A "SOFT SNAP" IN THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT.

At the meeting of the Public Accounts Committee it came out yesterday in evidence that Miss Craig was appointed by Postmaster-General Haggart an extra clerk in the department a few weeks after Mr. Haggart himself became Postmaster-General, that she was absent 63 days on sick leave up to June 2, 1889, and that then she disappeared from the department, and yet from the records of the department received checks for some months. One of these checks was indorsed as follows: "Handed to Deputy Portmaster-General for the Postmaster-General," and two others were indorsed as having been received by the Postmaster-General's private secretary. These checks were all produced and identified by the Deputy Postmaster-General, who was the chief witness. He could not explain how Miss Craig was permitted to be absent so long without being accounted for in the attendance book, which, he swore, he gave particular instructions should be strictly kept so that no one should be absent without explanation of it being entered in this book. There was a record day by day of Miss Craig's attendance up to June 2, 1889, after which all record of her ceased. Several objections were taken by Mr. Wood, of Brockville, to some of Mr. Barron's questions. The chairman sustained Mr. Wood's objections, and Mr. Barron was compelled to limit his inquiries.

Mr. Barron asked Mr. White, deputy postmaster-general—Here is a check on June 15, 1889. You see that the last trace we have of Miss Craig in the attendance book is on June 2? A.—Yes.

Q.—Who got that check? A.—It is marked handed to Deputy Postmaster-General.

Q.—Then you handed it to the Postmaster-General? A.—No. What probably took place was that I handed it to some clerk.

Q.—Miss Craig was not in the department at that time? A.—No.

Q.—When was that check cashed? A.—On Aug. 3.

Q.—Take the next check of July 15, who received that? A.—It is indorsed "Jane Craig."

Q.—When was it cashed? A.—On Aug. 2.

Mr. Barron—So you see quite a time elapsed between the date of the check and when it was cashed. Who received that check? A.—It is marked here as having been handed to the Postmaster-General's private secretary.

Mr. Mulock—Have you any system in your office by which you can ascertain when a clerk ceases to be employed? Is there no official record of the termination of their employment? A.—When the Postmaster-General dispenses with the services of employes their names cease to appear on the pay list. The Minister gives the order, which is of record.

Q.—Produce the order in this case. A.—Well, a great deal is done verbally at headquarters. The Postmaster-General may give an instruction and I communicate it verbally to the secretary.

Q.—Do you mean to say that a person may cease to be in the service of the department and checks still be made out in her favor and no record in the books? A.—I mean to say that if a temporary employe is absent from illness the checks continue to be made out, and if they are absent an unreasonable time they cease.

Q.—How many months was she actually paid? A.—She was paid a year's pay.

Q.—How much of that time did she work? A.—She was gone June, July, August, September, October—five months.

Q.—In the preceding seven months how long was she absent? A.—Thirty-three days.

Q.—So she was absent for six months out of the twelve? A.—That is correct.

Mr. Barron—You say it was the practice forward checks to those who were absent. Now do you know of any other instance where the Postmaster-General got the check? A.—No.

Mr. Barron—You speak of Miss O'Connor being absent. Was that the same kind of a case as Miss Craig? A.—No, I do not say that.

Q.—Now look at that book and say if Miss O'Connor's absence is not accounted for every day? A.—Oh! I presume it is; yes, that is so.

Mr. Barron—In the case of Miss Craig she is not accounted for after June 2. A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever report Miss Craig's absence to the Postmaster-General? A.—No.

Q.—Have you reason to believe that he knew anything about her absence? A.—Well, not officially.

Mr. Barron then read from the statute that the Postmaster-General may give leave of absence for three weeks and the Governor in Council may extend it, and asked the witness how he accounted for Miss Craig's absence in the face of that. Witness could not do so.

Mr. Barron—The statute reads that when an employe is absent on account of illness there must be a certificate from a medical officer authorized by the Governor-in-Council. Had you a certificate of a medical practictioner in the case of Miss Craig? A.—No.

Q.—Did you get that check marked "to be handed to the Postmaster-General"? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you gave it to some one waiting? A.—Yes, probably Mrs. Graham.

Q.—If Mrs. Graham was there waiting for the check how did it come to be marked for the Postmaster-General? A.—The clerk made that memo. I never saw it till the other day.

Mr. Wood—Is it wrong in substance? A.—Yes.

Mr. Barron—Why is it wrong? A.—Because I have no recollection of it. (Oh, oh.)

Q.—If Mrs. Graham herself got the check, is that a proper entry on the face of it? A.—No; somebody should have signed for it.

Mr. J. H. Balderson, Mr. Haggart's private secretary, acknowledged signing receipts in the pay list for two of Miss Craig's checks. He gave the check to Mrs. Graham. The Postmaster-General, when he saw the entries, told him that if he had known he was signing for these checks he would not have allowed him to do it.

Mr. Barron—When did you see this book in which the receipts are kept? A.—The book was in my room.

Q.—The Postmaster-General examined the book? A.—He saw these entries.

Q.—He said if he had known of it he would not have allowed you to sign? Then there was something wrong? A.—I did not say so.

Q.—But the Minister thought so? No answer.

Q.—Did he tell you anything about Miss Craig? A.—No.

Dr Landerkin—When did he tell you about signing? A.—A week or ten days ago.

Q.—Did you tell him that you had signed for others? A.—No.

Q.—Is there anything in this particular case that made him object to your signing? A.—I do not know.

QUESTIONS OBJECTED TO.

John Graham, brother-in-law of Miss Craig, lately of the Postoffice Department, now of the Auditor-General's office, was examined. He remembered Miss Craig going into the Postoffice Department. Miss Craig was living with him up to the time she left the city.

Mr. Barron—Did the Minister visit at your house?

Mr. Wood objected to the question.

Mr. Barron—Well, here is an extraordinary absence not satisfactorily accounted for. If I could show that the Postmaster-General knows the cause of her absence, and that not being sufficiently satisfactory, why, of course, this committee has a right to know it too.

Mr. Wood, turning to the press table—I do not object to any question. I want the reporters to make a note of that. I merely asked the ruling of the chair. (Laughter.)

The chairman—The question is improper.

Mr. Barron—You do not know why she left the department? Witness—No.

Q.—Was she stopping at your house? Witness (after some hesitation)—Well, she was living at my house.

Q.—If she was ill you would have known it? A.—She was not a strong girl.

Mr. Barron pressed his question as to Miss Craig's illness, and the witness replied that at that time she was ill.

Q.—Was that the reason she left your house? A.—I think it was partly.

Mr. Barron (to witness)—Have you had conversation with the Minister in regard to Miss Craig's absence? A.—No.

Q.—Or in regard to Miss Graham taking her place? A.—No.

Mr. Wood—I want the ruling as to whether a conversation with Mr. Haggart would be evidence.

Mr. Barron—We have a case of a departmental clerk absent contrary to the statute, altogether in violation of the rules. It might be set up that she was ill. The books do not show it. I am prevented from asking this witness whether any such justification for her absence is well founded.

Mr. Wood—Any conversation with the Postmaster-General cannot produce evidence of that kind.

Mr. Barron then said that he would have to look further at the books and see whether he would call any other witnesses, and the case was adjourned.

Papers were ordered in connection with the Printing Bureau and other departments, and the committee adjourned till Wednesday.

THOSE TESTIMONIALS.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—The Ottawa Free Press, which is in a good position to know, gives a long and interesting account of the subscribers to Sir Hector's first testimonial, the $22,000 cash. Its observations may be summed up thus:

Goodwin, $1,500—Government contractor; had a claim for extras against the department.

Davis & Sons, $500—Government contractors.

Ryan, $100—Believed to be Mr. Hugh Ryan, Government contractor.

Chanteloup, $100—A Montreal brass-founder with whom the department has been doing business.

Allan, $100—Government contractor; dredging.

Cochrane, $500—Government contractor from Montreal.

Magee, $500—Mr. Charles Magee; has been paid by Government for adjusting claims.

Gault, $25—Head of the cotton combine.

Schultz, $500—Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.

Cash, $1,000—Said to have come from a wealthy Senator.

Murray, $500—Government contractor, of St. Catharines.

Ferguson, $25—Government solicitor.

Douglass, $25—Engineer in canal service.

Dunsmuir, $250—Coal operator in British Columbia; got a railway contract.

Fuller, $100—Has since been appointed chief architect of Sir Hector's department.

Armstrong, $100—Sir Hector's relative; contractor for Baie des Chaleurs road.

Ginty, $50—Government contractor.

Beemer, $1,000—Government contractor; had claim for extras pending.

Onderdonk, $500—Government contractor.

O'Connor, $100—Lawyer; was given the job of purchasing the ground for the Langevin block and made $15,000 out of it.

Robitaille, $250—Senator and promoter of Baie des Chaleurs road, heavily bonused.

Collected by Uncle Thomas, $1,800—Includes $1,000 given by Larkin & Co.

A number of smaller sums were contributed by clerks in Sir Hector's bureau and by merchants and storekeepers in the habit of supplying goods to it. Mr. T. S. Scott, formerly chief architect of the department, says in an interview that he had reported officially against the claims of Goodwin and Beemer, yet both claims were allowed after they had paid their money to the testimonial.

