Did You Ever Think?

A short time ago a gentleman requested us to stop sending his paper. He did not say why he wished the paper stopped, but we presume it was because something in it did not just suit his fancy. Every newspaper has had experiences of this nature, but they are still in existence regardless of this fact. The action of this gentleman causes a thought to invade our weary brain, which runs something like this: Supposing this gentleman should be called to the "Great Beyond" (we hope it may be many years to come) his heart may be stilled forever. Neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless clay to the silent city and lay it to rest among the flowers. An obituary would be published in these columns telling what a kind father, a good neighbor and beloved citizen he was. As he lies out there in the cold, cold grave yard wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know that the last kind words spoken of him was by the editor of that paper, which in life he so spitefully "stopped." Did you ever pause just a moment and think that your editor, whoever he may be, will write your obituary some day?—Tarpon News.

Don't Be a Clod.

The man who is always planning for a competence in his old age, usually makes his exit before he thinks he is old enough to begin to enjoy it. Saving doesn't mean starvation to-day that you may surfeit tomorrow. Lord Lytton's blind girl, Nydia, in the Last Days of Pompeii, although hopelessly imprisoned took the best possible care of herself and ate her prison food conscientiously, that she may be strong to avail herself of any possible chance of escape that might come to her. Keep your self in the best possible physical and mental condition, alert and ready. Whoever heard of Stanley until Bennet commissioned him to go to Africa and find Livingstone? And who would ever have heard of him if he hadn't been ready, with a body as strong as his mind? And in Africa he not only found Livingstone, but he also discovered rubber groves that made him rich. Why weary the body and dull the mind by a lifetime of hardness, for the sake of a mere competence at the end, too late to enjoy it? By caring for both body and mind, keeping the body strong and the body clear and alert, you will be able to appreciate and grasp opportunities for using your small savings in a way to bring you the means for ease and comfort in middle life? Do you ever hear of "the man will the hoe" doing anything for himself or the world? Why? Because a clod don't think—can't think. So don't be a clod.

An Immoral Scene.

An honest man might starve to death without attracting much attention; and a brave man, injured in saving the life of a human being might be left with no one but a hospital nurse to comfort him; but the wretch who kills a woman for her watch and trinkets, and is condemned to be hanged, is surrounded by praying parsons and weeping women from the benches to the gallery. He exchanges farewell kisses—kisses! mark you—with them, and his hand is held by the clergyman as he ascends the steps to the place of execution. What a loathsome, manful, immortal, demoralizing spectacle it is! It is enough to make certain persons—hungry for sympathy and notoriety—commit murder for the glory of getting hanged.—Chatham World.

EMPIRE LINIMENT

A straight talk on M. Ramon, Merchant, of Newcastle, N. B., says in his ad. in the North Shore Leader, "We stake our reputation on EMPIRE LINIMENT. Take our advice and never be with it in the house, the camp or when travelling."

Liquor and Crime.

I have defended forty-one men and women for murder in my life, and I am safe in saying that nineteen out of twenty of them were caused by liquor. Whisky is the most demoralizing thing in the world. Men do not usually drink it to get into a condition to rob and kill, but when they get it into them they are ready for any sort of devilry that comes to hand.

Privileged.

Dicky—Your dad always goes to sleep in church.
Georgy—My dad has a right to go to sleep in church if he wants to. He gives more to the preacher than any other man in the congregation.—Chicago Tribune.

Abolish Present Highway Act.

Hon. C. W. Robinson, premier, who was in the city yesterday engaged in government business, said last night when asked about the highway act, made a stronger announcement than any yet given out. He said that the present act would be abolished but he was not in a position to say what lines would be followed in the new act. It was the intention of the government, he said, to get the opinions of the people on this just how this would be done had not been determined, but there would be master for highway legislation at the next session of the legislature.

LETETE.

Geo. Cooper and wife and Jas. Hoyt have gone on a trip to Boston and other cities.
Mrs. Edward McNichol and Miss Mattie Matthews have gone to Boston on a visit.
Hugh McGaw paid his father a visit here on Saturday evening.
Chester, while towing a scow loaded with Monuments through St. Andrews Bay bound for Deer Island had to run for a harbor last week as it was getting rough, so he got in Letete Harbor and anchored off Jake's point until the weather moderated.
Louis McGrattan passed through here last week on his way to Deer Island.
Miss Elsie Greenlaw is visiting her friends around here after spending the summer in Eastport.
Miss Glennie McNichol has gone to Eastport to spend the winter there with her uncle Cole McNichol.

Helping to Choose.

The men in the store watched the young farmer assist his wife into the respectable-looking buggy outside, arrange the packages, spread the laprobe generously and carefully over the young woman's knees and then, himself uncovered; drive away.

"Clayton's goin' to take good care of his," commented the storekeeper.

"Foolish of him," declared Washington Hancock.

"He'll get tired o' washin' up that buggy o' his'n after a while 'n conclude the old wagon's good enough to come to town to trade in," said Sol Baker, sagely.

"Course he will," agreed Hancock.

"He'll have her out to the woodpile splittin' stove wood, like as not. I've knowed that to happen, too."

Baker had the grace to look embarrassed when the storekeeper snickered.

"There's was things than splittin' a leetle might o' wood now an' then for a woman," he said. "Anyway, Clayt's wife'll take all the care he kin give her an' then need more. It he ain't washin' the dishes for her afore long I miss my guess. She don't like no kind o' work none too well. She didn't as a gal."

"Ain't a great hand to cook, they tell me," said the storekeeper. "Most any one o' the other gals could beat her out when it come to fixin' up a meal. Seems like Clayt 'ud have took 'Lisbeth or Birdie if he was set an' bound to marry into the fam'ly. 'This un's mighty slack mouthed, by all accounts. I could have told him anythin' on that score if he'd come to me an' ast me."

"Why didn't you tell him, anyway?" asked Marvin Parsons.

"It's a pity she's slack-mouthed," observed Hancock. "It's them kind o' wimmin that gits to talkin' about their neighbors after a while. An it's a funny thing that it's allus the wimmin that does that. You might sit in this store when Rufe an' Sol here was shootin' off their mouths year in an year out an' you'd never hear them say a word agin' anybody--not if you was stone deaf. But when a man sees a feller in 'dager o' blightin' his life by takin' up with a gal that's ornery an' no account, he ain't doin' no more than what's his duty to give him the right kind o' warnin'. If a feller's got good sense he'll exprehiatate a word in season o' that sort an' won't git mad about it. An' body's apt to be a mite careless an' unthinkin' in the matter o' choosin' a gal when he's young. I bet there hain't a married man but what'll say that's so."

