Presentation to Miss Bessie Vexler

On Tuesday evening last the classmates of Miss Bessie Vexler in the public school, presented her with a complimentary address and a signet ring, on the eve of her departure from town, the family removing to Toronto shortly. The presentation took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Vexler, Principal and Mrs. Robertson and Miss McEwen and some of the high school students being present. The address was read by Miss Jean Findlay and the ring was presented by Mac Williams. The following is the address:—

Carleton Place,
June 24th, 1919
To Miss Bessie Vexler,
Carleton Place, Ont.

Dear Friend,—It is with much regret that we hear you are about to leave our town, and consequently our school. We have been, many of us, companions through the several grades of the school and we always found you pleasant and agreeable and very faithful to duty.

You never once caused any unpleasant relations in the classroom, and your example of earnestness oftentimes stirred us to greater endeavor.

We shall certainly miss you from our circle, but trust that you shall find pleasant relations in the city where you purpose going, and we trust further that we shall hear from time to time of your success.

To prove that these are not simply words, we would ask you to accept this gift as a token of our sincerity and good-will towards you.

From your Class Mates of 1919.
The recipient of the gift was very much taken aback by the expression of good-will, but returned her thanks most becomingly, expressed her regret at leaving Carleton Place, referred to the pleasant years she had spent with her classmates in the different rooms, and would never forget these happy days. An hour or two was spent in social amusements, after which refreshments were served, and the guests of the evening left feeling that the evening had been one of rare pleasure and enjoyment.

Newspapers Arrears

The following information regarding a subscribers' liability for arrears of newspaper subscription appeared in the legal column of a recent Saturday's Mail and Empire:—

W. S. Bond Stroud—I subscribed for a local paper for one year and paid for it. After that they kept on sending the paper to me for three years, and now demand payment. Am I liable? (2) They also demanded the subscription price for 1920. Must I pay it?

Ans. It is difficult for a newspaper manager to keep in mind the date when the subscription of a subscriber will expire. Naturally the circulation department continues to send the paper, expecting to hear from the subscriber if any change is to be made, or if the paper is to be stopped. If the subscriber continues to take the paper from the post office after the time of his subscription has run out, an "implied contract" is thereby created that he will pay for the paper which he has allowed the proprietor to send him, and that his subscription shall continue on the terms of the original contract. (2) The original contract required a six months' notice to be given to put an end to the contract, and it may state that it will continue until terminated by some notice given before the end of the subscription year. On account of the smallness of the amount, and the number of subscribers, these conditions are not unreasonable. But, of course, the newspaper cannot claim for the year 1920. There is no implication that subscribers are bound beyond the current year.

Forest fires in Alberta are reported to be the worst for years.

The camping season opens to-day. Mr. R. L. McEwen, of Montreal, is spending a few days at home.

Mr. W. F. Findlay arrived home from St. Andrew's College, Toronto last week.

Back with centennial picnic takes place on the 1st at McNelly's shore on the second lake.

Miss Marjorie Taber, who has been attending Branksome Hall, Toronto, arrived home last week.

Mrs. J. Morris and two children, of Edmonton, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Trueman Morris at present.

A man engaged on the line informs us that fully 200 automobiles passed the school-house on the 11th Line of Beckwith on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ferguson, and Miss Scott, of Renfrew, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLean.

Mr. W. H. Cousins, who was in the navy for two or three years, is renewing old friendships in town. He was accompanied from Ottawa by Mrs. Cousins and children.

The ringing of the bell at St. James church on Saturday afternoon intimated to the public the signing of the peace treaty. A public service of thanksgiving was held in Zion church.

The members of the War Veterans' association have had their rooms across the street tastefully painted inside and outside, and will have very comfortable quarters to meet in from time to time.

Rev. Dr. D. Carmichael of Toronto, a native of Beckwith, who is visiting with friends in the township at present, delivered the address at an open-air patriotic service held on the farm of Mr. Mains, near Prospect, on Sunday afternoon. The attendance was quite large.

Just one minute before it was too late that is, at 11:59, Hon. Rodolphe Lelièvre extended the congratulations of the House to Sir Robert Borden on having attained his sixty-fifth birthday, and wished that he might retain his strength and vigor for many years to come. Sir Robert said that his birthday was an occasion which was coming around too often. Then midnight ended his birthday, and the House adjourned.

The Harristown Review asks: "Is it not about time that country editors were striking for an eight-hour day with double pay for overtime, a minimum income of $5 per day, the payment of all arrears of subscriptions by the State, old age pensions or a retiring allowance, two months' holidays each year with double pay and free transportation, and a compensation for voluntary idleness, and a participation in other people's profits. Everybody else is doing it. What is the use? Anything one gets these days will go in taxes—and gasoline."

Canadian Fliers' Altitude Record

An altitude record for Canadian aviation is reported to have been made by Major R. N. Morgan of Winnipeg, and Lt. C. Gould of London near Niagara Falls. Information to this effect was sent to the city to-day from Toronto by Major Robert N. Nelson, a former London officer. He states that the aviators climbed to a height of 23,600 feet, and later landed in an exhausted condition near Niagara.

An Old Man Who Did What He Could

When William Kanouse, aged 80 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Wentz, Palmerton Pa., last week, there were sighs and tears from the silk mill girls of Palmerton, because for years he came out of his home every morning to bid "good morning" en route to work. He greeted them, too, on their return in the evening. They missed him sadly when sickness prevented him from greeting them with his cheerfulness, and during his long illness the girls knitted socks, sweaters and ties for him and on one occasion purchased him a suit of clothes. When he died they placed a wreath of flowers on his funeral bier.

We have a continuous Novelty Company on the third day of Chautauqua.

Vissochi is known on all great circuits in the States as a wonderful performer upon the Piano Accordion. He has a sustaining Company composed of a Violinist, a Reader and a Pianist, and their work is of that popular character that will please the multitudes.

An Open Meeting of the I.O.D.E. will be held in the Council Chamber on Thursday evening, July 3rd, when a report of the National Convention will be given. Members and friends are requested to be present.

The hydro shop, headquarters of the Public Utilities Commission, in the McDiarmid block, has been tastefully fitted up and embellished and presents a very attractive appearance.

Mr. John E. Aust, piano tuner, representing Mr. M. Webster, will make periodical visits to Carleton Place. Orders left at McIntosh's Drug Store will receive prompt attention. Mr. Aust is an experienced tuner and comes very highly recommended by Mr. Webster.

The members of St. John's lodge, A. F. A. M., attended service in the Baptist church on Sunday morning, when Rev. Mr. Fosyth delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion, and which was fully appreciated. There was a large turnout of the membership.

Work is progressing on the Ottawa Prescott provincial highway in the neighborhood of Kemptville and arrangements are under way for providing camping accommodation for laborers being employed on the work.

Strawberries were plentiful in the grocery stores and fruit markets early on Saturday, says the Brockville Recorder, selling freely at 20 cents per box, the lowest price recorded this year. In Carleton Place they were 50 per cent higher.

The death occurred in Montague, on the 18th June of Catharine Clark, widow of the late Wm. McCarry of Montreal. Mrs. McCarry had been living with her brother, Richard Clark of Montague, for the past two years. She is survived by two brothers, James Clark of Aylmer, Que., Richard of Montague, and one sister Mrs. A. Gregorie, Brockville.

A Roman Sport

Montreal Gazette:—As is usual, death was a successful competitor in the international automobile contests, which this year were held at Indianapolis. Two drivers and a mechanic were killed, yet the races continued, in one event the machines having to be driven through flames which were consuming two of the victims. The crowd followed the event with keen interest in spite of the tragedies enacted before their eyes. The senseless sport of auto speeding for money plainly is brutalizing to both participants and spectators. Life is held to be of less importance than the mad spectacle. Must speeders and their admirers be homicidal lunatics?

A Rare Festival

The Chautauqua programme offered to Carleton Place for a week, commencing on the 4th, is by far the biggest thing in the way of an entertainment ever offered to our citizens. The performances will be under canvas in the town park, afternoon and evening. The talent is of the first order, and the nature of the programmes is as varied as tastes can conceive. The tickets for the season are extremely cheap. It is hoped the confidence of those citizens who are responsible for bringing this superb treat to town has not been misplaced, and that the patronage will be sufficiently liberal to ensure a clear sheet at least. See the official announcement in another column.

Ramsay Welcomes a Soldier

Sig. Delmer W. Morphy Accorded a Hearty Reception

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morphy, 8th Line Ramsay, was the scene of a happy gathering last Thursday evening, when about 75 of the friends of Sig. Delmer Morphy assembled to extend him a hearty welcome back from the war.

The old homestead was beautifully decorated with flags and Chinese lanterns for the occasion, and a right royal good time was spent. There were games and amusements with a profusion of music the latter supplied by friends from Ottawa.

An address of welcome was presented, accompanied by a locket and chain. The following is the address:—
Township of Ramsay,
June 26th 1919.

Signaller D. W. Morphy:

Dear Friend,—

Your neighbors have assembled here this evening to welcome you upon your return from the scenes of war.

As loyal Canadians we were proud to see our boys respond so willingly to the cause of Justice, and we are prouder still to welcome back one who has done his bit in Flanders.

In the years that are to come we shall feel proud that you had a part with the best of Canada's sons who gave their lives for the sake of righteousness, liberty and truth. We thank you for the services you have rendered in helping to deliver the world from the tyranny of the Hun.

As a token of our esteem we ask you to accept this locket and chain.

Signed,
Friends and Neighbors.

Mr. Morphy was very much affected by the unexpected tribute and by the kindly words of welcome, but thanked the donors most sincerely for their expression of good-will.

Refreshments were served and a few hours were spent most happily in social intercourse, the guests singing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" before leaving and "Auld Lang Syne."