THE ENGINEERS CONFIRM MURPHY'S EVIDENCE.

The report of the expert engineers on the various tenders for the Quebec harbor improvements was received at the meeting of the Privileges and Elections Committee yesterday. Owing to a variety of causes the report is imperfect to some extent, but the fact that the Peters tender was lower than that of Larkin & Co., and that Peters was jockeyed out of the work by the department is placed beyond doubt. Mr. E. J. Milne, inspector of masonry and concrete for the Quebec Harbor Commission, swore that during his extra hours he accepted employment from Larkin, Connolly & Co., and when pressed by Mr. Geoffrion, he admitted that he also worked for the Connollys during his regular hours, that is to say he worked for both the firm and the Harbor Commission at the same time. He identified and acknowledged a receipt for $1,300 cash and $300 sundries, which he received from Mr. O. E. Murphy. The sundries were a gold watch chain, field piece and compass.

Two other witnesses—Foley, a tailor, of Quebec, and H. J. Carbary, of the same city—admitted that they were electioneering agents for Thomas McGreevy during the contest of 1887. The latter witness swore that it was the custom in Quebec to organize Conservative clubs simply for the purpose of selling themselves to the Tory candidates. Foley denied receiving money from Murphy, although the latter says he gave him $1,100.

UNCLE THOMAS ON THE STAND.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—At last Thomas McGreevy was put in the box this morning by his own counsel, and his game seems to be a denial of everything. He swears that Murphy's whole story is a fake, and tries his hand at explaining suspicious items. It is a herculean task he has undertaken, and one that will not improve his character for veracity when he comes to exonerate Sir Hector Langevin, as he doubtless will. Witness declared he had allowed Robert to manage many of his political and private affairs. The trouble with them arose over the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company. The witness had been amazed when he learned from Michael Connolly that Robert wanted to become a director of the institution. Mr. Connolly, in reply, had assured Mr. McGreevy that his brother was well provided with funds as he (Robert) possessed an interest in Larkin, Connolly & Co. This intelligence at the time greatly surprised the witness.

NOTES.

Mr. J. D. Edgar is confined to his bed by a slight indisposition, which, however, will keep him in bed for several days.

The Montreal correspondent of the Empire retails an account of a reunion held at Montreal on Sunday by Mr. W. T. R. Preston, at which "the Grit faithful" canceled all engagements to attend. As a matter of fact Mr. Preston attended church here on Sunday in company with Messrs. Campbell, of Kent, and Ryder, of Stanstead.

Mr. Gibson, the member for Lincoln, received to-night the following telegram: "St. Catharines, Aug. 4. W. Gibson, M.P., House of Commons: Hamilton Spectator says you contributed $400 to Langevin testimonial. S. MONTGOMERY." Mr. Gibson sent the following reply: "Ottawa, Aug 4. Hamilton Spectator's statement re Langevin's testimonial is an unmitigated falsehood. W. GIBSON."

The net result of the engineers' report is that Peters & Moore's tender was the lowest, calculate it as you will, and that if that tender had been accepted instead of Larkin, Connolly & Co.'s the work would have been done for $762,587 instead of $832,448, which means that just $70,000 would have been saved. Larkin, Connolly & Co.'s tender was in the long run the highest but one.

A GRAND SPECTACLE.

Thirty Thousand Veterans in the G. A. R. Parade at Detroit—200,000 Spectators View the Display.

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—Yesterday was a day never to be forgotten in this city. Miles on miles of the heroes who saved the Union formed a column which took six hours to pass the reviewing stand. It was the greatest day in Detroit history. It was the finest parade that the Grand Army ever had, and fully 200,000 spectators enjoyed the grand spectacle. While there were many maimed and feeble men who marched in yesterday's parade, men whose locks have been silvered by the frosts of time, or whose bodies have been maimed by minie balls and bayonet thrusts, and whose limbs have been shattered by exploding shells. Yet one who carefully scanned their ranks could not but be convinced that three-fourths of them are still in warlike trim, fit to respond to another call to arms, should one be now sent forth.

The Majestic Lowers the Ocean Record.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The White Star Line steamer Majestic, which left Liverpool on July 29, arrived here this morning, thus breaking the record from Queenstown to New York. She was signaled off Fire Island at 2:05 o'clock. Her time was 5 days, 18 hours and 8 minutes.

Redbones vs. Whites—Hostilities Resumed.

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 5.—Yesterday afternoon hostilities were resumed between the Redbones and whites at Locke, Moore & Co.'s logging camp. It was reported at the store down the road that the Redbones were massacring women and children and everyone they came across at the camp. Reinforcements went up from along the line of Calicasien, Vernon and Shrekeport road. In going up Mr. T. T. Swan, an old and respected citizen of Calicasien, was murdered from ambush. The log camps are situated about sixteen miles from Locke, Moore & Co.'s mills, and about 500 men are employed.

Ontario Pharmacists.

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—The regular semi-annual meeting of the Ontario College of Pharmacy was held here yesterday afternoon. The election resulted as follows: President, J. J. Hall; vice-president, J. H. Slaven; registrar, J. T. Lewis. Later on a paper was read from G. S. Hobart, Kingston, one of the defeated candidates for the council, charging that corrupt practices had been resorted to in the election referred to, and inclosing $25 towards the expenses of a recount. A very warm scene followed, owing to an attempt made by Mr. Polson to discuss the matter thus brought up. The chairman, however, ruled him out of order and was sustained by the council.

The High Testimony

Of hundreds of druggists affords convincing proof of the great merit of Nerviline in all painful affections. F. R. Melville, druggist, Prescott, writes: "My customers who have used Nerviline speak highly of it. I am satisfied it will take a leading place in the market." This expresses the universal verdict, and if you are suffering from any painful affection, internal or external, give Nerviline a trial, and immediate relief will be as certain as the sun shines. Nerviline is a powerfully penetrating pain remedy. Sold by dealers everywhere.

TIMBER AND LANDS.

How the People's Heritage Has Been Given Away to Favorites.

Motion in Favor of a Fair System Voted Down.

Continuance of the Rykertian Policy Indorsed by a Majority of Nineteen.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—In the House to-day Mr. Costigan introduced a bill to amend the Petroleum Inspection Act. He explained that it was to give the Governor-General in Council power to exempt from inspection wholly or in part petroleum oils which are not of sufficient quality for illuminating purposes.

Mr. Beausoleil rose in his place to refer to a personal matter. There had appeared in the Empire yesterday a statement that he and Mr. W. T. R. Preston and Mr. Greenshields held a meeting in Montreal on Sunday. This he said was a fabrication. There was not a word of truth in it. He was not in Montreal on Sunday and he had no letters such as the Empire referred to.

Mr. Foster interrupted the member for Berthier with a question of order, which was an ungenerous interruption of a member who was making a denial in his place in the House of a slander.

To a motion by Mr. Foster that the House go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Charlton moved an amendment as follows: "That the abuses with regard to the disposal of timber limits, mineral leases, pasture leases and other public reserves by the Executive, which had obtained in past years, were calculated to impair the independence of this House through the opportunity afforded to members to secure grants for themselves and their friends by private application at nominal rates and without being subject to competition, that many members did secure such grants for themselves and for their friends; that the House of Commons, in 1882 and again in 1886, refused to condemn such practices; that this House, nevertheless, believes that those practices are not proper and should entirely cease, and that timber limits should be disposed of at public auction to the highest bidder, after being advertised and after the lapse of ample time for the publication of such advertisement to enable the intending purchasers to examine the limits offered."

Mr. Charlton said that the thievings from the public resources through this channel have been so prevalent and so bold that the plundered people have been scarcely able to credit the statements made in years past which display in such clear light the disgraceful state of affairs. Once before, as the honorable member for North Norfolk reminded the House, he had presented the subject for its judgment. The decision on that occasion was a declaration that the existing condition of things was proper, but whether in view of subsequent developments this decision would be repeated was to be seen. In this country he said public property was being handed over in immense land grants to monopolists, corporations and individual supporters of the Government. Since 1878 the administration of the affairs of the Dominion had been marked by favoritism, nepotism, robbery, waste of public resources, corrupt practices and practices which debased and debauched Parliament and lowered the public tone of the country. (Applause.) In 1882 there had in the House been made a full survey of the misappropriation of the public resources, the squandering of the public domain. Mr. Blake on that occasion sounded a note of warning of what would be the result of the policy by which then and since then the Government wasted public property, sapped the independence of Parliament and surrounded itself with purchased supporters. Later investigations had shown that the debauchery of Parliament, against which the country had been warned, had resulted from the policy of which the House had voted approval. Referring to the applications for coal leases, which were to be granted without competition, he said there were, up to February, 1883, 449 applications, of which 22 were from thirteen members of Parliament. For the colonization grants there were made to this munificent Government distributing the public wealth with such a reckless hand to its friends 251 applications up to December, 1884, which applied for 2,295 townships. Twenty-three members applied for grants, and at least nineteen of their applications were made with no intention on their part of utilizing the land, but merely for speculative purposes. Vast tracts of pasture land were granted privately without competition or one cent. per acre, and, as the returns afterwards brought down showed, grants were made far in advance of the requirements of the needs of the ranchers. Up to Feb. 15, 1885, which he said was the latest date up to which returns had been brought down, over 550 orders in Council had been passed granting timber limits, and the area covered was 25,000 square miles. In contrast to such a profitless policy he referred to the fact that from sales at public auction the Government of Ontario had received $3,000,000 in bonuses from less than one-third of 25,000 square miles. Twenty-three members of Parliament had applied for and obtained 50 square miles of limits for themselves and 3,900 square miles had been applied for by these M.P.s for others. Dr. Hickey, who was a member of the House in 1886, had been described by him (Mr. Charlton) as being a co-applicant with Mr. Broder, M.P., for a timber limit. Dr. Hickey was present on the division, but he made no objection until last session—four years after—when he denied the statement, and denounced it as a scandalous charge. Dr. Hickey regarded it as scandalous to do what 67 Conservative members of Parliament had done. In concluding his speech, Mr. Charlton said the discussion of this matter at this time would fit in with revelations which for weeks past have horrified the country. The House had declared in 1882 and in 1886 on the subject, and now, after the discoveries of the grossest abuses of the policy, he proposed again to ask it to reaffirm or rescind its action of 1886.

