the tables were not his and that he had sent them to Mrs. Edson, in New York. He said he knew nothing about the watches, but that they were not worth the $300 on them. He said he had bought them in Sydney for $2. Preliminary hearing was to be resumed probably this afternoon.

Two men charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and were given $8 or two months in jail each.

Muriel Vernon, a dancer with the Bistany Shows, who was last night unable to give a satisfactory account of herself and was arrested by Policemen Gibbs and Cooper, was allowed to leave the city this morning by order of the chief of police.

James McDermott pleaded guilty to being drunk in Dock street on Sunday morning and having liquor in his possession. He said at first that he got it in Sussex. He was fined $208 or five months in jail. Later he confessed to buying the liquor from another of the prisoners in court on a charge of drunkenness, William Mulcahey, and said that he paid $3 for a bottle. Mulcahey was then given $208 fine or eight months in jail.

"SEEMS TO HAVE DROPPED OUT OF THE SITUATION"

On motion of Commissioner Russell, tenders for heating, plumbing, etc., for No. 6 warehouse were opened. The tenders were as follows:—F. S. Walker, $3,515; W. E. Emerson, $3,388. The late city engineer's estimate for the work was $2,000. The tenders were referred to the mayor and commissioner of harbors, to report to the council. Commissioner Russell reported that Mr. Brittain, president of the freight handlers' union, had waited on him and informed him that the members of the union would not go to work this winter unless the flooring in some of the sheds was renewed. His engineer had reported on the matter, recommending that alleys of two-inch planking be laid in Numbers 1, 2 and 6 warehouses, in widths of six, nine and ten feet respectively, requiring 2,300, 2,600 and 5,100; a total of 10,000 square feet, at an estimated cost of $800.

Promising support for this recommendation, Commissioner McLellan said he had understood that the men were dissatisfied with other floor repairs in West St. John.

Mayor Hayes asked Commissioner Russell if he was prepared to present a full estimate of all the wharf work, and it was promised.

Commissioner McLellan remarked that there were some bills for which he would not vote until the estimates are passed by the council. There was one bill of $1,200, which he would oppose, at least.