Fire at Smiths Falls

A house belonging to Mr. Robert Metcalfe, Smiths Falls, was completely destroyed by fire last Wednesday, with all the contents. The fire is said to have originated from an oil stove that was left burning for a few minutes unattended, and either exploded or burned up and set fire to the surrounding, and the flames spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Bennett-Bradford

Mr. Arthur Merrill Bennett and Miss Lyla Mae Bradford, daughter of Mr. Sumner Bradford, were united in marriage this morning at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Mr. Dobson performing the ceremony. The young couple were unattended. After the ceremony breakfast was served, and the young couple left by the morning train to spend a few days amongst relatives and friends in Renfrew county.

Union Church Services

The two Presbyterian congregations will hold union services again this season for the holidays, Rev. Mr. Monks to preach the first four Sabbaths in Zion church and Rev. Mr. Dobson to preach the last four Sabbaths of August in St. Andrews. The Methodists and Baptists will make a similar arrangement. It is also expected that the hour of the evening services in all four churches will be changed from 7 to 8 o'clock, to enable those who reside in the townships to come in.

Hymeneal

Last Wednesday morning the big bell on St. James rang out merrily in honor of another marriage, that of Mr. Alvin Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baird, to Miss Alma Johnston, daughter of Mrs. John Johnston. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Canon Elliott. The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful gifts, testifying to her popularity. The young couple motored to Perth and caught the afternoon express to Toronto, where they went to spend their honeymoon, and on their return will make their home in Carleton Place.

Motor Cars May Travel Faster

Much of the legislation passed by the Ontario Legislature at its last session became effective last Tuesday. Royal assent having been given on April 24th, two months were fixed by statute, after which the measures became effective. Among these measures are the amendments to the motor laws, which permit the increase in speed of cars from 15 to 20 miles in cities, towns, villages, and from 20 to 25 miles in the country, the right of women to sit in Legislature, and to hold municipal office, the compulsion to play the National Anthem at the close of every performance, and an act providing higher pensions under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

One of the oldest residents of Clayton district died at the home of his daughter Mrs. Jos. T. Na 9, on June 21st, in the person of Mr. Richard Richards, aged 87 years.

E. H. Johnson, a 60-year-old man, while raddling in a canoe, Mid Lake, near Co. 1, with a 100 lb. salmon on his back, returned safely, was drowned when it upset.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries dedicated to tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

WRITE HOME OFTEN

"My boy," writes a white-haired mother to her son, a busy man in a distant state, "write home often. You do not realize what your letters are to me, and how long it is between them. No, he had not realized it, and unhappily there are many absent sons and daughters who need similar reminder. They would be indignant at the suggestion of wanting filial devotion, but in the stress of business, in the society of new friends, in the happiness of a new home circle, how rarely they spare the hour for a good long letter to the aging mother in the old home—the loving mother whose heartache for the passing days fail to bring the longest letter, is one of the most pathetic tragedies of old age. The decline of the letter-writing habit of an earlier generation has often been deplored, but this feature of the decline can neither be excused or defended. The post-card substitute for letters is light less than a mockery when the cards are sent to the mother who wants, and should have, so much more than that. As youth lives in and for the future, so does old age always look back over the slope as it nears the summit. The parent is wrapped up in the son and daughter; but as the son grows to manhood and the daughter to womanhood they are absorbed in the plus and the process of building the structure of the coming year. Such is the law of life and the basis of all progress, but it is a pitiful thing when the son and daughter fail to keep in mind their obligation to the loyalty and love of their parents. Discard the absent ones who write long and frequent letters to the old home. Soon, they cannot know how soon, the precious privilege will no longer be theirs.

We are happy just in proportion as we are content.

WANTED

As good health on Sunday as during the rest of the week; the same ability to attend religious services as to engage in the usual active duties of life. As great care in listening to religious instructions as is given to scrutinizing each new dress, cloak, bonnet, etc., worn by those in attendance. As great ability in learning our own faults as those of our neighbors. With the supply of this want the world will soon be renovated, society much improved, and all made happier. Weather to suit all, or, better still, people who are disposed to be suited by the weather.

The capacity to enjoy life is one great thing, to be able no matter what happens to wear a serene face. I things are not as we would wish, enjoy what we can and hope for better times. There are no more unattractive persons living than those who never enjoy life, who look upon it as a vale of tears, who, if they do take pleasure in anything, do so under protest. The most unpromising conditions of life may be made to yield us some good if we look for it, and the looking for it will do us good even if we do not find it; the dwelling on the disadvantages not only sours, but shuts off all hope of our seeing any possible good if it should be there. So, if we would make ourselves attractive in the best sense of the word, cultivate a capacity of pleasure in the little things, the bird songs that awaken us in the morning, and we will

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE.

George Cohen's Greatest Comedy.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE.

An announcement that will create tremendous interest for Chautauqua Week will be the fact that we have secured the above play for the 5th day's programme. Everybody knows that it is recorded as Mr. Cohen's greatest success. It was presented at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto, and was brought back in response to a unanimous demand. The Evening Telegram quoted it "the most popular comedy ever produced in Toronto." The Evening Star called it "The most continuous Laughing Carnival of the year." It presents two-and-one-half hours of Mystery, Thrills and Laughs. It is a Master Mystery and stands at the very head of the comedies.

Arrival Vivian, who was at the head of the Ben Greet Players has been secured as Manager of this play and will present the play. He has played in leading plays and theatres in New York. The past season he spent playing with Macklyn, Arbuckle, and Popper in Captain Bairsfather's delightful comedy "The Fact that he is in this play assures its complete success."

BLOUSES FOR EARLY SPRING

Rainbow Assortment, Resembling Smocks, in Many Shades of Handkerchief Linen.

Prominently displayed in the art needlework department of one of New York's most interesting shops is a rainbow assortment of dainty blouses in many pastel shades of handkerchief linen. At the first glance they resemble the smocks with which every one is familiar, but a closer examination proves them to be cut somewhat shorter, in order to be practicable when worn either inside or outside the belt. Instead of the usual smocking for decoration, they are effectively embroidered in the cross-stitch, which is now so much in vogue, worked in deeper hues of mercerized cotton. These blouses are prettiest when cut simply with a V neck and turn-back collar of the linen. The sleeves, which are quite loose, are set in large armholes to conform with the flare of the blouse, are gathered in snugly at the wrists and finished with a narrow, rather full ruffle, which falls over the hands.

The embroidery is placed across the front of the blouse, at the corners of the collar, as a finishing touch around the edges of the wrist ruffles and, oddly enough, just over the forearm. A skein of loosely braided embroidery floss makes an unusual and effective tie to slip under the collar. Because these blouses are made so as to allow freedom of movement, they are excellent for spring outdoor wear; and, since their fabric is very soft, they may be worn inside the belt, if preferred. Instead of the linen, a fine quality of dotted Swiss may be used to advantage, and when it is possible to obtain this material with colored dots, exceptionally pretty effects may be secured by using deeper tones for the embroidery and tie.

TO MAKE PRETTY KERCHIEFS

Roll and Whip Border is Made Attractive by Drawn Threads of a Deeper Hue.

The woman who delights in making dainty handkerchiefs is usually interested in novel ways of varying the plain square which she wishes to beautify. The handkerchief with the "roll and whip" border (the hem of which is rolled tightly by moistening it a little with the finger tips, and whipped around and back again with colored thread, to form tiny crosses for a border) has been such a favorite that it is now being ornamented by drawn threads of a deeper hue, inserted parallel to the edge, which give a most effective touch to the finished handkerchief.

It is but a simple matter to draw these through the linen if they are attached carefully to the ends of the threads of the original fabric, which are to be removed to make room for the colored ones. When the old thread is slipped out the new one follows automatically in its place. Two lines may be inserted parallel if preferred to give more color and character to the design. A simple initialing at one corner is perhaps the most satisfactory decoration to finish the gift. Handkerchief linen is obtainable in a variety of exquisite shades, which are most attractive when set off by a finishing touch in darker hue.

USE FOR OLD CORSET STEELS

Stays Dropping From Worn Garment Prove Valuable Accessory to the Sewing Basket.

When a steel drops out of the half-worn corset there hardly seems any use to which it can any longer be put; but if you will save a couple of these steels, especially the wider and more pliable ones, they will prove a valuable accessory to your sewing basket. When sewing buttons, hooks and eyes or snap fasteners on a hem where it is desired that the stitching does not show through to the opposite side of the garment, as, for instance, when sewing the fasteners on the front of a fine lawn or crepe de chine shirt-waist, leave one end of the hem unstitched so as to insert your steel. Your needle accordingly will pass through only one thickness of goods in sewing on the fastener. Corset steels are also handy in making bags opening at the side and used for all sorts of utility purposes. Place the steel across the top of the bag to brace the stitching. It is strong and pliable, and in the end will serve its purposes far better than a piece of wood, no matter how light.

HAVING

(Experimental Farm Note.)

The cutting and curing of hay is an operation requiring the exercise of prompt action and sound judgment if a maximum yield of hay of suitable quality is to be saved. Towards this end there are several factors which should receive consideration. The time or stage of cutting is of prime importance since it affects both yield and quality. Usually the most profitable yield is obtained when the crop is cut when in blossom or just past that stage, say when about one-third of the bloom has disappeared. Ordinarily the tendency is to leave the commencement of haying too late for proper curing during the latter part of the season, due to over-ripeness of the crop. It is advisable, therefore, to plan to do this work during the period when there is the least possibility of loss. Beginning hay early is good practice. Clover and alfalfa cut slightly immature will make better hay under favourable weather conditions than left until fairly ripe. Besides, an early start will allow for loss of time through broken weather during the haying season and will ensure a heavier second crop which may be utilized for hay, seed and pasture purposes.

With regard to methods of curing, no definite rule or rules of procedure can be laid down to meet all requirements. A successful hay maker so to speak "knows his business," a knowledge that is acquired only by long experience with vagaries of weather, periods of cutting, conditions of curing, etc. To become efficient in this work requires one vigilant and with ability to contend with emergencies.