Hon. A. Mackenzie seconded Mr. Charlton's motion.

Mr. Dewdney replied. He said the charges arose during the "experimental" years in the Northwest, and called upon the Government side to vote down the motion.

Mr. Barron said the Government system of selling berths was vicious. There was no competition unless there were more than one applicant for a limit, and in such a case they were asked to tender when they could arrange among themselves who should get it. The colonization policy of the present authorities had been most detrimental to Northwest settlement. Last session Mr. Robillard denied that a timber limit for which the Government had received $316 he had sold a half interest at $15,000. Mr. Barron read a letter from Mr. Latour confirming the statement.

Mr. Robillard repeated the denial. He acknowledged the limit was in his name, but it was not his. What little profit he made out of the limit was no one's business any more than it was what his profits in California and Australia had been.

Mr. Casey said it was the business of the House. Mr. Robillard got the limit because he was favored by the Government which he supported.

Mr. Tisdale opposed the Government timber policy on the ground that it was disposing of the limits too rapidly.

Mr. McMillan warmly supported the motion. Its passage would tend to purify the Administration.

Mr. Davin made a speech and admitted having received a timber limit.

Mr. Mackintosh denied that when he applied for a timber limit he was a member of Parliament.

Dr. Sproule spoke in opposition to the resolution. While Mr. Barron was absent, he charged that the member for North Victoria had made $10,000 out of a timber limit sold by the Ontario Government.

Mr. Mills, who followed Dr. Sproule, made a very effective speech in support of the position taken by the member for North Norfolk. Touching the accusation made by Dr. Sproule that the member for North Victoria had obtained a large sum of money to which he was not entitled, $10,000, well, the honorable gentleman could not do better than formulate his charge so that it might be inquired into by a committee of this House.

Dr. Sproule observed that it was a matter affecting the Ontario Government and could not be inquired into by a committee of this House.

Mr. Barron a few minutes later entered the chamber and completely refuted the insinuation. There was not a single word of truth in it. No timber could be bought from the Ontario Government except at public auction.

Mr. Macdowall now rose to speak. "Withdraw, withdraw," was the chorus from the Opposition side to the ear of Dr. Sproule. Mr. Macdowall persisted in his attempt to catch the ear of the House, but he had to give way.

Dr. Sproule then rose and said he did not make any statement; he simply asked the honorable gentleman if he had received that amount. He certainly accepted the honorable gentleman's statement.

Mr. Clark Wallace said Mr. Barron had not specifically denied the charge.

Mr. Barron repeated the denial for his benefit, also.

Mr. Paterson strongly supported the resolution.

Sir John Thompson spoke strongly against the resolution and against the speech made in support of it.

Sir Richard Cartwright said the question was not what system had prevailed in the past, but whether or not public property should now and in the future be disposed of by public auction. The question was whether it was desirable that this House should lay down the principle of dealing with the public lands in such a manner as would put a stop to the scandals which only a year ago the Minister of Justice agreed with his honorable friend in describing as corrupt and discreditable, and the particular circumstances connected with a certain timber limit in which one John Charles Rykert was concerned, inquired into by the last Parliament, showed that there was ample warrant for the motion which his honorable friend had placed in the hands of the Speaker. He was glad to hear the Minister of Justice admit frankly and freely that the interests of the Indian wards of the Crown had not been protected as they ought to have been. Sir Richard asked whether in view of the actions which had taken place and which were admittedly indefensible it was not clear that such a policy as was proposed should be adopted. Was it not clear that had the sale rule asked for by his honorable friend been adopted in the past there could not have arisen the case of John Charles Rykert? The Minister of Justice had told us that this resolution was needless. Why? Was it because the law had been altered? No. The law stood on the statute book just as it was when Mr. Rykert got his timber limit. All that had been done was to adopt a regulation by order-in-Council, and what was to prevent another Minister of Justice altering the order-in-Council?

Mr. Watson, speaking of the system of private tenders by which timber limits were sold; said it was doubtful whether the tenders would not be manipulated by the heads of the department. It had been heard how tenders had been manipulated. To a question by Mr. Dewdney, Mr. Watson replied that he referred to the manipulation of tenders which had been revealed in the Public Works Departments. With regard to the colonization grants he said that of 120 companies that had applied for lands and tied up large areas of land for years only three or four were still in existence.

The House divided on the amendment, and the vote was 81 yeas and 100 nays, a majority for the Government of only 19. The Liberals cheered the announcement, and their calls across the floor for "God Save the Queen" elicited no response from the unhappy Ministerialists.

The House adjourned at 12:30 a.m.

Proposed Arbitration Treaty Between Great Britain and the United States.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—In the House of Commons William Randall Cremer gave notice that at the next session he would introduce a resolution in favor of the conclusion of a treaty between England and the United States, by which the nations will agree to submit to arbitration all differences that may arise between them, and which they are unable to adjust through the usual diplomatic channel. Mr. Cremer, who is a Radical-Reformer, is well known for his efforts in the direction of substituting international arbitration for war. He is a carpenter and joiner by trade and has held the office of the secretary of the International Workingmen's Association. Since 1873 he has been secretary of the Workingmen's Peace Association.

The Handcock Murder Case Comes Up—The Street Railway Scandal.

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—The Handcock murder case came up for a preliminary hearing in the police court yesterday. Mrs. Handcock was released, and after some evidence had been taken the case against her husband was adjourned until this morning. No new evidence was brought forward.

So far this season the Toronto Fresh Air Fund has given twenty free excursions, in which 4,500 children and mothers have participated.

The Globe says: "Encouraging prospects for the fall trade which were foreshadowed in our review last week, have gained in strength during the past few days."

An extraordinary scene in connection with the street railway scandal took place in the mayor's office. Wm. Laidlaw, Q.C., one of the solicitors for the Riely-Everett syndicate, urged upon the mayor the immediate preparation of the agreement for the lease of the railway. He insisted that there should be no more delay, as it was unfair to the tenderers. The mayor and Acting Solicitor Mowat protested that the conditions were such that a little delay could hardly be complained of. Mr. Laidlaw then became angry and talked very loud. The mayor said that Mr. Laidlaw had promised to commence criminal proceedings against E. A. Macdonald on the strength of the recent exposures, but he had not done so. Mr. Laidlaw denied this, and said that they had promised only to be guided by Mr. Osler's opinion. The discussion continued, becoming warmer every moment, until Mr. Laidlaw exclaimed that he would set the honesty of Noel Marshall against that of Mayor Clarke any day. The mayor thereupon walked over to the lawyer, and, shaking his fist in his face, ordered him out of his office. Some warm words followed, and for a moment it looked as if the mayor and the lawyer would come to blows. This was avoided, however, but as Mr. Laidlaw was leaving the office the mayor said: "I am informed on the best authority that Mr. Laidlaw himself handled the money"—meaning the money alleged to have been used for corrupt purposes. The mayor has refused to sign the bylaw giving him power to complete the agreement, and a special meeting of the Street Railway Committee is to be held to-day to consider the case.

The Board of Arbitration appointed by the Methodist Conference to adjudicate on certain disputes between Euclid Avenue Church and the Berean Church in Crawford street met yesterday afternoon. Euclid Avenue Church was represented by J. J. Maclaren, Q.C., and the Berean Church by Dr. W. W. Ogden, the Hon. J. C. Aikins being the third arbitrator. The matter of dispute between the two churches is the proposal of the Berean Church people to build a big church at the foot of Crawford street, which the Euclid Street Church contend would be too near to them, and likely to lessen their congregation. The arbitrators received a resolution from the Official Board of Wesley Church on Dundas street to the effect that it would not be to the interest of the Methodist churches that another should be erected on Crawford street as proposed. Heretofore services have been held in a tent by the Rev. J. M. Kerr, and people who have been accustomed to meet there intend to continue the agitation for a church in that locality. The decision of the arbitrators will not be made public at present.