The storekeeper nodded involuntarily and Hancock grinned.

"'S fur 'nct takin' a word o' kindly advice is concerned, I reckon there's the many a man would tell you that if somebody'd come to him in time an' let him know what he had a right to expect from the gal he was thinkin' o' marryin' he'd never have married the gal he did," resumed Hancock. "There's some what does git warnin' in time. I rickerleek right well when a cousin o' mine, Sam Hancock, thought o' hitchin' up with a gal he'd met up with when he was a young buck. He seen the gal an' tuck her buggy ridin' once or twice an' he figgered to himself that she was jest about the finest young woman that ever set a foot on this green airth. He couldn't make out that she'd got a fault. She'd allus acted that way whilst he was around, so how was he to know any diffrant?"

"There was one thing, though, an' that was that Sam had a mighty level haid on him for as young as he was. He'd slip up on a trade wunst in a while but he never slipped up twice the same way an' he'd made a many trades by the time he was twenty years old. No, Sam wasn't nobody's fool."

"Well, there was a feller lived neighbor to the gal's folks name of Ben Critenden, an' he knowed Sam an' he knowed the gal. He figgered that Sam was a likely boy an' that it wasn't right for him to stand back and keep his mouth shut when he c'd do good by openin' it. So he goes to Sam one day and he takes him out behind the barn for a confidential talk."

"Sam he says, 'I allow you know that I'm a friend o' yours an' that I ain't a troublemaker or a stir-strife. I've got uthin' to say to you an' if I say it I don't want you to git mad an' prance around on your ear.'

"Certainly not," says Sam. "If you've got anything on your mind you say it. It's about Berthy, says Ben.

Helping to Choose.

"I hain't agoin to git mad," says Sam.

"What about Berthy?"

"It is thisaway," says Ben. "I would not say nothin at all if I thought you'd had the chance to know for yourself jest what kind of a gal she was. But you hain't an I have. I hired out to her paw all through one harvest an I know what I'm a talkin' about. That gal's mighty shif'less. Sam--jest shif'less."

"Is that so?" says Sam.

"I wouldn't tell you if it wasn't so," says Ben. "An' I wouldn't say nothin' against her pether if you wasn't a friend of mine. She'll shirk off an leave her mammy to do the work if she kin, an' if she can't she'll jest about half do it."

"That's too bad, says Sam, lookin' thoughtful.

The meals he cooks 'ud sicken you, says Ben. Harvest time a feller ain't partickler, but they sicken me. An' when she's round the house she ain't slicked up the way she is when she goes to a church seshable, I tell you that."

"Sho!" says Sam.

Yes, sires, an her temper ain't none o' the best. I seen her belt her young brother one day an knock him endways. If you take my advice, Sam, you'll drop off."

Sam studied a moment an then he got up an' shucked his coat. Ben looked down his nose. You hain't mad, are you? he says.

No, says Sam, a-split on his hands. I hain't mad a mite, but I'm jest goin' to waller you round a spell to teach you to mind your own amais an' to quit tatin on gals. An with that he let in an done it."

"Did he marry the gal afterward?" inquired Baker.

"'Co'se he did, replied Hancock. Why wouldn't he?"

"You said he had a heap o' sense, urged the storekeeper.

"Not regardin them matters," said Hancock. "No man has. But there wasn't no more wrong about that gal than there is about any gal, an I reckon they got along about as well as most, her an Sam--maybe better."--Chicago News.

One On The Editor.

A little boy of our city was given the task by his father of writing an essay on editors the other day, and the following was the result of his effort: "I don't know how newspapers come to be in the world. I don't think God does, for he hain't got nothing to say about them and editors in the bible. I think the editor one of the misin' links you read of and strayed in the bushes until after the flood; and then come out and wrote the thing up and has been there ever since. I don't think he ever dies. I never saw a dead one and never heard of one gettin' licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one; the editor goes without underclothes all winter, don't wear socks, and pay hain't paid his subscription in more than five years."

If the editor makes a mistake he has to apologize for it but if the doctor makes a mistake he burns it. "If the editor makes one there is a lawsuit, swearsin' and the smell of sulphur, but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and the smell of vanilla. "A doctor can use a word a yard long 'thout knowin' what it means, but if the editor uses it he has to spell it. "If the doctor goes to see another man's wife, he charges for the visit; but if the editor goes, he gets a charge of buckshot. When the doctor gets drunk, it's a case of overcome by heat, and if he dies, it's 'heart trouble.' When an editor gets drunk, it's a case of top much booze, and if he dies, it's a case of delirium tremens. "Any old college can make a doctor. "You can't make an editor, he has to be born."--Exchange.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by all Dealers.

PENNFIELD RIDGE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. David Boyd, Pennfield Ridge, was the scene of a happy event on Monday, November 18th, when their youngest daughter Annie Edythe, and Mr. John Carter, of Seelye Cove, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk lawn and carried white flowers. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Jessie A. Eldridge, who looked charming in a dress of white organdie with lace trimmings and white flowers. The groom was supported by his brother, Nathaniel Carter. At five o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor, which was tastefully trimmed with evergreen and roses. Rev. H. L. Lynds of St. George performed the ceremony, after which a delightful supper was served. At eight o'clock the bride donned a suit of grey with hat to match, and amid showers of rice and good wishes drove to their future home in Seelye Cove, where a party of young folk gathered to wish Mr. and Mrs. Carter a long life of happiness. The many beautiful gifts which were presented show the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

Old Time Toys.

Perhaps you think, when you push your jumping-jack before, somebody and make them say "Oh!" and jump, that the little children who lived ages and ages ago, so long ago that we scarcely know anything about them, did not have such a toy; only the children in America know it. If you do think so, you are mistaken.

It has been found that the children in Egypt had such a toy. And another discovery is that the little girls in Egypt, in the long, long ago had dolls-- queer, misshapen dolls, but dolls that they loved and to whom they were little mothers.

Wise Sayings.

"It ain't never no use puttin' up yer umbrella! till it rains!"

"It looks like ever'thing in the world comes right if we jes' wait long enough."

"Somehow I never feel like good things b'long to me till I pass 'em on to somebody else."

"Ma use o' say livin' was like quitlin'-- you orter keep the peace an' do 'way with the scraps."