Clovers and alfalfa are more difficult to cure than timothy and other grasses. They are more succulent, absorb rain more readily and the leaves, the most valuable part of the plant, are more easily broken off than the leaf blades of grasses. They should be cut when free from dew or other moisture, and dried for a few days, by the agency of wind rather than sun as far as possible. Exposure to rain or even heavy dew will change the green leaves to dark brown or black make them crisp and readily broken off by handling. Rain and dew will also extract the aroma of fragrance, a quality essential in making hay palatable and attractive.

Mixed hay, timothy and other grasses cure more readily than clover and are not affected to such an extent by unfavourable weather conditions. Otherwise the general principles of curing aid down for clover and alfalfa apply. Timothy grown for market purposes may be cut at a later period than is recommended for ordinary farm feed purposes. Market conditions demand well matured, though not over ripe, hay.

Too Small for That

The belief that Lenine is the Antichrist is spreading rapidly among the peasants of Russia, and as they are extremely religious and superstitious, the Soviet Premier's downfall may be brought about by the movement, says the Montreal Gazette. The Antichrist is "the great enemy of the Creator whose rise to power is to come at the end of time. So the prophecies. Nero, N. p. Leon and every other outstanding genius of all historical character, including Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, are among the smallest and narrowest of ideas of the old. He is but one of the many political upstarts of history, with all their theories and tyrannical minds, who, when their opportunity comes, develop into cruel failures. Already Lenine has confessed that the most vaunted of his political convictions are impracticable. In his own country his true size is beginning to be realized.

I was treated there for some months in the 5th and 11th Hospitals, and was finally invalided home to Ottawa, where I received treatment in the Convalescent Home. ### A Tough Case

One of the briefest summings up on record was that of Justice Maule, who thus addressed the jury on a memorable occasion:

"Gentlemen of the jury," he is reported to have said, "if you don't believe the witness for plaintiff, you will find for the defendant. If, like myself, you don't believe any of them, heaven knows which way you will find. Consider your verdict."

ACUTE NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

All Treatments Proved Useless Until He Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. JAS. S. DELGATY.

R.R. No. 4, Gilbert Plains, Man. "In the year 1910, I had Nervous Prostration in its worst form; was reduced in weight from 170 pounds to 115 pounds."

The doctors had no hope of my recovery, and every medicine I tried proved useless until a friend induced me to take "Fruit-a-tives".

I began to mend almost at once; and after using this fruit medicine for 3 or 4 months, I was back to my normal state of health.

I never had such good health for twenty years as I have enjoyed the past six years. We are never without a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' in the house".

JAS. S. DELGATY. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PIG PASTURES

The cost of the production of pork can be materially reduced by the use of pastures. Under ordinary conditions where a pig is fed on grain alone, it takes careful feeding and a very thrifty kind of pig to make 100 pounds gain from 500 pounds of grain, and more frequently 600 to 700 pounds of grain are consumed.

There are a considerable number of crops that may be used for pig pasture. The ordinary grain crops such as wheat, oats, barley and rye are quite suitable. Sown in the spring, these crops are ready for pasturing at the time that spring pigs born in March and April are old enough to use pasture to advantage.

For later summer and fall pasture, there is nothing better than rape. Sown in early spring it is ready for pasture about the middle of July, or, if sown later, it reaches pasturing stage in about six weeks from the date of sowing.

Another good fall pasture is fall rye. If sown in midsummer it is ready to pasture in a month from the date of sowing. It produces a good grade of pasture until severe frosts come and does not head out in the fall.

Perennial crops may also be used as pig pasture. Alfalfa will produce more pasture per acre probably than any other pasture crop. Pigs do very well on it, and produce economical gains. However, it costs more to start with alfalfa as the land must be prepared two years ahead and sown one year ahead of the time it is to be used.

The ordinary grasses such as brome and timothy make first class pig pasture in the spring months. But, as in the case of alfalfa, there are usually not many pigs to use pasture at that time. In midsummer and fall when pigs need pasture most, the grass pasture is often dry and harsh and not so suitable for pigs.

Pastured pigs should be confined to pens for a few weeks at the last before shipping to market. While on pasture, they take a great deal of exercise, especially if of the more active breeds, and as

DISTRICT INSTITUTE MEETING

The annual district convention of the Women's Institute was held in Almonte on Wednesday, June 25th, with a splendid number of representatives from the different branches of North Lanark.

The first session opened at 10:30 a.m. in the absence of the District President, Mrs. Croft, Middleville, Mrs. Dummert, of Carleton Place, presided.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Chisholm, Almonte, and responded to by Mrs. Miller, Pakenham. Seven branches of the Institute also a "Joney Canuck" society reported all having done splendid work.

The second session opened at 1:30 p.m. The election of officers took place which resulted as follows: Hon. Presidents—Mrs. Yuill, Ramsay; Mrs. McNeill, Clayton.

President—Mrs. H. W. Dummert, Carleton Place. 1st Vice President—Mrs. Chisholm, Almonte.

2nd Vice President—Mrs. McIlraith, Hopetown. Secretary—Mrs. Hayes Boyd, Ramsay.

Directors—Mrs. Steele, Almonte; Mrs. A. Neilson, Carleton Place; Mrs. Miller, Pakenham.

Mrs. A. W. Bell gave an interesting account of the convention held at Toronto. Mrs. Reid, the Government representative gave a most interesting talk on "Reconstruction" at the present time; a paper on School Nursing was presented by Miss McCormick, Superintendent of Rosamond Memorial Hospital, and a very interesting address on "Civic Life," by Mrs. Miller, Almonte.

A vote of thanks was given to Almonte for their kind hospitality; also to the officers and members who helped in anyway to promote the good work.

The next annual meeting is to be held at Cedar Hill. The session closed by singing the National Anthem.

"A volcano," piped the kid, "is a mountain overflowing wid lager."

Changed Places

"Don't be so long winded in your reports as you have been in the past," said the manager of The Wild West railway to his overseer. "Just report the condition of the track as ye find it, and don't put in a lot of needless words that ain't to the point. Write a business letter, not a love-letter."

A few days later the railway line was badly flooded, and the overseer wrote his report to the manager in one line. "Sir—Where the railway was the river is—Yours faithfully,—Blighty (London)."

Business and Pleasure

"Did you have a good time at the dance last night?" "Kinda."

"Who was that handsome chap I saw you with after the intermission?" "He is a stranger in town."

"Dashing, isn't he?" "Nerviest gink I ever seen."

"I notice he had his arm rather tightly about you." "I didn't mind that so much."

"What then?" "Do you know why he had me clutched that way?" "No."

"Well, would you believe it, he had me that way so I couldn't escape, and all the time we were dancing he was trying to sell me some life insurance."

Another "Dry" Vote

"A burnt child dreads the fire," announced the teacher during the lesson in proverbs. "Now, give me a sentence different in wording but meaning the same thing."

A grimy hand shot up from the back of the class. "Please, teacher," came a small voice. "A washed child dreads the water."—Blighty (London).

Spring Fever—What Is It?

THREE o'clock in the afternoon—and absolutely no "pep." You call it spring fever, but is it?

When you are constipated waste matter remains in the intestines, decays, forms poisons which are absorbed into your blood and carried by it to every cell in your body. When your cells are thus poisoned, of course you have no "pep."

Pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., merely force the bowels to act, and make constipation and self-poisoning a habit. Nujol is entirely different from drugs—as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and watch your "pep" come back.

Warning: Nujol is sold in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. All druggists. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

DOMINION DAY, with a greater, grander name for Canada in the world than ever before. No longer a dominion, but a nation of world-wide fame, won by deeds of heroism and much sacrifice in the world's greatest conflict.

WITH all the pomp and ceremony that could be assembled the representatives of the various countries signed the Peace Treaty in the Hall of Mirrors, at Versailles, France, on Saturday. The document itself was a very costly one, and the occasion was a most momentous one. Each of the signers had a new quill pen especially pointed for the occasion, and a guard of soldiers from the allied powers were witnesses of the procedure. The war is now officially over, after nearly five years, but it will take considerable time to restore quiet and confidence between the nations who have been so terribly harassed by the cruelty and hardships of the war.

Canada and U.S. Have Vast Coal Reserves

The final report of the Fuel Controller contains the following: "Should any one be alarmed about the coal supplies of Canada and the United States, it is necessary to point out that an estimate made in 1910 gave the reserves of coal of all kinds in the United States, with its 100,000,000 people, as being 4,231,352,000,000 tons, while Canada with its population of 8,000,000, has 1,360,535,000,000 tons. The output of the United States mines for 1918 was 585,560,522 tons, while that of Canada was approximately 15,000,000 tons. Great Britain, that hive of industry for generations, is credited with 208,922,000,000 tons reserves, small in comparison to Canada's supply."

Kinds of Wood used by Ontario Industries

A total of thirty-four different kinds of wood are reported as being used by the wood-using industries of Ontario, as stated in a bulletin issued by the Forestry Branch, Department of the Interior. Of the woods used, the greater part is grown in the province, particularly pine, spruce, maple, hemlock and oak, which are used in greater quantity than any others. Elm, bass, white birch, the group which comes next in quantity used, are also mostly purchased in Ontario. Ash, Balsam, fir, hickory, cypress, and gum, which stand next in quantity used, are mostly imported, with the exception of the first two named, while the next group, chestnut, poplar, ironwood, tulip, and Douglas fir, are nearly home-grown except the last two. The other groups are walnut, Spanish cedar, butternut, apple and willow and sycamore, red cedar, ebony and sumac.

HISTORIC DRINKS

Some of Them Heroic and Others Picturesque.