At the annual meeting of the Dominion Millers' Association, which closed yesterday, the committee on the secretary's report stated their conviction that the harvest would be larger even than his large estimate of Tuesday.

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation; its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 25 doses, 35 cents.

"HOLD UP YOUR HANDS."

Cold-Blooded Murder by a Prominent Californian.

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 5.—R. I. Calvin, a young stenographer, was shot and killed by John G. Howell on Monday night. Calvin was engaged to Howell's daughter, but three years ago she broke off the match. Calvin continued to try to meet her, and Howell had several quarrels with him on the subject. Monday night a friend of Calvin's named Maxwell and Howell were discussing the question. Calvin was present, and expressed a desire to marry the girl. Suddenly Howell said, "Hold up your hands!" and immediately drew a revolver and began to fire. He fired three shots, all taking effect. After the first shot Calvin begged for mercy, but Howell continued shooting until his victim was dead. Howell then surrendered to the police. He is prominent in politics, and was clerk of the Assembly for three years.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—A foul murder, the unmistakable object of which was robbery, has just come to light in the annexed district of this city, by the discovery of the body of Prof. Chas. A. Korff, a well-known resident of Boston avenue, floating in the Sound off Oak Point. The body was found covered with wounds and bruises. Three hundred dollars in money and a gold watch, which were known to have been in his possession, have disappeared. Prof. Korff kept a school of languages.

THE MILLERS' MEETING.

Varieties of Wheat Recommended for Cultivation.

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—The Dominion Millers' Association met here yesterday. There was a large attendance. Vice-President W. H. Heldrum, of Peterboro, presided in the absence of President J. C. Hay, of Listowel. Secretary David Plewes presented the annual report, which estimated the wheat crop for the Dominion at 55,160,000 bushels, of which Ontario is to contribute 29,160,000; Manitoba, 20,000,000, and the Northwest Provinces 5,000,000. This would allow 22,180,000 for export. The election of officers resulted as follows: Thomas Goldie, Guelph, president; Peplow, Peterboro, vice-president; David Plewes, Brantford, secretary; Thomas Galbraith, Toronto, treasurer, all being elected by acclamation. The report of Treasurer Galbraith showed receipts during the year of $1,214, and expenditures of $1,176. The new president, Thomas Goldie, delivered an address on the subject of selling flour on time and giving up bills of lading without payments of drafts, a business which he strongly objected to. A committee was appointed to deal with the subject. Following are the members of the executive committee for the ensuing year: Messrs. Saunby, London; Kelly, Blythe; Edmundson, Oshawa; Bond, Paris; Hamilton, Glenmuron; John Brown, Toronto, and Beach, Iroquois.

The committee on seed wheat presented their report:

"The varieties of red which are recommended for their milling excellence are 'Hybrid Mediterranean' and 'Longberry Red.' The 'American Bronze,' 'Red Velvet Chaff' and 'Egyptian' commend themselves to us, judging from the samples shown as wheat that would make good milling varieties.

"The 'Manchester' seems to be a variety extensively grown, but your committee has not had sufficient experience in grinding is to speak on its excellence.

"The 'Democrat' wheat is highly reported on from all sections of the country, as showing great in yield, color and strength, fully as good as ever before.

"As regards white wheat, we consider the 'Surprise' the best in Ontario, combining color and strength, a white chaff with bald head, a wheat destined to improve Ontario flour.

"The 'Canadian Velvet Chaff' is also a fine wheat in color with apparently good strength. But your committee has no data on which to form an opinion regarding its milling qualities, as it has been but lately introduced.

"'Garfield,' which has been grown largely on the Paris plains, is said to yield well, and is well suited to that district. It is a white wheat, good in color, but deficient in strength.

"'Ramsay' is a bearded wheat introduced in the Brantford district by the local association, and so far has proved a success. It is good yielding, has a good large head, and from appearance will make a good milling wheat and a desirable addition to the list of fall wheat.

"Your committee also recommends that the thanks of the association are due to Professor Shaw, of the Agricultural College, for the samples and information given to the committee through our chairman, Mr. Goldie; and also for his kind invitation to visit the college."

The report of the committee was adopted on motion of Mr. Meldrum, seconded by Mr. Bechtel.

Like a Good Conundrum

is life, because everybody must give it up! But you needn't be in a hurry about it! Life is worth the living! To prolong it, is worth your untiring effort! Don't give up without calling to your rescue that grand old family medicine, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Many a wornout, exhausted body has it made over good as new! It strengthens, builds up, invigorates, assisting nature, and not violating it. Cures liver disease, indigestion and all blood-taints and humors. Sure and lasting benefit guaranteed, or money refunded. All druggists.

No Idle Boast.

We make no idle boast when we state that our "La Cadena" and "La Flora," Perfecto size (packed 25 in a box) is equal in quality and workmanship to any imported Perfecto, at from $20 to $25 per hundred. S. DAVIS & SONS, 1 tf Montreal.

A pair of deaf-mutes were married the other day at Topeka. One of the presents was an alarm clock.

The great lung healer is found in excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

When you hear a man say that he has lost all faith in humanity put him down as one who is not on good terms with his own conscience.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

It would be just as easy to advertise on the moon as for any importer to give the same value in imported cigars as we offer in our "La Cadena" and "La Flora" brands of clear Havana cigars. Perfectos.

The name of Perfecto is used by the leading Havana factories to designate a particular size and (generally extra fine) quality of a brand of cigars. It is well known to connoisseurs and in great demand in the principal clubs in Europe and America. A great many factories, owing to the great popularity this size has obtained, are using the word Perfecto on all classes of goods, some as low as $20 per 1,000; therefore, we caution the public to be particular when purchasing and see that they obtain the genuine size and quality that should be represented in the Perfecto size. Our "La Cadena" or "La Flora" will be found a creditable example. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal. 1-tf

London, Thursday, Aug. 6.

SCANDAL DEVELOPMENTS, THE PREACHERS, AND ENGLISH PRECEDENT.

The Hamilton Herald, which supported the Conservative leaders at the last general election, reaches the conclusion, from the evidence adduced, that if Sir Hector Langevin is not a knave he is a fool, and his blunders are worse than crimes. In the same paper we find this declaration:

"An Ottawa clergyman has been preaching on the scandals which affect the Government at Ottawa. As long as the Government has a majority of 26 behind it a few sermons will not worry it much."

In the division this morning, the Government majority was only 22, but the suggestive remark of our contemporary is worthy of consideration. To the writer a prominent citizen the other day said: "When the ADVERTISER calls upon the preachers to aid in educating their hearers to take a strong stand in favor of national morality it is barking up the wrong tree. There is no morality in Canada—from the parsons down." We dissent from this sweeping assertion, as unjust and unwarranted. But at the same time we would not be doing our duty as interpreters of public feeling if we did not state that there is a widespread impression abroad that the religious leaders—the conservators of public morals—take too little interest in these matters. The only objection that has been raised to the clergy taking a strong stand in regard to the rascalities laid bare at Ottawa, and which undoubtedly affect men high in authority, who have either wilfully or by criminal neglect betrayed their trust, lies in the excuse that to do so would render them liable to the charge of partisanship. "We would be talking politics!" exclaim these pastors of the flock. Surely the preservation of the national honor in not party politics. Surely no conscientious citizen can object to his spiritual adviser taking the ground that rascality in high places—that the robbery of the people by those intrusted with the management of their affairs—must be condoned, glossed over, or never referred to because of the fear that a stand so patriotic may be misrepresented. That, to our mind, should not act as a deterrent to the fearless exponent of the gospel message. He can have no lot or common standing ground with men who are dishonest, whether they are in Parliament or out of it, and he can have no fear to speak out strongly against wrongdoing, wherever found, and with all the more vigor if the rascality is shown to exist among or to be condoned by the representatives of the people.

In the present crisis Canadian preachers may well follow the example set them by the ministers of the gospel in Great Britain, who in matters of morals never fail to make their influence felt when princes, governments or their adherents lapse from the path of rectitude. The fearless denunciation of the preachers more than anything else drove Sir Charles Dilke into political exile for more than ten years; the attitude of the religious bodies of all denominations was enough in itself, to render Parnell's fall from virtue an effectual bar to his future leadership of the Irish people. And so it has been even in matters affecting the Royal Family. If the Prince of Wales continues to gamble, to live as if life were to be frittered away in mere frivolity, and thus imperils his succession to the throne, it will not be because of the silent indorsation of his conduct by the clergymen of the land and the great mass of the moral population whose views they voice. What, for example, was the unanimous finding of the English Conference of the Methodist Church last month:

"That the Conference feels bound to express its deep sorrow at the recent revelations in the court of law, of gambling and cheating in gambling, by those who occupy high positions in society, and from whom, therefore, a high example of virtue should proceed. But it is most concerned that his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales should have been so prominently and intimately involved in these disreputable proceedings. The conference feels that such encouragement of vice and immorality by one from whom the nation has a right to expect impulse and encouragement to its higher life, is fraught with greater danger to its future well-being. It earnestly hopes that all such practices by one who aspires to be the king of a Christian people will henceforth cease. The Conference rejoices to observe, in the discussion arising out of these proceedings, that the moral sense of the country demands that those who occupy positions of trust and authority should be men whose character and conduct entitle them to public confidence."