"I jes' do the best I kin where the good Lord put me at, an' it looks like I got a happy feelin' in me 'most all the time."-- From "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

For the Sick-Room.

One of the most convenient articles to be used in a sick-room is a sand bag. Get some clean, fine sand, dry it thoroughly in a kettle on the stove. Make a bag about eight inches square, of flannel, fill it with sand, sew the opening carefully together, and cover the bag with cotton or linen. This will prevent the sand from sitting out, and will also enable you to heat the bag quickly by placing it in the oven or even on the top of the stove. After using this you will never attempt to warm the feet or hands of a sick person with a bottle of hot water or a brick.

The Whale's Laminee.

The age of whales is ascertained by the size and number of laminee of the ribosome, which increase yearly. Ages of 300 and 400 years have been assigned to whales from these indications.

Both Sides.

Both sides may be made of discarded bedsteads by cutting from the firm part squares of desired size and hemming. These mats are nice to lay on the floor beside the bathtub when the latter is in use, but should be folded and hung in a convenient place, as they are not heavy enough to take the place of a rug.

Half Rates For Women.

Women, because they eat so much less, only pay half rates in the more old fashioned of Sweden's hotels.

Marriage Penances.

Army and navy officers in Germany are obliged to make a deposit of $7,500 with the government before they are permitted to marry. This draws an income of 3 per cent and at death is refunded to the family or heirs.

Low Down Cities.

Most Dutch cities are several feet below the level of the sea.

Animal Intelligence.

Evidence of a mind in all animals, even the lowest, is found by F. W. Headley. The amoeba exercises the power of choice when it eats, and the tree-like colony of one called Infusorian, called zoöthamnium, after a time ceases to be agitated by jars repeated at intervals, showing that it must remember that a jar is harmless.

CHASE and SANBORN MONTREAL

Blanchard's Fares.

By LILLIAN WHITMARK.

Copyrighted, 1917, by M. M. Cunningham.

What's up? Blanchard smiled down into Kitty's tear-filled eyes. "The boat," she sobbed. "It left me."

"What's up?" she explained. "They had just thrown the ropes off, and the boat captain would not tie them up again, and there's all the girls, and I can't go."

"That's the Sunday school excursion, isn't it?" she asked. Kitty nodded her head. "They're going to Beaver Island, and I've got a brand new dress, and Ted had the lunch box, and the house is all shut up because everybody is on the boat, and I've got to sit on the steps until they come home, and—"

"Stop!" implored Blanchard laughing. "Three more 'ands' and you will have totaled the world's unhappiness. Not for millions would I have you sit on the front stoop all this pleasant day bereft of your family and friends. This is a serious matter, Kitty. I think that we shall have to go after that boat and make the captain apologize. Now, you wait here a little while and see what happens."

He perched the child on a dry goods box on the dock and went off toward the street. Kitty looked out over the lake at the departing steambot, but her tears had dried. There was something so comforting about Guy Blanchard's face, and he was so big and strong and so kind to little folks. He would do something, he said he would.

Presently she heard a soft coughing sound, and then came Blanchard's voice in cheery hail. She slipped from her perch and peered over the edge of the dock.

There, just below her, was Blanchard standing in front of a gayly striped awning that all but concealed the gnarled arms of a stumpy little power launch. "Jump, kids!" he called cheerily. "Don't be afraid. I'll catch you. This

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nervous Strength, or Nervous Weakness—nothing more. For the heart is not a muscle, it is a brain, it is a nerve center, it is a thinking organ, it is a feeling organ, it is a controlling organ.

creatively. "I've an idea," he went on to change the topic. "Suppose you hide when we go past the steamer. Then when they get there and find you waiting for them you can tell them that you saw like Peter Pan."

Kitty clasped her hands at the ceiling. "That'll be fine," she declared. "How can we do it?"

"Unfasten the awnings on that side and let them drop," he explained. "It will be impossible to see you if you sit right in the middle."

Kitty flew to carry out instructions, and she was just in time, for the launch had gained rapidly on the steamer, and presently they were slipping past the slow moving excursion boat. It was still an hour's ride to the island, and the Republic would take an hour and a half. Kitty was so full of her new idea that she forgot the earlier conversation, and Blanchard gave a slight gasp when at last she was safely landed without having pursued her investigation further. He was backing away from the dock when she called to him. He ran alongside again.

"You forgot your fare," she reminded as her little arms went about his neck and the full red lips were laid against his own.

"I am afraid that I am a poor capitalist," he said, "but I will collect my fare, he laughed. "Take care of yourself, kids, and don't fall off the dock. It will be half an hour before the boat gets here."

"Why don't you stay?" she demanded. "Mabel will give you some of our lunch." "I have some here," he laughed as he indicated a locker. "I'm going to have a picnic all by myself."

It would be a mighty bad thing for the town if old Bill was to quit drinking. "Why, what do you mean, brother?" the puzzled minister asked.

"What, parson, it's like this," the older explained. "There ain't a more contented talker nowhere than old Bill, and every time he gets drunk and sobers up he gets somebody to sign the pledge with him, and the other fellow pretty nearly always keeps it."

Procrastination and Ideals. A man is much less apt to fall in love at twenty-seven than at twenty-two, and a woman is much less likely to be fallen in love with at twenty-five than at twenty. The damsel therefore who makes up her mind that the proper age for her husband is twenty-eight and who acts up to this idea in her painful days runs a great risk of achieving something quite different from her ideal.—London Truth.

What Esnaab's Father Did. By HAROLD CHRISTY. Copyrighted, 1917, by P. C. Eastman.

"I may have saved your life," declared Esnaab earnestly. "What's life when your boots are muddy and no chance to get them cleaned?"

"I think you're horrid," posted Esnaab. "Next time I shall let you go under the ladder if you want to, but don't blame me for what happens."

"Next time you'll do just the same," he declared, with a laugh. "I never saw any one quite so superstitious in my life."

"You must have spilled salt," said Esnaab. "I know you never threw any over your left shoulder, I just know that there is going to be a quarrel."

"I'm not sure we meet with more ladders over the sidewalk," he laughed. "or some other of your numerous signs of evil luck."

the foot of the steps Hastings caught her hand. "You must forget that we are going to the boat club reception tonight?" he begged. "Don't get so completely wrapped up in your mind that you forget me."

"I'll be ready," she assured him, with sudden penitence. "I will be ready at 8. Will that be time enough?"