It was reported some time ago that the Dutch proposed to erect at Zutphen a statue in memory of Sir Philip Sydney, which recalls to mind the famous episode of the dying soldier with which his death is inseparably connected. It occurred when that paladin, on September 22, 1586, received his death wound before the walls of Zutphen. Parched with thirst he called for a drink. As he was putting his bottle to his mouth his eyes fell upon a desperately wounded soldier, who, as he was being carried past, threw him longing glances, "which Sir Philip perceiving took the bottle from his lips before he drank and delivered it to the poor man with these words: 'Thy necessity is yea greater than mine.'"

In the murder of Edward the Martyr, in 979, a cup of wine played a tragic part. Wearing the hunting-horn, the young monarch was persuaded to seek refreshment at the Castle, in Dorsetshire, the abode of his stepmother, the widowed Queen Elfrida. Upon his entrance she greeted him with a kiss, and then, as he resisted her invitation to dismount, brought from the castle a goblet of wine. Even as the king raised it to his lips one of her retainers drew his dagger and, with fatal effect, plunged it into the king's back.

During the naval engagement at San Juan, the Jesus, which was under the command of Sir John Hawkins, was attacked by almost overwhelming odds. Both by word and deed did the admiral encourage his men, and once, when their spirits seemed to lag, he bade his page fetch him a cup of beer. This was brought him in a silver goblet, out of which he drank to his crew, "willing the gunners stand by their ordinance like men." Scarcely had he finished the draft and held the cup aside when it was struck by a ball from one of the Spanish ships and carried away.

At the battle of Ravenna, in 1512, when the allied Spanish and Papal forces were defeated by Gaston de Foix, Dumolard, one of his captains, played a conspicuous part. After a gallant charge by which he had driven back the enemy, he determined publicly to drink the health of his country's brave ally, Jacob von Empm, the leader of the 5,000 German lansquenets. Wine was brought upon the field, and having sat down, each hero filled his goblet. At that moment, while they were in the very act of pledging one another's health, a cannon ball from the enemy's lines killed them both.

Every June the quaint old town of Rothenburg celebrates by a costume festival, which goes by the name of "Meister-Drank," the mighty feat of a former town councillor who, in 1691, saved the town from destruction. In that year Rothenburg fell before the arms of the savage Tilly, who at the head of the forces entered the vanquished town, where at the town hall he gave orders for the execution of the civic magistrates. Before, however, the doomed men were led forth to the scaffold, the burgo-master's daughter presented herself, bearing a magnificent cask of wine, out of which the conqueror drank and passed it around to his officers.

All quenched their thirst, and yet the flagon was only half empty. Seeing this, the fair Hebe remarked that one of the councillors present was able to empty the cup at a draught. "If such be the case," cried Tilly, turning to the condemned magistrates, "I will pardon you all for the drinker's sake. Fill the flagon to the brim."

This was done, and then one of the councillors stepped forward, seized the vessel, raised it to his lips, and neither drew breath nor set it down until he had quaffed its contents to the last drop. Then only did he reverse the flagon in proof that the feat had been accomplished. Tilly kept his word, and every year, in commemoration of their deliverance, do the citizens of Rothenburg enact over again this famous event in their town's history.

More Restitution.

Frenchmen are evidently determined that the righting of the wrong of 1871 shall be full and complete. A recent despatch from Paris tells of how Henri Galli and "six 200 deputies" have put their names to the following motion: "The Chamber counts upon the Government to demand at the Peace Conference the restitution to France of the flags delivered up to Germany by the capitulation of Metz." No fewer than 41 flags of the army of Metz, declares one authority, have been, for 48 years, hanging as trophies in the garison church at Potsdam. Not one of these flags was captured on the battlefield. They were treacherously surrendered by Marshal Bazaine. No doubt the 200 deputies and many other Frenchmen recall Gambetta's grim threat of many years ago: "The army will recover the flags so odiously abandoned."

No Good.

The fact that the soil of many parts of Belgium is riddled with shells, exploded and unexploded, is one of the grim facts of the war which it will do the world no harm to realize; whilst the fact that the existence of the unexploded shell constitutes a danger, unless it is provided against, there is no use gainsaying. It is, however, to be regretted that the Belgian authorities have lighted upon the idea of terrifying the people, and especially the children, into caution by means of the gruesome posters which are to-day steadily plastering the walls of Belgian towns and villages. The world has had enough, and more than enough, of such methods, Belgium most of all. They are no good, and the sooner there is a final end to them the better for all concerned.

In American shipyards labor represents 70 per cent of the cost of a vessel's construction.

FORESAW RAPACITY OF HUNS

Many Years Ago Charles Dickens Looked into the Future With Vision Remarkably Prophetic.

There is something almost uncanny about the accuracy with which Charles Dickens foresaw the Hun and his aims as we know them today. Not long ago there was quoted part of Dickens' reply to an invitation to become a member of a peace society that a number of persons were endeavoring to form in 1851. The words written then by the great English author are worth repeating:

"Look out toward Austria, look out toward Germany," he counseled. "Do you see nothing there?"

"I tell you that it is because there are the wild beasts of the forest... because I would not be soldier ridden nor have other men so, because I dread and hate the miseries and tyranny of war, that I am not for the disarming of England, nor can I be a member of your peace society."

Every reader of "Little Dorrit" will remember the landlady of the "Break of Day Inn" of Chalon. Words of this French character of his have a peculiarly prophetic ring. Here they are.

"And I tell you this my friend... That there are people whom it is necessary to detest without compromise. That there are people who must be dealt with as enemies of the human race. That there are people who have no human heart, and who must be crushed like savage beasts, and cleared out of the way."

CLAIMS CENTURY-OLD FUND

Chilean Government Asks Return of Unexpended Portion of Indemnity Paid in 1821.

The full bench of the Massachusetts supreme court has been called upon to determine the ownership of a fund nearly a century old, which is claimed by the commonwealth of Massachusetts on one hand and the Chilean government on the other.

In 1821 an American ship returning from China to Boston was seized by Chilean revolutionists and its cargo confiscated. When normal conditions prevailed in Chile the United States demanded indemnity and Chile paid $70,400.

William H. Gardiner of Brookline, Mass., was selected to distribute the money among those entitled to it. He executed the trust except as to two Chinese—known only as Paqua and Moqua, merchants—and Thomas Furber of Boston. Mr. Gardiner failed to locate these persons or their representatives. When he died the trust was transmitted to his son, and upon the latter's death to the grandson and great-grandson, Robert H. Gardiner and Robert H. Gardiner, Jr., who are now its custodians.

The present holders of the fund have searched through the records of the state department, through the American consular service at Canton, China, and through various other sources, for the heirs of Paqua, Moqua and Thomas Furber, without success.

"Cleanse" Crowd of Cash.

Vacuum cleaning money from street crowds was the striking scheme employed in one of the large cities some weeks ago for the benefit of the Red Cross, says Popular Science Magazine. A suction pipe was held over the heads of persons congregated on the sidewalk, and contributions solicited by a leather-lunged seaman who shouted through a megaphone. Crisp dollar bills and worn greenbacks, it mattered not which, were drawn in by strong suction force when inserted in the nozzle of the tube. The novelty of the plan attracted passers-by and drew forth many donations.

Cost of Infectious Diseases.

Scarlet fever, measles and diphtheria cost the city of Chicago $7,562,442 during the course of the year. This huge bill represents so much paid out as the price of carelessness, and indifference, for much if not all of this disease might have been prevented by precautions, moralizes the Journal of the American Medical Association, urging the dollars and cents value of disease prevention.

Famine in Cherry Stones.

Scarcity of fruit in Great Britain has interfered with the movement for collecting cherry stones and hard nutshells, in which the boy scouts are taking part. Hundreds of tons are needed every year to make charcoal for gas masks, charcoal from these substances having many times more absorptivity than charcoal made from wood.—Springfield Republican.

Eagle is Pershing's Mascot.

General Pershing's personal mascot is a large golden eagle which the people of his native state sent him and which is now in the Bronx Zoological park, New York. There is a race against soldiers or regiments taking their living mascots "over there" with them.

PERTH

Mr. Forsythe has purchased the property on Gore street, west, from the estate of the late Wm. Craig. The tall chimney built for the Boyd Caldwell & Co. woolen factory is finished. It is constructed of white brick, and is 110 feet high. The company is at present making cloth for Roumania, among other things. Messrs. T. R. Caldwell and T. A. Code, who were to have sailed for home from England on the 24th, inst., could not get passage, owing to the large number already booked, and their date of departure is now indefinite. What might have been a serious accident was narrowly averted around the Dalhousie Lake road on Sunday last when two cars collided. Motorists are warned to go slowly and just remember they are "not the only pebble on the beach." Last Friday night a car was stolen in the village of Lanark by some party or parties and given quite a run. The car was standing on the side of the street, and the owner, after doing his business, came along and it was gone. A search was made and late in the evening it was found up in one of the church sheds or thereabouts, having travelled quite a distance in the meantime. A search is being made for the guilty parties with the object of prosecution. Capt. Carl V. Farmer, son of Prof. J. H. Farmer, of McMaster University in Toronto and nephew of Messrs. C. A. and G. R. Farmer, of Perth, has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the pulpit of Calvary Baptist church in Toronto. He recently returned from overseas where he was engaged in Y.M.C.A. work. A very pretty wedding took place on June 10th, at the home of Mrs. John Duncan, Dalhousie, when her daughter Edith Emmaline, became the wife of Mr. Dan Ferguson of Palmerston township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Little, in the presence of about sixty guests, under an arch artistically decorated with foliage and locusts. At high noon, June 24th, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Annie Spence, Perth, to Mr. Earnest Witwer Weaver, M. E. second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Weaver, M. E. Brooklyn, New York. The ceremony was performed in the chapel of St. Ambrose, in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. From the Expositor.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mother who keep-a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum, and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well-child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good in summer, because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Ingenious Reply

One of the smartest replies ever made by a parliamentary candidate was that credited to Lord Palmerston. A heckler at one of his meetings had demanded of the statesman, "Will you, if returned, support such and such a measure?" "Pam" thought for a moment, then said, "I will." "Hurray!" broke in the heckler and his pack. "Not," continued "Pam"—at which there was thunderous counter cheers—tell you," he concluded. And the general laughter made him prime favorite at once.

