He said that the Governm He said that the Government had introduced the absolutely new constitutional doctrine that it belonged to the Government to draw up the sition's resolutions. This was an intolerable piece of tyranny. The Government did not want a definite resolution, but an indefinite one—a vote of confidence. Referring to the European concert, he said that the Opposition desired Great Britain to be the friend of all states, but the instrument of none. Personally, he did not believe in being drawn into what Lord Salisbury called the Federal Legislature. If the European conert had had any common sense at the Cretan question would have en settled long ago upon the only proper basis, namely, the annexation of Crete to Greece WHAT BALFOUR SAYS. Defending the Government's action n Armenia and Crete, in the House of mmons last night, Mr. Balfour said that the central question was whether Great Britain had done more in the interest of peace and freedom by as-sociating herself with the other pow-ers than she could have done, had she remained in isolation. Without con-cert, the result would not have been the offer of autonomy to Crete, an autonomy which he was absolutely confident would be given. He thought it unbecoming in the leader of the On position. If the powers gave a free hand to Greece they could not refuse it to Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro or Roumania. City Engineer Graydon turned in the alarm by telephone from E. N. Hunt's store. He was walking along the north side of Dundas street, when the smoke attracted his attential to the third story in the rear. The iron shutters were torn from their fastenings, and a seathing mass of burning debris, white with heat, exposed to view. The back elevator range above it, and about it the blaze played with terrific effect, eating its way through the walls, floors and way through the smoke attracted his attential to the third story in the rear. The street car service was blocked on Dundas street by the hose, but an improvised system gave very efficient service. The construction of the building rendered it difficult to get at the fire, and two elevators and stairways acting as air flues made the back portion of the building a veritable fire-trap. On the top flat was stored about 100 crates of cut glass and fine china, in the original packages. The goods in these crates were packed with straw. This, together with loose stuff in the room, and the empty crates, created a furious blaze. On the third floor was stored the majolica ware, granite ware and general staple goods in the original packages. These, too, were packed with inflammable materials.

THE ORIGIN A MYSTERY. Just where the fire started is a mystery, and no conjectures were made as to how it may have started, but it is generally conceded that the origin was in the third story, toward the southwest corner. An old stove is situated in this corner, but it has not been used for nearly a year. The second story is thought by some to have been the birthplace of the conflagration, as on this flat was situated the kiln. The upstairs kiln has not been in use for three weeks, and no materials capable of spontaneous combustion were in the building. The fire, once started, developed with lightning rapidity. Along the west side of the building, on the third and fourth flats, the smoke curled forth from the joints of the bricks nearly the whole length of the structure. The fire-fighters were clustered on the east side, busily engaged on the third and fourth stories, doing their best to quench the flames, but with little success, and while three streams played on the east side, the lames developed on the west. Now and again living embers were carried through the rear portion of the roof, and these fell on the adjoining building, threatening to burn Vancouver, B. C., April 14.—At the last meeting of the City Council a resolution that only British subjects be employed on civic works or any civic office was passed, with only one dissenting voice. All the aldermen spoke on the subject, the majority stating that they favored the motion in view of the alien labor law introduced in the United States. The motion was loudly applauded by the audience.

fellow-fireman. THE AERIAL LADDER. Always cure Nervous Diseases. On the second floor were stored the most expensive dinner sets and fine toilet sets, and the show room and the fremer were about to raise the aerial ladder in the lane east of the toy shop, but the men abandoned this scheme for the time being. During the half-hour in which the brave fellows worked to extricate their comrade, the work of fighting the fire had to be partly relinquished, and it spread along the upper story, which, by the time the ambulance arrived, was burning fiercely. The flames licked along the cornice, and lit the sky with a lurid light. The upturned faces of the thousands who thronged the streets, backyards, roofs and windows that a temperated a view of the situathat commanded a view of the situa-tion, looked peculiarly pallid in the glare. The building seemed doomed, but the aerial ladder was raised near the sidewalk in the lane on the east side of the building, from which two streams played with telling effect. While the front of the building burned, the police were kept hard at work restraining the foolhardy from venturing too near, and pushing the crowd back. A scatteration was caused as the hose was handed up the aerial ladder. The water was turned on before the nozzle was directed at the flames. The stream went high in the air, and fell with a drenching downpour upon the mass of humanity below. This gave the police a chance, and the way was cleared across the road. The flames had increased to such an extent that the most valuable of the goods from the lower floors in the stores were carried across and deposited in the stores of Charles Johnston, Bradford & Hodgins. Mr. Boyd and others. As the burning cornice became more threatening, the put up. Toronto, April 13 .- Receipts at the Toronto cattle moket today were 33 carloads, and the market was firm; prices for butchers' cattle are much higher than this time last year; there vas not so much buying for Montreal; reports from there stating that there were over 200 cattle left over unsold; the offerings here included 100 sheep and lambs, 1,200 hogs and 102 calves. Export Cattle-Trade was only fairly active: dealers are not looking for very many just at present, and those they are taking are choice cattle; prices ruled from 4c to 4½c per lb; the offerings were light; some of those offered were not of really choice quality; about the best lot sold was a car nich brought $4 40 per 100 lbs. MONTREAL. Montreal, April 12.—The feature in export live stock circles since our last has been the active demand for ocean freight space. Advices today from Liverpool and London were not so encouraging as they have been for the past few weeks. The offerings of live stock at the East End abattoir market this morning were 1,200 cattle, 600 calves, 100 sheep, 100 lambs and 50 spring lambs. There was a grand display of cattle, of which the quality was no doubt superior to that offered for the Easter trade during the past two seasons. The supply was excessive, and some were left over, but this fact did not seem to have much effect upon the prices, as the sharp advance noted last Thursday was fully maintained. Fancy steers and heifers sold at 5%c to 5%c; choice, 4%c to 5c; good, 4c to 4%c, and ordinary, 3c to 3%c per lb, live weight. Sheep were scarce, there being only one lot of 100 head on the market, for which the holder asked 4½c to 5c per b, live weight; the demand for year-ing lambs was good, of which there were only two lots of extra choice ofsales at 51/2c to 6c per lb, live weight: prices ranging from $2 to $5 each, as calves were very plentiful, but choice stock was scarce. Three extra choice were offered at $30 each, with $25 bid; good stock sold at $8 to $12, and ordinary at $1 50 to $7 each. At the Point St. Charles cattle yards trade in cattle was quiet. The reteipts of live hogs were 300, for which the demand was good, and values firmly held at 51/4c to 51/2c per lb. A few lambs sold at 5c to 51/2c per lb, and sheep at 4c to 41/2c per lb. OLD COUNTRY PRICES.