"Just right," he agreed. "I'll be here on the moment." He turned away and went off up the street. This was the first reception given by his boat club in its new house, and it was the event of the year to its members. For three months they had been preparing for it, and Hastings was all excitement.

It was at the house five minutes before 8 with a huge bouquet, but his face fell when Esnaab came into the room in the same cloth dress she had worn that afternoon.

"I didn't forget," she cried as she noted the disappointment in his face. "but I must go downtown first. I am in such a terrible danger, Ned."

"What is the matter?" he cried in alarm, forgetting the reception for a moment. For answer she held out a paper.

"Let me read this," she commanded. "Listen: 'Esnaab, son of Hamid, lost his pocketbook. If the finder does not return the same, Esnaab, son of Hamid, will do even as did his father before him.'"

Hastings smiled. "Where is the danger?" he demanded. "He says," she went on, "three days will be allowed, and this is Saturday's paper. That means that unless he gets it tonight he will—oh! I don't know what he will do. That is what makes it so terrible."

"And you mean to say that he has frightened you into taking the pocketbook back tonight. Give it to me, and I will take it over in the morning. I'll take chances on the curse."

SYNOPSIS OF Canadian North-West Homestead Regulations.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person or by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situated. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans: (1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

"I'M GOING TO HAVE A PICNIC ALL BY MYSELF," said Kitty, as she looked at the boat on Beaver Island and the Sunday school picnic; here one hour, all aboard!"

"ARE YOU ESNAAB, SON OF HAMID?" SHE DEMANDED.

most lucky she had recalled the couple about a change of name though not of better being a change for worse and not for better and had said "No," though her heart cried "Yes."

"I don't know," she said. "I'm not sure we meet with more ladders over the sidewalk," he laughed. "or some other of your numerous signs of evil luck."

"I want to know," she went on hurriedly, "what your father did to the thief who took his pocketbook and did not return it?"

"My father was Hamid, son of Akkar," began the Egyptian. "To the merchants of Alexandria he was well known. One day in the market place he lost his wallet. For three days he told his loss, and then on the third day—"

"Yes," Esnaab was almost leaning over the counter. "On the third day," repeated Esnaab, "he decided that he would see his pocketbook no more, so he went and bought another."

"I don't know," she said softly. Esnaab was all attention. "I want to know," she went on hurriedly, "what your father did to the thief who took his pocketbook and did not return it?"

DOES IT PAY?

The town affairs, falling like the leaves of the forest in the Autumn,—the Christmas Catalogues from the larger department stores in Toronto and Montreal. They are in many cases followed by personal letters, asking for renewal of orders.

Our local merchants may safely take a leaf out of the catalogue of these business concerns, in the way of persistent advertising.

We look over these attractive Christmas Catalogues and compare prices as we find them in one of our up-to-date establishments in our own town. After I have done so as a prospective buyer, ask myself, will it pay? "Eves though I may possibly purchase a certain article for a little less money, on general principles, will it pay?" We are of opinion that if a buyer should take with him his $25.00 in cash into one of our own business establishments, he would come away a better satisfied man than if he had sent so much money away for purchase of goods he has had no opportunity of examining.

But suppose $1 or more can be saved on a $25.00 order, if one should order from one of these far away establishments would this not in the long run, be false economy?

Our local establishments are an attraction to our town. They have much to do with making our town what it is. The town is kept up largely by the taxes the proprietors of these establishments pay into the town treasury. Let these men lose heart because of a number of the peoples money going out of town, and close their places of business, the result would be, the local market for farm produce in any large quantities closed, the source of supply for our immediate needs gone, decrease in value of real estate, and an increase in taxes would follow. Does it pay?

Here is the story of a dollar bill:

Ten years ago a farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar since and never will. That dollar will never pay any school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the circle of usefulness to himself and his neighbors. Patronize your local merchants who help pay your taxes, support your schools and churches, and lend a helping hand in time of sickness and trouble.

HON. H. R. EMMERSON'S FUTURE.

The Moncton Times states that in inner political circles it is being considered to appoint Hon. H. R. Emmerson as General Manager of the Intercolonial Railway in place of Mr. Pottinger.

The Ottawa Citizen makes the following suggestion concerning the future of Mr. Emmerson.

"It is generally regarded in political circles that Mr. Butler's suggestion for the appointment of a commission to investigate the Georgian Bay canal project before the government commits itself to the enterprise is a foreshadowing of what the ministry will do in this direction. The name of Mr. Emmerson is mentioned as chairman of the proposed commission."

It is again suggested that as the Railway Commission is to be enlarged from three to five, that the ex-minister of Railways become chairman of the enlarged Commission.

Evidently even the political enemies of the man who has practically made the Intercolonial a valuable asset to the Dominion, place a high estimate on his ability as a Railroad man and seem to appreciate the loss to the Dominion should his services not in some way be retained. Hence the desire to find a place for him.

The intimation of the Times is a practical one, and not without foundation. Let Mr. Pottinger with his extensive knowledge of Railroads be placed as a member of the Commission and Mr. Emmerson become General Manager of the Intercolonial. He would then be in a position to carry out the policy he had mapped out as Minister, and which his successor, Mr. Graham, has adopted. Great benefit to the country would surely follow.

Yes! Such a man as Hon. H. R. Emmerson, whom his opponents tried to knock out with a libelous tongue and pen, is too big a man to be kept down, to recognizing this, they would generously find a place for him. The attempted knock out may have given us a Minister of Public Works and General Manager of the I. C. R.

Have you got your coal yet?
In politics what questions are ever finally settled?
Some matters are finally fixed in a Convention.
Call off the masquerade and get down to genuine business.
Forensic performances on the highway have been in vogue.
The town affairs should be wholly divorced from politics.
Perhaps there is no particular need of anticipating the obsequies.
The committee was a good one, and admirably filled the bill.
Look out for the ice, boys, it looks safe, but there are some doubts as to its strength.
It is generally anticipated that an election will take place during the summer of 1908.

Some men get as much satisfaction out of a political campaign as some women get out of a church revival.
A man can run a store without advertising and he can think at a girl in the dark—but what's the use.
Will there be three candidates from St. Stephen? The only persons who may fairly be presumed to know anything at all about the situation are not saying anything definite.
Don't moisten the thumbs in counting money of the paper kind, as it is said the notes carry a disease named "Creedema." We are willing to take the risk should any bank notes come our way.

An expensive bridge under construction, re-building the public works, improvements on private residences, granite business flourishing—as never before at this season of the year—cross good pulp company busy, business obligations being met and general prosperity being enjoyed, is the situation in St. George today. Is there any sign of hard times here?