This strong protest was against the gambling habits of the Prince of Wales only. How much stronger would it have been if members of the Government had been its subject, and the crime laid to their charge malversation, corruption and robbery of the public treasury for the benefit of Ministers, contractors and unfaithful civil servants? What would such a body have said if it had been compelled to raise its protest against a Minister who with one hand has accepted large sums of money and other testimonials from contractors and with the other has awarded these contractors large sums in extras, notwithstanding that such payments were reported against by responsible expert engineers? What would have been said of a Minister who finds employment in his department for a favorite woman, and permits her to draw large sums of money which she has never earned? What would it say of the Minister who takes subordinate public servants away from the duties for which they are paid, and employs them for his own profit? What would it say of an English Minister who would get up in his place and call these and kindred peculations, all proved in evidence, "mere trifles?"

The stand that British preachers have taken in regard to the moral lapses of their public men supplies an answer to these queries, which should have a tendency to influence Canadian brethren of the cloth to take full advantage of their privilege to be in reality as well as in name conservators of the morals of the people, ready at all times to frown upon wrong-doing whereso-ever found.

A HARVEST PROGNOSTICATION.

No doubt the farmers of Canada have already learned that the crop of wheat this year will be large and the foreign demand such as to command good prices; but the estimate of the crop and requirements of the Dominion, as drawn up by Secretary Plewes, of the Millers' Association, will not be studied in vain. Here it is:

	Bushels.
Crop—Ontario—20 per cent. added to last crop of 24,300,000 bushels would be	29,160,000
Manitoba	20,000,000
Other Northwest Provinces	5,000,000
I estimate all other Provinces same as last year	1,000,000
Total	55,160,000
Requirements—Bread—5,500,000 inhabitants at 5½ bushels each	28,825,000
Seed—Manitoba and Northwest Provinces	1,662,000
Seed—Ontario	2,360,000
Seed—Other Provinces	125,000
	32,972,000
Estimated surplus for export	22,188,000

All the surplus we had for export in 1890 was only 10,000,000 bushels. An increase of 12,000,000 bushels should bring our agriculturists from $11,000,000 to $12,000,000 additional cash. It is a goodly prospect.

THE REDUCED MAJORITY.

The high tax party in Parliament brought forward a motion last night intended to indorse their course, but in fact misrepresenting the attitude of the friends of trade freedom. A feature of the debate was the brilliant address of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, who presented in forcible language the attractive and patriotic policy of the Liberals. The Government was sustained by a majority reduced to 22. This is a great difference from the majorities of 40 and 50 recorded in favor of restriction in the last Parliament, and shows by what a slender thread the Ministers retain power.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE.

Mr. Tarte's charge that public contracts were tampered with in the interests of Larkin, Connolly & Co., who, in turn, paid their thousands of dollars for the benefit of the head of the Department of Public Works, is substantiated by the report of Messrs. Jennings and Macdougall, the Toronto engineers who were appointed by the Privileges Committee to investigate the matter. How much money the country lost will never be known, as much of the work accomplished at Quebec and elsewhere is now under water and cannot be measured except with great difficulty, but even taking quantities and measurements, as figured upon for the original estimates, it is shown that the lowest tenderer was deliberately frozen out, and the work given to Larkin, Connolly & Co. at a much higher figure. Once these men obtained the contract, with the assistance of Thomas McGreevy, M.P., who slept with, boarded with, and constantly had the ear of Sir Hector Langevin, the way was open for piling up "extras," and the evidence already given shows how that was done.

And still we are asked to believe that Sir Hector was an honest, capable, painstaking administrator!

Please, Messieurs Apologists for Wrongdoing, do not consider the people of Canada a back of fools.

WHAT BAD EXAMPLE DOES.

They still continue to discover men at Ottawa who have been "drawing money in fancy names culled from the directory," but a large number of Conservative papers argue that this is nothing. Compared with the thieving which has been going on in the Public Works Department, right under the noses of the Administration, such petty peculation is of small account, but it is none the less illegal, and would never have been allowed to continue but for the lax morality inculcated by the example of Government members.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

LONDON is a delightful summer resort. This is the unanimous verdict of visitors.

‡‡‡

ALL Ottawa is talking about the Postmaster-General, the female clerk and the checks.

‡‡‡

IF YOU earn on an average $300 a year and are a British subject, you have a vote. You can get your name on the Dominion list by attending at the Liberal Rooms, Oddfellows' Hall, any evening between 8 and 10.

‡‡‡

"BIBLE Studies in Prayer," a book of some 120 pages, is a careful compilation of Scripture texts bearing on this most vital subject. A study of its pages cannot fail to afford aid both in private and public devotions, by teaching the very words of the Holy Spirit, and thus rendering reverent and becoming the petitions addressed to God the Father by his children. The compiler is a daughter of Rev. Wm. Reid, D.D., the venerable clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Imrie & Graham, Toronto, are the publishers.

‡‡‡

DOWN flops the Government majority in support of its ever shifting trade policy. Here is the record of the divisions in the last year or two:

	Total vote.	Min.	Opp.	Min. maj.
1888	191	124	67	57
1889	198	121	77	44
1890	157	97	60	37
1890	210	118	92	26
1891 (first vote)	210	99	77	22
1891 (second vote)	176

POOR Perley's integrity grew puny in the moral atmosphere of Ottawa. He did in a retail way what Sir Hector Langevin did by wholesale. The Minister of Public Works took a $22,000 testimonial, and the chief engineer of the department accepted jewelry amounting in value to a few hundred dollars.—[Toronto Telegram (Conservative Independent).

The standing of the two men is here correctly given. Perley has been suspended, disgraced; Sir Hector Langevin remains leader of the Government in the House of Commons, Could anything more fitly show forth the moral rottenness of the Administration?

BEGINNING TO TALK OUT.

Berlin News (Conservative.)

We do not wish to screen those members of the Tory Cabinet who allowed Larkin & Co. to steal hundreds of thousands of dollars of the public money. If the head of the Public Works Department knew what was going on he was dishonest and deserves punishment. If he didn't know, then it is time some one is placed at the head of that important department who has ability enough to detect the rascals and turn them out.

AN OLD BRITISH ROOT.

(Montreal Star.)

In the United States we see a distinctively British civilization, or what is essentially such, at its base. In constitution, laws, custom, language, manners, in fact, in almost everything which gives character to the nation, the United States are undeniably Anglo-Saxon, as the meaning of the term is generally understood. The foreign elements have influence, no doubt, in some localities, but they are grafted on the old British root, partake of its essence and every year assimilate more and more to its standards.

THE VERY WORST SMELL.

[Pharmaceutical Era.]

An odor has been found so frightful that the discoverers have been obliged to abandon its preparation. MM. Bauman and Fromm, in experimenting at Freiburg, in Brisgau, upon the organic sulphur derivatives, caused hydrogen sulphide to act upon acetone, and obtained, besides tritho-acetone, small quantities of a definite compound, non-volatile and crystalline C15 H28 S4. At the same time there is found a very volatile body having such a horrible odor that ethylmercaptan, ethylene-mercaptan and other volatile sulphur compounds are perfumes compared with it.

Argentine Finances.

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 5.—A committee of the Senate has approved a bill introduced by the Government, authorizing a provisional issue of $50,000,000, and the establishment of the Argentine National Bank, which will take charge of and liquidate the affairs of the present National Bank.

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we

Indigestion. have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out

Constipation of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed." 59

RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA

Arise from poor digestion, etc. Kidneys fail to extract the uric acid from the blood. Heart disease and other maladies seize with such ruinous force that break down our strongest youths in a few weeks. So says Popular Hygiene and adds: "St. Leon Water has the power to fight and destroy the cause, is the most powerful antidote known, and should be taken freely to absorb the deadly poisons that undermine the system."

Try it. It will prove the truth of above.

Denial of an Oft-Repeated Rumor—New Connection at Brantford.

The report that the New York Central would build a new road from New York to Lake Ontario is denied by H. Walter Wass, third vice president of the company.

A new branch connecting the B. and L. E. and Grand Trunk Railways at West Brantford will be open for traffic early in the week. It is proposed by the new connection to run cars through from Waterford to the Western station at Brantford.

Mr. Geo. A. Keefer, C. E., of Victoria, B.C., has sailed from Vancouver for Japan en route to Russian Siberia on behalf of a syndicate of Canadian capitalists, who have been invited by the Russian Government to tender for the construction of a 400-mile section of the trans-Siberian Railway.

The Canadian Pacific traffic receipts for the week ending July 31 amounted to $503,000; for the same week last year, $462,000; increase, $41,000; the earnings of the New Brunswick Railway are included in both years.

General Manager Seargeant, of the G. T. R. Company, has gone to New York to meet Sir Henry Tyler, president of the company. Sir Henry will go to Montreal, arriving on Thursday, and afterwards will proceed on his annual inspection of the Grand Trunk system.

Whatever the conjectures expressed by railway men as to the future of the Grand Trunk may lead to, it is expected with a good deal of confidence by those who have spoken that the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways will develop friendly terms if not an actual treaty of peace which will mean much to the British money-owner and perhaps more to the Canadian citizen who will be deprived of the benefit of competition.