endency of prices during the past few weeks was checked today by heavier supplies, and the market for both cattle and sheep was weaker. Prices for cattle show a decline of ½c per lb, as compared with last week, best States cattle selling at 12½c and Argentine at 11c. Choice sheep sold ½c per lb, lower at 12½c.

Mr. Edward Farrer's Convincing Report to the United States

It Will Probably Stop Any Talk Canceling the Bonding Privileges -Alleged Grievance of American Fishermen.

The United States Senate committee on interstate commerce recently re tained Mr. Edward Farrer to furnish particulars in regard to the so-called bonding privileges between the United States and Canada. In accordance with the request of the chairman of the interstate commerce committee Mr. Farrer prepared a memorandum which he forwarded to the committee from Toronto on March 31 last. nemorandum professes to give the facts and figures relevant to the sub-ject, and are taken in the main from the Canadian blue books and from the returns of the Canadian railways. The business transacted in virtue of the onding privilege comes under two heads, viz., foreign traffic and domes-tic traffic. In 1890 he published "A Vision of Saints," a work of great power and beauty, His first volume appeared in 1871, and was entitled "Songs of Two Worlds."

At the time of the Prince of Wales' installation as chancellor of the University of Wales the fact was considerably commented on that the new laureate was not invited to write the ode for that occasion, Sir Lewis Morris being chosen instead. Though advanced in years, the poet maintains an active interest in all literary matters, and does not allow his own pen to suffer from disuse.

Hiram Smith, of Lambeth, Must Face a Judge

On the Charge of Stealing $80 from

Yesterday afternoon the trial of Hiram Smith, of Lambeth, charged with robbing Alex. Bannatyne, was continued. The evidence of Alonzo Hall, the hotel-keeper, was to the effect that Smith and Muxworthy Were in the shed on the west, and came in and sat in the sitting-room. While they were in the sitting-room three bicyclists came in from the city. The only time he remembered Smith leaving the room was when Smith had accompanied him to the door to look at the wheels, which was at 11:30. That was the last time he saw Smith. He went to his bedroom and did not return for three-quarters of an hour, and was under the impression that Smith was in the room when he came back. On Monday, the 5th, Smith had given him a check bearing the signature of William Smith, for $25. Hiram owed him $12 for board and about $3 box rowed money. Smith had promised payment on Monday, and kept his Parke this morning. Jones came to Hodgins House in London. Smith had word. The check was cashed at the London a week ago with a pocketful of borrowed $5, and on Monday had paid

How far will the microscope aid the fields and flowers grand. What did we see there? Firstly, three microscopes, in charge of Bro. Balkwell, Dr. Hotson, Prof. Bowman, of every separate grain? We did not and they did good service, for they get much from the microscopic section. Sorry, but then there is pleasure under the grief. Dr. Hotson had low forms of life started. There were as many as 25 independent, living, lively, transparent things, where the processes of life could be distinctly seen at play, at meat, and at all else that goes to make up life. In a drop of water was room and room to spare for these 25 crea tures, to live and move and have their being in. They were brought from London West, What water they have to drink! The rich man in torment would scarcely want a drop of that water. Bro. Balkwell had another kind, more like the cut brad that shoemakers used to use, wider at the head, and like a wedge, but these were transparent, and in high lights, and bright colors of rich design. Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. A drop of water was enough to allow for still life or nearly so; just a display of beauty, in a small bottle not as large as his little finger. Bro. Balkwell said there would be ten million of these insect What a fatherhood Prof. Darwin had!