The pot is boiling in Colchester, a Nova Scotia paper has this to say of a recent political meeting:
The "grand old party" of the MacDonalds and Pappes and Thompsons surely has fallen far when it has to present to the electors of Colchester such a leader as the Fowler Ritchie-Hatch outfit who performed in Truro yesterday. Such a spectacle has never been witnessed in the history of the Conservative Party of Nova Scotia before. No wonder the organs of the Opposition are wallowing about the "death of leaders."

LORD'S COVE.

Last Saturday night a fox supper was held in the old church by the Companion Court of Foresters.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Lambert had a house warming on Saturday night.

We recently enjoyed a visit from the Scott Act Inspector, who came down to investigate this reported selling of rum on the Str. Viking, by the cook,—Mr. Johnson. The result was that Mr. Johnson has been summoned to St. Andrews to meet the charge, and some of our young men have also been summoned to give testimony.

Mr. Calvin Cook and family, and Mr. Isaac Stries and family, have returned home from Lebec.

Mrs. Frank Lank of Campobello made a short visit here, on her return from St. John.

Mrs. Frank Leeman has returned home from her visit to Calais.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stewart came near losing their youngest child by drowning recently. It was playing on some logs near the water, and slipped in to it. When discovered it was unconscious but Dr. Alex. Murray soon succeeded in restoring it to its former condition.

Some of our young people enjoyed a drive to Cheochee Cove, to attend a concert, which was held there Thursday evening, by some young people of Fairhaven.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Adams have moved into their new house.

Mr. and Mrs. Archford Greenlaw have moved into Mr. George W. Lamberts house, which was formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Adams.

Mr. Frank Leeman, deck-hand on Str. Viking, has been home for the past week, his place having been filled by his oldest son, Ashley.

Louis McGrattan of H. McGrattan & Sons returned from Deer Island Tuesday. While there he erected three beautiful monuments from the works of this well known concern.

Mr. McGrattan speaks highly of the hospitality extended him during his stay.

I. R. Gillmor's ad. received too late for this issue, will appear next week.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Eva Meating Monday. It being the young lady's birthday a number of her young friends gave her a surprise party. Whist and other games were indulged in, also music and dancing. A splendid repast was served and at a late hour the happy gathering dispersed.

BETHEL.

Foxes are making great havoc among the hens here — why don't some of our good marksmen shoot a few?

The pie-supper at David Holts was a great success, forty-five dollars being realized from the sale of pies. The proceeds go towards the church.

Everybody reports it the best time of their lives and hopes that Dave will not let this be the last dance by a good many.

John Roix of Milltown is spending a few days among relatives.

The members of the Whist-Club have been asked to enlarge its membership; they will gladly welcome any who wish to join.

A Pie-Supper and dance will be held in the Bethel School house Friday night.

Every one is cordially invited to attend music by Prof. Mooney.

"LEST WE FORGET"

Due respect for our departed loved ones demands that we erect not only

ARTISTIC but ENDURING MEMORIALS

Marble has proved such a failure that some countries now prohibit its use. GRANITE is everlasting and our Egyptian Black Granite is far more Artistic and Expressive than any other granite.

We have hundreds of beautiful designs from $4.00 to $4,000. Write at once for designs and samples if you are interested, stating about what expense you anticipate.

The result of our business shows that our Red and Grey Granites have a firm place on the market, and a detailed explanation why we are enabled to produce the best at the lowest price is unnecessary.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Greetings office is doing some first class job work.

The fine weather of the past few days is very welcome.

A. C. Gillmor's men are busy filling the coal bins preparatory for the coming cold weather.

The noise of the wood sawing machine and the granite cutting machine is heard in all directions.

Farmers in this vicinity are not digging potatoes, but in several parts of the province this can be witnessed. Very unusual for the month of November.

It is said that Michael McDade will be sent to Ireland and Geo. R. Craigie to England by the immigration department in an effort to secure immigration to New Brunswick.

In some parts of Westmorland county growing machines, horse rakes, etc., are submerged in five feet of water on the marshes. There are several hundred acres of hay that could not be made.

Mr. James O'Neill is getting ready to build a veranda in front of his house, which will add to the appearance of his home. The work will be done by the well known contractors Nesbitt Bros.

For special values in Gum Rubbers and Over Sox for men and boys, visit Franley Bros. Shoe Department. Buying early and in large quantities, this firm is in a position to undersell all competitors.

Mr. J. Sutton Clark met with a serious accident Monday evening. While entering one of his houses at L'Etang he slipped, and falling, broke his knee cap. The injury will confine him to his home for some time.

Attention is called to the advertisement of H. A. Cross. Everyone knows that Mr. Cross is the best posted man in this section in regard to life insurance, and a few minutes talk will convince anyone that he has some attractive insurance to offer.

It is the general opinion that the biggest variety and best values in up-to-date Furs of all kinds ever shown here, are to be seen at Franley Bros. Their sales so far this season have surpassed all previous records. Drop in and have a look at some of the latest arrivals.

For the next 10 days, Franley Bros. will give a special discount of 10 per cent on Men's and Boy's Suits and Overcoats, bought for cash. They are working this special offer in order to clean out what few lines they have on hand, and make room for their immense stock of Christmas goods.

The young men who conducted the social dance in Drageorgian hall Friday evening are to be congratulated on the success that attended their efforts. The affair was well attended by both young and old, and all had a very enjoyable time. Mooney's orchestra provided excellent music. The committee in charge were: Edie O'Neill, Hazel Magowan, Louis McGrattan, Harry Douglas and Ross Mann.

An important meeting of the Independent Order of Foresters will soon be held, when a large number of new members will be taken in. The local court is in a very flourishing condition and is one of the most important in the order. The good work done in this community is sufficient inducement to anyone desiring first class benefits, to take advantage of the special rates now being offered for a limited time.

Mrs. Rita Gage, who recently underwent a surgical operation at the Chipman Hospital, died at that institution at an early hour Saturday morning. Mrs. Gage had been ill for a long period, and was gradually fading away, when an operation was decided upon with the hope of effecting a cure, but she had not strength to rally from its effects. The deceased was of a lovable disposition, and made many friends. She leaves to mourn her untimely decease a husband, William J. Gage, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dismore, and one sister, Mrs. Alonzo Kinney, who have the sympathy of all in their affliction. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. A. J. Paddford. —Calais Advertiser.