WAS HE MURDERED?

Detective Murray Investigating the Mysterious Death of James Carruthers.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—Government Detective Murray, of the Attorney-General's department, embarked on the steamer Highland Maid at Rat Portage the other day, accompanied by Sheriff Carpenter, en route for the Rainy River district. His business there is in connection with the mysterious death of James Carruthers some time ago.

Carruthers, who belonged to St. Marys, Ont., and was employed in a saw mill on the Rainy River, was found dead in the kitchen of his house. His wife claimed to have gone outside, and while absent heard the report of a gun and going inside found her husband dead, he having accidentally shot himself. Residents of the locality claimed that Carruthers and his wife lived anything but harmoniously, owing to the presence of a young man in the locality who was on friendly terms with Mrs. Carruthers. The condition in which deceased was found also caused some to doubt that death was accidental. Detective Murray will make a thorough investigation. Mrs. Carruthers, it is understood, is now living in St. Marys.

Suicide at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.—On Sunday last two wealthy Englishmen arrived at the Windsor Hotel in this city and registered as E. S. Schwabe and E. M. Brockbank, from Manchester, England. Schwabe, who was the elder of the two men, appeared to be in a very despondent condition. It has since been learned that he was a wealthy ironfounder of Manchester and lost his wife about a year ago. Since then he has been in very low spirits. His friends urged him to take a trip round the world, and he was on this tour when he arrived in this city. No particular attention was paid to the party until this morning, when Schwabe was found dead in his bedroom, having shot himself through the head. The remains will be taken to England by his friend Brockbank, who was traveling with him.

Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

RAILWAY MISHAPS.

Almost a Catastrophe at Windsor—Accident Near New Haven, Conn.

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—A Grand Trunk train of twelve coaches, containing more than 1,000 excursionists from different parts in Canada and the east, for this city, was shoved on to the transfer boat Great Western about 9 o'clock yesterday morning at such a high rate of speed that the bumper on the boat was ripped up and the first car shot out the other end of the boat almost half its length. The crash of the cars threw the passengers to their feet, and for a time there was intense confusion. As it was a frightful catastrophe was narrowly averted. Matthew Newhall, aged 60, of Malden, Mass., a passenger on the train, had his right hand caught between a projecting beam and the side of the car, and sustained a number of severe bruises. He had his injuries dressed at hospital headquarters.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 5.—An express from New York, due here at 10:15, collided with a switching train half a mile from West Haven station on Tuesday morning, and a serious accident was narrowly averted. The windows of the passenger cars were smashed, and in one case the entire side of a passenger coach was torn out. No one was injured beyond a few cuts from broken glass. Loss, $25,000.

Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use, It corrects all looseness of the bowels, promptly and cause a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

GOOD FOR THE GROCERS!

Their Picnic Proves to be a Big Success.

An Immense Crowd Gathered at Queen's Park.

Pretty and Novel Procession—A First-Class Amusement Programme—List of Prize-Winners—Notes.

It wasn't "wet" grocerymen's day as it was a week ago. Jupiter Pluvius was a good deal more lenient with the grocers this time, and gave them one of the finest days in the calendar for their annual picnic. The interval of postponement appeared to be utilized by the promoters in making even greater efforts towards the success of the affair and afforded time for the development of new ideas in connection therewith. It turned out to be the biggest thing in the same line ever seen in London, for pionics under local auspices are generally held at outside points. To say that it reflected credit on the management is putting it mildly, as the outcome evidenced an amount of genuine enterprise and hustle really refreshing for dull times and hot weather. In what feature it might have been improved upon it is hard at present to say, but enthusiastic brethren claim that every year in future will and to the magnitude the retail grocers' annual picnic has already attained.

Promptly at 1 o'clock, headed by the Seventh Band, the procession started from the Market Square, thence via Talbot to Dundas street and the Park. It was one of the prettiest and most novel parades ever seen in London, and the big crowd of spectators on the route were both surprised and delighted. Fully 60 rigs were in line, in the decoration of which artistic genius had been applied most happily. The inscription on one of the unembellished vehicles was witty and caused amusement. "Business brisk; no time to decorate," was the way it read. Some of the ornamentations were elaborately handsome. One enterprising merchant had four little girls in his rig partaking of afternoon tea from a well-set table. Another had a minstrel on board playing a guitar, and a third a canine, elegantly clothed, shaded with an umbrella, and perched at a lofty height. With so much evidence of taste and pretty effect it would be invidious to make individual mention.

Upon arrival at the scene of action the gaily festooned rigs paraded around the race track and made a charming appearance. Judges Dr. Gardiner, J. W. Jones and John Fairgrieves experienced a great deal of difficulty in awarding the prizes for the best turnout with so much excellence to decide upon, but finally A. Tytler, J. N. Tamlin, F. Barnard, Ferguson & Co. and H. Winder were announced as possessors of the best ornamented vehicles.

Only the crowds that attend the great and glorious Western Fair could surpass in number that at Queen's Park yesterday. It is calculated that with the late additions, the grand stands have a seating capacity of over 7,000. They were all jammed and many could not gain admittance. This gives some idea of the size of the gathering. The chief interest, however, centered in the athletic events, and a programme of length, variety and unsurpassed merit was provided for the assembled thousands and carried through expeditiously. The prizes were valuable enough to bring out a plentitude of competitors and give the successful ones reason to rejoice. The contests were all interesting, chief among them being the grand chase for the greasy pig, the obstacle, horse, ladies' and fat men's races, and the Irish jig and hornpipe dancing. Following is a complete list of the events and prize-winners:

Young men's race, 100 yards—1 Gibbons, 2 Garvey, 3 O'Dell.

Sack race, 100 yards—1 Altman, 2 Tierney, 3 Gatecliffe.

Bicycle race, 1 mile—1 McCormaik, 2 Edwards, 3 Gould.

Hornpipe, open to the world—1 Wilson, 2 Templeton.

Catching greasy pig—Perry.

Quoiting match, for outsiders—1 Errington, 31; 2 W. Bell, 19.

Quoiting match, for grocers, grocers' sons or employes—1 Lewis, 21; 2 R. Robertson, 17.

Shoe race—Jimmie Jupp.

The one mile trotting race for horses which had been driven for three months in delivery wagons was an exciting one. There were five entries, Wood's "Wellington Star," Gourd's "Maud," Winder's "Nellie," Thornton's "Gipsy" and Barnard's "Maud B." "Wellington Star" won in two straight heats, "Maud" was second and "Nellie" third. The time of the winner in the second heat was announced on the board as 2:08. The record was considered "remarkable" by the crowd.

The half-mile running race, for horses owned by grocers at least three months previous to race, was very entertaining. R. S. Copeland's horse won easily, with Murphy's second and Shea's a good third.

Thos. Hutchinson was starter, and J. W. Jones, H. Dreaney and R. Hueston the judges in the horse races.

The race for all the city grocers was won by R. S. Copeland, the prize being a gold-headed cane.

Among other interesting events was a baseball match between the north and south sides of Dundas street, viewed by a large crowd of spectators. The game was exciting from beginning to end, the north side being victorious at the end of the fourth inning, when darkness put an end to the enjoyment. Score:

NORTH SIDE.	R.	H.	E.	SOUTH SIDE.	R.	H.	E.
Self	1	1	2	Trebilcock	1	1	1
Osborne	2	0	0	Croden	2	1	0

Batteries, Osborne and Self, Trebilcock and Paul; earned runs, South 1, North 2; passed balls, Paul 3, Self 7; wild pitches, Trebilcock 4; left on bases, North 2, South 2; official scorer, Frank Lilley; umpire, Jesse Symonds.

The proceedings were not completed at the park until late in the evening, but about supper time the immense throng began to disperse. When the end did come thousands wended their way homeward, commenting upon the pleasant afternoon they had spent with the grocers.

NOTES.

The dust was thick and very annoying.

Mayor Taylor was an interested spectator in the judges' stand.

Guests were favored with badges, as were also contestants and all connected with the affair.

Many were heard to remark that more accommodation for getting city water would be quite acceptable.

The Seventh Band added much to the general enjoyment of all by the rendition of their favorite selections.

The wisdom of the Western Fair Board in erecting more seating accomodation was shown by the grand stand patronage.

F. Saunders, F. Evans, Dr. Gardiner, G. Belton and H. Dreaney acted as judges in the athletic sports to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

The managing committee, who are worthy of great praise, included A. McCormick, president; W. H. Ferguson, vice-president; John Scandrett, treasurer; E. Sutton, secretary.

During the excitement attending the catching of the greasy pig, the trotting horse owned by Henry Winder became unmanageable. It bolted and whirled at a furious gait in the thickest of the crowd, but fortunately nobody was injured. Damaged harness and a broken shaft were the worst results.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 5.

Trade has been good all week; offerings in all lines were large for the season. This had a serious effect on wheat and oats, but nothing more than most dealers looked for. Close figures for both old and new wheat were 85c standard bushel, and $1 40 to $1 42 per 100 pounds.