Won the Crown

An English schoolmaster promised a crown to any boy who should propound a riddle that he could not answer. After many had tried, a bright youngster said: "Why am I like the Prince of Wales?" The schoolmaster puzzled his wits in vain, and finally was compelled to admit that he did not know. "Why," said the boy, "it's because I am waiting for the crown."—Boston Transcript.

This week. Councillors were watching for Warden Ferguson to discard his coat in the heat of the room, but it was immovable. However, Reeve Somerville of Lanark township, who is slated for the Warden's chair next year, occupied the chair Tuesday morning in his shirt sleeves while Council went into committee of the whole to discuss good roads matters, and he was not alone in his comfort. Greatest 12th of July celebration in Eastern Ontario will be held at Perth on Saturday, July 12th. Tuesday night as the three thousand pound safe for the Royal Bank's branch here was being unloaded in front of the office one of the planks broke and the safe fell from the wagon to the sidewalk, but luckily fell on one side. Had it fallen on the door the mechanism there would have been somewhat disarranged. The safe, as in all banks, is the "money box" of the vaults.

ARE YOU UNDER-INSURED?

When you took out your insurance you did so to protect your dependents. It has been estimated that the present day value of a dollar, as compared with a very few short years ago, is only about Sixty Cents.

Therefore on the basis of your insurance requirements a few years ago, you are now underinsured about 40%.

Your requirements for Life Protection have probably increased. See our Local Agent, he will explain how in a reasonable way you can make up the missing 40%.

Some Amusing Anecdotes

Told by American Admiral

Who Admires the British

ADMIRAL SIMS, of the United States navy, likes nothing better than pointing out the differences between "Britishness" and Americans.

Comprising in himself a delightful combination of the best traits of both peoples—his laughing grey eyes first saw the light of day in Canada—he is admirably qualified to indulge in his favorite pastime.

Admiral Sims was asked the other day to tell me in a nutshell what is the main difference between the average Briton and the average American.

"Well," he said, "I think the fellow who put it this way was about right: An Englishman walks into a drawing-room as if he owned it. An American walks in as if he didn't care a (—) who owned it."

"The German has a holy reverence for rules and regulations," said Sims. "One of our Yankee destroyers took a U-boat crew prisoner. Among them was a particularly square-headed, lantern-jawed German, obviously a country bumpkin before he degenerated into a pirate. A midshipman thought he'd rag the Boche a bit—particularly as he discovered he could talk English—and said to him:

"Say, Fritz, I guess we're not going to do a thing to you. You're going to be tarred, feathered, shot, hamstringed, and pitched over the side of the boat. That's all."

"Fritz was not especially dazed by this program, but evinced sufficient interest in it to inquire:

"Did you say I was to be drowned in de vater, also, yes?"

"You've got me the first time, kid," said the midshipman, "said Fritz, resignedly, 'vat-ever is der rule!'"

The American reputation in Europe for wit and humor has been enhanced there by the crop of good stories concerned with her negro troops in France, Admiral Sims tells these:

"The night before a negro battalion was to go over the top an officer, addressing a coon who was almost scared white, said:—

"Sam, what would you do if you saw the whole blamed German cavalry coming right at you this very minute?"

"Boss," replied the black man, between knee-quakes, "I'd sure spread the news through France!"

The admiral tells of another "coon," who took a batch of Hun prisoners in a trench. One of the Germans, in pitiable accents, begged the negro to let him off with his life.

"Please, please spare me!" he moaned. "I haf a vife und five children got."

"You're mistaken, Mistah Fritz," said Rastus. "You ain't got no wife and five children. What you'se got is a widow and five orphans!"

The admiral defines the outstanding difference between the metropolises of Britain and America as follows: "In London nobody cares what you're doing; in New York everybody wonders whom you're doing."

Christ of the Andes. The "Christ of the Andes" is a large monument standing 14,500 feet above sea level on the Argentine-Chilean frontier, erected to commemorate a peace treaty between the two countries and dedicated March 13, 1904. Above the base of the monument is a granite sphere weighing fourteen tons, resting on a granite column, and on the sphere is outlined a map of the world. The figure of Christ is of bronze, twenty-six feet in height, while a cross in the left hand is five feet higher. The right hand is outstretched in blessing. On a tablet at the base is the following inscription: "Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than Argentines and Chileans break the peace to which they have pledged themselves at the foot of Christ, the Redeemer."

An inventor has equipped a parachute with hand-operated propellers on the theory that a user can guide his descent thereby.

TEST THE WEATHER.

How Every Man Can Be His Own Prophet.

Adam may or may not have tried his hand at weather prediction, but it is written that as far back as the time of Noah that gentleman prophesied a long, sweet spell, and, unlike a lot of later weather prophets, he had such faith in his own prognostications that he took measures to meet the situation. Further than that, subsequent events proved that Noah was a 100 per cent. prophet.

Many of his successors, however, showing a lower batting average, it became increasingly apparent as time went on that in view of the frequency with which the prognostications failed, the subject should be placed on a scientific basis in order to obtain accuracy in the results, or at least to spread a sort of halo of learning and philosophy about it, and thus minimize the curse, as it were, of possible errors. So weather bureaus were instituted, which same have been in more or less successful operation now for many years, with attendants on the Government payroll, and everything. Entirely apart from scientific weather observations, however, home-made weather forecasting has persisted as a pleasing pastime all these years, and on this very day there is a set of rules governing it, more or less recognized by all amateur weather prophets. For the benefit of those who may be unfamiliar with these rules, the New York Sun has obligingly made a compilation of them and they are set forth as follows:—

When standing on high ground and the horizon is unobstructed from all quarters, if the sky is absolutely cloudless, look for a storm within forty-eight hours.

If it starts to rain after seven o'clock in the morning it will continue to do so all day, and very often it is the indication of a three days' rain.

When it is raining and it brightens and darkens alternately you can count on an all-day rain, with a chance of clearing at sundown.

When the rain ceases and the clouds are still massed in heavy blankets one sure sign of clear weather is the patch of blue sky that shows through the rift large enough to make a pair of "sailor's breeches."

Another sign of continued rain is when the smoke from the chimney hovers low around the housetops. When it ascends straight into the air this indicates clearing weather.

A foggy morning is usually the forerunner of a clear afternoon.

A thunderstorm in winter (usually in January or February) is always followed by clear, cold weather. It is not, as many think, the breaking up of winter.

People living near the seashore say a storm is "brewing" when the air is salty, caused by the wind blowing from the east.

A red or copper-colored sun or moon indicates great heat. A silvery moon denotes clear, cool weather.

The old Indian sign of a dry month was when the ends of the new moon were nearly horizontal and one of them resembled a hook on which the Indian could hang his powder-horn.

Many people troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia usually are excellent barometers and can predict changeable weather by "feeling it in their bones."

And the advice of the old weather sage is "never go out during April month without being accompanied by your umbrella."

And then, for the special benefit of those who never can remember anything they read in prose, but do have a faculty for retaining jingles, the following important formulas are set out in verse:—

Red in the morning the sailor's warning;
Red at night the sailor's delight.

When you see a mackerel sky,
"Twill not be many hours dry.

When the seagulls inland fly
Know ye that a storm is nigh.

A ring around the moon
Means a storm is coming soon.

When it rains before seven
"Twill clear before eleven.

Mexico's Floating Gardens. The so-called floating gardens of Mexico do not live up to their name, for they have never been known to float, but they do supply the capital of Mexico with a large part of its flowers and vegetables.

To get to these stationary floating gardens you hire a canal boat, and are shoved and poled along the Viga Canal as part of a boat parade, which cannot be escaped because it is perpetual. The gardens are far up the canal. They are square patches of island covered to overflowing, some with flowers of every hue and others with homely vegetables. They are literally the garden spots of Mexico.

Though the gardens do not float, they have their unusual points. They did not just happen like most islands, but are home-made by the gardeners or their predecessors. Masses of water hyacinths and other water plants were thrown into the water, and on top of that a layer of earth. The hyacinth roots floated down to the canal bed and moored the garden, and the gardeners immediately went to work.

Products of these patches can be seen traveling back up the canal to the market of Mexico City. Some boats going to town are loaded with human freight, but the majority in the returning parade are piled high with sweet peas, lilacs, poppies, and other gorgeous blossoms, or with radishes, turnips, and the odoriferous onion.

Rene Fonck. Before Rene Fonck, the famous French aviator, left Paris recently for America, he was guest of honor at a luncheon at which Ambassador Sharp, who presided, said: "I would not be a bit surprised to learn that Capt. Fonck, after receiving a great welcome in the United States, was returning to France by airplane."

An Aristocratic Bolshevik

WELL deserved, in the opinion of all who know the people's commissary for foreign affairs at Petrograd, was the tribute paid to him by Kerensky on the eve of his own fall: "If Tchicherin were with me now, I could defy that agronomer!" The "agronome" was Lenin. Tchicherin had already gone over to him. This same Tchicherin is the most mystical idealist in the whole Soviet republic, says the Socialist Avanti, and there is justification for the assertion of the Paris Humanite (also Socialist) that he is the ablest diplomatist in Europe. Tchicherin is acknowledged as a man of genius even by his severe critics in the Temps and he has the additional advantages of wealth and aristocratic origin. The grandfather of the Bolshevik Foreign Minister was one of the famous statesmen of the reign of Nicholas I. Another of his ancestors was a confidential adviser of the great Catherine. For a period of over two hundred years this family has contributed ambassadors, governors, generals, ladies-in-waiting and exalted bureaucrats to the service of the Romanoff dynasty. The Tchicherins have also played their parts in all the revolutions and conspiracies of the past five reigns. They have been territorial magnates for generations, and the great-grandfather of this Bolshevik Foreign Minister was noted in his day for the immense number of serfs upon his innumerable fields.