Epps Dodds & Co are sending out a very handsome Calendar.

All enterprising merchants use the columns of the local paper.

Dr. E. M. Wilson, Dentist, will be at his office here, Dec. 17-18-19.

Friends of Louis Delman will regret to learn that he is critically ill.

The Christian church at Back Bay is to be dedicated Sunday Dec. 1st.

The ferry at the lower bridge is proving a great convenience to the workmen.

Do you receive Greetings; If not a subscriber, let us send you a sample copy.

The N. B. Southern Railway Co. has a crew at work at the McWhirk place putting in a Y.

Several of our young people attended a dance in Poyplac a few evenings ago and report a delightful time.

Inspector Milliken is progressing finely with the wharf. The work is considerably hampered by the delay in getting lumber.

The local hunters all report deer as being very scarce, owing to the prevalence of so many moose, which animal is a deadly foe of the timid deer.

Several exciting games of pool have been played in Wm. Mercere's pool room lately. The presence of some expert players has been a special attraction.

Millionaire McKane, reputed owner of two St. John's dailies, the Telegraph and the Times, is said to be tired of getting rich through journalism, and may sell out his interests. —Sentinel.

We are in receipt of a very appreciative letter from our old friend Harry Magowan, in which he wishes Greetings all sorts of good things. Harry is located at West Berlin, Vt., and his many friends here will be glad to learn that he is prospering.

Two Eastport Indians who have been camping on one of the islands in Boston Harbor for several weeks received $186 from the city of Boston for killing seals within the harbor limits. Under the law a bounty of $1 is paid for each seal killed in Boston Harbor.

The Liberal organizer for New Brunswick was in consultation with the party leaders at St. Stephen last week. An election for the New Brunswick assembly will be held during the coming winter or spring both parties will hold nominating conventions in the near future. A number of names are spoken of for both tickets with probable dark horses nominated at the convention.

The bear killed by Mr. Philo Hanson measuring five feet in width, by eight feet in length.

The fur is a beautiful glossy black, and is perfect in every particular. Mr. Hanson is naturally proud of his skill in landing this citizen of the forest, and estimates that he knows where another of the same family is located, which will be brought to town some day soon.

The New York Sun, one of the warmest of United States admirers of the Dominion says: "From time to time we have commented upon Canada's progress, the growth of her foreign commerce, and the development of her productive industries. In many ways her race during the past ten years has been more rapid than that of the United States. Unless there shall occur some disadventure of which there is today neither sign nor hint, her progress during the next ten years will far outstrip that of the last ten."

The money market is very tight. The banks are doing the best they can to carry their customers over the hard spots yet accounts are being very closely watched by the different head offices, and the branch managers all over the country are in a most trying position. They would like to oblige their customers, yet the orders from headquarters are very positive, and thus it is many a man is disappointed through no fault of the local managers. Here in Woodstock the Banks have been doing everything they are allowed to do, and if some have considered themselves pinched the fault does not lie with the agents. They are all trying to accommodate, but there are certain limitations which just now must be observed. —Cartleton Sentinel.

Watch for D. Bassen's advertisement next issue. He has something to offer that will interest everyone.

Court Charlotte I. O. F. meet Wednesday evening. Business of importance will be considered and a full attendance is requested.

Several of our advertisers have put in their orders for special Christmas advertising. We have some space left and will be pleased to book more orders.

The Eastport sardine factories closed Saturday, on account of the scarcity and high price of fish suitable for canning. This is two weeks earlier than the close time, which is Dec. 1.

The total sardine pack is less than last year and the amount stored in the cellars is very small compared to that of former years.

The White Candy Company of St. John are looking for a location for that industry. The company employ over 100 hands. It might be a good move on the part of the Council to take the matter under consideration. With improved railway facilities and a good field for help the town should be in a position to offer some inducement for this industry to locate here.

Rev. George Titus, of the north end, has accepted a call to the Christian church at St. George. Mr. Titus has lately been stationed at Niagara Falls. He will accept the call and take charge in two weeks. Rev. G. Nelson Stephenson is leaving this church and going to Michigan. Mr. Titus will be remembered here as a ball player. He was one of the best of the local bunch of pitchers. —Times.

The granite workers at a meeting Monday night completed organization of a union and adopted an increased scale of wages of thirty-one cents an hour for monument work and thirty-nine cents an hour for building work on and after Monday. They elected John V. Ward president; John Sullivan, vice-president; Daniel Gilson, recording secretary; Daniel Donovan, financial secretary; Frederick Pawcett, treasurer. —Sun.

Miss Nellie Jenkins of London, who was a passenger on the Empress of Ireland, was met on the arrival of the Stur, at St. John, by Mr. Ernest Harry Bridger. The young couple were married the same day in St. John's church, St. John west, by Rev. G. P. Sewell, the happy termination of a courtship in the old country. A large number of people were at the station to welcome the young couple on their arrival here. Mr. Bridger is a valued employee of Mayor Lawrence.

John Dewar & Sons, Ltd., make an important announcement on the first page. After many years of credit business the company will inaugurate a strictly cash system commencing Dec. 2nd. With low prices and the best quality of goods the new departure of the company will undoubtedly be beneficial to all concerned when once the new system is in working order. The same high quality of goods, good service and fairness in business transactions that has characterized the company in their many years of business will be maintained under the new method.

MASCARENE

John Stewart returned from L'Etang on Friday suffering from an attack of neuralgia in his face and head.

Miss Mabel Stewart accompanied Miss Belle Conroy to her home Calais, where she will remain for a few days.

Miss Adelia McVicar is absent from home this week. She is visiting friends in L'Etang.

Mrs. Mary Leland who has been ill for several weeks is able to be about the house again.

Mrs. Adelia Smith who was hurt several weeks ago was able to be at church on Sunday evening.

Mr. Williams who has been assisting Rev. B. V. Buchanan in special services at Second Falls for the past two weeks, returned home on Saturday to resume his pastoral duties again.

The St. George Clothiers & Furnishers

It is reported on authority that the deal between the Campobello Land Co., Campobello Corporation, is now consummated, and that the latter corporation will come into full and complete possession of the large and beautiful island the first of the coming month of December. The new company is composed of New York capitalists, who have obtained a charter of the Provincial Government. The capital stock of the corporation is said to be $250,000 divided in 25 shares of $100 each. H. M. Merriman of New York, who is one of the chief promoters of the new enterprise, is now on the island and with his family will remain there during the winter, occupying the large and convenient Simpson cottage and will oversee the work which will be commenced at an early date and continued throughout the winter months. The new owners intend making extensive alterations and improvements on the two large hotels already on the island, built by the former company, and are also making arrangements for the erection of several modern cottages, all to be in readiness by the time the summer tourist season opens. The island as a summer resort is most beautiful, conveniently adapted, and will be boomed by the present owners, who are confident of its future prosperity as a summer and health resort. In connection with its hotel business, it is said that the corporation will install on the island, an industrial business, and will build two large box shoox mills, the island supplying abundant material for the carrying on of same.