Oats were weak all week and at the close were almost dead. Millers and dealers would not offer over $1 10 per 100 pounds, and lower prices still are looked for upon the delivery of new oats. There was nothing done in any other grain.

In butter and eggs there was some little fluctuating, but nothing of any consequence. For closing values see quotations.

Fruit and vegetables were abundant and cheap; the demand was good. Apples were the only dull commodity, selling at 50c per bushel. Niagara district fruits were leading lines. Peaches, 60c to 75c per basket. Pickling pears, 50c a basket. Apples, 25c a basket.

Hay, quiet at $8 to $9.

Beef, lower; choice selling at $5 50. General quotations are as follows:

IS YOUR NAME ON THE LIST?

Let every man who earns $300 a year, every new-comer to the city, every man who has moved since 1st January, see to it that his name is on the list now being made up. Residents in wards 1, 2, 3 and 4 can register at Oddfellows' block any day between 2 and 5, and between 8 and 10 p.m. Residents in East London (ward 5) can get their names on the lists by attending at Robertson's stationery store, Dundas street, any evening between 7 and 9 o'clock. This list has nothing to do with the assessment, and anyway no man is assessed for income who has under $700 a year. If any one's name is left off this preliminary list, it will be impossible to get it there unless he attends the court and swears it on.

—The complaint against James Guymer of infraction of the market bylaw was finally disposed of at the Police Court yesterday, Mr. Guymer having to pay a fine of $1. Mr. Ed. Meredith, counsel for the defendant, complained that they had appealed for justice to No. 3 Committee of the Council, to the Council itself and to the police magistrate; but now as a last resort would have to appeal to the electors of the city of London in January, 1892.

—"Did you notice how the sidewalk on Richmond street, at St. Peter's Cathedral, has been prepared for a water trough?" asked a citizen. "On account of the cedar blocking the roadway has been raised several inches, and besides there is a high curb, which will cause all that piece of asphalt to hold for evaporation its share of every shower, and won't pedestrians enjoy tramping through unnecessary puddles? Richmond street certainly has some of the meanest sidewalks in the world."

The Rouge River Mystery.

Doubts are now entertained by Toronto authorities whether the body of the man found in Rouge River is that of August Werner, as at first supposed. Mrs. Hartel, of this city, as stated in Tuesday's issue, wired the Toronto police regarding a certain mark on the body of her husband, whom she fears is the victim. She has not yet received a reply, although momentarily expecting one. The body was buried yesterday.

Arrested for Shooting His Brother.

Detectives Allen, Crawford and Mason captured young Fred Macdonald yesterday at a house on Ridout street next to the McFarlane House. Macdonald, it will be remembered, shot his elder brother through the back of the neck in London West on Sunday. Crawford and Mason went to the back door and the prisoner made a dash for the front, but was met there by Detective Allen, who soon had him safe in the hands of the law. Squire Smyth remanded him for eight days on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. Macdonald the elder is reported in a serious condition.

A Pleasant Outing for the Children.

Tuesday the pupils of Principal Eckert's class, Lorne avenue school, had a very enjoyable picnic at Springbank and Wonderland to celebrate their "heading the list" at the recent high school entrance examination. Several valuable prizes were presented by Aldermen Wilkey and Bartlett, School Trustees John Stephenson (chairman of the Board of Education), Childs and Allaster, and Messrs. C. E. Colwell and R. C. Brumpton, clothier. The young people were nearly all present and joined in the sports with all the enthusiasm of youth. The guesses made as to the number of verses in the first three chapters of Isaiah were very "wide" ranging from 22 to 196. Fred Deely won the Bible by guessing 83. A happier crowd is seldom met, and Principal Eckert's face has never declared him a happier man. He and his pupils are to be congratulated upon their splendid picnic and exceptional success at the last entrance examination.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT PROROGUED.

To Meet Again in October—Summary of the Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Parliament was prorogued yesterday to Oct. 24. The Queen's speech, closing the session, after alluding to the amicable relations existing between Great Britain and the other powers, made a brief reference to the treaties that had been concluded with Portugal and Italy, regarding territory in Africa, and said:

"I have made proposals to the President of the United States, looking to the submission to arbitration of the differences between Great Britain and the United States, in regard to the seal fisheries in Bering Sea. The negotiations are far advanced, but have not yet been concluded."

The French Chambers have not yet approved the agreement between myself and the French Republic with reference to the arbitration of certain differences which have arisen concerning Newfoundland, which agreement was signed during the present year. I am glad that you have been able to devote a considerable sum of money to the mitigation of the burden which the law of compulsory education has imposed upon the poorer portion of my people. The various measures which you have adopted in recent years to secure the observance of the law in Ireland, and to improve the general condition of that country, have resulted in a marked abatement of agrarian offenses and in a considerable advance in prosperity. The steps taken to cope with the distress threatened in Ireland have been effectual in averting a famine. You have also passed a beneficient measure, dealing permanently with the congested districts of Ireland, which, it is hoped, will, by fostering agriculture and stimulating the fishery industry, contribute largely to the prevention of similar dangers in the future. The measures which you have passed for the improvement of laws with respect to factories, workshops and savings banks, and for the preservation of the public health will, I am convinced, conduce to the comfort and well-being of my people.

A Triple Tragedy.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Chronicle, commenting on the pauper alien question, says it behooves European statesmen not to delay considering what they will do when America refuses to help them solve their social problem by reducing the numbers of these classes.

Breach of Promise Suit at Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 5.—Papers have been served in a suit for $10,000 damages for breach of promise, and the action is set for trial at the October assizes here, in which the plaintiff is a carpenter named Innes, and the defendant Mrs. Hill, wife of Dr. Hill, of Norwich, a village in Oxford county, not far from here. Finkle & McMullen are acting for the plaintiff in this suit. The lady in the case is one of the daughters of an old resident of Woodstock, who died not long ago worth $250,000. Mr. Innes claims that she was engaged to him, and wants $10,000 because, in the face of that engagement, she took advantage of his temporary absence from town to go off with Dr. Hill and get married to him. She has not come into her share of her father's estate yet, for it is not to be apportioned among the children until the death of her mother. There will be, it is said, a bundle of interesting letters put in by the plaintiff in support of his claim to receive substantial damages, and these letters will show a very crescendo of affection on the part of the defendant.

PRINCE GEORGE MAKES TROUBLE

By His Account of the Recent Attack on the Czarewitch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 5.—The letter which recently appeared in the Berlingske Tidende, of Copenhagen, in which Prince George of Greece gave a detailed account of the attack made upon the Czarewitch at Otsu, Japan, by a policeman has greatly altered the estimate which was at first formed here by the people upon that occasion, and has been the means of placing a terrible disgrace on the city. The reason for the altered feeling is that the Prince caused to be published his own account of the attack upon the Czarewitch without previously submitting the manuscript for revision.

It is considered that the story as told by Prince George emphasizes certain rumors that the Czarewitch did not exhibit much bravery in running away when he was attacked. Particular offense is taken at the statement in the Prince's published letter that after the Czarewitch had been struck and while he was endeavoring to make his escape from his assailant he tumbled to the ground through sheer fright.

He Fell Among Thieves

He rapped on the workroom door and was admitted, leaving the two women in the passage.

"Stow them parcels away," he whispered to Butterfield. "Cap, throw that blanket over the press. Come in! he cried, raising his voice.

The two women entered, and Priscilla, clutching her companion by the arm, held out a denouncing finger towards Harry Wynne.

"That's the man," she said, "that calls himself Ronald Morton. "Is that your husband?"

"No," said the other, in a frightened voice. "I do not know him."

"Do you mean to tell me," said Priscilla, turning to her brother, "there were two Ronald Morton's in Phillippopolis when this lady was married? I tell you it ain't he man, and I ought to know. Ronald Morton's wife tells you it ain't the man, and she ought to know. You've been fooled, and made a tool of."

"Whilst the girl was speaking Gilead kept his eyes fixed upon her face, but when she closed he turned towards Harry, and saw him in the act of sliding one of Mr. Butterfield's neatly arranged parcels into the pocket of his overcoat.

"William," he said, "you seem to be kinder taking this thing to heart."

For sole answer Harry set his back against the wall, and drew out a revolver, looking about him with a calm and wary eye. His face wore a smile, and he played with the revolver with both hands.

"That'll do," said Gilead, turning. "You ladies can retire. You needn't be frightened, my darlin's, but this gentleman and me is going to have a little explanation. Cap'n, be good enough to open the door and show the ladies a light."

He had drawn out the cigarette case again, and, opening it, he took out one of the small, pencil-like syringes it contained.

"If you ain't Ronald Morton," he said, "you ain't William Reid. Now perhaps you'll be good enough to tell us who you are. We want to know and we're going to know."

He drew towards him a soiled envelope which lay on the table, and made a pretense of penciling casual lines upon it.

"Come along, stranger. Don't be bashful. Introduce yourself."

He wheeled his chair round the table, and halted within three or four feet of the declared enemy. The diabolic little syringe in his hands looked altogether harmless. His white fingers toyed with it, and no man noticed their action as they unscrewed the metal which covered the point. A greyish green crept over the papery whiteness of his face, his shining teeth were bared, and tightly clenched together, and his eyebrows were raised with a look of altogether devilish daring and astuteness.