The present commissary Tchicherin, who was born not far from Moscow about forty-two years ago, impresses all the courtiers who meet him with his culture, his sincerity and his ability. Nearly every character-sketch of him in the foreign press is a personal eulogy. Much is made of his good humor and his humility. He will receive a correspondent of the London Mail with apologies for being in his pyjamas, seeing that the solitary pair of trousers he has left are undergoing repairs in the shop of a "comrade."

As the son of one of the wealthiest and most prominent men in Moscow, Tchicherin received the education of a youth of fashion. His early manhood was spent in that quarter of the town called the Royal Grove, the family mansion being on one of the big boulevards. He went, naturally, to the great university founded by one of his ancestors, and, although there were thousands of students, he was distinguished among them all for his poetical personal appearance and his skill on various musical instruments. He was reared in the orthodox communion by a pious mother long on terms of intimacy with the mother of the late czar. A Swiss newspaper, reciting these particulars, adds that the young Tchicherin early manifested the thirst for knowledge in every field which remains one of his conspicuous traits. He nearly compromised his health by his long vigils at the great university library at Moscow.

Yielding to the entreaties of his parents, says the Italian Socialist organ, Tchicherin in his early twenties entered the Russian diplomatic service. He had acquired the languages of central Europe and was fairly well acquainted with the practice of chancellery at Petrograd. He became first secretary of the embassy in Berlin. The peculiar melancholy and mysticism of his nature, which he had suppressed at his father's command, reasserted itself. Then, we learn from the London News, he took to Socialism in its extreme form, devouring the writing of Karl Marx and Engels, and accepting Karl Kautsky as an oracle. When it became generally known at the Imperial German court that the secretary of the Russian embassy was a regular attendant at Socialist mass-meetings in Berlin and Munich, the Wilhelmstrasse made representations at the Nevsky Prospekt. The elder Tchicherin, who had become mayor of Moscow, made a hurried trip to Berlin and remonstrated with his son in vain. The young man gave up his post after a stormy scene with his father, the details of which got into the Vorwarts at the time. The theory of his relatives was that Tchicherin had lost his reason, a notion which derived some confirmation from the eccentricities of speech and deportment to which he had always been prone.

For several years after this episode, Tchicherin wandered about Europe, living upon an allowance made him by his mother, who in her day had been a great heiress as well as a famous beauty. Her son now formed one of the great colonies of political refugees which lend color to the Swiss towns of Berne and Kienten. Tchicherin wrote brilliantly for all the leading revolutionary gazettes published in Switzerland. His pamphlets have been circulated by the thousands in his native country. He seems not to have run across Trotsky until after that agitator took up his own abode in Paris, but Lenin, always on the lookout for young men of promise, sought his acquaintance while Tchicherin was still in the diplomatic service. The two became intimate friends. They lived in the same house at Zimmerwald before the great war.

Hun U-Boat Losses. Germany lost 198 submarines during the war, according to statistics on this branch of the German naval service published in the Berlin Vossische Zeitung. This number included seven submarines interned in foreign ports and fourteen destroyed by their own crews.

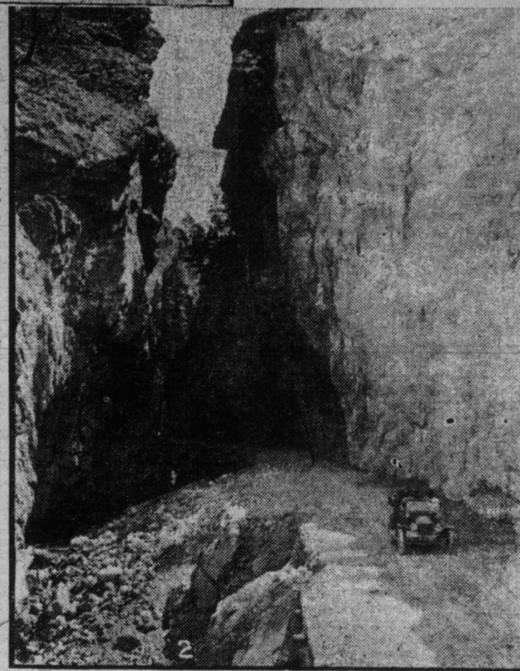

More than 3,000 sailors lost their lives in the submarine sinkings, the statistics show, while several thousand others lost their reason and had to be committed to lunatic asylums.

Highway of the Great Divide

Between Banff, the popular summer resort in the Canadian Pacific Rockies and Lake Windermere, the head waters of the great Columbia River, lies an Alpine ridge of spectacular beauty, forming part of the Great Divide. This ridge is penetrated by two comparatively easy passes, the Simpson, and the Vermilion which lead into the Valley of the Kootenay River, a region abounding in game on account of its being well south of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Between the Kootenay River and the Columbia River is a small range of mountains through which the Sinclair Pass and Canyon provide an easy road. When the first surveys were made for an automobile road between Banff and Windermere it was planned to use the Simpson Pass, named after Sir George Simpson, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, who made this crossing in 1841. But the route over the Vermilion was found to be easier and at the same time more beautiful, and construction of the Highway of the Great Divide was commenced from opposite Castle Mountain in this direction. At the same time the road from Windermere through the Sinclair Canyon was also commenced and at the time of the outbreak of war a gap of only thirty miles separated the two roads. War put an end to construction, and a great washout destroyed several miles of the western end, so that the project seemed to have been abandoned. Now, however, the Dominion Government has made an arrangement with the British Columbia Government by which the route of the road comes under the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parks, and a substantial appropriation has been allotted to finish the work. In this way there is every prospect of the early completion of what will be the most wonderful automobile road

In Canada, opening up an Alpine region of entrancing beauty. It will be possible to motor from Calgary to Windermere between sunrise and sunset through a hundred miles of the most glorious scenery in North America. A good automobile road runs south to Fort Steele and Cranbrook, and from Cranbrook there are excellent roads to Spokane, or eastwards through the Crow's Nest Pass, and back to Calgary. The Good Roads Association of Alberta is enthusiastic over the prospect as this will mean the advent of many tourists from all over America. The new road will also be of great benefit to the Upper Columbia Valley which has many attractions for settlers on account of the fertility of the soil and suitability for mixed farming. This valley is served by the Kootenay Central Railway, a recently constructed branch of the Canadian Pacific.

Patriotism and Profit

It is patriotic to buy War Savings Stamps because Canada must have money for reconstruction.

But it is also profitable to buy War Savings Stamps because you are investing in Government Bonds yielding over 5%.

You don't need to be a capitalist. You can start with 25 cents. Buy a Thrift Stamp for a quarter. When you have sixteen of them, exchange them for a War Savings Stamp, and you will have laid the foundation of a solid investment with your odd savings.

You can add to this investment as often as you save $4.00, and in 1924 the Government will pay $5.00 for every War Savings Stamp you buy now for $4.00 odd.

This is the biggest opportunity ever afforded to wage earners to become investors.

In June W.S.S. Cost $4.05

War Savings Stamps can be bought wherever this sign is displayed.

"Well, I don't know. S'pose you might ring up Peter Shattuck and ask him. He's pretty particular about his horses, though, and I calculate he—"

"All right. I'll ring him up. Pete ought to get over some of his particularness to oblige me. I've helped him once or twice."

"Excuse me, sir," said the lawyer. "Did I understand you to say you were going to South Denboro?"

"Yes, I am if the powers and Pete Shattuck'll let me."

"You were going to drive over? May I go with you? I'm very anxious to get to South Denboro tonight. I have some very important business there, and I want to complete it and get away together. This he followed with two sharp tinkles. Then came a series of shouts "Hello!" and at last fragments of one-half of a dialogue.

"That you, Shattuck? Know who this is, don't you? Yes, that's right. Say, how many folks listen every time a bell rings on this line? I've heard no less'n eight receivers come down so far. Two of 'em went up then. Did you hear 'em? Sartia. I want to hire a team to go over home with. Tonight—sartin. I don't care. Yes, you will too. Yes, you will. Send my man back with it tomorrow. I don't care what it is, so it's got four legs and wheels."

And so on for at least five minutes. Then the captain hung up the receiver and came back to the waiting room.

"Bargain's made, Mr. Graves," he announced. "Pete'll have some sort of a turnout alongside soon's he can get it harnessed. If you've got any extra storm duds in that satchel of yours I'd advise you to put 'em on. We're going to have a rough passage."

Just how rough it was likely to be, Graves realized when he emerged from the station to board the Shattuck buggy. Pete himself had driven the equipage over from the livery stable.

"I wouldn't do this for anybody but you, cap'n," he vouchsafed in what might be called a reproachful shout.

"Wouldn't do what?" replied the captain, looking first at the ancient horse and then at the battered buggy.

"Let this horse out a night like this."

"Humph! I should think night would be the only time you would let him out. There, there! Never mind. Get aboard, Mr. Graves. Put your satchel on the floor between your feet. Here, let me h'at that boot for you."

The "boot" was a rubber curtain buttoned across the front of the buggy, extending from the dashboard to just below the level of the driver's eyes. The lawyer clambered in behind it, the captain followed, the end of the reins was passed through a slit in the boot. Mr. Shattuck, after inquiring if they were "all taut," gave the command, "Gid-dap!" and horse and buggy moved around the corner of the station out into darkness.

The view ahead, over the boot, was blackness, bordered by spidery trees and branches whipping in the wind. Occasionally they passed houses sitting well back from the road, a lighted window gleaming cozily. And ever, as they moved, the storm seemed to gather force.

"It is blowing worse than ever, isn't it?" yelled the nervous Graves.

"Hey? No; just about the same. It's dead south-west, and we're getting out of the woods, that's all. Up on those bare hills we catch the full force of it right off the scotch. Be there pretty soon now if this Old Hundred of a horse would quit walkin' in his sleep and really move. Them lights ahead are South Denboro."