I. H. C. Engines

The most desirable engine for the power user is the engine that will produce power with the least trouble and expense. In other words, an engine that can be easily started, that requires the least attention, and is always ready, that consumes the least fuel, and that is subject to the least wear. These essential qualities are combined in the highest degree in the I. H. C. Engines.

Odd Things Women Are Doing

At Clarion, Pa., this week, Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, the oldest person in the state, observed her 114th birthday. She retains her mental faculties and physical vigor. She is the mother of 11 children, seven of whom are living, and has 55 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren. She has smoked a pipe since she was a girl and has been a member of the Presbyterian church for 80 years.

Mrs. Mary L. Godfrey secured a divorce from her husband at Oakland, Cal. as the result of quarrels originating in her insisting he should not boil his tea in the saucepan she used for making cold cream.

At Waterloo, Ia., little 2-year-old Ruth Gary found a 12-inch snake coiled up in the sandal she had left on the grass. She killed it by tramping on it with her bare feet.

A small mob of women living on Gray street, in Indianapolis, Ind., successfully opposed a gang of telephone men who were prepared to set poles along the side of the street. The women claimed the poles would spoil the appearance of their front yards, and later it developed the company had no permit to erect the poles there, anyway.

Trials Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all Dealers.

Because her landlady objected to children overrunning her lawn, Mrs. William Nollie of Denver shot at her twice.

Miss Ollie Young is the twenty-fifth "hello" girl married out of the Pine Bluffs (Ark.) central office during the past four years.

Declaring that she was so deaf that she did not know she was being married to Charles Holdren, Mrs. Clara Holdren was granted a divorce by a Columbus, O. judge.

Mrs. Margaret Garwood of Philadelphia is tired of life, although she is but 100 years old.

Lillian Gay has stirred up the Marine Cooks' Union at Milwaukee by shipping and sailing as cook aboard the schooner Bertha Barnes. Capt. Patrick Myers, over 80 years old, owner and skipper, is satisfied however, even though he had to ship a new crew to take the places of the men who refused to sail with a non-union composer of plumduff and "sech."

Miss Adelaide L. Brimentrot, a leader of society at Reading, Pa., has abandoned a social career and entered the Presbyterian Hospital at Philadelphia, where she will prepare herself for the work of a trained nurse. She was educated abroad and has been presented to King

Weise, a pretty young woman of Tazewell county.

The groom wrote to his aunt here, Mrs. Patterson, to put him in communication with a girl who would "make him a good wife, as he was lonely on his ranch in Colorado. Mrs. Patterson recommended Miss Weise, a neighbor's daughter, and correspondence was begun.

The girl was taken with the romance of the affair and when photographs were exchanged and proved satisfactory a proposal quickly followed. An acceptance was written and then Kramer came east to claim the bride. The marriage was celebrated the day after his arrival and the couple departed immediately afterward for Yumar — Blooming corr. Denver News.

Something new in window dressing was supplied last week by a woman's tailor on the Paris boulevards who makes a specialty of smart dresses at bargain prices. Following the example of his more aristocratic brethren in the Place Vendome, who invariably show new models on comely young employes he requisitioned a number of pretty girls to display his latest ready-to-wears—only instead of keeping them in the privacy of his salesrooms he put them in a large show window. There they sit, chat and walk about showing $12 robes to the utmost advantage.

The plan works to perfection, save in one respect, namely that those who crowd before the window in admiration are not women.

From a Woman's Point of View

Apples in salad are the only novelty installed of late years. Apple and date salad is one of the latest, perhaps newer than apple and pineapple, or apples and celery and nuts. To make it, cut apples up into shapes like matches of straws. One does not like to say matches, for it gives one such a match taste in the throat just to think of the two at the same time—food and unpleasant matches!

Cut up date also in neat pieces, discarding the seeds, of course; that goes without saying. Use much more apple than dates. Marinate with oil and lemon juice freely; keep closely covered for some time, perhaps an hour or less before using. Arrange upon lettuce. To the mind of some a dash of red pepper belongs in all apple salads.

In Loving Remembrance of Miss Lizzie Boyne.

Call not back the dear departed, Anchored safe where storms are o'er, On the border land we left her, Soon to meet and part no more, When we leave this world of change, When we leave this world of care, We shall find our missing loved one In our Father's mansion fair.

One precious to our hearts has gone, The voice we loved is stilled, The place made vacant in our home Can nevermore be filled.

Our Father in his wisdom called, The boom his love had given; And though on earth the body lies, The soul is safe in Heaven.

Darling Lizzie, she has left us; Left us, yes, for evermore; But we hope to meet our loved one On that bright and happy shore.

Weep not that her toils are over, Weep not that her race is run, Cool grant we may rest as calmly, When our work, like her's is done, Till then we yield with gladness, Our loved one to him to keep, And rejoice in the sweet assurance; He giveth his loved ones sleep.

Though all pain at times should smile, A smile of Heavenly birth; And when the angels called her home, She smiled farewell to earth. Heaven retaineth now our treasure, Earth the lonely casket keeps, And the sunbeams long do linger, Where our sainted Lizzie sleeps.

Conversation Don'ts.

Don't talk of the cost of things; it gives the rich a chance for boastfulness and may be embarrassing to the poor.

Don't discuss children; if you have any, the chances are you are boring those who have not. If you have none, you are sure to be mortally wounding those who have.

Don't discuss diseases or surgical operations. Without a natural pathological taste or a trained nurse's experience, it is apt to disgust people.

Don't mention family feuds. It embarrasses the listener, and you are sure to regret it.

Don't tell your personal interests, occupations hopes or aspirations. Nobody wants to hear them, and you give your dignity a mortal stab.

Canada Under Liberal Rule.