"Who are you, anyway?"

"My good sir," said Harry, "you and your companions are responsible for any error which may have arisen with respect to my identity. My real name, I fancy, concerns you very little. Captain Heaton, Mr. Butterfield, and Mr. Whale will recognize it readily. Those three hunted me to my ruin seven years ago. I think we cry quits now. I am Harry Wynne!"

Butterfield leapt to his feet with a stifled exclamation, and clutched his sparse hair with both hands. Heaton and Whale rose with an echo of his cry, but before either could advance a step Gilead's finger touched the button of the syringe, a suffocating odor filled the room, and Harry, with a wild convulsed motion of face and body, gasped once and fell forward. As he fell he pressed the trigger of the revolver, a shot resounded, and the bullet buried itself harmlessly in the floor.

"Great Heaven!" cried Whale, "what have you done? You've killed him!"

"I ain't yet," said Gilead, "but I'm goin' to."

"No hanging job for me," Whale shrieked, and as Gilead stooped over the prostrate man with a second syringe in his hand he sent him flying. At that instant a crashing and battering noise seemed to rise everywhere, and from the two outer doors and the window men came pouring in. The front door of the house resisted for a while the tremendous blows which rained upon it, and the screams of the women rang from the darkened passage. The four conspirators were seized and handcuffed each in the turn of a hand, and Frost stood over the prostrate body.

"There's anhydrous acid here!" he cried. "He has been poisoned."

There were two or three great vessels of water in the room, and seizing one of them, he emptied its contents from a height upon the head of the unconscious man. "Help me here!" He tore the shirt collar apart, and dashed water in double handfuls in Harry's face. "Bring more water!" One of the plain clothes men rushed out with an empty bucket towards the mews. He returned with it almost instantly. In the meantime Frost made another of the men mount the table, and was handing him jug after jug of water to pour upon the back of the sufferer's neck. At length a terrible, convulsive shudder ran through Harry's frame, and he writhed as if in mortal agony.

"He is dying," said Vergueil.

"No!" said Frost. "He is saved!"

L'ENVOI.

The Earl and Countess of Bridgebourne sat together after breakfast at Bridgebourne Court on a delightful morning in early summer. The children—her ladyship boasted two, a healthy and wholesomely imperious prince of five, and a shy and gentle feminine copy of him two years younger—had been brought down from the nursery to be present at the opening of a surprise packet from Uncle Frost, sent to celebrate the younger's birthday. Hogan, still worshipfully in love with Lady Bridgebourne, as he had been of old with Inthia Grey, had solicited the honor of bearing the toys to Bridgebourne Court, and looked well pleased. The children were so exuberant in their joy that they were threatened with the nurse, and at length Inthia, rising, led them through the folding doors into the next room, each bearing a double handful of wonders of Uncle Frost's providing.

"Hogan," said Harry, "you're odd this morning. There's something on your mind."

"Faith, there is then," the good medico answered, "I didn't like to mention it before her ladyship, but wun of those rascals is loose again. He'll do no more mischief, poor devil, for he's dyin' as fast as he knows how to."

"Who is it?" Harry asked.

"'Tis Captain Heaton, the leader of the whole black gang. The prison life has broken him down, and he's out on a ticket-of-leave. He's lying in a garret in Soho, among a lot of Frenchmen and Germans, and he's scarcely a rag to his back or a morsel to his mouth."

"Inthia!" Harry called. "Come here for a moment." She entered smilingly. "Tell your story over again, Hogan."

Lady Bridgebourne listened with a face of pity.

"What shall we do, Harry? The poor wretch has been punished heavily enough."

"You are right my dear," said Harry, "as you always are. Hogan, will you be my executioner? Don't let him know from whom it comes." He handed a bank-note to the doctor. "Let me know when he needs more."

THE END.

The Back-Stitch.

Or, in other words, a stitch in the back, or lumbago, was successfully treated in the following way. Baltimore, Md., U. S. A., February 26, 1890: "I suffered a long time with pains in the back, and obtained no relief until I tried St. Jacobs Oil, which cured me completely, and I take pleasure in recommending it as a most valuable remedy." Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY:

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST.
Montreal, Sept. 9, 1887.
To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:
Gentlemen,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of sugar refining.
The test by the polariscope showed in yesterday's yield 99.90 per cent. of pure cane sugar, which may be considered commercially as absolutely pure sugar.
JOHN BAKER EDWARDS,
P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,
Public Analyst of the District of Montreal and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY,
Medical Faculty, McGill University.
To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:
Gentlemen,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99.88 per cent. of pure sugar. It is practically as pure and good a sugar as can be manufactured.
Yours truly,
G. P. GIRDWOOD.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Upon the lakeside sands her name he loves to trace,

—The Miss Craig who figures in the Ottawa scandals, and who, for a reason that may be surmised from the evidence, drew a large sum of public money which she did not earn, is a former Londoner. Both she and her brother-in-law, who also gave evidence, lived here for years. The end of the remarkable case does not seem to be yet.

—"How many people do you think there are here?" a young lady asked of her companion at the band concert Tuesday evening. "About 4,000, I should say," said the other. But the young lady waged her chewing gum there were over 5,000, and her estimation was evidently correct. The gaiety, and youth and beauty of the city seem to be concentrated in these affairs.

—Hume B. Elliot, of this city, son of Judge Elliot, is en route for far off Alaska, and has reached the Pacific coast. In company with a party of distinguished American tourists he traveled by easy stages, stopping over at Montreal, Winnipeg, Banff, the Glacier and other important points. —Among the G. A. R. veterans who passed through the city Tuesday en route to Detroit was Henry Richardson, commander of Post No. 139, Hillside Park, Somerville, Mass. He had barely time to walk up Richmond street, but from his brief view says he could not recognize the town which he once claimed as home in the present city of London.

Mrs. Large attended the recent W. M. M. A. annual meeting in this city and addressed a large audience in the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church.

—Alexander Calder, formerly of London, arrived in the city yesterday, having advertised for 300 laborers to go to the Northwest to work on the C. P. R. The men were to apply at the American Hotel at noon to-day, but only about 25 men turned up. Calder wants the men to go to work at Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Kalmar and other stations on the line, and promises them from $1 25 to $1 75 per day. When the men applied to-day he told them that they must put up from $11 to $13 on account of their railway fare up there, and this had a somewhat discouraging effect on the applicants, very few of whom seemed to be engaging for the work. Mr. Calder explained that this was made necessary by the loss sustained by the railway in taking men up there who immediately deserted and went off harvesting.—[Hamilton Spectator.

Funeral of the Late Dr. Fraser.

Tuesday afternoon the funeral of the late J. M. Fraser, M.D., took place from his late residence, Talbot street, to Woodland Cemetery. The cortege was a long one, testifying to the esteem in which deceased was held. Rev. J. Allister Murray conducted the last sad rites at the house and at the grave. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Messrs. Robert, Samuel and William Fraser, of Westminster, Donald Fraser, M.D., of Stratford, and Messrs. J. H. and M. D. Fraser, of this city, six brothers of the departed, acted as pall-bearers.

A London Brakeman Nearly Killed.

On Sunday afternoon while a C. P. R. engine was shunting in Chatham, a brakeman named George Downie, was badly hurt in the neighborhood of Harvey street, owing to the proximity of an electric light pole to the train. When descending the side of the car he came in contact with the pole and was knocked to the ground, sustaining some concussion of the spine, and having his legs considerably bruised. Fortunately he was on the last car, or he would have been run over and probably killed. His hurts were attended to by the company's surgeon, after which he was taken in the caboose and brought to this city. Downie resides on the corner of Pall Mall and Colborne streets.

GOSSIP OF TO-DAY.

Mark Twain, who is on the continent, is engaged in writing a serious novel.

The peach crop this season is reported to be the best that has been known for years.

It is a well-known historical fact that King Eric of Sweden wanted to marry Queen Elizabeth. It is not so well known that he made a similar proposal to Mary, Queen of Scots. Mary's letter, politely rejecting his offer, was sold in London the other day for about $110.

"Singing with one's work not only lightens but sweetens it," observes a magazine philosopher. This must be why that cheerful rascal, the mosquito, is willing to work overtime o' nights, instead of going to sleep with the rest of creation.

The Duchess of Fife is attracting admiration from all England and Scotland by her conduct as a model mother. Following the example of Queen Victoria and the Empress Frederick, she is nursing her own baby, and may frequently be seen walking the streets of Brighton with her baby in her arms.

A law recently made by the authorities of Montreal requires that after Aug. 15 the sanitary, factory, tenement, smoke and meat inspectors shall be required to wear a uniform, consisting of a blue blouse with black buttons, blue waistcoat, and blue trousers. The suit will be bound with mohair, and a red Greek cross must be worn on each lapel of the coat.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

Affections once firmly set are generally tenacious, no matter what the object may be. To this fact the success of H. McKay & Co., of this city, is largely due. Those who have tried their Norma cigars never forsake them, and thus the firm retains all their old customers, and by the reputation only of the goods add new ones to the roll. For excellence the Norma at 10 cents is superlative.