The lights were clustered at the foot of a long and rather steep hill. Down the declivity bounced and rocked the buggy. The horse's hoofs sounded hollow on the planks of a bridge. The road narrowed and became a village street, bordered and arched by tall trees which groaned and thrashed in the hurricane. The rain, as it beat in over the boot, had, so the lawyer fancied, a salty taste.

The captain bent down. "Say, mister," he shouted, "where was it you wanted to stop? Who is it you're lookin' for?"

"What?"

"I say—Heavens to Betsy—how that wind does screech! I say, where 'bouts shall I land you? This is South Denboro. Whose house do you want to go to?"

"I'm looking for one of your leading citizens, Elisha Warren is his name."

"What?"

"Elisha Warren. I—"

He was interrupted. There was a sharp crack overhead, followed by a tremendous rattle and crash. Then down upon the buggy descended what to Graves appeared to be an avalanche of scratching, tearing twigs and branches. They ripped away the boot and laprobe and jammed him back against the seat, their sharp points against his breast. The buggy was jerked forward a few feet and stopped short.

He heard the clatter of boots and shouts of "Whoa!" and "Stand still!" He tried to rise, but the tangle of twigs before him seemed impenetrable, so he gave it up and remained where he was. Then after an interval came a hail from the darkness:

"Hi, there! Mr. Graves, ahoy! Hurt, be you?"

"No." The lawyer's tone was doubtful. "No-o, I-I guess not. That you, captain?"

"Yes, it's me. Stand still, you fool-head! Quit your hoppin' up and down!" These commands were evidently addressed to the horse. "Glad you ain't hurt. Better get out, hadn't you?"

"It's all right," said a calm voice behind him.

tomorrow. I must be back in New York by the morning following."

"Well, I don't know, Mr.—"

"Graves is my name."

"I don't know, Mr. Graves. This ain't goin' to be a pleasure cruise exactly. You might get pretty wet."

"I don't care. I can get dry again when I get there. Of course I shall share the expense of the livery. I shall be greatly obliged if I may go with you. If not, I must try for a rig myself."

"Oh, if you feel that way about it, why, come ahead and welcome. I was only warnin' you, that's all. However, with me aboard for ballast, I guess we won't blow away. Wait a jiffy till I get after Pete."

He entered the ticket office and raised a big hand to the little crank of the telephone bell.

"Let's see, Caleb," he called, "what's Shattuck's number?"

"Four long and two short," answered the station master.

Graves, wondering vaguely what sort of telephone system was in use on Cape Cod, heard his prospective pilot ring the instrument for a full two seconds, repeating the ring four times at

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE HELLER, Christopher, Ill.

Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience.

If complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.

"I'm not sure that I can get out. What on earth has happened?"

"Tree limb carried away. Lucky for us we got the brush end 'stead of the butt. Scooch down and see if you can't wriggle out underneath. I did."

Mr. Graves obediently "scooched." After a struggle he managed to slide under the tangle of branches and at length stood on his feet in the road beside the buggy.

Graves found his companion standing at the horse's head, holding the frightened animal by the bridle. The rain was descending in a flood.

"Well," gasped the agitated New Yorker, "I'll be hanged if this isn't—"

"Ain't it? But say, Mr. Graves, who did you say you was comin' to see?"

"Oh, a person named Elisha Warren! He lives in this forsaken hole somewhere, I believe. If I had known

"I'm not sure that I can get out." what an experience I must go through to reach him I'd have seen him at the devil."

From the bulky figure at the horse's head came a chuckle.

"Humph! Well, Mr. Graves, if the butt of that limb had fetched us instead of 'tother end I don't know but you might have seen him there. I'm Elisha Warren, and that's my house over yonder where the lights are."

CHAPTER II. The Will of Abijah.

"THIS is your room, Mr. Graves," said Miss Abigail Baker, placing the lighted lamp on the bureau. "And here's a pair of socks and some slippers. They belong to Elisha—Cap'n Warren, that is—but he's got more. Cold water and towels and soap are on the washstand over yonder, but I guess you've had enough cold water for one night. There's plenty hot in the bathroom at the end of the hall. You needn't hurry. Supper's waited an hour and a half 'till 'Twon't hurt it to wait a spell longer."

She went away, closing the door after her. The bewildered, wet and shivering New Yorker stared about the room, which, to his surprise, was warm and cozy. Radiators and a bathroom! These were modern luxuries he would have taken for granted had Elisha Warren been the sort of man he expected to find—the country magnate, the leading citizen, fitting brother to the late A. Rodgers Warren of Fifth Avenue and Wall Street.

But the Captain Warren who had driven him to South Denboro in the rain was not that kind of man at all. His manner and his language were as far removed from those of the late A. Rodgers as the latter's brownstone residence was from this big, rambling house, with its deep stairs and narrow halls, its antiquated pictures and hideous, old-fashioned wall paper; as far removed as Miss Baker, whom the captain had hurriedly introduced as "my second cousin keepin' house for me," was from the dignified butler at the mansion on Fifth Avenue. Certainly this particular Warren was not fitted to be elder brother to the New York broker who had been Sylvester, Kuhn & Graves's client.

It could not be; it could not. There must be some mistake. In country towns there were likely to be several of the same name. There must be another Elisha Warren.

Meanwhile Miss Abigail had descended the stairs to the sitting room. Before a driftwood fire in a big brick fireplace sat Captain Warren in his shirt sleeves, a pair of mammoth carpet slippers on his feet and the said feet stretched luxuriously out toward the blaze.

"Able," observed the captain, "this is solid comfort. Every time I go away from home I get into trouble, don't I? Last trip I took to Boston I lost $30, and—"

"Lost it?" interrupted Miss Baker tartly. "It lendin' Tim Foster ain't givin' it away, then I miss my guess."

KILL ROADSIDE WEEDS

Cultivation Stores Water in Soil for Crops.

Grasshoppers Cheaply and Quickly Destroyed by Treating With the Poisoned Bran Mixture.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

"A STITCH in time saves nine." This is especially true in the case of weeds. When one considers that a single specimen of many kinds of weeds may produce over 10,000 seeds, and that many of such seeds may be blown far and wide by the wind, one begins to realize just what a source of contamination is a weedy roadside, a fence corner or a waste place.

In Ontario it is too common a sight in the fall of the year to see a farmer busy with his fall cultivation, attempting to clean his field and preparing a good seed bed for next year's crop. At the same time on the roadside near the field or in the fence corners or some waste place near it such weeds as Perennial Sow Thistle, Canada Thistle, Milkweed and Wild Lettuce are maturing seeds by the thousands, to be blown on to his well tilled field and reseed it with enough filth to markedly lessen his crop and fertility the next year.

When labor is so scarce and when the maximum quantity of grain should be produced from every acre under cultivation, no man can afford to allow weeds to seed anywhere in the neighborhood of his farm. A few hours spent now and again during the summer cutting weeds on roadsides, in waste places and fence corners is a good investment for the future, which will pay handsome dividends in labor saved and increased crop.—L. E. Howitt, Ontario Agricultural College.

Conservation of Soil Moisture.

Moisture is the most important soil property. Without it a crop is absolutely impossible, no matter how much fertility be present. With the proper amount large crops are obtained, while on the other hand if moisture is excessive or deficient the yield is diminished according as the excess or deficiency increases. If all the water necessary for the production of a full crop could be collected on the surface of the ground at one time, it would be from 18 inches to 24 inches deep, depending on the crop and the season! During the growing season only 10 or 12 inches of rain falls in Ontario, and this is only half the amount required by the crops. Hence it becomes necessary to store up in the soil as much of the winter and spring rains as possible, while at the same time guarding against excess.

The amount of water a soil may contain depends on the pore space in the soil. Sands have least pore space, loams and mucks most and clay is intermediate. The porosity of a coarse sand is about 35 per cent, of a loam or muck about 50 per cent, and of a heavy clay about 45 per cent. From these figures it will be seen that a soil may contain nearly as much water as soil grains. Since the plant roots require air it is not desirable to have all the soil pores filled with water; some free air space must be left, hence drainage becomes necessary.

There are three ways that water may be lost; first by run-off, secondly by drainage, and thirdly by evaporation. Of these three the greatest is evaporation. It may amount to half the total rainfall. As long as the soil is wet in the spring we want all these at work, but as soon as the soil is dry enough for cultivation we want the losses cut off. And cultivation is the only direct means by which this can be done in summer. Cultivation should begin just as early as the soil is dry enough. To delay one week may cause the loss of as much as 1 1/2 inches of water, and this is as much as falls in the month of April, a very serious matter when the needs are so great and the supply so limited. In the fall of the year cultivation should be deep to increase absorption and retention of water; in the spring shallow, in order to produce a dry layer of soil on the surface to cut off evaporation.—Prof. W. H. Day, Ontario Agricultural College.

A Cheap and Efficient Method of Controlling Grasshoppers.

Grasshoppers may be easily and cheaply controlled by poisoning with the bran mixture, which is made as follows: 20 lbs. bran, 1 lb. Paris green, 1/2 gal. molasses, 2 gals. water, 2 or 3 lemons.

The bran and Paris green should be mixed thoroughly together when dry. This should be done the night before using. In the morning squeeze the juice of the lemons into the water, run the pulp and rind through a meat chopper and add this and the molasses to the water. Stir well and then pour the liquid on the poisoned bran and mix so thoroughly that every part is moist and will fall size sawdust through the fingers. The mash should be applied early in the morning between five and seven o'clock, by scattering thinly over the infested field. In the fence corners and on roadsides where the insects have been observed. The above amount will suffice for four or five acres. It will be well to make an inspection three or four days later, and if there are many survivors to make a second application.

It is important to attend to this matter as early in the season as the young grasshoppers are noticed, and not to wait till they grow big and have caused a considerable amount of damage.