What changes have occurred since the Liberal victory in 1897. In the commercial world Canada was a speck on the map, now she looms large as a national figure. Financially, Canada was not regarded as a desirable field for investment, now she is described by a representative of a great mercantile agency as the most satisfactory country to give ample returns and good security for capital. The Northwest today, provides homes for thousands of contented citizens and produces a large revenue. Canada enjoys an immense trade with the Liberals came into power the manufacturing industries were at a very low ebb. In Conservative times the natural resources of Canada were exploited in the interests of the few, under Liberal Government the benefits of the public domain are enjoyed by the people at large. The Liberals promised the people that a policy would be inaugurated which would reduce taxation and would result in larger revenues—that the national resources should be developed in a manner which would benefit all the people—and the promises are redeemed.

WILL KISSING BE PROHIBITED

The Sanitary Process Demanded by Scientists as Extremely Dangerous—How the Danger Can be Removed.

A keen discussion is being carried on by some of the best scientists as to the danger and "curious" of kissing, led by Dr. Somers, Health Officer of Atlantic City, and Dr. Nalpass, of the Medical Faculty of Paris. They charge the kiss with spreading grippe, scarlet fever, measles, mumps, whooping cough, typhoid fever, diphtheria, erysipelas, meningitis, tuberculosis, and many infectious skin diseases. They suggest legislation for methods of disinfection of the mouth and purifying the breath, especially with a view to the protection of the innocent babies who are particularly subject to infection. The greatest and most effective purifier and germ destroyer known to medical science for the mouth, throat and breath, as well as for the blood, stomach and lungs, is Pyraline, that triumph of the medical world that is attracting almost universal attention because of the wonderful results attending its use. One of its recent triumphs is told as a matter of experience in the following brief statement:

Dr. Thomas Co.
I am sending you photo and testimonial here with my wife's name. You remember old woman for me. I was about 20 or 30 years of age when I took PYRALINE. The doctor had given me up as an incurable consumptive. My lungs and every organ of the body were totally diseased and ruined. Friends and relatives thought I never got better. But PYRALINE cured me. My lungs have never bothered me since, and I am in permanent cure.

MRS. LIZZIE GARDNER.
519 Bathurst St., London, Ont.

Pyraline, pronounced Si-been, is admitted to be the most wonderful of all diseases and germ-destroying agencies. For building up the run-down system and curing all forms of stomach troubles and diseases of the chest, throat and lungs or head, it is simply unsurpassable. It is a reliable home investment. For sale at all druggists, 50c and $1.00, or Dr. T. A. Sloum, Limited, 179 King Street West, Toronto.

Lieut. Governor Tweedie in his address before the Canadian Club at St. John on Tuesday evening, on protection of the forests, made some remarks of interest to this section of Charlotte:

REPORT OF PULPWOOD.

What condition would this province be in if it were not for its forest wealth? If the operator were allowed to cut the lands indiscriminately—why—in a very few years there would be nothing left but a waste howling wilderness of no value whatever. The country would be completely demoralized and ruined, not only from a lumbering standpoint, but also from an industrial standpoint. And here I may remark that of late a great deal has been written and said throughout Canada in regard to the government allowing our manufactured lumber to be shipped to the United States in the shape of rounded wood, to supply its pulp and paper mills. I agree at once that if it could be made clear that all the wood that is at present exported from this province could be profitably manufactured into paper within the province, then it would be advisable to prevent its shipment to the United States; but that is not clear, and I can see a great many difficulties in the way. Those who in this province advocate the placing of a duty and are calling upon the federal and provincial governments to pursue this policy, in my opinion, have not thoroughly considered the question. The same conditions do not exist in all the provinces—Ontario and Quebec have great water powers—and many of them. They likewise possess all the other facilities and requirements necessary for successfully manufacturing all kinds of pulp paper. New Brunswick is not so favorably situated in this respect. It has few water powers—the one at Grand Falls being the largest, and is considered by many to be the greatest power in the Dominion, east of Niagara. There is a fall of about 10,000 horse power in Gloucester County and a very few more smaller ones in different parts of the province, so that it will be seen it is not every locality within the province where a pulp mill can be successfully started. Outside of power abundance of water is a great essential in the manufacture of pulp and paper, and unless it can be liberally supplied it is useless to talk of establishing pulp mills. Mechanical pulp mills cannot be run at a profit with steam and water power is necessary to economical running. For these reasons, therefore, we might find, if the export of the raw material were prevented in localities where mills could not be erected, quantities of pulpwood would for many years be unmarketable, and there are many districts within the province where the raw material could be supplied but which by reason of the drawbacks, I have mentioned, pulp mills could not reasonably be expected to be erected. If any such mills are to be built within the province in the future they will be built where the most favorable conditions exist and where a large supply of pulpwood can be obtained; but I am of opinion that in New Brunswick the number of pulp and paper mills that will be erected will, for years to come, be small.

WASTE OF HEMLOCK.

Hemlock timber, till very recently, was of comparatively little value, large quantities of it having each year been cut down and the bark, which is used for tanning purposes, peeled. The log, however, was left in the woods and millions of feet in nearly every section of the province have been left to rot and decay. The time has gone by for this extravagant waste and any party who peels bark now on our crown lands should be required to take the log out of the woods. This wood has now become quite valuable. The time has arrived when indiscriminate and wasteful cutting of it should not be allowed. I am inclined to the view that in the near future hemlock will be largely used in the manufacture of the coarser kinds of paper. I know that to a certain extent it is now being used in our pulp mills and have no doubt it will be more largely used in the future.

REFORESTATION.

From time to time we hear of the necessity of reforestation, but to my mind the necessity does not exist at the present time for such a policy. We have thousands of acres of land within the province where the growth is too thick and where it would be of great advantage to pursue a thinning out process, and if the lands of the province are ever classi-as I have suggested I have no doubt that such a course will be adopted.

Large tracts of valuable lands have been burned over in the years gone by and which today are not productive. These lands might well be set apart and lumbering upon them prohibited for a number of years. Under proper supervision and protection they would in a few years become a valuable asset of the province. I think the district known as the Cains River country might properly be removed from license and protected in the way I have suggested. Millions of dollars' worth of lumber have been destroyed in this region in the past, and under proper protection, as it is a quick growing country, it would become of great value in the future.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidney nerves get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a makeshift. Get a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is prepared expressly for these weak inside nerves. Strengthen these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quickly help will come. Free sample sent on request by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Your health is surely worth this simple test. Sold by all Dealers.

The Lion's Jaw. The lion has an enormous jaw power. An African traveler once pushed the butt end of his gun into a lion's mouth, and the pressure of the jaws cracked it as though it had been struck by a steam hammer.