The same means may be employed for the control of cutworms, making the application wherever the worms are observed just before dark in the evening.—L. Caesar, B.S.A., Provincial Entomologist.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JULY 6

CHURCH: ITS LIFE AND WORK.

LESSON TEXTS—Acts 2:1-4, 37-47; 1 Thess. 5:11-15.

GOLDEN TEXT—Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it.—Eph. 5:25.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—1 Cor. 12: 4-31; Eph. 1:15-23; 4:11-16; 5:25-27; Rev. 1: 10-20.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Our Father's House.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Why We Should Love the Church.

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—What the Church Does for Us and What We Should Do for the Church.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The Spirit and Mission of the Church.

I. The Origin of the Church (Acts 2:1-4).

Fifty days after the passover, while the 120 men and women were "with one accord in one place" the Holy Spirit came upon them and baptized them into one body (1 Cor. 12:13). Thus was begun the body called the church. The church had its beginning at Pentecost. The believers were united around the resurrected Christ as head.

II. Conditions of Entrance into the Church (Acts 2:37-41).

After the coming of the Spirit at Pentecost, Peter witnessed to the death and resurrection of Christ. Through this testimony the Spirit convicted these Jews of their sins. In their desperate need they cried out: "What shall we do?" Peter's reply indicated the steps into the church:

- (1) Belief in Jesus Christ as Savior. His argument proved that Jesus whom they had crucified was the Messiah.
- (2) Repentance. Every one entering the church should repent; should change his mind and attitude toward Jesus Christ.
- (3) Be baptized. The divinely appointed method for the public confession of Jesus Christ is baptism. Those who have believed in Jesus Christ should receive this tangible ordinance, which symbolizes our identification with Christ in his death, burial and resurrection.
- (4) Receive remission of sins. Those who have been united to Jesus Christ have all their sins removed; there is an entire cancellation of guilt. They have a standing before God which is absolutely perfect.
- (5) Receive the Holy Spirit. The gift of the Holy Spirit is the birthright of every regenerated soul who is obedient to Christ.

III. A Portrait of the Primitive Church (Acts 2:42-47).

1. They continued in the apostles' doctrine (v. 42). Instead of being taught by the scribes they are now taught by the apostles. They have turned away from their blind guides and are following new ones.
2. They continued in fellowship around Christ as the head (v. 42). The breaking of bread illustrated the oneness of believers in Christ. As all partook of one loaf, so all believers are one in Christ.
3. They continued in prayer (v. 42). The ideal church is a praying church.
4. They had a community of goods (vv. 43-45). They had all things in common. Those that had possessions sold them and distribution was made to every one as he had need.
5. They were filled with praise (v. 46). All those who have had the experience of the life of God being poured into them are filled with praise, and gratitude must express itself.

IV. The Mutual Duties of Officers and Members of the Church (1 Thess. 5:11-15).

1. Mutual intercourse for comfort and edification (v. 11). There is no caste in the church of Jesus Christ; it is a brotherhood.
2. Proper recognition should be given to those who are engaged in spiritual service (v. 12). Only as the grace of God abounds do men and women turn from their secular to spiritual interests. Those who thus respond to the call of God should have popular recognition.
3. Proper respect should be given to church officials (v. 13).

While we should not give worship to those who are leaders in the church of Christ we should give them proper respect. One of the signs of the degeneracy of the age is a lack of respect shown Christian ministers.

4. Live in peace (v. 13). Although there is in the church a diversity of interests and personalities the love of Christ should so fill us that there be no strife in his body.

5. Warn the disorderly (v. 14). As Christ chose twelve and one was a devil, so in the church there will be those who are disorderly. All such should be lovingly warned.

6. Be not retalliative (v. 15). Although others wrong us we should not retalliate.

Growth.

Violent efforts to growth are right in earnestness, but wholly wrong in principle. There is but one principle of growth both for the natural and spiritual, for body and soul. And the principle of growing in grace is once more this: "Consider the lilies how they grow."

Take Second Look.

I am not one of those who do not believe in love at first sight, but I believe in taking a second look.—H. Vincent.

This Good Old Remedy

New Light on Term "O. K."

President Wilson has his own way of doing things, and he also has a very good reason for doing them his own way. Not only does that apply to matters of world-wide importance but to trivial things as well.

In signing unofficial documents—on official documents he formally writes "Approved"—the president of the United States precedes his signature with the word "Okeh."

One of his secretaries, suddenly realizing the significance of the word, asked the president why he did not write "O. K."

"Because that's wrong," said Wilson.

"Wrong?" echoed the secretary. "Isn't it derived from Andrew Jackson's 'Ori Kreech'?"

"No," said Wilson. "'O. K.' is often erroneously used for 'Okeh,' which in the Choctaw language means, 'It is so.'"

In the old days of the overland stages there sat up in front alongside the driver the express messenger, carrying on his knees always ready for instant use a sawed-off shotgun.

In these later days, on another sort of vehicle, and for protection against another sort of highwaymen, both men on the box are armed. The vehicle is the big, powerful motor-driven army supply wagon.

On each side of the driver's seat on these wagons is a deep leather holster and in each holster is carried a repeating carbine; a lively, handy weapon and one carrying many more shots than the old-time sawed-off shotgun.

PROGRESS IN ROAD CONSTRUCTION

The June session of Lanark County Council has resolved itself largely into a good roads discussion. The provincial county highway and the construction of what might be termed township-county roads occupied considerable time in the general discussion of matters.

The time is opportune for going ahead with the construction of the provincial county road, giving a better link between the north and south sections of the county. This county is above the average in the number of rivers and lakes within its precincts and these rivers have of necessity required expensive bridges, structures that would last and stand up against the inroads of time. The county can congratulate itself on having as fine a lot of bridges as are to be found in any other county. The bridge program has now been completed, and the average expenditure of $25,000 a year in their construction may now be turned to other accounts, and it is but fitting that the roads should have this amount placed to their improvement. The provincial war tax has been cut off which means a yearly saving to the county of $14,000, while the grants to the various war funds amounting to $2,000 a month are concluded, so that on these three accounts the county is having less expenditure by $50,000. This saving is more than adequate to finance each year's expenditure on the proposed county road. There will be approximately 70 miles to this road and the cost of construction may be figured at $10,000 per mile, thus the total cost would be $700,000. Of this cost of construction the province pays 60 per cent and continues to pay 60 per cent of the cost of maintenance. Thus on construction account the province will pay $420,000 and the county $280,000. The latter expenditure spread over a period of ten years will make an expenditure of $28,000 on the county provincial highway, and still leave a substantial saving over previous expenditure.

Township-county road construction is one of the new measures promulgated by the Provincial Government and this system will eventually be in vogue in every township in the county, doing away with cumbersome statute labor regulations. Under the new system the township designates heavily trafficked roads as township-county roads. The county is the intermediary through which the township does the financing in conjunction with the province, the county also having in charge the inspection of construction. By this system the township pays the cost of the roads and gets the benefit of the Provincial Government's 40 per cent for construction and 40 per cent for maintenance. It is a means whereby the township and county co operate in road construction, and benefitting the whole county in the end. Several townships in the county have already designated certain roads and are preparing to go ahead under the new system of construction. For these townships it means the purchasing of proper machinery to construct the proper roads.

Lanark County has ever been in the forefront in matters of road construction and the present era is one of continued progress along these very essential and important lines.

The Luscious Strawberry

Wild strawberries are found in nearly every part of Canada and cultivated varieties may be grown successfully in almost every section where the wild plants thrive. However, cultivated strawberries require attention. In the Dominion Experimental Farms Bulletin No. 92, "The Strawberry and its Cultivation in Canada" obtainable from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, complete information is given regarding the preparation of soils, the plants and their treatment, cultivation and irrigation, and many other points useful to the strawberry grower. A section of this publication is devoted to methods of combating insects and diseases which attack the strawberry. Ripe strawberries in shipment and storage deteriorate from a number of causes one of the most important of which is rot induced by various fungi. Perhaps the worst offender is the ordinary bread mould (Rhizopus nigricans). It breaks down the tissue, and liberates the juice which runs out of the basket while the softened fruit sags down. From this outstanding symptom the rot has been called "Leak." This disease can be greatly reduced by care in picking and selection, cleanliness in packing, and by keeping the temperature below 50 degrees F. while in storage.

TIRED PEOPLE ARE DEBILITATED

People who are tired all the time and never feel rested, even after a long night in bed, people who cannot regain weight and strength, who feel no joy in living, are in a condition described by doctors as general debility. A medical examination might show that every organ in the body is acting normally, but the pallor of the face will usually show that the blood is weak and watery. This is the root of the trouble.

Debility is a loss of vitality, not affecting any one part of the body but the system generally. The blood goes to every part of the body and the use of a blood tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly tones up the whole system. The first sign of returning health is a better appetite, an improved digestion, a quicker step and better color in the cheeks. The rich, red blood, reaching every organ and muscle, carries new health and vigor. The nerves are quieted, sleep becomes more refreshing and with persistent treatment and a good diet the patient is once more enabled to enjoy life. The case of Mr. W. Duxatare, R.R. No. 4, Tilsonburg, Ont., illustrates the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mr. Duxatare says:—"I was troubled with pains throughout my whole body, was extremely nervous, did not sleep at night, and was further afflicted with rheumatism. In spite of different treatment this condition persisted, indeed I was growing worse, and had fallen away in weight to 130 pounds and was scarcely able to do any work. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after a few weeks there was a noticeable improvement in my condition. I continued taking the pills, constantly gaining until I felt as well as ever I did. While taking the pills my weight increased to 170 pounds, and I can now do as good a day's work as anyone. My advice if you are not feeling well is to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they will soon put you right."

At the first sign that the blood is out of order take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and note the speedy improvement they make in the appetite, health and spirits. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Revised figures of the Quebec provincial election in Labelle county give Honore Achim, Liberal, a majority of 720. Louis Consineau, Conservative, was previously erroneously reported elected. The Liberal government's majority is now 70.
